The year hath xij. monethes. iii. weeks and one day.
And it hath in all the hundred & xij. dayes/
and. vi. hours.

An exhortacyon to the studie of the holy Scripture gathered out of the Bible.

Christ vnto the people. John. v.

Search the Scriptures: for they are they that testifie of me.

Paul to Tymothy. ii. Tym. iii.

All Scripture geuen by inspiracyon of God, is profitable to teache / to reprove / to amende to instruct in rightwysnes / that the man of God may be perfect & prepared to al good work.

The same to the Rom. xv.

What thynges so euer are wrytten / are wrytten for our lernyng: that we thozou pacyfyce and comforyth of the Scripture / myght haue hope.

Salomon Proverb. xxx.

All the wordes of God is pure & cleane / it is a thyde vnto the that put their trust in it. But nothyng vnto the wordes / lest he reprove the and thou be founde a lyar.

Moses to the people. Deut. xxi.

Ye shall not do euery man what seemeth hym good in hys awne eyes: But whatsoeuer
I commaunde you / that iake heede ye do: and put nought therto / ner toke ought therfrom.

The Lorde vnto Josua. Josue. i.

Let not the booke of this lawe departe oute of thy mouth: But rewarde therein daye and nyght / that thou mayest be circumspect to do accordyng to all that is wrytten therein. For then shalt thou make thy waye prosperous / and then shalt thou haue vnderstandyng.
Cume therfrom nether to the right hande / ner to the lefte: that thou mayest haue vnderstandyng in all that thou takest in hande.

The same to the people. Exodi. xxi.

And thou shalt shew thy sonne at that tyme / sayyng: This is done because of that whych the Lorde dyd vnto me when I came out of Egypte. Therfore it shall be a sygne vnto the vpon thyne hande / and a remembraunce betwene thyne eyes / that the Lordes lawe maye be in thy mouth. For with a stronge hande the Lorde brought the oute of Egypte.

Moses. Deutero. xxxi.

So that thou reade this lawe before all Israell in their eares. Gather the people together / both men / women / and chyldren and the straungers that are in thy cyties: that they maye heare / lerne / and feare the Lorde your God / to kepe all the wordes of this lawe.

The summe & content of all the holy Scripture both of the olde and newe testament.

First the holy wrytynge of the Byble teache us that there is one God almyghty / that hath neither begynnyng nor endyng / which of his awne goodnes dyd create all thynges / of whom all thynges procede / and to out whom there is nothyng / which is ryghtwys & merciful / and which worketh all thynges in all after his will / of whom it maye not be demaunded wherfore he doth this or that.

Then that this verye God dyd create

Adam the first man after his awne Image and similitude / and did ordeyne and appoynte hym Lord of all the creatures in the earth / which Adam by the enuy of the deuill / disobeying the commaundment of his maker / dyd synne / and brought synne in to this worlde / soch and so grete / that we which be sprung of hym after the same / are subued unto synne / death / and damnacion / brought vnder the power & tyrannye of the deuill.

And further that Christ Jesus his son was promysed of God the father / to be a sauour to this Adam / Abrahah / Isaac / Jacob / Dauid & the other fathers / which shoulde deliuer them from their synnes and tyrannye of the deuill / that with a quicke & luyng faith wolde beleue this promys / and trust to this Jesus Christ / hoppyng to haue this deliuerance of and by hym. And truly this promys / is verye oft rehearsed in the booke of the olde testament / per & the olde testament is this promys / as it is called the newe / which teacheth that this promys is fulfilled.

And that in the meane season whyle

the fathers looked for saluacion and deliuerance promysed / because mannes nature is soche that he not only cannot / but also will not confesse hym self to be a synner / and specially soche a synner that hath neade of the sauyng health promysed / the lawe was geuen wher throughe men myght knowe synne / and that they are synners / when they se & they do none of the thynges that the lawe commaundeth / with so gladd and wplyng a mynde as God requyret / but rather agaynst their wylles / with oute affectyon / & as though they were constrained with the feare of that hell which the lawe threatneth / sayenge : Cursed be he that maputneth not all the wordes of this lawe to kepe them. And & this lawe was geuen / to thynnt that synne & the malice of men's heart by the better knowle / men shoulde the more feruently thurst the commaunde of Christ / which shoulde redeame them from their synnes / as it was figured vnto the Jewes by many ceremonies / holles / and sacrifices / which were ordeyned of God / not to thynnt to take awaye synnes / but to shew & declare & they shoulde be put awaye by faith in & saluacion promysed throughe Christ / and which now are put awaye by the commaunde of that Christ / which is the verye holle of the father that taketh awaye all synne.

Last of all by the booke of the newe Te stament / we are taught / that & Christ which was promysed & shadowed in the olde Testament / is sent of & father / at soch tyme as he had determyned with hym self / at soch tyme (I saye) as all wickednes dozynd. And that he was sent not for any mans good workes (for they all were synners) but to thynnt that he wolde truly shewe the abundant ryches of his grace / which he had promysed.

In the newe testament therfore it is most evidently declared / that Jesus Christ the true lambe & holle / is come to thynnt to reconcye us to the father / paying on the crosse the punishment due vnto our synnes / and to deliuer us from the bondage of the deuill / vnto whom we serued throughe synne / and to make us the sonnes of God / so that he hath geue us the true peac and tranquillitie of con / fidence / that we no longer do feare the paynes of hell / which feare is put awaye by & faith / confidence confidence & assurance / that the father geueth vs drawyng vs vnto his sonne. For that faith is the gyft of God / wherby we beleue that Christ is come in to this worlde to saue synners / which is of so grete pyth that they which haue it / desyre to performe all & duties of loue to all men / after the example of Christ. For faith ones receaued God geueth hym holy ghoost / wherwith he tokeneth and marcheth all that beleue / which is the pldge and earnest that we shal luerly possesse euerylastyng lyfe / and that geueth wytnesse vnto our spere / and graffeth this faith in vs / that we be the sonnes of God / potyng therwith & lone in to our hertes which Paul describeth and setteth oute to the corynthians. By that faith and confidence in Christ which by loue is myghty in operacion / and that sheweth it self thow the wothes of loue / sterryng men thereto / by that (I saye) we are Iustified / that is / by that faith / Christes father / which is become oures also thow that Christ our brother / cometh vs for ryghtwys & for his sonnes / imputyng not oure synnes vnto vs / thow his grace.

To conclude / he came to thynnt that we beinge cleansed from our synnes / and sanc / tified vnto God the father / & is / halowed vnto the use of the father to exercise good workes / caryng & forsaking the wothes of the flesh / whiche shal serue him in rightwysnes & holynes all oure lyfe longe / thow good workes which God hath ordeyned to thynnt that we shoulde walche in them / declaring our selues therby to be luerly called vnto this grace / which workes whiche soeuer hath not / declareth that he hath not faith in Christ.

Vnto whom we must come / & followe hym with a cheartull hert / that he maye instruct & teache us / for he is our master / make a humble of hert / he is oure example of whom we must learn the rule of good luyng / further / he is our prest / & by bishop / and onely media / tor / which now styteth on the ryght hande of God the father / is our aduocate / & prayeth euer for vs / which wyl vndouted obtayne what soeuer we desyre / either / h'm / or of his father in his name / yf we beleue that he wyl do it when we requere it. For so hath he pro / mised / Let us therfore not doute / although we come tyme synne / to a c' of p'de to come vnto hym / and with a luyng & vndouted faith / that we shal obtayne n. erce. For ther / fore came he to thynnt to saue synners / neether requereth he any thing / as are of vs / then to come vnto hym with oute feare.

This is that Christ Jesus / wh

ter he hath killed the man of synne with the breath of his mouth / shall yet in his mayestye and Iudge all men / geuyng vnto euery one the wothes of his bodye / accordyng to that he hath done / whether it be good or badde / And that shall saye vnto them that shalbe on his ryght hande. Come ye blessed chyldren of my father / inheret ye the kyngdome prepared for you from the begynnyng of the worlde / And vnto them that shalbe on his left hand / Departe from me ye cursed / in to euerylastyng fyre / which is prepared for the deuill and his aungels. When shal the ende come & he shal deliuer vs & kyngdome to God the father.

To thynnt that we shoulde knowe this / by the goodnes of God workyng by his holy spere / are the holy wrytynge of the Byble geuen vs / that we shoulde knowe / I saye / and beleue that there is one God / and Je / sus Christ whom he hath sent / and that in beleuyng we shoulde haue euerylastyng lyfe thow his name.

Another foundacyon wherthis can no man laye. And saynt Paul desyeth that he beholde a curst which preacheth any other sayth & saluacion / then onely by Jesus Christ / yee al though it were an angel of heauē. For of hym / and thow hym / and for hym / are all thynges / to whom / with & / father / and the holy ghoost / be honour and glorie for euer more. Amen.

To the moost noble and gracyous

Prinse Kyng Henry the eyght/ kyng of England and of Fraunce/Lorde of Ireland &c. Defender of the faythe: and vnder God the chefe and supreme head of the church of Engeland.

Hath bene bled of olde auncient custome (most redoubted and prudent Prinse) to dedicate soche booke as men put forth in to lyght (whether they be made of their awne industrie and proper wyttes / or translated forthe of one language in to another) to some noble Prinse/Kyng or Emperour / or otherwyse excellent in byth or renoune: to thynke that the woerch myght freely and boldely be occupied in the hādes of men/as a thyng hauyng sauconbet & beyng put in to the tuctyon of the Prinse / vnto whom it is offred & dedycate. This custome not onely auncient but also laudable / haue your singular and rare gyftes in woerchly regement / and the vertuous and Godly moderation of magnyfyng true preachers for the inducyng of your symple subiectes to the syncretie and purenes of Chyriste Gospell: with the other many folde and singular vertues / wherewith the Prinse of Princes hath indued your hyghnes / encozaged me to enbrace. For vnto whom or in to whose proteccyon shulde the defence of soche a woerch be sooner comyted (wherin are contayned the infallible promyses of mercy in the olde testament prefigured & in the newe fulfilled / with the whole summe of Chyristianyte) then vnto his maiestye / which not onely by name and tye / but most euidently & openly / most Chyristenly & with most Godly pollicie / dothe profess the defence therof.

The want of lernynge / the obscures & lownes of byth / the lack of your graces knowledge &c. shuld haue vtterly forbydden me / to haue intrepresed the dedycacion herof to so purpauant a Prinse: But the experience of your graces benygnyte / wher-throughe your prayse is renoumed and hyghly magnified / euen amōge straungers and alyenes / not alone amōge your awne subiectes / the Godly moderation of your heuenly pollicie / wherewith ye suppress supersticion and magnifye true holynes / inflameth me to some part of boldenes: So pecially the thyng which I dedycate is soch as your grace studyeth dayly to further. In which studie & endeuoure he cōtynue you / which hath moued you to so hole some a purpose: and geue the same dyligence vnto other Chy-sten Princes and forren potentates / that he hath breathed & inplyed in to your bzeale.

For the cheate & princypall thyng appartaynyng to Princes & nobles (which thyng it is good to se that your grace doth well consyder) is to defende / further / set out & augment the knowledge of God. Moses & farsythfull seruauit of the Lorde / prophesying by hys pte & Israel shulde haue a Kyng / cōmaunded: that he ones set on hys seat of his kyngdome / shulde reade the seconde lawe (meanynge the boke of Deuteronomy) all the dayes of his lyfe: to thynke that he myght learne to feare the Lorde his God / for to kepe all the woerdes of his lawe & ordynances / and that he shulde not retorne from the commandement ether to the right hand or to the left. He perceaued / vndouted that yf the Prinse him selfe were so affectuouly angimated vnto the keepynge of the lawe / as he is there expressely cōmaunded: it shulde not a lytell inflame hym to an ardent and burnyng zeale of setting out Goddes gloire / in furtherynge the thynges in that lawe expessed: And hincwe what wholsome and Godly lawes soche a kyng wolde endeuoure hym selfe to establish / by which the lawe of God myght the better be obserued / & the larger and coother spynge a broode: And saw right well that soch a Prinse coulde not but with his subiectes to craue & folowe all the poyntes of that lawe / which he him selfe was so straghtly bounde both to kepe & reade. Further in that he willeth the Kynges of Israel / not ones to swaue from the lawe of the Lorde ether to the right hand or to the left / he instructeth them / to fulfill the lawe of God playnly / purely / without puttynge to or takynge therefrom / without su-persticion: not to be exalted thozou prosperyte / ner dejected in aduersyte: to cleane and leane vnto the woerdes of God in tyme of gloire & renoune / and in tyme of dishonoure and ignomy. Somplyte right welnes & to loue herite: which thyngs seme in h noblyte / adde no smal spore vnto the cōmyn to imitate & folow the same. Yee thes to woerch in h herites of the noble / that they be encozaged what by ensample of tye / & by pollicie / ordynances to h bte inuenced / to allure soche as be vnder their subiectyō to h performace therof.

Vnto the Kynges Maiestyle.

therof. That Moses there cōmaundeth vnto the kyng of Israel / partayneth vnto all Princes of the Chyristen name. That he there calleth the lawe is to be the holy scripture & woerdes of h moost holy & myghtie God. vnto Princes (euery one in his dominion) belongeth the amplyfyng therof / as of the rote of all Godlynes. Now in as moche as the Lorde hath rayled you by before other princes of our tyme / most earnestly to hearken vnto this cō-maundement of his seruauit Moses / & to attempt the thynges that do not a lytel auadice Goddes gloire: & hath also opened your eyes to se the falsheed of the subtile al. & the innocency of the Godly: to note the wylnes of the chylden of this woerlde / & the sympletye of the holys to extyng & abolye the ename & synful abuses / and in their steads to rote & tye the tye / true / & perfect doctrine of Chyristianyte: ther is founde no man / wro whom h translacion of the Lorde lawe can so woerthly be offred and dedycate as vnto your moost gracyous hyghnes. For I nothing mystrust but that it shal most acceptably come in to your moost sauourable & sure proteccyon. Therof both your peculiar desyre of furtherynge soche lyde laboures sufficently assure me.

It is no bulgare or cōmen thyng wher is offred in to your graces proteccyon / but the blessed woerdes of God: which is euerydayng & ca not tye / though heaut & earth shuld perishe. So pfectous a thyng requyeth a singular good patron & defender / & findeth no other vnto whos the defence therof may so fully be comyted as vnto your graces maiestye. It is h lawe of the orisfall thing which ruleth all thynges with a becke / & yet is it some tyme greatly furthered by hys red by the ayre & hyndred of earthly & woerlde princes. Longe & oft was it obscured & darchened / yet & in maner cleane abolished in tyme of the cōmen weath of Israel. The wyse suggeling of prelates in persuadynge h princes & rulers to be conformable to their inuencions / & the rather beleuynge people / which thought euery thyng an oracle that the prelates bzeched in to their bzeales / ordyng many tymes tye all full of supersticion and Idolatrye. from the tyme of Abab vnto h tyme of kyng Hezekiah / laye tye holynes and the perfect lernynge of God vtterly oppressed: And Hezekiah in his tyme reuened the lawe to hys perfection / & hath therfore his woerth praysed in the scripture: But hys sonne Manasseh set by agayne all the wychednes that his father had suppressed. Jollah after he had one reade the boke of the lawe founde in h temple / let no tyme slipp tye he had called all Israel together / put downe all hndes of Idolatrye / & holde the feast of passouer accordynge to the lawe. Whs sonne Jehoonah / with the reast of the kyng / folowynge hys discontent and displeas the Lorde / magnifyng supersticy & Idolatrye in steade of godlynes / & cau-tyng the people to applye the selues thereto. The number of the euell thynges was usually greater than the number of the good / as the boke of h kyng & Paral. do clearly testifie.
Soch was h subtiltie of h false prophetes & they tye h principally bewitched h princes to h defence of their Imaginacions: whs / as their head / h people were cōstrayned to folow.

The youth of Manasseh was a mete praye for the false prophetes and prelates of Baal / which hys infant hym / compasse hym / and leade hym as it hath bene with a tye to their trade of Idolatrye. They had learned in the tyme of Abab to do sacrifyce vnto Idoles / wher-by their lucre & aduantage was not a lytell increased: which thyngs / for feare of puny-ment be ye sure / they had interrupted and left of all the Raygne of that good kyng Hezekiah. In his dayes they were cōpelled to haue the lawe of God in honoure. They in deade abhorred the true woerthpyng of God / but hys obey the kynges cōmaundementes saynly thozou prosperyte / and were in hys moost wyched and wretched. But they so subtilely depraued the tyme of the domynion of young Manasseh that they persuadyn hym by their craft to relect and let asyde the lawe of the Lorde / as the new founde religyon of hys father Hezekiah: & to receaue the supersticyes which his fore father Abab / as moost aged & wyser had instytute: yet and most agreeable to the lawes of other nacyns. Whs applicable and conformable wyttes / so they so bewitch / that he thought it greute holynes to desanull all that his father had moost godly reuened: & to retayne all the olde supersticions / ryttes and customes of Idolatrye: to hys & hys all that by any meanes shewd loue or tye to true religio & godlynes: so that he cruelly filled the cite of Ierusalem with the blynde of the Ido-latrie / & of soch as warred & fought agaynst Idolatrye. In tye maner hys they with Jehoonah / which hysly had put downe his fathers decres: lettynge moore by h supersticion of his forefather Abab / than by the godlynes of his good father Jollah. False prophetes / Ipoctyph prelates / & the inuadable & vnconstant cōmentatye / haue euer bene ready to re-ceae their olde phantastical dyaumes / & haue for the moost parte cōtinuallly perswaded agaynst the true Ipoctyph & prelates of the Lorde. The craples herof / yf there shulde be many be rehearsed as h Chyronicles of all tynes domenyng / wolde make a great & an huge volume. Wherof I thinke it is best to trouble your grace to a so longe a pcedde as to reade the. And the expellers of soch as shal hereafter come / are only knowe vnto h Lorde: neither knoweth any man what chaunge may fall. But for þe fortunate & prosperous estate of this oure tyme (so farre as concerneth this your graces Reaume) are hygh and vncallable chanches to be geuen vnto the Lozde of Lozdes: which hath dealt somerfully wth the inhabytautes therof: as to sende them a Prynce that continually studyeth to be the enryched in all poyntes of true godlynes. Who so remaineth vnto chauncefull heretofore is not alone vngodly but also wretched. For loche a Prynce as geueth no care vnto þe inchauntementes of false preachers is one of the greatest gyftes of God: & loche a wofull blessing to a comen wealth as requyeth an earnest thanckesgeuyng therfore.

That Hezekiah and Josiah were vnto Israel, the same is your grace vnto þe Reaume of England: yet the goodly haue greates hope that your pryce shall be farre aboute cheyres. They byhelde the veryte a true wozshyppe of God: but onely for their owne tymes. Your graces wysdome / illumyned of God / shall (we trust) so fymely stablysh the trade of Godlynes in your tyme: that it shall neuerthelesse flozys after your decesse. Your deuyn governance / no lesse fortunate than polypque / putteth vs in hope of such a redynde as shall be permanent and durable / and so luerly grounded / that the wont suggylng & venemous persuasions of false preachers shall not be so nopsome vnto your posterite: as they haue bene vnto the former age. This hope haue the godly euil of forren & strange nacions in your graces goodnes / moche moare they of your owne reallme. Soche confidence haue they conceaued by your former actes / wherthpough your grace hath so exordyngly pzoofed this assaye. The eueryluyng Lozde so pzoofere your begonne purpose vnto such effect / that the thinge may be cōtinually which ye haue begōne: And so directly oute his myghty hande and wozke so strongly in you / that no soarme of false pzoophetes (the verydestropers of Prynces and Realmes) maye hereafter be able to extynde the lyyght / which now in your graces dayes hath begonne to shyne: And double vnto you the addycō of yeares that was geuen vnto Hezekiah / ouer and aboue those that ye shoulde naturally lyue / that ye maye the better accomplishe your moost godly intent: And enspyre such streames of grace in to your breast / that you perseueringe vnto the ende / maye leaue behynde you this testimony of glozpe: that ye haue truly defended the pure sayth of Christ / maynteyned his holy wozde / suppressel superstycion / deleate & put awaye Idolatrye / ended the blasphemie of false pzoophetes: & bzought your reallme vnto the true trade of godlynes: And blesse you at this pzoesent wth a sonne / by your most gracious wyfe Quene Jane / which may prosperously & fortunately raygne / & folowe the goodly steppes of his father: And after your grace shall geue place to nature / and forsake this mortall lyfe / graunte you the rewarde of that vnspeakable and celestyal lye / which no eye hath sene / no care heard / nor can ascende into the herte of man. So be it.

To the Chrysten Readers.

The grace and peace of God be geuen vnto you by Jesus Christ.

As the bees oyllyently do gather together sweete flowers / to make by naturall craft the swete honny: so haue I done the pryncypall sentences conteyned in the Byble. The which are ordered after the maner of a table / for the consolacion of those which are not yet exercysed & instructed in the holy Scripture. In the which are many harde places / as well of the olde as of the newe Testament expounded / gathered together / concolored / and compared one wth another: to thintent that the prudent Reader (by the spyzete of God) maye beare awaye pure and cleare vnderstandyng. Wherby euery man (as he is bounde) maye be made ready / stronge and garnished to answeere to all them that aske hym a reason of his sayth. This is also pzoofytable for the particular and generall exhortacions which we make to certayne personages / or comūne people: & so to answer truly to Heretikes / & to confounde the aduersaries of the wozde of God. In the which also we may fynde (by which helpe) greatly the studye of the readers / the openyng of certayne Hebrew tropes / translacions / sayngs / and maners of speakynges (which we call Phrases) conteyned in the Byble. And for the moze easly to fynde the matters desyred (because that disorder engendzeth confusyon) I haue pzoceeded after the order of an Alphabet: to thintent that none be depyued of so pzoecious a treasure: the which ye shall vse to the honoure and glozpe of God / and to the edyfyinge of his Church. Now be it (good Reader) yf thou fynde not the thynges in this table expressed / in the same letters of the Chapters wherin they are assygned: vouchsaue to loke in þe letter goyng next before or in the letter next folowynge.

The creatyon
of the woꝛlde.

The fyrst boke of Moyses called Genesis.

How heauen & erth the lyght the firmament the sonne the moone the sterres and all beastes / foules & fyshes in the see were made by the woꝛde of God.
And how man also was creat.

The fyrst Chapter.

Gen. i. 1. In the beginning
Gen. i. 2. God created heauen Gen. i. 3. and erth. The erth was
Gen. i. 4. voyde and emptye /
Gen. i. 5. and darcknesse was
Gen. i. 6. vpon the depe / & the
Gen. i. 7. spirite of God mo-
Gen. i. 8. ued vpon the water.

In the beginning God created heauen and erth. The erth was voyde and emptye / and darcknesse was vpon the depe / & the spirite of God moued vpon the water.

Then God sayde: let there be lyght: & there was lyght. And God sawe the lyght that it was good: & deuyned the lyght from the darcknesse / & called the lyght the daye / & the darcknesse the nyght: and so of the euening & monyng was made the fyrst daye.

Gen. i. 9. And God sayde: let
Gen. i. 10. there be a firmament be-
Gen. i. 11. twene the waters / & let it
Gen. i. 12. deuyn the waters
Gen. i. 13. vnder the firmament / &
Gen. i. 14. let it be a sonde.

And God sayde: let there be a firmament be-twene the waters / & let it deuyn the waters vnder the firmament / & let it be a sonde. Then God made the firmament / & parted the waters whych were vnder the firmament / from the waters whych were aboue the firmament: And it was so. And God called the firmament heauen. And so of the euening & moonyng was made the secunde daye.

Gen. i. 15. And God sayde: let
Gen. i. 16. the waters that are vnder
Gen. i. 17. heauen gather them
Gen. i. 18. selues vnto one place /
Gen. i. 19. that the drye lande
Gen. i. 20. may appere. And it Gen. i. 21. came so to passe. And
Gen. i. 22. God called the drye Gen. i. 23. lande the erth / & the
Gen. i. 24. gathering together of Gen. i. 25. waters called he the
Gen. i. 26. see. And God sawe Gen. i. 27. that it was good.

And God sayde: let the erth bringe forth herbe & grasse / & sowe seed / & frutefull trees / that bere frute eury one in hys kynde / hauynge their seed in them selues vpon the erth.
And it came so to passe. And the erth brought forth herbe & grasse sowing seed eury one in hys kynde / & trees bringynge frute / & hauynge their seed in them selues / eury one in his kynde.
And God sawe that it was good: & then of the euening & moonyng was made the thyrde daye.

Gen. i. 28. Then sayde God: let
Gen. i. 29. there be lightes in the
Gen. i. 30. firmament of heauen / to
Gen. i. 31. deuyn the daye from
Gen. i. 32. the nyght / that they may
Gen. i. 33. be vnto sygnes / &
Gen. i. 34. seasons / & dayes / &
Gen. i. 35. yeres. And let the
Gen. i. 36. lightes be in the firmament
Gen. i. 37. of heauen / to sygne vnto
Gen. i. 38. the erth.

Then sayde God: let there be lightes in the firmament of heauen / to deuyn the daye from the nyght / that they may be vnto sygnes / & seasons / & dayes / & yeres. And let the lightes be in the firmament of heauen / to sygne vnto the erth. And so it was. And God made two greate lightes: a greater lighte to rule the daye / & a lesse lighte to rule the nyght: & he made sterres also. And God put them in the firmament of heauen to sygne vpon the erth / and to rule the daye and the nyght: & to deuyn the lyght from darcknesse. And God sawe that it was good: and so of the euening & moonyng was made the fourth daye.

Gen. i. 39. Then sayde God: let
Gen. i. 40. the waters bringe forth
Gen. i. 41. creatures that moue / & haue Gen. i. 42. lyfe / & foules for
Gen. i. 43. to flee ouer the erth
Gen. i. 44. vnder the firmament
Gen. i. 45. of heauen.

Then sayde God: let the waters bringe forth creatures that moue / & haue lyfe / & foules for to flee ouer the erth vnder the firmament of man to tyle þe erth. But there arose a myste out of the ground / & watered all the face of the erth: Then the Lorde God* shoope man / out of the* moulde of the erth/ & breathed into hys face the breath of lyfe. So* mā was made

The Lorde God also planted a garden in Eden from the beggynnyng / & there he sette man whō he had forme. And the Lorde God made to sprynge out of the erth / all maner trees bewtyfull to the syght and pleasant to eate / & the tree of lyfe in the myddes of the gardē: & also the tree of knowledge of good & euell.

And there sprange a riuier out of Eden to water the garden; & thence deuyded it selfe / & passeth all the lande of Heupia / where gold

And the Lorde God commaunded Adā sayinge:
Of all the trees of the garden se thou eate.
But of the tree of knowledge of good & bad se that thou eate not: for on euē the same daye thou eatest of it thou shalt dye the deathe.

And the Lorde God layde: It is not good that man shuld be alone, I will make him an helper to beare hym cōpany. And after that the Lorde God had made of þe earth all maner beastes of the felde/ & all maner foules of the ayre/ he brought them into Adam to se what he wolde call them. And as Adam called all maner lyping beastes / euen so are their names. And Adam gaue names into all maner catell/ & into the foules of þe ayre/ & into all maner beastes of the felde. But ther was no helpe founde into Ada to beare hym cōpany.

Then ⁊ Lozde God cast a slumber on Adams/ and he slepte. And then he toke out one of hys ribbes/ & in steede ther of he filled by the place wth flesch. And the Lozde God made of the ribbe which he toke out of Adams * a woman: and brought her vnto Adam. Then sayde Adam: This is once bone of my bones/ & flesch of my flesch. This shall be called womā: because she was take of the man. * For this cause shall a man leaue father & mother / & cleue vnto his wyfe/ & they shall be one flesch. And they were clothed of the naked/ bothe Adam & hys wyfe/ and were not ashamed.

¶ The serpent deceiveth the woman. The serpent the woman & the man are cursed, and driven out of paradise. Christ our Saviour is promised.

¶ The 11th Chapter.

But the serpent was subtiler than all the beastes of the felde/ whych the Lorde God had made: & sayde vnto the womā: ye hath God sayd in dede/ ye shall not eate of all maner trees in the garden: And the womā sayde vnto the serpent/ of the frute of the trees in the garden we may eate/ but of the frute of the tree that is in the middes of the garden (sayd God) se þe eate not/ & se that ye touche it not/ lest ye dye. Then sayde the serpent vnto the womā: tush ye shall not dye: but God doth knowe þe when so euer ye shuld eate of it/ your eyes shulde be opened/ & ye shulde be as God/ and knowe both good & euill. And the womā sawe that it was a good tree to eate of/ & lusty vnto the eyes/ & a pleasant tree for to geue bnderifon bynge. And toke of the frute of it & ate / and gaue vnto hyr husband also with her/ and he ate. And the eyes of bothe them were opened/ that they bnderstode how that they were naked. Then they covered theyr leues together and made them a ryme.

And they herde & boyce of the Lorde God as he walked in the garden in the coole of the daye. And Adam hyd hym selfe & hys wyfe abso from the^e face of the Lorde God/ amonge the trees of the garden. And the Lorde God called Ada/ & sayd vnto hym: where art thou?
And he answered: & hy boyce I hearde in the garden/ but I was afrayed/ because I was naked/ & therefore hyd my selfe. And he sayde:

shouldest not eate. And Adam answered: The woman whych thou gauest to bere me company she toke me of the tree/ & I ate. And the Lorde God sayde vnto the woman: wherefore dydest thou so? And the woman answered: The serpent deceaued me and I ate.

And the Lorde God sayde vnto the serpent:

The genealogie of Adam vnto Noe.

The. vi. Chapter.

Noe is the boke of the generacyon of man. In the daye wher God created man & made him after the symilitude of God. Male and female made he them / & called their names man / in the daye when they were created. And when Ada was an hundred & thre yere olde / he begat a sonne after hys lykenesse & similitude: & called hys name Seth. And the dayes of Adam after he begat Seth / were eght hundred yere / & begat sonnes & daughters. And all the dayes of Adam wher he lyued / were ix. hundred & xxi. yere / and then he dyed.

And Seth lyued an hundred & x. yeres / & begat Enos. And after he had begot Enos he liued. vii. hundred & xxi. yere / & begat sonnes & daughters. And all the dayes of Seth were ix. hundred & xxi. yere / & dyed. And Enos lyued. lxxi. yere / & begat Kenan. And Enos after he begat Kenan / liued. lxxi. hundred & x. yere / and begat sonnes & daughters: & all the dayes of Enos were ix. hundred & x. yere / & than he dyed. And Kenan lyued. lxx. yere / & begat Mahalalel. And Kenan after he had begot Mahalalel / lyued. lxxi. hundred and xxi. yere / & begat sonnes and daughters: & all the dayes of Kenan were ix. hundred and x. yere / and than he dyed. And Mahalalel lyued. lxx. yere / & begat Jared. And Mahalalel after he had begot Jared lyued. lxxi. hundred & x. yeres / & begat sonnes and daughters: and all the dayes of Mahalalel were. lxxi. hundred nyntye and x. yere / and than he dyed.

And Jared lyued an hundred & xxi. yere / & begat Henoch: & Jared lyued after he begat Henoch. lxxi. hundred yere / & begat sonnes & daughters. And all the dayes of Jared were ix. hundred & xxi. yere / and than he dyed. And Henoch lyued. lxx. yere / & begat Mathusala. And Henoch walked with God after he had begot Mathusala. lxx. hundred yere / & begat sonnes & daughters: And all the dayes of Henoch were. lxx. hundred & x. yere / & than Henoch lyued a godly lye / and was no more sene / for God toke hym awaye.

And Mathusala lyued an hundred and lxxviii. yere / & begat Lamech: & Mathusala after he had begot Lamech / lyued. lxx. hundred & xxi. yere / & begat sonnes and daughters. And all the dayes of Mathusala were ix. hundred. lxx. yere / and than he dyed.

And Lamech lyued an hundred. lxxviii. yere / & begat a sonne / & called hym Noe / sayinge:

This same shall comforte vs: as concerning oure wo:ke & sozo me of oure handes wher we haue about the erth that the Lozde hath cursed. And Lamech lyued after he had begot Noe. h. hundred / nyntye & x. yere / and begat sonnes & daughters. And all the dayes of Lamech were. lxx. hundred. lxxviii. yere / & than he dyed. And when Noe was lxxviii. hundred yere olde / he begat Sem / Ham / and Japheth.

The cause of the floude. God warneth Noe of the coming of the floude. The repairing of the arche.

The. vii. Chapter.

Noe it came to passe / whā men began to multiply vpon the erth / & had begot them daughters / the sonnes of God sawe the daughters of men / whiche had chaste & meite / wher they were saye / & toke vnto them wyues / whiche they best lyked amonge the all. And the Lozde sayde: My spirite shall not all waye sturue wth mā / for they are fleshy. Neuerthelesse I wyll geue the vtter space an. c. & x. yeres.

There were tytanes in the world in those dayes. For after that the chyldre of God had gone in vnto the daughters of men / & had begotten them chyldre / the same chyldre were the mightiest of the world / & me of renowne. And whā the Lozde sawe the wickednesse of man was increased vpon the erth / & that all the ymagynacyon and thoughtes of hys hert was only euell continually / he repented that he had made man vpon the erth / and sozowed in hys hert. And sayde: I wyll destroy man / wher I haue made / from of the face of the erth: both man / beast / wyrm / and soule of the ayre / for it repenteth me that I haue made them. But yet Noe founde grace in the sight of the Lozde.

These are the generacions of Noe. Noe was a righteous man & vnconspire in hys tyme / & walked wth God. And Noe begat. iii. sonnes: Sem / Ham / & Japheth. And the erth was corrupt in the syght of God / & was full of mischefe. And God looked vpon the erth / & lo it was corrupt: for all flesh had corrupted hys waye vpon the erth.

Then sayde God to Noe: the ende of all flesh is come before me / for the erth is full of their myschefe. And lo / I wyll destroye them wth the erth. Make the an arche of pyne tree / and make chambers in the arche / and ptych it wthyn & without wth ptych. And of this sacron shalt thou make it.

The length of the arche shall be. iii. hundred cubytes / & the bredth of it. l. cubytes / & the heighth of it. xxi. cubytes. & wyndow shalt thou make aboue in the arche. And wthyn a cubyte cōpasse shalt thou fynysh it. And the doze of the arche shalt thou sette in the syde of it: & thou shalt make it wth. iii. loctes one aboue a nother. For I beholde / I will brynge in a floud a floud of water vpon the erth to destroye all flesh that bnder heauē / wher in bryeth of lyfe is / so that all that is in the erth shall perishe. But I wyll make myne apoyntment wth the / that both thou shalt come into the arche and thy sonnes / thy wyfe & thy sonnes wyues wth the.

And of all that lyueth what so euer flesh is / be / shalt thou brynge into the arche / of euery thyng a payre / to kepe them a lyue wth the. And male & female se that they be / of byrdes in their kynde / & of bestes in their kynde / & of all maner of wyrmes of the erth in their kynde: a payre of euery thyng shalt thou brynge to the to kepe them a lyue. And take vnto the of all maner of meate that may be eaten and laye it vp in stooze by the / & it may be meate bothe for the and for them: and Noe dyd accordyng to all that God commaunded hym.

The entrance of Noe & them that were wth him into the arche. The synging of the floude wher wth all thynges dyd perishe.

The. vii. Chapter.

Noe the Lozde sayde vnto Noe: Go in to the arche bothe thou and all thy household. For the haue I sene righteous before me in this generacyon. Of all cleue beastes take vnto the seuen of euery kynde / the male & female / and of unclene beastes a payre / the male & hys fe wyfch manerch male: the wyfe of the byrdes of the ayre seue the the sonnes of God & there: they are acceptid of God as I sende rayne vpon the erth. x. dayes and. x. nyghtes / & wyll destroye all maner of thyng that I haue made / frō of the face of the erth.

And Noe dyd accordyng to all that the Lozde commaunded hym: & Noe was. vi. hundred yere olde / whē the floud of water came vpon the erth: & Noe wēt & hys sonnes & hys wyfe & hys sonnes wyues wth him / into the arche frō the waters of the floud. And of cleue beastes / & of the beastes that were unclene / & of byrdes and of all that crrpeth vpon the erth / came in by couples of euery kynde vnto Noe into the arche / a male & a female: as God commaunded Noe. And the seuenth daye the waters of the floude came vpon the erth.

In the. vi. hundred yere of Noes lyfe / in the seconde moneth / in the. xxi. daye of the month / that same daye were all the fountains of the greates depe bryde vp / & the wyndowes of heauen were opened / & there fell a rayne vpon the erth. x. dayes & x. nyghtes.

And the seite same daye went Noe / Sem / Ham & Japheth / Noes sonnes / & Noes wyfe & the. vii. wyues of hys sonnes wth the in to the arche: bothe they & all maner of beast / in their kynde / and all maner of catell in their kynde / & all maner of wyrmes that crrpeth vpon the erth in their kynde / & all maner of byrdes in their kynde / & all maner of soules what so euer had leders. And they came vnto Noe in to the arche by couples / of all flesh that had bryeth of lyfe in it. And they that came / came male & female of euery flesh accordyng to the doze commaunded hym: & the Lozde shut the doze vpon hym. And the floud came. x. dayes and. x. nyghtes vpon the erth / & the water increased & bare vp the arche / & it was lyfte by frō of the erth. And the water preyayled & increased exceedingly vpon the erth: & the arche wēt vpon the toppe of the waters. And the waters preyayled exceedingly aboue measure vpon the erth / so that all the hys hylls which are vnder all the partes of heauē were couered: euen. xv. cubytes hys preyayled the waters / so that the hylls were couered.

And all flesh that moued on the erth / bothe byrdes / catell and beastes perished / wth all that crrpeth on the erth & all men: so that all that had the bryeth of lyfe in the nostrils of it / thozow out all that was on dyce lande / dyed. Thus was destroyed all that was vpon the erth / both man / beastes / wyrmes & soules of the ayre / so that they were destroyed frō the erth: laue Noe was reserued only & they that were wth him in the arche. And the waters preyayled vpon the erth an hundred & x. dayes.

After the sending forth of the rauen & the dove Noe went forth of the arche. He offereth sacrifice. & he maketh of mannes heart.

The. viii. Chapter.

Noe God remembred Noe & all the beasts & all the catell that were wth him in the arche. And God made a wynde to blowe vpon the erth / & the waters ceased: & the fountaynes of the depe & the wyndowes of heauē were stoppe / & the rayne of heauē was stoppe / & the waters returned from of the erth / & abated after the ende of an hundred and x. dayes.

And the arche rested vpon the mountayns of Ararat / the. xxi. daye of the. vii. moneth. And the waters went awaye / & decreased vntill the. x. moneth. And the syth daye of the. x. moneth / & coppes of the moysteynes appered.

And after the ende of. x. dayes Noe opened the wyndow of the arche which he had made / & sent forth a rauen / which went out / euer & a. iii. goyng four hundred and xrr. yere / & begat sonnes and daughters.

And Peleg when he was. xrr. yere olde he gat Regu / & lyued after he had begot Regu
ix. hundred & x. yere / & begat sonnes & daughters. And Regu whē he had lyued. xrr. yere begat Serug / and lyued after he had begot Serug. ix. hundred and. xii. yere / and begat sonnes and daughters.

And when Serug was. xrr. yere olde he begat Nahor / & lyued after he had begot Na-
hor. ix. hundred yere / & begat sonnes & daughters. And Nahor whē he was. xrr. yere olde / begat Terah / and lyued after he had begot Terah / an hundred and. x. yere / and begat sonnes and daughters.

And when Terah was. lxx. yere olde / he begat Abraham / Nahor and Haran.

And these are the generacions of Terah.
Terah begat Abraham / Nahor and Haran.
And Haran begat Lot. And Haran dyed be-foze Terah hys father in the lande where he was bozne / at. x. in Chaldea. And Abraham and Nahor toke them wyues. Abrahams wyfe was called Sarai. And Nahors wyfe My-ca the daughter of Haran whiche was sa-ther of Myca & of Tefca. But Sarai was baren / and had no chylde.

Chan toke Terah Abraham hys sonne and Lot hys sonne / Harans sonne / & Sarai hys daughter in lawe / hys sonne Abrahams wyfe.

And they went wpyth hym from. x. in Chaldea / to goo into the lande of Chanaan. And they came to Haran and dwelled there. And when Terah was two hundred yere olde and fye he dyed in Haran.

Abraham is blessed of God / and goeth wpyth Lot into a strange lande that speech to hym in Canaan. And God promyseth to geue the same lande to hym and to his seide. And afterwarde goeth Abraham into Egypt & causeth Sarai his wyfe to saye that she is his sister.
And she was rauyned of Pharaos / for whiche the Lord plageth hym.

The xii. Chapter.

When the Lord sayde vnto Abraham Gett the out of thy countre & from thy kynred / and out of thy fathers house / into a lande whiche I will showe the. And I will make of the a myghty people / & I will blesse the / & make thy name greate / that thou mayst be a blessing. And I will blesse them that blesse the / & curse them that curse the. And in the shall be blessed all the generacions of the erth.

And Abraham went as the Lord hadd hym / and Lot went wpyth hym. Abraham was. lxxb. yere olde / when he went out of Haran. And Abraham toke Sarai his wyfe and Lot his bryothers sonne / with all thei goodes whiche they had gotten and soules whiche they had begotten in Haran. And they departed to goo into the lande of Chanaan. And when they were come into the lande of Chanaan / Abraham went forth into the lande tyll he came vnto a place called Sichem / and vnto the oke of More. And the Cananytes dwelled then in the lande.

Then the Lord appeared vnto Abraham & sayd vnto thy seed I will geue this lande.
And he buyden an aulter there vnto the Lord whiche appeared to hym. Chan departed he thence vnto a moystayne that lyeth on the east syde of Bethel & pitched his tente: Bethel beyng on the west syde / and By on the east / and he buyden there an aulter vnto the Lord / & called on the name of the Lord.
And Chan Abraham departed and toke his journey southwarde.

After this there came a dearth in the lande.
And Abraham went downe in to Egypt / to soiourne there / for the dearth was foze in the lade. And whē he was come nye for to entre into Egypt / he sayd vnto Sarai his wyfe.
Beholde / I knowe that thou art a fayre woman to loke vpon. It will come to passe ther-foze when the Egyptians see the / that they will saye: She is his wyfe. And so shall they sley me & saue the. Saye I praye the ther-foze that thou art my sister / that I maye saue the better by reason of the / and that my soule maye lyue for thy sake.

As soone as he came in to Egypt / the Egyptians sawe the woman that she was very fayre. And Pharaos lordes sawe hyr also / & prayed hyr vnto Pharaos. So that she was taken into Pharaos house / whiche entreated Abraham well for hyr sake / so that he had shepe open and he altes / men seruantes / mayde ser-uantes / she asses and camels.

But God plagued Pharaos / and his house with grete plag / because of Sarai Abrahams wyfe. Then Pharaos called Abraham & sayde: Why hast thou thus dealt w me? wherfore toldst thou me not that she was thy wyfe?
Why saydest thou that she was thy sister / & causedst me to take hyr to my wyfe? But now loo / there is thy wyfe / take hyr and be walkyng. Pharaos also gaue a charge vnto his men ouer Abraham / to leade hym out / with his wyfe and all that he had.

Abraham & Lot departed out of Egypt. And Abraham dreynd his lande & catell wpyth his brother Lot. Here agayne is promysed to Abraham the lande of Canaan.

The xiii. Chapter.

Chan Abraham departed out of Egypte both he and hys wyfe and all that he had / and Lot wpyth hym vnto the south. Abraham was very ryche in catell / syluer and golde. And he went on hys journey from the south euen vnto Bethell / and to the place where hys tente was at the fyrst tyme betwene Bethell and By / and vnto the place of the aulter whiche he made be-foze. And there called Abraham vpon the name of the Lord.

Lot also which wēt wpyth hym had shepe / catell and tentes: so that the lande was not abell to receaue them that they myght dwell together / for the substance of their ryches was so greate / that they coulde not dwell together. And there fell a stryfe betwene the herdmen of Abrahams catell / and the herdmen of Lots catell. Wherfore the Cananytes & the Phereytes dwelled at that tyme in the lande. Chan sayde Abraham vnto Lot: Let there be no stryfe / I praye the / betwene the & me / and betwene my herdmen and thyne / for we be brethren. Is not all the hole lande befoze the? Departe I praye the frome. If thou wilt take the lefte hande / I will take the right: or if thou take the right hande I will take the lefte. And Lot left by hys eyes / and beheld all the cōtre aboute Jordane / whiche was a plectous cōtre of water euery where / befoze the Lord destroyed Sodome & Gomorra / eue as the garden of the Lord / & as the lande of Egypte tyll thou come to Zoar.

Chan Lot chose all the colles of Jordane and toke hys journey fro the east. And Lot departed the one brother fro the other. Abraham dwelled in the lande of Canaan: a Lot in the cytes of the playne / & tented tyll he came to Sodom. But men of Sodome were wy-ked / & synned exceedingly agaynst the Lord.

And the Lord sayde vnto Abraham / after that Lot was departed from hym: A pte by thyne eyes / & loke fro the place where thou art / northward / southward / eastward & westward / for all the lande whiche thou seest
I will geue vnto the & to thy seed for euer.
And I will make thy seed as the dust of the erth: so that if a man can nombye the dust of the erth / than shall thy seed also be nombized.
Aryse and walke about in the lande / in the length of it & in the bredth / for I will geue it vnto the. Chan Abraham toke downe his tente & wēt & dwelled in the okegrove of Mamre which is in Ebron / and buyden there an alter vnto the Lord.

Lot is taken prysoner. The victory of Abraham of the

The xiii. Chapter.

Chan it chaunted wpythin a whyle / that Amraphel kyng of Synear / Arich kyng of Ellasar / Kedozlao mo / kyng of Elam and Chydeall kyng of the natyons / made warre with Bera kyng of Sodome / & wpyth Birsa kyng of Gomorra / and wpyth Sineab kyng of Adama / and wpyth Semeabar kyng of Zeboim / and wpyth the kynges of Bela / whiche Bela is called Zoar. All these came together vnto the bale of Sodom / whiche is now the fale see. Twelue yere were they subiecte to kynges Kedozlao mo / & in the xiii. yere rebelled. Wherfore in the xiii. yere came Kedozlao mo / and the kynges that were wpyth hym / & smote the Raphayms in Astaroth Barnaim and the Sulphims in Ham / & the Emymys in Sabatariathaim / and the Dozymys in their awone mountaine Seir vnto the playne of Wya ran / whiche bozyeth vpon the wyldernesse.
And then turned they & came to the well of lugnente whiche is Cades / and smote all the contre of the Amalechytes / & also the Amorytes that dwell in Hazezon Chamar.

Chan went out the kynges of Sodome / & the kynges of Gomorra / & the kynges of Ada-ma and the kynges of Zeboim / & the kynges of Bela now called Zoar. And sette their mē

So domine & Gomozre and all they: bytalles/ and went they: waye. And they toke Lot also Abrahams byothers some and hys good: for he dwelled at Sodome) and departed. Then came one that had escaped/ and tolde Abraham the Hebrew which dwelled in the otegroute of Mesopotamia: the Amozyte/ brother of Eschol & Aner: which were confederate with Abrah. When Abraham hearde that his brother was taken/ he harnessed hys seruantes boine in hys owne house the hundred & eightyene/ and followed till they came at Dan. And sette hym selfe & hys seruantes in aray/ & fell upon the by nyght/ & smote them/ & chased the awaye vnto Hobab: which lyeth on the lesse hande of Damascos/ & brought agayne all the good: and also hys brother Lot/ and hys goodes/ the women also and the people.

And as he returned agayne fro the slaughter of Medozlamoz: & of the kynge: that were with hym/ than came the kynge of Sodome to mete him in the vale of Saut/ which now is called kyngeys dale.

Then Melchisedech: kynge of Salem brought forth bread & wyne. And he beyng the Pryest of the most hygh God/ blessed hym sayinge: Blessed be Abrah unto the most hygh God/ possessor of heauen & erth. And Abrahams answered sayinge: Blessed be God the most hygh God/ which hath delivered thine enemies into thy handes.

And Abraham gaue hym tithes of all. Then sayde the kynge of Sodome vnto Abraham: Give me the soules/ & take the goodes: & I will be thy kynge. And Abraham answered the kynge of Sodome: I lyfe by my hande vnto the Lozde God most hygh possessor of heauen & erth/ that I will not take of all that is thine: so moche as a thyrd of a shoulchet/ lest thou curse me. I haue made Abraham ryche. Saue only that which the yonge men haue eaten and the partes of the men which went with me/ Aner/ Eschol and Mamre. Let the take their partes.

And the lande of Canaan is yet agayne promysed to Abraham. God promyseth hym seed. He becometh a father. He prophesie of the bondage wherin the chyliden of Israel shuld be vnder Pharao: & of their deliuerance from the same.

The xii. Chapter.

After these deades/ the worde of God came vnto Abraham in a byspon sayinge: Feare not Abraham/ I am thy chyld/ & thy reward shall be excredyng great. And Abraham answered: Lozde Jehouah what wilt thou geue me: I go chyldles/ & the eater of myne house/ thys Eleasar of Damasco hath a sonne. And Abraham and specially in sayde: He to me hath thou geuen no seed: lo/ the prophetes a lad boine in my house shall be myne heyre. And beholde/ the worde of the Lozde spake vnto Abraham/ sayinge: He shall not be thine.

heyre/ but one that shall come out of thine owne body: which thine heyre. And he brought him out of the dozes/ & sayde: loke vnto heauē/ & tell the stars/ yf thou be able to numbre the. And sayde vnto hym: Cunt so shall thy seed be.

And Abraham beleued the Lozde/ & it was counted to hym for ryghtwysnes. And he sayde vnto hym: I am the Lozde that brought the out of Egipt/ in Chaldea to geue the thys lande to possesse it.

And he sayde: Lozde God/ wherby shall I knowe that I shall possesse it? And he sayde vnto hym: Take an heyre of thys pere olde/ & a the gotte of thys pere olde/ & a the pere olde ram/ a turtill doue & a yonge pigeon. And he toke all these & deuyded them in the myddes/ and sayde euery pere/ one agaynst another. But the soules deuyded he not. And he byddes sell on the carcases/ but Abraham boue them awaye. And when the sonne was downe/ ther fell a slomber vpon Abraham. And loo/ feare and greute darcknesse came vpon hym.

And he sayde vnto Abraham: knowe this of a surety/ that thy seed shall be a stranger in a lande that pertyneth not vnto the. And they shall make bondage of the & entreate the euell. In hundred yeres. But the naciō whō they shall serue/ will I iudge. And after warde shall they come out with great substance. Nevertheless thou shalt goo vnto thy fathers in peace/ & shalt be buried when thou artte of a good age: in the fourth generation they shall come hyther agayne/ for the wickednesse of the Amozytes ys not yet full.

When the sonne was downe and it was ward darcke: beholde/ ther was a smoking furnelle/ and a fyre bynd that were betwene the sayde peces.

And that same daye the Lozde made a covenante with Abrah sayinge: vnto thy seed will I geue this lande/ fro the ryuer of Egipte/ vnto the greete ryuer Euphrates/ the Kenytes/ the Kenizites/ the Cadmonites/ the Bethites/ the Pherezites/ the Haphams the Amozytes/ the Canaanites/ the Gergezites and the Jebusytes.

And he geueh Abraham leave to take Agar hys mayde to wyfe. Agar deliued hym: & which the was euill intreached of Sarai/ and therefore runneth awaye. And he angett meynge hym/ commaundeth hym to turne agayne and bothe promysed hym seed. And nameth hym: Israhel chylde of God.

The xiii. Chapter.

Abrahams wyfe bare him no chylde. But she had an hand mayde vnto hym: an Egyptian/ whose name was Hagar. Wherfore he sayd vnto Abrah: Beholde the Lozde hath closed me/ that I can not bere. I praye the go in vnto my mayde/ & peradventure I shall be multiplyed by menes of her. And Abraham hearde the voyce of Sarai.

Sarai. And Sarai Abrahams wife toke Hagar hys mayde the Egyptian/ after Abraham had dwelled x. yere in the labe of Canaan/ & gaue her to hym: husband Abraham to be his wyfe.

And he wente in vnto Agar/ & she conceaued. And when she sawe she had conceyued: hys maistrisse was despised in hys syghte.

Then sayde Sarai vnto Abraham: Thou dost me wronge/ for I haue geuen my mayde in to thy house/ & now because she hath had the Lozde nidge betwene the and me.

Then sayde Abrah to Sarai: beholde/ thy mayde is in thy hande/ do with hy/ as it pleaseth the. And because Sarai sared soule in her/ she fled from her. And the Angell of the Lozde founde her besyde a fountayne of water in the wilderness: & by a well in the way to Shur.

And he sayde: Hagar Sarais mayde/ wherfore comest thou & whether wilt thou goo? And she answered: I flee from my maistrisse Sarai. And the Angell of the Lozde sayde vnto her: returne to thy maistrisse agayne/ & submitte thy selfe vnder her handes.

And the angell of the lozde sayde vnto her: I will so encrease thy seed/ that it shall not be nombred for multitude. And the Lozdes angell sayde further vnto her: thou art in chylde & shalt bere a sonne/ & shalt call hys name Ismael: because the lozde hath berde thy tribulacion. He will be a wyld man/ & hys hande will be agaynst euery man/ & euery mans hande agaynst hym. And yet shall he dwell faste by all his byeth.

And he called the name of the Lozde that spake vnto her: thou art God/ & lokest on me/ for he sayd: I haue of a surety sene here/ & backe part of hym I seeth me. Wherfore he called I well/ & well of the Iyung & seyth me which well I am betweene Eades & Bared. And Hagar bare Abrah a sonne/ & Abrah called hys sons name Israhel. And Hagar bare hym Ismael. Israhel pere old/ whē Hagar bare hym Ismael.

Abraham is called Abrahah/ & Sarai is named Sara. The lande of Canaan is here the fourth tyme promysed. Circumcysion is here made. Isaac is promysed. Abraham prayeth for Ismael.

The xiiii. Chapter.

When Abrah was nygetye pere olde and ix. the Lozde appeared to hym sayinge: I am the almyghtie God: walke before me & be incorrupte. And I will make my bonde betwene the & me/ & I will multiplye the exceedingly. And Abrah fell on hys face. And God talked more: vnto hym sayinge: I am/ beholde my testament is with the/ that thou shalt be a father of many nacions. Wherfore/ shalt thou no more be called Abrah/ but thy name shall be Abrahah: for a father of many nacions haue I made the. I will multiplye & exceedingly/ & I will make nacions of the: & ye & kynge: shall sprynge out of the. Wherfore I will make my bonde betweene me & the/ and thy seed after the/ in their tymes to be an euertlasting testament.

So that I will be God vnto the & to thy seed after the. And I will geue vnto the & to thy seed after the/ the lande where in thou artte a stranger: & all the labe of Canaan/ for an euertlasting possession & will be their God.

And God sayd vnto Abrahah: Se thou kepe my testament/ both thou & thy seed after the in their tymes: & this is my testament which ye shall kepe betwene me & you and thy seed after the/ & ye circumcysse all your men chylde. Ye shall circumcysse & foreskynne of your flesch/ & it shall be a token of the bonde betwene me & you.

And euery manchyld when it is eight dayes olde/ shall be circumcysed amonge you in your generacions/ & all seruantes also boine at home or boughte with money/ though they be strangers & not of thy seed. The seruante boine in thy house/ & he also shall be bought with money/ must needes be circumcysed/ & my testament may be in your flesch/ for an euertlasting bonde.

If there be any boine to call the signe of the thyng by thyne of his flesch cutt of/ hys soule shall pe the name of the Lozde. And God sayde vnto Abrahah: Sara the thyng by thyne shall nomore be called Sarai: but Sara shall be her name. For I will blesse her: & she shall be a sonne of her & I will blesse her: as here he calleth circumcysion. And Abrahah fell vpon his face & laughed/ & sayde in his harte: Shall a chylde be boine vnto hym that is an hundred yere olde/ & shall Sara that is nygetye yere olde/ lath baptyne bere? And Abraham sayde vnto God/ What shall I doe?

Ismael myghte lyue in thy syghte. The sayde God: Sara thy wife shall be. And the a sonne in dede & thou shalt call hys name Isaac. And I will make my bonde with hym/ & it shall be an euertlasting bonde vnto hys seed after hym. And as concernynge Ismael also/ I haue berde thy request: loo/ I will blesse hym & encrease hym/ & multiplye hym exceedingly. & welue princes shall he begete & I will make a great naciō of him. But my labe will I make in Isaac/ which Sara shall bere vnto the: & this tyme twelue moneth.

And God lete of talkynge with hym/ & departed by fro Abrahah. And Abrahah toke Ismael hys sonne & all the seruantes boine in hys house & all that was bought with money as many as were mechyldre amonge the men of Abrahahs house/ & circumcysed the foreskynne of their flesch/ & I seife same daye/ as God had sayde vnto hym. Abraham was nygetye yere olde & nyne/ whē he cutt of the flesch.

The xv. Chapter.

Abrahah was nygetye yere olde and ix. the Lozde appeared to hym sayinge: I am the almyghtie God: walke before me & be incorrupte. And I will make my bonde betwene the & me/ & I will multiplye the exceedingly. And Abrah fell on hys face. The x. Chapter.

* Gen. x. 1. and xxi. 1.

And Abraham departed thence to ward the southcountre & dwelled betweene Cades and Sur and sojourned in Gerar. And Abraham sayde of Sara hys wyfe that she was hys sister. And Abimelech king of Gerar sent and sett Sara awaye.

And God came to Abimelech by nyghte in a dreame & sayde to hym: Se/ thou art but a deed man for the womanys sake whych thou hast taken awaye / for she is a mans wyfe. But Abimelech had not yet come nye her / therefore sayde: Lorde wylt thou sleigh thy people? sayde not he vnto me / that she was hys sister? yee & sayde not she herself that he was hys brother? with a pure herte and innocent handes haue I done this. And God sayde vnto hym in a dreame. I wote it well that thou dydest it in the purenesse of thy herte. And therefore I kepte the & thou shiddest not synne agens me / neither suffer I the to come nygh her. Now therefore deliuer the mā hys wyfe ageyne / for he is a prophete. And let hym praye for the that thou mayst lyue. But and yf thou deliuer her not agayne / be sure I thou shalt dye the deeth / with all that thou hast.

* Gen. x. 1.

Then Abimelech rose by tyme in the morninge & called all his seruantes / & tolde all these thinges in their eares / and the men were soze a frayde. And Abimelech called Abrahā & sayde vnto hym: What hast thou done vnto vs / & what haue I offended the / & thou shiddest bynne on me and on my kynge dome to great a tyme: thou hast done dedes vnto me that oughe not to be done. And Abimelech sayde moouer vnto Abrahā: What sauest thou I moued the to do this thinge?

And Abrahā answered. I thought that per aduerture the feare of God was not in this place / & I they shulde sleigh me for my wyfes sake: yet in very dede she ys my sister / the daughter of my father but not of my mother: and became my wyfe. And after God caused me to walke out of my fathers house / I sayd vnto her: Whys hyndnest thou me? we come vnto me in all places where we come / that thou saye of me / how that I am thy brother.

Then toke Abimelech shepe & oxen / men seruantes & women seruantes & gaue vnto Abrahā / and deliuered hym Sara hys wyfe agayne. And Abimelech sayde: Beholde the lande lyeth before the / dwell where it pleaseth the best. And vnto Sara he sayde: Se I haue geuen thy brother a thousande peeces of syluer / beholde this thinge shall be a couerunge to thine eyes & vnto all that are with the and vnto all men an excuse.

And so Abrahā prayde vnto God / & God healed Abimelech & his wyfe & his maydes / so that they bare chyldre. For the Lorde had closed to / all the matryces of the house of Abimelech / because of Sara Abrahāys wyfe. Gen. x. 1. and xxi. 1.

The xxi. Chapter.

The Lorde visited Sara as he had sayde & dyd vnto her / & conceyved as she had promysed. And Sara was with childe & bare Abrahā a sonne in hys olde age euen the same season whych the lorde had appoynted. And Abrahā called hys sonnes name that was borne vnto hym whych Sara bare hym Isaac & Abrahā circumsyde Isaac his sonne whē he was. viij. dayes olde / as God commaunded hym. And Abrahā was an hundred yere olde / whē hys sonne Isaac was borne vnto hym. And Sara sayde: God hath made me a laughynge stocke: for all I heare / will laugh at me. She sayde also: who wolde haue sayde vnto Abrahā / that Sara shulde haue geue childe / sicke / or I shulde haue borne hym a sonne in his olde age: the childe growe & was wened / & Abrahā made a great feast / the same daye that Isaac was wened. Sara sawe the sonne of Hagar the Egyptian whych she had borne vnto Abrahā / & mockynge. Then she sayde vnto Abrahā: put awaye this bondmayde & hys sonne: for the sonne of this bondwoman shall not be heyre with my sonne Isaac. But the wordes senced berey greuous in Abrahāms synne / because of his sonne. Then the Lorde sayde vnto Abrahā: let it not be greuous vnto the / because of the ladd & of thy bondmayde: but in all that Sara hath sayde vnto the / heare hys voyce / for in Isaac shall thy seed be called. Whoeuer of the sonne of the bondwoman wyl I make a nation / because he is thy seed.

And Abrahā rose by early in the morninge & toke bynde & a bottell with water / & gaue it vnto Hagar / puttynge it on hys shoulders with the ladd also / & sent her awaye. And she departed & waded by & dwelt in the wyldernes of Berseba. When the water was spent that was in the bottell / she cast the ladd vnder a bush & wēt & satt her out of syghte a great waye as it were a bowshot of: for she sayde: I wyl not se the ladd dye. And she satt dwelt out of syghte / & lyfte by hys voyce & wepte.

And God herde hys voyce of the childe. And the angel of God called Hagar out of heauē & sayde vnto her: What ayleth the Hagar? feare not / for god hath herde the voyce of the childe where he lyeth. Arise and lyfte vp the ladd / & take him in thy hande / for I will make of hym a grete people. And God opened hys eyes and she sawe a well of water. And she went

she went & fylled the bottell with water / and gaue the boye dyrnke. And God was with the ladd / & he growe and dwelt in the wyldernes: & became an archer. And he dwelt in the wyldernes of Pharan. And his mother got him a wyfe out of the land of Egypte.

And it chaunced the same season / that Abimelech & Phicol his chefe captayne spake vnto Abrahā sayng: God is with the in all that thou doest. Now therefore sweare vnto me here by God / that thou wylt not hurt me nor my chyldre / nor my chyldrens chyldren. But that thou shalt deale with me & the countre where thou art a stranger / as doynge vnto the kynnesse that I haue shewed the. Then sayde Abrahā: I wyl sweare.

And Abrahā rebuked Abimelech for a well of water / whych Abimelechs seruantes had takē awaye. And Abimelech answered I wyl not whoddyt it: also thou toldest me not / nether herde I of it / but this daye. And Abraham toke shepe and oxen & gaue them vnto Abimelech. And they made both of the a bonde together. And Abrahā sett. viij. lambs by the felues. And Abimelech sayde vnto Abrahā: what meane these. viij. lambs whych thou hast sett by the felues. And he answered. viij. lasses shalt thou take of my hande / that it maye be a wytnesse vnto me / that I haue bygged this well: wherfore the place is called Berseba / because they swore both of the. Thus made they a bonde to gether at Berseba. Then Abimelech & Phicol his chefe captayne rose by & turned agayne vnto the lande of the Philistines. And Abrahā placed a wood in Berseba / and called there on the name of the Lorde / the euertlastynge God: & dwelt in the Philistin lande a longe season.

The sayth of Abraham is proued in offynge hys sonne Isaac. Christ our sauyour is promysed. The generacion of Nachor Abrahāms brother.

The xxii. Chapter.

After these dedes / God dyd proue Abraham & sayde vnto hym: a braham. And he answered here am I. And he sayde: take thy only sonne Isaac whome thou louest / & get the vnto the lande Moza / & sacrifice him there for a sacrifice by one of the mostayns whych I wyl shewe the. Then Abrahā rose by early in the morninge & sadden hys asse / & toke two of his meyns with hym / & Isaac his sonne: & cloue wood for the sacrifice / & rose by & goth him to the place whych God had appoynted hym.

Then the daye Abrahā lyfte by his eyes & sawe the place a farre of / & sayde vnto hys yong mā: byde here with the asse. I & the ladd wyl goo yonder and woynge & come agayne vnto you. And Abrahā toke the wood of the sacrifice & layde it vpon Isaac his sonne / & toke fyre in his hande & a knyfe. And they went both of them together.

Then spake Isaac vnto Abrahā his father & sayde: My father? And he answered here am I my sonne. And he sayde: Se here is fyre and wood / but where is the shepe for sacrifice? And Abrahā sayde: my sonne / God wyl proude hym a shepe for sacrifice. So went they both together.

And whē they came vnto the place whych God shewed hym / Abrahā made an auter there & dressed the wood / & bound Isaac hys sonne & layde him on the auter / aboue by the wood. And Abrahā stretched forth hys hande / & toke the knyfe to haue kylled hys sonne. Then the angel of the Lorde called vnto hym fro heauē sayng: Abrahā Abrahā. And he answered: here am I. And he sayde: laye not thy handes vpon the chyldre / neither do any thyng at all vnto him / for now I knowe that thou fearest God / in that thou hast not kepte thyne only sonne fro me. And Abrahā lysted by hys eyes & looked aboute: and beholde / there was a ram caught by the hornes in a thickette. And he wēt & toke the ram and offred hym by for a sacrifice in the steade of his sonne. And Abrahā called the name of the place / the Lorde wyl see: wherfore it is a comen sayng this daye: in the mounte wyl the Lorde be sene.

And the Angel of the Lorde cryed vnto Abrahā fro heauē the seconde tyme sayng: by my selfe haue I sworne / sayth the Lorde / because thou hast done this thinge & hast not spared thy only sonne / that I wyl blesse the & multiplye thy seed as the starrs of heauē & as the sonde by the see syde. And thy seed shall possesse the gates of hys enemyes. And in thy seed shall all the nations of the earth be blessed / because thou hast obeyed my voyce. So turned Abrahā agayne vnto hys yong men / & they rose by & went to gether to Berseba. And Abrahā dwelt at Berseba. And it chaunced after these thynges / that one tolde Abrahā sayng: Beholde / Milcha the hath also borne chyldre vnto thy brother Nachor: thus hys eldest sonne and thus hys brother / and Beniuell the father of the Syrians / & Celad / and Hado / and Pylad / and Iedaph /

¶ The xxiii. Chapter.

Sara was an hundred & xxiij. yere olde (for so longe lyued she) & than dyed in a heade cyle called Hebron in the lande of Canaan. Then Abraham came to moene Sara / and to wepe for her. And Abraham stode by from the coofe / & talked with the sonnes of Beth sayinge: I am a stranger & a sojner amonge you / geue me a possession to burie in with you / that I may bury my dead out of my sight. And the chyldren of Beth answered Abraham sayinge vnto hym: Heare vs Lorde / thou art a prince of God amonge vs. In the cheefest of oure sepulchres bury thy dead: None of vs shall forgyd the bys sepulchre / that thou shouldest not bury thy deade thereyn. Abraham stode by / and bowed hym selfe before the people of the lande the chyldren of Beth. And he comonde with the sayinge: If it be your mynde that I shall bury my deade out of my sight / heare me and speke for me to Ephron the sonne of Zoar: and let hym geue me the dubbyll caue which he hath in the ende of his felde / for as moche money as it is worth / let hym geue it me in the presence of you / for a possession to burie in. For Ephron dwelled amonge the chyldren of Beth.

¶ Then Ephron the Hethite answered Abraham in the audience of the chyldren of Beth & of all that went in at the gates of his cyle / sayinge: Not so my Lorde / but heare me: The felde geue I the / & the caue & therein is geue I the also: & euē in the presence of the sonnes of my people geue I it the to bury thy deade in. Then Abraham bowed hym selfe before the people of the lande / & spake vnto Ephron in the audience of the people of the cōtre sayinge: I praye the heare me / I will geue syluer for the felde / take it of me / & so will I bury my deade there. Ephron answered Abraham sayinge vnto hym: My Lorde / harken vnto me. The lande is worth. iiii. hundred syles of syluer: but what is that betwixte the and me? bury thy deade. And Abraham harkened vnto Ephron & weyde hym the syluer which he had sayde in the audience of the sonnes of Beth. Euen xlii. hundred syluer syles of curthe money amonge marchantes. Thus was the felde of Ephron where in the dubbyll caue is before Hamre: euen the felde & the caue that is therein & all the trees of the felde whyche growe in all the borders rounde about / made sure vnto Abrahams ham for a possession in the sight of the chyldren of Beth / & of all that wet in at the gates of the cyle. And then Abraham buried Sara his wyfe in the double caue of the felde that lyeth before Hamre / otherwyse called Ebyron in the lande of Canaan. And so both the felde and the caue that is therein / was made vnto Abraham a sure possession to bury in / of the sonnes of Beth.

¶ Abraham maketh bys seruante to sweere / & sendeth hym to seke a wyfe for Isaac his sonne. The seruante was saythfull and brought Rebecca / whych Isaac toke to hym wyfe.

Abraham was olde and stryken in dayes / & the Lorde had blessed hym in all thynges. And he sayde vnto his eldest seruante of his house whych had the rule ouer all he had: Put thy hand vnder my thye that I maye make the sweere by the Lorde that is God of heauē & God of the erth / that thou shalt not take a wyfe vnto my sonne / of the daughters of the Canaanites / amonge whych I dwell. But shalt goo vnto my cōtre and to my kynred / and there take a wyfe vnto my sonne Isaac.

¶ Then sayde the seruante vnto hym: what & if the womā will not agree to come with me vnto this lande / shall I bypunge thy sonne agayne vnto the lāde which thou camest out of? And Abraham sayde vnto hym: beware of that / that thou bypunge not my sonne thyther. The Lorde God of heauē which toke me fro my fathers house & from the lande where I was borne / & whych spake vnto me & swaere vnto me sayinge vnto thy seed will I geue this lāde / he shall sende his angell before the that thou mayst take a wyfe vnto my sonne fro thence.ouertheless if the womā will not agree to come with the thā shalt thou be without dainger of this oath. But aboute all thing bypunge not my sonne thyther agayne. And the seruante put his hand vnder the thye of Abraham & swaere to hym as concerninge the matter. And the seruante toke x. camels of the camels of his master & departed / & had of all maner good of his master with hym / & stode by & wet to Mesopotamia / vnto the cyle of Nabor. And made his camels to lye doune without the cyle by the felle side of water / at euē: aboute the women come out to drawe water / and he sayde.

Lorde God of my master Abraham / sende me good speche this daye / and shewe mercy vnto my master Abraham. Lo I stonde here by the well of water and the daughters of the men of this cyle will come out to drawe water: Now the damsell to whome I saye / drawe doune thy ptycher / and let me dryncke. If she saye: Dryncke / and I will geue thy camels dryncke dryncke also / & same is she that thou hast ordained for thy seruante Isaac: yee & thereby shall I knowe & thou shalt shewed mercy on my master. And it came to passe yet he had leste speakinge / that Rebecca came out / the daughter of Bethuel / sonne to Milca the wyfe of Nabor Abrahams brother / and bys ptycher vpon bys shoulder: & he damsell was bere sayde to loke vpon / & yet a mayde and unknowne of man. And she went doune to the well and fylled bys ptycher and came by agayne. Then the seruante ranne vnto her and sayde: let me suppe a lytle water of thy cpyther. And she sayde: dryncke my Lorde.

And she hastid and late doune her ptycher vpon bys arme & gaue hym dryncke. And whē she had geuen hym dryncke / she sayde: I will drawe water for thy camels also / vntill they haue dryncke ynough. And she poured out bys ptycher in to a trowgh hastily / & rāne agayne vnto the well / to sett water: & dryne for all his camels. And the selowe wondered at her. But helde bys peace / to mete whether the Lorde had made bys journeye prosperous or not. And as the camels had leste drynkyng / he toke a golde earyng of halfe a sicke weight / & two braceletes for bys handes / of x. syles weight of gold / and layde vnto her: whōse daughter art thou? tell me: is there roomme in thy fathers house for vs to lodge in? And she sayde vnto hym: I am the daughter of Bathuel the sonne of Milca which she bare vnto Nabor: and sayde moreouer vnto hym: we haue utter and prauender ynough / and also roomme to lodge in.

¶ And the man bowed hym selfe / & sayde: My Lorde / & sayde: blessed be the Lorde God of my master Abraham which cealeth not to deale mercifullly & truly with my master: & hath brought me the waye to my masters brothers house. And the damsell rāne & toke the of her mothers house these thinge. And Rebecca had a brother called Laban.

¶ And Laban rāne out vnto the man / to the well: for as soone as he had sene the earyngs & the braceletes vpon bys sisters handes / & hearde the word of Rebecca his sister sayig thus sayde the man vnto me / than he wet out vnto the man. And loo / he stode yet with the camels by the well side. And Laban sayde come in to my house / the Lorde. wherfore stonde thou without? I haue dressed the house / and made roomme for the camels. And than the man came into the house: and he bowed for the camels / & brought lyster & prauender for the camels / and water to waiche bys feete & their fete that were with him / & there was meate sett before hym to eate. But he sayde: I will not eate / vntill I haue sayde myre earende. And he sayde: saye my / And he sayde: I am Abrahams seruante / & the Lorde hath blessed my master out of measure / & he is become greate / & hath geue hym shepe / oxen / syluer & golde / menseruautes / mayde seruantes / camels & asses. And Sara my wyfe bare hym a sonne / whē he was taketh them a waye. And my master made me sweere sayinge: thou shalt not take a wyfe to my sonne amonge the daughters of the Canaanites in whose lande I dwell. But thou shalt go vnto my fathers house and to my kynred / & there take a wyfe vnto my sonne. And I sayde vnto my master: what if the wyfe will not folowe me? And he sayde vnto me: The Lorde before whome I walke / will sende his angell with the / and prosper thy journeye that thou shalt take a wyfe for my sonne / of my kynred & of my fathers house. But & if (when thou comest vnto my kynred) they will not geue the one / than shalt thou bere no perell of myne oothe.

¶ And I came this daye vnto the well & sayde: O Lorde / the God of my master Abraham / if it be so & thou makest my journeye which I go / prosperous: beholde I stonde by this well of water / and when a byrgyn cometh forth to drawe water / & I saye to her: geue me a lytle water of thy ptycher to dryncke / and she saye agayne to me: dryncke thou / and I will also drawe water for thy camels: that same is the wyfe whom the Lorde hath prepared for my masters sonne.

¶ And before I had made an ende of speakinge in my harte: beholde Rebecca came forth / & bys ptycher on bys shoulder / & she wet doune vnto the well & dryne. And I sayde vnto her: geue me dryncke. And she made halfe / & toke doune bys ptycher fro of bys / and sayde: dryncke / & I will geue thy camels dryncke also. And I byache / & she gaue the camels dryncke also. And I asked her sayinge: whose daughter art thou? And she answered: the daughter of Bathuel Naboris sonne / whom Milca bare vnto him. And I put the earyng vpon bys face & the braceletes vpon bys handes. And I bowed my selfe / & worshipped the Lorde / & blessed the Lorde God of my master Abraham which had brought me the ryght waye / to take my masters brothers daughter vnto my sonne. Sure / & thynges / Now therfore if ye will deale mercifullly / as I haue done / & truly with my master / tell me: and if not tell me also: & I may turne me to the ryght hand or to the left.

¶ Then answered Laban & Bathuel sayinge: The thyng is proceded euē out of the Lorde / one thinge or another / that I we can not therfore say vnto the / ether good may knowe of: had beholde Rebecca before thy face / take her vnto to her & goo / and let her be thy masters sonnes wyfe / euē as the Lorde hath sayde. And when Abrahams seruante hearde their wordes / he bowed bowed hym selfe vnto the Lorde / that vpon the erth. And the seruaunt toke forth ieweltes of siluer & ieweltes of gold & raymet / & gaue the to Rebecca: but vnto hyr brother & to hyr mother / he gaue spyes. And then they ate & drinke / both he & the men & were w him / and taried all nyght and rose vp in the mornynge.

And he sayde: let me departe vnto my master. But hyr brother and hyr mother sayde: let the damsell abyde with vs a whyle / & it be but euen. x. dayes / and than goo thy wayes. And he sayde vnto the: hynder me not / for the Lorde hath prospered my iourney. Sende me awaye that I maye goo vnto my master. And they sayde: let vs call the damsell / & witt what she sayth to the matter. And they called forth Rebecca / & sayde vnto her: witt thou goo with this man? And she sayde: yee.

So they let Rebecca their syster go with her noyse & Abrahams seruaunte / & the men. ¶ To blisse that were with hym. And they blessed Rebecca / & sayde vnto her: Thou art oure syster growe in to thousande thousandes / and thy seed possesse & gat of their enemyes. And Rebecca arose & hyr damsell / & satt the by the camels / & wet their waye after the man. And the seruaunt toke Rebecca / & wet his waye.

And Isaac was a comynge from the well of the luyng / & scynge / so he dwelt in the fourth cotre / & was gone out to walke in hyr medytacyons before the euē tye. And he lyft by hyr eyes & looked / and beholde the camels were comynge. And Rebecca telt by hyr eyes / & when she sawe Isaac / she lychted of the camel / & sayde vnto the seruaunt: what man is this that cometh agaynst vs in the feld? And the seruaunt sayde: it is my master. And then she toke hyr mantell / & put it about her. And the seruaunt tolde Isaac all that he had done. Then Isaac brought her in to hyr mother Saras tence / and toke Rebecca / and she became hyr wyfe / & he loued her: & so was Isaac comforted ouer hyr mother.

The xxi. Chapter.

Abraham toke hym another wyfe called Hetur / whyche bare hym Simran / Jechlan / Medan / Midian / Jethach & Shuah. And Jechlan begat Seba & Medan. And the somes of Medan were Aduim / Letusim and Leuimim. And the somes of Midian were Ephraim / Danoch / Abda & Edda. All these were the chyldren of Hetur. But Abraham gaue all & he had vnto Isaac. And vnto the somes of hyr concubynes he gaue gyltes / and sente them awaye from Isaac byr some / whyche he pet luyng / callward / vnto the east contr.

These are the dayes of the lyfe of Abraham which he luyng: an hundred & x. yere / and than he seke & dyed / in a lustye age / why he had luyng enough / & was put vnto his people. And hyr sonnes Isaac & Imael buryed hym in the double caue in the feld of Ephraim some of Soar the Bethyete before Mamre. which feld Abraham bought of the sonne of Beth: there was Abraham buried & Sarah his wyfe. And after the deeth of Abraham God blessed Isaac hyr sonne / whyche dwelled by the well of the luyng & scynge.

These are the generacions of Imael Abrahams sonne / which Hagar the Egyptia Saras handmaide bare vnto Abraham. And these are the names of the sonnes of Imael / with their names in their hyndredes. The eldest sonne of Imael Reuaoth / then Cedar / Adbeel / Mitham / Midma / Duma / Mada / Hadar / Chema / Jetur / Naphis & Bedma: these are the sonnes of Imael / & these are their names / in their towne & castels. xij. pices of nacyons. And these are the yeres of the lyfe of Imael / an hundred & xxiij. yere / & than he seke & dyed / & was layde vnto his people. And he dwelt fild Achura vnto Soar & is before Egypte / as men go toward the Aduia. And he dyed in the presence of all his byrthen.

And these are the generacions of Isaac Abrahams sonne: Abraham begat Isaac. And Isaac was xi. yere olde whē he toke Rebecca to wyfe / & daughter of Bethuel the Syrian of Mesopotamia & sister to Laban & Shire.

And Isaac made intercessio vnto the Lorde for hyr wyfe: because she was barren: and the Lorde was intreated of hym / & Rebecca his wyfe conceived: & she chyldren stroue to gether within her. When she sayde: yf it shulde goo so to passe / what helpeth it & I am with chyld: And she went & axed the Lorde. And the Lorde sayde vnto her: there are two maner of people in thy wombe / & two nacyns shall sprynge out of thy bowels / and the one nacyn shall be myghtier than the other / & the eldest shall be seruaunt vnto the younger.

And when hyr tyme was come to be deliuered: beholde there were two twynes in hyr wombe. And he & came out fyrst was redde & rough ouer all as it were an hyde: and they called his name Esau. And afterward his brother came out / & his hande holdyng Esau by the heile. wherfore his name was called Jacob. And Isaac was. x. yere olde when he bare the: & the boyes grew / & Esau became a comynge hunter and a tyll man. But Jacob was a symple man / & dwelled in the tentes. Isaac loued Esau / because he dyd eat of his venyson / but Rebecca loued Jacob.

Jacob sod potage / & Esau came fro the feld / & was was sayntye / & sayd to Jacob: let me suppe of & redde potage / for I am sayntye. And therfore was his name called Edom. And Jacob sayde: sell me this daye thy byrthright. And Esau answered: Lo I am at the poynte to dye / & what profite shall this byrthright do me? And Jacob sayde: were to me then this daye. And he swore to hym / & solde hyr byrthright vnto Jacob. Then Jacob gaue Esau byrde & potage of redde ryle. And he ate and dronke & rose vp / & went hyr waye. And so Esau regarded not his byrthright.

The iourney of Isaac toward Abimelech. The pimes made vnto Isaac & his seide. Isaac is rebuked of Abimelech for calling his wyfe his syster. The chydren of the shepardes for the welles. Isaac is comforted. The atonement betwene Abimelech & Isaac.

The xxi. Chapter.

And there fell a deth in the lande / passyng the fyrst deth that fell in the dayes of Abraham. wherfore Isaac went vnto Abimelech kynge of the Philistias vnto Gerar. Then the Lorde appeared vnto hym / & sayde: So not doune in to Egypte / but hyde in the lande which I say vnto the: so goyne in thys lande / & I wyll be with the / & wyll blesse the: for vnto & vnto thy seide I wyll geue all these contrees. And I wyll performe the ooth which I swore vnto Abraham thy father / & wyll multiplye thy seed as the starrs of heauē / & wyll geue vnto thy seed all these cotreys. And thou shalt saye: Shall all the nacyons of the erth be blessed / because that Abraham hathened vnto my boyce & kepte myne ordynaces / commaundmentes / statutes and lawes.

And Isaac dwelled in Gerar. And men of the place asked hym of his wyfe / & he sayde: she was hyr syster: for he feared to call her his wyfe / lest the men of the place shuld haue killed hym for hyr sake / because she was bewtyfull to & eye. And it happened after he had bene there longe tyme / that Abimelech kynge of the Philistians looked out at a wyndow / & sawe Isaac sportyng w Rebecca hyr wyfe. And Abimelech sende for Isaac / & sayde: se / she is of a liertye thy wyfe / & why saydest thou that she was thy syster? And Isaac sayd vnto hym: I thought & I myghte peraduenture haue dyed for hir sake. Then sayde Abimelech: why hast thou done this vnto vs? one of & people myght lychtly haue lye by thy wyfe / & so shuldest thou haue brought tyme vnto vs. Then Abimelech charged all his people / sayyng: he that toucheth this man or hyr wyfe / shall surely dye for it.

And Isaac sowed in that lande / & founde in that same yere an. C. bushels: for the Lorde blessed hym / & the man waxed myghty / & wet forth & grewe tyll he was exceeding great / & he had possed of shepe / of oxen & a myghty houholde: so that the Philistias had enuy at hym: in somoche & they stopped & fylled by w erth all the welles which his fatherys seruantes dygged in his father Abrahams tyme. Then sayde Abimelech vnto Isaac: gett the fild me / for thou art myghtier then we a great deale. Then Isaac departed thence / & pitched his tente in the valey Gerar / & dwelt there. And Isaac digged agayne the welles of water which they dygged in & dayes of Abraham his father / which the Philistias had stopped after the deeth of Abraham / & gaue the the same names which his father gaue the. As Isaacs seruantes dygged in the valey / they founde a well of luyng water. And the herdme of Gerar dyd stryue with Isaac herme / sayyng: the water is oure. Then called he the well Esch / because they stroue with him.

Then dygged they another well / and they stroue for & also. wherfore called he it Site na. And than he departed thence / & dygged a nother well for & which they stroue not: therfore called he it Rehoboth / sayyng: the Lorde hath now made vs rowme / & we are encresced vnto the erth. Afterward departed hethere & came to Berseba. And the Lorde appeared vnto hym the same nyght / & sayde: I am the God of Abraham thy father / feare not for I am with the / & wyll blesse the / & multiplye thy seed for my seruaunt Abraham sake. And than he buylded an aulter there / and called her the name of the Lorde / and there pitched his tente. And there Isaacs seruantes dygged a well.

Then came Abimelech to hym fro Gerar / & Abimelech hyr frende and Phicol hyr chiefe captayne. And Isaac sayde vnto them: wherfore come ye to me / sayyng ye hate me & haue put me awaye fro you? Then sayde they: we sawe that the Lorde was with the / and therfore we sayde that there shulde be an ooth betwixte vs & the / & that we wolde make a bonde with the / that thou shuldest do vs no hurte / as we haue not touched the / and haue done vnto the nothyng but good / & sent the awaye in peace: for thou art now the blessed of the Lorde. And he made them a feast / and they ate & dronke. And they rose by tynes in the mornynge / and swore one to a nother. And Isaac sent them awaye. And they departed from hym in peace. And that same daye came Isaacs seruantes / & tolde hym of a well which they had dygged: and sayde vnto hym / that they had founde water. And he called it Seba / wherfore the name of the cyte is called Berseba vnto this daye.

Isaac dealeth the blessing from Esau by his mothers counsell. Isaac is sad. Esau is comforted. The hatred of Esau toward Jacob.

While he yet talked with the, Rachel came with her father's shepe/for she kepte the. As soone as Jacob sawe Rachel/the daughter of Laban hys mothers brother/ & the shepe of Laban hys mothers brother/he went & rowled the stone frō the well's mouth/ & watered the shepe of Laban hys mothers brother. And Jacob kysed Rachel/ &yste by hys boyce & wepte:and tolde her also that he was his father's brother & Rebeccas sonne. Then Rachel ranne and tolde hys father.

When Laban hearde tell of Jacob his sisters sonne/he rane to mete him/ & embraced him & kysed him/ & brought him to his house. And then Jacob tolde Laban all the matter. And then Laban sayde:well/thou art my bone & my flesh. Abide with me the space of a moneth. And afterward Laban sayde vnto Jacob: Though thou be my brother/ shuldest thou therfore serue me for nought? tell me what shall thy wages be? And Laban had. 11 daughters/the eldest called Lea & the ydgest Rachel. Lea was tender eyed/but Rachel was bewtyfull & well fauored. And Jacob loued her well/ & sayde:I wyll serue the. 11. yere for Rachel thy yongest daughter. And Laban answered:it is better that I geue her the/thā to another man:byde therfore with me.

And Jacob serued 11. yeres for Rachel/ & they serued vnto hym but a fewe dayes/for he loue he had to her. And Jacob sayde vnto Laban:geue me my wyfe/that I maye lye with hir. for the tyme appoynted me is come.

Then Laban hade all men of that place/ & made a feast. And when even was come/ he toke Lea his daughter & brought her to him: & he wēt in vnto her. And Laban gaue vnto hys daughter Lea/ Zilpha hys mayde/ to be hir seruante. And whē the mornynge was come/beholde it was Lea. Then sayde he to Laban:wherfore hast thou played thus with me:byd not I serue the for Rachel/wherfore than hast thou begyled me? Laban answered:it is not the maner of this place/to marie & ydgest before the eldest. Passe out this weke & than shall this also be geue the for the seruyce which thou shalt serue me yet. 11. yeres more. And Jacob byd euē so/ & passed out that weke/ & than he gaue him Rachel his daughter to wyfe also. And Laban gaue to Rachel his daughter/Bilha his handmayde to be hys seruante. So laye he by Rachel also/ & loued Rachel more than Lea/ and serued hym yet 11. yeres more.

When the Lorde sawe that Lea was despyed/he made her frutefull:but Rachel was barren. And Lea conceived & bare a sonne/ & called hys name Ruben/for she sayde: I Lorde hath looked vpon my tribulatiō. And now my husband wyll loue me. And she conceived agayne & bare a sonne/and sayde: the Lorde hath herde & I am despyed/ & hath therfore geue me this sonne also/ & she called him Simeon. And she conceived yet/ & bare a sonne/ & sayde:now this once will my husband kepe me company/because I haue borne hym. 11. sonnes: & therfore she called his name Leui. And she conceived yet agayne/ & bare a sonne sayng:now will I praye the Lorde:therfore she called his name Juda/ & left bearinge.

Rachel & Lea beinge bothe barren geue their maydes vnto their husbands/ & they bare hym chyldren. Jacob deceaueth Laban in the conceyuinge of the shepe and byddes. Jacobs remarke for hys serues.

The xxx. Chapter.

When Rachel sawe that she bare Jacob no chyldren/ she enuyed hir sister/ & sayde vnto Jacob: Geue me a chyld/ or els I am but deede. Then was Jacob wrooth with Rachel sayng: Am I in Godes steade which kepeth from the the frute of thy wombe? Then she sayde: here is my mayde Bilha: go in vnto her/ & she maye beare vpon my lappe/that I maye be increased by her. And she gaue hym Bilha hys hand mayde to wyfe. And Jacob went in vnto her: and Bilha conceived & bare Jacob a sonne. Then sayde Rachel. God hath geue sentence on my syde/ & hath also hearde my boyce/and hath geuen me a sonne. Therfore called she him Dan. And Bilha Rachels mayde conceived agayne/ and bare Jacob another sonne. And Rachel sayde: God is turned/and I haue made a chadze to my sister/ & haue gotte the byperhād. And she called his name: Nephtali.

When Lea sawe that she had left bearinge/ she toke Zilpha hys mayde/ & gaue her Jacob to wyfe. And Zilpha Leas mayde bare Jacob a sonne. Then sayde Lea: Good luck: and called his name Gad. And Zilpha Leas mayde bare Jacob another sonne. Then sayd Lea: happy am I/ for I daughters wyll call me/ blessed. And called his name Isser.

And Ruben wēt out in & wheat harvest & sold 11. mādzagoras in the feld/ & brought the vnto his mother Lea. Then sayd Rachel to Lea: geue me of thy sonnes mādzagoras. And Lea answered: Is it not ynough & thou hast take awaye my housbād/ but wouldest take awaye my sonnes mādzagoras also? Then sayd Rachel: well/ let him slepe in the this nyght/ for thy sonnes mādzagoras. And when Jacob came from the felde at euen/ Lea went out to mete him/ & sayd: come in to me/ for I haue bought the with my sonnes mādzagoras.

And he slepte in her that nyght. And God herde Lea/ & she conceived & bare vnto Jacob 11. sonne. Then sayd Lea. God hath geue me my rewarde/ because I gaue my mayden to my housbād/ & she called hym Issachar. And she

Lea

Lea conceived yet agayne/ & bare Jacob the 11. sonne. Then sayde she: God hath endewed me with a good dowry. Now will my husband dwell with me/because I haue borne him. 11. sonnes: & called hys name Zabulon. After that she bare a daughter/and called her Dina.

And God remembred Rachel/ hearde her/ & made her frutefull: so & she conceived & bare a sonne/ & sayd: God hath take awaye my rebuke. And she called his name Joseph/ sayng: The Lorde geue me yet a nother sonne. As soone as Rachel had borne Joseph/ Jacob sayde to Laban: Send me awaye & I may go vnto my atone place & adre/geue me my wages & my chyld/ for whom I haue serued the/ & let me goo: for thou knowest what seruyce I haue done the. Then sayde Laban vnto hym: If I haue founde fauour in thy sight for I suppose that the Lorde hath/ blessed me for thy sake/ appoynte what thy rewarde shall be/ & I will geue it the. But he sayde vnto hym: thou knowest what seruyce I haue done the/ & in what takinge thy cattell haue bene vnder me: for it was but litle & thou hadde it before I came/ & now it is increased into a multitude/ & the Lorde hath blessed the for my sake. But now what shall I make p/ q uisd for myne atwē house also. And he sayd: what shall I then geue the? And Jacob answered: thou shalt geue me nothing at al/ yf thou wilt do thy one thyng for me: & then wilt I turne agayne/ & fede thy shepe & kepe the.

I will go aboute all thy shepe this daye/ & separate frō them all the shepe that are spotted & of dyuers coloures/ & all blacke shepe amonge the lambes/ & the partye/ & the spotted amonge the hydes: & the same shall be my rewarde. So shall my ryghtwysnes answere for me: when the tyme cometh that I shall receaue my rewarde of the: so & what so euer is not speckled & partie amonge & goot/ & blacke amonge the lambes/ let that be thest with me. Then sayde Laban: Lo/ I am content/ that it be accordyng as thou hast sayde. And he toke out that same daye & he gootes that were partie & of dyuers coloures/ & all the she gootes that were spotted & partie coloured/ & all that had whyte in the/ & all the blacke amonge the lambes: & put the in the keepinge of hys sonnes/ & set the dayes iourney betwixte him selfe and Jacob. And so Jacob kepte the rest of Labans shepe.

Jacob toke rodde of grene poplar/ hasell & of chestnottree/ & pylled whyte strakes in them/ & made the whyte apere in the flauers: And he put the flauers whyche he had pylled/ euē before the shepe/ in gutters & watring troughes/ when the shepe came to dryncke/ that they shulde cōceare when they came to dryncke. And the shepe conceived before the flauers/ & brought forth straked/ spotted and partie. Then Jacob parted the lambes and & turned the faces of the shepe toward spotted thing/ & toward all maner of blacke thing/ thowout the flockes of Laban. And he made hym flockes of hys atone by the selfe/ whych he put not vnto the flockes of Laban. And all waye in the fynd bucking tyme of the shepe/ Jacob put the flauers before the shepe in the gutters/ that they myght cōceare before the flauers: but in the latter buckynge tyme/ he put them not thre: so the last brode was Labans & the fynd Jacobs. And the mā became exceeding ryche & had many shepe/ maydes/ vnters/ men/ seruantes/ camels & asses.

At the cōmāndement of God/ Jacob departed frō Laban/ & toke hys goodes with hym. Rachel Reclith by her father's ymager. Laban followeth Jacob. The cōmānt betwixt Laban and Jacob.

The xxxi. Chapter.

When Jacob hearde the wordes of Labans sonnes how they sayde: Jacob hath take awaye all that was our fathers goodes/ hath he gotte al this honoure. And Jacob behelde the countenance of Laban/ that it was not toward hym as it was in tymes past. And the Lorde sayde vnto Jacob: turne agayne in to the lande of thy fathers & to thy hymed/ & I wyll be with the. Then Jacob sent & called Rachel & Lea to the felde vnto hys shepe/ & sayde vnto the: I fe your fathers countenance that it is not toward me as in tymes past. Wherefore & God of my father hath bene with me. And ye knowe how that I haue serued your father to all my myghte. And your father hath disceured me/ & chadged my wages. 11. tymes: but God suffered him not to hurte me. When he sayde/ the spotted shall be thy wages/ than all the shepe were spotted. If he sayde/ the straked shall be thy rewarde/ thā bare all the shepe straked: thus hath God take awaye your fathers cattell & geue them me. for in bucking tyme I lysted by myne eyes & sawe in a dreame/ & beholde/ the rāmes & bucked the shepe were straked/ spotted & partie. And & angell of God spake vnto me in a dreame/ sayng: Jacob? And I answered: here am I. And he sayde: lyste by thyne eyes & se/ how all the rāmes that leape vpon the shepe are straked/ spotted & partie: for I haue sene all & Laban both vnto the. I am & God of Bethel where thou anoyntedst the stone/ & wher thou bowedst a boipe vnto me. Now aryse & get the out of this countre/ & retorne vnto & lade wher thou wilt borne.

Then answered Rachel & Lea/ & sayde vnto hym: we haue no parte nor inherytaunce in our fathers house/ he counteth vs euen as strangers/ for he hath sode vs/ & hath euen eaten by the price of his. Moreover all the riches which God hath take from our father / & is ours & our childrens. Now therefore what soever God hath layde vnto the / & do. When Jacob rose by / & set his sonnes & wyues by by camels / & carried away all his cattell & all his substance which he had gotten in Mesopotamia / for to go to Isaac his father vnto the land of Canaan. Laban was gone to there his shepe / & Rachel had stoln by / fathers ymagines. And Jacob staid away the heart of Laban the Syrian / in & he tolde him not & he fled. So fled he & all that he had / & made him selfe ready / & passed ouer the ryuers / & set his face streight toward the mounte Gilad.

Upon the thyrde day after / was it told Laban & Jacob fled. When he toke his brethren by him & followed after him. By dayes journey / & ouer toke him at the mounte Gilad.

And God came to Laban the Syrian in a dreame by nyght / & sayd vnto him: take heed to thy selfe / that thou speake not to Jacob ought saue good. And Laban ouer toke Jacob: & Jacob had pitched his tete in & moult. And Laban in his brethren pitched their tete also by the mounte Gilad. When sayde Laban to Jacob: why hast thou thus done to steale away my heart / and carpe away my daughters as though they had bene take captiue in the sword? Wherefore wentest thou away secretly vnto me / and dydest not tell me / & I myght haue brought the on the waye in myrth / syngyng / tymrels & harpes / & hast not suffred me to kisse my children.

My daughters? thou wilt a sole to do it / for I am able to do you euill. But & God of your father spake vnto me yesterday sayng: take heed & thou speake not to Jacob ought saue good. And now though thou wilt tell thy waye / because thou lovest after thy fathers house / yet wherefore hast thou stoln my gods?

Jacob answered & sayde to Laban: because I was afrayed / & thought that thou woldest haue take away thy daughters from me. But with whome soeuer thou fyndest thy gods / let him dye here before our brethren. Seke that thyne is by me / & take it to & for Jacob wyl not & Rachel had stoln the. When went Laban in to Jacobs tete / & into Leas tete / & in to .ii. maydens tentes: but founde the not. When went he out of Leas tete / & entered in to Rahels tete. And Rachel toke the ymagines & put the in the camels strawe / & layde downe byon the. And Laban serched all the tete: but founde the not. When sayde he to by / father: my lorde / be not angry that I can not ryle by before the / for the defaile of women is come by me. So serched he / but founde the not.

Jacob was wrooth / & chode with Laban. Jacob also answered and sayde to him: what haue I trespassed of / what haue I offended / & thou followest after me? Thou hast searched all my stuffe / & what hast thou founde of all thy household stuffe: put it here before thy brethren & myne / & let the iudge betwixte vs both. & his .xx. yere that I haue bene in the / thy shepe & thy gootes haue not bene bare / & the rammes of thy flocke haue I not eaten. What soeuer was some of beast I brought it not vnto the / but made it good my selfe: of my hande dydest thou requyte it / whether it was stolen by daye or nyght. Moreover by daye the herte consumed me / and the colde by nyght / & my shepe departed from myne eyes.

Thus haue I bene .xx. yere in thy house / & serued the .xiiij. yeres for thy .ii. daughters / & .vi. yere for thy shepe / & thou hast charged my rewarde .x. tymes. And except the God of my father / the God of Abraham / & God to whom Isaac seareth had bene to me: surely thou haddest sent me awaye now all empty. But God behelde my tribulacyon / and the labour of my handes: and rebuked the yere daye.

Laban answered & sayde vnto Jacob: the daughters are my daughters / & the children are my children / & the shepe are my shepe / & all that thou seest is myne. And what can I do this daye vnto these my daughters / or vnto their children which they haue borne? Now therefore come on / let vs make a bonde / & thou to gether / & let it be a witness betwene the & me. When toke Jacob a stone and set it by an ende / and sayde vnto his brethren / gather stones. And they toke stones / & made an heape / & they ate there by the heape. And Laban called it Jegar Sahadutha / but Jacob called it Gilad.

When sayde Laban: this heape be witness betwene & me this daye / therefore is it called Gilad / & this to daye which I lorde seest / sayde he / be witness betwene me and the when we are departed one from another: that thou shalt not bere my daughters neither shalt take other wyues vnto them. Here is no man with vs: beholde / God is witness betwixte the and me. And Laban sayde more ouer to Jacob: beholde / this heape and this marke which I haue set here / betwixte me & the: this heape be witness & also this marke that I wyl not come ouer this heape to the / & thou shalt not come ouer this heape & this marke to do any harme. & he God of Abraham / the God of Nahor / and the God of their fathers be iudge betwixte vs.

And Jacob swore by him that his father Isaac seared. When Jacob byd sacrifice by the mounte / and called his brethren to eate bread. And they ate bread & taried all night in the byll. And early in the morninge Laban rose by & byld his children and his daughters ters / & blessed the & departed and went vnto his place agayne. But Jacob went forth on his journey. And the angels of God came & met him. And when Jacob sawe them / he sayde: this is goddys host: & called the name of that same place / Mahanaim.

Of the vision of the Angells. Jacob sendeth presents vnto his brother Esau. How he wrestled with the angel which changed his name and called him Israel.

Of the .xxij. Chapter.

Jacob sente messengers before him to Esau his brother vnto the land of Seir & the feld of Edom. And he commaunded them saying: se that ye speake after this maner to my lorde Esau: thy seruante Jacob sayth thus. I haue sojourned & bene a stranger with Laban vnto this tyme / & haue gotten oxen / asses & shepe / menservantes & womenservantes / & haue sent to the lorde my lorde / that I may fynde grace in thy syght. And messengers came agayne to Jacob saying: we came vnto thy brother Esau / & he cometh agaynst the & .iiij. hundred men with him. & he was Jacob greatly afrayd / & wyl not which waye to turne him selfe / and deuyled the people that was with him & the shepe / oxen & camels / into .ii. companies / & sayde: If Esau come to & one parte & smyte it / the other may saue it selfe.

And Jacob sayde: O god of my father Abraham / & God of my father Isaac: Lorde whych saydest vnto me / returne vnto thy citie and to thy kynred / & I wyl do all well with the. I am not worthy of the leaste of all the mercyes & treuth which thou hast shewed vnto thy seruante. For to myne lorde came I ouer the yere / & now haue I gotten .ii. houses. Deluyer me from the handes of my brother Esau: for I feare him: lest he wyl come and smyte the mother with the children. Thou saydest that thou woldest surely do me good / & woldest make my seed as the sonde of the see which can not be nombred for multitude.

And he taried there that same nyght / & toke of & toke byd came to hande / & a present / vnto Esau his brother .ii. hundred she gootes & .xx. he gootes .ii. hundred shepe and .xx. rammes / & byd mych camels with their coltes .x. hyne & .x. bulles .xx. she asses & .x. soles and deluyered them vnto his seruantes / eury droue by them selues / & sayde vnto the: goo forth before me & put a space betwixte eury droue. And he commaunded & sayde: sayeinge.

Esau my brother meteth the & arerth the sayinge: whole seruante art thou and whither goost thou / & whole art these & go before & thou shalt say they be thy seruantes. Jacob / & are a present sent vnto my lorde Esau / & beholde / he hym selfe cometh after vs. And so commaunded he the seconde / & euen so & thyrde / & sythwyle all that followed the droues sayinge of this maner se & ye speake vnto Esau when ye mete him / & sayde more ouer. Beholde thy seruante Jacob cometh after vs / for he sayd: I wyl please his wyth with the present that goth before me & after ward I wyl see hym my selfe / so peraduenture he wyl receaue me to grace. So went the present before him and he taried all that nyght in the tete / & rose by & same nyght & toke his .ii. wyues & his .ii. maydens & his .x. sonnes / & met ouer the soorde Jacob. And he toke the & sent the ouer the ryuer / & sent ouer & he had started behind him selfe alone.

And there was a man with him vnto the breakinge of & daye. And when he sawe that he coude not ppeuaile agaynst him / he smote hym vnder the thye / & the senow of Jacobs thye shynke as he wrestled with him. And he sayd: let me goo / for & daye breaketh. And he sayd: I wyl not lett the goo / excepte thou blesse me. And he sayde vnto him: what is thy name? He answered: Jacob. And he sayd: thou shalt be called Jacob no more / but Israel. For thou hast wrestled with God & hast ppeuailed.

And Jacob asked him sayinge / tell me thy name. And he sayd: wherefore dost thou aske after my name? & he blessed him there. And Jacob called & name of & place Pheniel / for I haue sene God face to face / & yet is my face reserved. And as he went ouer Pheniel the sonne rose by him / & he halted byd bys thye: wherefore the children of Israel eate not of the senow & shynke vnder the thye / vnto this daye: because & he smote Jacob vnder the thye in the senow that shynke.

Esau & Jacob were agreed / & Jacob came into Sichem.

Of the .xxiiij. Chapter.

Jacob lyfte by his eyes & sawe his brother Esau come / & by him .iiij. hundred men. And he deuyled the children vnto Lea & vnto Rachel & vnto & .ii. maydens. And he put the maydens & their children foremost / & Lea & byd children after / & Rachel and Joseph hindermost. And he went before them & fell on the grownde. By tymes / vntill he came vnto his brother.

Esau ranne to mete him & embraced him and fell on his necke & kysed hym / and they wepte. And he lyfte by his eyes & sawe the wyues & their children / & sayd: what are these which thou there hast? And he sayd: they are & children which god hath geue thy seruante. When came the maydens forth / & byd their obaysaunce. Lea also & byd children came and byd their obaysaunce. And last of all came Joseph & Rachel and byd their obaysaunce. And he sayde: what meanest thou with all the droues which I meet. And he answered: to synde grace in the syghte of my Lorde. And Esau sayd: I haue ynough my brother/kepe þe thotthall vnto thy self. Jacob answered: oh nay/ but yf I haue founde grace in thy syghte/ receaue my present of my hande: for I haue sene thy face * as though I had sene the face of God: wherfore receaue me to grace. & take my blessing that I haue brought the/ for God hath geue it me. And I haue ynough of all thyngs. And so he compelled him to take it. And he sayde: let vs take oure iourney & goo/ and I wyll goo in thy company. And he sayde vnto him: my lorde knoweth þe I haue tene chylde/ ewes & hyne with ponge/ vnder myne hande/ which yf men shulde ouerdyne but euē one daye/ the hole flocke wold dye. Let my lorde therfore goo before his seruante and I wyll dyne saye and sofly/ accompanye as the catell that goth before me/ and the chylde/ be able to endure: vntill I come to my lorde vnto Seir.

And Esau sayde: let me yet leaue some of my folke wth the. And he sayde: what needeth it: let me synde grace in þe syghte of my lorde. So Esau went his waye agayne that same daye vnto Seir. And Jacob toke his iourney toward Succoth/ and byt him an house/ and made bootheres for his catell: wherof the name of the place is called Succoth.

And Jacob came peacefully in to the cite of Sichem in the lande of Canaan/ after that he was come from Mesopotamia/ & pitched before the crite/ & bought a parcell of ground where he pitched his tent/ of the chylde of Hemoz/ Sichem's father/ for an habited labe. And he made there an auter/ & there called vpon the myghtie God of Israel.

The raising of Dyna Jacobs daughter by the men of Syche. And of the great bloude shedde done by the sonnes of Jacob.

The xxxiii. Chapter.

Dina the daughter of Lea whych we bare vnto Jacob/ went out to see the daughters of the labe. And Sichem the sonne of Hemoz the Hete lorde of þe countre/ sawe her & toke her/ & laye wth her/ & forced her: & his harte laye wth Dyna þe daughter of Jacob. And he loued þe damsell & spake kindly vnto her/ & spake vnto his father Hemoz sayinge/ gett me this mayde vnto my wyfe. And Jacob herde that he had defyled Dyna his daughter/ but his sonnes were with the catell in the felde/ and therfore he hede his peace/ vntill they were come. Then Hemoz the father of Sichem wēt out vnto Jacob/ to comen with him. And the sonnes of Jacob came out of þe felde as soone as they herde it/ for it graued the/ & they were not a lytle wrooth/ because he had wrought foyle in Israel/ in þe he had lye wth Jacobs daughter/ whych thyng oughte not to be done. And Hemoz comeneth with the linge: & þe soule of my sonne Sichem logeth for youre daughter: geue her him to wyfe/ & make marriages wth vs: geue youre daughters vnto vs/ & take oure daughters vnto you/ & dwell wth vs & þe labe shall be at youre pleasure/ dwell & do youre busynes/ & haue youre possessions there in. And Sichem sayde vnto his father & his brethren: let me synde grace in youre eyes/ & what soeuer ye appointe me/ that will I geue. The frey of me both the dowry and gyftes/ & I wyll geue accompanye as ye saye vnto me/ & geue me the damsell to wyfe.

Then the sonnes of Jacob answered to Sichem & Hemoz his father deceptfully/ because he had defyled Dyna their syster. And they sayd vnto the/ we can not do this thyng that we shulde geue oure syster to one that is vncircumcised/ for that were a shame vnto vs. Only in this wyll we consent vnto you: if ye wyll be as we be/ that all the men chylde amonge you be circumcised/ than wyll we geue oure daughter to you & take youres to vs/ & will dwell with you & be one people. But & yf ye wyll not harkē vnto vs to be circumcised/ than wyll we take oure daughter & goo oure wayes. And their wordes pleased Hemoz & Sichem his sonne. And the ponge mē defilde not for to do the thyng/ because he had a lust to Jacobs daughter: he was also most sett by of all that were in his fathers house. Then Hemoz & Sichem went vnto the gate of their crite/ & comeneth with the men of their crite sayinge: these men are peaceable with vs/ & wyll dwell in the lande & do their occupation therin. And in the labe is towne enough for the/ let vs take their daughters to wyues & geue the/ oures: only herin wyll they consent vnto vs for to dwell with vs & to be one people: yf all the men chylde that are amonge vs be circumcised as they are. Their goodes and their substance & all their catell are oures/ only let vs consente vnto the/ that they maye dwell with vs.

And vnto Hemoz and Sichem his sonne harkened all that wēt out at the gate of his crite. And all þe men chylde were circumcised wth what soeuer wēt out at the gates of his cite. And the thirde daye when it was paynfull to them/ of the sonnes of Jacob Symeon and Leui Dynas brethren/ toke ether of the/ & swerde went in to the crite boldly/ & slew all that was male/ & slew also Hemoz and Sichem his sonne in the edge of the swerde/ and toke Dyna their syster out of Sichem's house/ & went their waye.

Then came the sonnes of Jacob vpon the deed/ & spoiled the cite/ because they had defyled their syster: and toke their shepe/ oxen/ asses asses & what so euer was in þe crite & also in the felde. And all their goodes/ all their chylde/ and their wyues toke they captiue and made hauock of all that was in the houses.

And Jacob sayde to Symeon and Leui: ye haue troubled me & made me synche vnto the inhabitours of the lande/ both to the Canaanites and also vnto the Pherezites. And I am fewe in nombze. wherfore they shall gather them selues together agaynst me & sleyme/ & so shall I and my house be destroyed. And they answered: shuld they deall wth oure syster as wth an whoore?

Jacob goth vnto Bethel/ & buryth his maye vnder an oke. Deboza dyeth. Jacob is called Israel. The lande of Canaan is promysed hym. Rachel dyeth in labour: Ruben laye with his fathers concubyne. The death of Isaac.

The xxxiv. Chapter.

And God sayde vnto Jacob/ arise & get the by to Bethel/ and dwell there. And make there an auter vnto God that appeared vnto the/ when thou fleddest from Esau thy brother. Then sayd Jacob vnto his household & to all that were with him/ put away the strange goddes that are amonge you and make youre selues cleane/ & chaunge youre garments/ & let vs arys & goo by to Bethel/ & I maye make an auter there/ vnto god which herde me in the daye of my tribulaciō & was with me in the waye which I went.

And they gaue vnto Jacob all the strange goddes which were vnder their handes/ & all their carnyges which were in their eares/ & Jacob hyd them vnder an oke at Sichem. And they departed. And the feare of God fell vpon the crites & were rounde aboute the/ that they durst not folowe after the sonnes of Jacob. So came Jacob to Lus in þe land of Canaan/ otherwyse called Bethell/ wth al the people that was wth hym. And he buried there an auter/ and called the place Bethell: because that god appered vnto him there/ when he fled from his brother.

Then dyed Deboza Rebeccas noyse/ & was buried benethe Bethell vnder an oke. And the name of it was called the oke of lamentacion. And God appeared vnto Jacob agayne after he came out of Mesopotamia & blessed him & sayde vnto him: thy name is Jacob. Not wth standynge thou shalt be no more called Jacob/ but Israel shall be thy name. And so was his name called Israel.

And God sayde vnto hym: I am God all myghtie/ growe & multiplye: for people and a multitude of people shall sprynge of the/ yee & kynge shall come out of thy loynes. And þe lande which I gaue Abraham & Isaac/ will I geue vnto the/ & vnto thy seed after þe wyll I geue it also. And God departed from hym in the place where he talked wth him. And Jacob set by a marke in þe place where he talked wth him: euen a pilloure of stone/ & powred dynkeoffringe thereon & powred also oyle therō/ & called the name of þe place where God spake wth him/ Bethell.

And they departed from Bethel/ & when he was but a feld byede fro Ephzath/ Rachel begā to trauell. And in traueylng she was in perell. And as she was in paynes of hyr labour the mydwyfe sayde vnto her: feare not/ for thou shalt haue thys sonne also. When as hyr soule was a departynge/ that she must dye: she called his name Ben Oni. But his father called him Ben Jami. And thus dyed Rachel & was buried in the waye to Ephzath which now is called Bethlehe. And Jacob sett by a pyller vpon hir graue/ which is called Rahels graue pyller vnto thys daye. And Israel wēt thence & pitched by his tent beyonde the countre of Eder. And it chaunced as Israel dwelt in þe lande/ that Ruben wēt & laye wth Bilha his fathers concubyne/ and it came to Israels eare. The sonnes of Jacob were xii. in nombze. The sonnes of Lea/ Ruben/ Jacob's eldest sonne/ and Simeon/ Leui/ Juda/ Issachar/ & Zabulon. The sonnes of Rachel/ Joseph & Ben Jamin. The sonnes of Bilha Rahels mayde: Dan & Nephtali. The sonnes of Zilpha Leas mayde Gad & Aser. These are the sonnes of Jacob which were borne him in Mesopotamia.

Then Jacob went vnto Isaac his father to Ware a principall crite/ otherwyse called Hebron: where Abraham & Isaac sojourned as straungers. And the dayes of Isaac were an hundred & xxx. yeres: & than fell he leke & dyed/ and was put vnto his people beyng olde and full of dayes. And his sonnes Esau and Jacob buried hym.

The wyues of Esau/ Jacob & Esau are ryche. The genealogie of Esau. Esau dwelleth in the hill Seir.

Gen. xlii. c. Joseph receiued his brethren. Joseph dreamed & was hated of his brethren & sold to the Chanaanites. Jacob bewepeth Joseph.

Gen. xlii. d. Chapter.

Gen. xlii. e. Jacob dwelt in the land where his father was a stranger / that is to saye in the lande of Canaan. And these are the generations of Jacob: when Joseph was xviij. yere olde / he kepte shepe with his brethren / & the lad was with the sonnes of Bilha & of Zilpha his fathers wyues. And he brought vnto their father an euill saying: what was of them. And Israel loued Joseph more than all his chyldren / because he begat hym in his olde age / & he made hym a coote of many colours.

When his brethren sawe that their father loued him more than all his brethren / they hated him & could not speke one kynde word vnto hym. Moreover Joseph dreamed & dreamed & tolde it his brethren: wherefore they hated him yet more. And he sayde vnto the heare of I praye you thys dreame whych I haue dreamed: Beholde we were makinge sheues in the felde: & lo / my sheue arose and stode by myght / & your sheue toke aboute & made obeysaunce to my sheue. Then sayde his brethren vnto hym: what shalt thou be our oure kyng? or shalt thou reigne ouer vs? And they hated him yet the more / because of his dreame and of his wordes.

And he dreamed yet another dreame & tolde it his brethren sayinge: beholde / I haue had one dreame more: me thought the sonne and the moone and xi. starres made obeysaunce to me. And when he had tolde it vnto his father and his brethren / his father rebuked hym & sayde vnto him: what meaneth this dreame which thou hast dreamed: shall I and thy mother and thy brethren come and fall on the grounde before thee? And his brethren hated hym / but his father noted the sayinge.

His brethren went to hepe their sheaves in Sichem / and Israel sayde vnto Joseph: do not thy brethren hepe in Sichem: come that I may send the to the. And he answered: here am I. And he sayde vnto hym: goo & see whether it be well with thy brethren & the shepe / & bringe me worde agayne. And sent him out of the vale of Hebron / for to go to Sichem. And a certayne man founde hym wandryng out of his waye in the felde / and asked him what he soughte. And he answered: I seeke my brethren / tell me I praye the where they kepe shepe. And the man sayde / they are departed hence / for I herde the say let vs goo vnto Dothan. Thus went Joseph after his brethren / and founde them in Dothan.

And when they sawe hym a farre off before he came at them / they toke counsell agaynst hym / for to sleie him / & sayde one to another: Beholde thys * dreame cometh / come now and let vs sleie hym and cast hym in to some pyt / and let vs saye that some wycked beast hath deuoured him / and let vs see what his dreames wyll come to.

When Ruben herde that / he went aboute to ryde hym out of their handes and sayde / let vs not kyll hym. And Ruben sayde more ouer vnto the / we be not his * bloude / but cast him in to thys pyt that is in the wyldernes / and laye no handes vpon him: for he wolde haue rydd hym out of their handes and deliuered hym to his father agayne.

And as soone as Joseph was come vnto his brethren / they strepte hym out of his gay coote that was vpon hym / and they toke hym and cast hym in to a pyt: But the pyt was emptye and had no water therein. And they satt them downe to eate brede. And as they lyft vp their eyes & looked aboute / there came a compaignie of Chanaanites fro Gilead / & their camels laden with spicery / baulme / & myrr / & were goynge downe in to Egypte.

Then sayde Iuda to his brethren / what auayleth it that we sleie oure brother / & kepe his bloude secret: come on / let vs * sell hym to the Chanaanites / & let not oure handes be de-tyled vpon him: for he is oure brother & oure flesh. And his brethren were content. Then as the Madianites marchant men passed by / they drew Joseph out of the pyt & sold hym vnto the Chanaanites for xx. peces of syluer. And they brought him into Egypte.

And when Ruben came agayne vnto the pyt and founde not Joseph there / he rent his clothes & went agayne vnto his brethren sayinge: the lad is not ponde / & whether shall I goo? And they toke Josephs coote & kyled a goate / & dypped the coote in the bloud. And they sent that gay coote and caused it to be brought vnto their father & sayd: This haue we founde: se whether it be thy sonnes coote or no. And he knewe it sayinge: it is my sonnes coote / a wycked beast hath deuoured hym / & Joseph is rent in peces. And Jacob rent his clothes / and put sacke clothe aboute his loynes / & sorrowed for his sonne a longe season. Then came all his sonnes & all his daughters to comforte him. And he wold not be comforted / but sayde: I will go downe in to the graue vnto my sonne / mournyng. And thus his father wepte for him. And the Madianites sold hym in Egypte vnto Putiphar a lord of Pharaos: & his chiefe marshall.

Gen. xlii. f. The marriage of Iuda. The trespass of her and Onan and the vengeance of god that came ther vpon. Iuda laye with his daughter Chamara. The byrthe of Pharez and Zarah.

Gen. xlii. g. Chapter.

Gen. xlii. h. And it fortuned at that tyme that Iudas went from his brethren & gatt him to a man called Iria of Adolam / & there he sawe the daughter of a man called * Sua a Chanaanite: And he toke her and wet in vnto her. And he conceived & bare a sonne and called his name Er. And he concealed agayne and bare a sonne & called him Onan. And he concealed the thyrde tyme & bare a sonne / whos name he called Sela: & he was at Chesb why he bare him.

And Iudas gaue Er his eldest sonne a wyfe whose name was Chamara. But thys Er Iudas eldest sonne was * wycked in the sighte of the Lord / wherefore the Lord slewe him. Then sayde Iudas vnto Onan: goo in to thy brothers wyfe & marie her / & styre vp seed vnto thy brother. And when Onan perceived that the seed shulde not be his: he fled when he went in to his brothers wyfe / & he spylled it on the grounde / because he wold not geue seed vnto his brother. And the thinge which he dyd / displeased the Lord / wherefore he slewe hym also. Then sayde Iudas to Chamara his daughter in lawe: remayne a widow at thy fathers house / till Sela my sonne be growne: for he feared lest he shulde haue dyed also / as his brethren dyd. Thus went went Chamarr & dwelt in his fathers house. And in processe of tyme / the daughter of Sus Judas wyfe dyed. Chan Judas when he had left mourning / went into his wyfe herers to Chymnath in his frende Wyra of Odollam. And one told Chamarr sayinge: be holde / thy father in lawe goth by to Chymnath / to * there his wyfe. And she put his wydows garments of red her & covered her with a cloocke / & disguised her selfe: And sat her downe at the entrengye of Enaim which is by the hye wayes syde to Chymnath / for because the same that Sela was growne / & she was not guen unto him to wyfe.

* Gene. xxxi. c.
* Reg. xii. c.

When Juda sawe her / he thought it had bene an hoor / because she had covered his face. And turned to her unto the waye and sayde / come I praye the / let me lye with the / for he knewe not that it was his daughter in lawe. And she sayd what wilt thou geue me / for to lye wth me? Chan sayde he / I will sende the a kydd from the flocke. She answered / Chā geue me a pledge tyll thou sende it. Chā sayde he / what pledge shall I geue the? And she sayde: thy sygnett / thy bracelet / and thy staffe that is in thy hande. And he gaue it her a lay by her / & she was whiche childe by hym. And she gatt her by & went & put her mactell from her / and put on his wydows rayment agayne. And Judas sent the kydd by his neybour of Odollam / for to fetch out his pledge agayne fro the wyfes hande. But he found her not. Chan asked he the men of the same place sayinge: where is the whoore that satt at Enaim in the waye? And they sayde: there was no whoore here. And he came to Juda agayne sayinge: I can not fynde her / & also the men of the place sayd: that there was no whoore there. And Juda sayde: let her take it to her / lest we be shamed: for I sente a kydd and thou couldest not fynde her.

And it came to passe that after .iiij. monethes / one tolde Juda sayinge: Chamarr thy daughter in lawe hath played the whoore / & wyth playng the whoore is become great wth chylde. And Juda sayde: byngge her forth & let her be byente. And when they brought her forth / she sent to her father in lawe sayig: by the man unto whome these thynges pertayne / am I with chylde. And sayd also: loke whole are this leall / bracelet / and staffe. And Juda knewe them sayinge: she is moze ryght wth than I / because I gaue her not to Sela my sonne. But he laye with her nomore.

When tyme was come that she shoulde be deliuered / beholde there was .iiij. twynnes in his wombe. And as she traueled / the one put out his hande & the mydwyfe toke a bownde & reed thre aboute it sayinge: this wyll come out fyrst. But he plucked his hande backe agayne / & his brother came out. And she sayd: wherfore hast thou rent a rent by the? & called hym Pharez. And afterwarde came out his brother & had the reade thre aboute his hande / which was / called Zarah.

God prospereth Joseph. Pharez was wyfe tempteth hym. He is accused & cast in prison. God hath mercye upon hym.

The xxxi. Chapter.

Joseph was brought unto Egypte / & Putiphar a lord of Pharaos: & his chiefe marshall an Egyptian / bought him of Ismaelites which brought him thither. And the Lord was wth Joseph / & he was a luckie selowe & continued in the house of his master the Egyptian. And his master sawe that the Lord was wth hym / and that the Lord made all that he doo prosper in his hande: wherfore he founde grace in his masters syghte / and serued him. And his master made hym ruelar of his house / & put all that he had in his hand. And as soone as he had made him ruelar ouer his house & ouer all that he had / the Lord blessed this Egyptians house for Josephs sake / and the blessinge of the Lord was vpon all that he had: both in the house & also in the felde. And therfore he left all that he had in Josephs hand / & looked vpon nothinge that was with him / save only on bread which he ate. And Joseph was a goodly person & a well fauored. And it fortuned after this / that his masters wyfe cast his eyes vpon Joseph & sayde: come lye wth me. But he denyed & sayde to her: Beholde / my master wotech not what he hath in the house wth me / but hath committed all that he hath to my hande. He hym selfe is not greater in the house than I / and hath kepte nothinge fro me / but only the because thou art his wyfe. How than can I do this great wickednes / for to synne agaynst God? And after this manner spake he to Joseph daye by daye: but he harkend not vnto her / to slepe nere her or to be in her company.

And it fortuned aboute the same season / that Joseph entred in to the house / to do his busynes: & there was none of the household by in the house. And she caught hym by the garment sayinge: come slepe with me. And he left his garment in his hande & fled and gotte him out. When she sawe that he had left his garment in his hande / and was fled out / she called vnto the men of the house / & tolde the sayinge: Se / he hath brought in an Hebrew vnto vs to do his wth us: for he came in to me / for to haue slept wth me. But I cryed wth a lowde voyce. And when he harde / I left by my voyce & cryed / he left his garment wth me and fled awaye and got hym out.

his lord came home. And she tolde hym accord byngge to these wordes sayinge. This Hebrewes seruante which thou hast brought vnto vs came in to me to do me shame. But as soone as I left by my voyce and cryed / he left his garment wth me & fled out. When his master herde & woordes of his wyfe which she tolde hym sayinge: after this manner doo thy seruante to me / he waxed wth ooth.

And he toke Joseph & put him in a prison: eue in the place where the kynges prisoners laye bounde. And there continued he in prison / but the Lord was wth Joseph & shewed hym mercie / & gott hym sauoure in the syghte of the keeper of the prison which committed to Josephs hande all the prisoners that were in the prison house. And what soeuer was done there / that doo he. And the keeper of the prison whed vnto nothinge that was vnder his hande / because the Lord was wth hym / and because that what soeuer he doo / the Lord made it come luckely to passe.

Joseph expoundeth the dreames of the two prysoners.

The xli. Chapter.

It chauced after this / that the chiefe butlar of the kyng of Egypte and his chiefe baker had offended the lord the kyng of Egypte. And Pharaos was angrie wth the and put the in ward in his chiefe marshalls house: euen in the prison where Joseph was bound. And the chiefe marshall gaue Joseph a charge wth them / and he serued them. And they continued a season in ward.

And they dreamed ether of them in one nyght: both the butlar and the baker of the kyng of Egypte which were bounde in the prison house / ether of them his dreame / and eche mannes dreame of a sondrye interpretation. When Joseph came in vnto them in the morninge / & looked vpon them: beholde / they were sad. And he asked them sayinge: wherfore loke ye so sadly to daye? They answered hym / we haue dreamed a dreame / & haue no man to declare it. And Joseph sayd vnto the. Interpretynge belongeth to God but tel me yet. And the chiefe butlar tolde his dreame to Joseph and sayde vnto hym. In my dreame me thought there stode a byne before me / & in the byne were .iiij. branches / and it was as though it budded / and her blossoms shotte forth: & the grapes there of waxed ripe. And I had Pharaos cuppe in my hande / and toke of the grapes & wynged them in to Pharaos cuppe / & deliuered Pharaos cuppe in to his hande. And Joseph sayde vnto him / this is the interpretation of it. The .iiij. branches ar thre dayes: for wthin thre dayes shall Pharaos lye by thynne heade / and restore the bu-

to thynne office agayne / & thou shalt deliuer Pharaos cuppe in to his hande / after the old maner / euen as thou dydest when thou wast his butlar. But thynke on me wth the / when thou art in good case / & shewe mercye vnto me. And make mencion of me to Pharaos / & helpe to byngge me out of this house: for I was stolen out of the land of the Hebrewes / & here also haue I done nothing at all wherfore they shoulde haue put me in to this dongeon. When the chiefe baker sawe that he had well interpreted it / he sayde vnto Joseph / me thought also in my dreame / that I had .iii. wyker baskettes on my heade. And in the bypermost basket of all maner bakemeates for Pharaos. And the bydes ate them out of the basket vpon my head.

Joseph answered and sayde: this is the interpretation therof. The .iiij. baskettes ar .iiij. dayes / for thys daye .iiij. dayes shall Pharaos take thy heade from the / and shall hange the on a tree / and the bydes shall eate thy flesch from of the.

And it came to passe the thyrde daye which was Pharaos byrth daye / that he made a feast vnto all his seruantes. And he litted vpp the head of the chiefe buttelar and of the chiefe baker amonge his seruantes. And reuoyced the chiefe buttelar vnto his buttelar: thippe agayne / and he reched the cuppe in to Pharaos hande / and hanged the chiefe baker: eue as Joseph had interpreted vnto them. Notwithstandyng the chiefe buttelar remembred not Joseph / but forgot him.

Pharaos dreames are expounded by Joseph. He is made ruler ouer all Egypte. He hath two sonnes / Manasses and Ephraim. The berch begynneth in Egypte.

The xlii. Chapter.

It fortuned at .iiij. yerres ende / that Pharaos dreamed / & thought that he stode by a ryuers syde / and that there came out of the ryuer .vij. goodly kyne & satt flesched / and sedd in a meadowe / and hym thought that .viij. other kyne came by after them out of the ryuer euell fauored and leane flesched & stode by the other vpon & byngge of the ryuer. And the euill fauored & leane flesched kyne: ate by & by. well fauored and satt kyne: and he awoke they wth. And he slepte agayne and dreamed the second tyme / that .viij. yeres of corne grewe vpon one stalk the same & goodly. And that .viij. thynne eares blasted wth the wynde / sprangge by after them: & that the .viij. thynne eares deuouored the .viij. ranche and full eares. And thā Pharaos awoke: & se / here is his dreame. When the morninge came / his spytte was troubled. And he sent and called for all the soothsayers of Egypte & all his wyse men therof / and told them his dreame: but there was none none of the that coude interpretate it unto Pharaon. Chan spake the chefe butelar unto Pharaon saying. I do remembre my sawte this daye. Pharaon was angrie wth his seruantes / & put in warde in the chefe marshalls house both me & the chefe baker. And we dreamed both of vs in one nyght & ech mānes dreame of a sondrye interpretation.

And there was with vs a yonge man / an Hebrue borne / seruante unto the chefe marshal. And we told him / and he declared oure dreames to vs accordyng to ether of oure dreames. And as he declared them vnto vs / euen so it came to passe. I was restored to myne office agayne / and he was hanged.

Chan Pharaon sent and called Joseph. And they made him haste out of * pylson. And he shaued him self and chaunged his raimēt / & wēt in to Pharaon. And Pharaon sayd vnto Joseph: I haue dreamed a dreame & no man can interpretate it / but I haue herde saye of the & as soone as thou hearest a dreame / thou doste interpretate it. And Joseph answered Pharaon sayinge: God shall geue Pharaon an answer of peace without me. Pharaon sayde vnto Joseph: In my dreame me thought I stode by a ryuers syde / and there came out of the ryuer. bis. fact fleshed and well sauored kynne / and fedd in the medowe. And then. bis. other kynne came by after them / poore & very euell sauored & leane fleshed: so that I neuer sawe their lyke in all the lande of Egypte in euell sauorednesse. And the. bis. leane & euell sauored kynne ate by the fyrst. bis. fact kynne. And when they had eaten the by a mā coude not perceaue that they had eaten them: for they were still as euell sauored as they were at the begynnyng. And I awoke. And I sawe agayne in my dreame. bis. eares spryng out of one stalk full and good / &. bis. other eares wytheth / thynne & blasted wth wynd / spryng by after the. And the thynne eares deuorred the. bis. good eares. And I haue tolde it vnto the sothsayers / but no man can tell me what it meaneth. Then Joseph sayd vnto Pharaon: both Pharaons dreames are one. And god doth shewe Pharaon what he is aboute to do. The. bis. good kynne are. bis. yeres: and the. bis. good eares are seven yere also / and it is but one dreame. The wynde / the. bis. thynne & euell sauored kynne that came out after the / are. bis. deares: the. bis. emptie & blasted eares shalbe. bis. yeres of hunger. & this is that which I sayde vnto Pharaon / & God doth shewe Pharaon what he is aboute to do.

Beholde there shall come. bis. yere of great plenteousnesse throughe out all the lande of Egypte. And there shall arysse after them. bis. yeres of hunger. So & all the plenteousnesse shalbe forgotten in the lande of Egypte. And the hunger shall consume the lande: so that the plenteousnesse shall not be once alene in the land by reason of that ylder that shall come after: for it shalbe exceedinge great. And as thou seest that the dreame was doubled vnto Pharaon the second tyme / it betokeneth the thynge is certainly prepared of God / and that God wyll shortly byngne it to passe.

Now therfore let Pharaon prouyde for a man of vnderstandyng & wysdome / and sette hym ouer the lande of Egypte. And let Pharaon make officers ouer the lande / & take by the fyfte parte of the lande of Egypte in the. bis. plenteous yeres & let the gather all the fooode of these good yeres that come / & lay by come vnder the power of Pharaon / that there may be fooode in the cyties / and there let the kepe it: that there may be fooode in stooze in the lande / agaynst the. bis. yeres of hunger which shall come in the lande of Egypte / and that the lande perishe not thowgh hunger.

And the sayinge pleased Pharaon & all his seruantes. Chan sayde Pharaon vnto his seruantes: where shall we fynde such a mā as this is / that hath the sperte of God in hym? wherfore Pharaon sayde vnto Joseph: for as much as God hath shewed the all this / there is no man of vnderstandyng or of wysdome lyke vnto the. Thou therfore shalt be * ouer my house / & accordyng to thy wyrd shall all my people obey: only in the kynges seate wyll I be aboue the. And he sayde vnto Joseph: he holde / I haue sett the ouer all the lande of Egypte. And he toke of hys rynge from hys fygure / & put it vpon Josephs fygure / and arrayed him in raimēt of bylle / & put a golde chayne aboute his necke & sette him vpon the best charrett that he had saue one. And they cryed before hym. Abrech / & Pharaon had made him tuelar ouer all the land of Egypte.

And Pharaon sayde vnto Joseph: I am Pharaon / without thy wyll / shall no man lyte by ether hys hand or fote in all the land of Egypte. And he called Josephs name * Zaphnath Paena. And he gaue him to wyfe Asenath the daughter of Putiphar prest of On. Chan went Joseph abrode in the lande of Egypte. And he was. xxx. yere olde: when he stode before Pharaon kynge of Egypte. And than Joseph departed from Pharaon / & went thowgh out all the lande of Egypte.

And in the. bis. plenteous yeres they made sheues & gathered by all the lode of the. bis. plenteous yeres whych were in the lande of Egypte & put it in to the cyties. And he put the fooode of the feldes that grewen rownde aboute euery cyte: euen in the same. And Joseph layde by come in stooze / lyke vnto the lande of the see in multitude of mesure / vntyll he left nombryng: for it was wyth out out nombryng. And vnto Joseph were borne. ii. sonnes before the yeres of hūger came / whiche Asenath the daughter of Putiphar prest of On bare vnto hym. And he called the name of the fyrst sonne * Manasse / for God (sayde he) hath made me forgett all my laboure and all my fathers houshold. The seconde called he Ephraim / for God (sayde he) hath caused me to growe in the lande of my trouble.

And when the. bis. yeres of plenteousnesse that was in the land of Egypte were ended / than came the. bis. yeres of * berth / accordyng as Joseph had sayde. And the berth was in all landes: but in the land of Egypte was there yet fooode. When now all the lande of Egypte began to hunger / than cryed the people to Pharaon for bread. And Pharaon sayde vnto all Egypte: goo vnto Joseph / and what he sayth to you that doo. And when the berth was thowgh out all the land / Joseph opened all that was in the cyties and solde vnto the Egyptians. And hunger waxed sore in the lande of Egypte. And all countrees came to Egypte to Joseph for to bye come: because that the hunger was so sore in all landes.

Josephs brythren came into Egypte to bye come. And he knoweth them and tryeth them. Symeon he put in pylson / the other restore to their fathers to fetch Benjamin. his father is to lye in let hym go: but at the last he graunted it.

Chapter.

When Jacob sawe that there was come to be solde in Egypt / he sayd vnto hys sonnes: why are ye negligent? beholde / I haue hearde there is come to be solde in Egypte. * Goe you thither and bye vs come from thence / & we may lyue & not dye. So went Josephs ten brythren downe to bye come in Egypte / for Benjamin Josephs brother wold not Jacob sende wth hys other brythren: for he sayde: some mysfortune myght happen hym.

And the sonnes of Israel came to bye come amonge other that came / for there was berth also in the lande of Canaan. And Joseph was gouernour in the lande / and solde come to all the people of the land. And his brythren came / & fell flat on the grounde before him. When Joseph sawe his brythren / he knewe the: but made straunge vnto them / and spake roughly vnto them sayinge: whence come ye? & they sayde: out of the lande of Canaan / to bye bytyle. Joseph knewe his brythren / but they knewe not hym.

And Joseph remembred his * dreames which he dreamed of them / and sayde vnto them: ye are spies / and to se where the lade is weake is youre compynge. And they sayde vnto him: nay my lord: but to bye bytyle thy seruantes are come. We are all one mans sonnes / & meane * lade / and thy seruantes are no spies. And he sayd vnto them: nay herely / but euen to se where the lande is weake is youre compynge. And they sayde: we thy seruantes are. bis. brythren / the sonnes of one man in the lande of Canaan. & he pyngeth is yet with oure father / and one no mā woteth where he is. Joseph sayde vnto them: that is it that I sayde vnto you / that ye are suretye spies. Here by ye shall be proued. For by the lyfe of Pharaon / ye shall not goo hence / vntyll youre yongest bryther be come hither. Sende therfore one of you and lett hym sett youre bryther / & ye shalbe in pylson in the meane season. And thereby shall youre wordes be proued / whether there be any trueth in you: or els by the lyfe of Pharaon / ye are but spies. And he put them in warde thre dayes.

And Joseph sayde vnto the thre daye: this doo and lyue / for I feare God. If ye meane no hurte / let one of youre brythren be bounde in the pylson / and goo ye & byngne the necessarie fooode vnto youre householdes / and byngne youre yongest bryther vnto me: that youre wordes maye be beleued / & that ye dye not. And they dyd so.

Chan they sayde one to a nother: we haue herely synned agaynst oure bryther / in that we sawe the angurys of hys soull when he besought vs / & wold not heare him: therfore is this troubyll come vpon vs. Ruben answered them sayinge. Sayde I not vnto you & ye wold not lye agaynst the lad? but ye wold not heare. And now berely see / hys bloude is requyred. & they were not aware that Joseph vnderstonde them / for he spake the harte of and vnto them by an interpreter. And he turned from them & wepte / and than turned to them agayne & comened with the / & toke out Symeon from amonge them and bownde hym before their eyes / & commaunded to spyl their sackes wyth come / and to put euery mans money in hys sache / and to geue the bytyle to spende by the waye. And so it was done to them. And they laded their asses wyth the come & departed thence. And as one of them opened his sache / for to geue his assen prauen der in the tyme / he fpyed hys money in hys sacks mouth. And he sayde vnto his brythren: my money is restored me agayne / & is euē in my sacks mouth. Chan their hartes fayled them / and were astonyed and sayde one to a nother: how cometh it that God dealeth thus wth vs. And they came vnto Jacob their father vnto the land of Canaan / and tolde him all that had happened them sayinge. & he lorde of the lande spake roughly to vs / and toke vs for spies to serche the costre. And we sayde vnto him: we meane truly & are no spies. We be. xii. brythren sonnes of oure father / one is awaye / and the yongest is now wyth

Gen. xxxv. b. To requyre the bloude of and thre / so to take ben- Symeon from amonge them and bownde hym before their eyes / & commaunded to spyl their sackes wyth come / and to put euery mans money in hys sache / and to geue the bytyle to spende by the waye. And so it was done to them. And they laded their asses wyth the come & departed thence. And as one of them opened his sache / for to geue his assen prauen der in the tyme / he fpyed hys money in hys sacks mouth. And he sayde vnto his brythren: my money is restored me agayne / & is euē in my sacks mouth. Chan their hartes fayled them / and were astonyed and sayde one to a nother: how cometh it that God dealeth thus wth vs. And they came vnto Jacob their father vnto the land of Canaan / and tolde him all that had happened them sayinge. & he lorde of the lande spake roughly to vs / and toke vs for spies to serche the costre. And we sayde vnto him: we meane truly & are no spies. We be. xii. brythren sonnes of oure father / one is awaye / and the yongest is now wyth our father in the lande of Canaan. And the lord of the countre sayde unto vs: here by shall I knowe yf ye meane trulye to saue one of youre brethren here with me: & take soode necessary for youre householdes and get you awaye: & bynge youre yongest brother vnto me. And thereby shall I knowe yf ye are no spyes: but meane trulye. So wyll I deli-uer you youre brother agayne: & ye shall oc-cuppe in the lande.

And as they emptied their sakes/behold:
every mans bdsell of money was in his sacke And when both they & their father sawe the bundells of money: they were a frayde.

And Jacob their father sayde vnto the: We haue ye robbed of my chyldren: Joseph is awaye/and Symeon is awaye/ and ye wyll take Benjamin awaye. All these thynges fall vpon me. Ruben answered hys father sayinge: See my two sonnes / yf I bynge him not to the agayne. Welauer him therfore to my honde / and I wyll bynge hym to the agayne: And he sayde: my sonne shall not go downe with you. For his brother is dead / & he is left alone. Wherouer some my fortune might happen vpon him by the waye which ye go. And so shuld ye bynge my gray head with sorrowe vnto the graue.

*b. bynge me
to my graue:
that is: ye shall bynge me to gytes. Symeon is my dearth as in
Gen. xliij. d.*

The xliij. Chapter.

And the death waxed sore in the land.
And when they had eatte by the come which they brought out of the lande of Egypte: their father sayde vnto them: goo agayne & by vs a lytle soode. Chan sayde Juda vnto him: the ma dyd testifie vnto vs sayinge: loke yf ye see not my face excepte youre brother be with you. Wherfore yf thou wyll sende our brother with vs: we wyll go & bye the soode. But yf thou wyll not sende him: we wyll not goo: for the man sayde vnto vs: loke that ye see not my face / excepte your brother be with you. And Israel sayde: wherfore delt ye so cruellye to me / as to tell the man yf ye had yet another brother? And they sayde: the ma asked vs of our kyndred sayinge: is youre father yet alyue? haue ye not another brother? And we tolde him acordyng to these wordes. Nowe coulde we knowe yf he wold byd vs bynge our brother downe to vs: & ha sayde Juda vnto Israel his father: Send the lad with me: & we wyll ryse & goo: & we maye lyue & not dye: both we & thou & also oure chyldren. I wyll be suretye for hym: and of my handes requyre him. If I bynge him not to the & sett hym before thine eyes: & thā let me bere the blame for ever. For except we had made this sayeng: by this we had bene there twyse and come agayne.

Chan their father Israel sayd vnto them:
Yf it must nedes be so now: than do thus: take of the best frutes of the lande in youre besselles/and bynge the ma a present / a curteseye bawline/and a curtesye of hony/spices & myrr/dates & alimodes. And take as moch money moze with you. And the money that was brought agayne in youre sakes / take it agayne with you / peradventure it was some ouersyghte.

Take also youre brother with you: & aryse & goo agayne to the ma. And God almightie geue you mercie in the syghte of the ma and send you youre other brother and also Benjamin/and I wyll be as a man robbed of his chyldren.

Thus toke they the present and twyse so moch moze money with them / and Benjamin. And rose by / went downe to Egypte / & presented the selfe to Joseph. When Joseph sawe Benjamin with them: he sayde to the ruelar of his house: bynge these men home & they and make redie: for they shall dyne with me at none. And the man dyd as Joseph bad/and brought them in to Josephs house.

When they were brought to Josephs house/they were a frayde and sayde: be cause of the money that came in our sakes mouthes at the first tyme/are we brought to ppe a quarell with vs and to laye some thynge to our charge to bynge vs in bondage & our allies also. Wherfore came they to the man yf was the ruelar ouer Josephs house / & comend with him at the doore and sayde.

By we came hyther at the first tyme to bye soode: & as we came to an inne & opened oure sakes: beholde/ every mannes money was in hys sacke with full weyghte: But we haue brought it agayne to vs: & other money haue we brought also in our handes: to bye soode: but we cannot tell who put our money in our sakes. And he sayde: be of good chere/ feare not: youre God and the God of your fathers hath put you that treasure in your sakes: for I had youre money. And he brought Symeon out to the & ledde him to Josephs house: & gaue the water to washe their fete: & gaue them allies prauender. And they made redie their present agaynst Joseph came at none: for they herde say yf they shuld dye there. When Joseph came home / they brought yf present into his house to him: which they had in their handes: & fell flat on the grounde before him. And he welcomed the courteously sayinge: is youre father yf old man whych ye told me of/ in good health? & is he yet alyue? they answered: thy seruante our father is in good health / and is yet alyue. And they bowed the selfes and fell to the grounde.

And

And he lyste by his eyes & behelde his brother Benjamin his mothers sonne: & sayde:
*is this youre yongest brother of whome ye sayde vnto me? And sayde: God be mercifull vnto yf my sonne. And Joseph made hast: for *hys heart dyd melt vpon his brother: & sought where to wepe / & entered in to his chambze/for to wepe there. And he washed hys face & came out & refraigned hym selfe: & hadd sett bread on the table.

And they prepared for hym by hym selfe/& for the by them selues: & for the Egyptians which ate with him by them selues: because the Egyptians may not eate bread with the Hebrewes: for that is an abhominacion vnto the Egyptians. And they satt before him: the eldest acorbyng vnto hys age / and the yongest acorbyng vnto hys youth. And the men marueled and geve them selues. And they broughte rewardes vnto them from before hym: but Benjamins parte was syue tymes so moch as any of theirs. And they ate and they dronke: & were dronke with him.

Joseph accuseth his brother of theft. Juda becommeth suretye for Benjamin.

The xliij. Chapter.

And he commaunded the ruelar of hys house sayinge: fill the mens sakes with soode/as moch as they can carpe / & put every mans money in hys bagge mouth: & put my syluer cuppe in the sakes mouth of the yongest and hys come money also. And he dyd as Joseph bad sayde. And in the mornynge as soone as it was lychte: the men were let goo with their alies. And when they were out of the cite & not yet ferre awaye / Joseph sayde vnto the ruelar of his house: by and solowe after the men and ouertake them / and saye vnto the:
wherfore haue ye rewarded euell for good?
is that not the cuppe of which my lord dyd drinke: and doth he not prophesye therein: ye haue euell done that ye haue done.

And he ouertoke them and sayd the same wordes vnto them. And they answered hym: wherfore sayth my lord such wordes? God forbydd yf thy seruantes shulde doo so. Be-holde / the money which we founde in our sakes mouthes / we brought agayne vnto the / out of the lande of Canaan: how then shuld we steale out of my lords house/ ether syluer or golde: with whosouer of thy ser-uantes it be founde let hym dye: and let vs also be my lordes bondmen. And he sayde Nowe therfore acorbyng vnto youre wordes he is whom it is found: walbe my seruante:
but ye / walbe harmelesse.

And attonce every man toke downe hys sacke to the grounde / & every man opened his sacke. And he serched / and began at the eldest and left at the yongest. And the cuppe was founde in Benjamins sacke. When they rent their clothes / and laded every ma hys alle and went agayne vnto the cite. And Juda & hys brethren came to Josephs house/for he was yet there: & they fell before hym on the grounde. And Joseph sayde vnto the:

what bede is this which ye haue done? wilt ye not that loch a man as I can prophesye?

Then sayde Juda: what shall we saye vnto my lord/ what shall we speake of what excuse can we make? God hath founde out yf wekednesse of thy seruantes. Behold/ both we and he to whom the cuppe is founde/ are thy seruantes. And he answered: God forbydd that I shulde do so / the man to whom the cuppe is founde / he shalbe my seruante:
but go ye in peace vnto youre father.

Then Juda went vnto him and sayde:
oh my lord/ let thy seruante speake a worde in my lordes eare / and be not wrooth with thy seruante: for thou art euen as Pharao.
My lord axed his seruante sayinge: haue ye a father or a brother? And we answered my lord: we haue a father that is olde: & a yonge lad which he begat in hys age: and the brother of the sayde lad is dead: & he is all yf is left of that mother. And his father loueth him. Then sayde my lord vnto his seruantes bynge hym vnto me / & I maye sett myne eyes vpon him. And we answered my lord: that the lad coulde not goo from hys father/for yf he shuld leaue hys father/ he were but a deed man. Chan saydest thou vnto thy ser-uantes: excepte youre yongest brother come with you/ loke that ye see my face no moare.

And when we came vnto thy seruante oure father / we shewed hym what my lord had sayde. And when oure father sayde vnto vs/goo agayne & bye vs a lytle soode: we sayde/ye we coulde not goo. Wherfore yf oure yongest brother go with vs then wyll we go/for we maye not see the manes face excepte oure yongest brother be with vs. Then sayde thy seruante oure father vnto vs. Ye knowe that my wyfe bare me ii. sonnes. And the one went out from me & it is sayde of a suretye that he is come in peaces of wyld beastes / and I sawe hym not sence. If ye shall take this also awaye from me and some my fortune happē vpon him: then shall ye bynge my gray head with sorrowe vnto the graue.

Nowe therfore when I come to thy seruante my father/ yf the lad be not with me: sayinge that his lyfe hagerh by the laddes lyfe / then as soone as he seeth yf the lad is not come / he wyll dye. So shall we thy seruantes bynge the gray hedde of thy seruante oure father with sorrowe vnto the graue. For I thy seruante became suretye for the lad vnto my father

c. xj.

Gen. xliij. b father and sayde: * If I bynge him not vnto the agayne. I will bere & blame all my lyfe longe. Now therefore let me thy seruante byde here for the lab/and be my lordes bondman: and let the lad goo home with his brethren. For how can I goo vnto my father / and the lad not with me: lest I shulde see the wretches that shall come on my father.

Gen. xliij. c Joseph maketh hym selfe knowne vnto his brethren / and sendeth for his father.

The xliij. Chapter.

Gen. xliij. d And Joseph coulde no longer re-frayne befoze all them that stode aboute hym / but commaunded that they shuld goo all out from hym / & that there shuld be no man with him / whye he detred hym selfe vnto his brethren. And he wrote a word / to that the Egyptians a the house of Pharaos herde it. And he sayde vnto his brethren: I am Joseph / doth my father yet lyue? But his brethren coulde not answer him / for they were abashed at his presence. And Joseph sayde vnto his brethren: come nere to me / and they came nere. And he sayde: I am Joseph your brother whom ye sold into Egypte. And now be not greued therewith / neither let it seme a cruel thinge in yre eyes / for ye sold me hyther. For god hath send me befoze you to saue lyfe. For this is the seconde yere of deth in the lande / and spue moo are behynd in which there shall nether be earunge nor heruest.

Gen. xliij. e And he sayde: For god hath sent me befoze you to make prouision / for ye myghte continue in the erth and to saue your lyues by a greates deliuerance. So now it was not ye that sent me hyther / but god: and he hath made me father vnto Pharaos and lord ouer all his house / & ruler in all the lande of Egypte. Hast you a goo to my father & tell hym / this sayeth thy sonne Joseph: God hath made me lord ouer all Egypte. Come downe vnto me and tarye not. And thou shalt dwell in the lande of Golan and be by me: both thou and thy chyldren / and thy chyldrens chyldren: and thy shepe / and thy shepes / & all that thou hast. There will I make prouision for the: for there remaine yet .v. yeres of deth / lest thou and thy household and all that thou hast perishe.

Gen. xliij. f And he sayde: And the eyes also of my brother Beniamin / that I speake to you by mouth. & herfore tell my father of all my honoure which I haue in Egypte and of all that ye haue sene / and make hast and bynge my father hyther. And he fell on his brother Bensamins necke & wepte / and Beniamin wepte on his necke. And herfore he kyssed all his brethren & wepte vpon them. And after that / his brethren talked with him. And when the tydinges was come vnto Pharaos house & Josephs brethren were come / it pleased Pharaos well & all his seruantes.

Gen. xliij. g And Pharaos spake vnto Joseph: saye vnto thy brethren / this do ye: lade your bestes & get you hence / And when ye be come vnto the lande of Canaan / take your father and your householdes & come vnto me / & I will geue you the best of the land of Egypte / and ye shall eate the face of the lande. And commaunded also. This do ye: take charettes for you out of the lande of Egypte / for your chyldren & for your wyues: & bynge your father & come. Also regarde not your stuffe / for the goodes of all the land of Egypte shall be yours.

Gen. xliij. h And the chyldren of Israel dyd euen so / And Joseph gaue them charettes at the commaundement of Pharaos / and gaue them bitayle also to spende by the waye. And he gaue vnto eche of them chaunge of rayment: but vnto Beniamin he gaue .iii. hundred peces of syluer & a chaunge of rayment. And vnto his father he sent after the same maner. x. asses laden with good out of Egypte / & x. asses laden with corne / byed and meate: to serue his father by the waye. So sent he his brethren awaye / and they departed. And he sayde vnto them: se that ye fall not out by the waye.

Gen. xliij. i And they departed from Egypte and came in to the lande of Canaan vnto Jacob their father / & told him sayinge. Joseph is yet a lyue and is gouernour ouer all the land of Egypte. And Jacobs heart wauered / for he beleued the not. And they tolde him all the wordes of Joseph which he had sayde vnto them. But when he sawe the charettes which Joseph had sent to carpe him / then his spryts reuiued. And Israel sayde. I haue ynough / for Joseph my sonne be yet alyue: I will goo and se hym / yet that I dye.

Gen. xliij. j And Jacob with all his householdes goeth to Joseph in to Egypte. The genealogie of Jacob. Joseph mereth his father.

The xliij. Chapter.

Gen. xliij. k Israel toke his journey with all that he had / & came vnto Berseba & offered offringes vnto the God of his father Isaac. And God sayde vnto him. Gen. xliij. l Israel was a byson by nyghte / & called vnto him: Jacob Jacob. And he answered here am I. And he sayde: I am the God of thy father / feare not to goo downe in to Egypte. For I will make of thee a great people. I will go downe with thee in to Egypte / and I will also bynge thee by agayne / & Joseph shall put his hand vpon thyne eyes. And Jacob rose by the night / & went vnto Berseba. And he somes of Israel carped Jacob his father / & their wyues in the charettes which Pharaos had sent to carpe him. And they toke their cattell & the goodes which they had gotten in the land of Canaan / and and came in to Egypte: both Jacob & all his seed with hym / his sonnes and his sonnes sonnes with hym / his daughters & his sonnes daughters & all his seed brought he with hym in to Egypte.

Gen. xliij. m These are the names of the chyldren of Israel which came in to Egypte: both Jacob & his sonnes. Ruben Jacobs first sonne. The chyldren of Ruben: Hanoch / Pallu / Hezon and Chami. The chyldren of Symeon: Jemuel / Jami / Othad / Jachin / Zohar & Saul the sonne of a Canaanish woman. The chyldren of Levi: Gerson / Kahath and Merari. The chyldren of Iuda: Er / Onan / Sela / Pharez & Zerah / but Er and Onan dyed in the lande of Canaan. The chyldren of Pharez: Hezon & Hamul. The chyldren of Issachar: Gola / Phua / Job and Semion. The chyldren of Zabulon: Sered / Elon & Jachiel. These be the chyldren of Lea which she bare vnto Jacob in Mesopotamia with his daughter Dinah. All these soules of his sonnes and daughters make .xxx. and .ii.

Gen. xliij. n The chyldren of Gad: Ziphion / Haggi / Suni / Ebron / Eri / Arodi and Arel. The chyldren of Aser: Jemna / Jesua / Jesul / Biza & Serah their wyues. And the chyldren of Biza were Heber and Malchiel. These are the chyldren of Silpha whom Laban gaue to Lea his daughter. And these she bare vnto Jacob in nombe .xvi. soules.

Gen. xliij. o The chyldren of Rachel Jacobs wyfe: Joseph and Beniamin. And vnto Joseph in the lande of Egypte were borne: Manasses and Ephraim which Asnath the daughter of Putiphar preast of On bare vnto him. The chyldren of Beniamin: Bela / Becher / Ashbel / Gera / Naaman / Chi / Ros / Mupim / Mupim & Ard. These are the chyldren of Rachel which were borne vnto Jacob. xvi. soules all together. The chyldren of Dan: Hushim. The chyldren of Nephtali: Jachezel / Guni / Jezer and Shilon. These are the sonnes of Billa which Laban gaue vnto Rachel his daughter / and she bare these vnto Jacob / all together .xvi. soules. All the soules that came with Jacob in to Egypte whych came out of his loyns (besyde his sonnes wyues) were all together .lx. & .vi. soules. And the sonnes of Joseph which were borne him in Egypte were xi. soules. So that all the soules of the house of Jacob which came in to Egypte are .lxx.

Gen. xliij. p And he sent Iuda befoze hym vnto Joseph that the waye myghte be shewed hym vnto Golan / and they came in to the lande of Golan. And Joseph made redye his charett and wēt to mete Israel his father vnto Golan / & presented hym selfe vnto hym / & fell on his necke & wepte vpon his necke a good while.

Gen. xliij. q And Israel sayde vnto Joseph: Now am I content to dye / for somoch I haue sene the / that thou art yet alyue.

Gen. xliij. r And Joseph sayde vnto his brethren and vnto his fathers house: I will goo & shewe Pharaos and tell hym: that my brethren & my fathers house which were in the lande of Canaan are come vnto me / & how they are sheperdes (for they were men of cattell) and they haue brought their shepe and their oxen and all that they haue with the. If Pharaos call you and are you what your occupation is / saye: thy seruantes haue bene occupied aboute cattell / from oure chyldhood vnto this tyme: both we & oure fathers / that we maye dwell in the land of Golan. For the Egyptians abhorre all sheperdes.

Gen. xliij. s And Jacob cometh befoze Pharaos / & vnto hym is geue the lande of Golan. He sweareth his sonne for his byrall.

The xliij. Chapter.

Gen. xliij. t And Joseph went & tolde Pharaos and sayde: my father and my brethren their shepe and their bestes & all that they haue / are come out of the lande of Canaan and are in the lande of Golan. And Joseph toke a parte of his brethren: eue lyue of them / and presented them vnto Pharaos. And Pharaos sayd vnto his brethren: what is your occupation? And they sayde vnto Pharaos: sheperdes are thy seruantes / both we & also oure fathers. They sayd mozeouer vnto Pharaos: for to Golan in the lande are we come / for thy seruantes haue no pasture for their shepe so soze is the same smēt in the land of Canaan. Now therfore let thy seruantes dwell in the lande of Golan.

Gen. xliij. u And Pharaos sayd vnto Joseph: thy father & thy brethren are come vnto the. The land of Egypte is open befoze the: In the best place of the lande make both thy father & thy brethren dwell: And euen in the lande of Golan let the dwell. Whoeuer yet thou knowe any men of actiuite amonge them / make them rulers ouer my cattell. And Joseph brought in Jacob his father and sett hym befoze Pharaos. And Jacob blessed Pharaos. And Pharaos axed Jacob / how olde art thou? And Jacob sayde vnto Pharaos: the dayes of my pilgrimage are an hundred and .xxx. yeres. Fewe of my pilgrimage haue the dayes of my lyfe bene / & haue not attayned vnto the yeres of the lyfe of my fathers in the dayes of their pilgrimages. And Jacob blessed Pharaos and went out from hym. And Joseph prepared dwellinges for his father and his brethren / & gaue them possessions in the land of Egypte / in the best of the lande: euen in the lande of Ramesses / as Pharaos commaunded. And Joseph made prouision for his father / his brethren & all hys fathers household/as ponge chylde are fedd with bread.

Where was no bread in all the land/for the deth was exceeding sore: so that the lād of Egypte & h lande of Canaan / were famelshyd by h reason of h deth. And Joseph brought together all the money that was soude in h lande of Egypte & of Canaan / for the come which they boughte: & he layde by the money in Pharaos house. When money faileth in h lande of Egypte & of Canaan/all the Egyptians came vnto Joseph and sayde: geue vs sustenance: wherfore suffrest thou vs to dye before h: for oure money is spent. Then sayd Joseph: brynge youre catell / & I will geue you for your catell/ye be without money.
And they brought their catell vnto Joseph.
And he gaue them bread for horses & shepe/and oxen and asses: so he fed them with bread for all their catell that yere.

When that yere was ended/they came vnto him the nexte yere and sayde vnto him: we will not hyde it from my lord/how that we haue nether money nor catell for my lord:
there is no moare left for my lord/but euen oure bodys and oure lādes. wherfore latest thou vs dye before thine eyes/and the lande to goo to noughte: bpe vs and oure land/ for bread: & let both vs and oure lādes be bonde to Pharaos. Geue vs seed / that we may lye & not dye: & that the lande goo nat to wast.

And Joseph boughte all h land of Egypte for Pharaos. For the Egyptians soude euery man hys land because h deth was soze vnto them: & so the lande be came Pharaos. And he appoynted the people vnto the cyties/ fro one syde of Egypte vnto the other: only the land of the Priestes bought he not. For there was an ordinaunce made by Pharaos for the priestes: h they shulde eate h which was appoynted vnto them: whych Pharaos had geue the wherfore they soude not their land.

Then Joseph sayde vnto h folke: beholde
I haue boughte you this daye & youre land for Pharaos. Take there seed & goo sowe the lande. And of the encrease/ye shall geue the fyste parte vnto Pharaos/ & iiii. partes shal-be youre awne/ for seed to sowe the seld: and for you/ & them of youre householdes/ and for your chylzen/ to eate. And they answered: thou haste saued oure lyues. Let vs fynde grace in the syghte of my lord/ and let vs be Pharaos seruantes. And Joseph made it a lawe ouer the lande of Egypte vnto thys daye: that men must geue Pharaos the fyste parte/ excepte the land of the priestes only/which was not bond vnto Pharaos.

And Israel dwelt in Egypte: euen in the countre of Gosan. And they had their possessions therin / and they grew & multiplyed exceedyngly. Moreover Jacob lyued in the lande of Egypte. xliiij. yeres / so that the hole age of Jacob was an hundred & xliiij. yere.

When the tyme drew nye / & Israel must dye: he sent for his sonne Joseph & sayde vnto him: I haue soude grace in thy syghte/put thy hande vnder my thigh and deale mercyfully and truly with me/ that thou burye me not in Egypte: but let me lye by my fathers/ and carie me out of Egypte / & burye me in thine buryall. And he answered: I will do as thou hast sayde. And he sayde: I shal be vnto me. And he swate vnto him. And than Israel bowed hym vnto the beddes head.

And Jacob lyeth by the beddes head of Ephraim and Manasses for hys sonnes and blesseth them.

The xliiij. Chapter.

After these beades / thynges were brought vnto Joseph/ that his father was seke. And he toke with him his ii. sonnes / Manasses and Ephraim. Then was it sayde vnto Jacob: he holde/ thy sonne Joseph cometh vnto the.
And Israel toke hys strength vnto hym/ and satt by on the bedd/ & sayd vnto Joseph: God all myghtie appeared vnto me at Lus in the lande of Canaan/ & blesed me/ & sayde vnto me: beholde/ I will make the growe & will multiplye the/ & I will make a great nobye of people of the/ & I will geue this land vnto the & vnto thy seed after the vnto an euerastygng possesid. Now therfore thy ii. sonnes Manasses & Ephraim which were borne vnto the before I came to the / in to Egypte / shalbe myne: eue as Ruben & Symeon shall they be vnto me. And the chylde which thou getest after the/ shalbe thine awne: but shal be called with the names of their brether in their inheritaunces. And after I came from Mesopotamia/ Rabel * dyed vpon my hand in the lande of Canaan/ by the waye: when I had but a selde bryde to goo vnto Ephraim.
And I buried her there in h waye to Ephraim which is now called Bethlechem.

And Israel behelde Josephs sonnes & sayde: what are these? And Joseph sayde vnto his father: they are my sonnes/ which god hath geue me here. And he sayd: brynge the to me/ & let me blesse the. And the eyes of Israel were dymme for age/ so h he coude not well see. And he broughte them to hym / and he kyssed them and embraced them. And Israel sayd vnto Joseph: I had not thought to haue sene thy face / and yet loo / God hath shewed it me and also thy seed. And Joseph toke the awaye from hys lappe / & they fell on the grounde before hym.

Then toke Joseph them both: Ephraim in hys ryght hande towardes Israels left hande & Manasses in his left hande/ towardes Israels

Israels ryghte hande/ and brought the vnto hym. And Israel stretched out hys ryghte hande & sayde it vnto Ephraims head which was the ponger / and hys left hande vpon Manasses head / crossinge hys handes / for Manasses was the elder. And he blesed Joseph saying: God befoze whome my fathers Abraham and Isaac dwelle / & the God whych hath fedd me all my lyfe longe vnto this daye/ And the angell which hath deliue-red me from all euyl/ blesse these laddes: & they maye be called after my name / & after my father Abraham and Isaac / and that they maye growe and multiplye vpon the erth.

When Joseph sawe that hys father layd hys ryghte hand vnto the heade of Ephraim/it displeased hym. And he lyfte by hys fathers had/ to haue remoued it fro Ephraims head vnto Manasses head / and sayde vnto hys father: Not so my father/ for thys is the eldest. Put thy ryght hande vpon hys head.
And hys father wold not/ but sayd: I knowe it well my sonne/ I knowe it well. He shalbe also a people & shalbe great. But of a truth hys ponger brother shalbe greater than he/and hys seed shall be full of people. And he blesed the sayinge. At the ensample of these/the Israelites shall blesse & saye: God make the as Ephraim and as Manasses. Thus sett he Ephraim before Manasses.

And Israel sayde vnto Joseph: beholde / I dye. And God shalbe with you & brynge you agayne vnto h land of youre fathers. More-ouer I geue vnto the / a porcyon of h lande about thy bretheren/ which I gaue out of the handes of the Amorites with my swerde & with my bowe.

And Jacob blesseth all his awne sonnes and sheweth the what is to come. He appoynteth where he wolde be buryed: and dyeth.

I shall be put vnto my people: & ye burie in me with my fathers / in the caue that is in the selde of Ephron the Hethite / in the double caue & is in the selde before Hare in the lande of Canaan. which selde Abrahā boughte of Ephron the Hethite for a possession to burie in. where they buried Abrahā & Sara his wyfe / there they buried Isaac & Rebecca his wyfe. And there I buried Lea which selde and the caue that is therein / was boughte of the chyldren of Heth.

When Jacob had commaunded all that he wold vnto his sonnes / he plucked vp his lete vpon the bedd and dyed / and was put vnto his people. And Joseph fell vpon his fathers face / and wepte vpon him / and kyssed hym.

Jacob is buried. Joseph forgiueth his brethren the iniury that they dyd to hym. And he dyeth.

The I. Chapter.

And Joseph commaunded his seruantes that were Philistons / to embawme his father / and the Philistons embawmed Israel. xi. dayes longe / for so longe both the embawminge last and the Egypciens beweped hym. lxx. dayes.

And when the dayes of wepyng were ended / Joseph spake vnto the house of Pharaos sayinge. If I haue founde sauoure in your eyes / speake vnto Pharaos and tell him / how that my father made me swere and sayd: loo / I dye / se that thou burie me in my graue which I haue made me in the lande of Canaan. Now therfore let me goo & burie my father / and than will I come agayne. And Pharaos sayde / goo & burie thy father / accordinge as he made the swere.

And Joseph went vp to burie his father / and with him went all the seruantes of Pharaos that were the elders of his house / and all the elders of Egypte / and all the house of Joseph and his brethren & his fathers house: only their chyldren and their shepe and their catell left they behynde them in the land of Goshan. And there went with hym also charrettes and horsemen: so that they were an exceeding great companye.

And when they came to the selde of Atad beyonde Iordane / there they made great & exceeding soze lamentaciō. And he mourned for his father. vii. dayes. When the inhabitants of the land of Canaan / sawe Joseph mourning in the land of Atad / they sayde: this is a greates mourning which the Egypciens make. wherfore the name of the place is called Abel mizraim / whych place lyeth beyonde Iordane. And his sonnes dyd vnto him accordinge as he had commaunded them.

And his sonnes carryed hym in to the land of Canaan & buried hym in the double caue whych Abrahā had boughte with the selde to be a place to burie in / of Ephron the Hethite before Hamre. And Joseph returned to Egypte agayne and his brethren / and all that went vp with hym to burie his father / as he had buried hym.

When Josephs brethren sawe that their father was dead / they sayd: Joseph myghte fortune to hate vs and reward vs agayne all the euell which we dyd vnto him. They dyd therfore a commaundment vnto Joseph sayinge: thy father charged vs before his deeth sayinge. This wyse say vnto Joseph / forgiue I praye the the trespass of thy brethren & their synne for they rewarded the euell. Now therfore we praye the / forgiue the trespass of the seruantes of thy fathers God. And Joseph wepte when they spake vnto hym.

And his brethren came and fell before him and sayde: beholde we be thy seruantes. And Joseph sayde vnto them: feare not / for am not I vnder god: ye thought euell vnto me: but God turned it vnto good to bynge to passe / as it is this daye / euen to saue much people a lyue. feare not therfore / for I will care for you and for your chyldren / and he spake kindly vnto them.

Joseph dwelt in Egypte and his fathers house also / and lyued an hundred and x. yere. And Joseph sawe the Egypciens chyldren / euen vnto the thyrde generacion. And vnto Pharaos chylde the sonne of Manasses were chyldren borne / and satt on Josephs knees.

And Joseph sayde vnto his brethren: I dye / and God will surelie bysett you & bynge you out of this lande / vnto the lande whych he swore vnto Abrahā / Isaac and Jacob. And Joseph toke an oath of the chyldren of Israel and sayde: God will not faile but bysett you: therfore that ye carpe my bones hence. And so Joseph dyed / when he was an hundred and x. yere olde. And they embawmed hym and put hym in a chest in Egypte.

The end of the first boke of Moses.

The children of Jacob are numbered. The new lawe is opposed to the. The acte of the godly mydwives.

The first Chapter.

These are the names of the chyldren of Israel / whych came to Egypte with Jacob / every man with his household: Ruben / Simeon / Leui / Iuda / Issachar / Zabulon / Beniamin / Dan / Nephthali / Gad & Aser. All these soules that came out of the loynes of Jacob were. lxx. & Joseph was in Egypte all reue. When Joseph was dead & all his brethren & all the generacion the chyldren of Israel grewe / created multiplied & waxed exceedingly myghty: so that the lande was full of them.

Then there rose vp a new kynge in Egypte which knewe not Joseph. And he sayde vnto his folke: beholde the people of the chyldren of Israel are moo and mightier than we. Come on / let vs playe wisely with them: lest they multiplie / and then yf there chaunce any warre / they toyne them selues vnto oure enemies and fyghte agaynst vs / and so gete they out of the lande.

And he sette taskmasters ouer them / to kepe them vnder with burthens. And they bylde vnto Pharaos treasure cities: Phiton & Ramesses. But the more they beryd the / the more they multiplied & grewe: so that they abhorred the chyldren of Israel. And the Egypciens helde the chyldren of Israel in bondage without mercie / and made their lyues bitter vnto them with cruell labour in claye and bycke / and all maner woork in the felde / & in all maner of seruice / whych they caused them to worke cruelly.

And the kynge of Egypte sayde vnto the mydwives of the Ebriens / of which the ones name was Sephora & the other Phua: wher do ye office of a mydwife to the women of the Ebriens & se in the byrth tyme that it is a bope / kyll it. But yf it be a mayde / let it lyue. And with stōding the mydwives feared God & dyd not as the kynge of Egypte commaunded them: but saued the men chyldren.

Then the kynge of Egypte called for the mydwives and sayd vnto them: wherfore ye best on this maner and haue saued the men chyldren: And the mydwives answered Pharaos / that the Ebriens women were not as the women of Egypte: but were sturdy women / and were deliuered per the mydwives came at them. And God therfore delt well with the mydwives. And the people multiplied and waxed very mightie. And because the mydwives feared God / he made them houses. And Pharaos charged all his people sayinge

All the menchyldren that are borne / cast into the ryuer and saue the maydechyldren a lyue.

Moses is borne and cast into the flagges. He is taken by Pharaos daughter. He killeth the Egypcian. He fygth & marryeth a wyfe. The Israelites crye vnto the Lord.

The seconde Chapter.

And ther wēt a man of the house of Leui. And toke a daughter of Pharaos. And she conceaued & bare a sonne. And when she sawe that it was a pryncer childe / she hyd hym three monethes longe. And when she coude no longer hyde hym she toke a basket of bulrushes & darbed it with synne & pitch / & layd the childe therein / & put it in the flagges by the ryuers byrke. And his sister stood a ferre of / to wete what wold come of it. And the daughter of Pharaos came downe to the ryuer to washe her selfe / & hir maydens walked a longe by the ryuers syde. And when she sawe the basket amonge the flagges / she sent one of hir maydes & caused it to be set. And when she had opened it she sawe the childe. & beholde the babe wepte. And she had compassion on it and sayde: it is one of the Ebriens chyldren. When sayde his sister vnto Pharaos daughter: Shall I go and call vnto the a nurse of the Ebriens women / to nurse the childe: And she mayde rāne & called the childe mother. And Pharaos daughter sayde vnto her. Take this childe awaye and nurse it for me / & I will reward the for thy labour. And she took the childe / & nursed it vp.

And when the childe was growne / she brought it vnto Pharaos daughter / and it was made hir sonne / & she called it Moses / because she sayde: I toke him out of the water. And it happened in these dayes that Pharaos daughter was waite great / that he went out vnto the ryuer / & he behelde his brethren and looked on their burdons / & he spied an Egypcian mytynge one of his brethren an Ebrie. And he looked round aboute and when he sawe that there was no man by / he slew the Egypcian and hyd him in the sonde. And he went out a nother daye: & beholde / two Ebriens stroue to gether. And he sayde vnto him that dyd the wronge: wherfore myttest thou thine neyghboure: And he answered: who hath made the a ruler of a theer thylde iudge ouer vs: intende thou to kill me / as thou killedest the Egypcian? When Moses feared and sayde: of a suertie the thinge is knowne. And Pharaos herde of it and went aboute to see Moses: but he fled from Pharaos and dwelt in the lande of Madian / and he sat doune by a welles syde.

And the prest of Madian had vii. daughters which came and drew water and fylled the troughes

Moses in an Egypt name was made hir sonne / & she called it Moses / because she sayde: I toke him out of the water.

Pharaos daughter was waite great / that he went out vnto the ryuer / & he behelde his brethren and looked on their burdons / & he spied an Egypcian mytynge one of his brethren an Ebrie. And he looked round aboute and when he sawe that there was no man by / he slew the Egypcian and hyd him in the sonde. And he went out a nother daye: & beholde / two Ebriens stroue to gether. And he sayde vnto him that dyd the wronge: wherfore myttest thou thine neyghboure: And he answered: who hath made the a ruler of a theer thylde iudge ouer vs: intende thou to kill me / as thou killedest the Egypcian? And Pharaos herde of it and went aboute to see Moses: but he fled from Pharaos and dwelt in the lande of Madian / and he sat doune by a welles syde.

And the prest of Madian had vii. daughters which came and drew water and fylled the troughes

He made them houses: that is / he created & multiplied them / & made householdes of them: ge mydwives. And the people multiplied and waxed very mightie. And because the mydwives feared God / he made them houses.

Pharaos charged all his people sayinge troughes / for to water their fathers shepe. And the shepardes came & droue the awaye: but Moses stode by & helped the / & watered their shepe. And whē they came to Raguel their father / he sayde: how happeneth it that ye are come so soone to daye? And they answered: there was an Egyptian that deliuered vs fro the shepardes / & so droue vs water / & watered the shepe. And he sayde vnto his daughters: wher is he? why haue ye left the man? God call hym & he may eate bred. And Moses was content to dwell with the mā. And he gaue Moses Zephora his daughter which bare a sonne / & he called him Gerson: for he sayde: I haue bene a stranger in a strange lande. And she bare yet another sonne / whom he called Eliezer / sayinge: the God of my father is myne helper / and hath ryd me out of the handes of Pharaō.

And it chaunced in pcesse of tyme / that the kynge of Egypte dyed / and the chyldren of Israel syghed by the reason of labour / & that is he cryed. And their cōplaine came by vnto God from the labour. And God remembred hys promyse with Abrahā / Isaac & Jacob. And God looked vpon the chyldren of Israel / and knewe them.

Moses heareth these. God appeareth vnto hym in a bush / & sendeth hym to the chyldren of Israel / and to Pharaō that tyrant.

The iii. Chapter.

Moses kepte the shepe of Jethro his father in lawe pcesse of Madian / & he droue the flocke to the backside of the desert / and came to the mountayne of God / Horeb. And an angel of the Lorde appeared vnto hym in a flame of fyre out of a bush. And he perceaued that the bush burned with fyre / & consumed not. When Moses sayde: I will goo hence / & see this greete syght / how it cometh & the hushe burneth not. And whē the Lorde sawe that he came for to see / he called vnto hym out of the bush & sayde: Moses / Moses. And he answered: here am I. And he sayde: come not hyther / but put thy shoes of thy feet: for the place whereon thou standest is holy grounde. And he sayde: I am the God of thy father / the God of Abrahā / the God of Isaac as the God of Jacob. And Moses hyd hys face / for he was afrayed to loke vpon God. Then the Lorde sayde: I haue surely sene the trouble of my people which are in Egypte / & haue herde their crye / whiche they haue of their taskemasters. For I knowe their sorowe / & am come downe to deliuer them out of the handes of the Egyptians / & to brynge them out of that lande vnto a good lande & a large & vnto a lande that floweth with myche & honny: euen vnto the place of the Cananytes / Hethytes / Amozites / Pherezites / Heuites / & of the Jebusites. Now therfore beholde / the complaine of the chyldren of Israel is come vnto me / and I haue also sene the oppresyon wherewith the Egyptians oppresse the. But come / I will sende the vnto Pharaō / & thou mayst brynge my people & chyldren of Israel out of Egypte. And Moses sayde vnto God: what am I to goo vnto Pharaō / & to brynge the chyldren of Israel out of Egypte? And he sayde: I will be to the. And this shalbe a token vnto the that I haue sent the: after that thou hast brought & people out of Egypte / ye shall serue God vpon this mountayne.

Then sayde Moses vnto God: whē I come vnto & chyldren of Israel & saye vnto the / the God of your fathers hath sent me vnto you / & they saye vnto me / what is his name / what answer shall I geue the? Then sayd God vnto Moses: I will be what I will be: & he sayd: this shalbe thou saye vnto the chyldren of Israel: I will be vnto send me vnto you. And God spake further vnto Moses: thus shalt thou saye vnto & chyldren of Israel: the Lorde God of your fathers / & God of Abrahā / the God of Isaac / & & God of Jacob hath sent me vnto you: this is my name for euer / and this is my memozy all thozow out all generacyōs. God therfore & gather the elders of Israel to gether / & saye vnto the: the Lorde God of your fathers / the God of Abrahā / the God of Isaac / & the God of Jacob appeared vnto me / & sayde: I haue bene & sene both you & that which is done to you in Egypte. And I haue sayde it / that I will brynge you out of the tribulacyō of Egypte vnto the lande of the Cananytes / Hethytes / Amozites / Pherezites / Heuites & Jebusites: euen a lande that floweth with myche and honny.

If it come to passe & they heare thy voyce then goo / both thou and the elders of Israel vnto the kynge of Egypte / & saye vnto hym: The Lorde God of the Hebrews hath mette with vs: let vs go therfore. Ifi. dayes journey vnto the wyldernesse / that we may sacrifice vnto the Lorde our God. Notwithstandinge I am sure that the kynge of Egypte will not lette you goo / excepte it be to a mightie hādē: & ye & I will therfore stretch out myne hādē & smyte Egypte with all my wonders / whiche I will do therein. And after that he will lette you goo. And I will gett this people fauoure in the sight of the Egyptians: so that when ye goo / ye shall not goo emptye: but euery wyfe shall borrow of hir neyghbour / & of her & logozneth in hir house / Jewels of syluer and of gold and rayment. And ye shall put them on your sonnes and doughters / & shall robbe the Egyptians.

Moses receiued signes of his callinge and was sent into Egypte. His wyfe zephora circumcised hir sonne. Aaron meeteth with Moses. Moses taketh his leave of his father in lawe.

The iiii. Chapter. Moses answered & sayde: Soe / they wil not beleue me no / herke vnto my voyce: but will saye / the Lorde hath not appeared vnto the. Then the Lorde sayde vnto him: what is that in thine hand? and he sayde: a rodd. And he sayd cast it on the grounde / & it turned vnto a serpent. And Moses ran awaye from it. And the Lorde sayde vnto Moses: put forth thine hande & take it by the tayle. And he put forth his hand and caught it / and it became a rodd agayne in his hand / that they may beleue & the Lorde God of their fathers / the God of Abrahā / the God of Isaac and the God of Jacob hath appeared vnto the.

And the Lorde sayd forther moze vnto hym: thrust thine hande in to thy bosome. And he thrust his hande in to his bosome and toke it out. And behold / his hand was leperous euen as snowe. And he sayde: put thine hande in to thy bosome agayne. And he put his hande in to his bosome agayne / and plucked it out of his bosome / & beholde / it was turned agayne as his other flesh. If they will not beleue the nether heare the voyce of the first token: yet will they beleue the voyce of the seconde token. But & yf they will not beleue the two signes nether herken vnto thy voyce / then take of the water of the riuer and poure it vpon the drye lond. And & water which thou takest out of the riuer shall turne to bloude vpon the drye lond.

And Moses sayde vnto the Lorde: oh my Lorde / I am not eloquent / no not in tymes past and namely sence thou hast spoken vnto thy seruante: but I am slowe mouthed & slowe tongued. And the Lorde sayde vnto him: who hath made mans mouth / or who hath made the domme of the beaſt / the seynge or & bynde: haue not I the Lorde? So therfore I will be with thy mouth and teach the what thou shalt saye. But he sayde: oh my Lorde / send I pray the whom thou wilt. And the Lorde was angrie with Moses and sayd: I knowe Aaron thy brother the leuite that he can speake. And mozoer beholde / he cometh to mete the / and when he seyth the / he wilbe glad in his heart. And thou shalt speake vnto him and put the wordes in his mouth / and I wilbe with thy mouth and with his mouth / and will teach you what ye shall do. And he shalbe thy spokesman vnto the people: he shall be thy mouth & thou shalt be his God: and take this rodd in thy hande / wherewith thou shalt do myracles.

And Moses went and returned to Jethro his father in lawe agayne and seide vnto him: let me goo (I pray the) & tume agayne vnto my brethren which are in Egypte / that I may see whether they be yet aloue. And Jethro sayde vnto Moses: goo in peace. And & Lorde sayd vnto Moses in Madian: retorne agayne in to Egypte / for they are dead which went aboute to kyll the. And Moses toke his wyfe & his children & put the on an asse & wēt agayne to Egypte / & toke & rodd of God in his hādē.

And the Lorde sayde vnto Moses: when thou art come in to Egypte agayne / se that thou doo all & wordes which I haue put in thy hand: but I will harden his heart / so that he shall not let the people goo. And tell Pharaō / thus sayth the Lorde: Israel is myne eldest sonne / and therfore sayth vnto the: let my sonne goo / that he may serue me. If thou wilt not let him goo: beholde / I will slee thyne eldest sonne.

And it chaunced by the waye in the ynnē that the Lorde mett hym & wolde haue kyſed him. When Zephora toke a stone & circumcised hys sonne & fell at hys fette / and sayde: a bloudy husban dart thou vntome. And he lett him goo. So he sayde a bloudy husbonde / because of the circucision. When sayde the Lorde vnto Aaron: go mete Moses in & wil demeſse. And he wēt & mett him in & mount of God & kyſed hym. And Moses told Aaron all the wordes of & Lorde which he had sent by him / & all the tokens which he had charged hym with all. So went Moses & Aaron and gathered all the elders of the chyldren of Israel. And Aaron told all the wordes which the Lorde had spokē vnto Moses / & by the myracles in the syght of the people / & & people beleued. And whē they herde & the Lorde had blyssed the chyldren of Israel and had lo- ked vpon their tribulacion / they bowed the kyſes and worshipped.

Moses & Aaron goeth vnto Pharaō. The people of Israel are oppressed moze and moze / and they crye oute vpon Moses & Aaron therfore.

The v. Chapter. When Moses & Aaron went & told Pharaō / thus sayth the Lorde God of Israel. Let my people goo / that they may kepe holpe daye vnto me in & wyldernesse. And Pharaō answered: what seiow felowe is the Lorde/that I shoulde heare his hope for to let Israel goo. I knowe not the Lorde/whether will let Israel goo. And they sayde: the God of the Hebrews hath mett to us: let vs goo (we praye) for thre dayes for me into the deserte/that we maye sacrifice vnto the Lorde our God: lest he smyte vs ether with pestilence or with swerde. When sayde þ hyng of Egypte vnto them: wherfore do ye saye: Moses and Aaron let the people from their worke/get you vnto your laboure. And Pha rao sayd furthermoze: beholde there is moch people in the lande/and ye make them playe and let their worke stonde.

And Pharaos commaunded the same daye vnto the taskmasters ouer the people/ & vnto the officers saying: se that ye geue þ people no moze strawe to make byrche with all/ as ye dyd in tyme past: let them goo & gather them strawe them selues/ and the nombze of byrche whiche they were wont to make in tyme past/ laye vnto their charges also/ & wryte nothinge therof. For they be vylle therfore crye saying: let vs goo and do sacri fice vnto our God. They must haue moze worke layd vpon them/ that they maye la boure theryn/ and than will they not turre them selues to false wordes.

Chan went the taskmasters of the peo ple and the officers out and tolde the people saying: thus sayeth Pharaos: I will geue you no moze strawe/ but goo your selues & gather you strawe where ye can fynde it/ yet shall none of youre laboure be mynyshed.
 Chan the people scatered abrode thowme out all þ land of Egypte for to gather them stubbe to be in stead of strawe.

And the taskmasters hastid the forwarde saying: fulfill youre werke daye by daye/ eu as when strawe was geuen you. And the of ficers of the children of Israel which Pha raos taskmasters had sett ouer them/ were beaten. And it was sayde vnto them: wherfor haue ye not fulfilled youre taske in makinge byrche/ both yesterdaye and to daye/ as well as in tymes past.

Chan went the officers of the children of Israel & complained vnto Pharaos sayinge: wherfore dealest thou thus with thy seruantes there is no strawe geuen vnto thy ser uantes/ and yet they saye vnto vs: make byrche. And soo/ thy seruantes are beaten/and thy people is foule intreated. And he an swered: whyll as ye will and therfore ye saye: let vs goo and do sacrifice vnto the Lorde.
 Soo therfore and worke/ for there shall no strawe be geuen you/ and yet see that ye deli uer the hole tale of byrche.

When the officers of the children of Israel sawe them selfe in thys case (in þ he sayde ye shall mynysh nothinge of youre daye ma kinge of byrche) than they mett Moses and Aaron stonunge in there waye as they came out from Pharaos/ and sayde vnto them: the Lorde loke vnto you and iudge/ for ye haue made the sauoure of vs sincke in the sighte of Pharaos and of his seruantes/ and haue put a swerde in to their handes to sle vs.

Moses returned vnto the Lorde & sayde: Lorde wherfore dealest thou cruelly with this people: & wherfore hast thou sent me for sence I came to Pharaos to speke in thy name/ he hath sared soull with this folke/ & yet thou hast not deliuered thy people at all.
 When the Lorde sayde vnto Moses: How shalt thou see what I will doo vnto Pharaos for with a myghtie hande shall he let them goo/ and with a myghtie hande shall he dreye them out of his lande.

God promyseth deliuerance of the Israelites/ & the lande of Canaan. The genealogie of Ruben/ Sa meon and Leui.

The vii. Chapter.

And God spake vnto Moses sayig I vnto him: I am the Lorde/ and I appeared vnto Abraham/ Isaac & Jacob an allmightie God: but in my name Iehouah was I not knowne vnto them. Mozeouer I made an appoyntment with them to geue them the lande of Canaan: the lande of their pilgrimage wher in they were straungers. And I haue also herde the groynge of the children of Israel/ because the Egyptians kepe them in bondage/ and haue remembred my promysse.

Wherfore saye vnto the children of Israel I am the Lorde/ & will drynge you out from vnder the burdens of the Egyptians/ & will rydd you out of their bondage/ and will deli uer you with a stretched out arme and with great iudgements. And I will take you for my people and wilbe to you a God. And ye shall knowe that I am the Lorde your God which drynge you out from vnder the bur dens of the Egyptians. And I will drynge you vnto the lande ouer the which I dyd swe re by my hande to geue it vnto Abraham/ Isaac and Jacob/ and will geue it vnto you for a possession: euē I the Lorde. And Moses tolde the children of Israel euē so: But they hardened not vnto Moses for angurthe of sperte and for cruel bondage.

And the Lorde spake vnto Moses sayig Moo and bydd Pharaos hyng of Egypte/ & he let the children of Israel goo out of his lande. And Moses spake before the Lorde sayinge: beholde/ the children of Israel herke not vnto me/ how than shall Pharaos heare me: seynge that I haue vncircumcised lip pes. And the Lorde spake vnto Moses and Aaron

Aaron and gaue them a charge vnto the chi dren of Israel & vnto Pharaos hyng of Egypte to drynge the children of Israel out of the lande of Egypte. These be the herdes of their fathers houses. The children of Ru ben the eldest sonne of Israel are these: Pa rach/Pallu/ Heryon/ Charni/ these be the householders of Ruben. The children of Sy meon are these: Semuel/ Jamin/ Ohad/ Ja chem/ Zohar/ & Saul the sonne of a Cana nitish wyfe: these are the kynredes of Sy meon. These are the names of the chil dren of Leui in their generations: Gerson/Kahath and Merari. And Leui spued ar hundred and xxxviij. yere. The sonnes of Ge son: Ashi and Semel in their kynredes.
 The children of Kahath: Amram/ Jethar/ Pe dyon and Uziel. And Kahath spued an hun dred and xxxviij. yere. The children of Me rari are these: Shaleph and Mushi: these are the kynredes of Leui in their generations.

And Amos toke Jochebed his nere to wyf which bare him Aaron and Moses. And Am os spued an hundred and xxxviij. yere. The children of Jether: Bozab/ Sepheg and Sh chur. The children of Uziel: Misael/ Elza phan and Sathyr.

And Aaron toke Elizaba daughter of A minadab a sister of Rahabon/ to wyfe: which bare him Nadab/ Abihu/ Eleazar and Jetha mar. The children of Bozab: Alit/ Elhana & Abiasaph: these are the kynredes of the Bozabites. And Eleazar Aarons sonne toke him one of the daughters of Putiel to wyfe which bare him Pincas: these be the princ pall fathers of the Leuites in their kynredes.

These are that Aaron and Moses to wh the Lorde sayde: carie the children of Israel out of the land of Egypte/ with their armyes
 These are that Moses and Aaron whiche spake to Pharaos hyng of Egypte/ that they myghte drynge the children of Israel out of Egypte. And in the daye when the Lorde spake vnto Moses in the lande of Egypte/he spake vnto him sayinge/ I am the Lorde se that thou speake vnto Pharaos the hyng of Egypte all that I saye vnto the. And Mo ses answered before þ Lorde: I am of vncir cumcised lippes/ howe shall Pharaos than geue me audience?

The tokens to knowe God. The robbe of Moses is turned to a serpet. The forcerars do cal the same.
 The waters are turned into bloude.

The viii. Chapter.

And the Lorde sayde vnto Moses:
 behold/ I haue made þ Pharaos God/ & Aaron thy brother shall be thy prophete. Thou shalt speake all that I commaunde the & Aaron thy bro ther shall speake vnto Pharaos: that he sende the children of Israel out of his lande. But I will harden Pharaos herte/ that I maye multi plye my myacles and my wordes in the land of Egypte. And yet Pharaos shall not herken vnto you/ that I maye sett myne hande vpon Egypte and drynge out myne armyes/ euē my people the children of Israel out of the lande of Egypte/ with greatch iudgements.

 And the Egyptians shall knowe that I am the Lorde when I haue stretched forth my hande vpon Egypte/ and haue brought out the children of Israel from amonge them.

Moses and Aaron dyd as the Lorde com maunded them. And Moses was xxx. yere olde and Aaron xxxviij. whē they spake vnto Pharaos. And the Lorde spake vnto Mo ses and Aaron sayinge: when Pharaos spea keth vnto you & sayth: whate a wordre/ than saye thou vnto Aaron/ take the rodd & cast it before Pharaos/ and it shall turne to a serpet. Chan went Moses & Aaron in vnto Pharaos/ and dyd euē as the Lorde had co mmaunded. And Aaron cast forth his rodd be fore Pharaos and before his seruantes/ & it turned to a serpete. Chan Pharaos called for the wyse men and enchaunters of Egypte:
 & they dyd in lyke maner with there sojcery.
 And they cast doune euery mā his rodd/ and they turned to serpetes: but Aarons rodd ate vp the other roddes: & yet so/ all that Pharaos herde was hardened/ so that he herkened not vnto them/ euē as the Lorde had sayde.

Chan sayde the Lorde vnto Moses. Pha raos herte is hardened/ and he refuseth to let the people goo. Get the vnto Pharaos in the morninge/ for he will come vnto the water/& sonde thou apon the ryuers byrche agē he come/ and the rodd whiche turned to a se pente take in thine hande. And saye vnto him: the Lorde God of the Hebrews hath sente me vnto the sayinge: let my people goo/that they maye serue me in the wilderness: but hitherto thou woldest not heare. Wher fore thus sayth the Lorde: hereby thou shalt knowe that I am the Lorde. Behold/ I will smyte with þ staffe that is in myn hande apon the waters that are in the ryuer/ and they shall turne to bloude. And the fische that is in the ryuer shall dye/ and the ryuer shall stinke so that it shall geue þ Egyptians to drynke of the water of the ryuer.

And the Lorde spake vnto Moses/ saye vnto Aaron: take thy staffe and stretch out thine hande ouer the waters of Egypte/ouer their streames/ ryuers/ pordes and all pooles of water/ that they maye be bloude/& that there maye be bloud in all þ land of E gypte: both in vessels of wood & also of stone.
 And Moses & Aaron dyd euē as þ Lorde commaunded. And he left þ staffe none such in all the lande of Egypte / since people inhabited it. And the hayle smote in the lande of Egypte all that was in the felde both man and beest. And the hayle smote all the herbes of the felde and brake all the trees of the felde: only in the land of Goshan where the children of Israel were / was there no hayle. And Pharaos sent and called for Moses and Aaron / and sayde vnto them: I haue now synned / the Lorde is rightwys and I & my people are wicked. Praye ye vnto the Lorde / that the thunder of God & hayle maye cease / and I will let you go: and ye shall ca-rie no longer. And Moses sayde vnto him: asone as I am out of the cite / I will praye abrode my handes vnto the Lorde / and the thunder shall cease / nether shall there be any more hayle: that thou mayst knowe how that the erth is the Lordes. But I knowe that thou & thy seruantes yet feare not the Lorde God. The flaxe and the barly were smitten / for the barly was thott by and the flaxe was boulled: but the whete and the rye were not smitten / for they were late sowne.

And Moses went out of the cite vnto Pharao and prayde abroad his handes vnto the Lorde / and the thunder and hayle ceased / nether rayned it any more vpon the erth / wher Pharaos sawe that the rayne and the hayle & thunder were ceased / he synned agayn and hardened his herte: both he & his seruantes.
So was the hert of Pharaos hardened / that he wolde not let the chyldre of Israel go: as the Lorde had sayd by Moses.

The hert of Pharaos is hardened of God.
The grethoppers. The thicke darchnes.

The x. Chapter.

The Lorde sayde vnto Moses: go vnto Pharaos: neuerthelesse I haue hardened his herte & he hath of his seruantes / that I myght dreme these my sygnes amongest the / so that thou tell in the audience of thy sonne & of thy sonnes sonne / the pageantes whiche I haue played in Egypte / and the miracles whiche I haue done amonge the: that ye may knowe how that I am the Lorde. Then Moses & Aaron went in vnto Pharaos / & sayde vnto hym: thus sayth the Lorde God of the He-brewes: how long shall it be so / thou wilt submyt thy selfe vnto me? Let my people go that they maye serue me. If thou wilt not let my people go: beholde / to morrow will I brynge grethoppers in to thy land / and they shall couer the face of the erth that it can not be sene / and they shall eate the residue which remaineth vnto you and escaped the hayle: and they shall eate all your grene trees vpon the felde / and they shall fill thy houses and all thy seruantes houses / and the houses of all the Egyptians after such a manner: as nether thy fathers nor thy fathers fathers haue sene / since the tyme they were vpon the erth vnto this daye. And he turned him asyde aboute / and went out from Pharaos

And Pharaos seruantes sayde vnto him:
How longe shall we be thus euell intreated?
Let the men go that they maye serue the Lorde their God: wilt thou not yet knowe that Egypte is destroyed? And than Moses and Aaron were broughte agayn vnto Pharao and he sayde vnto them: Goo and serue the Lorde your God / but who are they that shall go? And Moses answered: we will go with ponge & olde: ye & your sonnes and your daughters / & your oxen & your asses must go: for we must holde a feast vnto the Lorde.

And he sayde vnto them: let it be so? The Lorde be with you / whilste I lett you go / and your chyldren also: Take herde / for ye haue some myschefe in hande. Nay not for but goo ye that are men and serue the Lorde for that was your desire. And they thrust them out of Pharaos presence.

And the Lorde sayd vnto Moses: stretch out thine hande ouer the lande of Egypte for grethoppers / that they come vpon the lande of Egypte and eate all the herbes of the lande / and all that the hayle left brouched.
And Moses stretched forth his rodd ouer the lande of Egypte / and the Lorde broughte an east wynde vpon the lande / all that daye and all nyghte. And in the morninge the east wynde broughte the grethoppers / and the grethoppers went by ouer all the lande of Egypte and lighted in all quarters of Egyp-te berre greuously: so that before them were there no such grethoppers / nether after them shall be. And they couered all the face of the erth / so that the lande was darke therewith. And they ate all the herbes of the lande and all the frutes of the trees which the hayle had lefte: so that there was no grene thinge lefte in the trees & herbes of the felde thorow all the lande of Egypte.

Then Pharaos called for Moses & Aaron in haste & sayde: I haue synned agaynst the Lorde your God & agaynst you. For geue me yet my synne only this once / & pray vnto the the Lorde your God & he maye take away from me this death onely. And he wet out from Pharaos / & prayed vnto the Lorde: & the Lorde turned & wynde in to a myghtye stroke west wynde / & it toke awaye the grethoppers and cast the in to the reed see: so that there was not one grethopper in all the colles of Egypte.

But the Lorde hardened Pharaos herte / so that he wolde not let the chyldre of Israel go.

And the Lorde sayd vnto Moses: stretch out thy hand vnto heauē / & let there be dar-chnesse vpon the lande of Egypte: euē that they maye seale the darchnesse. And Moses stretched forth his hande vnto heauē / & there was a thicke darchnesse vpon all the lande of Egypte thre dayes long / so that no man sawe another nether rose by from the place where he was by the space of thre dayes / but all the chyldre of Israel had lychte where they dwelled.

Then Pharaos called for Moses & sayde:
go & serue the Lorde / only let your shepe / go with you. And Moses answered: thou must geue us also offrynges & burnt offrynges for to sacrifice vnto the Lorde our God: ouer ca-tell therfore shall go with us / and there shall not one hooft be left behynde / for therof must we take to serue the Lorde our God.
Wherouer we can not knowe wherewith we shall serue the Lorde / vntill we come thither.
But the Lorde hardened Pharaos herte / so that he wolde not let the go. And Pharaos sayd vnto hym: get the sed me & take heade to thy selfe that thou see my face no more. For whē thou comest in my syghte / thou shalt dye. And Moses sayde: Let it be as thou hast sayde: I will see thy face no more.

The Lorde commaundeth to robbe the Egyptians.
The death of all the fyrst begotten in Egypte.

The xi. Chapter.

The Lorde sayde vnto Moses: yet will I bringe one plage moare vpon Pharaos & vpon Egypte / and after that he will let you go hence.
And when he letteth you go / he shall biterly bryue you here. But byd the people that eue-ry man bozwe of his neyghbour and eue-ry woman of hyr neyghbouresse: ierwels of syluer & ierwels of golde. And the Lorde gaue the people fauoure in the syght of the Egyptians.
Wherouer Moses was very great in the lande of Egypte: both in the syght of Pharaos and also in the syght of the people.

And Moses sayde: thus sayth the Lorde: aboute my nyghte will I go out amonge the Egyptians / & all the fyrst borne in the lande of Egypte shall dye: euē from the fyrst borne of Pharaos that sitteth on his seate / vnto the fyrst borne of the maydes seruante that is in the mylle / and all the fyrst borne of the cattell.

And there shall be a great crye thorow out all the lande of Egypte: so that there was neuer none lyke no / shall be. And amonge all the chyldren of Israel shall not a dogge moue his tonge / nor yet man or beest: that ye maye knowe how the Lorde putteth a dyfference betwene the Egyptians & Israel. And these thy seruantes shall come downe vnto me / & saye before me & saye: get the out & all the people that are vnder the / & the wyll I departe.
And he wet out vnto Pharaos in a great anger.
And the Lorde sayde vnto Moses: Pharaos shall not regarde you / & many wonderes may be wrought in the lande of Egypte. And Moses & Aarons shall saye these wonderes before Pha-raos. But the Lorde hardened Pharaos herte / so that he wolde not let the chyldre of Israel go out of his lande.

The passouer is eaten. The swete herbe. The muste teache their chyldren what the passouer signy-fyeth. The destruction of the fyrst begotten in Egypte.
The robbery of the Egyptians. The goinge out of the Israelites.

The xii. Chapter.

The Lorde spake vnto Moses & Aarons in the land of Egypte sayng:
this moneth shall be your chiefe moneth: euē of the fyrst moneth of the yere shall it be vnto you. Speake ye vnto all the felowshyp of Israel sayng: what they take the x. daye of this moneth to euery householde / a shepe. If the householde be to few for a shepe / then let hym and his neyghbour that is nexte vnto his house / take accordyng to the nombre of the soules / & counte vnto a shepe accordyng to euery mans eatynge. If they without spot & a male of one yere olde shall it be / and from amonge the lambes and the gootes shall ye take it.

And ye shall kepe hym in / vntill the xiiii. daye of the same moneth. And euery man of the multitude of Israel shall kyl him about euē. And they shall take of the bloud & strike it on the ii. side post / & on the upper doore post of the houses / wher in they eate hym. And they shall eate the fleshe the same nyght / rost with fye & in briedened bread / & in sowe herbe they shall eate it. So that ye eate not therof rawe nor soden in water / but rost with fye: both the head / sette / & purtenance to gether. And ye shall let nothing of it remayne vnto the morning: if ought remayne burne it with fye.
Of this manner shall ye eate it: with your loynes girded / & shons on your fete / & your shaves in your handes. And ye shall eate it in haste / for it is the Lordes passouer / for I will go aboute in the lande of Egypte this same nyght / & will smyte all the fyrst borne in the lande of Egypte / both of man & beest / & vpon all the Goddes of Egypte will I the Lorde do execution. And the bloude shall be bread/so that euen the fyrst daye ye shall put awaye leuē out of youre houses. For whoso euer eateth leuēded bread frō the fyrst daye vntill the viij. daye/that soule shall be plucked out from Israel. * The fyrst daye shall be a holy feast vnto you/ & the viij. also. Where shall be no maner of woꝝke done in them /saue about that only which euery man must eate that only maye do. And se that ye kepe you to unleuēded bread. For byd that same daye I will brynge youre armyes out of the lande of Egypte/therfoze ye shall obserue this daye & all youre chyldzen after you/that it be a cus-tome for euer. The fyrst moneth & the xxiij. daye of the moneth at euē/ye shall eate swete bread vnto the xxiij. daye of the moneth at euē agayne. Soe dayes se that there be no leuē-ded bread founde in youre houses. For whoso euer eateth leuēded bread/that soule shall be roted out frō the multitude of Israel: whē-ther he be a straunger or bozne in the lande.

Therfoze se that ye eate not leuēded bread/but in all youre habitacyōs eate swete bread.

And Moyses called for the elders of Israel & sayde vnto them:chose out & take to euery houholde a shepe/ & kill pascheouer. And take a bunch of yflope/ & dyppe it in the bloud that is in the basyn/and strycke it vpon the upper posse & on the iiij. syde postes / & se that none of you go out at the doze of hys house vntill the morning. For the Lorde will goo aboute & smyte Egypte. And when he seyth the bloud vpon the upper dooze posse & on the two syde postes/ he will passe ouer the dooze/and will not suffice the destroyer to come in to poure house to plage you. Therfoze se that thou ob-serue this thyng/that it be an ordynance to moze/ but that the & thy sonnes for euer.

b. To passe ouer is a maner of speache of the scripture/signifieth no
moze/ but that as he wolde pla-ge the wyched/
as he byd here the Egyptians/
euen so he wold seruice to this
the sacrifice of the Lords pascheouer/
which passed
ouer the houses
of the chyldzen
of Israel in Egypte/as he smote the Egyptians & saued
oure houses.
Chan the people
bowed them
selues & woꝝshipped.
And the chyld-
zen of Israel
went/and byd
as the Lorde
had commaunded Moyses &
Aaron.

And when ye be come in to the lande which I Lorde will geue you accordyng as he hath promysed/ se that ye kepe this scrupce. * And
euen so he wold
seruice to this
the sacrifice of the Lords pascheouer/
which passed
ouer the houses
of the chyldzen
of Israel in Egypte/as he
smote the Egyptians & saued
oure houses.
Chan the people
bowed them
selues & woꝝshipped.
And the chyld-
zen of Israel
went/and byd
as the Lorde
had commaun-
ded Moyses &
Aaron.

And at mydnyght the Lorde smote all the fyrst bozne in the lande of Egypte: frō the fyrst bozne of Pharaos that satt on his seat/ vnto fyrst bozne of the captiue & was in prison/& all the fyrst bozne of cattell. And Pharaos arose the same nyght & all hys seruantes & all the Egyptians: & there was a great cryg thozow out Egypte/for there was no house where there was not one dead.

And he called vnto Moyses and Aaron by nyghte saying: Ryse by/ & get you out from amonge my people: both ye & also the chyld-zen of Israel/ & go & serue the Lorde as ye haue sayde. And take youre shepe & youre oxen id you as ye haue sayde/ & departe. * I blesse me also. And the Egyptians were ferce vpon the people/ & made haste to send them out of the lande: for they sayde: we be all deed men.

And the people toke the dough before se was sowerd whiche they had in store/ and broude it in clothes/ & put it byd their shoulders. And the chyldzen of Israel byd accordyng to the saying of Moyses: and they borrowed of the Egyptians iewels of syluer/ & iewels of gold/ & raimēt. And the Lorde gat the people faueur in the syghte of the Egyptians: and so they borrowed & robbed the Egyptians.

Thus toke the chyldzen of Israel their yow-ney frō Ramesses to Sooth. by hundred thousand men of foote/ belyde chyldzen. And moch comon people went also with thē / and shepe/ & oxen/ & cattell exceeding moche. And they baked swete cakes of the dough whiche they broughte out of Egypte/ for it was not sowerd: because they were thrust out of Egypte & coude not tarpe / nether had they prepared any other prouysyon of meate.

And the tyme of the dwellinge of the chy-ldzen of Israel which they dwelled in Egypte/was iiii. hundred & xxx. yere. And when the iiiij. hundred & xxx. yeres were expyred/ euen the selfe same daye departed all the hostes of the Lorde out of the lande of Egypte. This is a nyght to be obserued to the Lorde/ because he brought them out of the lande of Egypte.
Thys is a nyght of the Lorde to be kepte of all the chyldzen of Israel and of their genera-cyōs after them.

And the Lorde sayde vnto Moyses & Aarō:
this is the maner of Pascheouer: ther shall no straunger eate therof/ but all the seruantes that are bought for money shall ye circum-cise/ & then let them eate therof. A straunger & a hyerd seruante shall not eate therof. In one house shall it be eate. Ye shall eate none of the flesh out at the doozes: moze ouer/ se ye bryke not a bone therof. All the multitude of the chyldzen of Israel shall obserue it.

If a straunger dwell amonge you/ and will holde Pascheouer vnto the Lorde/ let him cir-cise all that he makes/ & then let hym come & obserue it/ & he take as one of his bozne in the lande. No vncircumcysed person shall eate therof. One maner of lawe shall be vnto thē that are bozne in the lande/ & vnto the strangers & dwell amonge you. And all the chyld-zen of Israel byd as the Lorde commaunded Moyses & Aaron. And euē the selfe same daye byd the Lorde brynge the chyldzen of Israel out of the lande of Egypte with their armyes.

The fyrst begotten must be sanctified vnto the Lorde. The memoꝝiall of their deliuerance. Whē they were carryed thozow the wyldernes. The bones of Joseph. The pyler of the clowde.

The xxiij. Chapter.

And the Lorde spake vnto Moyses saying: Sanctifye vnto me all fyrst bozne that opē all maner matrices amonge the chyldzen of Israel as well of men as of bestes: for they are myne. And Moyses sayde vnto the people:
thynke on this daye in which ye came out of Egypte and out of the house of bondage: for with a myghtie hand the Lorde brought you out from thence. Se therfoze that ye eate no leuēded bread. Thys daye come ye out of Egypte in the moneth of Adib.

When the Lorde hath brought the into the lande of the Cananytes/ Bethites/ Amozites Peuytes & Jebusites/ whiche he sware vnto thy fathers that he wolde geue the a lande where in mylke & hony floweth/ then se that thou kepe this seruice in thys same moneth.
Soe dayes thou shalt eate swete bread: & the viij. daye shall be feast full vnto the Lorde.
Therfoze thou shalt eate swete bread seven dayes/ & se there be no leuēded bread sene noꝝ yet leuē amonge you in all your quarters.

And thou shalt shewe thy sonne at what tyme saying: this is done/ because of that which the Lorde byd vnto me whē I came out of Egypte.
Therfoze it shall be a signe vnto the vpon thyne hande a remembꝝance betwene thyne eyes/ that the Lordes lawe maye be in thy mouth. For with a stronge hande the Lorde brought the out of Egypte/ se thou kepe ther-foze this ordynance in his seal on frō yere to yere. Mozeouer when the Lorde hath brought the in to the lande of the Cananytes/ as he hath sworne vnto the & to thy fathers/ & hath geue it the/ then thou shalt apoynte vnto the Lorde all that openeth the matryce/ all the fyrst bozne amonge the bestes which thou hast if they be males. And all the fyrst bozne of asses/ thou shalt redeme w a shepe: if thou redeme hym not/ then bryke his necke. But all the fyrst bozne amonge thy chyldzen shalt thou bye out.

And when thy sonne asketh the in tyme to come saying: what is thys/ thou shalt saye vnto hym: with a myghtie hande the Lorde brought us out of Egypte/ out of the house of bondage. And when Pharaos was looth to let us goo/ the Lorde slewe all the fyrst bozne in the lande of Egypte: as well the fyrst bozne of men as of bestes. And therfoze I sacrifice vnto the Lorde all the males that opē the ma-trice/ but all the fyrst bozne of my chyldzen I must redeme. And thys shall be as a token in thyne hand/ & as a thyng hanged by betwene thyne eyes: because the Lorde broughte us out of Egypte with a myghtie hande.

When Pharaos had let the people go/ God carried the not thozow the lande of the Philis-tynes/ though it were a nye waye. For God sayde: the people myght happely repēt when they se warre/ & so turne agayne to Egypte:
therfoze God led the aboute thozow the wy-ldernes that boudeth on the red see. The childzen of Israel wēt harnessed out of the lande of Egypte. And Moyses toke the bones of Joseph with him: for he made the chyldzen of Israel swere saying: * God will surely byset you/ take my bones therfoze awaye hence w you. And they toke their iourney from Su-coth: & pitched their tentes in Etham in the edge of the wyldernes. * And the Lorde wēt before them by daye in a pyler of a clowde to leade the waye: & by nyghte in a pyler of fyr to geue them lght: that they myght goo both by daye & nyghte. * And the pyler of the clowde neuer departed by daye noꝝ the pyler of fyr by nyghte out of the peoples syghte.

Pharaos heart is hardened & soloweth the Israelites with all his host & capitaynes and is browed.
The Israelites grudge. They go thozow the red see.

The xxiij. Chapter.

And the Lorde spake vnto Moyses saying: byd the chyldzen of Israel that they turne & pitch their tentes before the tenting of Pharaoh betwene Mig-dole & the see toward Baalzephon: euen before that shall ye pitch vpon the see. For Pha-raos will saye of the chyldzen of Israel: they are tangled in the lande/ the wyldernes hath shut the in. And I will harden his harte/ that he shall solowe after thē/ that I may gett me honoure vpon Pharaos & vpon all hys hoste/that the Egyptians maye knowe that I am the Lorde. And they byd euen so.

b. ij. And

And whē it was tolde the kynge of Egypte that the people fled / thā Pharaos harte and all his seruantes turned vnto the people & sayde: why haue we thys done that we haue let Israel go out of oure seruyce? & he made readie his charettes & toke his people wth hym and toke. vi. hundred chosen charettes and all the charettes of Egypte & captaynes wth all his people. For the Lord hardened the harte of Pharaos kynge of Egypte / & he folowed after the childre of Israel which for all p^{er}uēt oute thozow* an hve hāde & Egyptiās folowed after thē & ouertoke thē where they pyched by the see / wth all the hoyses & charettes of Pharaos & wth his hoysen & his hoste: euē fast by the entrynge of Piros before Baal Zephō. And Pharaos dyed wth hys / & when the childre of Israel yst by their eyes & sawe how the the Egyptians folowed after thē / they were forē a frayde & cryed out vnto the Lord.

Chan sayde they vnto Moyses: were there no graues for vs in Egypte / but thou must bynge vs awaye for to dye in the wyldernesse: wherfore hast thou serued vs thus / for to carie vs out of Egypte? Wth not we tell the this in Egypte saynge / let vs be in rest & serue the Egyptians? For it had bene better for vs to haue serued the Egyptians / than for to dye in the wyldernesse. And Moyses sayde vnto the people: feare ye not but stonde still and beholde how the Lord shall saue you this daye: for as ye se the Egyptians thys daye / shall ye se the nomozes for euer tyll the mozt ende. The Lord shall fyghte for you and ye shall holde poure peace.

The Lord sayde vnto Moyses: wherfore cryest thou vnto me? speake vnto the childre of Israel that they goo forwarde. But lyfte thou by thy rodd & stretch out thy hand ouer the see and deuyde it a sondze / that the childre of Israel may goo on dze grounde betwene the two sondzes. And beholde I will harden the hertes of the Egyptians that they maye folowe you. And I will gett me a name vnto the Egyptians & vnto all his hoste / both this word & the word of the Lord. And so honoure vpon Pharaos & vpon all his hoste / both this word & the word of the Lord. And so honoure vpon Pharaos & vpon all his hoste / both this word & the word of the Lord. And so honoure vpon Pharaos & vpon all his hoste / both this word & the word of the Lord.

And the angell of God which wēt before the hoste of Israel / remoued & went behinde them. And the cloud p^{er}uēt that was before them remoued & stode behinde thē and went betwene the hoste of the Egyptians & the hoste of Israel. It was a darke clowde / & gaue lyghte by nyghte: so that all the nyghte long the one coude not come at the other.

nyghte / & made the see dze lande and the water couered it selfe. And the childre of Israel went in thozow the myddel of the see vpon the dze grounde. And the water was a walle vnto thē / both on their ryght hande & on their lefte hande. And the Egyptians folowed & wēt in after them to the myddel of the see / wth all Pharaos hoyses / & hys charettes & his hoysen. And in the moynynge watch / the Lord looked vnto the hoste of the Egyptians out of the fiery and cloudy pyler / and troubled their hoste & smote of their charettes wheles and cast them doune to the grounde. Chan sayde the Egyptians: let vs be from Israel / for the Lord fyghteth for thē agaynst vs. Chan sayde the Lord vnto Moyses: stretch out thyne hande ouer the see / that the water maye come agayne vpon the Egyptians wth their charettes and hoysen.

Chan stretched forth Moyses his hande ouer the see / & it came agayne to his coultre in the moynynge / & the Egyptians fled agaynst it. Thus the Lord ouerthrewe the Egyptians in the myddel of the see / & he waer returned & couered the charettes and the hoysen: so that of all the hoste of Pharaos & came in to the see after thē / there remayned not one. But the childre of Israel went wth dze lande in the myddel of the see / and the water was a walle vnto them: both on the ryght hande of them and also on the lefte.

Thus the Lord deliuered Israel the selfe same daye out of the honde of the Egyptians / & Israel sawe the Egyptians deade wth the see. And when Israel sawe that mightie hande which the Lord had wth vpon the Egyptians / they feared the Lord: & belueuē both the Lord / & also his seruante Moyses.

Moyses and the people wth the women synge. He the prayer of Moyses / the bytter waters were swete. God must be heard. They come to Elim.

The xii. Chapter. When Moyses & a chyldre of Israel lange this songe vnto the Lord & sayd. Let vs synge vnto the Lord / for he is become glorious / & hoysen & him & rode wth hym hath he ouerthromē in the see. The Lord is my strength & my sonne / and is become my saluacion.

He is my God and I will glorifye hym / he is my fathers God & I will lifte him vp an hve. I. Thozow / The Lord is a man of warre / & thozow is his name: Pharaos charettes and his hoste hath he cast in to the see. His soyle captaynes are drownd in the redd see / the depe waters haue couered thē: they sonke to the botome as a stone. Thyn hande Lord is glorious in power / thyn hande Lord hath all to dash the enemye. And wth thy greute glozpe thou hast destroyed thyn aduersaries / thou sentest forth thy wyth & it consumed them / such as Robell. Wth the bytch of thyn anger the water gathered to gether and the floodes stode still as a rocke / & the depe water congeled to gether in the myddel of the see.

The enemye sayde: I will folowe & ouer take thē / & I will deuyde the spoyle: I will satisfye my lust vpon them: I will dze my sword / & myne hande shall destroye them.

Thou bluest wth thy bytch & the see couered thē / & they lanche as leed in the myghty waters. Who is lyke vnto the Lord amonge goddes: who is lyke the so glorious in holynes / ferfull / laudable & that shewest wondres? Thou stretchedest out thy ryght hande / & the erth swallowed thē. And thou variedest wth thy merce this people which thou deliueredest / & broughtest them wth thy strength vnto thy holy habitacyō. The nacyōs hearde / & were afrayed / pages came vpon the Philistines. Chan the dukes of the Edomites were amased / & tremblynge came vpon the myghtiest of the Moabites / & all the inhabitants of Canaan wared saynte harted. Let feare & drede fall vpon them thozow the greatnesse of thyn arme / & let them be as still as a stone: wth the people passe thozow the Lord / wth the people passe thozow / which thou hast gotten. Bynge them in / & plante them in the mountayns of thyn enherytance / the place Lord which thou hast made for to dwell in / the sanctuary Lord / which thy handes haue prepared.

The Lord & raygne curr & all waye. For Pharaos wēt in on horsebacke wth hys charettes & hoysen in to the see / & the Lord brought the waters of the see vpon them. And the childre of Israel went on dze land thozow the myddel of the see. And Miriam a prophete the syster of Aaron toke a tymbrell in hys hand / & all the women came out after her wth tymbrells in a daunce. And Miriam lange before thē: Syng ye vnto the Lord / for he is become glorious in deade: the horse & his ryder hath he ouerthromē in the see. Moyses brought Israel fro the redd see / & they went out into the wyldernesse of Sur. And they went thre dayes longe in the wyldernesse / & coude fynde no water. At the last they came to Mara: but they coude not dzycke of the waters for bitternesse / for they were bitter / therfore the name of the place was called Mara. Then the people murmured agaynst Moyses / saynge: what shall we dzycke? And Moyses cried vnto the Lord / & he shewed hym a tree: & he cast it into the waters / and they wared swete.

There he made thē an ordynance & a law / & there he tempted them / & sayde: If ye will herke vnto the voyce of the Lord your God / I will do that which is ryght in his syght & will geue an eare vnto his comaundementes / and kepe all hys ordynances: than will I put none of these diseases vpon the whiche I brought vpon the Egyptians / for I am the Lord thy sargiane.

The Israelites come into the desert of Sin. I. e. We must do that which is right in gods syght & as hys word teacheth brought vpon the Egyptians / for I am the Lord thy sargiane.

The xvi. Chapter. And they came to Elim where were twelues of waters & xii. date trees. And they pyched there by the water. And they toke their journey from Elim / & all the hole company of the childre of Israel came to the wyldernesse of Sin / which lyeth betwene Elim & Sinai: the x. daye of the moneth after they were come out of the lande of Egypte. And the hole multitude of the childre of Israel murmured agaynst Moyses & Aaron in the wyldernesse / & sayde vnto thē: wolde to God we had dyed by the hande of the Lord in the lande of Egypte / wth we satt by fleshpottes / & ate bred oure belyes full / for ye haue brought vs out into this wyldernesse to hyl this hole multitude for hongre.

Chan sayde the Lord vnto Moyses: behold I will rayne bred from heauē doune to you / & let the people go out / & gather daye by daye that I maye p^{ro}ue them whether they will walke in my lawe or no. The xi. daye let thē a. The glozpe prepare that which they will bynge in / and of the Lord here taken for the brightnes daye. And Moyses & Aaron sayde vnto all the childre of Israel: at euen ye shal knowe that was sene in the it is the Lord / wth broughte you out of the lande of Egypte / and in the moynynge ye shal see the glozpe of the Lord: because he hath hearde your grugynge agaynst the Lord.

at all seasons. If there be any grete matter let the bynge that unto the / & let them iudge all small causes them selues / & ease the selfe & let them here with the. If thou shalt do this thing / then thou shalt be able to endure that which God chargeth the with all / & all this people shall goo to their places quietly.

And Moses hearde the voyce of his father in lawe / and byd all that he had sayd / & chose actiue men out of all Israel and made them heedes ouer the people / captaynes ouer thou sandes / ouer hundredes / ouer fiftie and ouer ten. And they iudged the people at all seasons / & broughte the harde causes unto Mo ses / & iudged all small matters them selues. And than Moses let his father in lawe de parte / and he went in to his awne lande.

The chyldren of Israel come to the mounte Sinai. The people of God are holpe a royall pfecthode. He that toucheth the hill dyeth. God appeareth vnto Mo ses vpon the mounte in thonder & lychtenyng.

The. xix. Chapter.

The thyrde moneth after the chylde of Israel were gone out of egypt: the same daye they came in to the wyldernesse of Sinai. For they were departed fro Raphaim / & were come to the desert of Sinai / and had pitched their tentes in the wyldernesse. And there Israel pitched before the mounte. And Moses wet by vnto God. And the Lorde called to hym out of the mountayne / saying: thus saye vnto the house of Jacob / & tell the chyldren of Israel: ye haue sene what I byd vnto the egyptians and how I toke you by vpon egles wynges / & haue brought you vnto my selfe. Now therfore ye will heare my voyce & kepe myne appoyntment: ye shall be myne awne aboute all nacions / for all the erth is myne. Ye shall be vnto me a kyngdome of prestes & an holy people: these are the wordes which thou shalt saye vnto the chyldren of Israel.

And Moses came & called for the elders of Israel / & layde before the all these wordes which the Lorde had comaunded hym. And the people answered all to gether and sayde: All that the Lorde hath sayde / we will doo. And Moses brought the wordes of the people vnto the Lorde. And the Lorde sayde vnto Moses: Lo / I will come vnto the in a thynke clowde / that the people maye heare when I talke with the / & also beleue the for euer. And Moses shewed the wordes of the people vnto the Lorde.

And the Lorde sayde vnto Moses: Go vnto the people & sanctifye them to daye & to morrow / & let them wash their clothes: that they maye be redy agaynst the thyrde daye. For the thyrde daye the Lorde will come downe in the syght of all the people vpon mounte

Sinai. And let markes rounde about the people & saye: beware that ye go not by in to the mounte / & that ye touch not the bordres of it / for whosoever toucheth the mounte / shall surely dye. There shall not an hande touch it / but that he shall ether be stoned or els shot thorow: whether it be beast or man / it shall not lyue / when the borne bloweth: than let them come by in to the mountayn.

And Moses went downe from the mounte vnto the people and sanctified them / & they washed their clothes: And he sayde vnto the people: be redy agaynst the thyrde daye / & let that ye come not at your wyues. And the thyrde daye in the mornynge there was thyn der / & lychtenyng & a thicke clowde vnto the mounte / & the voyce of the borne waxed excea dyng lowde / & all the people that was in the hoste was afraied. And Moses brought the people out of the tentes to mete with God / & they stode vnder the hyll.

And mounte Sinai was all to gether on a smoke: because the Lorde descended downe vnto it in fyre. And the smoke therof ascended vp / as it had bene the smoke of a hyll / & all the mount was exceeding fearfull. And the voyce of the borne blewe & waxed lowder & lowder. Moses spake / & God answered hym & he with a voyce. And the Lorde came downe vpon mounte Sinai / euē in the toppe of the hyll / & called Moses by into the toppe of the hyll. And Moses went by.

And the Lorde sayde vnto Moses: go downe & charge the people that they preale not by vnto the Lorde for to se hym / & so many of the perishe. And let the prestes also which come to the Lordes presence sanctifye the selues: lest the Lorde smyte the. When Moses sayde vnto the Lorde: the people can not come by in to the mounte Sinai / for thou chargedest vs saying: let markes about the hyll / & sanctifie it. And the Lorde sayde vnto hym: a waye / & get the downe: & come by both thou & Aaron with the. But let not the prestes & the peo ple presume for to come by vnto the Lorde: lest he smyte them. And Moses went downe vnto the people / and tolde them.

The. x. commandmentes are geuen. The altare of erth.

The. xx. Chapter.

God spake all these wordes & sayd: I am the Lorde thy God which haue brought the out of the lande of egypte and out of the house of bondage. Thou shalt haue none other godd in my syght. Thou shalt make the no graue ymage / nether any symilitude that is in heauē aboue / ether in the erth benethe / or in the wa ter that is benethe the erth. Se that thou ne ther bowe thy selfe vnto them nether serue the: for I the Lorde thy God / am a gelouse God / & byset the synne of the fathers vpon the chyldre vnto the thyrde and fourth genera cyon of the that hate me: and yet shewe mer cye vnto thousandes and age them that loue me and kepe my commandmentes.

Thou shalt not take the name of the Lorde thy god in vayne / for the Lorde will not holde hym guiltlesse that taketh his name in vayne. Remembre the Sabbath daye that thou san ctifye it. Sixe dayes mayst thou labour & do all that thou hast to do: but the seventh daye is the Sabbath of the Lorde thy God / in it thou shalt do no maner worke: nether thou nor thy sonne / nor thy daughter / nether thy man seruante nor thy mayde seruante / ne ther thy catell nether yet the straunger that is within thy gates. For in sixe dayes the Lorde made both heauen & erth & the see & all that in them is and rested the seventh daye: wher fore the Lorde blessed the Sabbath daye & halowed it. Honour thy father and thy mo ther / the thy dayes may be longe in the lande which the Lorde thy God geueth the.

Thou shalt not kill. Thou shalt not brye the wedlocke. Thou shalt not steale. Thou shalt bere no false witness agaynst thy neighbour. Thou shalt not court thy neighbours house: nether shalt court thy neighbours wyfe / bys man seruante his mayde / his oxe / his asse or voughte that is his.

And all the people sawe the thunder & the lychtenyng & the noyse of the borne / & howe the mountayne smoked. And when the people sawe it / they remoued & stode a ferre of and sayde vnto Moses: talke thou with vs & we will heare: but let not god talke with vs lest we dye. And Moses sayd vnto the people: feare not / for god is come to proue you / & that his feare maye be amonge you & ye synne not.

And the people stode a ferre of / & Moses wet in to the thicke clowde where God was. And the Lorde sayde vnto Moses: thus thou shalt saye vnto the chyldre of Israel: Ye haue sene how that I haue talked with you from out of heauē. Ye shall not make therfore to me goddes of syluer nor goddes of golde: in no wyse shall ye do it. An alter of erth thou shalt make vnto me and thereon offer thy burnt offerynges & thy peace offerynges / & thy shepe and thyne oxen. And in all places where I shall put the remembraunce of my name / thither I will come vnto the & blesse the. But and if thou wilt make me an alter of stone / se thou make it not of hewed stone / for if thou lyste by thy tole byd it thou shalt polute it. Wherouer thou shalt not goo by with steppes vnto myne alter / that thy nakednesse be not shewed there on.

The. xxi. Chapter.

These are the lawes wherch thou shalt set before the. If thou bye a Lawes. a seruante that is an hebreue / or a peregrine he shall serue / & the seventh ye he shall goo out fre paynge nothing. If he came alone / he shall goo out alone: If he came married / his wyfe shall goo out with him. And if his master haue geuen hym a wyfe & we haue borne hym sonnes or daughters: then the wyfe & his chyldre shall be his masters & he shall goo out alone. But and if the ser uante saye I loue my master & my wyfe & my chyldre / I will not goo out fre. When let his master bryng him vnto the Godd & sett hym to the doore of the doorepost / & boze his eare thorow with a naule / and let him be his seruante for euer.

If a mā sell his daughter to be a seruante: she shall not goo out as the men seruantes doo. If she please not her master / so that he hath geue her to no mā to wife / then shall he let her go fre: to sell her vnto a strange nacio shall he haue no power / because he despyed her. If he haue promysed her vnto his sonne to wyfe / he shall deale wth her as men do with their daughters. If he take hym another wyfe / yet his fode / rayment & dutie of mariage shall be not mynished. If he do not these thynges vnto her / then shall she goo out fre & paye no monny. If he smyteth a man & he dye / he shall be slayne for it. If a mā lase not awayte but God deliuer hym in to his hyde / then I will poynte the a place whether he shall lie. If a man come presumptuously vpon his neigh boure & see him wth gyle / thou shalt take him fro myne alter that he dye. And he that smyteth his father or his mother / shall dye for it.

He that stealeth a man & selleth him / if he be proued vpon hym / shall be slayne for it. And he that curseth his father or mother / shall be put to deth for it. If men stryue to gether & one smyte another wth a stone or wth his fyfte / so that he dye not / but lyeth in bedd: yet he ryse agayne & walke wthout vpon his staffe then shall he that smote hym go quyte: saue only he shall bere his charges the wyphed to be an vnyghteous wytnesse. Thou shalt not folowe a multitude to do euill: nether answere in a mater of plee that thou woldest to folow many / turne a lyde fro y^e trouth / nether shalt thou paynte a poore mans cause.

When thou metest thyne enemies ore or asse goynge a straye / thou shalt bringe them to him agayne. If thou se thyne enemies asse lynke vnder his burthe / thou shalt not passe by and let him alone: but shalt helpe hym to lyfte hym by agayne.

Thou shalt not hynder the ryghte of the poore that are amonge you in their sute.

Innocent & righteous se thou sty not / for I will not iustifye y^e wiche. Thou shalt take no gyftes / for gyftes blynde the sepyng & peruerthe the wordes of the ryghteous.

Thou shalt not oppresse a straunger / for I knowe the herte of a straiger / because ye were strangers in Egypt. Sixe yeres thou shalt sowe thy lande & gather in the frutes therof: & the seuenth yere thou shalt let it rest & lye fall / that the poore of thy people maye eate / and what they leaue / the beestes of the felde shall eate: In lyke maner thou shalt do with thy byne parde and thyne olyue trees.

Sixe dayes thou shalt do thy worke and the seuenth daye thou shalt kepe holle daye / that thyne ore & thine asse maye rest and the sonne of thy mayde & the straunger maye be refreshed. And in all thynges yf I haue sayd vnto you be circumspecte. And make no rachefall of the names of straunge goddes / nether let any mā heare the out of your mouthes.

Thy seedes thou shalt horde vnto me in a yere. Thou shalt kepe the feast of swete bread that thou eate vnto me vnto the dayes longe as I commaunded the in the tyne ap-poynted of the moneth of Abib / for in that moneth thou camest out of Egypt: & se y^e frute of thy laboures which thou hast sowne in y^e felde. And the feast of ingathering / in the ende of the yere: when thou hast gathered in thy laboures out of the felde.

Thy tymes in a yere shall all thy menichils ben appere before the Lozde Jehouah.

Thou shalt not offer the bloude of my sacri-fyce with leuened bread: nether shall the fatt of my feast remayne vntill the moynyng.
The frute of the firstfrutes of thy land thou fear before the and will kylle all the people whether thou shalt go. And I will make all thyne enemies turne their backs vnto the / & I will sende a homettes before the / & they shall byngge out the Huites / the Cananites lyke a waspe & the Hethites before the. I will not cast the out in one yere / lest y^e land growe to a wildernesse: & the beestes of the felde multiplie vnto the. But a lyle & a lyle I will byngge the out before the / vntill thou be increased & thou mayst enheret the land. And I will make thy cottes fro the red see vnto the see of the Phi-lities and from the deserte vnto the ryuer.

I will depyuer the inhabitants of the lande in to thyne hande / & thou shalt byngge them out before the. And thou shalt make none ap-poyntment with them nor with their goddes.

And he sayde vnto Moses: come vnto the Lorde: both thou and Aaron / Nadab & Abihu / & the lxx. elders of Israel / and worshyppe a ferre of.

*Cro. xix. a.

And Moses went hym selfe alone vnto the Lorde: but they came not nye / nether came the people by with him. * And Moses came & tolde the people all the wordes of the Lorde & all the lawes. And all the people answered with one voyce & sayde: all the wordes which the Lorde hath sayd / will wee doo. Then Moses wrote all the wordes of the Lorde & rose by early and made an alter vnder the hyll / & xlii. pillars accordynge to the nombre of the tribes of Israel / and sent yonge men of the chyldre of Israel to sacrifice burnt offrynges

¶ And he toke the booke of the appoyntment & red it in the audience of the people. And they trespasse: as some men saye: for peace obtayned after victorie in the table. ¶ And Moses & Aaron / Nadab & Abihu and the lxx. elders of Israel / and he sawe the God of Israel / and vnder his feete as it were a byrche wozke of Sapphires as God / that is: it were the face of beault when it is cleare / they answered: & vpon the nobles of the chyldre of Israel he sett not his hande. And when they had sene God they ate and dronke.

¶ And the Lorde sayde vnto Moses: come by to me into the hyll and be there: for I will geue the tables of stone and a lawe and commaundmentes / which I haue wrytten to teach the. ¶ Then Moses rose by & his mynister Josua / & Moses went by in to the hyll of God / & sayd vnto the elders: tarpe ye here vntill we come agayne vnto you: And beholde where is Aaron & Hur wyth you. ¶ If any man haue any matters to do / let him come to the. ¶ When Moses was come by in to the mount / a clowde couered the hyll / and the glozpe of the Lorde abode vpon mounte Sinai / and the clowde couered it. ¶ And the sequent daye he called vnto Moses out of the clowde. And the Cherubyns shall stretch their wynges abroad: ouer an hye / and couer the mercyseate wyth their wynges / & their faces shall loke one to another: eue to the mercyseate warde / shall the faces of the cherubyns be. And thou shalt put the mercyseate aboute vpon the arke / & in the arke thou shalt put the wytnesse which I will geue the.

¶ There I will mete the and will comon with the from vpon the mercyseate from betwene the two cherubyns which are vpon the arke of wytnesse / of all thyng which I will geue the in commaundment vnto the chyldren of Israel.

¶ Thou shalt also make a table of sethim wood of two cubytes longe and one cubyt byode and a cubyte and an halfe hye. And couer it with pure gold and make there to a crowne of golde rounde aboute. And make vnto that an whope of. iiii. rynges byode / rounde aboute / And make a golden crowne also to the whope rounde aboute. And make for it. iiii. rynges of golde and put them in the corners that are on the. iiii. setes therof: euen harde vnder the whope shall the rynges be / to put in staues to bere the table w all. And thou shalt make staues of sethim wood / & ouerlepe them with golde / that the table maye be borne with them. And thou shalt make his dishes / spones / pottes & flatpeces to poure out withall / of fyne gold. And thou shalt sett vpon the table / shewbyces before me al waye.

And thou shalt make a candellsticke of pure thycke golde with his shaft / byasches / bolles / knoppes and floures proceedinge there out: byre byasches shall procede out of the sydes of the candellsticke. iiii. out of the one syde and. iiii. out of the other. The .xxviij. Chapter.

And thou shalt make an altare of sethim wodd: fyue cubytes longe & a .v. cubytes bzyde / that it be square / & .iij. cubytes hie. And make it bozdes proceeding out in the .iij. corners of it / & couer it with bzye. And make his adhepannes / bouels / basens / fleshyokes / fyrepannes and all the apparell therof / of bzye and thou shalt make a gredpern also lyke a net / of bzye: by whose .iij. corners shall be .iij. bzyen rynges: & the gredpern shall reache into the myddes of the altare. And thou shalt make stauces for the altare of sethim wodd / & couer the with bzye / & let them be put in rynges alonge by the fydes of the altare to beare it with all and make the altare holowe with bozdes: euen as it was shewed the in the mount / so let them make it.

And thou shalt make a court into the habitacion / which shall haue in the south syde .x. pylers of tyned byse / byng an habde / & .xx. cubytes longe / & .xx. pylers therof / & their .xx. sockettes of bzye: but the knoppes of the pylers and their whopes shall be syluer. In lykewyse on the north syde there shall be hangenges of an habde cubytes longe & .xx. pylers in their sockettes of bzye / & knoppes & whopes of syluer. And in the bzyeth of the court westwarde / there shall be hangenges of fyfte cubytes longe / & .x. pylers with their .x. sockettes. And in the bzyeth of the court eastwarde towarde the ryfynge of the sonne / shall be hangenges of .i. cubytes.

And in the gate of the court shall be a bayle baile of .xx. cubites: of iacincte/scarlet/purpull & twyned bylle wought to nedle woike/ & .iiij. pylers with their .iiij. sockettes. All the pylers rounde about the court shalbe who- ved with syluer/ & their knoppes of syluer/ & their sockettes of brasse. The length of þe court shalbe an hundred cubytes/ & the bredeth .l. the heygth fyue / and the hangynges shalbe of twyned bylle & the sockettes of brasse. And all the beffels of the habytacion to all maner scrupce & the pyntes ther of: yee & the pyntes also of the court/ shalbe brasse.

And commaunde the chyldren of Israel that they geue the pure oyle olyue beaten for the lyghtes to poure all waye in to the lampes. In the tabernacle of wytnesse wpythout the bayle which is befoze the wytnesse: & Aaron & hys sonnes shal bryse it both euen & mo- nyng befoze the Loze: and it shalbe a dewtie for euer vnto poure generacions after you: to be geuen of the chyldren of Israel.

Chapter.

And take thou vnto the Aaron thy brother and his sonnes with hym/ & amonge the chyldren of Israel/ & he may mynytre vnto me/ bothe Aaron/ Nadab/ Abihu/ Eleazar & Ithamar Aaron's sonnes. And thou shalt make holpe rayment for Aaron thy brother/ both hono- rable & glorious. Moreover speake vnto all that are wyse harted/ which I haue spyled to the spyte of wyldome: that they make Aaron's rayment to collectate him in/ that he may my- nytre vnto me.

These are the garmentes which they shal make: a byrellap/ & ephod/ a tuncle/ a prayte cote/ a mytre and a gyz- dell. And they shall make holpe garmentes for Aaron thy brother/ & his sonnes that he may my- nytre vnto me.

And they shall take thereto golde / iacincte/scarlet/purpull & bylle. And they shall make þe ephod of golde/ iacincte/scarlet/ purpull and whyte twyned bylle with byrded woike. The two sides shal come to gether/ closed by in the edges therof. And the gyzdel of the ephod shalbe of þe same woikman wyppye & of the same stuffe / euen of golde/ iacincte/scarlette/ purpull & twyned bylle.

grave in them the names of the chyldren of Israel: fire in the one stone/ & the other fire in the other stone: accoording to þe order of their birth. After the woike of a stonegrauer/ eue as signettes are graue/ shal thou graue the .ii. stones with the names of the chyldren of Israel/ & shal make them to be set in ouches of golde. And thou shalt put the two stones vpon the two shoulers of the ephod/ & they shalbe stones of remembraunce vnto the chyldren of Israel. And Aaron shall beate their names be- fore the Loze vpon hys two shoulers for a remembraunce. And thou shalt make hokes of golde & two cheynes of fyne golde: lyke woike and wyched / and fasten the wyched cheynes to the hokes.

And thou shalt make the byrellap of iud gemet in byrded woike: eue after the woike of the ephod shal thou make it: of golde/ iacincte/scarlet/ purple and twyned bylle shal thou make it. For square it shalbe & double an hand byde longe & an hand byde byde. And thou shalt fylle it with .iiij. rowes of stones. In the fyrt rowe shalbe a Sardios / & a To- pas & a Smaragd. The second rowe / a Ru- bye/ Saphir & Diamonde. The thyrde: L ygi- rios an Ichat & Amatis. The fourth: a Tur- cas/ Onix and Iaspis. And they shalbe set in golde in their inclofers. And the stones shalbe graue as signettes be graue: in the names of the chyldren of Israel eue with .iiij. names eue vpon one in his name accoording to the .iiij. tribes.

And thou shalt make vpon the byrellap two fastenyng cheynes of pure golde & wy- chen woike. And thou shalt make lyke wyse vpon the byrellap .ii. rynges of golde & put them on the edges of the byrellap/ & put the .ii. wychen cheynes of golde in the .ii. rynges which are in þe edges of the byrellap. And þe .ii. endes of the .ii. cheynes thou shalt fasten in þe .ii. rynges/ & put the vpon the shoulers of the ephod on þe fore syde of it. And thou shalt yet make .ii. ringes of gold/ & put the in þe .ii. edges of the byrellap euen in the byrdes therof towarde the insyde of the ephod that is ouer agaynst it. And yet .ii. other rynges of golde thou shalt make/ & put the on the .ii. sydes of the ephod/ beneth ouer agaynst þe byrellap alowe where the sydes are tomyed to gether vpon the byrded gyzdel of the ephod. And they shall bynde the byrellap by his rynges vnto the rynges of the ephod with a lace of iacincte/ that it maye lye close vnto the by- dored gyzdel of the ephod/ that the byrellap be not loosed from the ephod.

And Aaron shall beate the names of the chyldren of Israel in the byrellap of iudgemet vpon his hert/ when he goth in to þe holy place for a remembraunce befoze the Loze alwaye. And thou shalt put in the byrellap of iudgemet ment* bym and Chumim: that they be euen vpon Aaron's herte when he goeth in befoze the Loze and Aaron shall beate the ensam- ple of the chyldren of Israel vpon his herte befoze the Loze alwaye.

And thou shalt make the tuncle vnto þe ephod all to gether of Iacincte. And thou shalt make an hole for the heed in the myddes of it/ and let there be a bonde of wouen woike rounde aboute the coler of it/ as it were the coler of a parlet/ that it rent not. And be- neeth vpon the hem/ thou shalt make pomgra- nates of Iacincte/ of scarlet/ and of purpul rounde aboute the hem/ and belles of golde betwene them rounde aboute: that there be euer a golden bell and a pomgranate/ a gol- den bell and a pomgranate rounde aboute vpon the hem of the tuncle. And Aaron shall haue it vpon him when he mynytreth/ & the cosse maye be herde when he goeth in to the holy place befoze the Loze and when he co- meth out/ that he dye not.

And thou shalt make a plate of pure gol- de/ and graue there on/ as signettes are gra- uen/ the holynes of the Loze/ & put it on a lace of Iacincte & tye it vnto the mytre/ vpon the forefront of it/ & it be vpon Aaron's forehead: that Aaron beate the synne of the holy thynges which the chyldren of Israel haue halowed in all their holpe gyftes. And it shalbe alwayes vpon Aaron's forehead/ & they maye be accepted befoze the Loze.

And thou shalt make an albe of bylle/ and thou shalt make a mytre of bylle & a gyz- dell of nedle woike.

And thou shalt make for Aaron's sonnes also cotes/ gyzdels and bonettes honourable and glorious/ and thou shalt put them vpon Aaron thy brother and on hys sonnes with hym & shalt anoynte them & fylle their hand/ and colectate them that they maye myny- tre vnto me. And thou shalt make them lynen byches to couer their pseyntes: from the loynes vnto the thyres shall they reach. And they shalbe vpon Aaron & his sonnes/ when they go in to the tabernacle of wytnesse/ or when they go vnto the altare to mynytre in holynes/ that they beate no synne and to dye. And it shalbe a lawe for euer vnto Aaron & his seed after him.

Chapter.

And this is the thyng that thou shalt doo vnto them when thou halowest them to be my pzeastres. Take one oxe & two rames that are wythout blemish/ and blycueded byrd and cakes of swete byrd tempered with oyle & wafers of swete byrd anoynted with oyle/ of whete flour that thou make them/ & put the in a masse and bryng them in the maunde with the oxe and the .ii. rammes.

And bynge Aaron and hys sonnes vnto the doore of the tabernacle of wytnesse / and wash the with water/ & take the garmentes/ and put vpon Aaron: the prayte cote/ and the tuncle of the ephod/ and the ephod and the byrellap: & gyzd the to hym with the byrded gyzdel of þe ephod. And put the mytre vpon his heed and put the holy crowne vpon the mytre. Then take the anoyntyng oyle and poure it vpon his heed and anoynte hym. And bynge hys sonnes and put albes vpon them/ and gyzd them with gyzdels: as well Aaron as his sonnes. And put the bonettes on them & the pzeastes office maye be theirs for a perpetuall lawe.

And fylle the handes of Aaron and of hys sonnes/ and bynge the oxe befoze the taber- nacle of wytnesse. And let Aaron and hys sonnes put their handes vpon hys heed & fylle him befoze the Loze in the doore of the taber- nacle of wytnesse. And take of the bloude of the oxe and put it vpon the hornes of the alter with thy fynger & poure all the bloude vpon the botome of the alter/ and take all the fatt that couereth the inwardes/ & þe hall that is on the lyuer and the .ii. kidneys with the fatt that is vpon them: and burne them vpon the alter. But the flesch of the oxe and his synne and hys donge shalt thou burne with fyre without the holte. For it is a synne offering.

Then take one of the rammes/ & let Aaron and hys sonnes put their handes vpon the heade of the ram/ & cause hym to be slayne / and take of his bloude and sprenhell it rounde aboute vpon the alter / and cutt the ram in peces and wash the inwardes of him and his legges/ & put them vnto the peces & vnto his heed/ and burne the hole ram vpon the alter. For it is a burnt offering vnto the Loze/ & a swete sauoure of the Lozes sacrifice.

And take the other ram and let Aaron & his sonnes / put their handes vpon hys heed and lett hym than be kylled. And take of hys bloude & put it vpon the tyype of the ryghte eare of Aaron and of hys sonnes / and vpon the thombe of their ryghte handes and vpon the great too of their ryghte fete & sprenhell the bloude vpon the alter rounde aboute.

Then take of the bloude that is vpon the alter and of the anoyntyng oyle/ and spren- hell it vpon Aaron and his vestimentes/ and vpon his sonnes and vpon their garmentes also. Then is he and his clothes holy and his sonnes and their clothes holpe also.

Then take the fatt of the ram and hys rompe & the fatt that couereth the inwardes and the hall of the lyuer & the two kidneys and the fact that is upon them and the right shoulder (for that ram is a full offering) and a synnell of bzed & a cake of oyled bzed and a wafer out of the baskett of swete bzed that is before the Lord & put all upon the hand of Aaron and on the handes of hys sonnes: and waue them in and out a waueoffryng vnto the Lord. Then take it from of their handes & burne it vpon the alter: euē vpon the burnt offering / to be a sauoure of swetnesse before the Lord. For it is a sacrifice vnto the Lord. The take & brest of & ram & is Aarons full offering and waue it a waueoffryng before the Lord & lett that be thy parte. And sanctifye the brest of the waueoffryng and the shoulder of the heueoffryng whiche is waued and heued by of the ram whiche is & full offering of Aarō and of his sonnes. And it shall be Aarōs & his sonnes due for euer / of the chyldren of Israel / for it is an heueoffryng. And the heueoffryng shall be & Lord due of & chyldren of Israel: euē of the sacrifice of their peaceoffryngs which they heue vnto & Lord. And & holpe garments of Aarō shall be hys sonnes after hym / to anoynte the therein / and to fyll their handes therein. And that sonne & is preast in his stede after hym / shall put them on seuen dayes: that he goo in to the tabernacle of wytnesse / to mynistrer in the holpe place.

When take the ram & is the full offering & sette his flesh in an holpe place. And Aaron and his sonnes shall eat the flesh of hym / & the bzed that is in the baskett: euē in the doze of the tabernacle of wytnesse. And they shall eat the / because the attornment was made therewith to fyll their handes & to sanctifie them: but a stranger shall not eat thereof / because they are holpe.

If I thought of the flesh of the full offerings of the bzed remayne vnto the morning / thou shalt burne it with fyre: for it shall not be eaten / because it is holpe. And se thou doo vnto Aaron and hys sonnes / euen so in all thynges as I haue commaunded the: that thou fyll their handes seuen dayes and offere euery daye an oze for a synneoffryng for to recōple with all. And thou shalt halowe the alter whē thou recōplest it / & shalt anoynte it to sanctifye it. Seuen dayes thou shalt reconyle the alter and sanctifye it / & it maye be an alter most holpe: so that no man maye touche it but they that be consecrate.

This is that which thou shalt offere vpon the alter. ii. lambes of one yere olde daye by daye for euer / the one thou shalt offere in the morning and the other at euen. And vnto the one lambe take a tenth deale of flour myngled with the fourth parte of an hin of beaten oyle / & the fourth parte of an hin of wyne / for a drynkeoffryng. And the other lambe thou shalt offer at euen and shalt doo thereto accordinge to the meateoffryng and drynkeoffryng in the morning / to be an oboure of a swete sauoure of the sacrifice of the Lord. And it shall be a continuall burnt offering amonge your chyldren after you / in the doze of the tabernacle of wytnesse before the Lord / where I wyll mete you to speke vnto you there. There I wyll mete the chyldren of Israel / and wybe sanctified in myne honoure. And I wyll sanctifye the tabernacle of wytnesse & the alter: & I wyll sanctifye also both Aaron and hys sonnes to be my preastes. And moreouer I wyll dwell amonge the chyldren of Israel & wybe their God. And they shall knowe that I am the Lord their God that broughte them out of the lande of Egypt for to dwell amonge the: euen I the Lord their God.

The xxx. Chapter. And thou shalt make an alter to burne cense therein / of sethim wode: a cubyte longe / & a cubyte bzyde / euē fouresquare shall it be & two cubytes hye: with hornes proceeding out of it / & thou shalt ouerlay it w synne golde both the rosse & the walles round aboute / & hys hornes also / & shalt make vnto it a crowne of gold rounde aboute / & ii. golde rnynges on ether syde / euē vnder & crowne / to put stauess therein for to bere it with all. And thou shalt make the stauess of sethim wode & couer the walle that hangeth before the arche of wytnesse / & before the mercysate that is before the wytnesse / where I wyll mete the. And

And Aarō shall burne thereon swete cense euery morning when he dresseth the lampes: and syke wyle at euen when he setteth by the lampes he shall burne cense perpetually before the Lord thowout your generacions. Ye shall put no strange cense thereon / nether burnt sacrifice nor meateoffryng / nether pourre any drynkeoffryng thereon.

And Aaron shall reconyle vpon the hornes of it once in a yere / with the bloude of the synneoffryng of reconynging: euen once in the yere shall he reconyle it thowout your generacions. And so is it most holpe vnto the Lord.

And the Lord spake vnto Moses sayinge: When thou takest the summe of the chyldren of Israel & tellest the / they shall geue euery man a reconyng of hys soule vnto the Lord that there be no plage amonge them whē thou tellest them. And thus moch shall euery mā geue & goeth in the nombze: halfe a cycle / after the cycle of the sanctuarie: a cycle is xx. geeras: and an halfe cycle shall be the heueoffryng vnto the Lord. And al that are nombred of the that are xx. yere olde & aboue shall geue an heueoffryng vnto the Lord. The riche shall not passe / & the poore shall not goo vnder halfe a cycle / when they geue an heueoffryng vnto the Lord for & attornement of their soules. And thou shalt take the reconyng money of the chyldren of Israel and shalt put it vnto the vte of the tabernacle of wytnesse / & it shall be a memoriall of the chyldren of Israel before & Lord / to make an attornement for their soules.

And the Lord spake vnto Moses sayinge: Thou shalt make a lauer of brasen & his foote of bzyde to wash with all / and shalt put it betwene the tabernacle of wytnesse & the alter: and put water therein that Aaron and hys sonnes maye wash both their handes and their fete therout / when they goo in to the tabernacle of wytnesse / or when they go vnto the altare to mynistrer & to burne & Lord offryng / lest they dye. And it shall be an ordinaunce for euer vnto hym & hys seed amonge your chyldren after you.

And the Lord spake vnto Moses sayinge: take princypall spices: of pure myrrour fyue hundred cycles / of swete cynamonie halfe so moch two hundred and sytie cycles: of swete calampye / two hundred and. i. of cassia / two hundred and. i. after the holpe cycle / & of oyle olyue an hin. And make of the holpe anoynting oyle euē an oyle compounde after the crafte of the apoticarpe. And noynte the tabernacle of wytnesse therewith / & the arche of wytnesse / and the table with all hys apperell / and the candelsyck with all his ordynauce / and the alter of incense / & the alter of burnt sacrifice and all his vessels / and the lauer and his foote. And sacrifice them & they maye be most holpe: so that no man touche the but they that be halowed. And anoynte Aaron and his sonnes and consecrate the to mynistrer vnto me.

And thou shalt speake vnto the chyldren of Israel sayinge: this shall be an holpe anoynting oyle vnto me / thowout your generacions. Whomā slyeth shall be anoynted therewith: nether shall ye make any other after & makinge of it for it is holpe / & therfore that ye take it for holpe: whosoever maketh syke that / or whosoever putteth any of it vpon a stranger / shall perishe from amonge hys people.

And the Lord saye vnto Moses: take vnto the swete spices: stacte / onycha / swete galbanū & pure frāhencēs / of etche syke moch: & make cens of the cōpōde after & crafte of & apoticarie / myngled together: & it maye be made pure & holpe. And beate it to powder and put it before the wytnesse in the tabernacle of wytnesse / where I wyll mete the / but let it be vnto you holpe. And se that ye make none after the makinge of that / but let it be vnto you holpe for the Lord. And whosoever shall make syke vnto that / to smell thereto / shall perishe from amonge hys people.

fore lett the chyldre of Israel kepe the Sabbath / that they obserue it thowse out their generacions / that it be an appoyntment for euer. For it shall be a signe betwene me and the chyldre of Israel for euer. For in syx dayes the Lorde made heauen and erthe and the seventh daye he rested & was refreshed.

And when he had made an ende of comenyng with Moses vnto the mounte Sinai he gaue him two tables of wytnesse: which were of stone and wyttē with the synger of the lawe.

The Israelites worship the golden calfe. Moses prayeth for them puttynge God in remembrance of his promys. He breaketh the tables for anger. He chastyseth Aaron: The idolaters are slayne. Moses prayeth God to forgive the people: to put him out of the booke of lyfe.

The xxxij. Chapter.

And when the people sawe that it was longe / Moses came doune out of the mountayne / they gathered them selues together and came vnto Aaron and sayde vnto hym. * Make us a god to goe before vs: for of this Moses the felowe that brought vs out of the lande of Egypt / we wotte not what ys become.

And Aaron sayde vnto them: plucke of the golden earynges which are in the eares of your wyues / your sonnes and of your daughters: and brynge them vnto me. And all the people plucked of the golde earynges that were in their eares / and broughte them vnto Aaron. And he receaued them of their hand / and facyned it with a grauer & made it a calfe of molten metall. And they sayde:
* This is thy God O Israel / which broughte the out of the lande of Egypt.

And when Aaron sawe that / he made an altare before it / & made a proclamation sayynge to morowe shall be holy daye vnto the Lorde.
And they rose vp in the mornynge and offered burntoffrynges / and brought offrynges of attouement also. And than they satt them downe to eate and brynke / & rose vp agayne to playe.

Then the Lorde sayde vnto Moses: * goo get the doune / for thy people which thou broughtest out of the lande of Egypt haue marrd all / they are turned at once out of the waye which I commaunded the: & haue made the a calfe of molten metall / & haue worshi-ped it & haue offered thereto & haue sayd: This is thy God thou Israel / which hath brought the out of the lande of Egypt. And the Lorde sayd vnto Moses: beholde / I se this people that it is a styfnecked people / & now therfore suffre me & my wrath maye ware hote vpon the / and that I maye consume the: and then wyll I make of the a myghtie people.

Then Moses besoughte the Lorde hys God & sayde: O Lorde / why shuld thy wrath ware hote vpon thy people which thou hast brought out of the lande of Egypt to great power and with a myghtie hāde: wherfore shuld the Egyptians speake and saye: For a myschefe dyd he brynge them out: euen for to sle them in the mountayns / and to consume them from the face of the erth. Turne from thy seuer wrath / and haue compassion ouer the wretchednesse of thy people. Remembere Abraham / Isaac and Israel thy seruantes / to whom thou swarest by thine owne selfe & saydest vnto them: * I wyll multiplye your seed as the starrs of heauē / & all thys lande which I haue sayde / I will geue vnto your seed: & they shall inherite it for euer. And the Lorde refrayned hym selfe from that euell / which he sayde he wolde do vnto his people.

And Moses turned his backe & wet doune from the hyll / & the ii. tables of wytnesse in his hand: which were wyttē on both sides and were the worke of God / & the wytyng was the wytyng of Gods grauen vpon the tables. And when Josua herde the noyse of the people

people as they shouted / he sayde vnto Moses: there is a noyse of warre in the hoste. And he sayde: it is not the crye of them that haue the masterye / nor of the that haue the worse:
but I doo heare the noyse of synngynge.

And as soone as he came vnto the hoste and sawe the calfe and the dauncynge / hys wrath waxed hote / and he cast the tables out of his hande / and brake them euē at the hyll fote. And he toke the calfe which they had made and burned it with fyre / and stampit it vnto powder and strawed it in the water / & made the chyldre of Israel drynke. And then Moses sayde vnto Aaron: what dydstys people vnto the that thou hast brought so great a synne vpon them.

And Aaron sayde: let not the wrath of my Lorde waxe seuer / thou knowest the people that they are euen sett on myschefe: they sayde vnto me: make vs a god to goe before vs / for we wotte not what is become of Moses the felow that brought vs out of the lande of Egypt.
And I sayde vnto them: let them that haue golde / take and brynge it me: and I cast it in to the fyre / and there of came out this calfe.

When Moses sawe that the people were naked / for Aaron had made them naked vnto their shame when they made insurrection / he went & stode in the gate of the hoste & sayde: If any man pertayne vnto the Lorde / let him come to me. And all the sonnes of Leui gathered them selues together and came vnto him. And he sayde vnto them: thus sayeth the Lorde of Israel: put euery man hys swerde by his syde / and goo in and out from gate to gate thowse out the hoste: and see euery mā his bryther / euery man his frende and euery man his neyghboure. And the chyldre of Leui dyd as Moses had sayde. And there were slayne of the people the same daye / aboute thre thousande men. Then Moses sayd: fyll your handes vnto the Lorde this daye / euery man vpon his sonne & vpon his bryther: to brynge vpon you a blesynge this daye.

And on the morowe / Moses sayde vnto the people: Ye haue synned a great synne. But now I wyll goo vnto the Lorde / to wytte whether I can make an attouement for you-re synne.

And Moses went agayne vnto the Lorde & sayd: O / this people haue synned a great synne & haue made them a god of golde: Yet forgiue them their synne I praye the: for I wote me out of thy booke which thou hast written. And the Lorde sayde vnto Moses:
I wyll put him out of my booke that hath synned agaynst me. But go & brynge the people vnto the lāde which I sayd vnto the: beholde / myne angell shall goe before the. Furthermore later in the daye when I byset. I wyll byset their synne vnto the. And the Lorde plagued the people / because they made the calfe which Aaron made.

The Lorde sendeth an angell before his people. The Lorde denyeth to goo vnto the people. The people lament their synne. Moses talketh with the Lorde & besyeth to se his face: and is commaunded to stande vpon the rocke.

The xxxij. Chapter.

And the Lorde sayde vnto Moses: *
departe & goo hence: both thou & the people which thou hast brought out of the lande of Egypt / vnto the lande which I sware vnto Abraham / Isaac and Jacob sayynge: vnto thy seed I will geue it. And I wyll sende an angell before the / & wyll cast out the Cananytes / the Amorytes / the Hethytes / the Pherezites / the Heuites / & the Jebusites: that thou mayst go in to a lāde that floweth with mylke and honye. But I wyll not goe among you my selfe / for ye are a styfnecked people: lest I consume you by the waye. And when the people heard this euell tydynge / they sorowd: and no man dyd put on his best rayment.

And the Lorde spake vnto Moses / saye vnto the chyldre of Israel: ye are a styfnecked people: I must come once sodenly vpon you / & make an ende of you. But now put your goodly rayment from you / that I maye wete what to do vnto you. And the chyldre of Israel layde their goodly rayment from them euen vnder the mount Mozeb.

And Moses toke the tabernacle & pitched it without the hoste a ferre of fro the hoste / & called it the tabernacle of wytnesse. And all that wold are any questio of the Lorde / wet out vnto the tabernacle of wytnesse which was without the hoste. And when Moses went out vnto the tabernacle / all the people rofe vp and stode euery man in his tent doze and looked after Moses / vntill he was gone in to the tabernacle. And as soone as Moses was entred in to the tabernacle / the cloude pyler descended and stode in the doze of the tabernacle / and he talked with Moses. And when all the people sawe the cloude pyler stande in the tabernacle doze / they rose vp & worshipped: euery man in his tent doze.

And the Lorde spake vnto Moses: face to face / as a man speaketh vnto his frende.
And when Moses turned agayne in to the hoste / the ladd Josua his seruante the sonne of Nun departed not out of the tabernacle. And Moses sayde vnto the Lorde: se / thou saydest vnto me: leade this people forth / but thou shewest me not whom thou wilt send with me. And hast sayde mozeouer: I knowe the by name and thou hast also seene grace in my syghte: Now therfore / let I haue seene thy face.

purpul and bylle. And all the women that excelled in wysdome of herte/spaue the godes haye. And the Lozdes brought onir stones and set stones for the Epod/ and for the best lapper/and spye a oyle: both for the lychtes and for the anoyntinge oyle a for the sweete cens. And the chyldre of Israel brought wyllynge offrynges vnto the Lozde/ both men a women: as many as their hartes made them wyllyuge to bynge / for all maner wothes which the Lozde had commaunded to make by the hande of Moyses.

And Moyses sayde vnto the chyldren of Israel: beholde the Lozde hath called by name Bezaleel a sonne of alyp a sonne of Bur of the trybe of Iuda/ and hath fylled him with the spyete of God / with wysdome / vnderstandyng and knowlege/ euen in all maner wothe / a to fynde out curyous wothes / to wothe in golde/ syluer and brasse: and with grauyng of stones to sett/ a with keruyng in wodd/ and to wothe in all maner of softe woth. And he hath put in his harte a grace to teache: both him a Ahaliab a sonne of Ahisanach of the trybe of Dan hath he fylled in wysdome of herte/ to wothe all maner of grauen wothe: they are also bzoderers and wothers with neele / In facyncte / scarlet/purple and bylle / and are weuers that can make all maner wothe/ and can deuyse softe wothes.

The thynges that Bezaleel and Ahaliab made for the holy place of the Lozde.

The xxxi. Chapter.

And Bezaleel wrought a Ahaliab a all wise harted men to whom the Lozde had geuen wysdome and vnderstandyng/ to knowe how to wothe all maner wothe for a holpe seruyce/in all that the Lozde commaunded. And Moyses called for Bezaleel Ahaliab a all a wyle harted men in whose hertes a Lozde had put wysdome/ eue as many as their hartes co-ged to come vnto a wothe to wothe it. And they receaued of Moyses all a heue offryngs which the chyldre of Israel had brought for the wothe of the holpe seruyce to make it to all. And they brought besyde that wyllynge offrynges euery mozyng.

And all the wyle men that wrought all the holpe wothe/ came euery man fro his wothe which they made / and spake vnto Moyses sayyng: the people bynge to moch a about that is ynough to serue for the werke which the Lozde hath commaunded to make. And then Moyses gaue a commaudemēt / a they caused it to be proclaimed thowout the hoste sayyng: se that nether man nor woman prepare any moare wothe for the holpe heue of fynges/ and to the people were forbidden to bynge: for the stuffe they had/ was suffyete for them vnto all the wothe / to make it and to moch.

And all the wyle harted men amonge the that wrought in the wothe of the habyta-cyon made: eue. x. cortaynes of twyned bylle/facyncte/scarlet and purple / and made the full of Cherubyns with bzoder wothe. The length of one curtayne was xxxij. cubyte a and the bzedth. iij. and were all of one fyle. B And they coupled fyue curtayns by them sel-ues/ and other fyue by the selues. And they made fyfte loupes of facyncte alonge by the edge of the vtmost curtayne / euen in the seluege of the couplynge courtayne. And lykewyse they made on the fyde of the vtmost couplynge curtayne on the other fyde/ fyfte loupes they made in the one curtayne / and fyfte in the edge of a couplynge courtayne on the other fyde: so that the loupes were one ouer agent another.

And they made fyfte rynges of golde / a coupled the curtaynes one to another with the rynges: and so was it made a dwellynge place.

And they made. x. curtaynes of gootes haye to be a tent ouer the tabernacle. xxx. cubytes longe a pece and. iij. cubytes bzode/a they all. x. of one fyle. And they coupled. b by them selues/ and. bi. by them selues / and they made fyfte loupes alonge by the bzodder of the vtmost couplynge courtayne on the one side/ and fyfte in the edge of the cou-plynge curtayne on the other fyde. And they made fyfte rynges of brasse to couple the tent together that it might be one. And they made a couerynge vnto the tent of rammes skynnes red/ and yet a nother of taxus skyn-nes a boue all.

And they made bzodes for the dwellynge place of sethim wodd that stode by night euery bzode. x. cubytes longe a a cubite a an halfe bzode. And they made. iij. fete to euery boozde of the dwellynge place fornyng one to another. And they made. xx. boozdes for the southfyde of the habytacyon/ a. xl. sockettes of syluer vnder the. xx. boozdes. iij. sockettes vnder euery boozde/ euen for the. iij. fete of the. And for the other fyde of the dwellynge towarde the north/ they made other. xx. boozdes with xl. sockettes of syluer. iij. sockettes vnder eu-ry boozde. And behynde in the ende of the tabernacle towarde the west/ they made. bi.
boozdes a. iij. other boozdes for the corners of the habytacyon behynde/ a they were ioyned close both beneth and also aboute with clypes and thus they dyd to both the corners: so they were in all. biij. boozdes and. xvi. sockettes/ vnder euery boozde two sockettes.

And

And they made barres of sethim wodd. b for the bzodes of the one fyde of the habyta-cyon a. b. for the other/ a fyue for the bzodes of the west ende of the habytacyon. And they made the myddell barre to styte thowout the bzodes: euen from the one ende to the other/and ouerlayde the bzodes with golde/ a made the ryngs of gold to thust the barres thowout/and couered the barres with golde. And they made an hangyng of facyncte/ of scarlet/ purple and twyned bylle with Cherubyns of bzodder wothe. And made ther vnto. iij. pylers of sethim wodd/ a ouerlayde them with gold.
Cherubyns were also of gold/ a they cast for the. iij. sockettes of syluer. And they made an hangyng for the tabernacle doze: of facyncte/scarlet/ purple a twyned bylle of neele wothe/ a the pylers of it were fyue with their knoppes/ and ouerlayde the heades of them and the whooppes with gold/ with their fyue sockettes of brasse.

The arche of witness. The mercyseate. The table. The candellstiche. The lychtes. The altar and the incense.

The xxxii. Chapter.

And Bezaleel made the arche of se-thym wodd two cubyt a an halfe long a a cubyte and a halfe bzode/a a cubyt a a halfe hys: a ouerlayde it with fyne golde bothe within a without/ a made a crowne of golde to it rounde about/ a cast for it. iij. rynges of golde for the. iij. corners of it: two rynges for the one fyde a two for a other/ a made staues of sethim wodd/a couered the with golde/ and put the staues in the rynges alonge by the fyde of the arche to bere it with all.

And he made the a mercyseate of pure gold two cubytes a a halfe longe and one cubite a a halfe bzode / and made two Cherubyns of thycht golde vpon the two endes of the mercyseate: One Cherub on the one ende/ a another Cherub on the other ende of the mercyseate. And the Cherubyns spredde out their wynges aboute an hys/ a couered the mercyseate therewith. And their faces were one to another: euen to the mercyseate warde/ were the faces of the Cherubyns.

And he made the table of sethim wodd two cubytes longe and a cubite bzode/ and a cu-bite and a halfe hyghe/ and ouerlayde it with fyne golde/ a made therto a crowne of golde rounde aboute / and made therto an whope of an harde bzode rounde aboute / and made vnto the whope a crowne of golde rounde aboute/ and cast for it. iij. rynges of golde a put the rynges in the. iij. corners by the fete: eue vnder the whope to put staues in to bere the table with all. And he made staues of se-thym wodd and couered them with golde to bere the table with all/ and made the bellers/a were on the table of pure golde/ the bylthes spones/ flat peces a pottes to poure with all.

And he made a candellstiche of pure thiche golde: bothe the candellstiche and hys shaft:
with bzauces/ bolles/ knoppes and floures procedyng out of it. Sixe bzauces procedyng out of the fydes therof. iij. out of the one fyde/ a. iij. out of the other. And on euery bzauche were. iij. cuppes lyke vnto almodes with knoppes a floures thowout the fyre bzauches a proceeded out of a candellstiche.
And vpon the candellstiche selfe were. iij. cuppes after the facyon of almodes with knoppes a floures: vnder euery two bzauches a knoppe. And the knoppes a the bzauches proceeded out of it / a were all one pece of pure thiche golde. And he made seven lamps therto / and the snuffers therof / and feyrpanes of pure gold. An hundred weyght of pure golde/ made bothe it and all that belonged therto.

And he made the ces alter of sethim wodd of a cubit log a a cubyt bzode: eue. iij. square a two cubytes hys with hornes procedyng out of it. And he couered it with pure golde/both the toppe a the fydes rounde about and the hornes of it/ a made vnto it a crowne of golde rounde about. And he made two ringes of golde vnto it/ euen vnder the crowne vpon ether fyde of it/ to put staues in for to bere it with all: a made staues of sethim wodd/ a ouerlayde them with golde. And he made the holpe anoyntinge oyle a the swete pure incense after the apothecarys crafte.

The altar of burnt offrynges. The brassen laver.
The sonne of that the people offered to the buyldyng of the habytacyon of the Lozde.

The xxxiii. Chapter.

And he made the burnt offryng alter of sethim wodd. b. cubytes log a
b. cubytes bzode: eue. iij. square/and. iij. cubytes hys. And he made hornes in the. iij. corners of it procedyng out of it/ a ouerlayde it with brasse. And he made all the bellers of a alter: a cauldres/ thowels/basyns/ fleshookes a colepannes all of brasse.

And he made a brassen gredye of netwothe vnto the alter rounde aboute alowe beneth vnder the compasse of the alter: so that it reached vnto halfe the altare/ a cast. iij. rynges of brasse for the. iij. endes of the gredye to put staues in. And he made staues of sethim wodd a couered them with brasse/ a put the staues in the rynges alonge by the alter fyde to bere it with all/ a made the alter holowe with bzodes. And he made the lauer of brasse a the fote of it also of brasse in the lychte of them that dyd watch before the doze of the tabernacle of witness.

a. b. And

And he made the courte with hangynges of twyned bylle of an hundred cubytes long upon the southsyde / & xx. pylers with xx. sockettes of bzaile: but the knoppes of the pylers & the whopes were syluer. And on the northsyde & hangynges were an hundred cubytes longe wth. xx. pylers and. xx. sockettes of bzaile: but the knoppes & the whopes of the pylers were of syluer. And on the westsyde / were hangynges of. l. cubytes longe / & xx. pylers wth their. x. sockettes / & the knoppes & the whopes of the pylers were syluer. And on the eastsyde toward the southe / were hangynges of. l. cubytes: the hangynges of the one syde of the gate were fiftene cubytes longe / and their pylers. iiii. wth their. iiii. sockettes. And of the other side of the court gate were hangynges also of. x. cubytes longe / and their pylers. iiii. wth. iiii. sockettes. Now all the hangynges of the courte rounde about / were of twyned bylle / and the sockettes of the pylers were bzaile: but the knoppes and the whopes of the pylers were syluer / and the heedes were overlaid with syluer / & all the pylers of the courte were whoped about with syluer. And the hangyng of the gate of the courte was nedlewozke / of lacincte / scarlet / purple / & twyned bylle. xx. cubytes long and fyue in & bredth / accordyng to the hangyng of the courte. And the pylers were. iiii. wth. iiii. sockettes of bzaile / & the knoppes of syluer / & the heedes overlaid with syluer and whoped about with syluer / & all the pyennes of the tabernacle and of the courte rounde about were bzaile.

This is the summe of the habitacio of witness / which was counted at the commaundment of Moyses: and was the office of the Levites by the hande of Jethamar sonne to Aaron the preast. And Bezaleel sonne of waz sonne to Hur of the tribe of Juda / made all that the Lozde commaunded Moyses / & wth him Abisab sonne of Abisamach of the tribe of Dan / a conyng grauer & a woiker of nedlewozke in lacincte / scarlet / purple & bylle.

All the golde that was occupped upon all the woiker of the holy place (which was the golde of the waueofferynge) was. xxx. hundred weyght and seven hundred and. xxx. cycles / accordyng to the holy cycle. And the summe of syluer that came of the multitude was. b. scoze hundred weyght & a thousande seuē hundred &. lxxv. cycles of the holy cycle. Every man offerynge halfe a cycle after the weyght of the holy cycle amonge the that wnt to be nobized fro. xx. yere olde & aboue / amonge bi hundred thousande and. iiii. thousande and. b. hundred and. l. men.

And the. b. scoze hundred weyght of syluer went to the castyng of the sockettes of the sanctuary & the sockettes of the bayle: an hundred sockettes of the fine scoze hundred weight an hundred weyght to every sockette. And the thousande seuē hundred &. lxxv. cycles / made knoppes to the pylers / & overlaid with heedes and whoped them.

And the bzaile of the waueofferynge was. lxx. hundred weyght and two thousande / and. iiii. hundred cycles. And therewith he made the sockettes to the doze of the tabernacle of witness / & the bzaile altar / and the bzaile grebyren that longeth therto / & all the vessels of the altar / & the sockettes of the courte rounde about / & the sockettes of the courte gate / and all the pyennes of the habitacion / and all the pyennes of the courte rounde aboute.

The makinge of Aaron & hys sonnes apparell. All that the Lozde commaunded was offred.

The. xxxix. Chapter.

And of the lacincte / scarlet / purple & twyned bylle / they made the vestmentes of mynistracion to do seruyce in that holy place / & made the holy garnytes that pertayned to Aarō / as the Lozde commaunded Moyses.

And they made the Ephod of golde / lacincte / scarlet / purple / and twyned bylle. And they dyd beate & golde in to thynne plates / & cutte it into wyres: to woike it in & lacincte / scarlet / purple & the bylle / wth byddens woike. And they made the sydes come to gether / and cloosed them by by the two edges. And the bydding of the gyrdell that was bydd it / was of the same stuffe & after the same woike of golde / lacincte / scarlet / purple and twyned bylle / as the Lozde commaunded Moyses.

And they wrought Onix stones cloosed in ouches of golde & graued as sygnettes are grauen with the names of the chyldren of Israel / & put the on the shoulders of the Ephod that they shulde be a remembraunce of the chyldren of Israel / as the Lozde commaunded Moyses.

And they made the brestlappe of conyng woike / after the woike of the Ephod: euē of golde / lacincte / scarlet / purple and twyned bylle. And they made it. iiii. square & double / an hande breadeth long & an hande breadeth byde. And they fylled it wth. iiii. rowes of stones (the fyrt rowe Sardios / & a Topas & Smaragdus: the second rowe / & a Rubye / & a Saphir & a Diamode: the iiii. rowe / & a Iagios / an Achat and an Amatis: the fourth rowe: a Turcas / an Onix & a Jaspis) cloosed in ouches of golde in their inclofers. And the. xii. stones were grauen as sygnettes wth the names of the chyldren of Israel: every stone wth his name / accordyng to the. xii. tribes.

And they made upon the brestlappe / two fastenynge cheynes of wythe woike & pure golde.

golde. And they made two bohes of golde and two golde rynges / & put the two rynges by the two corners of the brestlappe. And they put the two chaynes of golde in &. ii. rynges / in the corners of the brestlappe. And the two endes of the two chaynes they fastened in the two bohes / and put them on the shoulders of the Ephod upon the forefront of it.

And they made two other rynges of golde and put the on the two other corners of the brestlappe a lōge by the edge of it / toward the insyde of the Ephod that is ouer agaynst it. And they made yet two other golde rynges / & put them on the two sydes of the Ephod / beneth on the foresyde of it: euē where the sydes go together / aboue upon the bydding of the Ephod / & they strayned the brestlappe by his rynges unto the rynges of the Ephod / wth laces of lacincte / that it myght lye fast upon the bydding of the Ephod / & shulde not be loosed from of the Ephod: as the Lozde commaunded Moyses.

And he made the tuncle unto the Ephod of wouen woike / & all together of lacincte / & the heade of the tuncle was in the myddle of it as the coler of a partlet / wth a bonde rounde aboute the coler / that it shulde not rent. And they made beneth upon the hem of the tuncle: pomgranates of lacincte / scarlet / purple & twyned bylle. And they made syde belles of pure golde / & put them amonge the pomgranates rounde aboute upon the edge of the tuncle a bell & a pomgranate / a bell & a pomgranate rounde about the hemmes of the tuncle to mynistr in / as the Lozde commaunded Moyses.

And they made cotes of bylle of wouen woike for Aaron and his sonnes / & a mytre of bylle / & goodly bonettes of bylle / & linnen breeches of twyned bylle / & a gyrdell of twyned bylle / lacincte / scarlet and purple: euē of nedlewozke / as the Lozde commaunded Moyses. And they made the plate of the holy crowne of fyne golde / & wrote upon it wth grauen woike / the holynes of the Lozde: and eyed it to a lace of lacincte to fasten it an byr upon the mytre / as the Lozde commaunded Moyses.

Thus was all the woike of the habitacio of the tabernacle of witness fynished. And the chyldren of Israel dyd accordyng to all that the Lozde had commaunded Moyses. And they brought the habitacio unto Moyses: the tent & all his apparell therof: the buttones / boordes / barres / pylers & sockettes: and the couerynge of ramus skynnes red / & the couerynge of carus skynnes / & the hangyng bayle / & the arche of witness with the staues therof / and the mercyseate: the table & all the ordinaunce therof / and the shewbyde / & the pure candelstych / and the lampes prepared therunto wth all the vessels therof / and the oyle for lychtes / and the golden altare / and the anoyntinge oyle and the swete cens / and the hangyng of the tabernacle dooze / & the bzaile altar / and the grebyren of bzaile longyng therto wth hys barres and all hys vessels / and the lauer with his sote / and the hangynges of the courte with hys pylers and sockettes / & the hanging to the courte gate / his boordes & pyennes / & all the ordinaunce that serueth to the habitacio of the tabernacle of witness / and the mynistringe vestmentes to serue in the holy place / and the holy vestmentes of Aaron the preast and hys sonnes raymentes to mynistr in: accordyng to all that the Lozde commaunded Moyses: euē to the chyldren of Israel made all the woike. And Moyses behelde all the woike: & se / they had done it euē as the Lozde commaunded: and then Moyses blessed them.

The tabernacle is reared by. The glozpe of the Lozde appereth in a clowde coueryng the tabernacle.

The. xl. Chapter.

And the Lozde spake unto Moyses saying: In the fyrt dape of the fyrt month shalt thou sett by the habitacio of the tabernacle of witness / and put therein the arche of witness / & couer the arche with the bayle / & bynge in the table & apparell it / & bynge in the candelstiche and put on his lampes / and sett the cens altar of golde before the arche of witness / and put the hangyng of the doze unto the habitacion. And set the burntoffring altar before the doze of the tabernacle of witness / & sett the lauer betwene the tabernacle of witness & the altar / & put water therein / and make the court rounde aboute / and sett by the hangyng of the courte gate.

* And take the anoynting oyle and anoynt the habitacio & all that is therein / & halowe * Exod. xxx. c. it and all that belongeth therto: that it may be holpe. And anoynte the altar of the burntoffrynges & all his vessels / and sanctifye the altar that it may be moost holy. And anoynte also the lauer & his sote / & sanctifye it.

Chan bynge Aaron and hys sonnes unto the doze of the tabernacle of witness / and wash them with water. And he put the table in the tabernacle of witness in the north syde of the habitation toly out the baple/ and set the bze in syde befoze the Lorde/ euen as the Lorde had commaunded Moses.

And he put the candelllicke in the tabernacle of witnessse ouer agaynst the table in the south syde of the habytacyon/ and set vp the lampes befoze the Loyde: as the Loyde commaunded Moyses. And he put the golden altar in the tabernacle of witnessse befoze the bayle/ and byrent swete cens thereon as the Loyde commaunded Moyses. And set vp the hangynge in the doze of the habytacyon/ and set the burnt offering altar befoze the doze of the tabernacle of witnessse, and offered burnt offrynges and meato offrynges thereon as the Loyde commaunded Moyses.

And he set the lauer betwene the tabernacle of witness and the altar, and poured water therein to wash in all. And both Moses / And a hye sonnes washed their hands / and their feet therat: both when they went in to the tabernacle of witness / or when they went to the altar / as the Lord commanded Moses. And he reared by the court rounde about the habytacyn and the altar / & set by the hanging of the court gate: and so Moses finished the worke.

Table.iii. Chapter.

N If any man brynge a* peaceoffring of the oren: whether it be male or female, he shall brynge soche as is without blemish/before the Lorde: a let hym put his hande vpon the heed of his offering/and kyll it before the doze of the tabernacle of witnesse. And Barons sommes the p*reastes shall spynkle the blood vpo the alter rounde aboute. And they shall offre of the peaceoffring to be a sacrifice vnto the Lorde: the fatt that couereth the inwardes a all the fatt that is vpo the inwardes: a the two hydneys with the fatt that lyeth vpo the lornes: and the hail that is on the lyuer they shall take awaye with the hydnepes. And Barons sommes shall burne them vpon the alter with the burnt sacrifice which is vpo the woodd on the fire. That is a sacrifice of a swete sauoure vnto the Lorde.

If a man bring a peaceoffering into the Lorde from of the flocke/ whether it be male or female/ it shall be without blemish. If he offre a lambe/ he shall bring it before the Lorde/ and put his hande vpon his offerings heede/ & kyll it in the doore of the tabernacle of witness: & Barons Comers shall spynlike the bloude therof rounde about the alter.

And of the peace offering they shall brynge of all our me

¶ If the offering be a goote, he shall brynge it befoze the Lorde, & put his hande vpon the head of it, and kyll it befoze the tabernacle of witnesse, and the sonnes of Aarō shall spynkle the bloude therof vpon the alter rounde about. And he shall brynge therof his offering vnto the Lordes sacrifice: the fatt that couereth the inwardes & all the fatt that is vpon the inwardes & the two kidneies & the fatt that lyeth vpon them and vpon the lynes, & he shall he is vpon the lyuer he shall take away with he kidneies. And the Priest shall burne them vpon the alter to fede the Lorde sacrifice to make a swete sauoure. And thus shall all the fatt be the Lordes, and it shall be a lawe for euer amonge your generacions after you in youre dwelling places: that ye eate neither fat nor bloude.

Case

The offering made for synnes done of ignorance.

The.iii. Chapter.

And the Lord spake unto Moses saying: speake unto the chyldren of Israel & saye: when a soule synneth thowow ignorance/and hath done any of those thinge/ which the Lord hath for hydden in his commaundmentes to be done: yf the Preat that is anoynted synne & make & people to do amysse/ he shall bynge for his synne which he hath done: an oxe without blemyshe vnto the Lord for a synneoffring. And he shall bynge the oxe vnto the doze of the tabernacle of witness before the Lord: & shall put his hande vpon the oxe heade/ and kyll hym before the Lord. And the Preat that is anoynted shall take of the oxe bloude/ and bynge it in to the tabernacle of witness/ & shall byppe his finger in the bloude & spynke therof. his synnes before the Lord: euen before the hanging of the holy place. And he shall put some of the bloude vpon the hornes of the alter of sweete cens before the Lord which is in the tabernacle of witness/ & shall pour all the bloude of the oxe vpon the botome of the alter of burntofferings which is by the doze of the tabernacle of witness. And he shall take awaye all the fat of the oxe that is the synne offering: the fat that couereth the inwardes and all the fat that is aboute them/ & the.ii. kidneys with the fat that lyeth vpon the.ii. vpon the loynes/ and the kail vpon the lyuer let them take awaye also the kidneys: as it was taken fro the oxe of the peaceoffring/ & let the Preat burne them vpon the altare of burntofferings. But the synne of the oxe & all his flesch with his heede/ his legges/ his inwardes with his dōge/ shall he carpe altogether out of the holte vnto a cleane place: euē where the adhes are poured out/ & burne him on woodd with fyre: euen vpon the heape of adhes. If the hole comenalte of the chyldren of Israel synne thowow ignorance/ & the thing be hyd from their eyes: so that they haue comyncted any of these thinges which the Lord hath forhydden to be done in his commaundmentes and haue offended/ & the synne whiche they haue sinned be afterwarde knowne/ then shall they offre an oxe for a synneoffring/ & shall bynge him before the tabernacle of witness/ & the elders of the multitude shall put their handes vpon his heede before the Lord. * And the Preat that is anoynted shall bynge of his bloude into the tabernacle of witness/ & shall byppe his finger in the bloude/ and spynke it seue tymes before the Lord: euē before the bayle. And shall put of the bloude vpon the hornes of the alter which is before the Lord in the tabernacle of witness/ and shall pour all the bloude vpon the botome of the alter of burntofferings which is by the doze of the tabernacle of witness/ & shall take all his fat from hym/ & burne it vpon the alter/ & shall do with his oxe as he dyd with the synneoffring oxe. And the Preat shall make an attonement for them/ & so it shall be forgeuen the. And he shall bynge the oxe without the holte/ & burne him as he burned the fyre: so is this the synneoffring of the comenalte. When a Lord synneth and comyncteth thowow ignorance any of these thinges which the Lord his God hath forhydden to be done in his commaundmentes & hath so offended: when his synne is shewed vnto hym/ whiche he hath synned/ he shall bynge for his synne an he goote without blemyshe & laye his hande vpon the heede of it/ & kyll it in the place where the burntofferings are kyled before the Lord: this is a synneoffring. Then let the Preat take of the bloude of the synne offering with his synger/ & put it vpon the hornes of the burntoffring alter/ and poure his bloude vpon the botome of the burntoffring alter/ & burne all his fat vpon the alter/ as he dothe the fat of the peaceoffring. And the Preat shall make an attonement for hym as concerning his synne/ and so it shall be forgeuen hym. If one of the comē people of the lande synne thowow ignorance & comyncteth any of the thinges which the Lord hath forhydden in his commaundmentes to be done & so hath trespassed/ when his synne which he hath synned is come to his knowlege/ he shall bynge for his offering/ & the goote without blemyshe for his synne which he hath synned/ and laye his hande vpon the heede of the synneoffring/ & see it in the place of burntofferings. * And the Preat shall take of the bloude with his synger/ & put it vpon the hornes of the burntoffring alter/ & poure all the bloude vpon the botome of the alter/ & shall take awaye all his fat as the fat of the peaceoffringes is taken awaye. And the Preat shall burne it vpon the alter for a sweete sauoure vnto the Lord/ and the Preat shall make an attonement for hym/ & it shall be forgeuen hym. If he bynge a lambe & offer it for a synne offering/ he shall bynge a female without blemyshe/ & laye his hande vpon the heede of the synneoffring/ & see it in the place where the burntofferings are layne. And the Preat shall take of the bloude of the synneoffring with his synger/ and put it vpon the hornes of the burntoffring alter/ & shall poure all the bloude therof vnto the botome of the alter. * And he shall take awaye all the fat therof/ as the fat of the shepe of the peaceoffringes was taken awaye. And the Preat shall burne it vpon the alter for the Lordes sacrifice/ and the Preat shall shall make an attonement for his synne/ and it shall be forgeuen hym.

The cleansynge of hym that toucheth vnclene thynges. The purgacion of an othe and of synne done by ignorance.

The.v. Chapter.

When a soule hath synned & berde a bope of cursynge & is a wytnesse: whether he hath sene or knowne of it yf he haue not uttered it/ he shall bere his synne. Either when a man toucheth any vnclene thyng: whether it be the carpon of an vnclene best or of vnclene cattell or vnclene woyme & is not warre of it he is also vnclene & hath offended. Either when he toucheth any vncleneste of man/ what so euer vncleneste it be that a man is defyled with all/ & is not warre of it and afterwarde cometh to the knowlege of it/ he is a trespasser. Either when a soule sweareth: so that he pronoceth to his synnes to do euill or to do good (whatsoeuer it be) & a man pronoceth with an othe/ and the thyng be out of his mynde & afterwarde cometh to the knowlege of it/ then he hath offended in one of these. Then when he hath synned in one of these thinges/ he shall confesse that wherin he hath synned/ and shall bynge for his trespassoffring vnto the Lord for his synne which he hath synned. A female from the flocke whether it be a lambe or a the goote/ for a synneoffring. And the Preat shall make an attonement for hym for his synne. * But yf he be not able to bynge a shepe/ then let hym bynge for his trespass which he hath synned two turtill doves or two younge pygeons vnto the Lord/ one for a synneoffring and another for a burntoffring. And he shall bynge them vnto the Preat whiche shall offer the synneoffring fyre/ & wynges & necke a lundre of it/ but pluche it not cleane of. And let hym spynke of the bloude of the synneoffring vpon the fyre of the alter/ and let the reste of the bloude blede vpon the botome of the alter/ & then it is a synneoffring. And let hym offer the second for a burntoffring as the maner is: & so shall the Preat make an attonement for hym for the synne whiche he hath synned/ and it shall be forgeuen hym. And yet yf he be not able to bynge two turtill doves or two younge pygeons/ then let hym bynge his offering for his synne: the tenth parte of an epha of fyne flour for a synneoffring/ but put none oyle thereto nether put any franchences therof/ for it is a synneoffring. And let hym bynge it to the Preat/ & the Preat shall take his hand full of it/ & burne it vpon the alter for a remembrance to be a sacrifice for the Lord: that is a synneoffring. And let the Preat make an attonement for hym for his synne (whatsoeuer of these he hath synned) and it shall be forgeuen. And the remnaunte shall be the Preats/ as it is in the meatoffring.

And the Lord comened to Moses saying: When a soule trespaceth & synneth thowow ignorance in any of the holy thynges of the Lord/ he shall bynge for his trespass vnto the Lord a ram without blemyshe out of the flocke valued at two spels after the spele of the sanctuary/ for a trespassoffring. And he shall make amendes for the harme that he hath done in the holy thyng/ & put the fyfte parte more to/ & geue it vnto the Preat. And the Preat shall make an attonement for him with the ram of the trespassoffring/ and it shall be forgeuen hym.

When a soule synneth & comyncteth any of these thinges which are forhydden to be done by the commaundmentes of the Lord: though he wyl it not/ he hath yet offended & is in synne/ & shall bynge a ram without blemyshe out of the flocke that is esteemed to be worth a synneoffring/ vnto the Preat. And the Preat shall make an attonement for hym for the ignorance which he dyd/ & was not warre/ and it shall be forgeuen hym. This is a trespassoffring/ for he trespassed agaynst the Lord.

The offerings for synnes which are done wyllyngly. The lawe of the burntofferings. The fyre must abyde euermore vpon the auter. The offerings of Aaron and his sonnes.

The.vi. Chapter.

And the Lord talked with Moses saying: when a soule synneth and trespaceth agaynst the Lord/ and denyed vnto his neyghboure that which was taken hym to kepe/ or that was put vnder his hande/ or that which he hath violently taken awaye/ or that which he hath decaued his neyghboure of to sorpise/ or hath sounde that which was loste and denyeth it/ & sweareth falsely/ in whatsoeuer thinge it be that a man doth & synneth therein. Then whē he hath synned or trespassed/ he shall restore agayne that he toke vvolently awaye/ or the tolonge which he dyd/ or that which was dequered hym to kepe/ or the lost thinge which he founde/ or whatsoeuer it be aboute which he hath sworne falsely/ * he shall restore it agayne in the whole summe/ and shall adde vnto the fyfte parte more thereto/ & geue it vnto godrepentance hym to whome it pertaigneth/ the same daye as he offereth for his trespass/ & shall bynge for his trespassoffring vnto the Lord a full cariffaced ram without blemyshe out of the flocke/ that is esteemed worth a trespassoffring vnto the Preat. And the Preat shall make an attonement for hym before the Lord/ & it shall be for-

be forgiven hym/in whatsover thyng it be that a man doth & trespasseth therein.

And the Lorde spake vnto Moyses saying: Commande Aaron and his sonnes saying: this is the lawe of the burnt offering. The burnt offering shall be by the hart of the altar all nyghte vnto the morninge / & the fyre of the altar shall burne therein. And the Priest shall put on hye linnen albe and his linnen breeches by the hart of the altar / & take awaye the ashes which the fyre of the burnt sacrifice in the altar hath made / & put the besyde the altar / & then put of his rayment & put on other / and carpe the ashes out without the host vnto a cleane place.

The fyre that is vpon the altar shall burne therein & not go out. And the Priest shall put wood on the fyre euery morninge / & put the burnt sacrifice vpon it / & he shall burne thereon the fatt of the peace offerings. The fyre shall euery burne vpon the altar / & neuer go out.

This is the lawe of the meat offering. Aarons sonnes shall bynge it before the Lorde vnto the altar: and one of them shall take his hand full of the flour of the meat offering & of the oyle with all the franchencys which is thereon / & shall burne it vnto a remembrance vpon the altar to be a sweete sauoure of the memoypail of it vnto the Lorde. And the rest thereof / Aaron & his sonnes shall eate blesyd: it shall be eaten in the holy place: euē in the court of the tabernacle of witness they shall eat it. The best parte which I haue geue them of my sacrifice shall not be baken with leue / for it is most holpe / as is the synne offering / & trespass offering. All the males amonge the chyldren of Aaron shall eat of it: and it shall be a butye for euer vnto youre generations of the sacrifices of the Lorde / neither shall any man touche it / but he is halowed.

And the Lorde spake vnto Moyses saying: this is the offering of Aaron & of his sonnes which he shall offer vnto the Lorde in the daye when they are anoynted: the feth parte of an epha of flour / which is a dayly meat offering perpetually: halfe in the morninge & halfe at nyghte: & in the fryenge pan it shall be made with oyle. And when it is fryed / thou shalt bynge it in as a baken meat offering mynled small / & shalt offer it for a sweete sauoure vnto the Lorde. And that priest of his sonnes that is anoynted in his steade shall offer it: & it shall be the Lorde butye for euer / & it shall be burnt all together. For all the meat offerings of the Priest shall be burnt all together / & shall not be eat. And the Lorde talked with Moyses saying: speake vnto Aaron & vnto his sonnes saying: this is the lawe of the synne offering. In the place where the burnt offering is bylled / shall the synne offering be bylled also before the Lorde / for it is most holpe. The Priest that offereth it shall eat it in the holy place: euē in the court of the tabernacle of witness. None shall touche the flesh thereof / saue he that is halowed. And if any rayment be spynkled therewith / it shall be washed in the holy place / & the erthe pot that it is soden in shall be broken. If it be sodden in brasse then the pot shall be scoured & ryned in the water. All the males amonge the Priestes shall eat thereof / for it is most holpe. Notwithstandinge no synne offering that hath hye bloude brought into the tabernacle of witness to reconcile with all in the holy place / shall be eaten: but shall be burnt in the fyre.

Trespass offerings. Synne offerings and peace offerings. The fatt and the bloude maye not be eaten.

The viij. Chapter.

This is the lawe of the trespass offering which is most holpe. In the place where the burnt offering is bylled / the trespass offering shall be bylled also: & his bloude shall be spynkled rounde aboute by the altar. And all the fatt thereof shall be offered: the rompe and the fat that couered the inwardes / & the li. kydneyes with the fatt & lyeth on the li. by the loynes / & the hall on the lyuer shall be take awaye by the kydneyes: & the Priest shall burne them vpon the altar / to be an offering vnto the Lorde: this is a trespass offering.

All the males amonge the Priestes shall eat thereof in the holy place / for it is most holpe. As the synne offering is so is the trespass offering / one lawe serueth for both: & it shall be the Priestes that reconcileth therewith. And the Priest that offered a mans burnt offering / shall haue the skynne of the burnt offering which he hath offered. And all the meat offerings that are baken in the oven / and all that is dyed vpon the gredden and in the fryenge pan / shall be the Priestes that offereth them. And all the meat offerings that are mynled in oyle or bye / shall pertaine vnto all the sonnes of Aarons / & one shall haue as moche as another. This is the lawe of the peace offerings which shall be offered vnto the Lorde. If he offer to geue thankes / he shall bynge vnto his thank offering: sweete cakes mynled with oyle and sweete wafers anoynted with oyle / & cakes mynled with oyle of syne flour fryed / & he shall bynge his offering vpon cakes made of leuened byed vnto the thank offering of his peace offerings / & of them all he shall offer one to be an heue offering vnto the Lorde / and it shall be the Priestes that spynkled the bloude of the peace offerings. And the flesh of the thank offering of hye peace offerings shall be eaten the same daye that it is offered / and there shall none of it be layde by vntill the morninge.

If it be a home or a fre wyll offering that he byngeth / the same daye that he offereth it / it shall be eaten / & that which remaineth may be eaten on the morowe: but as moche of the offering as is left / shall be burnt with fyre. For if any of the peace offerings be eaten in the thyrde daye then shall he be offered it optayne no sauour / neither shall it be rekened vnto hym: but shall be an abhominacion / and the soule that eateth of it shall beare the synne thereof. The flesh that toucheth any vnclene thyng shall not be eaten / but burnt with fyre: & all that be cleane in their flesh / maye eat flesh. If any soule eat of the flesh of a peace offering that pertaine vnto the Lorde / and his vnclennesse be vpon hym / the same soule shall perishe from amonge hye people. Moreover if a soule touche any vnclene thing / whether it be the vnclennesse of man or of any vnclene beast or any abhominacion that is vnclene: and then eat of the flesh of the peace offering which pertaine vnto the Lorde / that soule shall perishe from his people.

And the Lorde spake vnto Moyses saying: speake vnto the chyldren of Israel and saye: Ye shall eat no manner fatt of oxen / shepe or gootes: neuer the fatt of the beast & dyeth alone & the fatt of that which is to be with wyde beasts / maye be occupied in all manner of uses: but ye shall in no wise eat of it. For whosoever eateth the fatt of the beast of which men bynge an offering vnto the Lorde / that soule that eateth it shall perishe from his people. Moreover ye shall eat no manner of bloud / whersoever ye dwell / whether it be of soule or of beast. Whosoever soule it be that eateth any manner of bloude the same soule shall perishe from his people.

And the Lorde talked with Moyses saying: speake vnto the chyldren of Israel & saye: he that offereth his peace offering vnto the Lorde / shall bynge his gyfte vnto the Lorde of his peace offerings: his awne handes shall bynge the offering of the Lorde: euē the fatt vpon the best he shall bynge with the best to waite it a waile offering before the Lorde. And the Priest shall burne the fatt vpon the altar / & the best shall be Aarons & his sonnes. And he byngt shoulde they shall geue vnto the Priest / to be an heue offering / of their peace offerings. And the same that offereth the bloud of the peace offerings & the fatt / amonge the sonnes of Aarons shall haue the right shoulde vnto hye parte / for the waue best & the heue shoulde I haue taken of the chyldren of Israel / euē of their peace offerings / & haue geue it vnto Aarons the Priest & vnto hye sonnes: to be a butye for euer of the chyldren of Israel.

This is the anoyntinge of Aaron & of the sacrifices of the Lorde / in the daye when the were offered to the Priest vnto the Lorde / which the Lorde commaunded to be geue them in the daye when he anoynted the / of the chyldren of Israel / & to be a butye for euer amonge their generations. This is the lawe of burnt offerings / of meat offerings / of synne offerings / of trespass offerings / of heue offerings / of peace offerings / which the Lorde commaunded Moyses in the mount of Synai / in the daye when he commaunded the chyldren of Israel to offer their offerings vnto the Lorde in the wilderness of Synai.

The xij. Chapter.
And the Lorde spake vnto Moyses saying: take Aaron & hye sonnes with him / & the bestures & the anoynting oyle / & an oxe for a synne offering & two rammes & a basket of sweete byed: & gather all the comentye to gather vnto the doze of the tabernacle of witness. And Moyses byd as the Lorde commaunded hym / & the people gathered the selues to gather vnto the doze of the tabernacle of witness. And Moyses sayde vnto the people: this is the thing which the Lorde commaunded to do.

And Moyses brought Aaron & hye sonnes & washed them with water / & put vpon him the albe & geyded hym with a geydel / & put vpon him the tunicle / & put the ephod theron / and geyded hym with the byrded geydel of the ephod / & bounde it vnto hym therewith. And he put the byrdlappes theron / and put in the byrdlappes / & in and & humim. And he put the myter vpon his heed / & put vpon the myter euen vpon the forefront of the goldden plate of the holy crowne / as the Lorde commaunded Moyses.

And Moyses toke the anoynting oyle and anoynted the habitacyon & all that was therein / and sanctified them / & spynkled therof by the altar seue tymes / and anoynted the altar & all his bestures / & the lauer with his sote / to sanctifye them. And he poured of the anoynting oyle vpon Aarons heed / and anoynted hym to sanctifye hym. And he brought Aarons sonnes & put albes vpon them / & geyded them with geydels / and put bonettes vpon their heedes: as the Lorde commaunded Moyses.

And the synne offering was brought. And Aaron & hye sonnes put their handes vpon the heed of the oxe of the synne offering. And when it was slayne / Moyses toke of the bloud / & put it vpon the hornes of the altar rounde aboute to his lynger / & purified it / & poured the bloud vnto the botome of the altar & sanctified it & reconcyled it. And he toke all the fatt that was vpon the inwardes / & the hall that was on the lyuer and the two kydneyes with with their fatt / & burned it vpon the alter. But the ore / the hyde / hys flesh and hys donge / he burnt wth fyre without the hofte / as the Lorde commaunded Moyses.

And he brought the ram of ^{the} burnt offering / & Aaron & his sonnes put their handes vpon the head of the ram / & it was kylled. And Moyses spynkled the blood vpon the alter rounde about / and cut the ram in peces & burnt the head / the peces & the fatte / & washed the inwardes & the legges in water / and burnt the ram euery whyle vpon the alter. That was a burnt offering of a sweete sauoure / and an offering vnto the Lorde / as the Lorde commaunded Moyses.

And he brought the other ram that was ^{the} burnt offering / & Aaron & his sonnes put their handes vpon the head of the ram: and when it was slayne / Moyses toke of the bloude of it / & put it vpon the tyype of Aarons ryghte eare / and vpon the thombe of his ryght hand & vpon the great too of hys ryghte fote. Then were Aarons sonnes brought / and Moyses put of the bloude on the tyype of the ryghte eare of them / and vpon the thombes of their ryghte handes / and vpon the greates tooes of their righte fete / and spynkled the blood vpon the alter rounde aboute.

And he toke the fatt and the rompe and all the fatt that was vpon the inwardes / and the hall of ^{the} liver / & the ^{is} hydneys with their fatt and their ryghte shoulder. And out of the basket of sweete bread that was before the Lorde / he toke one sweete cake of oyled bread & one wafer / & put them on the fatt & vpon ^{the} ryghte shoulder: & put altogether vpon Aarons handes & vpon hys sonnes handes / and waued it a waue offering before the Lorde. And then Moyses toke the f^rst of their handes agayne / & burnt them vpon the alter / euen vpon the burnt offering. These are the buloffringes of a sweete sauoure & a sacrifice vnto the Lorde. And Moyses toke ^{the} breste & waued it a waue offering before ^{the} Lorde / of the ram of the buloffringes: and it was Moyses parte / as the Lorde commaunded Moyses.

And Moyses toke of the anoynting oyle of the bloude which was vpon the alter / and spynkled it vpon Aaron & vpon his bestmentes & vpon his sonnes & on their bestmentes with hym / & sanctified Aaron & his bestmentes & his sonnes & his sonnes bestmentes also. Then Moyses sayde vnto Aaron & his sonnes: boyle the flesh in ^{the} doze of the tabernacle of witness / & there ^{is} eate it with the bread that is in the basket of buloffringes / as the Lorde commaunded / saying: Aaron and his sonnes shall eate it: & that which remaineth of the flesh and of the bread / burne it with fyre.

And se that ye departe not from the dooze of the tabernacle of witness leue dayes longe vntill the dayes of youre buloffringes be at an ende. For buloffringes must youre handes be fylled / as they were this day: euen so ^{the} Lorde hath commaunded to do / so reconcile you with all. He therfore that ye abyde in the doze of the tabernacle of witness daye & nyght leue dayes longe: & kepe the watche of the Lorde that ye dye not: for so I am commaunded. And Aard & his sonnes vnd all thinges which the Lorde commaunded by the hande of Moyses.

The fyre offeringes of Aaron / for hym selfe and for the people. Aaron blessed the people. The gloire of the Lorde was shewed. The fyre consuming ite om aboute consumeth the sacrifice.

The .ix. Chapter.

And the .viij. daye Moyses called Aaaron & his sonnes / & ^{the} elders of Israel / & sayde vnto Aard: take a calfe for a synne offering / & a ram for a burnt offering: both without blemyshe / & bring them before the Lorde. And vnto the chyldren of Israel he spake saying: take ye an he goote for a synne offering / & a calfe & a lambe bothe two of a yere olde / & without blemyshe for a burnt sacrifice / & an ore & a ram for peaceoffringes / to offer before ^{the} Lorde / & a meateoffring myngled wth oyle / for to daye ^{the} Lorde wyll appere vnto you. And they brought ^{the} which Moyses commaunded vnto the tabernacle of witness / & all the people came & stode before the Lorde. And Moyses sayde: this is the thyng which the Lorde commaunded that ye shulde do: and then the gloire of the Lorde shall appere vnto you. And Moyses sayde vnto Aard: go vnto the alter & offer thy synne offering / & make an attonement for the and for the people: and then offer the offering of the people / and reconcile them also / as the Lorde commaunded Moyses.

And Aaron went vnto the alter / and slawe the calfe that was his synne offering. And the sonnes of Aaron brought the bloude vnto hym / & he dypte hys finger in the bloude and put it vpon the hornes of the alter / & poured the bloude vnto the botome of the alter. And the fatt & the two hydneys with the hall of the liver of the synne offering / he burnt vpon the alter / as the Lorde commaunded Moyses: but the flesh & the hyde / he burnt with fyre without the hofte. Afterwarde he slawe the burnt offering / & Aarons sonnes brought the bloude vnto hym / and he spynkled it rounde about vpon the alter. And they brought the burnt offering vnto him in peces & the head also / and he burnt it vpon the alter / and dyd waue the inwardes and the legges / & burnt them also vpon the burnt offering in the alter.

And then he brought the peoples offering & toke the goote that was the peoples synne offering offring / & slawe it & offered it for a synneoffring: as he dyd the fyre. And then brought the burnt offering / & offered it as the maner was / & brought the meateoffring & fylled his hande therof / & burnt it vpon the alter / besyde the burnt sacrifice in the moynge.

Then he slawe the ore & the ram that were the peoples peaceoffringes / & Aarons sonnes brought the bloude vnto hym / & he spynkled it vpon the alter rounde about / and toke the fatt of the ore & of the ram: the rope and the fatt that couereth the inwardes and the hydneys & the hall of the liver: & put them vpon the brestes & burnt it vpon the alter: but the brestes and the ryghte shoulders Aard waued before the Lorde / as the Lorde commaunded Moyses. And Aaron lyfte by hys hande over the people & blessed the / & came doune from offering of synneoffringes / burnt offeringes & peaceoffringes. Then Moyses & Aaron went in to the tabernacle of witness / & came out agayne and blessed the people / and the gloire of the Lorde appered vnto all ^{the} people. And there came a fyre out from before the Lorde / and consumed vpon the alter the burnt offering and the fatt. And all the people sawe it / and shewed / and felle on their faces.

Nadab and Abihu are slayne. Israel mourneth for them. The priests are forbidden wyne. The rest of the sacrifice the priests eate.

The .x. Chapter.

And Nadab and Abihu the sonnes of Aaron toke ether of the ^{the} censers / & put fyre therein / and put censers vpon / & broughte straunge fyre before the Lorde: which he commaunded the not / & there went a fyre out from the Lorde / and consumed the / & they dyed before the Lorde. Then Moyses sayde vnto Aaron: this is that the Lorde spake saying: I will be sanctified in the that come nye me / & before all the people I wyll be glorified. And Aaron helde hys peace. And Moyses called Eliael and Elisaphan the sonnes of Oziel the vncle of Aard / and sayde vnto them: goo to and carpe youre brethren fro the holy place out of the hofte. And they went to them / and carped them in their albes out of the hofte / as Moyses bad.

And Moyses sayde vnto Aard & vnto Eleazar & Ithamar his eldest sonnes: vnto you not your heed nether rent your clothes / lest ye dye and wrath come vpon all the people / let your brethren the hole house of Israel beweepe the burninge whyche the Lorde hath burnt. But go ye not out fro the doze of the tabernacle of witness / lest ye dye: for the anoynting oyle of the Lorde is vpon you. And they dyd as Moyses bad.

And the Lorde spake vnto Aaron saying: dyncke no wyne no stronge dyncke / nether thou no thy sonnes with the: when ye go in to the tabernacle of witness / lest ye dye. And let it be a lawe for euer vnto youre chyldren after you: that ye may put difference betwene holy & unholy / & betwene vncleane & cleane / and that ye may teach the chyldren of Israel all the ordynances which the Lorde hath commaunded them by the handes of Moyses.

And Moyses sayde vnto Aaron and vnto Eleazar & Ithamar hys sonnes ^{the} were left: take the meateoffring that remaineth of the sacrifices of the Lorde / & eate it without leuen besyde the alter / for it is most holy: eate it therfore in the holy place / because it is thy butte and thy sonnes butte of the sacrifice of the Lorde: for so I am commaunded. And the wauebrest & heue shoulder eate in a cleane place: bothe thou & thy sonnes & thy doughsters with the: for it is thy butte & thy sonnes butte with the / of the peaceoffringes of the chyldren of Israel. For the heue shoulder & the wauebrest whyche they byngne with the sacrifice of the fatt / to waue it before the Lorde / shalbe thine & thy sonnes with the: and be a lawe for euer / as the Lorde hath commaunded.

And Moyses soughte for the goote ^{the} was the synneoffring / and se it was burnt. And he was angrie with Eleazar & Ithamar the sonnes of Aaron / whyche were lefte a lyue saying: wherfore haue ye not eate the synneoffring in the holy place / for it is most holy: and for as moche as it is geuen you to bere the synne of the people / and make agreement for the before the Lorde? Beholde / the bloude of it was not brought in within the holy place / as I commaunded. And Aard sayde vnto Moyses: beholde thys daye haue they offered their synneoffring & their burnt offering before the Lorde / and it is chaunced me after thys maner. If I shulde eate of the synneoffring to daye / wolde the Lorde be content with all? And when Moyses hearde that / he was content.

clij. And

And the Lord spake unto Moses and Aaron saying: speaks unto the children of Israel & saye: these are the beastes which ye shall eat amonge all the beastes that are on the erth: what soeuer hath hoofe and deuydeth it in to two clawes & cheweth cud amonge the beastes that shall ye eat. Neuerthelesse these shall ye not eat of the that chewe cud & haue hoofes. The camel/for he cheweth cud but he deuydeth not the hoofe in to two clawes/therfore he shall be vnclene vnto you. And the coney for he cheweth the cud but deuydeth not the hoofe in to two clawes/therfore he is vnclene to you. And the hare/for he lyke wyse cheweth the cud/but deuydeth not the hoofe in to two clawes/he is therfore vnclene to you. And the swyne/for though he deuyde the hoofe in to ii. clawes/yet he cheweth not the cud/& therfore is vnclene to you. Of their flesh se that ye eat not/& their carkasses se that ye touche not/for they are vnclene to you.

These shall ye eat of all that are in the waters: what soeuer hath finnes & scales in the waters/ sees & ryuers / & shall ye eat. And all that haue not finnes & scales in the sees and ryuers of all that moue & lyue in the waters shall ye abhorre. Se that ye eat not of their flesh/and also that ye abhorre their carkasses: for all that haue no finnes nor scales in the waters/ shall be abominaciō vnto you. These are the foules which ye shall abhorre & which shall not be eatē/for they are an abominaciō. The eagle/the goshauke/the cozmozauite/the hyrte/the bulwar & all his kynde & all kynde of rauens/the estrich/the night-crowe/the cocow/the sparowhaue/& all the kynde: the lytle oule/the doxche/the great oule/the bach/the pellicane/the pye/the heron/the iaye with the kynde/& lappwinge & the swalowe. And all foules that crepe and goo vpon all fourte shall be an abominacyon vnto you.

Yet these maye ye eat of all the foules that moue and goo apon. iiii. fete: euen those that haue no knees aboue vpon their fete to lepe wyth all vpon the erthe / euen these of them ye maye eat: the arbe & all his kynde: the Selaam with all his kynde: the Hargol and all the kynde/the Hagab & all his kynde. All other foules that moue & haue. iiii. fete/ shall be abominacyon vnto you. In soch ye shall be vnclene/whosoever touche the carkasse of the that shall be vnclene vnto the euen/& whoso ever befech the carkasse of the / shall walke his clothes/& so shall be vnclene vntill euen.

Amonge all maner beastes / that haue hoofes & deuyde the not in to two clawes or that chewe not the cud/ shall be vnclene vnto you: & all that toucheth the shall be vnclene.

And all that goeth vpon his handes amonge all maner beastes that goo on all four fete are vnclene vnto you: & as many as touche their carkasses / shall be vnclene vntill the euen. And he that beareth the carkasse of the / shall walke his clothes & be vnclene vntill the euen/for soche are vnclene vnto you.

And these are also vnclene to you amonge the thynges that crepe vpon the erth: the weasel/the moule/the toode & all his kynde/the hedgehogge/Shellio/the licerte/& Mayle & the moule: these are vnclene to you amonge all that moue / & all that touche them when they be dead/ shall be vnclene vntill the euen. And what soeuer any of the dead carkasses of them fall vpon/ shall be vnclene: what soeuer befall of woodd it be/ or rayment/ or skynne/ or bagge or what soeuer thing it be that any wyke is wroughte withall. And they shall be plunged in the water/& be vnclene vntill the euen/& then they shall be cleane agayne.

All maner of erthen vessel wher in to any of the falleth is vnclene with all that therein is: and ye shall breake it. All maner meate that is eaten/ of any soche water come vpon it/ it shall be vnclene. And all maner dyncke that is drycke in all maner soche vessels shall be vnclene. And whether it be ouer or kettel it shall be broken. For they are vnclene and shall be vnclene vnto you: Neuerthelesse/ yet the sooteynes and welles & poydes of water/ shall be cleane styll. But whosoever toucheth their carkasses/ shall be vnclene.

If the dead carkasse of any soch fall vpon any seed sowed to sow / it shall yet be cleane styll: but and yf any water be poured vpon the seed and afterward the dead carkasse of them fall thereon/ then it shall be vnclene vnto you.

If any beast of which ye maye eat dye/ be he touched by the dead carkasse shall be vnclene vntill the euen. And he that eateth of any soche dead carkasse/ shall walke his clothes & remayne vnclene vntill the euen. And he also that beareth the carkasse of it / shall walke his clothes/ and be vnclene vntill euen.

All that scrauleth vpon the erth/ is an abominacyon/ and shall not be eaten. And what soeuer goeth vpon the beast/ and what soeuer goeth vpon. iiii. or moore fete amonge all that scrauleth vpon the erth/ of that se ye eat not: for they are abominable. Make not your soules abominable with nothyng that crepeth/ neither make your soules vnclene to them: that ye shoulde be defyled thereby. For I am the Lord your God/ be sanctified therfore & ye maye be holy/ for I am holy: & defile not your soules with any maner thing that creepeth vpon the erth. For I am the Lord that brought you out of the lande of Egypt to be your God: be holy therfore/ for I am holy.

Chap.

This is the lawe of beast & foule & of all maner thyng that lyueth and moueth in the water & of all thynges that crepe vpon the erth/ that ye maye put difference betwene vnclene & cleane/ & betwene the beastes that are eatē and the beastes that are not eaten.

And the lawe how women shoulde be purged after their defoulement.

The xii. Chapter.

And the Lord spake vnto Moses/ & sayde: speake vnto the chyldre of Israel & saye: when a woman hath conceaued/ and hath borne a man chyld/ the shall be vnclene. vii. dayes: euen in lyke maner as whē she is put aparte in tyme of hye naturall disease. And in the viii. daye the flesh of the chyldes foreskynne shall be cut awaye. And she shall continue in the bloude of hye purgynge. xxiij. dayes / the shall touche no halowed thyng nor come into the sanctuary/ vntill the tyme of hye purgynge be out. If she were a mayde chyld / then she shall be vnclene two weekes / as whē she hath hye naturall disease. And she shall continue in the bloude of hye purgynge. lxi. dayes.

And when the dayes of hye purgynge are out: whether it be a sonne or a daughter/ the shall bynge a lambe of one yere olde for a burnt offering and a pouge pigeon or a turtell dove for a synne offering vnto the doore of the tabernacle of witness vnto the Priest: which shall offer them before the Lord/ & make an attonement for her/ and so she shall be purged of hye yfure of bloude. * This is the lawe of her that hath borne a chyld / whether it be male or female. But and yf she be not able to bynge a shepe/ then let her bynge two turtys or two pouge pygeons: the one for the burnt offering/ and the other for the synne offering. And the Priest shall make an attonement for her/ & she shall be cleane.

The Priestes are appointed to iudge who are Lepers.

The xlii. Chapter.

And the Lord spake vnto Moses & vnto Aaron saying: when there appeareth a rising in any mans flesh whether a scabbe or a glistring white: as though the plague of leprosy were in the skynne of his flesh/ then let hym be brought vnto Aaron the Priest or vnto one of his sonnes the Priestes/ & let the Priest loke on the soze & is in the skynne of his flesh. If the hayre in the soze be turned vnto white/ & the soze also seme to be lower then the skynne of his flesh/ then it is surely a leprosy/ & let the Priest loke on hym/ & iudge hym vnclene.

If there be but a white pliche in the skynne of his flesh/ and seme not to be lower then the other skynne nor the hayre thereof is turned vnto whyte: then let the Priest shut hym by seuen dayes. And let the Priest loke vpon hym the viij. daye: yf the soze seme to hym to abyde styll & to go no further in the skynne / then let the Priest shut hym by yet. viij. dayes moore. And let the Priest loke on hym agayne the. viij. daye. Then yf the soze be waxed blacke/ & is not growen abrode in the skynne / let the Priest make hym cleane/ for it is but a chyrse. And let hym walke his clothes/ & then he is cleane. But yf the scabbe growe in the skynne after that he is sene of the Priest agayne. If the Priest se the scabbe be growen abrode in the skynne/ let hym make hym vnclene: for it is surely a leprosy.

If the plague of leprosy be in a mans flesh/ let hym be brought vnto the Priest/ & let the Priest se hym. If the rynginge appeare whyte in the skynne/ & haue also made the hayre whyte/ & there be rawe flesh in the soze also: then it is an olde leprosy in the skynne of his flesh. And the Priest shall iudge hym vnclene/ and shall not shut hym by for he is vnclene.

If a leprosy breake out in the skynne and couer all the skynne fro the heed to the soote ouer all whersoer the Priest lokeith/ then let the Priest loke vpon hym. If the leprosy haue couered all his flesh/ let hym iudge the disease cleane: for in as moche as he is aliogethe ther whyte he is therfore cleane. But and yf ther be rawe flesh on hym whē he is sene/ then let the Priest iudge hym vnclene. And whē the Priest se the rawe flesh / let hym iudge hym vnclene. For in as moche as his flesh is rawe / he is vnclene & it is surely a true leprosy. But yf the rawe flesh departe agayne & chasge vnto whyte/ then let hym come to the Priest/ & let the Priest se hym: If the soze be chaunged vnto whyte/ let the Priest iudge the disease cleane/ and then he is cleane.

When there is a byle in the skynne of any mans flesh & is healed & after in the place of the byle there appeare a white rynginge ether a chynge whyte somewhat redde/ let hym be sene of the Priest. If when the Priest seyth hym it appeare lower then the other skynne & the hayre thereof be chaunged vnto white/ let the Priest iudge hym vnclene: for it is a be-ry leprosy/ that is broken out in the place of the byle. But yf when the Priest lokeith on it there be no white hayres therein neither the scabbe lower then the other skynne & be somewhat blacke/ then the Priest shall shut hym aparte. viij. dayes. If it spede abrode in the meane reason / then let the Priest iudge hym vnclene: for it is a leprosy. But yf the glistringe whyte abyde styll in one place & go no further/ then it is but the printe of the byle / & the Priest shall iudge hym cleane.

with fyre that it be raine & there appere in & burning a glysterng whyte that is somewhat redyly or altogether whyte / let the pzeast loke vpon it. If the hayre in that byghnesse be chaunged to whyte / and it also appere lower then the other skynne / then it is a leprosy that is broken out of the place of the burning. And the pzeast shall iudge him bncleane / for it is a leprosy. But and yf (when the pzeast loke on it) he se that there is no whyte hayre in the byghnesse / & it is no lower then the other skynne / & that it is also blackely / then let the pzeast shut him vp four dayes. ¶ When ether man or woman hath a breaking out vpon the hced or the beere / let the pzeast se it. And yf it appere lower than the other skynne / & ther be therin golden hayres & thyn / let & pzeast iudge hym bncleane: for it is a breaking out of leprosy vpon the heed or berde. If (when the pzeast loke on the breaking out) he se that it is no lower then the other skynne & & there are blacke hayres therin / let hym shut hym vp. viij. dayes. And let & pzeast loke on the dysease the. viij. dayes: & yf the breaking out be gone no further ne-ther be any golden hayres therin nether the scabbe be lower then the other skynne / then let him be shauen / but let him not haue the scabbe: & let & pzeast shut him vp. viij. dayes moo. And let the pzeast loke on the breaking out & .viij. daye agayne: If the breaking out be gone no further in the skynne no: moare lower then & other skynne / then let & pzeast iudge hym cleane / and let hym washe his clothes / & then he is cleane. If the breaking out growe in the skynne after that he is once iudged cleane / let the pzeast see him. If it be growne abrode in dede in the skynne / let the pzeast seke no further for any golde hayres / for he is bncleane. But and yf he se that the scabbe stande still / & & there is blacke hayre growne vpon therin / then the scabbe is healed & he is cleane: & the pzeast shall iudge hym cleane. If there be founde in & skynne of the flesch of man or woman a glysterng whyte / let the pzeast se it. If there appere in their flesch a glysterng whyte somewhat blackely / then it is but freckles growe vpon & skynne: and he is cleane.

in his foreheade / then he is foreheadbaude & cleane. If there be in & haubde heed or haubde foreheade a redyly whyte scabbe / then there is leprosy spronge vpon in his haubde heed or haubde foreheade. And let the pzeast se it: and yf the rpyng of the soze be redyly whyte in his haubde heede or foreheade after & manner of a leprosy in the skynne of the flesch / then he is a leper & bncleane: & & pzeast shall iudge him bncleane / for the plage of his heed. And & the leper in whome the plage is / shall haue his clothes ryt & his heede bare & his mouth moffeld / & shall be called bncleane. And as long as the disease lasteth vpon him / he shall be bncleane: for he is bncleane / and shall therfore dwell alone / & euē without the hoste shall his habitacon be.

¶ When the plage of leprosy is in a cloth: whether it be lynn or wollen / yf & whether it be in the warpe or wolfe of the lynn or of the wollen: ether in a skynne or any thing made of skynne / yf the dysease be pale or somewhat redyly in the cloth or skynne: whether it be in the warpe or wolfe or any thyng & is made of skynne / then it is a very leprosy / & must be shewd vnto & pzeast. And whē the pzeast seyth & plage / let him shut it vp. viij. dayes / & let hym loke on & plage the. viij. daye. If it be increased in & cloth: whether it be in & warpe or wolfe or in a skynne or in any thinge that is made of skynne / then & plage is a creating leprosy: & it is bncleane: & that cloth shall be burnt / ether warpe or wolfe / whether it be wollen or lynn or any thyng that is made of skynne where in the plage is / for it is a creating leprosy: & shall be burnt in the fyre. ¶ If & pzeast se & the plage hath create no further in the cloth: ether in & warpe or wolfe or in whatsoeuer thyng of skynne it be / then let the pzeast commaunde the to washe & thyng wherein the plage is / & let hym shut it vp. viij. dayes moo. And let & pzeast loke on it agayne after & the plage is washed. If & plage haue not chaged his faction though it be lynn no further abrode / it is yet bncleane. And se & pzeast burne it in & fyre / for it is creat inward: whether in parte or in all to gether. But & yf the pzeast se & it is somewhat blackyly after that it is washed / let him ryt it out of the cloth / or out of the skynne or out of & warpe or wolfe. But & yf it appere any moare in the cloth ether in the warpe or in the wolfe or in any thyng made of skynne / then it is a warninge plage. And se & pzeast burne that in fyre / wherein the plage is. Moreover & cloth ether warpe or wolfe or whatsoeuer thyng of skynne it be which thou hast washed & the plage be departed fro it / shall be washed once agayne: & then it is cleane. & his is & lawe of & plage of leprosy in a cloth whether it be wollen or lynn: ether whether it be in the warpe or wolfe / or in any thyng made of skynnes / to iudge it cleane or bncleane.

¶ The cleansing of the leper / and of the house that he is in.

The xliij. Chapter.

¶ And the Lorde spake vnto Moses saying: * this is the lawe of a leper when he shall be censed: He shall be brought vnto the pzeast / and the pzeast shall go out without the hoste & loke vpon him. If the plage of leprosy be healed in the leper / then shall the pzeast commaunde that there be brought for hym that shall be censed two tpyngs bydes that are cleane / and cedar wood / & a peece of purple cloth and plope. And the pzeast shall commaunde & one of the bydes be fylled in an erthen vessel w tennyn water. And the pzeast shall take & tpyng byde & the cedar wood & the purple & the plope / & shall dyppe the & the tpyng byde in the bloude of the sayne byde / & in the tennyn water & sprynkle it vpon him that must be censed of his leprosy seven tymes and cense hym / & shall let the tpyng byde goo fre in to the felde.

¶ And when & .viij. daye is come / let him take .iij. lambes without blemyshe & a petrelambe of a yere olde without blemyshe / and .iij. tenth deales of fyne flour for a meatoffring myngled with oyle / and a logge of oyle. ¶ Then let the pzeast & maketh hym cleane / bynging the man & is made cleane in those thinge befoze the Lorde vnto the doze of the tabernacle of wyne. And let the pzeast take one of the lambes & offer him for a trespassoffring / & the logge of oyle: and waue them befoze the Lorde. And then let him see the lambe in the place where the synneoffring & the burnt-offring are sayne: euē in the holy place. For as the synneoffring is / euē so is the trespassoffring the pzeastes: for it is moost holy.

hand / & let him sprynkle it in his fnyger. .viij. tymes befoze the Lorde. And of the rest of the oyle that is in his hande / shall the pzeast put vpon the tpype of & righte eare of hym & is censed / & vpon the thombe of his righte hande / & vpon the great too of his righte fore: euē vpon the bloud of the trespassoffring. And the remnaunte of the oyle that is in the pzeastes hande / he shall poure vpon the heed of hym that is censed: & so shall the pzeast make an attonemēt for him befoze & Lorde.

¶ Then let the pzeast offer the synneoffring & make an attonemēt for hym that is censed for his bncleannesse. And then let & burnt-offryng be sayne / & let the pzeast put both the burnt-offryng & the meatoffring vpon the alter: & make an attonemēt for hym / & then he shall be cleane. ¶ If he be pooze & can not gett so moch / then let hym bynging one lambe for a trespassoffryng to waue it: & to make an attonemēt for him / & a tenth deale of fyne flour myngled w oyle for a meatoffring / & a logge of oyle / & two turtill doues or two yonge pigeons whiche he is able to gett / & let the one be a synneoffryng & & other a burnt-offryng. And let hym bynging the. viij. daye for his cleansing vnto the pzeast to & doze of the tabernacle of witnesse befoze the Lorde.

¶ And let the pzeast take the lambe that is the trespassoffryng & the logge of oyle / and waue them befoze the Lorde. And when the lambe of the trespassoffryng is fylled / the pzeast shall take of the bloud of the trespassoffryng / & put it vpon the tpype of his ryghte eare that is censed / & vpon the thombe of his righte hande / and vpon the greates too of his righte fore. And the pzeast shall poure of the oyle into his ryghte hande / & shall sprynkle with his fnyger of the oyle that is in his left hande seven tymes befoze the Lorde.

¶ And the pzeast shall put on the oyle that is in his hande (vpon the tpype of the righte eare of hym that is censed / & vpon the thombe of his ryghte hande / & vpon the great too of his righte fore: euē in the place where the bloude of the trespassoffring was put. And the rest of the oyle that is in his hand / he shall poure vpon the heed of hym that is censed: to make an attonemēt for hym befoze the Lorde. And he shall offer one of the turtill doues or of & yonge pigeons / soche as he can gett: the one for a synneoffryng & the other for a burnt-offryng vpon the alter. And so shall the pzeast make an attonemēt for hym that is censed befoze the Lorde. ¶ & his is the lawe of hym that hath the plage of leprosy / whose hande is not able to gett that whych pertayneth to his cleansing.

naam which I geue you to possesse: yf I put the plague of leprosy in any house of plande of youre possession / let hym that oweth the house go & tell the p̄east saying: me thynke that there is as it were a leprosy in þ house. And the p̄east shall comaunde them to ryd all thyng out of the house/before the p̄east goo in to se the plague: that he make not all that is in the house vnclene / and then the p̄east shall go in & se the house.

b. The leprosy of the howles is any thyng thereto pertaynyng/whereby the dweller might take harme in helth of body/ in hurtyng of hys goodes or otherwyse as yf it roode in an euil wyse.

If the p̄east se that the plague is in þ walles of the house/ & that there be holowe stakkes pale or redde which seme to be lower then þ other partes of the wall/ then let the p̄east go out at the house doores/ & shut by þ house of for. viij. dayes. And let þ p̄east come agayne the seuenth daye & se if the plague be increased in the walles of the house/let the p̄east comaunde them to take awaye the stones in which the plague is/ and let them cast them in a foule place without the cite/ & scrape the house within rounde about: & poure out the dust without the ctyte in a foule place. And let them take other stones/ & put them in the places of those stones/ and other morter/ and plaster the house with all. If now the plague come agayne & breake out in þ house/ after that they haue take awaye the stones & scraped the house/ & after that the house is plastered anewe: let the p̄east come & se it. And yf then he perceaue that the plague hath eatē further in the house/ then it is a fretyng leprosy that is in the house/ & it is vnclene. Then they shall breake doune þ house: both stones/ tymber & all the morter of the house/ & carrie it out of the cite vnto a foule place. Whoeuer he that goeth in to the house all the whyle that it is shut by/ shall be vnclene vntill nyght. And he that slepeth in the house shall walsh his clothes/ & he also that eateth in the house shall walsh his clothes.

But and yf the p̄east come & se that the plague hath byede no further in the house after þ it is new plastered/ then let him make it cleane/ for the plague is healed. And let hym take to cleanse the house with all: two byrd/ cedar wodd/ & purple clothe & ylope. And let hym hyl one of the byrdes in an erthe vessel with runnyng water: & take the cedar wodd/ the ylope/ the purple & the luyng byrde/ and dyppe them in the bloude of the slayne byrde & in the runnyng water/ & spynkle vpon the house seven tymes/ & cleanse the house with the bloud of the byrde & with þ runnyng water/ & with the luyng byrd/ & with the cedar wodd/ and the ylope/ and the purple clothe. And he shall lett the luyng byrde flee oute of the towne in to the wyldesfeld/ & so make an attouement for the house/ and it shalbe cleane. This is the lawe of all maner plague of leprosy & breakyng out/ & of the leprosy of clothe and house: and of rynges/ scabbes and glysteryng whyte / to teache when a thyng is vnclene or cleane. This is þ lawe of leprosy.

The maner of purging the vnclennes both of men and women.

The. x. Chapter.

And the Lorde spake vnto Moyses & Aaron saying: Speake vnto þ chyldre of Israel/ & saye vnto the: Every man that hath a runnyng yllue in hys flesh/ is vnclene by the reason of hys yllue. And hereby shall it be knowne when he is vnclene. If hys fleshe runne/ or yf hys flesh congele by the reason of hys yllue then he is vnclene. Every couche wheron he lyeth and every thyng wheron he sytteth shall be vnclene. He that toucheth his couche shall walsh his clothes/ & bathe hym selfe with water/ and be vnclene vntill the euen. He that sytteth on þ wheron he sitt/ shall walsh his clothes and bathe hym selfe with water/ and be vnclene vntill the euen. And he that toucheth hys fleshe shall walsh his clothes/ and bathe hym selfe in water/ & be vnclene vnto the euen. If any soche spyt vpon hym that is cleane/ he must walsh his clothes/ and bathe hym selfe in water/ and be vnclene vntill euen. And what soeuer sadell that he rydeth vpon/ shall be vnclene. And whosoever toucheth any thyng þ was vnder hym/ shall be vnclene vnto the euen. And he that beareth any soche thynges shall walsh his clothes/ and bathe hym selfe in water/ & be vnclene vnto the euen/ and whosoever he toucheth/ yf he haue not syt washed his handes in water/ must walsh his clothes & bathe hym selfe in water/ and be vnclene vnto the euen. And yf he touche a vessel of erth it shall be broken: and all vessels of wodd shall be rynged in water.

When he that hath an yllue is clenched of his yllue/ let hym numbre. viij. dayes after he is cleane/ & walsh his clothes/ and bathe his flesh in runnyng water/ & then he is cleane. And the. viij. daye let hym take two turtill houes or two yonge pygeons/ & come before the Lorde vnto the doze of the tabernacle of wytnesse/ & geue them vnto the p̄east. And the p̄east shall offer the: the one for a synne offryng/ and the other for a burnt offryng: & make an attouement for hym before the Lorde as concernyng hys yllue.

If any mans seed departe from hym in his slepe/ he shall walsh his flesh in water & be vnclene vntill euen. And all the clothes or furre wheron suche seed chaunleth shall be washed in water & be vnclene vnto the euen. And Leuiticus. x. c. l. c.

And yf a woman lye with soche a one / they shall walsh them selues with water & be vnclene vntill euen.

When a womans naturall course of bloud runneth/ she shall be put aparte. viij. dayes: & whosoever toucheth her shall be vnclene vnto the euen. And all þ she lyeth or sytteth vpon as longe as she is put a parte shall be vnclene. And whosoever toucheth her couche shall walsh his clothes & bathe hym selfe in water & be vnclene vnto the euen. And whosoever toucheth any thyng that she sat vpon/ shall walsh his clothes/ & walsh hym selfe also in water/ & be vnclene vnto the euen: so that whether he touch her couche or any thyng wheron she hath syt/ he shall be vnclene vnto the euen/ and yf a man lye with her in the meane tyme/ he shall be put aparte was well as she & shall be vnclene. viij. dayes/ & all his couche wherin he slepeth shall be vnclene.

When a womans bloude runneth longe tyme: out of the tyme of her naturall courie: as longe as her vnclennesse dureth/ she shall be vnclene after the maner as when she is put a parte. All her couches wherō she lyeth as longe as her yllue lasteth/ shall be vnto her as her couche when she is put a parte. And whatsoever she sytteth vpon/ shall be vnclene as is her vnclennesse whē she is put a parte. And whosoever toucheth them/ shall be vnclene/ & shall walsh his clothes and bathe hym selfe in water & be vnclene vnto euen. But yf she be cleane of hir yllue/ lett her counte her seven dayes/ after þ she is cleane. And the. viij. daye let her take two turtills or two yonge pigeons/ & bryng them vnto the p̄east vnto the doze of þ tabernacle of wytnesse. And the p̄east shall offer the one for a synne offryng/ and the other for a burnt offryng: and so make an attouement for her before the Lorde/ as concernyng her vnclene yllue. Make the chyldre of Israel to hepe them selues from their vnclennesse/ that they dye not in their vnclennesse: when they haue defiled my habytacion that is amonge them.

This is the lawe of hym þ hath a runnyng soze/ & of hym whose seed runneth fro him in his slepe & is defyled therewith/ and of her that hath an yllue of bloude as longe as she is put a parte/ and of whosoever hath a runnyng soze whether it be mā or woman/ and of hym that slepeth with her that is vnclene.

What Aaron must do or he enter into the holy place The cleansing of the sanctuary or holy place. Of the statute of cleansing. Aaron shall take the synnes of the chyldren of Israel over the luyng goote & putteth the vpon hys head.

The. xvi. Chapter.

And the Lorde spake vnto Moyses & Aaron after þ deeth of þ two sonnes of Aaron / when they had offered before the Lorde & dyed: And he sayd vnto Moyses: Speake vnto Aaron thy brother þ he go not at all tymes in to the holy place/ that is within the bayle that hangeth before the mercyseate which is vpon þ arche þ he dye not. If of I wyll appeare in a clowde vpon the mercyseate.

By the clowd vnderstande the smoke of the cens.

But of this maner shall Aaron goo in to the holy place: with a bullock for a synne offryng/ & a ram for a burnt offryng. And he shall put the holy synen albe vpon hym/ and shall haue a synen byrche vpon his fleshe/ and shall gyde him with a lync gyrdell/ and put the synen mytre vpon his heede: for they are holy raymentes. And he shall walsh his flesh with water/ and put them on. And he shall take of the multitude of the chyldre of Israel two he gootes for a synne offryng and a ram for a burnt offryng.

And Aaron shall offer the bullock for hys synne offryng & make an attouement for hym and for his house. And he shall take the two gootes & present the before the Lorde in the doze of the tabernacle of wytnesse. And Aaron shall cast lotte ouer the. ii. gootes: one lotte for the Lorde/ & another for a scapegoote. And Aaron shall bryng the goote vpon which the Lorde's lotte fell/ & offer him for a synne offryng. But the goote on which the lotte fell to scape/ he shall sett alyne before þ Lorde to reconcyte with & to let him goo fre in to the wyldernes. And Aaron shall bryng the bullock of his synne offryng/ & reconcyte for hym selfe and for his house/ and hyl him.

And then he shall take a censer full of burning coles out of the alter that is before the Lorde/ and his handfull of swete cens beten small & bryng them within the bayle & put the cens vpon the fire before the Lorde: that the clowde of the cens maye couer the mercyseate that is vpon the wytnesse/ that he dye not. And he shall take of the bloude of the bullock & spynkle it with his fynger before the mercyseate eastwarde: euen. viij. tymes.

Then shall he hyl the goote that is the peoples synne offryng/ & bryng his bloude within the bayle / and doo with hys bloude as he dyd with the bloude of the bullock/ and let him spynkle it toward the mercyseate/ and before the mercyseate: and reconcyte the holy place from the vnclennesse of the chyldren of Israel/ and from their trespasses & all their synnes. And so let hym doo also vnto the tabernacle of wytnesse that dwelleth in them/ euen amonge their vnclennesse.

And there shall be no bodye in the tabernacle of wytnesse/ when he goeth in to make an attoatonement in the holy place / vntill he come out agayn. And he shall make an atonement for him selfe and for his house / and for all the multitude of Israel. Then he shall go out vnto the altar that standeth before the Lozde / and reconcile it / and shall take of the bloude of the bullock & of the bloude of the goote / & put it vpon the hornes of the altare rounde aboute / and sprynkle of the bloude vpon it with his fynger seven tymes / and cleanse it / & halowe it from the vncleennes of the chyldren of Israel.

¶ And when he hath made an ende of receyvinge the holy place & the tabernacle of witness / & the altar / let him bringe & laye goote and let Aaron put both his handes vpon the heede of the laye goote / & confesse ouer hym all the mysdoes of the chyldren of Israel / and their trespasses / and all their synnes / and let him put them vpon the heede of the goote & sende him awaye by the handes of one that is acounted in the wilderness. And the goote shall bere vpon hym all the mysdoes vnto the wilderness / and he shall let the goote goo fre in the wilderness.

And let Aaron goo into the tabernacle of witness & put of the linnen clothes which he put on when he went in into the holy place / & leaue them there. And lett hym washe his flesch with water in the holy place / & put on his stonye rayment / & then come out and offer his burnt offeringe and the burnt offeringe of the people / and make an atonement for him selfe and for the people / & the fete of the syn-offeringe let him burne vpon the altar. And let him & carpe forth & scapegoote / washe his clothes and bathe his flesch in water / & then come in to the holte agayne.

And the bullock of the synofferinge & the goote of the synofferinge / whose bloude was brought in to make an atonement in the holy place / let one carpe out without the holte & burne wythfye: both their synnes / their flesch and their donge. And let him & burneth them / washe his clothes and bathe his flesch in water / & then come in to the holte agayne. And this shall be an ordynance for euer vnto you. And euē in the tenth daye of the seventh moneth / ye shall * humble your soules and shall do no worke at all: whether it be one of your selues or a stranger that sojourneth amonge you / for & daye shall an atonement be made for you to cleanse you from all your synnes before the Lozde / & ye shall be cleane. ¶ It shall be a Sabbath of rest vnto you / and ye shall humble your soules / and it shall be an ordynance for euer.

And the priest that is anointed & whose hande was fylled to mynstre in his fathers steade / shall make the atonement & shall put on the holy linnen clothes & holy bestimētes / and reconcile the holy sanctuary and the tabernacle of witness & the altar / & shall make an atonement also for the prestes & for all the people of the congregaciō. And this shall be an * euerlastinge ordynance vnto you to make an atonement for the chyldren of Israel for all their synnes once a yere: & it was done euen as the Lozde commaunded Moyses.

¶ All sacrifice must be brought to the doze of the tabernacle. To deuils may they not offer. Bloude and all haren is forbydden them.

The xxiij. Chapter.

¶ And the Lozde talked with Moyses sayinge: speake vnto Aaron & vnto his sonnes and vnto all the chyldren of Israel and saye vnto them / this is the thyng which the Lozde charged sayinge: whatsoeuer he be of the house of Israel that killeth an oxe / or labe or goote in the holte or out of the holte and bryngeth them not vnto the doze of the tabernacle of witness / to offer an offeringe vnto the Lozde before the dwellinge place of the Lozde / bloude shall be imputed vnto that man / as though he had shed bloude / and that man shall perishe from amonge his people.

Wherfore let the chyldren of Israel brynge their offeringes & they offer in the wyde feld / vnto the Lozde: euen vnto the doze of the tabernacle of witness and vnto the priest / & offer them for the peaceofferinges vnto the Lozde. And the priest shall sprynkle & bloude vpon the altar of the Lozde in the doze of the tabernacle of witness / and burne the fete to be a sweete sauoure vnto the Lozde. And lett them no moare offer their offeringes vnto deuils / after whom they go an whoringe. And this shall be an ordynance for euer vnto you to shew out your generacions.

¶ And thou shalt saye vnto them: whatsoeuer man it be of the house of Israel or of the strangers that sojourn amonge you / that offereth a burnt offeringe or any other offeringe and bryngeth it not vnto the doze of the tabernacle of witness to offer vnto the Lozde / that felow shall perishe fro amonge his people. And whatsoeuer man it be of the house of Israel or of the strangers that sojourn amonge you that * catch any maner of bloude / I will sett my face agaynst that soule that eateth bloude / & I will destroye him from amonge his people / for the lyfe of the flesch is in the bloude / and I haue geue it vnto you vpon the altar / to make an atonement for your soules / for bloude shall make an atonement for the soule. And therfore I saye vnto the chyldren of Israel: se that no soule of you eat bloude / nor yet any stranger that sojourneth amonge you.

whatsoeuer man it be of the chyldren of Israel or of the strangers that sojourn amonge you & hunteth & catcheth any beest or foule & maye be eat / he shall poure out the bloude & couer it with erthe / for the lyfe of all flesch is in the bloude / therfore I saye vnto the chyldren of Israel: ye shall eate the bloude of no maner of flesch / for the lyfe of all flesch is in his bloude / and whosoever therfore eateth it shall perishe. And whatsoeuer soule it be & eateth that which dyed alone or & which was tozue with wyde beestes: whether it be one of your selues or a stranger / he shall washe his clothes & bathe him selfe in water / & shall be vncleane vnto the euen / & then is he cleane. But and ye he washe them not nor washe his flesch he shall beare his synne.

The xliij. Chapter.

¶ And the Lozde talked with Moyses sayinge: speake vnto the chyldren of Israel / & saye vnto them / I am the Lozde your God. Wherfore after the doynges of the lande of Egypte wherin ye dwelt / se that ye doo not: neither after the doynges of the lande of Canaan / whether I will brynge you / neither walke ye in their ordynances / but do after my iudgements / & kepe myne ordynances / to walke therein: for I am the Lozde your God. Kepe therfore myne ordynances / and my iudgements which ye a man doo he shall lyue therby: for I am the Lozde.

¶ Se that ye go to none of your ngybels hyndred for to vncouer their secrettes / for I am the Lozde. The secrettes of thy father & thy mother / se thou vnhyll not: he is thy mother / therfore shalt thou not discouer her secrettes. The secrettes of thy fathers wyfe shalt thou not discouer / for they are thy fathers secrettes. Thou shalt not discouer & pryuite of thy syster / & daughter of thy father or of thy mother: whether she be bozne at home or without. Thou shalt not vncouer the secrettes of thy sonnes daughter or thy daughters daughter / for & is thine stonye pryuite: Thou shalt not vncouer the secrettes of thy fathers wyues daughter / which she bare to thy father / for she is thy syster: thou shalt therfore not discouer her secrettes. Thou shalt not vncouer the secrettes of thy fathers syster / for she is thy fathers nexte kynswoman. Thou shalt not discouer the secrettes of thy mothers syster / for she is thy mothers nexte kynswoman.

ter in lawe she is thy sonnes wyfe: therfore vncouer nother secrettes. Thou shalt not vnhyll the secrettes of thy brothers wyfe / for that is thy brothers pryuite. Thou shalt not discouer the pryuites of the wyfe & her daughter also / neither shalt thou take her sonnes daughter or her daughters daughter to vncouer their secrettes / they are her nexte kyn / & were therfore vnhidnesse. Thou shalt not take a wyfe & her syster thereto / to bere her & thou wouldest open her secrettes as longe as she lyueth. Thou shalt not go vnto a woman to vncouer her pryuite as longe as she is put a parte for her vncleannes. ¶ Thou shalt not lye in thy ngybours wyfe / to defyle thy selfe in her. Thou shalt not geue of thy seed to offer it vnto Moloch / & thou shalt not & name of thy god / for I am the Lozde. ¶ Thou shalt not lye with mankynde as is womankynde / for & is abominacion. Thou shalt lye in no maner of beeste to defyle thy selfe therwith / neither shall any woman stode before a beest to lye vnto her / for that is abominacion.

¶ While not your selues in any of these thyngs / for in all these thynges are these nations defiled which I cast out before you: & the lande is defiled / & I will visett the wickednesse therof vpon it / & the lande shall spewe out her inhabitants. * Kepe ye therfore myne ordynances & iudgements / & se that ye committe none of these abominacions: neither any of you nor any stranger that sojourneth amonge you / for all these abominacions haue the men of the lande done which were there before you / & the lande is defiled / se that the lande spewe you out whē ye haue defiled it / as it spewd out the nations that were there before you. For whosoever shall committe any of these abominacions / the same soules that committe the shall perishe from amonge their people. Therfore se that ye kepe myne ordynances / that ye committe none of these abominable customes which were committed before you: that ye defile not your selues therwith for I am the Lozde your God.

as concerninge the synne which he hath done.
And when ye come to the lande and haue planted al maner of trees where of men eat/ ye shall holde the bndredysed as concerninge their frute: eue the yere shall they be bndre-cuncised vnto you & shall not be eaten/ and the fourth yere all & frute of the shall be holy & acceptable to the Lord. And the fifth yere maye ye eat of the frute of the & gether in the increase of them: I am the Lord your God. * Ye shall eat no thyng in the bloude/ ye shall use no witchcraft/ nor obserue di-mall dayes/ ye shall not rounde the lockes of your heedes/ nether shalt thou marre the tust of thy beerde. * Ye shall not ret your flesh for any soules sake/ nor prync any markes by you: I am the Lord. Thou shalt not pollute thy daughter/ that thou woldest maintene her to be an whoore: lest the lande fall to whooredome/ and waxe full of wickednesse. Se & ye kepe my Sabbothes & feare my sanctuary: I am the Lord. Turne not to them that worke with spytes/ nether re-garde the that obserue dysmall dayes: that ye be not despyled by them/ for I am the Lord your God.

Thou shalt rype by before the hoorded/ & a reuerence the face of the old ma & deadd god/ for I am the Lord. * If a stranger solourne by the in your lande/ se that ye bere him not: But let the stranger that dwelleth with you/ be as one of your selues/ & loue him as thy selfe/ for ye were strangers in the lande of Egypt. I am the Lord your God.
Ye shall doo no vnryghteousnes in iudge-ment nether in meteure/ weyght or measure. But ye shall haue true balances/ true weyght/ & true ephas & a true hin. I am the Lord your God which broughte you out of the land of Egypt/ that ye shoulde obserue all myne ordinaunces and iudgements and that ye shoulde kepe them: I am the Lord.
They that geue of their seide to Moloch shall dye therefore. Other goodly lawes necessarye to be obserued in chementhalthe.
The xx. Chapter.
And the Lord talked with Moyses sayinge: tell the chyldre of Israel/whosoever he be of the chyldre of Israel/ that geueth of his seide vnto a wholoche he shall dye for it: the people of the land shall stone him with stones. And I will sett my face vpon that selowe/ and will destroye him fro amonge his people: because he hath geuen of his seide vnto Moloch/ for to despyle my sanctuary and to pollute my holy name.
And though that the people of the land hyde their eyes from that selowe/ whē he geueth of his seide vnto Moloch/ so that they kyll him not: yet I will put my face vpon & man and vpon his generation/ and will destroye him

him and all that goo a whooryng with hym and commytt whohome with Moloch from amonge their people.
If any soule turne him to enchasers or expounders of tokens and goo a whoorynge after the/ I will put my face byd that soule & will destroye him fro amonge his people.
Sanctifye your selues therefore & be holye for I am the Lord your God. And se that ye kepe myne ordinaunces and doo them. For I am the Lord which sanctifye you.
Whosoever curseth his father or mother/shall dye for it: his bloud on his head/ because he hath curseth his father or mother. * He that bzeaketh wedlocke with another mans wyfe shall dye for it/ because he hath broke wedlocke with his neyghbours wyfe/ and so shall the syke wyfe. * If a man lye with his fathers wyfe & vncouer his fathers secretes/they shall both dye for it/ their bloude be byd their heedes. * If a ma lye with his daughter in lawe they shall dye both of the: they haue broughte abhominacyon/ their bloud vpon their heedes. * If a man lye with mannyde after & maner as a woman hynde/ they haue both commytted an abhominacion & shall dye for it. Their bloude be vpon their heedes.
If a ma take a wyfe & her mother ther-to/ it is wickednesse. When shall burne with fyre both him and them/ that there be no wickednesse amonge you. * If a man lye with a beast he shall dye/ and ye shall see the beast.
If a woman go vnto a beast & lye doune thereto: thou shalt kyll the woman and the beast also/ they shall dye/ and their bloude be byd their heedes. * If a man take his syter his fathers daughter or his mothers daughter/ a se her secretes/ and she se his secretes also: it is a wicked thyng. Therefore lett the peryshe in the syghte of their people/ he hath seue his syters secretes/ he shall therefore beare his synne. * If a man lye with a woman in tyme of her naturall dyscase and vncouer her secretes and open her fountayne/ & she also open the fountayne of her bloude/ they shall both peryshe from amonge the people.
Thou shalt not vncouer the secretes of thy mothers syter nor of thy fathers syter/for he & doth so/ vncouereth his netre kyn:
and they shall beare their myddynge.
If a ma lye with his vncler wyfe/ he hath vncouered his vncler secretes: they shall beare their synne/ and shall dye chyldlesse.
If a ma take his bzothers wyfe/ it is an vnclane thyng/ he hath vncouered his bzo-thers secretes/ they shall be chyldlesse therefore.
Se that ye kepe therefore all myne or-dinaunces and all my iudgements/ and that ye doo them: that the land whether I bynne you to dwell therein/ spewe you not out. And se that ye walke not in the maners of the na-tyons whiche I cast out before you: for they commytted all these thynges/ & I abhorred the.

But I haue sayde vnto you that ye shall enioye their lande/ & that I will geue it vnto you to possesse it: eue a lande that floweth with mylike and honye. I am the Lord your God/ whiche haue separated you from other nations: * that ye shoulde put difference be-twene cleane bestes and vnclane/ and be-twene vnclane soules and them that are cleane. Make not your soules therefore abhominable with bestes and soules/ & with all maner thynges & crepeth byd the ground/whiche I haue separated vnto you to holde them vnclane. Be holy vnto me/ for I the Lord am holy and haue seuered you from other nations: that ye shoulde be myne.
If there be a ma or womā that woorthly with a spyte or & expoundeth tokens they shall dye for it. When shall stone them with stones/ & their bloude shall be vpon them.
The prest is for bydd to be at the death of any of his people/ a seue of his synne except. & seales may not be thauē nether on the head nor yet of the beerde.
The prestes wyfe must be a mayde. The prestes daughter may not be an harlot.
The xxi. Chapter.
And the Lord sayde vnto Moyses:
speake vnto the prestes & sonnes of Aaron and saye vnto them. A prest shall defile him selfe at the death of none of his people/ but byd his kyn & is nye vnto him: as his mother/ father/ sonne daughter & brother: & on his syter as longe as she is a mayde & dwelleth nye him & was neuer geuen to man: on her he maye despyle him selfe. But he shall not make hym selfe vnclane vpon a ruelar of his people to polute him selfe with all.
They shall make them no baldnesse vpon their heedes or haue of the lockes of their heedes/ nor make any markes in their flesh they shall be holy vnto their God/ and not polute the name of their God/ for the sacrifices of the Lord and the bread of their they do offer: therefore they must be holy.
They shall take no wyfe & is an whoore or polute/ or put from her husbāde: for a whoore prest is holy vnto his God. Sanctifie him therefore/ for he offereth by the bread of God:
he shall therefore/ be holy vnto the/ for I the Lord whiche sanctifye you/ am holy.
If a prestes daughter fall to playe the whoore/ she poluteth her father: therefore she shall be burnt with fyre.
He & is the hye prest amōge his bzethre vpon whose head the anoyntynge oyle was poured & whose hande was tyld to put on the bestimentes/ shall not vncouer his head no: rent his clothes / neither shall goo to any deed body no: make hym selfe unclean: no not on his father o: mother / neither shall go out of the sanctuarie / that he polute not the holy place of his God / for the croune of the anoyntinge oyle of God is vpon him. I am the Lorde. * He shall take a mayde vnto his wyfe: but no widowe no: deuoried no: poluted whoor. But he shall take a mayde of his awne people to wyfe / that he desyle not his seed vpon his people: for I am the Lorde which sanctifye him.

And the Lorde spake vnto Moyses sayinge / speke vnto Aaron and saye: No man of thy seed in their generaciōs that hath any defo: myte vpon hym / shall p:ace for to offer the byrd of his God: for none that hath any blemish shall come nere: whether he be blynde / lame / not nosed / o: that hath any myshapē mēbze / o: broken footed / o: broken handed / o: croke backed / o: perleyed / o: gogeleped / o: masige / o: shauide / o: hath hys stonē broken.

No man that is defo:med of the seed of Aard the p:est / shall come nye to offer the sacrificers of the Lorde. If he haue a defo:myte / he shall not p:ace to offer the byrd of his God. Notwithstandyng he shall eate of the byrd of his God: euen as well of the most holy / as of the holy: but shall not goo in vnto the bayle no: come nye the altar / because he is defo:med that he polute not my sanctuary / for I am the Lorde that sanctifie them. And Moyses tolde it vnto Aaron and to his sonnes / & vnto all the Chyldren of Israel.

What maner persones ought to abyde from eatyng the thynges that were offered. How / what / & when they shulde be offered.

The xxiij. Chapter.

And the Lorde comened with Moyses sayinge: byd Aard & his sonnes that they abyde from the halowed thynges of the chylde of Israel which they haue halowed vnto me / that they polute not my holy name: for I am the Lorde. Saye vnto them: whosoever he be of all youre seed amōge youre generaciō after you / he goeth vnto the halowed thynges which the chylde of Israel shall haue halowed vnto the Lorde / hys vncleennes shall be vpon him: and that soule shall perishe from out of my syght. I am the Lorde.

None of the seed of Aard that is a leper o: that hath a runnyng soze / shall eate of the halowed thynges vntill he be cleane. And whosoever toucheth any vncleane soule o: man whose seed runneth from hym by nyght / o: whosoever toucheth any woyme that is vncleane to hym / o: man that is vncleane to hym / whatsoeuer vncleennes he hath: the same soule that hath any soch thyng / shall be vncleane vntill euen / and shall not eate of the halowed thynges vntill he haue washed his flesh with water. And then when the sonne is downe he shall be cleane & shall afterward eate of the halowed thynges: for they are hys fode. * Of a beest that dieth alone o: is rent w: wyde beastes / he shall not eate / to desyle hym selfe therewith: I am the Lorde. But let them kepe therfore myne ordynance / lest they lade synne vpon them & dye therein whē they haue desyled them selues: for I am the Lorde which sanctifye them.

There shall no straunger eate of the halowed thynges / neither a gell of the p:estres / o: an hyrd seruante. But yf the p:est bye any soule with money he maye eate of it / & he also that is bo:ne in his house maye eate of his byrd. If the p:estres daughter be married vnto a straunger / she maye not eate of the halowed heu:offerynges. Notwithstandyng yf the p:estres daughter be a widowe o: deuoried & haue no childe but is returned vnto her fathers house agayne / she shall eate of her fathers byrd as well as she dyd in her youth. But there shall no straunger eate therof. If a man eate of the halowed thynges vntwittingly / he shall put a fyre parte ther vnto / & make good vnto the p:est the halowed thyng. And let the p:estres se / & they desyle not the halowed thynges of the chylde of Israel which they haue offered vnto the Lorde / lest they lade the selues with myshapynge & trespase in eatyng their halowed thynges: for I am the Lorde which halowe the.

And the Lorde spake vnto Moyses sayinge: speake vnto Aaron & hys sonnes & vnto all the chylde of Israel & saye vnto the / whatsoeuer he be of the house of Israel o: stra:nger in Israel that wyll offer his offeryng: whatsoeuer bowe o: trempyl offeryng it be which they wyll offer vnto the Lorde for a burnt offeryng to reconyle them selues / it must be a male without blemish of o:ren / shepe o: gootes / let the offer nothyng that is defo:med for they shall gett no sauoure therewith.

If a mā wyll offer a peaceoffring vnto the Lorde and separate a bowe o: a trempyl offeryng of the o:ren o: the flocke / it must be without defo:myte / & it maye be accepted. There maye be no blemish therein: whether it be blinde / broken / wounded o: haue a wen / o: be maunge o: scabbed / se that ye offere no soch vnto the Lorde / no: put an offeryng of any soch vpon the altar vnto the Lorde.

In o:re o: a shepe that hath any membe out of p:oporciō / maye thou offer for a trempyl offeryng: but in a bowe it shall not be accepted. Thou shalt not offer vnto the Lorde that which is broken / plucked out o: cut

o: cut awaye / neither shalt make any soch in youre lande / nether of a straungers harbe shall ye offer an offeryng to your God of any soch. For they marre all in & they haue defo:mytes in them / & therfore can not be accepted for you. And the Lorde spake vnto Moyses sayinge: when an o:re / a shepe o: a goote is brought forth / it shall be seuen dayes vnder the dame. And fro the viij. daye forth / it shall be accepted vnto a gyfte in the sacrificer of the Lorde. And whether it be o:re o: shepe / ye shall not kyll it & her yōge both in one daye. When ye wyll offere a thankofferyng vnto the Lorde / ye shall so offere it that ye maye be accepted. And the same daye it must be eaten by / so ye leaue none of it vntill the morow. For I am the Lorde / kepe now my commandementes & do the / for I am the Lorde. And polute not my holy name / that I maye be halowed amonge the chylde of Israel. For I am the Lorde which halowe you / and brought you out of the lande of Egypt / to be your God: for I am the Lorde.

Of the holy dayes / as the Sabbath / Ester / whye / whye / the feast of the fyre / the feast of the cleansyng. The feast of trumpettes. The feast of the tabernacles.

The xxiij. Chapter.

And the Lorde spake vnto Moyses sayinge: speake vnto the chylde of Israel / & saye vnto the. These are the feastes of the Lorde which ye shall call holy feastes. Syre dayes ye shall worke / & the seuenth is the Sabbath of rest an holy feast: so that ye maye doo no worke therein / for it is the Sabbath of the Lorde / wheresoeuer ye dwell. These are the feastes of the Lorde which ye shall p:oclayme holy in their seasons. * The xxiij. daye of the first moneth at euē is the Lorde. * Pascheuer. And the xij. daye of the same moneth is the feast of swete byrd vnto the Lorde. viij. dayes ye must eate vncleanned byrd. The fyrt daye shall be an holy feast vnto you / so that ye maye doo no laborious worke therein. But ye shall offer sacrificers vnto the Lorde. viij. dayes / & the seuenth daye also shall be an holy feast / so that ye maye doo no laborious worke therein.

And the Lorde spake vnto Moyses sayinge: speake vnto the chylde of Israel & saye vnto the: when ye be come in to the land which I geue vnto you & reape doune youre harvest / ye shall byrnye a shefe of the fyrt frutes of youre harvest vnto the p:est / & he shall waue the shefe before the Lorde to be accepted for you: & euē the morow after the Sabbath the p:est shall waue it. And ye shall offer that daye whē he waue the shefe / a lambe without blemish of a yere old for a burnt offeryng vnto the Lorde: & the meatofferyng therof / two tenth deales of fyne flour meged with oyle to be a sacrificer vnto the Lorde of a swete sauoure: & the drynkeofferyng therof / & fourth deale of an hyne of wyne. And ye shall eate nether byead / no: parched corne / no: kumē: tyre of new corne: vntill the selfe same daye ye haue brought an offeryng vnto your God. And this shall be a lawe for euē vnto your chylde after you / wheresoeuer ye dwell.

And ye shall counte fro the morow after the Sabbath: euē fro the daye ye brought the shefe of the waue offeryng. viij. weke complete: euē vnto the morow after the viij. weke ye shall nombze i. dayes. And then ye shall byrnye a newe meatofferyng vnto the Lorde. And ye shall byrnye out of youre habitaciōs two waue loues made of two tenth deales of fyne flour leuended and baken / for fyrt frutes vnto the Lorde. And ye shall byrnye to the byead seue lambs without defo:myte of one yere of age / and one ponge o:re and. ii. rammes / which shall serue for burnt offeryngs vnto the Lorde / with meatofferynges & drynkeofferynges longynge to the same / to be a sacrificer of a swete sauoure vnto the Lorde.

And ye shall offer an he goote for a synneofferyng: and two lambes of one yere old for peaceofferynges. And the p:est shall waue the with the byead of the fyrt frutes before the Lorde / & with the two lambes. And they shall be holy vnto the Lorde / & be the p:estres. And ye shall make a p:oclamacion the same daye that it be an holy feast vnto you / and ye shall doo no laborious worke therein: And it shall be a lawe for euē thozome out all youre habitaciōs vnto your chylde after you.

* When ye reape doune youre harvest / thou shalt not make cleane rydaunce of thy selfe / nether shalt thou make any aftergathering of thy harvest: but shalt leue them vnto the poore and the straunger. I am the Lorde your God.

And the Lorde spake vnto Moyses sayinge: speake vnto the chylde of Israel and saye. The fyrt daye of the seuenth moneth shall be a feast of membraunce vnto you / to blowe hornes in an holy feast it shall be / & ye shall doo no laborious worke therein / and ye shall offer sacrificer vnto the Lorde.

And the Lorde spake vnto Moyses sayinge: also the tenth daye of the selfe seuenth moneth / is a daye of an attonement / & shall be on holy feast vnto you / and ye shall humble youre soules & offer sacrificer vnto the Lorde. Mo: reouer ye shall doo no worke the same daye / for it is a daye of attonement to make an attonement for you before the Lorde your God. For whatsoeuer soule it be that is humbled not him selfe that daye / he shall be destroyed from amonge his people. And whatsoeuer soule do any any maner worke that daye / the same I will destroye from amonge his people. Se that ye do no maner worke therfore. And it shall be a lawe for euer vnto your generacions after you in all your dwellings. A Sabbath of rest it shall be vnto you / and ye shall humble your soules. The .ix. daye of the moneth at euen and so forth frō euen to euen agayne / ye shall kepe your Sabbath.

And the Lord spake vnto Moyses sayinge: speake vnto the chyldren of Israel and saye: the .xv. daye of the same seuenth moneth shall be the feast of tabernacles. .vij. dayes vnto the Lord. The .vij. daye shall be an holy feast vnto you & ye shall offer sacrifice vnto the Lord. It is the ende of the feast / and ye shall do no laborious worke therein. Seuen dayes ye shall offer sacrifice vnto the Lord / and the .vij. daye shall be an holy feast vnto you & ye shall offer sacrifice vnto the Lord. It is the ende of the feast / and ye shall do no laborious worke therein.

These are the feastes of the Lord whiche ye shall proclayme holy feastes / for to offer sacrifice vnto the Lord / burnt offerings / meat offerings and drinke offerings every daye: beyde the sabbathes of the Lord / and beyde your gyftes / and all your bowes / & all your freewill offerings whiche ye shall geue vnto the Lord.

Mozeouer in the .xv. daye of the seuenth moneth after that ye haue gathered in the frutes of the lande / ye shall kepe holy daye vnto the Lord. .vij. dayes lōge. The .vij. daye shall be a daye of rest / & the .vij. daye shall be a daye of rest. And ye shall take you the .vij. daye / the frutes of goodly trees and the bryanches of palme trees and the bowes of thicke trees / and wylowes of the brooke / and shall reioyse before the Lord. .vij. dayes. And ye shall kepe it holy daye vnto the Lord. .vij. dayes in the yere. And it shall be a lawe for euer vnto your chyldren after you / that ye kepe that feast in the seuenth moneth. And ye shall dwell in boothes seuen dayes: eue all ye Israelites bove / shall dwell in boothes / that your chyldren after you maye knowe howe that I made the chyldre of Israel dwell in boothes / whē I broughte them out of the land of Egypt: for I am the Lord your God. And Moyses tolde all the feastes of the Lord vnto the chyldren of Israel.

The oyle for the lampes and lychtes of the bryche of remembrance of Moyses. He that curseth must be stoned. He that killeth shall be hylled. &c.

The .xxiii. Chapter.

And the Lord spake vnto Moyses sayinge: commaunde the chyldren of Israel that they bryng vnto the pure oyle of pure beate for light to poure in to the lampes alwaye / without the daye of wytnesse within the tabernacle of wytnesse. And Aaron shall dysse them both euen and morninge before the Lord alwayes. And it shall be a lawe for euer amonge your chyldren after you. And he shall dysse the lampes vpon the pure candlesticke before the Lord perpetually.

And thou shalt take fyne flour and bake it. waffels therof / two tenthdeales shall euery waffell be. And make two rowes of the / fyne on a rowe vpon the pure table before the Lord / and put pure frankincense vpon the rowes. And it shall be byed of remembrance / & an offeringe to the Lord. Euery Sabbath he shall put them in rowes before the Lord euermore / geuf of the chyldren of Israel / that it be an euerlastyng couenaunte. And they shall be Aarons and hys sonnes / & they shall eat the in the holy place. For they are most holy vnto him of the offerings of the Lord / and shall be a drye for euer.

And the sonne of an Israelitish wyfe whose father was an Egyptian / went oute amonge the chyldren of Israel. And this sonne of the Israelitish wyfe and a mā of Israel / stroue together in a house. And the Israelitish woman's sonne blasphemed the name of the Lord / & they broughte hym vnto Moyses. And hys mothers name was Salometh / the daughter of Dibzay of the trybe of Dan: and they put him in ward / that Moyses shoulde declare vnto the what the Lord sayd thereto. And the Lord spake vnto Moyses sayinge: bryng hym that blasphemed without the house / and lett all that herde hym / put their handes vpon his heed / and lett all the multitude of Israel sayinge. Whosoever curseth his God / shall bere his synne: And he that blasphemeth the name of the Lord / shall dye for it. All the multitude shall ston him to deeth. And the stranger as well as the Israelite yf he curseth the name / shall dye for it.

He that killeth any man / shall dye for it: but he that killeth a beast shall paye for it / beate for beate. If a mā maye hys neyghboure / as he hath done / so shall it be done to him agayne: boke for boke / eye for eye and toth for toth: euen as he hath mayned a mā / so shall he be mayned agayne. So now he that killeth a beast / shall paye for it: but he that killeth a man / shall dye for it. Ye shall haue one maner of lawe amonge you: euen for the stranger as well as for one of your felues / for I am the Lord your God.

And Moyses tolde the chyldren of Israel / that they shoulde bryng him that had curseth out of the house / and ston him with stones. And the chyldren of Israel dyd as the Lord commaunded Moyses.

The Sabbath of the .vij. yeres and of the yere of Jubilee / otherwyse called the fyfte yere.

The .xxv. Chapter.

And the Lord spake vnto Moyses in mount Synay sayinge: speake vnto the chyldren of Israel & saye vnto them. When ye be come in to the lande whiche I geue you / let the lande rest a Sabbath vnto the Lord. Sixe yeres thou shalt sowe thy selde / and fyve yere thou shalt cut thy bynes & gather in thy frutes. But the seuenth yere shall be a Sabbath of rest vnto the lande. The Lordes Sabbath it shall be / and thou shalt nether sowe thy selde / nor cut thy bynes.

The corne that groweth by it selfe thou shalt not reape / nether gather the grapes & growe without thy bydyng: but it shall be a Sabbath of rest vnto the land. Neuertheless the Sabbath of the lande shall be meate for you: euen for the and thy seruante and for thy mayde and for thy byred seruante & for the stranger that dwelleth with the: and for thy catell and for the beastes that are in the lande / shall all the increase therof be meate. Then nombre seuen weekes of yeres / that is / seuen tymes seuen yere: and the space of the seuen weekes of yeres shall be vnto the .xlv. yere. And then thou shalt make an home blowe: euen in the tenth daye of the seuenth moneth / which is the daye of attonement. And then thou shalt make the home blowe / euen in the .xlv. yere: and thou shalt haue some the fyfteenth yere / & proclayme libertye thowout the lande vnto all the inhabyters therof. It shall be a yere of Jubilee vnto you & ye shall retourne: euery man vnto hys possession and euery man vnto hys kynred agayne. A yere of Jubilee shall that fyfteenth yere be vnto you. Ye shall not sowe nether reape the corne that groweth by it selfe / nor gather the grapes that growe without thy labour. For it is a yere of Jubilee and shall be holy vnto you: how be it / yet ye shall eat of the increase of the selde. And in this yere of Jubilee ye shall retourne / euery mā vnto hys possession agayne.

And thou sellest oughte vnto thy neyghboure or byest of thy neyghbours hande / ye shall not oppresse one another: but according to the nombre of yeres after the Jubilee yere thou shalt bye of thy neyghboure / and according vnto the nombre of frute yeres / he shall sell vnto the. According vnto the multitude of yeres / thou shalt encrease the pryce therof / and according to the fewnesse of yeres / thou shalt mynysh the pryce: for the nombre of frute he shall sell vnto the. And se that no man oppresse his neyghboure / but feare the Lord. For I am the Lord your God. Wherfore shall I do after myne ordinaunces and kepe my lawes and do them / that ye maye dwell in the land in safetie. And the lande shall geue her frute / and ye shall eat your fille and angur / & op dwell therein in safetie. If ye shall saye / what shall we eat the seuenth yere in as moche as we shall not sowe nor gather in our increase. I will sende my blessinge vpon you in the fyfte yere / and it shall bryng forth frute for thre yeres: and ye shall some the eighth yere and eat of blae frute vntill the .ix. yere / and euen vntill her frute come / ye shall eat of old store: wherfore the lande shall not be sold for euer / because that the lande is myne / & ye but strangers and sojourners with me: and ye shall thowout all the land of your possession / let the lande go home fre agayne.

God. For I am the Lord your God. Wherfore shall I do after myne ordinaunces and kepe my lawes and do them / that ye maye dwell in the land in safetie. And the lande shall geue her frute / and ye shall eat your fille and angur / & op dwell therein in safetie.

If ye shall saye / what shall we eat the seuenth yere in as moche as we shall not sowe nor gather in our increase. I will sende my blessinge vpon you in the fyfte yere / and it shall bryng forth frute for thre yeres: and ye shall some the eighth yere and eat of blae frute vntill the .ix. yere / and euen vntill her frute come / ye shall eat of old store: wherfore the lande shall not be sold for euer / because that the lande is myne / & ye but strangers and sojourners with me: and ye shall thowout all the land of your possession / let the lande go home fre agayne.

When thy brother is waxed poore and hath solde awaye of his possession: yf any of his kyn come to redeme it / he shall by out of whiche his brother sold. And though he haue no man to redeme it for him / yet yf hys hand can get sufficent to bye it oute agayne / then let hym counte how longe it hath be solde / and deliuer the rest vnto hym to whome he solde it / & so he shall retourne vnto hys possession agayne. But an yf his hande can not gett sufficent to restore it to hym agayne / then the whiche is solde shall remaine in the hand of him that hath boughte it / vntill the Jubilee: and in the yere of Jubilee it shall come out / & he shall retourne vnto his possession agayne.

If a mā sell a dwelling house in a walled cite / he maye bye it out agayne any tyme within a hole yere after it is solde: and that shall be the space in which he maye redeme it agayne. But yf it be not bought out agayne within the space of a full yere / then the house in the walled cite shall be stablished for euer vnto him that boughte it and to his successeurs after him and shall not go out in the yere of Jubilee. But the houses in byllages whiche haue no walles rounde aboute them / shall be counted lyke vnto the felde of the countre / & maye be boughte out agayne at any season / and shall go out fre in the yere of Jubilee.

Notwithstandinge the cyties of the leuytes and the houses in the cyties of their possessions the leuytes maye redeme at all seasons. And yf a mā purchase ought of the leuytes: whether it be house or cytye & they possesse the baryne shall go out in the yere of Jubilee for the houses of the cyties of the leuytes / are their possessions amonge the chyldre of Israel. But the felde that lye rounde aboute their cyties / shall not be bought: for they the chosen shall be admittid in to lyberte frō all synners / & shall be fullye restored agayne in thre / that synne of the fyfth man was taken awaye.

g. iii. Amonge

Of Nephtali. Amonge the chyldren of Nephtali: their generacyon/in their kynredes and houses of their fathers (when their names were tolde) from xx. yeres and aboue / whatsoeuer was mete to warre: were nombred in the trybe of Nephtali thye and fyfte thousand and iiii. hundred.

These are the nombres which Moyses and Aaron nombred wth the xii. princes of Israel: of every house of their fathers a man. And all the nombres of the chyldren of Israel / in the houses of their fathers / from twenty yere and aboue / whatsoeuer was mete for the warre in Israel / byrwe into the sonne of fyve hundred and thye thousand / fyue hundred and fyfte. But the Leuites in the trybe of their fathers were not nombred amonge them.

And the Lord spake vnto Moyses sayinge: only se that thou nombre not the trybe of Leui / neether take the sonne of the amonge the chyldren of Israel. But thou shalt appoynte the leuites vnto the habitacio of witnesse / and to all the apparell therof and vnto all that belongeth thereto. For they shall beare the tabernacle and all the ordynance therof / and they shall mynistre it and shall ptyche their tentes rounde aboute it. And when the tabernacle goeth forth the leuites shall take it downe: and when the tabernacle is pitched / they shall sett it vp: for yf any stranger come nere / he shall dye. And the chyldren of Israel shall ptych their tentes / every man in his owne compaignie and every ma by his alone standert sheweth out all their hostes. But the leuites shall ptyche rounde aboute the habitacyon of wytnesse / that there fall no wrath vpon the congregacion of the chyldren of Israel / & the leuites shall wayte vpon the habitacion of wytnesse. And the chyldren of Israel shal accorde to all that the Lord commaunded Moyses.

The order of the ptyching of the tentes rounde aboute the tabernacle of wytnesse. The heades and chiefe Lozdes of the kynredes of Israel are named.

The ii. Chapter.

And the Lord spake vnto Moyses and Aaron sayinge: The chyldren of Israel shall ptych: every man by his owne standert with the armes of their fathers houses / a waye from the pylence of the tabernacle of wytnesse.

On the east syde toward the ryfynge of the sonne / shall they of the standert of the house of Juda ptych wth their armes: And Babelon the sonne of Aminadab shall be captayne ouer the sonnes of Juda. And his hoste and the nombze of them, lxxiii. thousande and. vi. hundred. And nexte vnto hym shall the trybe of Zachar ptyche and Nathaniel the sonne of Zuar captayne ouer the chyldren of Zachar / his hoste and the nombze of them liii. thousande and. iiii. hundred.

And then the trybe of Zabulon: id Eliab the sonne of Helon / captayne ouer the chyldren of Zabulon / and his hoste in the nombze of them. lvi. thousande &. iiii. hundred. So that all all they that parteyne vnto the hoste of Juda / are an hundred thousande. lxxvi. thousande and. iiii. hundred in theyr compaignes: and these shall go in the forefront / when they iourney.

And on the south syde / the standert of the hoste of Ruben shall lye wth their compaignes & the captayne ouer the sonnes of Ruben / Elizur the sonne of Sebeur / and his hoste and the nombze of them. xli. thousande / &. v. hundred. And last by hym shall the trybe of Simeon ptyche / and the captayne ouer the sonnes of Simeon. Salumiel the sonne of Zuri Sabat / and his hoste and the nombze of them. lix. thousande and. iiii. hundred. And the trybe of Gad also: And the captayne ouer the sonnes of Gad / Elisaph the sonne of Deguel and his hoste and the nombze of them. xlv. thousande. vi. hundred and. i. So that all the nombze that parteyne vnto the hoste of Ruben / are an hundred thousande li. thousande. iiii. hundred and fyfte / wth their compaignes / & they shall be the seconde in the iourney.

And the tabernacle of wytnesse wth the hoste of the leuites / shall go in the myddes of the hostes: as they lye in their tentes / euil so shall they procede in the iourney / every ma in his quarter aboute the standertes.

On the west syde / the standerte and the hoste of Ephraim shall lye wth their compaignes / And the captayne ouer the sonnes of Ephraim / Elisama the sonne of Amihud: and his hoste & the nombze of them. xl. thousande and. v. hundred.

And last by hym / the trybe of Manasse / and the captayne ouer the sonnes of Manasse / Gamaleel the sonne of Peza Zur and his hoste and the nombze of them. xxxi. thousande and. ii. hundred. And the trybe of Benjamin also: and the captayne ouer the sonnes of Benjamin / Abidan the sonne of Gedeoni / and his hoste and the nombze of them. xxxv. thousande &. iiii. hundred. All the nombze that parteyne vnto the hoste of Ephraim / were an hundred thousande. viii. thousande and an hundred in their hostes: & they shall be the thyrde in the iourney.

And the standert & the hoste of Dan shall lye on the north syde wth their compaignes: and the captayne ouer the chyldren of Dan / Thizer Thizer the sonne of Ammi Sabar: and his hoste & the nombze of the. lxxi. thousande & vii. hundred. And last by hym shall the trybe of Aser ptyche: & the captayne ouer the sonnes of Aser / Pagiel the sonne of Ocran: and his hoste & the nombze of them. xli. thousande & v. hundred. And the trybe of Nephtali also / & the captayne ouer the chyldren of Nephtali: Thira the sonne of Enan: & his hoste and the nombze of the. lxxi. thousande &. iiii. hundred. So that the hole nombze of all that parteyned vnto the hoste of Dan / was an hundred thousande lvi. thousande &. vi. hundred. And they shall be the last in the iourney in their standert.

These are the summes of the chyldren of Israel in the houses of their fathers: euil all the nombzes of the hostes in their compaignes. vi. hundred thousande. xii. thousande. v. hundred & fyfte. And yet the Leuites were not nombred amonge the chyldren of Israel / as the Lord commaunded Moyses. And the chyldren of Israel dyd accorde to all that the Lord commaunded Moyses / & so they pitched wth their standertes / & so they iourneyd every man in his kynred / and in the household of his father.

The Leuites are not nombred to go to batell / but to mynistre to the holy place or sanctuary. They must also pitch their tentes next to the tabernacle.

The iii. Chapter.

These are the generacions of Aaron & Moyses / when the Lord spake vnto Moyses in mount Sinai: and these are the names of the sonnes of Aaron: Nadab the eldest sonne / & Abihu / Eleazar and Jthamar. These are the names of the sonnes of Aaron which were pzeastes anointed & their handes fylled to mynistre / but Nadab & Abihu dyed before the Lord / as they broughte straunge fyre before the Lord in the wyldernesse of Sinai / and had no chyldren. And Eleazar and Jthamar mynistred in the syght of Aaron their father.

And the Lord spake vnto Moyses sayinge: Byrynge the trybe of Aser / and set them before Aaron the pzeast / & let the serue him & wayte vpon hym & byd all the multitude / before the tabernacle of wytnesse / to do the seruyce of the habitacyon. And they shall wayte vpon all the apparell of the tabernacle of wytnesse / & vpon the chyldren of Israel / to do the seruyce of the habitacio. And thou shalt geue the Leuites vnto Aaron & his sonnes / for they are geuen vnto him of the chyldren of Israel. And thou shalt appoynte Aaron & his sonnes to wayte on their pzeastes office: & the stranger that cometh nye / shall bye for it.

And the Lord spake vnto Moyses sayinge: beholde I haue take the Leuites fro amonge the chyldren of Israel / for all the fyrtbozne that openeth & maketh amonge the chyldren of Israel rael / so the Leuites shall be myne: because all the fyrtbozne are myne: for the same daye that I smote all the fyrtbozne in the lande of Egypt / I halowed vnto me all the fyrtbozne in Israel / both man and beest / & myne they shall be: for I am the Lord.

And the Lord spake vnto Moyses in the wyldernesse of Sinai sayinge: Nombze the chyldren of Leui in the houses of their fathers & kynredes / all that are males fro a moneth olde & aboue. And Moyses nombred the at the worde of the Lord / as he was commaunded. And these are the names of the chyldren of Leui: Gerson / Cahath and Merari. And these are the names of the chyldren of Gerson in their kynredes: Libni & Semel. And the sonnes of Cahath in their kynredes were Amram / Jezehar / Hebron & Ozziel. And the sonnes of Merari in their kynredes were Maheli and Musi. These are the kynredes of Leui in the houses of their fathers.

And of Gerson came the kynred of the Libnites and the Semelites / which are the kynredes of the Gersonites. And the summe of the (when all the males were tolde) from a moneth olde and aboue / were. vii. thousande and fyue hundred. And the kynredes of the Gersonites pitched behynde the habitacion westwarde. And the captayne of the most auncient house amonge the Gersonites / was Elisaph the sonne of Lael. And the office of the chyldren of Gerson in the tabernacle of wytnesse was to kepe the habitacyon & the tente wth the coueringe therof and the hangynge of the doze of the tabernacle of wytnesse / and the hangynge of the court / and the curtayne of the doze of the court: which court went rounde about the dwelling / and the alter / & the cozdes that parteyned vnto all the seruyce therof.

And of Cahath came the kynred of the Amramites and the kynred of the Jezeharites & the kynred of the Hebronites and of the Ozzielites: And these are the kynred of the Cahathites. And the nombze of all the males from a moneth olde and aboue / was. viii. thousande and fyve hundred: which wayted on the holy place. And the kynred of the chyldren of Cahath / pitched on the south syde of the dwelling. And the captayne in the most auncient house of the kynredes of the Cahathites / was Elisaphan the sonne of Ozziel / & their office was to kepe the arche / the table / the candelltych / & the alter / & the holy vessels to mynistre to the bayle wth all that serued thereto. And Eleazar the sonne of Aaron the pzeast / was captayne ouer all the captaynes of the Leuites / and had the ouer syghte of them that wayted vpon the holy thynges.

And of Merari came the kynredes of the Mahelites and of the Musites: and these are the kynredes of the Merarites. And the summe of the males from a moneth olde and aboue / was. vi. thousande and fyue hundred.

On the east syde the chiefe trybe of Juda: Zachar & Zabulon.

On the north syde the chiefe trybe of Dan: Thizer.

The Cahathites are assigned to the south syde.

The Merarites are assigned to the north syde.

are the kynredes of the Merarites. And the nombze of them (when all þe males fro a moneth olde & aboue was tolde) þereunto, þy. thousande & .ij. hundred. And the captayne of the most auncient house amonge the kynredes of the Merarites, was Zuriei the sonne of Abihael which pitched on the north syde of þe dwelling. And þe office of þe sonnes of Merari was to kepe þe bozdes of the dwelling & the barres/plyers with the sockettes therof/and all the instrumentes therof & all that serued thereto: and the plyers of the courte rounde aboute & their sockettes with their pyntes & cozdes. But on the fortyeth of the habitacyon & before þe tabernacle of witness eadward/ shall Moyses & Aaron & his sonnes pynt & wayte on the sanctuary in the steade of the chyldren of Israel. And the stranger that cometh nye/ walde soz it. And the holc summe of the Leuites which Moyses & Aaron nombzed/ at the commaundment of þe Lord thozout their kynredes, euen of all the males of a moneth olde & aboue/ was .xxi. thousande.

Moyses & Aaron
& their sonnes
on the castide.

And the Lord spake vnto Moyses: Nombze all the fyrst bozne þe are males amonge þe chyldze of Israel/ fro a moneth olde & aboue & take the nombze of their names. And thou shalt appoynte the Leuites to me the Lord/ soz all the fyrst bozne amonge the chyldzen of Israel/ & the catell of the Leuites soz þe fyrst bozne of the chyldzen of Israel. And Moyses nombzed as the Lord commaunded him/ all þe fyrst bozne of þe chyldze of Israel. And all the fyrst bozne males in the summe of names/ from a moneth olde & aboue/ were nombzed .xxi. thousande. .ij. hundred and .lxiii.

And the Lord spake vnto Moyses saying: take the Leuites soz all the fyrst bozne of the chyldze of Israel/ & the catell of the Leuites soz their catell: and the Leuites shalbe myne which am the Lord. And soz the redempcyon of the two hundred and .lxiii. which are moo then the Leuites in þe fyrst bozne of the chyldzen of Israel/ take .v. species of euerie pece/ & geue the money wherwith þe odde nombze of them is redeemed/ vnto Aaron and his sonnes. And Moyses toke the redempcyon money of the ouerplus that were moo then the Leuites/ amonge the fyrst bozne of the chyldzen of Israel: and it came to a thousande. .lii. hundred & .lxx. species of the holpe specie. And he gaue that redempcyon money vnto Aaron & his sonnes at the woide of the Lord/ euen as the Lord commaunded Moyses.

The offces of the Leuites/ euerie one after the booke that he came of.

The .liij. Chapter.

And the Lord spake vnto Moyses & Aaron/ and bad them take the summe of the chyldzen of Cahath from amonge the sonnes of Leui/ in their kynredes & houses of their fathers/ from .xxx. yere & aboue vntill fyfte/ all that were able to warre/ soz to do þe woike in the tabernacle of witness. This shalbe the office of the chyldze of Cahath in the tabernacle of witness which is mooft holp. And when the hoste remoueth/ Aaron and his sonnes shal come & take doune the bayle/ & couer þe arche of witness there with/ & shal put theron a couerynge of taurus skynnes/ & shal spede a cloth þe is altogethe of iacyncte aboue all/ & put the staves therof in. And vpon the stwe table/ they shal spede abode a cloth of iacyncte/ & put theron the dywes/ spones/ flat pecces and pottes to poure wyth/ & the dayly bread shalbe theron: & they shal spede vpon them a couerynge of purple/ and couer the same with a couerynge of taurus skynnes/ & put the staves therof in.

And they shal take a cloth of iacyncte & couer the candlestyeke of lyght & her lampes & and her snuffers/ & fyre panes/ & all her oyle beles which they occupye aboute it/ & shal put vpon her and on all her instrumentes/ a couerynge of taurus skynnes/ & put it vpon staves. And vpon the golden alter they shal spede a cloth of iacyncte/ and put on her staves. And they shal take all the thynges which they occupye to mynstre with in þe holp place/ & put a cloth of iacyncte vpon them and couer them with a couerynge of taurus skynnes and put them on staves. And they shal take awaye the altres out of the alter/ and spede a scarlet cloth theron: and put aboute it/ the fyre panes/ the flesh hookes/ the quoyles/ the basens & all that belongeth vnto the alter/ and they shal spede vpon it a couerynge of taurus skynnes/ & put on the staves of it. And whē Aaron & his sonnes haue made an ende of couerynge the sanctuary & all the thynges of the sanctuary/ agens that the hoste remoue/ then the sonnes of Cahath shal come in soz to beare/ & so let them not touche þe sanctuary least they dye. And this is þe charge of the sonnes of Cahath in the tabernacle of witness. And Eleazar the sonne of Aaron the prest/ shal haue the charge to ppare oyle soz the lightes and stwe cens/ & the dayly meatoffryng & the anoyntinge oyle/ and the ouersyght of all the dwellinge and of all that therin is/ both ouer the sanctuary and of all that pertayneth thereto.

And the Lord spake vnto Moyses & Aaron saying: bestrope not þe trybe of the kynredes of the Cahathites/ from amonge the Leuites. But thus do vnto them that they may may lye and not dye/ when they go vnto the mooft holp place. Aaron and his sonnes shal go in and put the euerie man vnto his seruyce and vnto his burthen. But let them not go in to se when they couer the sanctuary/ lest they dye.

And the Lord spake vnto Moyses saying: take the summe of the chyldzen of Gerson/ in the houses of their fathers & in their kynredes/ from .xxx. yere and aboue/ vntill .l. all that are able to goo forth in warre/ soz to do seruyce in the tabernacle of witness. And this is þe seruyce of the kynred of the Gersonites/ to serue & to beare. They shal beare þe curtaynes of the dwelling & þe rouffe of the tabernacle of witness and his couerynge & þe couerynge of taurus skynnes that is an hve aboute vpon it/ and the hangyng of the doze of the tabernacle of witness: & the hangyng of the courte and the hangyng of the gate of the courte that is rounde about the dwellinge & the altare/ and the cozdes of the/ & all the instrumentes that serue vnto them & all that is made soz them. And at the mouth of Aaron and his sonnes/ shal all þe seruyce of the chyldzen of the Gersonites be done/ in all their charges and in all their seruyce/ and ye shal appoynte them vnto all they charges that they shal wayte vpon. And this is the seruyce of the kynred of the chyldzen of the Gersonites in the tabernacle of witness/ & their wayte shalbe in the hande of Ithamar the sonne of Aaron the prest.

And thou shalt nombze the sonnes of Merari in their kynredes & in þe houses of their fathers/ from .xxx. yeres and aboue vnto .l. All that is able to go forth in warre/ to do the seruyce of the tabernacle of witness. And this is the charge that they must wayte vpon in all that they must serue in the tabernacle of witness: the bozdes of the dwellinge/ & the barres/plyers/ & sockettes therof/ and the plyers of the courte rounde aboute/ and their sockettes/ pyntes & cozdes with all that pertayneth and serueth vnto them. And by name ye shal reken the thynges that they must wayte vpon to beare. This is þe seruyce of the kynredes of þe sonnes of Merari in all they seruyce in þe tabernacle of witness by þe had of Ithamar þe sonne of Aaron the prest.

And Moyses and Aaron and the princes of the multitude nombzed the sonnes of the Cahathites in their kynredes and houses of they fathers/ from .xxx. yere and aboue vnto fyfte/ all that were able to go forth in the hoste and to do seruyce in the tabernacle of witness. And the nombze of the in they kynredes were two thousande/ seven hundred and .l. These are the nombzes of the kynredes of þe Cahathites/ of al that dyd seruyce in the tabernacle of witness/ whych Moyses and Aaron dyd nombze at the commaundment of the Lord by the hande of Moyses.

And the sonnes of Gerson were nombzed in they kynredes and in the houses of they fathers/ fro .xxx. yere by vnto fyfte/ all that were able to go forth in the hoste soz to do seruyce in the tabernacle of witness. And þe nombze of them in they kynredes/ & in the houses of they fathers/ was two thousand fyre hundred and .xxx. This is the nombze of the kynredes of the sonnes of Gerson/ of all that dyd seruyce in the tabernacle of witness/ whych Moyses and Aaron dyd nombze at the commaundment of the Lord.

And the kynredes of the sonnes of Merari were nombzed in they kynredes and in þe houses of they fathers/ from .xxx. yere by vnto fyfte/ all that were able to go forth wyth the hoste/ to do seruyce in þe tabernacle of witness. And the nombze of them was in they kynredes/ thze thousande and two hundred. This is the nombze of the kynredes of the sonnes of Merari/ whiche Moyses and Aaron nombzed at the byddynge of the Lord/ by the hande of Moyses.

Who they be that ought to be cast out of the hoste. The knowlege of synne. The cleansing of synne done of ignoraunce. The lawe of the fyrst frutes/ & of geoulyte.

The fyfte Chapter.

And the Lord spake vnto Moyses saying: commande the chyldzen of Israel that they put out of the hoste/ all the lepers & all that haue ymues and all that are defyled vpon the deed/ whether they be males or females ye shal put the out of þe hoste/ that they desyle not þe tentes amonge whych ye dwell. And þe chyldzen of Israel dyd so/ & put them out of the hoste euen as the Lord commaunded Moyses/ to dyd the chyldzen of Israel.

And the Lord spake vnto Moyses saying: speake vnto þe chyldzen of Israel: whether it be man or woman/ when they haue synned in any manner of synne which a ma doeth where spaces/ where with a man trespaileth agens the Lord/ with we hure so that the soule hath done amysse: then they shal knowlege their synnes whych they haue done/ and restoze agayne the hure that they haue done. And Moyses toke the redempcyon money of the ouerplus that were moo then the Leuites/ amonge the fyrst bozne of the chyldzen of Israel: and it came to a thousande. .lii. hundred & .lxx. species of the holpe specie. And he gaue that redempcyon money vnto Aaron & his sonnes at the woide of the Lord/ euen as the Lord commaunded Moyses.

must the hurt they haue done in the hole / and put the fyfte be reposed and the fyth parte moare thereto: But the partye and yf he that maketh the amende haue no remained not to do it to then the amende that is made to whom the amende shall be the Lordes and the Praeltes / belyde the ram of the attonement offeringe wherewith he maketh an attonement for him selfe. And all heue offeringes of all the halowed thinges which the chyldren of Israel brynge vnto the preast / shall be the preast / and euery mans halowed thynges shall be his awne / but what soeuer any man geueth the preast / it shall be the preastes.

And the Lorde spake vnto Moyses sayng: Speake vnto the chyldren of Israel / and saye vnto them. If any mas wyfe goo a fyde and trespase agaynst hym / so that another man lye with her fleshely and the thyng be hyd from the eyes of her husbunde and is not come to sighte that she is defyled (for ther is no wytnesse agaynst her) in as moche as she was not taken with the maner / and the spyete of gelousye cometh apen hym and he is gelouse ouer his wyfe and she defyled / or happely the spyete of gelousye cometh vpon hym / and he is gelouse ouer his wyfe and she is defyled. Then let her husbunde brynge obediens to the Lorde vnto the preast and brynge an offeringe for her: the tenth parte of an Ephah of barlye meele / but shall poure none oyle therevnto / nor put frankincense thereon: for it is an offeringe of gelousye / and an offeringe that maketh remembrance of synne.

And let the preast brynge her and set her before the Lorde / and let him take holy water in an erthen vessel & of the dust that is in the vessel / and put it in to the water. And the preast shall set the wyfe before the Lorde and vncouer her head / and put the memorypall of the offeringe in her handes which is the gelousye offeringe / & the preast shall haue bytter and cursynge water in his hande / and he shall confute her and shall saye vnto her. If no man haue lye with the neyther halfe gone asyde / and defyled thy selfe behynde thy husbunde / then haue thou no harme of this bytter cursynge water.

But and yf thou hast gone asyde behynde thyne husbunde and art defyled & some other man hath lye with the behynde thyne husbunde (and let the preast confute her with the conjuracyon of the curse and saye vnto her) the Lorde make the a curse and a conjuracyon amonge thy people: so that the Lorde make thy thyng rotte / and thy bely swell & this bytter cursynge water goo in to the bowels of the / that thy bely swell and thy thyng rotte / and the wyfe shall saye: Amen Amen.

And the preast shall wyttie this curse in a byll and washe it out in the bytter water. And when the cursynge water ys yn her that it is bytter / then let the preast take the gelousye offeringe out of the wyfes hande / & waue it before the Lorde / and brynge it vnto the altar: and he shall take an handfull of the memorypall offeringe and burne it apen the altar / and then make her drynke the water / if she be defyled and haue trespased agaynst her husbunde / then shall the cursynge water goo in to her & be so bitter / that her bely shall swell and her thyng shall rotte / and she shall be a curse amonge her people. And yf she be not defyled but is cleane / then she shall haue no harme / but that she maye conceaue.

This is the lawe of gelousye / when a wyfe goeth a fyde behynde her husbunde and is defyled / or when the spyete of gelousye cometh apen a ma / so that he is gelouse ouer his wyfe / then he shall brynge her before the Lorde / and the preast shall minstre all this lawe vnto her / and the man shall be guiltlesse / and the wyfe shall beare her synne.

The lawe of them that take vpon them an offeringe & he manner of blessing the people.

The vii. Chapter.

And the Lorde spake vnto Moyses sayng: Speake vnto the chyldren of Israel and saye vnto them: when either man or womā appoynteth to the Lorde / he shall absteyne fro wyne and stronge drynke / and shall drynke no bynagre of wyne / or of stronge drynke / nor shall drynke what soeuer is pressed out of grapes: & shall eat no flesch grapes nether yet dryed as lodge as his abstinence endureth. Moreover he shall eat nothyng that is made of byne tre nor not somoch as the cornels or the huske of the grape.

And as longe as the bowe of his abstinence endureth / there shall no rature nor there come apen his heed / vntill his dayes be out which he fasteth vnto the Lorde / and he shall be holy and shall let the lockes of his hayre growe. As long as he absteyneth vnto the Lorde he shall come at no dead bodie: he shall not make himselfe vncleane at the death of his father / mother / brother / or sister: for the abstinence of his God is vpon his head. And therfore as longe as his abstinence lasteth / he shall be holy vnto the Lorde.

And yf it fortune that any man by chaunce dye suddenly before him / and defile the heed of his abstinence / then must he haue his heed the daye of his cleansing: euē the tenth daye he shall haue it. And the eighth daye he shall brynge .i. turtleys or .ii. posige pigeons to the preast / vnto the doze of the tabernacle of witness.

And the preast shall offer the one for a synofferinge & the other for a burnt offeringe & make an atonement for him / as concerninge that he synned vpon the deed / and shall also halowe his heed the same daye & he shall absteyne vnto the Lorde the tyme of his abstinence / and shall brynge a lambe of a yere olde for a trespase offeringe: but the dayes & were before are lost / because his abstinence was defyled. This is the lawe of the absteyner / when the tyme of his abstinence is out he shall be brought vnto the doze of the tabernacle of witness & he shall brynge his offeringe vnto the Lorde: an he shall be of a yere olde without blemyshe for a burnt offeringe / a ram without blemyshe also for a peace offeringe / and a basket of sweete byrred of fyne flour myngled with oyle and waters of sweete bread anoynted with oyle to meat offeringes and drynk offeringes that longe thereto.

And the preast shall brynge him before the Lorde & offer his synofferinge & his burnt offeringe / & shall offer a ram for a peace offeringe vnto the Lorde with the basket of sweete bread / and the preast shall offer also his meat offeringe & his drynk offeringe. And the absteyner shall haue his heed in the doze of the tabernacle of witness & shall take the bare of his sober heed & put it in the fyre which is vnder the peace offeringe. When the preast shall take the sudden shoulder of a ram & one sweete cake out of the basket & one sweete water also & put them in the hande of the absteyner after he hath shauen his abstinence of the preast shall waue them vnto the Lorde / which offeringe shall be holy vnto the preast with a wauebrest & a beue shoulder: & then the absteyner maye drynke wyne. This is the lawe of the absteyner which hath bowed his offeringe vnto the Lorde for his abstinence / besides that his hande can gete. And accordyng to the bowe which he bowed / euen so he must do in the lawe of his abstinence.

And the Lorde talked with Moyses sayng: Speake vnto Aaron and his sonnes sayng: of this wyse ye shall bless the chyldren of Israel sayng vnto them.

The Lorde bless the and kepe the.

The Lorde make his face shyne vpon the and be mercifull vnto the.

The Lorde lifte vp his countenance vpon the / and geue the peace for ye shall put my name vpon the chyldren of Israel / & I maye bless them.

The offeringe of the Lordes and heades of Israel when the tabernacle was sett vp.

hard the voyce of one speakinge vnto him fro of the mercyseate that was vpon the arche of witness: euen from betwene the two cherubims he spake vnto him.

The disposicion and order of the lampes. The forme of the candelltych. The cleansyng and offryng of the Leuites. The age of the same.

The viii. Chapter.

And the Lozde spake vnto Moses saying: speake vnto Aaron and saye vnto him: when thou puttist on the lampes so that they lighte all leue vpon the forefront of the candelltyche. And Aaron dyd euen so / and put the lampes vpon the forefront of the candelltyche / as the Lozde commaunded Moses / and the worke of the candelltyche was of stiffe golde: both the shaft and the floures thereof. And accordyng vnto the visyon whiche the Lozde had shewed Moses euen so he made the candelltyche.

And the Lozde spake vnto Moses sayenge:

take the Leuites from amonge the chyldren of Israel / and cleanse them. And this do vnto them when thou cleansest the / synchle water of purgacyon vpon them and make a ra-sure to runne alonge vpon all the fleshe of them / and let them washe theyr clothes / and then they shall be cleane. And let them take a bullocke and his meatoffryng / fyne flour myngled with oyle: and another bullocke shalt thou take to be a synneoffryng.

Then bringe the Leuites before the tabernacle of witness and gather the hole multitude of the chyldren of Israel together. And bringe the Leuites before the Lozde / and let the chyldren of Israel put their handes vpon the Leuites. And let Aaron haue the Leuites before the Lozde / for an heuoffryng geuen of the chyldren of Israel / and then let the be appointed to waite vpon the scrupce of the Lozde.

And let the Leuites put theyr handes vpon the heedes of the bullockes / and then offer the:
the one for a synneoffryng and the other for a burntoffering vnto the Lozde / to make an attonement for the Leuites. And make the Le-uites stande before Aaron and his sonnes / and heue them to be an heuoffryng vnto the Lozde. And thou shalt separate the Leuites from amonge the chyldren of Israel / that they be myne: and after that let them go and do the seruite of the tabernacle of witness.
Cleanse them / waue the / for they are geuen vnto me from amonge the chyldren of Israel for I haue taken them vnto me for all the synne bozme that open any matryce amonge the chyldren of Israel.

For all the synne bozme among the chyldren of Israel are myne both man and best: because the same tyme that I smote the synne bozme in the lande of Egypte / I sanctifyde them for my selfe: and I haue taken the Leuites for al the synne bozme amonge the chyldren of Israel / and haue geuen them vnto Aaron and his sonnes from amonge the chyldren of Israel to do the serupce of the chyldren of Israel in the tabernacle of witness and to make an attonement for the chyldren of Israel / that there be no plague amonge the chyldren of Israel / yf they come nye vnto the sanctuary.

And Moses and Aaron and all the congregacyon of the chyldren of Israel dyd vnto the Leuites / accordyng vnto all that the Lozde commaunded Moses. And the Le-uites purged theyr selues / and washed theyr clothes. And Aaron wauid them before the Lozde / and made an attonement for them to cleanse them. And after that they went in to do theyr serupce in the tabernacle of witness / before Aaron and his sonnes. And accordyng as the Lozde had commaunded Moses as concer-

Chapter.

And the Lorde spake vnto Moses sayinge: Make the two trumpets of beaten syluer / that thou mayst use the to call the congregacion together / & when the hostes shall iourney, when they blowe in them / all the multitude shall resorte to the / vnto the doore of the tabernacle of witness. Yet but one trumpet blowe only / then the princes which are heebers ouer the thousandes of Israel shall come vnto þ. And when ye trompe the fyrst tyme / þ hostes that lye on the east partes shall go forwarde.
And when ye trompe the seconde tyme / then the hostes that lie on þ south syde shall take their iourney: for they shall trope when they take their iourneyes. And in gelyheringe the congregacion together / ye shall blowe and not trompe. And the sonnes of Aaron the priest

aharati.

The women preastes shall blowe the trompettes & shall haue them and it shalbe a lawe vnto you for euer and amonge youre chyldren after you.

And when ye shall go to warre in your lande agens your enemyes that be your ye shall. trompe with the trompettes and ye shall be remembred before the Lord your God and saved from your enemyes. Also when ye be merry in your feast dayes and in the first dayes of your monethes/ye shall blowe the trompettes ouer your burnt sacrifices and peaceofferynges / that it may be a remembrance of you before your God. I am the Lord your God.

And it came to passe the .xx. daye of the seconde moneth in þe seconde yere / þe cloude was take bp from of the habytacyon of witnesse. And the chyldre of Israel toke their journey out of the deserte of Synai / and the cloude rested in þe wilbernesse of Phara. And they first toke their journey at þe mouth of the Lorde / by the had of Moses: euen þe staderie of þe holse of Juda remoued by: it with theyr armyes whose captayne was Nahalon the sonne of Aminadab. And ouer the holse of þe trybe of the chyldren of Issachar / was Nathanael þe sonne of Iuar. And ouer the holse of þe trybe of the chyldren of Zabulon / was Elia the sonne of Melon. And the habytacyon was taken doun: and the sonnes of Gerson and Merari went forth bearynge þe habytacyon.

¶ The standert of þe hoſte of Ruben wēt forth wth theyr armyes / whoſe capteyne was Elizur the ſonne of Sedeur. And ouer þe hoſte of the trybe of þe chyldren of Simeon / was Salamieſ þe ſonne of Surt ſaddai. And ouer the hoſte of the trybe of the chyldren of Gad was Eliaſaph the ſonne of Dequel. Then þe Cathabites went forwarde and bare the holy thynges / and the other dyd ſet bp the habyta-cyon agens^t they came.

Then the standard of the hoste of the children of Ephraim went forth to their armies whose captaine was Elisama the sonne of Amiad. And ouer the hoste of the tribe of the sonnes of Manasse / was Gamaliel & sonne of Pedazur. And ouer the hoste of the tribe of the sonnes of Ben Iamin / was Abidan the sonne of Gedeoni.

And byndmost of all the hoste came þe stanbert of the hoste of the chyldren of Dan with their armys: whose capytayne was / Ahsizer þe sonne of Amni Saddai. And ouer þe hoste of the trybe of the chyldre of Aser, was * Pa-ciel the sonne of Ochran. And ouer the hoste of the trybe of the chyldre of Nephthali, was Ahsira the sonne of Enan / of this maner were the iourneies of the chyldren of Israel, with þe armys when they remoued.

And Moses sayde vnto Hobab the sonne Punteri.

Ibi.

of Raguel the Madianyte / Moyses father in laime: we goo vnto the place of which the Lorde sayde I will geue it you. So with vs we will doe the good: for the Lorde hath pro-myssed good vnto Israel. And he sayd vnto him: I will not: but weyll go to myne auncle lande and to my hymred. And Moyses sayde oh nay / leaue vs not: for thou knowest where is best for vs to pitch in the wilderness: & thou shalt be our eyes. And yf thou go with vs, telle what goodnesse the Lorde sheweth vnto vs: the same we will shewe vpon the.

And they departed from the mount of the Lozde .iiij. dayes journey / & þe arche of þe testament of þe Lozde went before the in the .iiij. dayes journey to serche out a restinge place for the. And þe cloude of þe Lozde was ouer the by daye / when they went out of the tentes.
 And when þe arche wēt forth / Moyses sayde vnto þe Lozde & let thyne enemyes be scatered / & let the that hate the flee before the. And whē þe arche rested / he sayde retourne Lozde vnto the many thousandes of Israel.

¶ The people murmureth & is punnyshed with fyre.
They despyse helpe. They loathe mān. The murmuring and wauering faith of Moyses. The Lorde bywyth the burden of Moyses to scutenge of the naugements and they prophesye. Eldad and Medad do also prophesye in the hoste. It rayneth quakles. The de-saunders are punnyshed.

The 11th Chapter

And the people * complayned and it displeased the eares of the Lorde. And when the Lorde herde it he was wroth / and the fyre of the Lorde burnt amonge them and consumed the better hably. most of the hoste. And the people cried vnto Moses / and he made intercession vnto the Lorde & the fyre quethed. And they called the name of the place * Chaberah because the fyre of the Lorde burnt amonge them. Chaberah signifies habitation.

And the rascall people that was amonge them sell a lustynge; And the chyldren of Israel also went to and wepte and sayde: who shall geue vs flesh to eate: we remēbre of fish which we shulde eate in Egypte for nought and of the Cucumbers and melouns/lekes/onyons and garlike. But now oure soules are dyed a waye / for oure eyes loke on nothyng els, saue upon Manna.

The Wanna was as it had bene corian-der seed/and to se to lyke Bedellion. And the people went aboute and gathered it/a gross-be it in milles oꝝ bett it in moztars and baked it in pannes and made cakes of it. And the tast of it was lyke unto the tast of an oyle cake. And when the dewe fell aboute þe hoste in the nyghte/the Wanna sell ther with.

And when Moses herde the people wepe in their houholdes every man in the doze of his tent/then the wrath of the Lorde boyled against him

whost exceeding: it greuch & oles also. And Moses sayde vnto the Lorde: wherfore dealest thou so cruelly with thy seruante? wherfore dost thou not fynde sauoure in thy syght seynge that thou putttest the weyght of this people vpon me? haue I concealed all this people / or haue I begotte them / that thou shouldest saye vnto me / carpe them in the bosome (as a nurse beareth & suckynge childe) vnto the lande which thou swarest vnto their fathers? where shulde I haue flesh to geue vnto all this people? for they wepe vnto me sayenge: geue vs flesh that we maye eat. I am not able to bere all this people alone / for it is to heuy for me. wherfore yf thou deale thus with me / kill me / I praye & yet I haue founde sauoure in thy syght and let me not be my wechebrede.

And the Lorde sayde vnto Moses: gether vnto me .lxx. of elders of Israel / which thou knowest & they are the elders of the people and officers ouer them / & brynge them vnto the tabernacle of witnesse / and let the stande there with the. And I will come doune and talke wth the there / & take of & spirite which is vpon the and put apon the and apon them and they shall bere with the in the burthen of the people / & so shalt thou not beare alone.

And saye vnto & people: halowe youre selues agens to morow that ye maye eat flesh for ye haue whyned in the cares of the Lorde saynge: who shal geue vs flesh to eat / for we were happye when we were in egypte? therefoze & Lorde will geue you flesh / and ye shall eat: Ye shall not eat one daye only ether .ii. or .iij. dayes / ether .x. or .xx. dayes: but euen a moneth longe / & vntill it come out at & no: strels of you / & ye be ready to parbake: because that ye haue cast & Lorde a syde which is amonge you / and haue wepte before him saynge: why came we out of egypte.

And Moses sayde: Are hundred thousande lotemen are there of & people / amonge which I am. And thou hast sayde: I will geue them flesh & they shall eat a moneth longe. Shall & shepe & the oxen be slayne for the to fynde the ether shall all the fflys of the see be gathered together to serue them? And the Lorde sayde vnto Moses: is & Lorde had wared mozte Thou shalt se whether my woide * shall come to passe vnto the or not.

And Moses went out and tolde & people the sayenge of the Lorde / and gathered the .lxx. elders of the people / and set them rounde aboute the tabernacle. And the Lorde came doune in a cloude & spake vnto him / & toke I of the spete that was vpon him / and put it vpon the .lxx. elders. And as the spirite rested vpon them / they prophesied & * did noughte eyther to els. But there remayned .ii. of the men in the hoste: the one called Eldad / & the other Medad / which were of them that were wyttten / but they were not out vnto the tabernacle: and they prophesied in the hoste.

And there ran a younge man & tolde Moses and sayde: Eldad & Medad do prophesye in the hoste. And Josua the sonne of Nun the seruaute of Moses which he had chosen out answered and sayde: master Moses / forbyd them. And Moses sayde vnto him: enuyest thou for my sake? wolde God & all the Lorde des people coulde prophesye / & & the Lorde wolde put his spirite vpon them. And then were both Moses and the elders of Israel / gat they in to the hoste.

And there went forth a wynde fro & Lorde and brought quayles from the see and let the fall aboute the hoste / euen a dayes tourney rounde aboute on euery syde of the hoste and .ii. cubites hye vpon the erth. And the people stode by all that daye & all that nyghte and on the morow / & gathered quayles. And And he that gathered the lest / gathered .x. homers full. And they fylled them rounde aboute the hoste.

And whyle the flesh was yet be twome their teeth / yet it was chewed by the wyath of the Lorde wared whott vpon the people / and the Lorde strowe of & people an exceeding myghtie slaughter. And they called the name of the place * kibzath hathauah: because they buttyed the people that lusted there.

And the people toke theyr tourney fro kibzath hathauah vnto hazeroth / and bode at hazeroth.

And Aaron and Mirjam grudge agens Moses. For he said was crychen with the leper and healed at the prayer of Moses.

The .xii. Chapter.

And Mirjam & Aaron spake agens Moses because of his wife of Zin / which he had taken: for he had taken to wife one of Zinde. And they sayde both the Lorde speake only thozow Moses: doth he not speake also by vs? And the Lorde herde it. But Moses was a very meke man aboute all the men of the erthe. And & Lorde spake attonce vnto Moses vnto Aaron and Mirjam: come out ye .iii. vnto & tabernacle of witnesse: and they came out all thre.

And the Lorde * came doune in the piler of the cloude and stode in the doze of the tabernacle & called Aaron & Mirjam. And they went out both of them. And he sayde heare my woide: if there be a prophet of & Lorde amonge you / I will shewe my selfe vnto him in a visio & will speake vnto him in a dreame. But my seruante Moses is not so / which is saythfull saythfull in all myne house. vnto hym I speake mouth to mouth & he seith the syght And the facyon of the Lorde / and not thozow rydels. wherfore the were yent strayed to speake agens my seruante Moses?

And the Lorde was angrie with the and went his waye / and the cloude departed fro of the tabernacle. And beholde / Mirjam was become leprous / as it were snowe. And when Aaron looked vpon Mirjam and sawe that she was leprous / he sayde vnto Moses: Oh I beseeche the my Lorde / put not the synne vpon vs which we haue solistly committed and synned. Oh let her not be as one that came de ad oute of his mothers wombe: for halfe her flesh is eaten awaye.

And Moses cryed vnto the Lorde sayng: Oh God / heale her. And the Lorde sayde vnto Moses: If her father had spitte in her face / shulde she not be ashamed. .vii. dayes / let her be shutt out of the hoste .vii. dayes / and after that let her be receaued in agayne. And Mirjam was shutt out of & hoste .vii. dayes and the people remoued not / tyll she was brought in agayne. And afterwaide they remoued from hazeroth / and pitched in the wilderness of Pharan.

And the Lorde sende to searche the land of Canaan: which bryng with the a cloude of grapes for a signe of fertilitye and fruitfulness.

The .xiii. Chapter.

And the Lorde spake vnto Moses sayng: * Sende men out to serche the lande of Canaan / whiche I geue vnto the chyldre of Israel: of euery trybe of their fathers a man & let the all be soche as are ruelars amonge the. And Moses at the commaundment of the Lorde sent forth out of the wilderness of Pharan: soche men as were all heades amonge & chyldren of Israel / whose names are these.

In the trybe of Ruben / Sammua & sonne of Zaur: In the trybe of Symeon / Saphat the sonne of Bozi. In the trybe of Iuda Caleph the sonne of Jephune. In the trybe of Issachar / Gual the sonne of Joseph. In the trybe of Ephraim / Hosen the sonne of Nun. In the trybe of Ben Jamin / Palti the sonne of Raphu. In the trybe of Zabulon / Gadiel the sonne of Sodi. In the trybe of Joseph: that was of Manasse / Gaddi the sonne of Suri. In the trybe of Dan / Amiel the sonne of Gemall. In the trybe of Aser / Sethur the sonne of Michael. In the trybe of Nephthali Nahebi the sonne of Nauphi. In the trybe of Gad / Guel the sonne of Machi. These are the names of the men whiche Moses sent to spyre out the lande. And Moses called the name of * Hosen the sonne of Nun / Josua.

And Moses sent them forth to spyre out &

lande of Canaan / & sayde vnto the: gett you southwarde & go by in to & hye cōtre / & se & the people & dwelleth therein: whether they be stronge or weake / ether fewe or many / and what the lade is that they dwell in whether it be good or bad / & what maner of cities they dwell in whether they dwell in tentes or walled townes / & what maner of lande it is: whether it be fatt or leane / and whether there be trees therein or not. And be of a good courage / and brynge of the frutes of the lande. And it was aboute the tyme that grapes are fyrt ripe.

And they wet by & searched out the lande from the wilderness of Sin vnto Hebron / as men go to Hemath / & they ascended vnto & south & came vnto Hebron / where Abinai was & Selai and Chalmari the sonnes of Enache. Hebron was bylt .vii. yere before * Jos in egypte. And they came vnto & ryuer of Escol & they cutt doune there a bryanch of one clouster of grapes & bare it vpon a staffe betwene twayne / and also of the pomgrates and of the fygges of the place. The ryuer was called * Nehel Escol / because of the clouster of grapes whiche the chyldren of Israel cutt doune there.

And they turned backe agayne fro searching the lande / at .xli. dayes ende. And they went and came to Moses and Aaron & vnto all the multitude of the chyldren of Israel / vnto the wilderness of Pharan: euen vnto Cades / and broughte them woide and also vnto all the congregacion / and shewed them the frute of the lande. And they tolde hym sayng: we came vnto the lande whether thou sendest vs / and surely it is a lande that floweth with milke and honye & here is of the frute of it. Nevertheless & people be stronge that dwell in the lande / and the cytyes are walled and exceedyge grate / and moztouer / we sawe the chyldren of Enach there.

The Amalekes dwell in the south contr / & so that vnder the Hethites / Jebusites and the Amozites dwell in the moztaynes / & & Cananites dwell by the see & a longe by the colle of Jordan. And Caleb stilled the murmur of the people agens Moses sayng: let vs go by plenteousnes / and conquire it / for we be able to overcome it. But the men that went by with him / sayde: we be not able to go by agens the people / for they are stronger then we. And they broughte by an euil reposte of & lade which they had serched / vnto the chyldren of Israel sayng: the lande whiche we haue gone thozowe to serche it out / is a lande that eateth by the inhabytors therof / and the people to lye / but that we sawe in it are men of stature. And there we sawe also geantes / the chyldren of Enach which are of the geantes. And we meth them.

seemed in cure fight as it were grethoppers and so we dyd in their sight.

mised do murmur agaynst God/and would have doneh Caleb and Josue. The searchers of the land saye.
Amalech killeth the Israelites.

¶ The xxiij. Chapter.

All the multitude cryed out / & the people wepte thozow out that nyght / & all the chyldren of Israel murmured agens Moses & Aaron.
And the whole congregacion sayde vnto the:
wolde God that we had dyed in the land of Egypte / ether we wolde that we had dyed in thys wilderness. Wherfore hath the Lorde broughte vs vnto this lande to fall vpon the sword / that both oure wyues / & also oure chyldren shoulde be a praye: is it not better & we retorne vnto Egypte agayne? And they sayde one to another: let vs make a captayne and retorne vnto Egypte agayne.

And Moses and Aaron fell on their faces before all the congregacion of the multitude of the chyldren of Israel. And Josua the sonne of Nun / & Caleb the sonne of Iephune which were of them that seched the lande rent their clothes and spake vnto all the compaigne of the chyldren of Israel sayinge: The lande which we walked thozowe to serche it / is a bery good land. If the Lorde haue lust to vs he will bringe vs in to this lande and geue it vs / which is a land that floweth with mylke and honey. But in any wise rebell not agens the Lorde. Whoreouer feare ye not the people of the lande / for they are but byrad for vs. & he whiche is departed from them / and the Lorde is with vs: feare them not therfore.

And all the whole multitude bade stone them with stones. But the glorie of the Lorde appeared in the tabernacle of witness vnto all the chyldren of Israel. And the Lorde sayde vnto Moses: Howe longe shall thys people rayle vnto me / & howe longe will it be vnto the peccatrice destroye the / & will make of a greater naciō a mightier then they.

And Moses sayde vnto the Lorde: when I Egyptians shall heare it / for thou broughtest this people with thy myghte from amonge them. And it wilbe tolde to the inhabitants of this lande also / for they haue heide likewise that thou the Lorde art amōge this people / and that thou art sene face to face / and that thy cloude standeth ouer them / & that thou goest before the by daye tyme in a pillar of a cloude and in a pillar of fyre by nyght. If thou walt kill all this people as they were but one man then the nations which haue herde the same of the / will speake sayinge: because the Lorde was not able to bringe in thys people in to the lande which he swore vnto the / therfore he slew them in the wilderness.

So now let the power of my Lorde be greate / according as thou hast spokē sayinge: the Lorde is longe yet he be angrie / and full of metey / and suffereth synne and trespase / and leaueth no man innocent / and visiteth the iniquite of the fathers vpon the chyldren / vnto the thirde and fourth ge-neraciō / he mercifull I beseeche the therfore vnto the synne of this people according as thou hast forgiven this people from Egypte euen vnto this place.

And the Lorde sayde: I haue forgiven it / according to thy request. But as trulye as I lye / al the erth shalbe fylled with my glorye. For of all those men which haue sente me glorpe & my myracles which I dyd in Egypte & in the wilderness / & yet haue tēpted me now this. x. tymes I haue not hearkened vnto my voyce / there shal not one of them see the land which I swore vnto their fathers / nether shall any of the that rayled vpon me / see it. But my ser-uaunt Caleb: because there is another maner spirit with him / and because he hath folowed me vnto the vtmost: him I will bringe into the lande which he hath walked in / and his seed shal conquere it / and also the Ama-lehtes and Cananites which dwell in the lowe contris. & to morowe turne you & gett you in to the wilderness: euen the waye to-warde the redd see.

And the Lorde spake vnto Moses & Aaron sayinge: howe longe shall this euill multitude murmur agens me? I haue herde the murmuringes of the chyldren of Israel which they murmur agens me. & all them / the Lorde sayeth. As truly as I lye / I will do vnto you euen as ye haue spoken in myne ea-res. Your carthes shall lye in thys wildernesse / nether shall any of these nobys which were nombred from .xx. yere and aboue of you which haue murmured agens me come in to the lande ouer which I sēpted myne hande to make you dwell therein / saue Caleb the sonne of Iephune / and Josua the sonne of Nun.

And your chyldren which ye sayde shoulde be a praye / them I will bringe in / and they shall knowe the lande which ye haue refused / and your carthes shall lye in thys wilderness.
And your chyldren shall wandze in this wil-dernesse. xl. yeres and suffer for your iniqui-tiedome vntill your carthes be wasted in the wildernesse / after the nombre of the dayes in which ye serched out the lande. xl. dayes / & eue-ry daye a yere: so that they shall beare your in-iquities.

righteousnes. xl. yere / & ye shall selem ben geaunce of the Lorde haue sayd that I will do it vnto all this euill congregacion that are gathered together agens me: euen in this wildernesse ye shalbe consumed / and here ye shall dye.

And the men which Moses sent to serche the lande / & which (when they came agayne) made all the people to murmur agens it in that they broughte by a slander vpon the lande: dyed for their bypnyng by that euill slander vpon it / & were plaged before the Lorde. But Josua the sonne of Nun and Caleb the sonne of Iephune which were of the men that went to serche the lande / luyed vnto all the chyldren of Israel / and the people toke the great sorowme.

And they rose by perly in the morninge & gatt them by in to the toppes of the mountayne sayenge: lo we be here / & will go by vnto the place of which the Lorde sayd / for we haue synd. And Moses sayde: wherfore wyl ye go on this maner beyonde the worde of the Lorde? it wyl not come well to passe go not by for the Lorde is not amonge you that ye be not slayne before your enemyes. For the Amalehtes and the Cananites are there before you / and ye wyl fall vpon the sword because ye are touned a waye fro the Lorde.
And therfore the Lorde wyl not be with you.

But they were blynded to go by in to the hill toppes: neuer the latter / the arche of the testament of the Lorde and Moses departed not out of the hōse. Then the Amalehtes & the Cananites which dwell in that hill / came dowme and smote them and bewed the: euen vnto Borma.

¶ The bypnyng of the that enter in to the lande
The punishment of hym that synneth of arrogāce or pryde. The man is sōoned that gathered riches on the earth. Wherby must be made by the quarters of the garments.

¶ The xij. Chapter.

And the Lorde spake vnto Moses sayenge: speake vnto the chyldren of Israel & saye vnto the: when ye be come in to the lande of your ha-bitacion which I geue vnto you / & will offre an offeringe vpon the fyre vnto the Lorde / whether it be a burnt offeringe or a speycall bowe or frewill offeringe or yf it be in your pryncypall feastes to make a swete sauoure vnto the Lorde / of the oren or of the flocke.

Then let him that offereth his offeringe vnto the Lorde / bringe also a meat offeringe of a tenth deale of floure myngled with the fourth parte of an hin of oyle / and the fourth parte of an hin of wyne for a bypnyng offeringe and offer with the burnt offeringe or any other offeringe when it is a lambe. And vnto a rā thou shalt offer a meat offeringe of .iiij. tenth deales of floure / myngled with the fourth parte of an hin of oyle / and to a bypnyng offeringe thou shalt offer the fourth parte of an hin of wyne / to be a swete sauoure vnto the Lorde.

When thou offerest an oxe to a burnt offeringe or in any speycall bowe or peace offeringe vnto the Lorde / then thou shalt bringe vnto an oxe / a meat offeringe of .iiij. tenth deales of floure myngled with halfe an hin of oyle.
And thou shalt bringe for a bypnyng offeringe halfe an hin of wyne / that is an offeringe of a swete sauoure vnto the Lorde. This is the maner that shalbe done vnto one oxe / one rā a lambe or a hye. And according to the num-bre of soche offeringes / thou shalt encrease the meat offeringes & the bypnyng offeringes.

All that are of your selues shall do these thynges after this maner / when he offereth an offeringe of swete sauoure vnto the Lorde.
And yf there be a strainger with you or he amonge you in your generacions / and will offer an offeringe of a swete sauoure vnto the Lorde: euen as ye do / so he shall do. One oxe / a dynaunce shall serue both for you of the con-gregacion / and also for the strainger. And it shalbe an ordynance for euer amonge your chyldren after you / that the strainger and ye shalbe lyke before the Lorde. One lambe and one maner shall serue / both for you and for the strainger that dwelleth with you.

And the Lorde spake vnto Moses sayenge: speake vnto the chyldren of Israel and saye the Lorde sayeth: when ye be come in to the lande whether I will bringe you / then whē ye will eate of the bread of the lande / ye shall geue an heue offeringe vnto the Lorde. Ye shall geue a hake of the first of your dowme vnto an he-ue offeringe: as ye do the heue offeringe of the barne / euen so ye shal heue it. Of the first of your dowme ye must geue vnto the Lorde an heue offeringe / thozow out your generacions.

If ye ouerle your selues and obseue not all these commandemētes which the Lorde hath spoken vnto Moses / & all the Lorde hath commaunded you by the hande of Moses / from the first daye sowarde that the Lorde commaunded amonge your generacion: whē oughte is commytted ignorantly before the eyes of the congregacion / then all the multitude shall offer a calfe for a burnt offeringe to be a swete sauoure vnto the Lorde / & the meat offeringe & the bypnyng offeringe ther-to / according to the maner: and an he goote for a syn offeringe. And the preast shall make an attonement for all the multitude of the chyldren of Israel / & it shalbe forgiven the for it was ignorance.

ignozance. And they shall bynge their giftes vnto the offeringe of the Lorde / & they synofferynge before the Lorde for they ignozance. And it shalbe forgiven vnto all multitude of the chyldren of Israel / & vnto stranger that dwelleth amonge you: for the ignozance pertaineth vnto all the people.

D If any one soule synne thozow ignozance he shall bynge a she goote of a yere olde for a synofferynge. And the preast shall make an atonement for the soule that synned ignozantly with the synofferynge before the Lorde and reconyle him / and it shalbe forgiven him. And both thou that art bozne one of the chyldren of Israel and the straunger that dwelleth amonge you shall haue both one lawe. yf ye synne thozow ignozance.

And the soule that both ought presumptuously / whether he be an Israelite or a strainger / the same hath despyled the Lorde. And that soule shalbe destroyed from amonge his people / because he hath despyled the worde of the Lorde and hath broken his commaundementes / that soule therefore shall perishe & his synne shalbe vpon him.

b. Recedente And whyle the chyldren of Israel were in the wilderness / they founde a man getherynge stiches vpon the Saboth daye. And they that founde him getherynge stiches / broughte him vnto Moses and Aaron & vnto all the congregacion: and they put him in ward / for it was not declared what shulde be done vnto him. And the Lorde sayde vnto Moses: the man shall dye: let all multitude stone him with stones without fauour. And all the multitude broughte him without the hoste and stoned him with stones / & he dyed as the Lorde commaunded Moses.

c. Soche gardes And the Lorde spake vnto Moses sayenge: speake vnto the chyldren of Israel and byd them / that they make them gardes vpon the byrded wither quarters of theyr garments thozow out theyr generacions / and let them make the gardes of rybandes of Iacynth. And the garde shall be vnto you to loke vpon it / that ye remembre all the commaundementes of the Lorde and do the: that ye seke not a waye after poure adone hertes & after poure adone eyes / for to go a whozing after the: but yf ye mebye & do al my commaundementes & be holy vnto poure God / for I am the Lorde poure God. And I broughte you out of the lande of Egypte for to be poure God. I am the Lorde God.

The rebellis & resystance of Chozah Dathan & Abiram. The erth opened and swallowed them vp.

The xlii. Chapter.

a. Somewhyle And Chozah the sonne of Izehar & Dathan & Abiram the sonne of Eliab / and On the sonne of Deleth / & sonne of Ruben: stode by before Moses / with other of the chyldren of Israel. it hundred and fytie / heedes of the congregacion / and councelers / and men of same / and they gathered them selues together agens Moses and Aaron and sayed vnto them: ye haue done ynough. For all the multitude are holy every one of them & the Lorde is amonge the. Why therefore haue ye our selues vpon aboute the congregacion of the Lorde.

When Moses hearde it / he fell vpon his face and spake vnto Chozah and vnto all his compagne sayenge: to morowe the Lorde will shewe who is his and who is holy / and wyl take them vnto hym / and whom so euer he hath chosen / he wyl cause to come to hym.

This do: take fyrepannes / thou Chozah and all thy compagne / and do fyre therein & put cens therto before the Lorde to morowe. And then whosoeuer the Lorde both chose / the same is holy. Ye make ynough to do ye chyldren of Leui.

And Moses sayed vnto Chozah: heare ye chyldren of Leui / Semeth it but a small thyng vnto you / that the God of Israel hath separated you from the multitude of Israel to bynge you to him / to do the seruyce of the dwellinge place of the Lorde / and to stande before the people to minystrer vnto them: he hath taken the to him and all thy byrdren & sonnes of Leui with the / & ye seke the office of the preast also. For which cause both thou and all thy compagne are gathered together agens the Lorde: for what is Aaron / that ye shulde murmure agens him.

And Moses sent to call Dathan & Abiram the sonnes of Eliab / and they answered we wyl not come. Semeth it a small thyng vnto the that thou hast broughte vs out of a lande that floweth with mylke and honye / to kyl vs in the wilderness. But that thou shuldest ragge ouer vs also? Moze ouer thou hast broughte vs vnto no lande that floweth with mylke and honye / nether hast geuen vs possessions of felde or of bynes. Ethe wilt thou pull out the eyes of these men: we wyl not come.

And Moses waxed very angrie and sayed vnto the Lorde: Turne not vnto their offerynge. I haue not taken so moch as an offe from them / nether haue bereyde any of them. Then Moses sayed vnto Chozah: Be thou & all thy compagne before the Lorde: both thou they and Aaron to morowe. And take every man his censer and put cens in them / and come before the Lorde every man with his censer: two hundred and fytie censers / and Aaron with his censer. And they toke every man his censer and put fyre in them & sayed cens theron / and stode in the doze of the tabernacle tabernacle of witness / and Moses and Aaron also. And Chozah gathered all the congregacion agens them vnto the doze of the tabernacle of witness.

And the gloze of the Lorde apered vnto all the congregacion. And the Lorde spake vnto Moses and Aaron sayenge: separate poure selues from this congregacion / that I maye consume the atonce. And they fell vpon theyr faces & sayed: O most myghtie God of the spirites of all fleshe / one man hath synned / and wilt thou be wroth with all the multitude? And the Lorde spake vnto Moses sayenge: speake vnto the congregacion and saye: Gett you awaye from aboute the dwellinge of Chozah / Dathan and Abiram. And Moses rose vp and went vnto Dathan and Abiram / & the elders of Israel folowed him. And he spake vnto the congregacion sayenge: departe from the tentes of these wicked men & touche nothinge of theyr: lest ye perishe in all their synnes. And they gate them fro the dwellinge of Chozah / Dathan and Abiram on every syde. And Dathan & Abiram came out and stode in the doze of their tentes with their wyues / their sonnes & their chyldren.

And Moses sayed: hereby ye shal knowe that the Lorde hath sent me to do all these thynges / & that I haue not done the of myne owne mynde. If these men dye & comen deth of all men or yf they be byslyted after the bystacyon of all men / then the Lorde hath not sent me. But and yf the Lorde make a newe thyng / and the erth open hit mouth & swallowe them and all that pertaine vnto them / so that they go doune & quicke in to hel: then ye shal vnderstand / that these men haue rayled vpon the Lorde.

And as sone as he had made an ende of speakinge al these wordes / the grounde cloued a sonder that was vnder them / and the erth opened her mouth and swallowed them and their houses and all the men that were with Chozah and all theyr goodes. And they and all that pertayned vnto them / went doune alyue vnto hell / and the erth closed vpon them / and they perished from amonge the congregacion. And all Israel that were aboute the lede at the crye of them. For they sayed: The erth myghte hapelye swallowe vs also. And there came oute a fyre from the Lorde and consumed the two hundred & fytie men that offred cens.

And the Lorde spake vnto Moses sayenge: Speake vnto Eleazar the sonne of Aaron the preast and let him take vp the censers oute of the burninge & shatter the fyre here and there / for the censers of these synners are halowed in theyr deathes: and let them be beaten in to then plates and fastened vpon the altare. For they offred them before the Lorde / and therefore they are holye and they shalbe a sygne vnto the chyldren of Israel.

And Eleazar the preast toke the brasen censers which they that were burnt had offred / & beat them and fastened the vpon the altare / to be a remembrance vnto the chyldren of Israel / that no straunger which is not of the seed of Aaron / come nere to offer cens before the Lorde / that he be not made lyke vnto Chozah and his compagne: as the Lorde sayed vnto him by the hande of Moses.

And on the morowe all the multitude of the chyldren of Israel murmured agens Moses and Aaron sayenge: ye haue kyled the people of the Lorde. And when the multitude was gathered agens Moses & Aaron they loked towarde the tabernacle of witness. And beholde / the cloude had couered it and the gloze of the Lorde appeared. And Moses & Aaron went before the tabernacle of witness. And the Lorde spake vnto Moses & Aaron sayenge: Gett you from this congregacion / that I maye consume them quychlye. And they fell vpon theyr faces.

And Moses sayed vnto Aaron: take a censer and put fyre therein out of the alter / and poure on cens / & go quychlye vnto the congregacion and make an atonement for them. For there is wroth gone out from the Lorde and there is a plage begone. And Aaron toke as Moses commaunded him / and ran vnto the congregacion: & beholde / the plage was begonne amonge the people / and he put on cens / & made an atonement for the people. And he stode betwene the deed / and the that were alyue / and the plage ceased. And the nombe of them that dyed in the plage / were xiiij. thousande and seue hundred: besyde the that dyed aboute the bulfynes of Chozah. And Aaron went agayne vnto Moses vnto the doze of the tabernacle of witness / and the plage ceased.

Aarons rodde buddeth and beareth blossomes. The xlii. Chapter.

And the Lorde spake vnto Moses sayenge: speake vnto the chyldren of Israel and take of the / for every pryncypall house a rod / of theyr prynces ouer the houses of theyr fathers: euen xiiij. rodde / & wyte every mans name vpon his rod. And wyte Aarons name vpon the staffe of Leui: for every heedman ouer the houses of their fathers shall haue a rod. And put them in the tabernacle of witness where I wyl mete you. And his rod whom I chose / shall blossom: So I wyl make cease from me the grudginges of the chyldren of Israel whych they grudge agens you.

And Moses spake vnto the chyldren of Israel / & all the prynces gaue him for euery pryncce ouer they fathers houses / a rod: euen xii. rodde / & the rod of Aaron was amonge the rodde. And Moses put the rodde before the Lozde in the tabernacle of witness. And on the morowe / Moses went into the tabernacle: and beholde * the rod of Aaron of the house of Leui was budded & bare blossomes and almondes. And Moses broughte out all the staves from before the Lozde: vnto all the chyldren of Israel: and they looked vpon them: and toke euery man his staffe.

And the Lozde sayde vnto Moses: bringe Aarons rod agayne before the witness to be kepte for a token vnto the chyldren of rebellion: that they murmuringes maye cease from me: that they dye not. And Moses dyd as the Lozde commaunded him. And the chyldren of Israel spake vnto Moses sayenge: beholde / we are destroyed and all come to nought: for whosoeuer cometh nye the dwellinge of the Lozde / dyeth. Shall we utterly consume a waye?

The offyce of the Leuites. The tythes and fyist frutes must be geuen them. Aarons heritage.

The xliii. Chapter.

And the Lozde sayde vnto Aaron. Thou & thy sonnes and thy fathers house with the / shall here the faute of that whiche is done amysse in the holy place. And thou & thy sonnes with the / shall beare the faute of that whiche is done amysse in youre preasthode. And thy brethren also the tribe of Leui / the tribe of thy father take with the / and let them be sorted vnto the / and minstre vnto the. And thou & thy sonnes with the / shall minstre before the tabernacle of witness. And let them waite vpon the and vpon all the tabernacle: only let the not come nye the holy vessels: the altar: that both they and ye also dye not. And let them be by the a waye on the tabernacle of witness / and on all the seruyce of the tabernacle / and let no straunger come nye vnto you.

Waite therfore vpon the holy place and vpon the altar / & there shall no moare waite vpon the chyldren of Israel: beholde / I haue taken youre brethren the Leuites from amonge the chyldren of Israel / to be youre / as gyftes geuen vnto the Lozde to do the seruyce of the tabernacle of witness. And se that both thou and thy sonnes with the take hede vnto youre preastes office / in all thyng that pertaine vnto the altar and within the bayle. And se that ye serue / for I haue geuen youre preastes office vnto you for a gyfte to do seruyce: and the straunger that cometh nye / shall dye.

And the Lozde spake vnto Aaron: beholde I haue geuen the the keepinge of myne heue offeringes in all the holowed thynges of the chyldren of Israel. And vnto the I haue geuen them vnto anoyntinge and to thy sonnes: to be a dutye for euer. This shall be thyne of most holy sacrifice. All their gyftes / thorum out all their meat offeringes synne offeringes and trespass offeringes whiche they bringe vnto me. They shall be most holy vnto the & vnto thy sonnes. And ye shall eate it in most holye place: all that are males shall eate of it for it shall be holye vnto the.

And this shall be thyne: the heue offeringes of their gyftes / thorum out all the waue offeringes of the chyldren of Israel / for I haue geuen the vnto the & thy sonnes / & thy daughters with the to be a dutye for euer: and all that are cleane in thy house / shall eate of it: all the fact of the oyle / of the wyne and of the coyne: their fyist frutes whiche they geue vnto the Lozde that haue I geuen vnto the. The fyist frutes of all that is in these landes whych they bringe vnto the Lozde / shall be thyne: and all that are cleane in thyne house / shall eate of it.

All dedicate thynges in Israel / shall be thyne. All that bringeth the matrice of all flesh that men bringe vnto the Lozde / bothe of man and beast / shall be thyne. Neuer the later the fyist borne of man shall be redeemed / and the fyist borne of vncleane beastes shall be redeemed. And their redempcyons shall be at a moneth olde / valued at .v. cycles of syluer / of the holye cycle. A cycle maketh twentye shekels. But the fyist borne of oxen / shepe & goates shall not be redeemed. For they are holy: and thou shalt spynkle their blood vpon the altar: and shalt burne their fat to be a sacrifice of a sweete sauour vnto the Lozde.

And the flesh of them shall be thyne / as the wauebreast & all the right shoulder is thyne all the holy heue offeringes whiche the chyldren of Israel heue vnto the Lozde / I geue the and thy sonnes and thy daughters with the to be a dutye for euer. And it shall be a salted covenante for euer: before the Lozde: vnto the and to thy seed with the.

And the Lozde spake vnto Aaron: thou shalt haue none inheritaunce in their lande no: parte amonge them. For I am thy parte and thy inheritaunce among the chyldren of Israel. And beholde I haue geuen the chyldren of Leui / the tenth in Israel to inheryte / for the seruyce whiche they serue in the tabernacle of witness / that the chyldren of Israel henceforth come not nye the tabernacle of witness / and beare synne and dye. And the Leuites shall do the seruyce in the tabernacle of witness and beare they synne: & it shall be a lawe a lawe for euer vnto youre chyldren after you: But amonge the chyldren of Israel they shall inheret none inheritaunce. For the tithes of the chyldren of Israel whiche they heue vnto the Lozde / I haue geuen the Leuites to inheret. wherfore I haue sayed vnto them: Amonge the chyldren of Israel ye shall inheret none inheritaunce.

And the Lozde spake vnto Moses sayenge: speake vnto the Leuites and saye vnto the: when ye take of the chyldren of Israel the tithes whiche I haue geuen you of the to youre inheritaunce / ye shall take an heue offeringe of that same for the Lozde: euen the tenth of that tythe. And it shall be rehened vnto you for youre heue offeringe / euen as though ye gaue come out of the barne or a full offeringe from the wyne presse.

And of this maner ye shall heue an heue offeringe vnto the Lozde / of all youre tithes whiche ye receaue of the chyldren of Israel / and ye shall geue thereof the Lozdes heue offeringe vnto Aaron the preast. Of all youre gyftes / ye shall take out the Lozdes heue offeringe: euen the fact of all they halowed thynges.

And thou shalt saye vnto them: when ye haue take awaye the fact of it / it shall be counted vnto the Leuites / as the encrease of coyne and wyne. And ye shall eate it in all places both ye and youre householdes / for it is youre remaue for youre seruyce in the tabernacle of witness. And ye shall beare no synne by the reason of it / when ye haue take from it the fact of it: nether shall ye vnbalowe the halowed thynges of the chyldren of Israel: and so shall ye not dye.

Of the redde howe. The lawe of hym that dyeth in the tabernacle: and of hym also that toucheth any vncleane thyng.

The xlv. Chapter.

And the Lozde spake vnto Moses & Aaron sayenge: this is the ordynance of the lawe whiche the Lozde commaundeth sayenge: speake vnto the chyldren of Israel and let them take the a redde howe with out spot wherin is no blemish and whiche neuer bate poche vpon her. And ye shall geue her vnto Eleazar the preast and he shall bringe her with out the hoste & cause her to be layne before him.

And Eleazar the preast shall take of her blood vpon his synger / & spynkle it streyghe towarde the tabernacle of witness. bii. cynges. And he shall cause the howe to be burnt in his syghte: both shyn / flesh and bloude / with the dogge also. And let the preast take Cedar wood / and flospe and purple cloth / and cast it vpon the howe as she burneth. And let the preast wash his clothes and bathe his flesh in water: and then come in to the hoste: and the preast shall be vncleane vnto the euen.

And he that burneth her / shall wash his clothes in water & bathe his flesh also in water: & be vncleane vntill euen: And one that is cleane / shall go and take hpp the alshes of the howe: and put them without the hoste in a cleane place / where they shall be kepte to make spynklynge water for the multitude of the chyldren of Israel: for it is a synofferynge. And let him that gathered the alshes of the howe / wash his clothes / & remayne vncleane vntill euen. And thys shall be vnto the chyldren of Israel and vnto the straunger that dwelleth amonge them: a maner for euer.

He that toucheth any deed persone / shall be vncleane. bii. dayes. And he shall purifye him selfe with the alshes the thyrde daye and then he shall be cleane the seuenth daye. And if he purifye not him selfe the thyrde daye / then the seuenth daye / he shall not be cleane. Whosoeuer toucheth any persone that dyeth & spynklyth not him selfe / defyleth the dwellinge of the Lozde: & therfore that soule shall be rooted out of Israel: because he hath not spynkyled the spynklynge water vpon him he shall be vncleane: and his vncleannesse shall remayne vpon him.

This is the lawe of the man that dyeth in a tent: al that come in to the tent and all that is in the tent / shall be vncleane. bii. dayes. And all the vessels that be open whiche haue no lyd no: couerynge vpon them / are vncleane. And whosoeuer toucheth one that is layne with a swerde in the felde / or a deed persone / or a bone of a deed man / or a graue: shall be vncleane. bii. dayes.

And they shall take for an vncleane persone of the burnt alshes of the synofferynge / & put runninge water therto in to a vessel. And a cleane persone shall take flospe & dippe it in the water: and spynkle it vpon the tent & vpon all the vessels & on the soules that were there: and vpon him that touched a bone or a layne persone or a deed body or a graue. And the cleane persone shall spynkle vpon the vncleane the thyrde daye and the seuenth daye. And the seuenth daye he shall purifye him selfe and wash his clothes and bathe him selfe in water: and shall be cleane at euen.

If any be vncleane & spynkle not him selfe the same soule shall be destroyed fro amonge the congregaciō: for he hath defiled the holy place of the Lozde & is not spynkyled with spynklynge water therfore is he vncleane. And this shall be a perpetual lawe vnto the. And he that spynklyth the spynklynge water / shall wash his clothes. And he that toucheth the spynklynge water / shall be vncleane vntill euen. And what soeuer the vncleane persone toucheth / shall be vncleane.

uncleane. And the soule that toucheth it/shalbe uncleane untill the euen.
¶ And Jam dyeth. The people murmur. They have water out of the roche. Edom denyeth the Isra- elites passage thozow his realme. The death of Aa- son in whose roume Eleazar succedeth.
¶ The .xx. Chapter.

And the whole multitude of the chyld- ren of Israel came in to the de- sert of Sin in the first moneth/ & the people dwelt at Cades. And there dyed Miriam/ and was buried there. Moze ouer there was no water for the multitude/ wherfore they gathered the selues together agens Moses & agens Aard. And the people chode w Moses & spake sayenge: wold God that we had perished whē oure brythren pe- rished before the Lord. Why haue ye brought the congregaciō of the Lord vnto this wil- derneſſe/ both we & oure catell shulde dye here? wherfore brought ye vs out of Egipte to brynge vs in to this vnglacious place/ which is no place of seed nor of fygges nor bynes nor of pomgranates/ nether is there any water to brynke?

¶ And Moses toke the staffe fro before the Lord/ as he commaunded him. And Moses and Aaron gathered the congregaciō toge- ther before the roche/ and he sayed vnto them heare ye rebellious/ must we sett you water out of this roche? And Moses lifte vp his hā de with his staffe and smote the roche. & ty- mes/ and the water came out abundantly/ & the multitude dranche and their beasts also.

¶ And the Lord spake vnto Moses & Aa- ron: because ye beleued me not/ to sanctifye me in the eyes of the chyldren of Israel/ ther- fore ye shall not brynge this congregaciō in to the lande which I haue geuen them.

¶ This is the water of stryfe / because the chyldren of Israel stroue with the Lord/ & he was sanctified vpon them.

¶ And Moses sent messengers from Cades vnto the kynge of Edom. Thus sayeth thy brother Israel: Thou knowest all the traueil & hath happened vs/ how oure fathers went doune in to Egipte/ and how we haue dwelt in Egipte a longe tyme / and how the Egip- tians hered bothe vs and oure fathers. When we cryed vnto the Lord and he herde oure voyces/ and sent an angell & hath sett vs out of Egipte. And beholde/ we are in Cades a- citie harde by the bozders of thy countre let vs go a good felowshipe thozow thy countre * we wyl not go thozow the felde nor thozow the bynepardes/ nether wyl we brynke of the water of the fountaynes/ but we wyl go by the hye waye and nether turne vnto the ryghte hāde nor to the lefte/ vntill we be past thy coun- tre. And Edom answered him: Se thou come not by me / lest I come out agens the with the swerde. And the chyldren of Israel sayed vnto him: we will go by the beaten waye: and yf ether we or oure catell brynke of thy wa- ter/ we will paye for it/ we wyl do no moare but passe thozow by fote only. And he sayed: ye shall not go thozow. And Edom came out agens hym with moche people and with a myghtie power. And thus Edom denyed to geue Israel passage thozow his countre. And Israel turned a waye from him.

¶ And the chyldren of Israel remoued from Cades and went vnto mount Moze with all the congregaciō. And the Lord spake vnto Moses and Aaron in mount Moze/ harde vnto the colles of the lande of Edom sayenge: let Aaron be put vnto his people / for he shall not come in to the lande which I haue geuen vnto the chyldren of Israel: because ye disco- beted my mouth at the water of stryfe. Take Aaron and Eleazar his sonne / and brynge them vp in to mount Moze/ and streppe Aard out of his bestimentes and put them vpon Eleazar his sonne/ and let Aaron be put vnto his people and dye there.

¶ And Moses dyd as the Lord commaun- ded: and they went vp in to mount Moze in the syghte of all the multitude. And Moses toke off Aarons clothes and put them vpon Elea- zar his sonne/ & Aaron dyed there in the toppe of the mount. And Moses and Eleazar came doune out of the mount. And all the house of Israel mourned for Aaron .xxx. dayes.

¶ Israel banqueteth byng Aard. The fyerre ser- pents synge them: but when they loke at the byng serpent which the Lord commaunded Moses to lyft vp/ they are healed. The bynges/ Aard and Og are ouercome in batell.

¶ The .xxi. Chapter.

And when kynge Aard the cananite which dwelt in the south partys/ harde tell that Israel came by the waye that the spies had soude out he came & foughte with Israel & toke some of them prisioners. Then Israel bowed a bowe vnto the Lord and sayed: If thou wilt geue this people in to oure handes/ we wyl destroye theyr cities. And the Lord herde the voyce of Israel/ and deliuered them the Cananites. And they destroyed both them & theyr cities/ and called the place Moza. Then

¶ When they departed from mount Moze to- ward the redd see: to cōpasse the land of Edom. And the soules of the people saynted by the waye. And the people spake agens God and agens Moses: wherfore hast thou brought vs out of Egipte / for to dye in the wylder- nesſe for here is nether bread nor water/ and oure soules lotheth this fyerre bread.

¶ Then the Lord sent fyerre serpentes amōge the people/ which stonge them: so that moche people dyed in Israel. And the people came to Moses and sayed: we haue synned/ for we haue spoken agens the Lord and agens the make intercession to the Lord/ that he take awaye the serpents fro vs. And Moses made intercession for the people. And the Lord sayde vnto Moses: make the a serpent and hange it vp for a sygne/ and lett as many as are bytten loke vpon it and they shall lyue. And Moses made a serpent of brasse & set it vp for a sygne. And when the serpentes had bytten any man/ he went and behelde the ser- pent of brasse and recovered.

¶ And the chyldren of Israel remoued and pitched in Moab. And they departed from Moab and laye at Egebarim in the wylder- nesſe which is before Moab on the east syde. And they remoued thence/ and pitched vpon the ryuer of zarad. And they departed thence and pitched on the other syde of Arnon/ which ryuer is in the wylderneſſe / and cometh out of the colles of the Amozites: for Arnon is the bozder of Moab/ betwene Moab & the Amo- rites. wherfore it is spoken in the booke of the warre of the Lord: goo with a violence/ both on the ryuer of Arnon and on the ryuers heed/ whiche shotteth doune to dwell at Ar/ & leaneth vpon the colles of Moab.

¶ And fro thence they came to Bear/ whiche is the well wherof the Lord spake vnto Mo- ses: gather the people together/ that I maye geue them water. Then Israel lange this longe: Aryle by well/ synge therto: The well wyche the rulers dygged and the captaynes of the people in the helpe of the lawegeuer and with their staves.

¶ And from this wylderneſſe they went to Matana/ and from Matana to Mahaliet/ & from Mahaliet to Bamoth / & from Bamoth to the balay that is in the felde of Moab in the toppe of Phalgah which boweth toward to Sehon/ kynge of the Amozites sayng: let vs go thozow thy lande: we wyl not tourne in to thy felde nor in to thy bynepardes/ ne- ther brynke of the water of the welles: but we will go alonge by the cōmen waye/ vntill we be past thy countre. And Sehon wolde geue Israel no licence to passe thozow his countre/ but gathered all his people together & went out agens Israel in to the wylderneſſe. And he came to Iabeya and foughte with Israel.

¶ And Israel smote him with the edge of the swerde & conquered his lande/ from Arnon vnto Iabock: eue vnto the chyldre of Arnon. For the bozders of the chyldren of Arnon/ are strouge. And Israel toke all these cyties & dwelt in all the cyties of the Amozites: in Ieshon & in all the townes & longe therto. For Ieshon was the citie of Sehon the kynge of the Amozites which Sehon had fought before with the kynge of the Moabites/ and had take all his lande out of his hande / eue vnto Arnon. wherfore it is a prouerbe / go to Ieshon & lett the cytie of Sehon be byt & made readie for there is a fyer gone out of Ieshon & a flame from the citie of Sehon & hath consumed Ar of the Moabites and the men of the bylles of Arnon. Who be to the Moab: o people of Chamios ye are vndone. His sonnes are put to fyghte and his daughters brought captiue vnto Sehon kynge of the Amozites. Their fyghte is out from Ieshon vnto Dibon and we made a wylderneſſe eue vnto Moza whiche reacheth vnto Mediba. And thus Israel dwelt in the land of the Amo- rites. And Moses sent to serche oute Iazer/ & they toke the townes belongynge therto & conquered the Amozites that were there.

¶ And then they tourned & went by toward Balan. And Og the kynge of Balan came out agens them/ both he and all his people/ to warre at Iazer. And the Lord sayde vnto Moses: feare hym not/ for I haue deliuered him in to thy handes with all his people & his lād. And thou shalt do to him as thou dydest to Sehon the kynge of the Amozites which dwelt at Ieshon. And they smote him & his sonnes and all his people / vntill ther was nothyng left him. And they conquered his lande and the chyldre of Israel remoued and pytched in the felde of Moab / on the other syde of Iordane/ by Iericho.

¶ Kynge Balac sendeth for Balam/ to chynent that he shuld curse Israel: but Balam can do nothyng & gage the wyl of the Lord Balamis alle speareth to him in the waye.

¶ The .xxi. Chapter.

And Balac the sonne of Ziphor saue. All Israel had done to the Amo- rites/ and the Moabites were soze a frayd of the people/ because they were many/ and abhorred the chyldren of Is- rael: And Moab sayde vnto the elders of Moabian/ now shall this compaigne lyche by all that are rounde aboute vs / as an oxe lyketh by the graffe of the felde. And Balac the sonne of Ziphor was kynge of the Moa- bites at that tyme.

Deut. xxxij. And he sent messengers vnto *Balam the sonne of Beor/ the interpreter whiche dwelt vpon the ryuer of the lande of the chyldren of his folke/ to call him sayinge: beholde/ there is a people come out of Egypte which couereth the face of the erthe and lyeth euē harde by me. Come nowe a felowshippe and curse me this people. For they are to myghtie for me/ so perauenture I mighte be able to smyte them & to dryue them oute of the lande. For I wote þ whome thou blessest shalbe blessed/ and whome thou cursest shalbe cursed.

And the elders of Moab went with the elders of Midian/ & the rewarde of the sothe sayinge in their handes. And they came vnto Balam and tolde him the wordes of Balac. And he sayde vnto thei/ tary here all night and I will brynge you worde / euen as the Lorde shall saye vnto me. And the lordes of Moab abode with Balam.

C And God came vnto Balam & sayd: what men are these which are with the? And Balam sayde vnto god: Balac the sonne of Ziphor kynge of Moab hath sent vnto me sayinge: beholde/ there is a people come out of Egypte and couereth the face of the erthe: come now therfore and curse me the/ that so perauenture I maye be able to ouercome the in battle/ & to dryue the out. And God sayde vnto Balam: thou shalt not go wth the/ nether curse the people/ for they are blessed.

And Balam rose by in the mornyng and sayde vnto the lordes of Balac: get you vnto your lande/ for the Lorde will not suffre me to go with you. And the lordes of Moab rose by & went vnto Balac and sayd: Balam wolde not come with vs. And Balac sent agayne a greater cōpanye of lordes & moze honora- ble then they. And they came to Balam and tolde him: Thus sayeth Balac the sonne of Ziphor: oh/ let nothyng let the to come vnto me/ for I will greatly promote the vnto great honoure/ and will do whatsoeuer thou sayest vnto me / come therfore I praye the/ curse me this people.

Num. xxxij. And Balam answered and sayde vnto þ seruantes of Balac. * If Balac wolde geue me his housfull of siluer and golde/ I can go no further then the worde of the Lorde my God/ to do lesse or moare. Neuerthelesse tarie ye here all nyghte: that I maye wete / what the Lorde will saye vnto me once moare. And God came vnto Balam by nyghte and sayde vnto him: If the men come to sett the/ ryse by and go with them: but what I saye vnto the/ that onely thou shalt do.

And Balam rose by early and labelde his asse and went with the lordes of Moab. But God was angrey because he went. And the angell of the Lorde stode in the waye agens him. And he ryd by þ his asse & two seruantes with him. And when the asse sawe the angell of the Lorde stande in the waye & his swerde drawen in his hand/ the turned a syde oute of the waye & went out in to the felde. And Balam smote þ asse / to turne her in to þ waye.

And the angell of the Lorde went & stode in a path betwene þ bneyardes/ where was a wall on the one syde & another on þ other. When the asse sawe the angell of the Lorde/ the wrenched vnto the walle and thrust Balam's fote vnto the wail / and he smote her agayn. And þ angel of the Lorde wēt forther and stode in a narowe place / where was no waye to tourne / ether to the ryght hande or to the lyfte. And when the asse sawe þ angell of the Lorde/ the fell downe vnder Balam: & Balam was wryth and smote the asse with a staffe. And the Lorde opened the mouthe of the asse/ & the sayde vnto Balam: what haue I done vnto the/ þ thou smyttest me thus. If I tymeþ: And Balam sayde vnto the asse: because thou hast mocked me: I wolde that I had a swerde in myne hande / that I myghte now kyll the. And the asse sayd vnto Balam: am not I thyne asse whiche thou hast rydden vpon sence thou wast boine vnto this daye? Was I euer went to do so vnto the? And he sayde/ nay.

And the Lorde opened the eyes of Balam & he sawe the angell of the Lorde standinge in the waye/ with his swerde drawen in his hande. And he bowed him selfe & fell flat on his face. And the angell of the Lorde sayde vnto him: wherfore smyttest thou thyne asse thus. If I tymeþ: beholde I came oute to respyt the/ for the waye is contrary vnto me / & the asse sawe me and auoyded me thre tymes: or else (had the not turned fro me) I had quierly slayne the and saued her alque. And Balam sayde vnto the angell of the Lorde: I haue synned: for I wist not that thou stodest in the waye agens me. Now therfore yf it displease thyne eyes/ I will turne agayne. And þ angell sayd vnto Balam/ go with the men: but in any wyse/ what I saye vnto the / þ saye. And Balam went with the lordes of Balac.

And when Balac herde that Balam was come he went out agens him vnto a cytie of Moab & stode in þ border of Arad / whiche was the vtmost parte of his countre. And Balac sayd vnto Balam: dyd I not sende for the/ to call the/ wherfore camest thou not vnto me: thinkest thou þ I am not able to promote þ vnto honoure? And Balam sayd vnto Balac: Lo I am come vnto the. But I can saye nothyng at all saue what God putteth in my mouthe that must I speake. And Balam went with Balac/ & they came vnto the place of Arad/ & Balac offered ox & shepe/ and and sent for Balam and for the lordes that were with him.

The. xxiij. Chapter.

And on the mornyng Balac toke Balam and brought hym by in to the hye place of Baal/ and thence he sawe vnto the vtmost parte of the people. And Balam sayde vnto Balac: byde me here seuē alters & prouide here seuē bullockes and seuē rammes. And Balac dyd as Balam sayde. And Balac and Balam offered on euery alter a bullock and a ram. And Balam sayde vnto Balac: stande by the sacrifice/ while I goo to wete whether the Lorde will come & mete me / & whatsoeuer he sheweth me/ I will tell the/ & he wēt forth with. And God came vnto Balam/ and Balam sayde vnto him: I haue prepared. bif. alters/ & haue offered vpon euery alter / a bullock and a ram. And the Lorde put a sayinge in Balam's mouth and sayde: go agayne to Balac & saye on this wyse. And he went agayne vnto him and loo/ he stode by his sacrifice/ both he and all the lordes of Moab. And he began his parable & sayde: Balac the kynge of Moab hath sett me fro Mesopotamia out of the mountaynes of the east sayinge: come and curse me Jacob / come & despye me Israel. How shall I curse whō God curseth not and how shall I despye whom the Lorde despyeth not? from the toppe of the rockes I se him & from the hylls I beholde hym: loo/ the people / * shall dwell by him selfe & shall not be * rehedd amonge other nations. who can tell the dust of Jacob and the nombze of the fourth parte of Israel. I praye God that my soule/ maye dye þ deeth of þ ryghteous / and that my last ende maye be lyke his. And Balac sayde vnto Balam / what hast thou done vnto me? I sett the to curse myne enemyes: and beholde/ thou blessest the. And he answered and sayde: must I not kepe that I speake it / which the Lorde hath put in my mouthe? And Balac sayde vnto him: Come I praye the / vnto another place where thou shalt se them/ & shalt se but the vtmoste parte of them and shalt not se them all and curse me them there. And he brought hym in to a playne felde where men myght se farre/ euen to the toppe of Phasgah/ & bylt. bif. alters and offered a bullock & a ram on euery alter. And he sayd vnto Balac: stande here by thy sacrifice while I goo yonder. And the Lorde mett Balam and put wordes in his mouth and sayd: go agayne vnto Balac and thus saye. And whē he came to him: beholde/ he stode by his sacrifice and the Lordes of Moab with him. And Balac sayd vnto him: what sayeth the Lorde?

And he toke by his parable and sayde: ryse by Balac and heare / & herken vnto me thou sonne of Ziphor. The Lorde is not a man/ that he can lye/ nether the sonne of a man þ he can repent: shulde he saye and not doo / or shulde he speake and not make it good? beholde/ I haue begon to blesse and haue bles- sed / and can nott goe backe therfro. He be- heldeþ no wickednesse in Jacob nor sawe I do- latrye in Israel: The Lorde his God is with him/ and the * reumphe of a kynge amonge them. God that brought the out of Egypte / is as the strength of an byrcome vnto them/ for there is no sozcerer/ in Jacob / nor soth- saye in Israel. When the tyme cometh / it wybe sayde of Jacob and of Israel / what God hath wrought. Beholde/ þ people shall ryse by as a lyonelle and heue by hym selfe as a lyon / and shall not lye downe agayne / vntyll he haue eaten of the praye and dꝛonke of the bloude of them that are slayne.

And Balac sayde vnto Balam: nether curse them nor blesse them. And Balam answered & sayde vnto Balac: tolde not I the sayinge: all that the Lorde byddeth me / that I must doo: And Balac sayde vnto Balam: come I praye the/ I will brynge þ yet vnto another place: so perauenture it shall please God/ þ thou mayst curse them there. And Balac brought Balam vnto the toppe of Peor / that boweth towarde the wydernesse. And Balam sayde vnto Balac: make me here. bif. alters / and prapare me here. bif. bullockes and. bif. rammes. And Balac dyd as Balam had sayde/ and offered a bullocke and a ram on euery alter.

And the nombze of the was. xliiij. thousand / of all the males from a moneth olde & aboue / for they were not nombzed amoge the chyldren of Israel / because there was no enher-taunce geuen them amonge the chyldren of Israel. These are the nombzes of the chyldre of Israel which Moses & Eleazar the pteast nombzed in the felde of Moab / last by Jordan nye to Jericho. And amonge these there was not a man of the nombze of the chyldre of Israel which Moses and Aaron tolde in the wyldernesse of Synai. For the Lorde sayd vnto the / that they shulde dye in the wyldernesse and that there shulde not be leste a man of them: saue Caleb the sonne of Jephune & Josua the sonne of Nun.

The lode of the heritage of the daughters of Zelaphead. The land of pteynesse is shered vnto Moses: in whole lode is appoynted Josue.

The .xxv. Chapter. And þe daughters of Zelaphead þe sonne of Heber þe sonne of Gilead / the sonne of Machir the sonne of Manasse / of the kynredes of Manasse the sonne of Joseph / whose names were Mahela / Nocha / Hagia / Melcha & Eliza / came & stode before Moses & Eleazar / the pteast & before the lorde & all the myltitude in þe doze of þe tabernacle of witness saying: oure father dyed in the wyldernesse / & was not amonge the compagne of them that gathered them selues together agens the Lorde in the congregacion of Cozab: But dyed in his awne tynne / and had no sonnes. Whether shoulde the name of oure fathers be take awaye from amonge þys kynred / because he had no sonne? Geue vnto vs a possession amonge the bzythre of oure father. And Moses broughte their cause before the Lorde. And the Lorde spake vnto Moses saying: The daughters of Zelaphead speke ryghte: thou shalt geue them a possession to enherett amoge their fathers bzythre / & shalt coune the enheritaunce of their father vnto them. And speake vnto þe chyldre of Israel saying: If a man dye & haue no sonne ye shall coune his enheritaunce vnto his daughter. If he haue no daughter / ye shall geue þys enheritaunce vnto his bzythzen. If he haue no bzythzen / ye shall geue þys enheritaunce vnto his fathers bzythzen. If he haue no fathers bzythre / ye shall geue his enheritaunce vnto him that is nexte to him of his kynred / & lete him possesse it. And this shalbe vnto the chyldren of Israel an ordinaunce / and a lawe / as the Lorde hath commaunded Moses.

And the Lorde sayd vnto Moses: get the by in to this mount Abarim / & beholde / the lande which I haue geue vnto the chyldre of Israel. And whē thou hast sene it / thou shalt be gathered vnto thy people also / as Aaron thy bzother was gathered vnto þys people. For ye were disobedient vnto my mouth in the deserte of Sin in the dryfe of the congregacion / gacion that ye sanctified me not in the water before their eyes: that is the water of dryfe in Cadres in the wyldernesse of Sin. And Moses spake vnto the Lorde saying: let the Lorde God of the spyrites of all flesch / sett a man ouer the congregacion / which maye goe in & out before them / and to leade the in & out that the congregacion of the Lorde be not as a flocke of shepe without a sheparde. And þe Lorde sayd vnto Moses: take Josua þe sonne of Nun in whō there is a spyrte / & put thyne handes vpon him / and sett him before Eleazar the pteast and before all the congregacion and geue him a charge in their syghte. And put of thy pyple vpon him that all the copagne of the chyldre of Israel maye heare. And he shall stande before Eleazar þe pteast which shal aske counsell for him after the iudgemēt of Moyses before the Lorde. And at the mouth of Eleazar shall both he and all the chyldren of Israel with him and all the congregacion / go in and out.

And Moses dyd as the Lorde commaunded him / and he toke Josua and sett him before Eleazar the pteast & before all the congregacion / and put his handes vpon hym & gaue him a charge / as the Lorde commaunded thow to the hande of Moses.

What must be offered on euery feast daye.

The .xxvi. Chapter. And the Lorde spake vnto Moses saying: geue the chyldre of Israel a charge & saye vnto them / þe take heade to offer vnto the offering of my bzyead in the sacrifice of swete sauoure / in his due reason. And saye vnto the. This is the offering which ye shall offer vnto þe Lorde. ii. lambes of a yere olde without spot daye by daye to be a burnt offering perpetually. One lambe thou shalt offer in the morning / & the other at euen / And therto the tenth parte of an epha of flour for a meate offering myngled with beaten oyle / the fourth parte of an hin: which is a dayly offeringe ordened in the mount Synai vnto a swete sauoure in the sacrifice of the Lorde. And the bzyth offeringe of the same: þe fourth parte of an hin vnto one lambe / & poure the bzyth offeringe in the holy place / to be good bzyth vnto the Lorde. And the other lambe thou shalt offer at euen / with the meate offeringe & the bzyth offeringe after the maner of the morninge: a sacrifice of a swete sauoure vnto the Lorde. And on the Sabboth daye. ii. lambes of a yere olde & a pece & without spot / and two tenthdeales of flour for a meate offeringe myngled with oyle / and the bzyth offeringe therto. This is the burnt offeringe of euery Sabboth / besydes þe dayly burnt offeringe and his bzyth offeringe.

And in the first daye of poure monethes / ye shall offer a burnt offeringe vnto the Lorde: two younge bullockes / and a ram / and .vii. lambes of a yere olde without spot / & .iiij. tenthdeales of flour for a meate offeringe myngled with oyle vnto one bullocke / & .ii. tenthdeales of flour for a meate offeringe myngled with oyle vnto one ram. And euery moare / a tenthdeale of flour myngled with oyle / for a meate offeringe vnto one lambe. That is a burnt offeringe of a swete sauoure in the sacrifice of the Lorde. And their bzyth offerings shalbe halfe an hin of wyne vnto one bullocke / and the thyrde parte of an hin of wyne vnto a ram & the fourth parte of an hin vnto a lambe. This is the burnt offeringe of euery moneth thow out all the monethes of the yere / & one he goote for a synne offeringe vnto the Lorde / which shalbe offered with the dayly burnt offeringe & his bzyth offeringe. And the .xiiij. daye of the first moneth shalbe Pasche vnto þe Lorde. And the .xv. daye of the same moneth shalbe a feast / in which .vii. dayes men must eate vnleued bzyead. The first daye shalbe an holy feast / so þe ye shall do no maner of laboryous worke therein. And ye shall offer a burnt offeringe vnto the Lorde. ii. younge bullockes / one ram / & .vii. lambes of a yere olde without spot / & their meate offeringe of flour myngled with oyle. iij. tenthdeales vnto a bullocke / & .ii. tenthdeales vnto a ram / and euery moare one tenthdeale vnto a lambe / thow out the .vii. lambes: & an he goote for a synne offeringe to make an attonement for you. And ye shall offer these / besydes þe burnt offeringe in the morninge & is alwaye offered. And after this maner ye shall offer thow out .vii. dayes / the lode of the sacrifice of a swete sauoure vnto the Lorde. And it shalbe done besydes the dayly burnt offeringe & his bzyth offeringe. And the seventh daye shall be an holy feast vnto you / so þe ye shall do no laboryous worke therein. And the daye of poure first fruyt whē ye bzyng a newe meate offeringe vnto þe Lorde in poure weh / shalbe an holy feast vnto you: so þe ye shall do no laboryous worke therein. And ye shall offer a burnt offeringe of a swete sauoure vnto þe Lorde. ii. younge bullockes / & a ram / & .vii. lambes of a yere olde & a pece / with their meate offeringes of flour myngled with oyle. iij. tenthdeales vnto a bullocke. ii. tenthdeales to a ram / & euery moare one tenthdeale vnto a lambe thow out .vii. lambes / & an he goote to make an attonement for you. And this ye shall do besydes þe dayly burnt offeringe / & his meate offeringe: & they shalbe without spot / with their bzyth offerings. And what must be offered the .vii. first dayes of the first moneth.

The .xxv. Chapter. And

And the fyrst daye of .vii. moneth shalbe an holy feast vnto you* and ye shall doo no laborious worke therin. It shalbe a daye of trespit blowing vnto you. And ye shall offer a burnt offerynge of a swete sauoure vnto the Lord: one younge bullocke & one ram & .viij. lames of a yere olde a pece that are pure. And their meatofferynges of floure myngled with oyle.
.iiij. tenth deales vnto the bullocke/ and .iiij. vnto the ram/ & one tenth deale vnto one labe thozow the .viij. lames. And an he goote for a synofferyng to make an attonemet for you/besyde the burnt offerynge of the moneth and his meatofferynge & besyde the dayly burnt offerynge & his meatofferynge / & the dynk offerynges of the same: accordeyng vnto the maner of the for a sauoure of swetnesse in sacrifice of the Lord.

And the tenth daye of that same seventh moneth shalbe an holy feast vnto you / & ye shall humble youre soules and shall doo no maner worke therin. And ye shall offer a burnt offerynge vnto the Lord of a swete sauoure: one bullocke / & a ram / & .viij. lames of a yere olde a pece/ without fault and their meatofferynges of floure myngled with oyle
.iiij. tenth deales to a bullocke / & .iiij. to a ram & all waye a tenth deale vnto a labe/ thozow out the .viij. lames. And one he goote for a synofferynge / besyde the synneofferynge of attonement and the dayly burnt offerynge / & the meat and dynkofferynges that longe to the same. * And the .xv. daye of the .viij. moneth shalbe holy daye & ye shall doo no laborious worke therin/ and ye shall kepe a feast vnto the Lord of .viij. dayes longe. And ye shall offer a burnt offerynge of a swete sauoure vnto the Lord .xiiij. bullockes .ii. rammes and .xiiij. lames which are perynges & pure / with oyle .iiij. tenth deales vnto every one of .xiiij. bullockes .ii. tenth deales to ether of .xiiij. lames & one tenth deale vnto eche of .xiiij. lames.
And one he goote vnto a synofferynge / besyde the dayly burnt offerynge with his meat and dynkofferynges.

And the seconde daye .xii. younge bullockes
.ii. rammes & .xiiij. perynge lames without spot: & their meatofferynges & dynkofferynges vnto the bullockes / rammes and lames ac-cordeyng to the nombze of them and after the maner. And an he goote for a synofferynge/besyde the dayly burnt offerynge & his meat and dynkofferynges. And the thyrde daye .xi. bullockes .ii. rammes and .xiiij. perynge lames without spot: & their meat & dynk offerynges vnto the bullockes / rammes and lames/ after the nombze of them and accor-dyng to the maner. And an he goote for a synofferynge/ besyde the dayly burnt offerynge and his meat and dynkofferynges.

And the fourth daye .x. bullockes two rammes and .xiiij. lames perynges pure/and their meat and dynkofferynges vnto the bullockes / rammes & lames/ accordeyng to the nombze of them and after the maner.
And an he goote for a synneofferynge/ besyde the dayly burnt offerynge and his meat and dynkofferynges. And the fyfte daye .ix. bullockes two rammes and .xiiij. lames of one yere olde a pece without spot. And their meat and dynkofferynges vnto the bullockes/rammes and lames / accordeyng to the nombze of them and after the maner. And an he goote for a synne offerynge/ besyde the dayly burnt offerynge and hys meat and dynkofferynges. And the syxte daye .viij. bullockes .ii. rammes and .xiiij. perynge lames offerynges vnto the bullockes / rammes and lames/ accordeyng to the maner. And an he goote for a synneofferynge/ besyde the dayly burnt offerynge and hys meat and dynk offerynges. And the seventh daye .viij. bullockes .ii. rammes and .xiiij. lames that are pe-rynges & pure. And their meat and dynk offerynges vnto the bullockes / rammes and

and lames / accordeyng to their nombze and to the maner. And an he goote for a synofferynge/ besyde the dayly burnt offerynge and his meat & dynkofferynges.

And the eyght daye shalbe the conclusion of a feast vnto you / & ye shall doo no maner laborious worke therin. And ye shall offer a burnt offerynge of a swete sauoure vnto the Lord: one bullocke/ one ram and .viij. pery-lyng lames without spot. And the meat & dynkofferynges vnto the bullocke/ ram & lames/ accordeyng to their nombzes & ac-cordeyng to the maner. And an he goote for a synneofferynge besyde the dayly burnt offeryng and his meat and dynkofferynges.

These thynges ye shall do vnto the Lord in youre feastes: besyde youre bowes & fre-will offerynges/ in youre burnt offerynges meatofferynges/ dynkofferynges and peace offerynges. And Moses tolde the chyldzen of Israel/ accordeyng to all that the Lord commaunded him.

Of bowes when they shalbe kept and when not.

The .xxx. Chapter.

And Moses spake vnto the heades of the trybes of the chyldzen of Israel saying: this is a thyng which the Lord comaundeth. * If a man habe a bowe vnto the Lord of swete an othe and bynde his soule / he shall not goo backe with his worde: but shall fulfyll all that proceadeth out of his mouth.

If a damsell bowe a bowe vnto the Lord and bynde her seife beyng in her house and unmarried. If her father heare her bowe & bonde which she hath made vpon her soule / & holde his peace therto: then all her bowes & bondes which she hath made vpon her soule shall stande in effecte. But if her father forbyd her the same daye & he heareth it/ none of her bowes nor bondes whych she hath made vpon her soule shalbe of value / & the Lord shall forgeue her / because her father forbad her.

If she had an husband when she bowed of pronounced oughte out of her lippes wherwith she bonde her soule / and her husbande hearde it & helde his peace there at the same daye he hearde it: Then her bowes and her bondes wherwith she bounde her soule / shal stande in effecte. But if her husbande forbade her the same daye that he heard it/ then hath he made her bowe which she had vpon her of none effecte / & that also which she pronounced to her lippes wherwith she bounde her soule / & the Lord shall forgeue her.

The bowe of a wedowe and of her that is denoyced / & all that they haue bounde their soules with all / shall stande in effecte to the.

If she bowed in her husbandes house of bounde her soule with an oth / & her husband hearde it and helde his peace and forbade her not: then all her bowes & bondes wherwith she bound her soule / shall stande. But if her husbande disanulled them the same daye that he heard them/ then nothing & proceeded out of her lippes in bowes & bondes wherwith she bounde her soule shall stande in effecte: for her husbande hath loused them. And the Lord shall forgeue her.

All bowes & othes that bynde to humble the soule / maye her husbande stablysh of bryake. But if her husband holde hys peace for one daye vnto another then he stablysheth all her bowes & bondes which she had vpon her/ because he helde his peace the same daye & he heard the. And if he afterwarde bryake them/ he shall beare her synne him selfe.

These are the ordynaunces whych the Lord comaunded Moses / betwene a ma and hys wyfe / and betwene the father & hys daughter/ beyng a damsell in her fathers house.

The Madiantes & Wals are slayne. The prays was brought to Moses & equalye deuyded. A present geut of Israel because none of their men were slayne.

The .xxx. Chapter.

And the Lord spake vnto Moses sayinge: * aueng the chyldze of Israel of the Madiantes / and after ward be geathered vnto thy people And Moses spake vnto the folke sayinge:

Harnele some of you vnto warre / & let them go vpon the Madiantes & auenge the Lord of the Madiantes. Ye shall sende vnto the warre a thousand of every trybe thozow out all the trybes of Israel. And there were take oute of a thousand of Israel .xiiij. thousande prepared vnto warre / of every trybe a thousande. And Moses sent them a thousande of every trybe / to Phineas the sonne of Eleazar the preast to warre / & the holye vessels and the trompettes to blowe in his hande.

* And they warred agens the Madianttes/ as the Lord comaunded Moses/ and slew all the males. And they slew the kyng of Madian amonge other that were slayne: Eui/ Rekem/ Zur/ Hur & Reba: syue kyng of Madian. And they slew Balaam the sonne of Beor with the swerde. And the chyldzen of Israel toke all the women of Madian pre-soners & their chyldze / and spoyled all their catell/ their substance and their goodes. And they burnt all their cities wherin they dwelt/and all their castels with fyre. And they toke all the spoyl and all they could cathe/ both of men and beastes. And they brought the captaynes and that which they had taken and all the spoyl vnto Moses and Eleazar the preast and vnto the compagne of the chyldze of Israel/ vnto the hoste / in the scides of Moab by Jordan nye to Jericho.

And Moses and Eleazar the preast and all the lordes of the congregacyon went out of the hoste agens them. And Moses was angry with the officers of the hoste / with the captaynes our thousandes and our hun-dredes / which came from warre & battell / and sayde vnto the: Haue ye saued the women alpyr: beholde these caused the chyldzen of Israel thozow* Balam/ to compe trespase agens the Lord/ by the reason of Beor/ and there solowed a plage amonge the cōgrega-cion of the Lord. Now therfore* see all the men chyldzen and the women that haue lye n with men slethlye: But all the women chy-ldzen that haue not lye with men/ kepe a lye for youre selues. And lodge without the hoste seuē dayes all that haue kyllled any persone * and all that haue touched any dead body / & purifye both youre selues & youre psoners the .iiij. daye & the .viij. And sprayle all youre raymentes and all that is made of thynnes / & all worke of gootes heare / & all thynges made of wodd.

And Eleazar the preast sayde vnto all the men of warre which wet out to battell: this is the ordynaunce of the lawe which the Lord comaunded Moses: Golde / syluer / brasse / peron/ tyn and lead / and all that maye abyde the fyre/ ye shall make it go thozow the fyre/& then it is cleane. Reuerthelater/ it shalbe sprayled

sprinkled with sprinklynge water. and all that suffreth not the fyre / ye shall make good thow the water. And wash youre clothes the seventh daye / and then ye are cleane. And afterwarde come in to the hoste.

And the Lord spake vnto Moses saying: take the summe of the pryse that was take / both of the women & of catell / thou & Eleazar the preast and the auncient heades of the congregacion. And deuyde it in to two parties / betwene them that toke the warre byd them and went out to battell and all the congregacion. And take a porcion vnto the Lord of the men of warre which wet out to battell: one of fyue hundred / of the women and of the oxen and of the asses and of the shepe: and ye shall take it of their halfe and geue it vnto Eleazar the preast / an heueofferynge vnto the Lord. And of the halfe of the chyldren of Israel / take one of fyfte / of the women / of the oxen / of the asses and of the shepe / and of all maner of beastes / and geue them vnto the leuites which wayte byd the habitation of the Lord.

And Moses and Eleazar the preast byd as the Lord commaunded Moses. And the botye and the pryse which the men of warre had caught was. vi. hundred thousande and lxx. thousand shepe: & lxxi. thousande oxen lxx. thousande asses: and. xxxi. thousand women that had lye by no man.

And the halfe which was the parte of the he went out to warre / was. iii. hundred thousande and. xxxvi. thousande and fyue hundred shepe: And the Lordes parte of the shepe was. vi. hundred and. lxx. And the oxen were. xxxvi. thousande / of which the Lordes parte was. lxxii. And the asses were. xxx. thousande and fyue hundred / of which the Lordes parte was. lxi. And the women were. xvi. thousande / of which the Lordes parte was. xxxii. soules. And Moses gaue that summe which was the Lordes heueofferyng vnto Eleazar the preast: as the Lord commaunded Moses. And the other halfe of the chyldren of Israel which Moses separated from the men of warre (that is to wete / the halfe that pertayned vnto the congregacion) was. iii. hundred thousande and. xxxvi. thousande and fyue hundred shepe: &. xxxvi. thousande oxen: and. xxx. thousande asses and fyue hundred: &. xvi. thousande women. And Moses toke of this halfe that pertayned vnto the chyldren of Israel: one of every fyfte / both of the women and of the catell / and gaue the vnto the leuites which wayte byd the habitation of the Lord / as the Lord commaunded Moses. And the officers of thousandes of the hoste / the captaynes ouer the thousandes and the captaynes ouer the hundredes came forth and sayde vnto Moses: & by seruantes & haue taken the summe of the men of warre / which were vnder our hand / & there lacked / not one man of the warre haue therfore brought a present vnto the Lord what euer man soude of Jewels of golde / cheryns / bracelets / rynges / earynges and spangels / to make an attouement for oure soules before the Lord.

And Moses and Eleazar toke the golde of them: Jewels of all maner facions. And all the golde of the heueofferyng of the Lord / of the captaynes ouer thousandes & hundredes was. i. vi. thousande. vii. hundred and. l. cycles / for the men of warre had spoyled / euer man for himselfe. And Moses & Eleazar the preast toke the golde of the captaynes ouer the thousandes and ouer the hundredes / and brought it in to the tabernacle of wytnesse: to be a remembrance vnto the chyldren of Israel / before the Lord.

¶ The Ruben and Gad and to halfe the trybe of Manasse / is promised the possession beyonde Jordan eastwarde: if they bring their brethren into the lande of promise.

The. xxxi. Chapter.

The chyldren of Ruben & the chyldren of Gad / had an excedynge greafe multitude of catell. And whē they sawe the lande of Jazer & the lande of Galaad & it was an apte place for catell / they came & spake vnto Moses & Eleazar the preast & vnto the Lordes of the congregacion sayinge. The lande of Astaroth & Edes & Jazer / and Memrah & Hethon & Elealeh & Sabam & Hebo & Beon / which contrie is the Lordes smote before the congregacion of Israel: is a lande for catell and we thy seruantes haue catell wherfore (sayde they) if we haue soude grace in thy syghte / lett this lande be geuen vnto thy seruantes to possesse / & bynne by not ouer Jordan.

And Moses sayd vnto the chyldren of Gad & of Ruben: Shall youre brethren go to warre & ye tarpe here: wherfore discourage ye the hartes of the chyldren of Israel for to go ouer in to the lande whych the Lord hath geuen them? & bys byd youre fathers / when I sent them from Cades barne to see the lande. And they went by euen vnto the ryuer of Escol and sawe the lande / and byscozaged the hartes of the chyldren of Israel: & they shoulde not go in to the lande whych the Lord had geuen them.

And the Lord was wroth the same tyme & sware sayinge. * None of the men that came out of Egypte from twenty yere olde and aboue / shall see the lande whych I swore vnto Abraham / Isaac and Jacob / because they haue not continually folowed me: saue Caleb the sonne of Iephune the Benesite /

Benesite / & Josua the sonne of Nun / for they haue folowed me continually. And the Lord was angrie with Israel / & made the wandre in the wyldernesse. x. yere / vntill all the generation that had done euell in the syghte of the Lord were consumed.

And beholde / ye are rylen by in youre fathers steade / to increase of synfull men / & to augmente the feare wroth of the Lord to Israel warde. For ye ye tourne awaye from after him / he will yet agayn leaue & people in the wyldernesse / so shall ye destroye all this folke. And they went nere him and sayde: we will byde theye folowes here for oure shepe & for oure catell / and cyties for oure chyldren: But we oure selues will go ready armed before the chyldren of Israel / vntill we haue brought the vnto their place. And oure chyldren shall dwell in the fenced cyties / because of the inhabitants of the lande. And we will not retourne vnto oure houses / vntill the chyldren of Israel haue enhereted: euer man his enheritaunce. For we will not enheret with them on yonder syde Jordan forwarde / because oure enheritaunce is failed to be on this syde Jordan eastwarde.

And Moses sayde vnto them: * If ye will do this thyng / that ye will go all harnessed before the Lord to warre / and will go all of you in harnesse ouer Jordan before the Lord / vntill he haue cast out his enemyes before him / & vntill the lande be subdued before the Lord / then ye shall retourne & be without synne agens the Lord & agens Israel / and this lande shall be youre possession before the Lord. But & ye ye will not do so / beholde / ye synne agens the Lord: & be sure youre synne will fynde you out. Byde youre cyties for pour chyldren & fouldes for youre shepe / & se ye do that ye haue spoken. And the Chyldren of Gad and of Ruben spake vnto Moses sayinge: thy seruantes will do as my lord commaundeth. Oure chyldren oure wyues / slace & all oure catell shall remayne here in the cyties of Galaad. But * we thy seruantes will go all harnessed for the warre vnto battell before the Lord / as my lord hath sayde.

And Moses commaunded Eleazar the preast: & Josua the sonne of Nun and the auncient heades of the trybes of the chyldren of Israel / & sayde vnto them: If the chyldren of Gad & Ruben will go with you ouer Jordan / all prepared to seght before the Lord: then when the lande is subdued vnto you / geue the the land of Galaad to possesse / but & ye they will not go ouer with you in harnesse / then they shall haue their possessions amonge you in the land of Canaan. And the chyldren of Gad & Ruben answered sayinge: that which the Lord hath sayd vnto thy seruantes we will do. * We will go harnessed before the Lord into the lande of Canaan / & the possession of oure enheritaunce shall be on this syde Jordan.

And Moses gaue vnto the chyldren of Gad and of Ruben & vnto halfe the trybe of Manasse the sonne of Joseph / the kyngdome of Schon / kyng of the Amozites / and the kyngdome of Og kyng of Basan / the land that longed vnto the cyties therof in the costes of the countre rounde aboute. And the chyldren of Gad bylte Dibon / ataroth / Aroer / Atroth / Sophan / Jaaser / Jegabea / Bethnira and Betharan fencend cyties / & they bylte fouldes for the shepe. And the chyldren of Ruben bylte Hethon / Eleale / Kiriatthaim / Hebo / Baal / Meon & turned their names / and Sibama also: and gaue names vnto the cyties which they bylt.

And the chyldren of Machir the sonne of Manasse went to Galaad and toke it / & put out the Amozites & were therein. And Moses gaue Galaad vnto Machir the sonne of Manasse / & he dwelt therein. And * Jashir the sonne of Manasse wet and toke the small townes therof / and called them the townes of Jashir. And Hobab went and toke kenath with the townes longynge therto / & called it Hobab after his awne name.

¶ The journeyes and departynge fro place to place of Israel are nombred. They are commaunded to byll the Canaanites.

The. xxxii. Chapter.

Thele are the journeyes of the chyldren of Israel which wet out of the land of Egypte with their armys / vnder Moses & Aarō. And Moses wrote their goynge out by their journeyes at the commaundement of the Lord: euen these are the journeyes of their goenge out. The chyldren of Israel departed from Rahemes the. xv. daye of the fyft moneth / on the thirde daye after * Pasche / and wet out with an hye hande in the syghte of all Egypte / whyle the Egypciens buryed all their fyrt bozme which the Lord had anytt amōge them. And byd their goddes also the Lord byd execucion. And the chyldren of Israel remoued fro Rahemes and pitched in Socoth.

And they departed from Socoth & pitched their tentes in Ethan / which is in the edge of the wyldernesse. And they remoued fro Ethā & tourned vnto the entryng of * Paroth which is before Baal Zephō / & pitched before Migdol. And they departed from before Migdol & went thow the myddes of the see in to the wyldernesse / & wet. iij. dayes journey in the wyldernesse of Ethā / & pitched in Parah. And they remoued fro Parah & wet vnto * Elim where were. xij. foultaynes & lxx. paulmetres & they pitched there.

parted from Abzona / and laye at Ezeon gaber. And they remoued fro Ezeon gaber/ and pitched in the* wyldernesse of Sin/ which is Cades. And they remoued from Cades/ and pitched in mount Ho: in the edge of the land of Edom.* And Aaron the preast went bp in to mount Ho: at the commaundemēt of the Lorde & dyed there/ euē in the fortyeth yere/ after the chyldzen of Israel were come out of the lande of Egypte/ and in the fyrst daye of the fyfte moneth. And Aaron was an hūdyed and xxxiii. yere olde when he dyed in mount Ho:. And hyrge Erab the Canaanite whych dwelt in the south of the lande of Canaan/ hearde that the chyldze of Israel were come.

¶ And they departed from * mount Doi/ and pitched in Zalmona. And they departed from Zalmona/ and pitched in Phanon/ and they departed from Phimon/ & pitched in Oboth. And they departed from Oboth/ and pitched in Jehabarin in the borders of Moab. And they departed from * Jehabarin/ & pitched in Dibon Gad. And they removed from Dibon Gad/ and laye in Almon Diblathama.

And they removed from Almon Diblathaim/ & pitched in the mountaynes of Ibarim before Habo. And they departed fro the mountaynes of Ibarim/ and pitched in the feldeg of Moab east by Jordan nye to Jericho. And they pitched by Jordan/ from Beth Baithmoth into the playne of Abel satim in the feldeg of Moab.

And the Lord spake vnto Moses in the felds of Moab by Iordan nye vnto Jericho/sayinge: Speake vnto the chyldren of Israel & saye vnto them: when ye are come ouer Iordan in to the lande of Canaan/te & ye dꝛyue out all the inhabitants of the lāde befoze you/lande and dwell therein/ for I haue geue you the land to enioye it. And ye shall deuyde the enheritaunce of the land by lot amōge youre hynredes/ and geue to the mo the moare en-heritaunce/ and to the fewer the lesse enheritaunce. And youre enheritaunce shalbe in & tribes of youre fathers/ in the place where euery mans lott shalbeth.

But and if ye will not drive out the inhabitants of the land before you / then those to which ye let remayne of the / Quabe^e thoznes in your eyes & hartes in your eyes / I shall here you in the land wherein ye dwell. Where over it will come to passe / that I shall do unto you as I thought to do unto them.

● The xxxiii Chapter.

And the Lorde spake vnto Moyses sayinge: commaunde the chyldren of Israel and saye vnto them: whē ye come in to the land of Canaan/ this is the lande þe shall fall vnto poure enherptaince/ the lande of Canaan with all her rotes. And * poure south quarter shalbe frō the wilderness of Sin a longe by þe colle of Edom/ so þe poure south quarter shalbe frō the syde of the salte see eastwarde / and shall set a cōpasse from the south by to Ierabim/ and reache to Zinna. And it shall go out on the south syde of Cadēs Barne / and go out also at Hazar Adar/ & go a longe to Aymon. And shall set a compasse from Aymon vnto the riuier of Arnon/ & shall go out at the see.

And poure west quarter shall be þe greate lee/which coste shall be poure west coste.
And this shall be poure north quarter: þe shall compass from the great lee into mount Hoꝝ. And from mount Hoꝝ / þe shall compass and go into Hemath / and the ende of the coste shall be at Zedaba / and þe coste shall reach

reach out to Ziphron and go out at Hazarman. And this shall be your north quarter. And ye shall compass your east quarter from Hazarman to Sepham. And the coast shall go downe from Sepham to Ribla on the east syde of Ain. And then descende & go out at the syde of the see of Cenereth eastward. And then go downe a lōge by Jordan & leue at þe salte see. And this shall be your side to all the coastes thereof rounde aboute.

And Moses commaunded the chyldren of Israel saying: this is the lade which ye shall enherette by lotte/ and which the Lorde commaunded to geue vnto. ix. trybes & an halfe:
* soz the trybe of the chyldren of Ruben haue receaued/ in the houholdes of their fathers/and the trybe of the chyldren of Gad in their fathers houholdes/ & halfe the trybe of Ma-nasse/ haue receaued their enheritaunce/ that is to wete. ii. trybes and an halfe haue recea-ued their enheritaunce on the other syde of Jordan by Jericho eastwarde / towarde the forme ryfenge.

And the Lorde spake to Moses sayinge: These are the names of the men/which shall deuyde you the lande to inheret. Eleazar the priest / s^r Josua the sonne of Nun. And ye shall take also a lorde of euery trybe to deuyde the lande/whose names are these: In the trybe of Iuda/ Caleb the sonne of Iephune. And in the trybe of the chyldren of Simeon/ Semuel the sonne of Amisud / s^r in the trybe of Benjamin/ Elidad the sonne of Etison. And in the trybe of the chyldren of Dan/ the lorde Buchi the sonne of Jagli. And amonge the chyldre of Ioseph: in the trybe of the chyldren of Manasse/ the lorde Daniel the sonne of Ephod. And in the trybe of the chyldren of Ephraim / the lorde Camuel the sonne of Hophan. And in the trybe of the sonnes of Zabulon/ the lorde Elizaphan the sonne of Pharnach. And in the trybe of the chyldre of Glachar/ the lord Paltiel the sonne of Isan. And the trybe of the sonnes of Aser / the lord Ishud the sonne of Salomi. And in the trybe of the chyldren of Nephthali/ the lorde Beda El the sonne of Ammihud. These are they which the lorde commaunded to deuyde the inheritance vnto the chyldren of Israel/ in the lande of Canaan.

¶ Into the Levites must be given Cities and Suburbes. The Cities of refuge or sanctuaries. And the law of manueyling. For one mannes wickednes shall no man be condemned.

The xxx. Chapter.

And the Lorde spake vnto Moles in the felde of Moab by Iordan ouer against Jericho saying: commaunde þe childre of Israel / þe they geue vnto the Leuites of the inheritaunce of their possession: cities to dwell in. And ye shall geue also vnto the cyties of the Leuites / suburbs rounde aboute them. The cyties shall be for the to dwell in / & the suburbs for their cattell / possession & all maner beastes of theirs. And the suburbs of the cyties which ye shall geue vnto the Leuites / shall reach from the wall of the cytie outwarde / & thowsande cubites rounde aboute: And ye shall measure without the cytie / and make the vtmost border of the eastsyde: two thousande cubites / And the vtmost border of the southsyde: two thousande cubites / And the vtmost border of the westsyde: two thousande cubites: & the vtmost border of the northsyde: two thousande cubites also: and the cytie shall be in the myddes. And these shall be the suburbs of their cyties.

And amonge the cyties which ye shall geue vnto the leuites / * there shall be fyve cytyes of fraunches which ye shall geue to that intent that he which kylleth / maye fyve thyther And to them ye shall adde .xliiij. cyties mo : so that all the cyties which ye shall geue þe Le-uites shalbe .xlviij. with their suburbs. And of the cyties which ye shall geue ouer of the possessions of the chyldren of Israel / ye shall geue many out of their possessions that haue moche and fewe out of their possessions that haue litle : so that euery trybe shall geue of his cytyes vnto the Leuites / accordynge to the inheritaunce which he enhereteth.

And the Lord spake vnto Moyses saying:

 persone inwarres / maye flee thither

If any man smyte another with a wepon of yeron that he dye/then he is a murtherer/and shall dye for it. If he smyte hym with a thowynge stone that he dye therewith / then he shall dye: for he is a murtherer and shall be slayne therfore. If he smyte him with a handwepon of wodd that he dye therewith / & then he shall dye: for he is a murtherer & shall be slayne therfore.

of wayte that he dye or smyte hym with hys hnde of enyue that he dye / he that smote hym shall dye / for he is a murtherer. The lustye of bloude shall see hym as soone as he synneth hym.

But and yf he pulled hym by chaunce & not of hate or cast at hym with any maner of thynge and not of laynge of wayte: or cast any maner of stone at hym that he dge therewith / and sawe hym not: And he cast it upon hym and he dye / but was not hys enemye / neither soughte hym any harme: When the congregacion shall iudge betwene the deier / and the executer of bloude in soche cases. And the congregacion shall deliuer the deier out of the hande of the iudge of bloude / & shall restore hym agayne unto the trauncheted cytye / whether he was dead. And he shall hys there * vnto the dethe of hys preste which was anoynted with holy oyle.

* John. x. b.

But and yf he came without the borders of his preuiledged cite whether he was fled / yf the auerger of bloud fynde hym without the borders of his fre towne / he shall see h murtherer and be gyleless / he cause he shulde haue hidde in his fre towne vntill the dethe of the hys preste / and after the dethe of the hys preste / he shall retourne agayne vnto the lande of his possession. And this shalbe an ordinance & a lawe vnto you / amonge youre chyldren after you in all youre habytacions.

* For one mannes wyf nelle ought no man to be condemned.

Whosoever sleth / shalbe slayne at the mouth of witnesses. * For one witness shall not answeare agest one persone to put him to deeth. Moreouer ye shall take none amends for the lyfe of h murtherer which is worthy to dye: But he shall be put to deeth. Also ye shall take none attouement for him h is fled to a fre cytie / that he shulde come agayne & dwell in the lande before the deeth of the hys preste. And se that ye polute not the lande which ye are in / for bloude defyleth the lande. And the lande can none other wyse be clenched of the bloude that is shed therein / but by the bloude of hym that shed it. Wepye not therefore the lande which ye inhabyte / and in the myddes of which I also dwell amonge the chyldren of Israel.

An order for the marriage of the daughters of Zelaphead. One of the trybes may not marie with a nother: but every one must take hym a wyfe of hys awne trybe.

The xxxi. Chapter.

And the auncient heates of h chyldren of Galaad the sonne of Machir the sonne of Manasse of the kynred of the chyldren of Joseph / came forth and spake before Moses and the prynces which were auncient heates amonge the chyldren of Israel and sayde. * The Lord commanded my lord to geue the lande to inheret by lotte to the chyldren of Israel. And then my lord commanded in the name of the Lord to geue the inheritaunce of Zelaphead our brother vnto hys daughters. Now when any of the sonnes of the trybes of Israel take the to wyues / then shall their inheritaunce be taken from the inheritaunce of our fathers / and shall be put vnto the inheritaunce of the trybe in which they are & shalbe takē fro the lotte of our inheritaunce. And when the yere of subelge cometh vnto the chyldren of Israel / then shall their inheritaunce be put vnto the inheritaunce of the trybe wherein they are / & so shall their inheritaunce be taken awaye from the inheritaunce of the trybe of our fathers.

And Moses commaunded the chyldren of Israel at the mouth of the Lord saying: the trybe of the chyldren of Joseph haue sayde well. This therfore doeth the Lord commaunde h daughters of Zelaphead saying: * let them be wyues to whom they the lyfe thynke best / but in h kynred of the trybe of their father shall they marie / & the inheritaunce of the chyldren of Israel shoulde not fro the trybe to trybe. But that the chyldren of Israel maye abyde / every man in the inheritaunce of the trybe of his fathers. And every daughter that possideth any inheritaunce amonge the trybes of the chyldren of Israel / shalbe wyfe vnto one of h kynred of h trybe of her father / that the chyldren of Israel maye enioye every mā the inheritaunce of his father / and that the inheritaunce go not from one trybe to another: but that the trybes of the chyldren of Israel maye abyde every man in his awne inheritaunce.

And as the Lord commaunded Moses to do the daughters of Zelaphead: Mahla / Chirza / Hagla / Melcha and Noa / and were married vnto their fathers brothers sonnes / of the kynred of the chyldren of Manasse the sonne of Joseph: and so they had their inheritaunce in the trybe of the kynred of their fathers.

These are the commaundementes & lawes which the Lord commaunded Moyses vnto the chyldren of Israel in the felde of Moab vpon Jordan nye vnto Jericho.

The ende of the iiii. booke of Moyses.

Moses repeateth the lawe.

The fyfthe booke of Moyses called Deuteronomium

A bryefe rehercall of thynges done before / from the petyng at mounte Moze vntill they came to Cades barne.

The i. Chapter.

These be the wordes which Moyses spake vnto all Israel / on the other syde Jordan in the wilderness & in the felde by the red see / betwene Pharan and Tophel / Laban / Hazeroth & Bithabab. xi. dayes iourney from Moze vnto Cades barne / by the waye that leadech vnto mozt Ser. And it fortuned h fyrst daye of the xi. moneth in the fortieth yere h Moyses spake vnto the chyldren of Israel accordinge vnto all that the Lord had geuen him in comaundement vnto them after that he had smytē Schon h kynge of the Amorites which dwelt in Helbon / and h kynge of Basan which dwelt at Astaroth in Edraf.

On the other syde Jordan in the lande of Moab / Moyses began to declare this lawe to Moze saying: the Lord our God spake vnto us in this mount: departe therefore & take youre iourney and go vnto the hylls of the Amorites and vnto all places nye there vnto: both felde / hylls and dales: and vnto the south & vnto the seer syde in the lande of Canaan / and vnto Libanon: euen vnto the greete ryuer Euphrates. Beholde / I haue sett h land before you: goo in therfore & possede the land which the Lord swaie vnto youre fathers Abraham / Isaac and Jacob / to geue vnto them and their seade after them.

And I sayde vnto you the same reason: I am not able to beare you my selfe alone. For the Lord poure God hath multiplied you: so h ye are this daye as the starrs of heauen in nombre (the Lord God of youre fathers make you a thousande tymes so many moo as ye are / & blesse you as he hath promysed you) how (sayde I) can I my selfe alone / beare the comaunce / charge & stryfe h is amonge you: bynge therfore men of wisdom & of vnderstandynge & expert / knowe amonge youre trybes / that I maye make the ruelars ouer you. And ye answered me and sayde: that which thou hast spokē is good to be done. And then I toke the heades of youre trybes / men of wisdom & that were expert / and made them ruelars ouer you: captaynes ouer thousandes & ouer hundredes ouer fiftie & ouer ten / & officers amonge youre trybes. And I charged youre Iudges h same tyme saying: heare youre byethen & iudge ryghteously betwene every man and hys brother and the straunger that is with him. Se that ye knowe no man in Iudgement: but heare the small as well as the greete & be afrayed of no man / for the iudgement is Gods. And the cause that is to harde for you / bynge vnto me and I wyll heare it. And I comaunded you the same reason / all the thynges which ye shulde do. And then we departed from Moze and walked thozow all that greete & terrible wilderness as ye haue sene alonge by the waye that leadech vnto the hylls of the Amorites / as the Lord our God comaunded vs / and came to Cades barne. And there I sayd vnto you: Ye are come vnto the hylls of the Amorites / which the Lord our God doth geue vnto us. Beholde the Lord thy God hath set the lande before the / goo vp and conquere it / as the Lord God of thy fathers sayth vnto the: feare not / neither be discouraged. And then ye came vnto me every one and sayd: Let vs sende men before vs / to searche vs out the land & to bynge vs worde agayne / both what waye we shall go by / & vnto what cyties we shall come. And the sayinge pleased me well and I toke xii. men of you / of every trybe one. And they departed and went by in to the hys contrey and came vnto the ryuer Escoll / and serched it out / and toke of the frute of the lande in their handes and brought it doune vnto us and brought vs worde agayne and sayde: it is a good land which the Lord our God doth geue us.

Notwithstandynge ye wolde not consente to goo by / but were dyobedyent vnto the mouth of the Lord poure God / & murmured in youre tentes and sayde: because the Lord hateth vs / therfore he hath brought us out of the lande of Egypt / to deliuer us out of the handes of the Amorites and to de- to hate a man strove vs. How shall we goo by? Our byethen haue discouraged oure hertes sayinge: the people is greete and taller then we / and hert / & the cyties are greete and walled euen by to him not of hys heauē / & moreouer we haue sene the sonnes of the Enakimies there.

And I sayde vnto you: dreade not noz be afrayed of the: The Lord poure God which gothe before you / he shall fyghte for you / accordinge to all that he byd vnto you in Egypt before youre eyes and in the wilderness: as thou hast sene how that the Lord thy God bare the as a man shulde beare hys sonne / thozow out all the waye which ye haue gone vntill ye came vnto this place. And yet for all this sayinge ye dyd not beleue the Lord poure God which gothe h waye before you / to serche you out a place to ptyche youre tentes in / in fye by nyght / that ye myghte se what waye to go and in a cloude by daye.

* Leuit. xix. c. & xxi. c. & ccl. xii. d.

* That is / ne thy commaundement.

The people murmured & dyobedyent vnto the mouth of the Lord poure God / & murmured in youre tentes and sayde: because the Lord hateth vs / therfore he hath brought us out of the lande of Egypt / to deliuer us out of the handes of the Amorites and to de- to hate a man strove vs. How shall we goo by? Our byethen haue discouraged oure hertes sayinge: the people is greete and taller then we / and hert / & the cyties are greete and walled euen by to him not of hys heauē / & moreouer we haue sene the sonnes of the Enakimies there.

* Exo. xii. d.

And the Lord heard the voice of your word, & was wroth & swore saying, there shall not one of these men of this forward generation see good land which I swore to give unto your fathers. Save Caleb the sonne of Iephune, he shall see it: and to him will I give the land which he hath walked in: & to his children, because he hath continually followed the Lord. As yet the Lord was angry with me for your fathers saying: thou also shalt not go in thither. But Joshua the sonne of Nun which standeth before the Lord, he shall go in thither. Bolo he him therefore for he shall be your heritage unto Israel. * Where over your children which ye sayde shoulde be a praye & your sonnes which knowe nether good nor bad this daye, they shall goe in thither & into the land which I will give it, and they shall enjoye it. But as for you, turne backe & take your journey in to the wilderness: even the waye to the read see. Then ye answered and sayde unto me: we have sinned against the Lord: we will go by a fyghe, according to all that the Lord our God commaunded us. And when ye had gyde on every side his weapons of warre and were ready to goe by in to the hilles, the Lord sayde unto me: saye unto the people that ye go not by a fyghe, for I am not amonge you: lest ye be plagued before your enemies. And when I told you ye would not heare: but disobeyed the mouth of the Lord, & went presumptuously by in to the hilles. Then the Amozites which dwell in those hilles, came out against you and chased you as bees do, and he wroth you in Seir, & into the Moyses. And ye came agayne and wepte before the Lord: but the Lord wolde not heare your voice nor geue you audience. And so ye abode in Cades alonge season.

And heher fall of that which was done from the tyme that they departed from Cades barne, unto the daye that they came into the land of Moyses.

De. ii. Chapter.

When we turned & toke our journey into the wilderness: even the waye to the read see as the Lord commaunded me. And we compassed the mountayns of Seir a longe tyme. Then the Lord spake unto me saying: Ye have compassed these mountayns longe ynough, turne you northward. And wame the people saying: Ye shall gothow the costes of your brethren, the children of Esau which dwell in Seir: & they shall be a fyghe of you. But take good heade unto your selves that ye prouoke the Lord: for I will not geue you of their land: no not so much as a fote bzeade: because I have geue most Seir unto Esau to possesse. Ye shall bye meate of the Lord for money to eate: and ye shall bye water of them for money to drinke. For the Lord thy God hath blessed thee in all the wayes of thyne hand: & knewe the as thou wete it. Thou this grete wilderness. Moreover the Lord thy God hath bene with thee this. I. peres, so that thou hast lacked nothing. And when we were departed from our brethren, the children of Esau which dwell in Seir by the feld waye from Elath & Zion Gaber, we turned and went the waye to the wilderness of Moab. Then the Lord sayd unto me: I will not geue thee to battell for I will not geue thee of their land to possesse: because I have geuen it unto the children of Lot to possesse. The Amozites dwell therein in times past, a people grete, many & tall, as the Enakims: which also were take for geantes as the Enakims. And the Moabites called the Amozims in like maner. The Moyses dwell in Seir before tyme which the children of Esau cast out, & destroyed the before them & dwell there in their strede: as Israel byd in the land of Esau possession which the Lord geue them. Now I saye unto you, get you over the ryuer Zared: & we will be with you. The space in which we came from Cades barne until we were come over the ryuer Zared was xxx. dayes. But all the generation of the men of Esau were walled out of the host as the Lord swore unto the Lord in dede the hande of the Lord was against the Lord to destroye the out of the host, till they were consumed. And as soone as all the men of warre were consumed & dead amonge the people, then the Lord spake unto me saying. Thou shalt gothow the coste of Moab this daye, & shalt come nre unto the children of Ammon: I will not geue thee of the land of the children of Ammon to possesse: because I have geue it unto the children of Lot to possesse. What also was take for a lande of geantes & geantes dwell therein in olde tyme: & the Ammonites called the Zazumims. A people that was grete, many & tall, as the Enakims. But the Lord destroyed the before the Ammonites: & they cast the out & they dwell there in their strede: as he byd for the children of Esau which dwell in Seir: even as he destroyed the Moyses before them, & they cast them out and dwell in their strede unto this daye. And the Amozims which dwell in Hazerim even unto Hazerim, the Caphthozymis which came out of Caphthoz destroyed them and dwell in their towmes. I saye by take your journey and go over the ryuer Arnon. Beholde, I have geuen in to thy hande Sehon the Amozite kynge of Heshon, & his lande. Go to and conquer and prouoke hym to battell. This daye I will begynne begynne to sende the feare and drede of the upon all nacions that are under all portes of heaven: so that when they heare speake of the they shall tremble & quake for feare of the. Then I sent messengers out of the wilderness of the east unto Sehon kynge of Heshon, to wozdes of peace saying: Let me go thow the waye, I will go al wayes alonge by the hye waye & will nether turne unto the righte hande nor to the left. Sell me meate for money for to eate, & geue me drinke for money for to drinke. I will go thow the waye by fote only (as the children of Esau byd unto me which dwell in Seir and the Moabites which dwell in Ar) but I will come over Jordan / in to the lande which the Lord our God geueth us. But Sehon the kynge of Heshon wolde not let us passe by him, for the Lord thy God had hardened his spryte and made his herte tough because he wolde deluyce him in to thy handes as it is come to passe this daye. And the Lord sayde unto me: beholde, I have begunne to set Sehon & his lande before thee: go to & conquer: & thou mayst possesse his lande. Then both Sehon and all his people came out against us unto battell at Jahaz. And the Lord set him before us, & we smote hym and his sonnes & all his people. And we toke al his cities the same season and destroyed all the cities with men / women and children & let nothinge remayne, save the cattell only we caught unto our selves & the spoyle of the cities which we toke, from Arer upon the byrnie of the ryuer of Arnon, and the cite in the ryuer, unto Galaad: there was not one cite to stronge for us. The Lord our God deluyced all unto us: only unto the lande of the children of Ammon ye came not, nor unto all the coste of the ryuer Jabbok, nor unto the cities in the mostaynes, nor unto what soeuer the Lord our God forbade us. And heher fall of thynges that chaunced from the tyme that I sent Sehon & Heshon, & the children of Israel, & the children of Moyses.

De. iii. Chapter.

When we turned & went by the waye to Balan. And Og, the king of Balan came out against us: bothe he & all his people to battell at Edrai. And the Lord sayde unto me: feare him not, for I have deluyced him & al his people & his land in to thy hand: & thou shalt deale with him as thou dealedst with Sehon kynge of the Amozites which dwell at Heshon. And so the Lord our God deluyced in to our handes, Og also the kinge of Balan & al his folke. And we smote him butyll noughte was left him. And we toke al his cities the same season (for there was not a cite which we toke not from them) even, iii. score cities / al the regis of Argob / the kynghome of Og in Balan. All these cities were made stronge with walles, gates & barres, besyde the walled towne of great meane. And we utterly destroyed the, as we played with Sehon kynge of Heshon bringing to nought al the cities with men / women and children. But all the cattell & the spoyle of the cities we caught for our selves. And thus we toke the same season, the lande out of the hande of two kynges of the Amozites on the other syde Jordan / from the ryuer of Arnon unto most Heshon (which Heshon & Sibons call Seirion, but the Amozites call it Henny) al the cities in the playne & al Galaad & al Balan unto Salecha & Edrai, cities of the kynghome of Og in Balan. For only Og kynge of Balan remayned of the remnant of the geantes: beholde, his yd bed is yet at Rabah amonge the children of Ammon, ix. cubytes longe, & iii. cubytes bryde, of the cubites of a man. And when we had conquered this lande the same tyme, I gaue from Arer which is upon the ryuer of Arnon, & halfe most Galaad & the cities thereof unto the Rubenites & Gadites. And the rest of Galaad & al Balan the kynghome of Og, I gaue unto the halfe trybe of Manasse: all the region of Argob with al Balan was called the lande of geantes. Iair the sonne of Manasse toke al the regis of Argob unto the costes of Heshon & Maachathi called them after his owne name: Balan. I gaue Iair unto this daye. And I gaue halfe Galaad unto Machir. And unto Ruben & Gad, I gaue the valey & the coste, & the ryuer Jabbok which is the border of the children of Ammon, and the felbes and Jordan with the coste, from Gengeroth unto the see in the feld which is the salt see under the springes of Phalsgab eastwarde. And I commaunded you the same tyme (ye Ruben & Gad) saying: the Lord your God hath geuen you this lande to enioye it: fe that ye go harnessed before your brethren & children of Israel, all the men of warre amonge you. Your wives only your children & your cattell (for I wote that ye have much cattell) shall abyde in your cities which I have geue you, until the Lord have geue rest unto your brethren as well as unto you, & until they also have conquered the lande which the Lord your God hath geuen them beyond Jordan: and then returne agayne every man unto his possession which I have geuen you. And I warned Joshua the same tyme sayg: thyne eyes have sene all that the Lord your God hath done unto these two kynges, even so the Lord will do unto all kynghomes whither thou goest. Feare the Lord not for the Lord is with you.

your God he it is that fighteth for you.

And be sought the Lord the same time saying: O Lord God thou hast begotten to me thy servant thy greatness & thy mightie hande / for there is no God in heauē nor in erth that can do after thy workes & after thy power: let me go out and see the good lande that is beyond Jordan / that goodly hye contrie and Libanus. But the Lord was angry with me for your sake & wolde not heare me / but sayed vnto me / be content / and speake henceforth no more vnto me of this matter. * Get the hye in to the toppe of Phasgah & lifte up thine eyes west / north / south and east / and beholde it with thine eyes for thou shalt not go ouer this Jordan. Mose ouer charge Josua and courage him & bolde him. For he shall go ouer before his people / & he shall deuoyde the lande which thou shalt see vnto them. And so we abode in the valeye belyde Bethphoz.

The. iij. Chapter.

And now hearken Israel vnto the ordinaunces & lawes which I teache you / for to do them / that ye maye lyue & go and conquire the lande which the Lord God of your fathers geueth you. Ye shall put nothing vnto the worde which I commaunde you neither do ought therfrom / that ye maye kepe the commaundmentes of the Lord your God which I commaunde you. Your eyes haue sene what the Lord dyd vnto Baal Peor: for all the men that folowed Baal Peor / the Lord your God hath destroyed frō amonge you. But ye that claue vnto the Lord your God are aloue euery one of you this daye. Beholde / I haue taught you ordinaunces & lawes soche as the Lord my God commaunded me that ye shulde do euē in the lande whether ye go to possesse it.

a. To putte the word and to take awaye therfrom is to Iudges thynke otherwys of the wyl of god then is shewed vs in the scrip ture / as in Deu. xij. b. & xij. c.

Deut. xij. b.

Kepe them therfore and do them * for that is your wisdom and vnderstandynge in the sighte of the nacions: which when they haue herde all these ordinaunces / shall saye: What a wyse and vnderstandynge people is this greates nacyon. For what nacyon is so greates that hath Goddes to nye vnto hym: as the Lord our God is nye vnto vs in all thinges / when we call vnto him: Ye / & what nacyon is so greates that hath ordinaunces and lawes so ryghte / as all this lawe which I sett before you this daye.

Take heede to thy selfe therfore only & kepe thy soule diligently / that thou forget not the thinges which thine eyes haue sene / & that they departe not out of thine harte / all the dayes of thy lyfe: but teach them thy sonnes & teach and thy sonnes sonnes. The daye that I shalde put you before the Lord your God in Horeb / when he sayde vnto me / gether me the people together / that I maye make the heare my wordes that they maye lerne to feare me as longe as they lyue vnto the erth and that they maye teache their chyldren: ye came and stode also vnder the hyll / and the hyll burnt with fire: euen vnto the myddes of heauen / and there was darcknesse / cloudes and myst. And the Lord spake vnto you out of the fyre and ye herde the voyce of the wordes: but sawe no ymage / save herde a voyce only.

And he declared vnto you his couenaunt / which he commaunded you to do / euen. x. verses & wrote the in two tables of stone. And the Lord commaunded me & same ceas to teache you ordinaunces & lawes / for to do them in the lande whether ye go to possesse it.

Take heede vnto your selues diligently as pertaynyng vnto your soules / for ye sawe no maner of ymage the daye when the Lord spake vnto you in Horeb out of fyre lest ye make your selues & make you graue ymages after what soeuer likenesse it be: whether after the likenesse of man or womā or any maner beest that is on the erth or of any maner feathered soule that flyeth in the ayre / or of any maner worne that crepeth on the erth or of any maner fysh that is in the water beneath the erth: Ye and leste thou lyfte up thine eyes vnto heuen / & when thou seest the sonne and the moone and the starres and what soeuer is contayned in heauē / shuldest be deceyued and shuldest bowe thy selfe vnto them and serue the thinges which the Lord thy God hath distributed vnto all nacions that are vnder all quarters of heauen.

For the Lord toke you and broughte you out of the * yron fornaice of Egypte / to be vnto him a people of inheritaunce / as it is come to passe this daye. Forthermore / the Lord was angry w me for your sake & swaie / that I shulde not go ouer Jordan and that I shulde not go vnto that good lande / which the Lord thy God geueth & to inheritaunce. For I must dye in this lande / & I shall not go ouer Jordan. But ye shall go ouer and conquire that good lande.

Take heede vnto your selues therfore / & ye forgett not the appoyntment of the Lord your God which he made with you / & that ye make you no grauen ymage of what soeuer it be that the Lord thy God hath forbidden the. For the Lord thy God is a consuminge fyre / and a gelouse God.

After thou hast gotten chyldren and chyldrens chyldren and hast dwelt longe in the lande / ye shall make your selues and make grauen nothing grauen ymages after the liknesse of what soeuer it be / and shall worke wickednesse in the sighte of the Lord thy God / to prouoke him to anger. And I call heauen and erth to recorde vnto you this daye / that ye shall shortly perishe frō of the lande whether ye go ouer Jordan to possesse it: ye shall not prolonge your dayes therein but shall shortly be destroyed. And the Lord shall scatter you amonge nacions / & ye shall be sette fewe in nobye amonge people whether the Lord shall byynge you: and there ye shall serue goddes which are the workes of mans hande / wood & stone which nether se nor heare nor taste nor smell.

Nevertheless ye shall seeke the Lord your God euen there / and shall fynde him yf thou seke him w all thine herte and with all thy soule. In thy tribulacion and when all these thinges are come vpon the / euen in the later dayes / thou shalt turne vnto the Lord thy God / and shalt hearken vnto his voyce. For the Lord thy God is a pitiefull God: he wyl not forsake & nether destroye & nor forget & apoyntment made w thy fathers which he swaie vnto the.

For aske I praye the of the dayes that are past which were before the / sence the daye & God created man vpon the erth and from the one fynde of heauen vnto the other whether any thinge hath bene lyke vnto this greates thinge or whether any soche thinge hath bene herde as it is / & a nacion hath heard & voyce of God speakinge out of fyre as thou hast herde and yet lyued: ether whether God adde to go and take him a people from amonge nacions / thow to temptacions and sygnes and wonderes & thow to warre & with a myghtye hande and a stretched out arme and wpyth myghtye terrible syghtes / acorpyng vnto all that the Lord your God dyd vnto you in Egypte before your eyes.

Vnto the it was shewed / & thou myghtest knowe / howe that the Lord he is God and there is none but he. * Out of heauen he made the heare his voyce to noutter the / and vpon erth he shewed the his greates fyre / and thou heardest his wordes out of the fyre. And because he loued thy fathers / therfore he chose their seed after them and broughte the out with his presence and with his myghtye power of Egypte: to thrust out nacions greater & myghtier then thou before / to byynge the in & to geue & their lande to inheritaunce: as it is come to passe this daye.

Vnderstande therfore this daye and turne it to thine herte / that the Lord he is God in heauen aboue and vpon the erth beneath there is no moore: kepe therfore his ordinaunces / & his commaundmentes which I commaunde the this daye / that it maye go well with the & w thy chyldren after the & that thou mayst prolonge thy dayes vpon the erth which the Lord thy God geueth the thy lyfe longe.

This is the lawe which Moses set before the chyldren of Israel / and these are the witnessnes / ordinaunces & statutes which Moses tolde the chyldren of Israel after they came out of Egypte / on the other syde Jordan in the valeye belyde Beth Phoz in the lande of Sehon kinge of the Amorites which dwelt at Heshbon / whō Moses & the chyldre of Israel smote after they were come out of Egypte / & conquered his lande and the lande of Og kinge of Balan. iij. kynges of the Amorites on the other syde Jordan towards the sonne ryfynge: from Aroer vpon the banche of the ryuer Arnon vnto Mount Syon which is called Hermod and all the felde on the other syde Jordan eastwarde: euen vnto the see in the felde vnder the springes of Phasgah.

And Moses called vnto all Israel & layed vnto them: Heare Israel the ordinaunces and lawes which I speke in thine eares this daye / and lerne them and take heede that ye do the. The Lord our God made an appoyntment with vs in Horeb. The Lord made not this vōde with our fathers / but with vs: we are they / which are all here a lyue this daye. The Lord talked with you face to face in the mount out of the fyre. And I stode betwene the Lord and you the same tyme / to shewe you the sayinge of the Lord. For ye were saye: with us in the mount and he sayed. I am the Lord thy God which brought & out of the lande of Egypte & house of bondage. Thou shalt haue therfore none other goddes in my presence.

Thou shalt make the no grauen ymage of any maner lykenesse & is in heauē aboue or in erth beneath / or in the water beneath the erth. Thou shalt nether bowe thy selfe vnto the nor serue them / for I the Lord thy God / am a gelouse God / visitynge the wyckednesse of the fathers vpon the chyldren / euen in the thyrde and fourth generacion / amonge them that hate me: and shewe merceye vpon thou-landes amonge them that loue me and kepe my commaundmentes.

Lozde thy God dyd vnto Phara and vnto al Egypte / and the grete temptacions which thynne eyes sawe / & the signes and wonderes & mightie hande and stretched out arme wherewith the Lozde thy God broughte the out: eue so shall the Lozde thy God do vnto al the nations of which thou art a frayed.

Wherfore the Lozde thy God will send hott nettes amonge the vntill they that are leste / and hyde them selues from the / be destroyed.

Se thou feare the not for the Lozde thy God is among you a mightie God and a terrible.

The Lozde thy God will put out these nations before the a lytle and a lytle / thou mayst not consume them at once lest the beastes of the felde encrease vpon the.

And the Lozde thy God shall deliuer the vnto the and strep by a myghtie tempest amonge them / vntill they be brought to nought.

And he shall deliuer their kinges in to thynne hande / & thou shalt destroye their names from vnder heauen.

Where shall no man stande before the / vntill they haue destroyed them.

The images of their goddes thou shalt burne with fyre / and se that thou couet not the * syluer or golde & is on them noz take it vnto the / lest thou be charred therewith.

For it is an abhominacion vnto the Lozde thy God. Wrynge not therfore vnto the Abhominacion to thynne house / lest thou be a * damned thinge as it is: but utterye de- fyre it and abhorre it / for it is a thynge that must be destroyed.

Wholes pitteth the Israelites in remembrance of the afflictions and benyfytes that they hadde the xij yere which they were in the wilderness.

The viij. Chapter. All the commaundmentes which I commaunde the this daye ye shall hepe for to do them / that ye maye lyue & multiplie & go and possesse the lande whiche the Lozde swaie vnto your fathers.

And thinke on all the waye whiche the Lozde thy God lead the this xij. yere in the wilderness / for to humble the and to prouethe / to wete what was in thynne herte / whether thou woldest hepe his commaundmentes or no.

Ye * humbled the and made the hongre & lead the with mā which nether thou noz thy father knewe of / to make the knowe & a man must not lyue by bread only: but by al & pcedeth out of the mouth of the Lozde must a mā lyue.

Thy rayment waxed not olde vpon the / nether dyd thy fete swell thys xij. yere.

Understande therfore in thynne herte that as a man nourtereth his sonne / euen so the Lozde thy God nourtereth & kepe therfore & commaundmentes of the Lozde thy God that thou walke in his wayes & & thou feare him.

For the Lozde thy God byngeth the in to a good lande / a lande of ryuers of water / of mountains & of springes & springe out both in baleys and hylles: a lande of wheate & of barley / of vynes / figtrees and pomegranates / a lande of oyle trees with oyle and of honye: a lande wherin thou shalt not eate bread in scarcenesse / and where thou shalt lacke nothinge / a lande whose stones are yron / & out of whose hylles thou shalt digge brasse.

Whē thou hast eaten therfore and fylled thy selfe / then blesse the Lozde for the good land which he hath geuen the.

But beware & thou forgett not the Lozde thy God / that thou woldest not kepe his commaundmentes / lawes and ordinaunces which I commaunde the this daye: yee & whē thou hast eaten and fylled thy selfe and hast built goodly houses and dwelt therein / & when thy beaste and thy shepe are waxed manye & thy syluer and golde is multiplied & al that thou shalt encrease / then beware lest thynne herte ryle & thou forgett the Lozde thy God which broughte the out of the lande of Egypte & house of bondage / and which lead the in the wilderness both grete and terrible with fyre serpentes and scorpions and drought where was no water: which broughte the water out of the rocke of syne: whiche lead the in the wilderness with Man wherof thy fathers knewe not for to humble the and to proue the / that he myght do the good at thy later ende.

And beware that thou saye not in thynne herte / my power & the myght of myne awne hande hath done me all these actes: But remember the Lozde thy God / how that it is he which gaue the power to do manfully / for to make good & pcedeth out of the mouth of the Lozde must a mā lyue.

For if thou shalt forgett the Lozde thy God and shalt walke after straunge goddes & serue them & worshippe them / I testyfy vnto you this daye / that ye shall surely perishe.

As the nations which the Lozde destroyeth before the / euen so ye shall perishe / because ye wolde not hearken vnto the voyce of the Lozde your God.

They are forbydden to trust in their awne strength & rehercall of certen thynge that were done after the lawe was geuen vnto the murmuring at the Graues of Aul.

The ix. Chapter. Care Israel / thou goest ouer Jordan this daye / to go & conquere nations greater and mightier then thy selfe and cities grete and * walled vp to heauen / and people grete and tall / euen the chyldren of the Enakims / which thou knowest and of whom thou hast herde saye who is able to stand before the chyldre of Enack.

But understande this daye that the Lozde thy God which goeth ouer before the & a consuming fire / he fire / he shall destroye them and he shall subdue them before the.

And thou shalt cast the out / and bynge them to noughte quicklye as the Lozde hath sayd vnto the.

Speake not in thynne herte / after that the Lozde thy God hath cast them out before the sayinge: for my righteousnes the Lozde hath brought me in to possesse thys lande.

But for the wickednesse of these nations the Lozde doth cast the out before the.

It is not for thy righteousness sake & right herte that thou goest to possesse thys lande: But partly for the wickednesse of these nations / & the Lozde thy God doth cast the out before the / & partly to perishe that whych the Lozde thy God swaie vnto thy fathers / Abraham / Isaac & Jacob.

Understande therfore that it is not for thy righteousness sake / & the Lozde thy God doth gaue the thys good land to possesse it / for thou art a stiffnecked people.

Remember & thou shalt not how thou prouokedest the Lozde thy God in the wilderness: for since the daye that thou camest out of the land of Egypte vntill ye came vnto this place / ye haue rebelled agens the Lozde.

Also in Horeb ye angered the Lozde so that the Lozde was wroth with you / euen to haue destroyed you / after that I was gone vp in to the mount / to sett the tables of stone the tables of appoyntment which the Lozde made with you.

And I abode in the hyll xij. dayes and xij. nightes & nether ate bread noz dranke water.

And the Lozde deliuered me two tables of stone with the syngre of God / and in them was accordyng to all the wordes which the Lozde sayd vnto you in the mount out of the fyre in the daye when the people were gathered together.

And when the xij. dayes & xij. nightes were ended / the Lozde gaue me the two tables of stone / the tables of the testament / and sayde vnto me.

Wpp / and get the doune quicklye from hence / for thy people whych thou hast broughte out of Egypte / haue married them selues.

They are turned at once out of the waye / whych I commaunded them / & haue made them a God of metall.

Furthermore the Lozde spake vnto me sayinge: I se thys people how that it is a stiffnecked people / let me alone that I maye destroye them and put out the name of them from vnder heauen / and I will make of the a nation both greater and mo than they.

And I turned awaye and came doune fro the hyll / and the hyll burnt with fyre / & had the two tables of the appoyntment in my handes.

And when I looked & sawe that ye had synned agens the Lozde your God & had made you a calfe of metall and had turned at once out of the waye whiche the Lozde had commaunded you * whē I toke the two tables & cast them out of my two handes / & brake thei in before your eyes.

For I was a frayed of the wrath & fearnesse wherewith the Lozde was angrie vnto you / euen for to haue destroyed you.

But the Lozde herde my petycon at that tyme also.

The Lozde was very angrie with Aaron also / euen for to haue destroyed him: But I made intercession for Aaron also & same tyme.

And I toke your synne / the cause whych ye had made & burne him to fyre & claped him & grounde him a good / eue vnto smal dust.

And I cast the dust thereof in to the broche that descended out of the mounte.

Also at Chaderah & at Balah & at the sepulchres of lust ye angered the Lozde / yee and when the Lozde sent you from Eades Bame sayinge: go by & cōquere the land whiche I haue geuen you / ye disobeyed the mouth of the Lozde your God & nether beleued him noz hearkened vnto his voyce.

Thus ye haue bene disobedient vnto the Lozde / since the daye that I knewe you.

Wherefore the Leuites haue no parte nor inheritaunce with their brethren. The Lorde he is their inheritaunce / as the Lorde thy God hath promysed them.

And I tarried in the mount/ euē as at the first tyme. xl. dayes and. xl. nyghtes and the Lorde herkened vnto me at that tyme also / so that the Lorde wolde not destroye the. And the Lorde sayed vnto me: by & go forth in the iourney before the people and let them go in and conquer the land which I swaue vnto their fathers to geue vnto them.

And now Israel what is it that thy Lorde thy God requereth of thee / but to feare the Lorde thy God and to walke in all his wayes and to loue him & to serue the Lorde thy God with all thyne herte and with all thy soule / & thou kepe the commaundmentes of the Lorde & his ordinaunces which I commaunde the this daye / for thy welth. Beholde / heauen and the heauen of heauens is the Lorde thy God / & the erth with all that therein is: only the Lorde had a lust vnto thy fathers to loue them / and therefore chose you their seed after them of all nacions / as it is come to passe this daye.

For the Lorde thy God / he is God of Gods / for the Lorde of Lodes / a grete God / a myghtye and a terrible whych regardeth no mā's person nor taketh giftes: but doeth right vnto the fatherlesse & widow and loueth the stranger / to geue him fede and rayment. Loue therefore the stranger / for ye were strangers your selues in the lande of Egypte.

Thou shalt feare the Lorde thy God and serue him and cleaue vnto him & * swere by his name / for he is thy prayse and he is thy God & hath done these grete & terrible thynges for the / whych thyne eyes haue sene. Thy fathers went downe in to Egypte to. x. soules of men / and now the Lorde thy God hath made thee as set of the starres of heauen in multitude.

An exhortacion to regarde the Lawe and how they ought to haue it in their hertes alwayes and before their eyes / and to talke of hit when they ryle / when they lye downe and when they walke by the waye & c.

Chapter.

Due the Lorde thy God and kepe his obseruaunces / his ordinaunces / his lawes & his commaundmentes alwaye. And call to mynde this daye that which your chyldren haue neether knowne nor sene: euē the nourtoure of the Lorde your God his greatnes his myghte / his hande & his stretched out arme: his miracles & his actes which he dyd amonge the Egipcians / euē vnto Pharaō & kynge of Egypte and vnto all his lande: and what he dyd vnto the host of the Egipcians / vnto their hoyses and charrettes / how he brought the water of the red see vpon the as they chased you / and how the Lorde hath brought them to nought vnto this daye: & what he dyd vnto you in the wilderness / vntill ye came vnto this place: and what he dyd vnto * Moyses and Aarō the sonnes of Eliab the sonne of Rubē / how the erth opened hir mouth and swallowed the with their howsholmes and their tentes / & all their substance that was in their possession / in the myddes of Israel.

For your eyes haue sene all the grete & deades of the Lorde which he dyd. Kepe therefore all the commaundmentes which I commaunde the this daye that ye maye be stronge and go and conquer the lande whether ye go to possesse it / & that ye maye prolonge your dayes in the lande which the Lorde swaue vnto your fathers to geue vnto them and to their seed / a lande that floweth with mycke and honye. For the lande whether thou goest to possesse it / is not as the lande of Egypte whiche thou camest out / where thou sowdest thy seed and * waterdest it with thy fete as a gard of herbes: but the lande whither ye go ouer to possesse it / is a lande of hilles and valleys and dryneth water of the rayne of heauen / and a lande whych the Lorde thy God careth for. The eyes of the Lorde thy God are alwayes vpon it / from the begynnyng of the yere vnto the later ende of the yere.

If thou shalt hearken therefore vnto my commaundmentes which I commaunde you this daye / & ye loue the Lorde your God & serue him with all your hertes and with all your soules: then he will geue rayne vnto your lande in due season / both the first & rayne & the later / and thou shalt gather in thy come thy wyne and thyne oyle. And he will sende graffe in thy felde for thy cattell: & thou shalt eat and fyll thy selfe. But beware that your hertes deceaue you not that ye turne asyde and serue straunge Goddes & worshyp the / & the wrath of the Lorde waxe whote vpon you & shutt vp the heauen that there be no rayne and your lande yeld not her frute and that ye perishe quickly from of the good lande which the Lorde geueth you.

But by therefore these my wordes in your hertes and in your soules / & bynde the for a sygne vnto your handes / and let them be as papers of remembraunce betwene your eyes and * teach them your chyldren: so that thou talke of the when thou sittest in thine house and when thou walkest by the waye / & when thou lyeest downe & when thou rystest vp: & write the vpon the doore postes of thine house and vpon thy gates / that your dayes may be multiplied and the dayes of your chyldren vpon the erth whych the Lorde swaue vnto your fathers to geue them / as longe as the dayes of heauen last vpon the erth. For ye shall kepe all these commaundmentes which I commaunde you / so that ye do the and loue the Lorde your God and walke in all his wayes & cleaue vnto him. Then will the Lorde cast out all these nacions & ye shall conquer the which are both greater & mightier the your selues. * All places where on the soles of your fete shall treade / shall be yournes euē frō the wilderness & frō Liban & frō the Euphrates / euē vnto the uttermost see shall your coyses be. There shall no man be able to stande before you: the Lorde your God shall call the feare & drede of you vpon all landes whether ye shall come / as he hath sayde vnto you.

Beholde I set before you this daye / a blessinge and a curse: a blessinge: yf that ye hearken vnto the commaundmentes of the Lorde your God which I commaunde you this daye And a curse: yf ye will not hearken vnto the commaundmentes of the Lorde your God: but turne out of the waye whych I commaunde you this daye to go after straunge Goddes whych ye haue not knowne.

When the Lorde thy God hath brought thee in to the lande whether thou goest to possesse it / then put the blessinge vpon mount Garizim and the curse vpon mount Ebal / whych are on the other syde Jordan on the backe syde of the waye towarde the goinge downe of the forre in the lande of the Canaanites whych dwel in the felde ouer against Balgal beyde the groue of Mozerh. For ye shall go ouer to go & possesse the lande which the Lorde your God geueth you / and shall conquer it and dwell therein. Take hede therefore that ye do all the commaundmentes and lawes whych I sett before you this daye.

For ye shall see the Canaanites destroye and see the

They must eat no bloude. They must onely do that thyng whych God commaundeth.

Chapter.

These are the ordinaunces & lawes whych ye shall obserue to do in the lande which the Lorde God of thy fathers geueth thee to possesse it / as longe as ye lye vpon the erth. * Se that ye destroye all places where the nacions which ye conquer serue their Goddes / vpon hye mountaynes & on hye hilles & vnder euery grene tree. Dier throwe their alters and breake their pylers & burne their groues with fire & hew downe the ymages of their Goddes / and bynng the names of them to noughte out of that place. Se ye do not so vnto the Lorde your God but ye shall enquire the place which the Lorde your God shall haue chosen out of all your trybes to put his name there and there to dwell. And * thyther thou shalt come / and thyther ye shall bynng your burntacrifces & your offeringes / your tithes and heue offeringes of your handes / your vowes and frewill offeringes & the first borne of your oren and of your shepe. And there ye shall eat before the Lorde your God / and ye shall reioyse in all that ye laye your handes on / both ye and your howsholmes / because the Lorde thy God hath blessed the.

* Ye shall do after nothyng that we do here this daye / euery man what semeth hym good in his owne eyes. For ye are not yet come to rest nor vnto the inheritaunce whych the Lorde your God geueth you. But ye shall go ouer Jordan and dwell in the lande which the Lorde your God geueth you to inheret & he shall geue you rest frō all your enemies rounde aboute: & ye shall dwell in safetie.

Therefore when the Lorde your God hath chosen a place to make his name dwell there thyther ye shall bynng all that I commaunde you / your burntacrifces & your offeringes / your tithes / & the heue offeringes of your handes and all your Godly bowes which ye bowe vnto the Lorde. And ye shall reioyse before the Lorde your God / both ye your sonnes & your daughters / your seruauntes and your maydes and the Leuite & is within your gates * for he hath neether parte nor inheritaunce with you.

Take hede that thou offer not thy burntacrifces in what soeuer place thou seest: but in the place whych the Lorde shall haue chosen amonge one of thy trybes / there thou shalt offer thy burntacrifces & there thou shalt do all that I commaunde the. For withstandinge thou mayst kyll and eat fleshe in all thy ctytes / what soeuer thy soule lusteth after / according to the blessinge of the Lorde thy God whych he hath geuen the both the enheritance amonge their brethren: & the Lord he is their enheritance / as he hath sayde vnto the. And this is the dutie of the prelates of the people and of them that offer / whether it be of the shepe: they must geue vnto the prelate / the shoulder and the two chekes & the mawe / the first frutes of the come / wyne & oyle / & first of the shepe they must thou geue him. For the Lord thy God hath chosen him out of all the tribes to stande and to minister in the name of the Lord: bothe hym & his sonnes for euer. If a Leuite come out of any of thy cyties or any place of Israel / wher he is a sojourner / & come wyth all the lust of his herte vnto the place which the Lord hath chosen: he shall there minister in the name of the Lord thy God as all his brethren the Leuites do which stande there before the Lord. And they shall haue lyke porcions to eate / besyde that which cometh to hym of the patrimonye of his elders.

When thou art come in to the lande which the Lord thy God geueth thee / so that thou lerne not to do after the abhominacions of these nations. Let ther not be founde among you that maketh his sonne or daughter to go through the fyre / or that bleseth with crasse / or chooseth oute of dayes or that regardeth the byge of soull / or a sojourn / or a charmar / or that consocieth wyth syretes / or a prophete or that asketh the aduise of the deed. For all that do such thynges are abhominacion vnto the Lord: and because of these abhominacions the Lord thy God doeth cast them oute before the / be pure therfore wyth the Lord thy God. For these nations which thou shalt conquer / herken vnto choosers oute of dayes and prophetes. But the Lord thy God permitteth not that to the.

The Lord thy God wyll sterre by a prophete amonge you: euen of thy brethren like vnto me: & vnto him ye shall hearken according to all that he sayeth of the Lord thy God in those dayes. Let me heare the voyce of my Lord thy God no more / nor let thyng greate be any more / that I dye not. And the Lord sayde vnto me: they haue well spoken / I will rayse the by a prophete frō amonge their brethren / I will put my wordes in to his mouth & he shall speake vnto the all that I shall commaunde him. And whosoever wyll not hearken vnto the wordes which he shall speake in my name / I will requyre it of hym.

But the prophete which shall presume to speake ought in my name which I commaunded not to speake / and he that speaketh in the name of strange Goddes / the same prophete shall dye. And if thou saye in thine herte howe shall I knowe that which the Lord hath not spoken: when a prophete speaketh in the name of the Lord / if the thyng folow not / come to passe / it is the thyng which the Lord hath not spoken. But the prophete hath spoken it presumptuously: be not ascerde therfore of hym.

The franchised townes. The punishment of hym that beareth false witness.

The xix. Chapter.

When the Lord thy God hath destroyed the nations whose lande the Lord thy God geueth thee / & thou hast conquered the & dwellest in their cities and in their houses: thou shalt appoynte cities in the lande which the Lord thy God geueth thee to possesse it: thou shalt prepare a waye & deuyde the coles of the lande which the Lord thy God geueth thee to enheret / in to iii. partes & whosoever comytteth murder may see thither. And this is the cause of the slayer that shall see thither and be saved. If he smyte his neyghboure ignorantly & hated him not in tyme passed: As whē a man goeth vnto the wood wyth his neyghboure to hem wood / & as his hande setheth a stroke with the axe / the head slippeth frō the helue & smyteth his neyghboure that he dyeth: the same shall see vnto one of these cities and be saved. Let the executer of bloude folowe after the slayer while he is hert is whole and ouertake him / because the waye is longe / and slee hym / & per there is no cause worthy of death in hym / in as moche as he hated not his neyghbour in tyme passed. Wherfore I commaunde & saye that thou appoynte out iii. cyties.

And if the Lord thy God enlarge thy coles as he hath sworne vnto thy fathers and geue the all the lande which he sayde he wold geue vnto thy fathers / so that thou kepe all these commaundmentes to do them / which I commaunde the this daye / that thou loue the Lord thy God & walke in his wayes euer: thou shalt adde iii. cities mo vnto these iii. & innocent bloude be not shed in the lande which the Lord thy God geueth thee to enheret / & so bloude come vnto the. But and if there be any man that hateth his neyghboure and layeth awayte for hym & riseth agaynst him & smyteth him & he dyeth / & keth vnto any of these cyties. Then let the elders of his cytye sende & fetch him thence & deliuer him in to the handes of the iustice of bloude / & he shall dye. Let thine eye haue no pitie on him / & so thou shalt put away innocent bloude from Israel / & happye arte thou. Thou shalt not remoue thy neyghbours marke which they of olde tyme haue sett in thine enheritance & thou enherettest in the lande which the Lord thy God geueth thee to enioye it.

One witness shall not ryle agens a man in any maner trespase or synne / what soeuer synne a man synneth: But at the mouth of two witnesses or of iii. witnesses shall all matters be tryed.

If an vniuersall witness ryle by agens a man to accuse him of trespase: then let both the men which stryue together stande before the Lord / before the prelates and the iudges which shall be in those dayes: & let the iudges enquire a good. And if the witness be founde false and that he hath geue false witness agens his brother then shall ye do vnto him as he had thought to do vnto his brother / and so thou shalt put euell away from the. And other shall heare & feare and shall henceforth comyt no more any such wickednesse amonge you. And let thine eye haue no compassyon / but life for life / eye for eye / tooth for tooth / hande for hande / and fote for fote.

Who ought to go to battell. The Lawe of Armes amonge the Israelites. The Ammonites must they kill.

The xx. Chapter.

When thou goest out to battell agens thine enemies / and seist hostes & charettes & people mo then thou / be not ascerde of the / for the Lord thy God is with the which broughte thee out of the lande of Egypt. And whē ye are come nye vnto battell / let the prelate come forth & speke vnto the people & saye vnto the: Heare ye Israel / ye are come vnto battell agens your enemies / let not your hartes faunte / neither feare nor be amased nor a dread of the / for the Lord thy God goeth w you to fighte for you agens your enemies & to saue you.

And let the officers speake vnto the people sayinge: If any man haue bylt a new house and haue not dedicate it / let him go and returne to his house lest he dye in the battell / & another dedicate it. And if any man haue planted a vine parde & haue not made it comen / let him go & returne agayne vnto his house / lest he dye in the battell and another make it comen. And if any man be betrauthed vnto a wyfe and haue not taken her / let him go & returne agayne vnto his house / lest he dye in the battell and another take her.

And let the officers speake further vnto the people and saye: If any man feare & be faunte herted / let him go and returne vnto his house lest his brothers herte be made faunte as well as his. And when the officers haue made an ende of speakinge vnto the people / let them make captaynes of warre ouer them.

When thou comest nye vnto a citie to fight agens it / offre the peace. And if they answer the agayne pealably / and open vnto the / then let all the people that is founde therein be tributaries vnto the and serue the. But if they will make no peace with the / then make warre agens the citie and besage it. And when the Lord thy God hath deliuered it in to thine handes / smyte al the males therof with the egde of the swerde / saue the women and the chyldren and the catell & all that is in the cytye and all the spoyle therof take vnto thy selfe & eate the spoyle of thine enemies which the Lord thy God geueth thee. Thus thou shalt do vnto al the cyties which are a greute waye of from the and not of the cities of these nations.

But in the cities of these nations which the Lord thy God geueth thee to enheret / thou shalt saue alque nothinge & brethren. But thou shalt destroy the with out redemption / both the Hittites / the Amorites / the Canaanites / the Pherezites / the Heuites & the Jebusites / as the Lord thy God hath commaunded the / they teach you not to do after al their abhominacions which they do vnto their goddes / & so shouldest thou agens the Lord your God.

When thou hast besaged a citie longe tyme in makinge warre agens it to take it / destroye not the trees therof / thou woldest thou art vnto the. For thou mayst eate of the / and therfore destroye the not. For the trees of the felde are no men / they myght come agens the to besage the. Herethelater those trees which thou knowest that men eate not of the / thou mayst destroye & cutte them downe and make bolwerkes agens the citie that maketh warre with the / vntill it be ouerthrowne.

The purgacion of hym that is founde deed & is not knowne how he was slayne. How we ought to take to wyse her that is take in warre. The eyght of the fyre begotten. The punishment of the sonne that is disobedient to his father and mother.

The xxi. Chapter.

If one be founde slaine in the land which the Lord thy God geueth thee to possesse it / and lyeth in the felde: & not knowne who hath slayne him: then let thine elders and thy iudges come forth & mete vnto the cyties that are rounde aboute the slayne. And let the elders of that citie which is next vnto the slayne man take an heffer that is not laboured in nor hath byawen in the yocke / and let them bynge her vnto a valeye where is neither earynge nor sowge / & strike of her head there in the valeye.

When let the prelates the sonnes of Leui come forth / for the Lord thy God hath chosen them to minister & to blesse in the name of the Lord & therfore at their mouth shall all strife & plage be tryed. And all the elders of the citie that is nexte to the slayne man shall waite their handes ouer the heffer that is beheaded in the playne / & shall answer and saye: our handes haue not shed this bloude

For that is abhominacion in the syghte of the Lord: & thou shalt not the land with synne / which the Lord thy God geueth & to enheret.

When a man taketh a newe wyfe, he shall not go a warrefare neyther shall be charged w any busynesse: but shall be fre at home one to all that the prestes the Leuites shall teache the / as I commaunded them so ye shall obserue to do. Remember what the Lord thy God dyd vnto Miriam by the waye / after that ye were come out of Egypte.

If thou lendest thy brother any maner socoure / thou shalt not go in to his house to fetche a pledge: but shalt stande without & he shall bringe the pledge out at the doore. * Forthermore yf it be a poore body / go not to slepe w his pledge but deliuer hym the pledge agayne by & the sonne go doune / & let him slepe in his awne rayment and blesse the.

And it shall be ryghteousnes vnto & before the Lord thy God. * Thou shalt not defraude an hyred seruaunte that is nedye and poore / whether he be of thy brethren or a straunger that is in thy lande with in thy cyties. True him his hyre the same daye / and lett not the sonne go doune thereon. For he is nedye and therewith susteyneth his lyte / lett he crye agens the vnto the Lord and it be synne vnto the. The fathers shall not dye for the chyldren nor the chyldren for the fathers: but euery man shall dye for his awne synne.

* Hynder not the ryght of the strainger nor of the fatherlesse / nor take widowes rayment to pledge. But remembre that thou wast a seruaunte in Egypte / and how the Lord thy God deliuered the thence. Wherefore I commaunde the to do this thinge.

When thou cuttest doune thynne heruette in the felde & hast forgotte a sheaf in the felde thou shalt not go agayne and lett it: But it shall be for the strainger / the fatherlesse & the widowe / that the Lord thy God maye blesse the in all the wythes of thynne hande. When thou beatest doune thynne olyue trees thou shalt not make cleane riddance after the: but it shall be for the strainger / the fatherlesse & the widowe. And whē thou gatherest thy byneparde / thou shalt not gather cleane after the: but it shall be for the strainger / the fatherlesse & the widowe. And remembre that thou wast a seruaunte in the land of Egypte: wherefore I commaunde the to do this thinge.

The punnyment of offenders. The lawe of reuenging leed to the brother that is deed. * Reuenges and weyghtes.

The xxv. Chapter.

There be stryfe betwene men / let the come vnto the lawe / & let the iudges iustifie the righteous & condemn the trespasser. And yf & trespasser be worthy of stryfe / then let the iudge cause to take him doune & to beate him be

* Thou shalt not molest & ore that treadeth out the corne.

When brethren dwell together and one of them dye and haue no chyldre / the wyfe of the deed shall not be geuen out vnto a strainger: but his brother in lawe shall go in vnto her & take her to wyfe & marie her. And the eldest sonne which she beareth / shall stande by in the name of his brother which is deed / that his name be not put out in Israel.

But and yf the man wyll not take his syster in lawe / then let her go to & gate vnto & elders & saye: My brother in lawe refuseth to sterre by vnto his brother a name in Israel / he will not marie me. Then let the elders of his cytye call vnto him and comen w him. The

And he stande & saye: I wyll not take her / then let his syter in lawe go vnto him in the presence of the elders and loose his shoue of his fote & spyt in his face & answer & saye. So shall it be done vnto that man that wyll not be byde his brothers house. And his name shall be called in Israel / the vnshoedhouse.

If when men stryue to geather / one wyth another / the wyfe of the one runne to / so: to ryd her husbände out of the handes of hym & smyteth hym and put forth her hande & take hym by the secrettes: out of her hand / and lett not thynne eye pette her.

* Thou shalt not haue in thy bagge two manner of weyghtes / a greate & a small: neyther shalt thou haue in thynne house diuerse measures / a greate & a small. But thou shalt haue a perfect and a iust measure: that thy dayes maye be lengthed in the lande which the Lord thy God geueth the. For all that do soche thynges & all that do vnryght / are abhominacion vnto the Lord thy God. Remember what Amalech dyd vnto & by the waye after thou comest out of Egypte / he mett the by the waye and smote & hyndmost of you / all that were ouer labourd and dyagged by hynde / whē thou wast saynted & werpe / & he feared not God. Wherefore when the Lord thy God hath geuen the rest from all thynne enemyes rounde aboute / in the lande which the Lord thy God geueth the to enheret and possesse: se that thou put out the name of Amalech from vnder heauen / and forget not.

The xxvi. Chapter.

When thou art come in to the lande which the Lord thy God geueth the to enheret & shalt enioyed it and dwellest therein: take of & spyt of all the frute of the erthe / whych thou hast brought in out of the lande & the Lord thy God geueth the and put it in a maunde & go vnto the place which the Lord thy God shall chose to make his name dwell there. And thou shalt come vnto the prest that shall be in those dayes and saye vnto hym I knoweledge this daye vnto the Lord thy God / that I am come vnto the contre whych the Lord thy God hath geuen vnto our fathers for to geue vs.

And the prest shall take the maunde out of thynne hande / and lett it doune before the altar of the Lord thy God. And thou shalt answere and saye before the Lord thy God: The * strais wolde haue destroyed my father / and he went doune in to Egypte and sojourned there wyth a fewe folke and grewe there vnto a nation greate / mighte and full of people. And the Egyptians beyed vs and troubled vs / & laded vs with cruel bondage. And we cryed vnto the Lord God of oure fathers / and the Lord hearde oure voyce & looked on oure aduersyte / labour & oppresyon. And the Lord brought vs out of Egypt with a myghtie hande & a stretched out arme & w great terriblenesse and with signes and wonders. And he hath brought vs in to this place and hath geuen vs this lande & floweth with mylke & honye. And now loo / I haue brought & spyt frutes of the lande which the Lord hath geuen me. And set it before the Lord thy God / & worshyp before the Lord thy God and reioyse ouer all the good thyngs which the Lord thy God hath geuen vnto & vnto thynne house / bothe thou the Leuite and the strainger that is amonge you.

When thou hast made an ende of thy thyngge all the tythes of thynne encrease the thyde yere / the yere of thy thyngge: and shalt geuen it vnto the Leuite / the strainger / the fatherlesse and the widowe / and they haue eaten in thy gates and fylled them selues. When saye before the Lord thy God: I haue brought & halowed thynges out of myne house / & haue geuen them vnto the Leuite / the strainger / the fatherlesse and the widowe accordyng to all the commaundmentes whych thou commaundest me: I haue not ouershypped thy commaundmentes / nor forgotten them. I haue not eaten therof in my mourninge nor taken awaye therof vnto any vncleynesse / nor spente therof aboute any dead corse: but haue berkened vnto the voyce of the Lord my God / and haue done after all that he commaunded me / loke doune fro thy holy habytacyon heauē / and blesse thy people Israel & the lande which thou hast geuen vs / as thou swarest vnto oure fathers / a land & floweth with mylke and honye.

This daye the Lord thy God hath commaunded the to do these ordinaunces & lawes kepe them therfore & do them with all thynne herte and all thy soule. * Thou shalt sett by the Lord thy God to be thy God and to walke in his wayes & to kepe his ordinaunces / his commaundmentes and his lawes / and to herken vnto his voyce. And the Lord hath sett the by thy daye / to be a generall people vnto him / as he hath promysed & and that thou kepe his commaundmentes / & to make & hye aboue all nacions which he hath made / in prayse / in name and honoure: that thou mayst be an holy people vnto the Lord thy God / as he hath sayde.

This daye the Lord thy God hath commaunded the to do these ordinaunces & lawes kepe them therfore & do them with all thynne herte and all thy soule. * Thou shalt sett by the Lord thy God to be thy God and to walke in his wayes & to kepe his ordinaunces / his commaundmentes and his lawes / and to herken vnto his voyce. And the Lord hath sett the by thy daye / to be a generall people vnto him / as he hath promysed & and that thou kepe his commaundmentes / & to make & hye aboue all nacions which he hath made / in prayse / in name and honoure: that thou mayst be an holy people vnto the Lord thy God / as he hath sayde.

And Moses with the elders of Israel commanded the people saying: hepe all the commandmentes whych I commaunde you this daye. And whē ye be come ouer Jordan into the lande whych the Lord thy God geueth the / set by greates stones and playster them wyth playster / and wyte vpon the all the wordes of this lawe / whē thou arte come ouer: & thou mayst come in to the lande whych the Lord thy God geueth the: a land that floweth with myke & honye as the Lord God of thy fathers hath promysed the. Whē ye be come ouer Jordan / se that ye set by these stones whych I commaunde you this daye in mount Ebal / & playster the wyth playster. And there bylde vnto the Lord thy God: an altare of stones and se thou lyfte by no yron vpon them: But thou shalt make the altare of the Lord thy God of rough stones and offer burntofferings thereon vnto the Lord thy God. And thou shalt offer peace-offerings and shalt eate there and reioyse before the Lord thy God. And thou shalt wyte vpon the stones all the wordes of this lawe / manifestly and well.

And Moses with the prelates the Leuites spake vnto all Israel saying: take hede and heare Israel / this daye thou art become the people of the Lord thy God. Herke therefore vnto the voyce of the Lord thy God & do his commandmentes & his ordinaunces whych I commaunde you this daye. And Moses charged the people the same daye saying. These shall stand vpon mount Garizim to blesse the people / when ye are come ouer Jordan: Symeon / Leui / Juda / Issachar / Joseph and Beniamin. And these shall stand by the mount Ebal to curse: Ruben / Gad / Aser / Zabulon / Dan & Nephthali. And the Leuites shall be-gynne & saye vnto all the men of Israel with a loude voyce.

*Cursed be he that maketh any carved image or ymage of metall (an abhominacyō vnto the Lord / the worke of the handes of the crafterman) and putteth it in a secret place: and all the people shall answere & saye Amen.

*Cursed be he that curseth his father or his mother / and all the people shall saye Amen. Cursed be he that tempteth his neyghbours marche and all the people shall saye Amen.

Cursed be he that maketh the blynde go out of his waye / & all the people shall saye Amē.

*Cursed be he that byndeth the ryght of the stranger / fatherlesse and wedowe / and all the people shall saye Amen.

Cursed be he that lyeth wyth his fathers wyfe because he hath opened his fathers couerynge / and all the people shall saye Amen.

Cursed be he that lyeth wyth any maner beaſt / and all the people shall saye Amen.

Cursed be he that lyeth wyth his syſter whether she be the daughter of his father or of his mother / and all the people shall saye Amen.

Cursed be he that lyeth wyth his mother in lawe / and all the people shall saye Amen.

Cursed be that smyteth his neyghboure secretly / and all the people shall saye Amen.

*Cursed be he that taketh a reward to slee in nocēt bloude / & all the people shall saye Amē.

Cursed be he that mayntayneth not all the wordes of this lawe to do them / and all the people shall saye Amen.

The promys of the blessynges vnto them that regard the commandmentes / and the curses to the contrarie.

The xxviii. Chapter.

If thou shalt herke diligently vnto the voyce of the Lord thy God / to obserue & to do all his commandmentes whych I commaunde the this daye. The Lord will set the on hye aboue all nacions of the erth. And all these blessynges shall come on the and ouer take the / yf thou shalt herken vnto the voyce of the Lord thy God. Blessed shalt thou be in the towne and blessed in the felde / blessed shalt thou be the fruite of thy body / the fruite of thy grounde and the fruite of thy cattell / the fruite of thyne oxen / & thy flockes of shepe / blessed shalt thyne aulmery be and thy floze. Blessed shalt thou be / both when thou goest out / and blessed when thou comest in. The Lord shall smyte thine enemyes that ryle agens the before thy face / they shall come out agens the one waye / & flee before the seven wayes. The Lord shall commaunde the blessyng to be with the in thy floze houses & in all that thou setteſt thyne hande to / & will blesse the in the lande whych the Lord thy God geueth the.

The Lord shall make the an holpe people vnto him selfe / as he hath sworen vnto the: yf thou shalt kepe the commandmentes of the Lord thy God and walke in his wayes.

And all nacions of the erth shall se the thou arte called after the name of the Lord / and they shall be aſerue of the. And the Lord shall make the plētuous in goodes / in the fruite of thy body / in the fruite of thy cattell and in the fruite of thy grounde / in the lande whych the Lord swate vnto thy fathers to geue the.

The Lord shall open vnto the his good treasure / euen the heauen / to geue rayne vnto thy lande in due season and to blesse all the laboures of thyne hāde. And thou shalt lende vnto many nacions / but shalt not nede to borrowe thy selfe. And the Lord shall set the before and not behynde / & thou shalt be aboue only and not beneath: yf that thou herke vnto the commandmentes of the Lord thy God whych I commaunde the this daye to kepe and to do to do

to do them. And se that thou bome not from any of these wordes whych I commaunde the this daye: ether to the ryght hande or to the leſſe / that thou woldest go after straunge gods to serue them.

But and yf thou wilt not herken vnto the voyce of the Lord thy God to kepe and to do all his commandmentes and ordinaunces whych I commaunde the this daye: then all these curses shall come vpon the & ouertake the: Cursed shalt thou be in the towne / & cursed in the felde / cursed shalt thyne aulmery be & thy floze. Cursed shall the fruite of thy body & the fruite of thy lande be & the fruite of thyne oxen & the flockes of thy shepe. And cursed shalt thou be when thou goest in / & whē thou goest out. And the Lord shall sende vnto the cursynge / goynge to nought & cōplaynyng in all that thou setteſt thyne hande to whatsoeuer thou doest: vntyll thou be destroyed & brought to nought quychely / because of the wickednesse of thyne inuycions in that thou hast forsaken the Lord. And the Lord shall make the pestilence cleaue vnto the / vntyll he haue consumed the from the lande whether thou goest to enioye it. And the Lord shall smyte the with swellynge / with feuers / heet / burninge / wetherynge / with smytynge and blastinge. And they shall folowe the vntyll thou perishe.

And the heauē that is ouer thy head shall be brack / & the erthe that is vnder the feet. And the Lord shall turne the rayne of the land vnto powder & dust: euen from heauen they shall come doune vpon the / vntyll thou be brought to nought. And the Lord shall plage the before thyne enemyes: thou shalt come out one waye agens them / and flee seven wayes before the / & shalt be scattered amonge all the kingdomes of the erthe. And thy carkeſſe shall be meate vnto all maner foules of the ayre and vnto the beaſt of the erthe / and no man shall fraye them awaye.

And the Lord will smyte the with the botches of egypte and the emozodes / scalle & magynesse / that thou shalt not be healed therof. And the Lord shall smyte the with madness / blyndnes & dasyng of herte. And thou shalt grope at none daye as the blynde gropeth in darkenesse / and shalt not come to the ryght awaye. And thou shalt suffre wydge only & be polled euenmoze / and no mā shall loke the / thou shalt be betrawthed vnto a wyfe / and another shall lye with her. Thou shalt byde an house and another shall dwell therein. Thou shalt plante a byncarde / and shalt not make it comen. Thyne oxen shall be slayne before thyne eyes / and thou shalt not eate therof. Thyne asse shall be violently take awaye eue before thy face / and shalt not be restored the agayne. Thy shepe shall be geue vnto thyne enemyes / and no mā shall helpe the. Thy sonnes and thy daughters shall be geuen vnto another nacyon / and thyne eyes shall se and dale vpon them all daye longe / but shalt haue no mighte in thyne hāde. The frute of thy lande and all thy laboures shall a nacyon whych thou knowest not / eate / and thou shalt but suffre byolence only & be oppressed alwaye: that thou shalt be cleane despyde thy selfe for the syghte of thyne eyes whych thou shalt se.

The Lord shall smyte the with a myſcheyuous botche in the knees & legges / so the thou canst not be heales: euen from the sole of the fote vnto the toppe of the head.

The Lord shall byynge both the and thy kynge whych thou hast set ouer the / vnto a nacyon whych nether thou nor thy fathers haue knowne / and there thou shalt serue strange goddes: eue wodd & stone. And thou shalt go to waste & be made an ensample / & a lesynge stocke vnto all nacions whether the Lord shall carpe the. Thou shalt carie moch seed out in to the ſeld & shalt gether but lytle in: for the grethoppers shall destroye it. Thou shalt plante a byncarde & dycke it / but shalt nether byncche of the wyne nether gether of the grapes / for the moymes shall eate it. Thou shalt haue olyue trees in all thy costes / but shalt not be anoynted with the oyle / for thyne olyue trees shall be roted out. Thou shalt gett sonnes and daughters / but shalt not haue them: for they shall be carryed awaye captiue. All thy trees and frute of thy lande shall be marred with blastinge.

The straungers that are amonge you shall clyme aboue the by an hye / and thou shalt come doune beneath slowe. He shall lende the & thou shalt not lende him / he shall be before and thou behynde.

Wherouer all these curses shall come vnto the & thou shalt folowe the and ouertake the / yf thou be destroyed: because thou herkenest not vnto the voyce of the Lord thy God / to kepe his commandmentes and ordinaunces whych he commaunde the / and they shall be vpon the as miracles and wonders & vpon thy seed for euer. And because thou seruēdest not the Lord thy God wyth ioyfullnesse and with a good herte for the abundaunce of all thynges / therfore thou shalt serue thine enemye whych the Lord shall sende vpon the: in hunger and thurst / in nakednesse and in nede of all thynges: & he shall putt a yocke of peryon vpon thyne necke / vntyll he haue broughte the to nought.

And the Lord shall byynge a nacyon vnto the from a farre / euen from the ende of the world / as swyfte as an eagle flyeth: a nacyon whose whose tonge thou shalt not vnderstande: a harde fauoured nacyon which shall not regard the person of the olde nor haue cōspacyon on the poore. And he shall eat the fruite of thy lande and the fruite of thy cattell vntill he haue destroyed the: so that he shall leaue the nether corne/wyne/ nor oyle / nether the increase of thyne oxen nor the flockes of thy shepe: vntill he haue brought the to nought. And he shall kepe the in/ in all thy cities/ vntill he hys a stronge walles be come downe wherein thou trustedest/ thowout all the lande. And he shall belege the in all thy cyties thowout all the lade which the Lord thy God hath geuen the.

Deut. 28. 48. 49. 50. 51. 52.

* And thou shalt eat the fruite of thyne atone bodye: the flesh of thy sonnes and of thy daughters in which the Lord thy God hath geuen the/ in that straitenesse & sege wherewith thyne enemye shall belege the: so that he shall greue the mā that is tender and excedyng delicate amonge you / to lōke on hys brother and vpon hys wyfe that lyeth in hys bosome/ & on the remnaunte of his chyldren which he hath yet left/ for feare of geuynge vnto any of them of the flesh of his chyldren/ which he eateth / because he hath noughte left hym in that straitenesse & sege wherewith thyne enemyes shall belege the in all thy cities.

Yee and the woman that is so tender & delicate amonge you & she dare not aduerture to sett the sole of her fote vpon the grounde for softnesse and tendernesse / shall be grieved to lōke on the husbande that lyeth in her bosome and on her sonne & on her daughter: euē because of the afterbirth / that is come out from betwene her legges / & because of her chyldren which she hath borne / because she wolde eat them for neede of all thynges secret / in that straitenesse & sege wherewith thyne enemye shall belege the in thy cities.

If thou wilt not be diligent to do all the wordes of this lawe that are wrytten in this booke / for to feare this glorious and fearfull name of the Lord thy God: the Lord will smyte both the and thy seed with wonderfull plagues and with greates plagues and of longe continuance / and with euell sekeneesses and of longe durasce. Wharouer he will brynge vnto the all the diseases of Egypt which thou wast afrayed of / and they shall cleaue vnto the. Wherto all maner sekeneesses and all maner plagues which are not wrytten in the booke of this lawe / will the Lord brynge vnto the vntill thou be come to noughte. And ye shall be left fewe in nombere / where before ye were as the * starres of heauen in multitude: because thou woldest not hearken vnto the voyce of the Lord thy God.

Deut. 28. 62.

Jer. 25. 31.

* And as the Lord reposed ouer you to do you good & to multiplye you: euē so he will reioyse ouer you / to destroye you & to brynge you to nought. And ye shall be wasted from of the land whether thou goest to emoye hit. And the Lord shall scatter the amonge all nacions from the one ende of the worlde vnto the other and there thou shalt serue straunge goddes / whych nether thou nor thy fathers haue knowne: euē woodd and stone.

And amonge these nacions thou shalt be no small cason / and yet shalt haue no rest to the sole of thy fote. For the Lord shall geue the there a trembyngge herte & dalyng eyes & sorow of mynde. And thy lyfe shall hāge before the / & thou shalt feare both daye and nyght & shalt haue no trust in thy lyfe. In the morning thou shalt saye / wolde God it were nyght. And at nyght thou shalt saye / wolde God it were morninge: for feare of thyne herte which thou shalt feare / and for the syghte of thyne eyes which thou shalt se.

And the Lord shall brynge the in to Egypt agayne with shypes / by the waye which I had the that thou shouldest * se it no moare. And there ye shall be solde vnto your enemyes / for bondmen and bondwomen: and yet no man shall bye you.

The people are exhorted to obserue the commandmentes / for the consideration of benefytes receyued: which if they breake they are threatened to be plagued.

The xxx. Chapter.

These are the wordes of the appoyntment which the Lord commaunded Moyses to make with the chyldren of Israel in the lande of Moab / besyde the appoyntment which he made in the in Horeb. And Moyses called vnto all Israel and sayde vnto them: Ye haue sene all the Lord dyd before your eyes in the lande of Egypt vnto Pharaos & vnto all his seruantes / & vnto all his lande / and the greates temptacions which thyne eyes haue sene and those greates myracles & wonders: & yet the Lord hath not geue you an herte to perceaue / nor eyes to se / nor eares to heare vnto this daye.

* And I haue led you. I. yere in the wilderness: & your clothes are not waxed olde vnto you / nor are thy shooes waxed olde vnto thy fete. Ye haue eaten no bread nor dronke wyne or strounge dryncke: that ye myghte knowe / howe he is the Lord your God.

* And at the last ye came vnto this place / & Sehon the kyng of Heshon and Og kyng of Basan came out agēst you vnto battell / and we smote them and toke their lande and gaue it an heritaunce vnto the Rubenites and Gadites & to the halfe tribe of Manasse. Kepe therfore the wordes of this appoyntment and do them / that ye maye vnderstande all that that ye ought to do. * Ye stande here this daye euery one of you before the Lord your God: both the heades of your tribes / your elders / your officers & all the men of Israel: your chyldren / your wyues and the straunger that are in thyne holle / from the hewer of thy woodd vnto the dyster of thy water: & thou shouldest come vnder the appoyntment of the Lord thy God / & vnder his othe which the Lord thy God maketh with the this daye. For to make the a people vnto him selfe / & that he maye be vnto the a God / as he hath sayde vnto the & as he hath sworn vnto thy fathers Abraham / Isaac and Jacob.

Also I make not this bonde and this othe with you only: but both with him & standeth here with vs this daye before the Lord our God / and also with him that is not here with vs this daye. For ye knowe how we haue dwelt in the lande of Egypt / and how we came thowto the myddes of the nacions which we passed by. And ye haue sene their abhominacions and their ydolles: woodd / stone / syluer and golde which they had.

Let there be amonge you mā or womā hymned or crybe & turneth awaye in his herte this daye from the Lord our God: to goo & serue the goddes of these nacions: & lest there be amonge you some roote that beareth gall and wormwood / so that when he heareth the wordes of this curse / he blesse him selfe in his herte sayinge. I shall haue peace. I will therfore worke after the luste of myne atone herte / that the droncke maye perrysh with the thyng. And so the Lord will not be mercifull vnto hym / but then the wrath of the Lord & his gelousye / smoke agēst that mā / & all the curses that are wrytten in this booke light vpon hym / and the Lord do out hys name from vnder heauen / and separate hym vnto euell out of all the tribes of Israel accordinge vnto all the curses of the appoyntment that is wrytten in the booke of this lawe.

So that the generation to come of your chyldren that shall rylle by after you and the straunger that shall come from a ferre lade / saye when they se the plagues of that lande / & the diseases wherewith the Lord hath smytte it how all the lande is burnt by wyth brimstone & salt / & it is nether sowne nor beareth / nor any grasse groweth therein / after the overthrowing of Sodome / Gomor / Adama and Zeboim: which the Lord ouerthrewe in his wrath and angre.

And then shall all nacions also saye: * wherfore hath the Lord done of this sacion vnto this lade? & how feare is this great wrath? And men shall saye: because they left the testament of the Lord God of their fathers which he made with them / when he brought the out of the lande of Egypt. And they went & serued straunge goddes & worshipped the: goddes which they knewe not and which had geue the nought. And therfore the wrath of the Lord waxed whote vpon that lande to brynge vpon it all the curses that are wrytten in this booke. And the Lord cast them out of their lande in angre / wrath and greates fury / and cast the in to a straunge lade / as it is come to passe this daye. The secrettes of the Lord our God * are opened vnto vs and our chyldren for euer / that we do all the wordes of this lawe.

The wordes of God is not farre from the that sene other people. For it is in their mouthes and hertes.

The xxx. Chapter.

When all these wordes are come vnto the whether it be the blessinge or the curse which I haue set before the / yet if thou turne vnto thyne herte amonge all the nacions whether the Lord thy God hath thrust the / & come agayne vnto the Lord thy God & herthe vnto his boyce accordinge to all that I commaunde the this daye: both thou & thy chyldren in all thyne herte & all thy soule: When the Lord thy God will turne thy captiuite & haue cōpassion vnto the & goo & set the agayne from all the nacions / amonge which the Lord thy God shall haue scattered the. Though thou wast cast vnto the extreme partes of heauen: euē from thence will the Lord thy God gather the and from thence sett the and brynge the in to the lande which thy fathers possessed / & thou shalt enioye it. And he will thewe the kyndnesse and multiplye the aboue thy fathers. * And the Lord thy God will circumsyde thyne herte & the herte of thy seed for to loue the Lord thy God with all thyne herte & all thy soule / that thou mayest lyue. * And the Lord thy God will put all these curses vpon thyne enemyes & on them that hate the and persecute the.

But thou shalt turne and hearken vnto the boyce of the Lord and do all his commandmentes which I commaunde the this daye. And the Lord thy God will make the plenteous in all the workes of thyne hande & in the fruite of thy bodye / in the fruite of thy cattell & fruite of thy lande & in thy chylde. * For the Lord will turne agayne and reioyse ouer the to do the good / as he reposed ouer thy fathers: If thou hearken vnto the boyce of the Lord thy God / to kepe his commandmentes & obeynances which are wrytten in the booke of this lawe / if thou turne vnto the Lord thy God with all thyne herte and all thy soule.

* For the commandment which I commaunde the this daye / is not separated from the / nether farre of. It is not in heauen & thou needest cause the Lorde had deliuered them.

That is the Lord hath opened vnto vs his myll before all other people.

For our rocke is not as their rocke / nor though our enemies be iudge. But their bynes are of the bynes of Sodom / and of the felds of Gomorra. Their grapes are grapes of gall / and their clusters be bitter.

Their myne is the poplon of dragons / and

And Moyses went & spake all the wordes of this song in the eares of the people / both he and Josua the sonne of Nun. And when Moyes had spoken all these wordes vnto the ende to all Israel / then he sayde vnto them.

Sett youre hartes vnto all the wordz which I testifie vnto you this daye: that ye commaunde the vnto youre chyldren/ to obserue and do all the wordes of this lawe. For it is not a bayne worde vnto you: but it is youre lyfe/ & thozow this worde ye shall prolonge thy brother dyed in mount Hor & was gethered vnto his people: for ye trespassed agaynst me amōge the chyldre of Israel at the waters of streffe / at Cadess in the wilbernelle of Sin: because ye sanctified me not amonge the children of Israel. Thou shalt see the land before ¶ Moses doinge blessed all the treybes of Israel.

¶ The xxxij. Chapter.

This is the blessing wherewith Moses Gods man blessed the chyldren of Israel befoze hys death saying: The Lord came fro Sinai & viewed his beames from Seir vnto them/& appeared gloriously from mount Pharan/and he came with thousandes of sayntes and in his ryght hãde a lawe of fyre for the. How loued he þe people: * All his saynt are in hys hande. They toynded them selues vnto thy of Manasses.

And vnto Babilon he sayde: Weloſte Za-bulon in thy goinge out/ and thou Iſachar in thy tentes. They ſhall call the people vnto the hyl/ and there they ſhall offer offerynge of rpyghteouſnes. For they ſhall* ſicke of the abundance of the ſee and of treaſure byd in

And vnto Gad he sayde: blessed is the * ro miniaher Gad. He dwelleth as a lion and caught the ayme and also the toppe of th head. He sawe his begynnynge / that a part of the * teacher * was hyd there and cam with the heares of the people / and execute the ryghte iudges of the Lorde and hys iud gements with Israell.

And unto Dan he sayde : Dan is a lyon.
Wherfore he shall flowe from Basan.

And unto Nephtali he sayde: Nephtali he shall haue abundance of pleasure: & shall be filled with the blessing of the Lorde: & shall haue his possessions in the south west.

And of After he sayde: After shalbe blessed with chyldezen: he shalbe acceptable unto his brethren and shall byppe his lote in oyc: Ye ron and bryde shal hange on thy shoules and there age shalbe as thy youth.

¶ There is none lyke vnto the God of

The xxxiii. Chapter.
And Moyses wet from the felde of J Moab by into mozt Nebo which is the toppe of Phasgah & is ouer agaynst Jericho. And & Lord grewed hym all the lande of Galaad euen vnto Dan/ & all Nephtali & & land of Ephraim & Manasse/ and all the land of Iuda: eue vnto the vtmost see/ & the south & the region of & playne of Jericho & cytie of paulmetrees euen vnto Zoar. And the Lorde sayde vnto him. * This is the lande which I swaie vnto Abraham/ Isaac and Iacob sayinge: I wyl geue it vnto thy seed. I haue shewed it & be-

So Moyses the seruante of the Lorde died there in the lande of Moab at the commaundemēt of the Lorde. And he buryed him in a valey in the lāde of Moab betyde Beth Jericho.

The booke of Josua

The Lord couereth Josue to invade the lande of promise: and commaundeth him continually to reade deuterconymys.

The first Chapter.

After the death of Moses the servant of the Lord: the Lord spake unto Josua the sonne of Nun Moses mynstler saying: Moses my servant is dead. Now therefore be thou and all the people which thou shalt lead out of Egypt into the land which I have sworn unto thy fathers saying: I will give it unto thee. Every place that the sole of thy foot shall tread upon, I have given thee: from the wilderness unto the great river Euphrates: and all the land of the Hethites: even unto the great sea towards the going downe of the sunne. Where shall not a man be able to withstand thee all the dayes of thy life. For as I was with Moses: so will I be with thee: I will neither leave thee nor forsake thee. Be strong and bolde: for thus saith the Lord: thou shalt divide the land which I swore unto thy fathers to give them.

your brethren Amos / all that be men of warre: and helpe them until the Lord have given you brethren rest: as he hath you: and until they also have obtained / the land which the Lord your God giveth them. And then retorne unto the land of your possession: and enjoye it: which land Moses the Lordes servant gave you on this side Jordan towards the sonne rising. And they answered Josua saying: All that thou hast said we will do: and whether soever thou shalt say: we will go. According as we obeyed Moses in all thynges: so we will obey thee. Only the Lord thy God be with thee: as he was with Moses. And whosoever shall obey thy voice: and shall not hearken unto thy wordes: in all that thou shalt command him: let him dye: Only be strong and of good courage.

Josua sendeth searchers of the land of Jericho: which were hydes of Rahab and so escaped the hands of the pursuers: Rahab delivered and comforted the word of Israel.

The second Chapter.

Then Josua the sonne of Nun sent out of Bethin two spies secretly saying: go and see the land: and also Jericho. And they went: and came into a harlots house named Rahab: and lodged there. And it was tolde the kynge of Jericho saying: Beholde there came men in hyther to nyght: of the chyldren of Israel: to spy out the countrey. And the kynge of Jericho sent unto Rahab saying: byngge forth the men: for they are come to the house: which are entred into thyne house: for they be come to searche out all the land.

And the woman took the two men: and hid them. And sayd: in deade there came men unto me: but I wot not whence they were. And aboute the tyme of the shutting of the gate when it was darke: they went out: whether they went I wot not: but I tolde them after they quycht: and ye shall take them. And she brought them by upon the roofof of her house: and hid them under flaxe: yet in the stalkes: which she had layng a broad upon the roofof. And the men pursued after them: the way to Jordan: and unto the passage: and as soon as they which pursued after them were gone out: they shut the gates immediately.

And as ever they were a slepe: she came by unto them upon the roofof: and sayde unto the men: I knowe that the Lord hath given you the land: because that the feare of you is fallen upon us: and because the inhabitants of the land saynt at your coming. For we have heard how the Lord dried up the water of the Red Sea before you: when you came out of Egypt: what will you do?

Passage over

byd into the two kynge of the Amozites on the other side Jordan: Schon / & Og: which ye utterly destroyed. And as soon as we had heard these thynges: our hearts were dismayed. And there remained no more courage in any man for feare of your coming. For the Lord your God: he is the God in heaven above: and on the earth beneath.

Now therefore I swear unto me: by the Lord because I have shewed you mercy: that ye shall also shewe mercy unto my fathers house: and geve me a true token. And that ye shall save a ipe: bothe my father: & my mother: my brethren: and my sisters: and all that pertaine unto thee. And that ye shall deliver our souls from death.

And the men answered her: our lives for you to dye: ye be better not this our communication. And so when the Lord hath geve us the land: we will deal mercifully and truly with thee. And then she lett them downe with a coorde: thow a wyndowe. For her house stood in the towne wall. And she dwelt in the towne wall. And she sayde unto them: gett you into the mountaynes: lest the soldiers mete you: and hyde your selves there: the dayes: until the pursuers be returned: and then maye ye go your wayes.

And the men sayde unto her: we will be blamelesse of thy othe: which thou hast made us swear. Beholde: when we come into the land: thou shalt bynde this purple thyeden coorde in the wyndow: which thou lattet us bounde bye. And thou shalt byng thy father: thy mother: thy brethren: and all thy fathers household: even in to the house to the.

And then whosoever go out at the doores of thy house: into the street: his bloude shall be upon his aune head: and we gylelesse. And whosoever shall be with the in the house: his bloude be on our heades: if any mannes hande be upon him: And eu so ye shall utter these our wordes: we will be quyte of thy othe: which thou hast made us swear. And she sayde accordinge unto your wordes: so be it: and so sent them away: and they departed. And she bounde the purple coorde in the wyndowe.

And they departed and gotte them into the mountaynes: and there abode the dayes: until the pursuers were returned. And the pursuers sought thowme out all the waye and founde them not. And the two men returned and descended from the mountayne: and passed over: & came to Josua the sonne of Nun: and tolde him all that had chaunced them. And they sayde unto Josua the Lord hath delivered us into your hands: all the land: for all the inhabitants of the countrey saynt for feare of us.

Josua

Jordan. Ixxxiii.

The water of Jordan dryeth up: and Josue with the people passe over.

The third Chapter.

And Josua rose early: and they remoued from Bethin: and came to Jordan: bothe he and all the chyldren of Israel: and lodged there: before they went over. And after thre dayes the officers went thowme out the hoste: and commaunded the people saying: when ye see the arche of the testament of the Lord your God: and the prelates that are Levites bearyng it: then departe ye from your places: & followe after it. So yet there be a space betwene you & it: aboute a two thousande cubytes by measure. And come not nye unto it: that ye maye knowe the waye by which ye must go: for ye have not gone by it in tymes past. And Josua sayde unto the people: put your selves: for tomorrow the Lord shall shewe wonders amonge you.

Then Josua spake unto the prelates saying: Take up the arche of the testament: and go before the people. And they toke up the arche of the testament: and went before the people. And the Lord sayd unto Josua: this daye will I begynne to magnifie thee: in the sight of all Israel: that they maye knowe how thou art as I was with Moses: so will I be with thee. And commaunde thou the prelates that beare the arche of the testament: saying: when ye are entered a litle into the water of Jordan: then stande stille in it.

Then Josua spake unto the chyldren of Israel saying: come hyther and heare the wordes of the Lord your God. And Josua sayde: Herbye ye shall knowe: that the living God is amonge you: and that he will without fayle call oute before you: the Cananites: the Hethites: the Hivites: the Pherezites: the Gergesites: the Amozites: and the Jebusites. Beholde: the arche of the appoyntment of the Lord of all the worldes shall go before you into Jordan. And now take you twelve men of the chyldren of Israel: of every tribe a man. And as soon as the soles of the feet of the prelates that beare the arche of the house (the Lord of all the worldes) treade in the water of Jordan: the water of Jordan shall drye up: and the waters that cometh from above shall stande stille upon an heape. And when the people were departed from their tentes to go over Jordan: the prelates bearyng the arche of the appoyntment before the people: as soon as they that bare the arche came unto Jordan: the feet of the prelates that bare the arche were dryed in the bym of the water. For Jordan beying full over all his banckes: all the tyme of the harvest:

haneste: the water that came downe from shoue byd stoppe and stode upon an heape / a great waye fro Adam / a cytle besyde Sarthan. And the water that went downe banished in to the see of the wyldernes called the salt see as sone as it was decayed: & the people wete ryght ouer agaynst Jericho. And the prestes bare the arche of the appoyntment of the Lorde stode vpon the land / vntill all the people were cleane ouer Jordan.

As sone as the people were all gone ouer Jordan / the Lorde spake vnto Josua sayinge. Take you twelve men out of the people / of every tribe a man. And commaunde you the sayinge: take you hence out of the myddes of Jordan euen out of the place where the prestes stode in a rebynes / twelve stones. And take ye the awaye with you & put them in the place where you lodge at nyght. And Josua called vnto the twelve men which he had prepared of the chyldren of Israel / of every tribe a man / & sayde vnto the. get you before the arche of the Lorde poure God euē into the myddes of Jordan / & take by euery mā a stone vpon his shoulde / accordyng vnto the nombre of the tribes of the chyldren of Israel / that this maye be a signe amonge you. And whē poure chyldren as the their fathers in tyme to come sayinge: what meane ye wth these stones: then saye vnto the / how that the water of Jordan decayed at the ptesence of the arche of the appoyntment of the Lorde: euē while it wēt ouer Jordan / the water of Jordan decayed. And these stones shal be a memoypall vnto the chyldren of Israel for euer.

And the chyldren of Israel dyd euen so as Josua commaunded / and toke by twelve stones out of the myddes of Jordan / as the Lorde sayde vnto Josua accordyng to the nombre of the tribes of the chyldren of Israel / and caried them awaye wth the vnto the place where they lodged / and layed them doune there. And therto Josua set by twelve stones in the myddes of Jordan in the place where the fete of the prestes which bare the arche of the testament stode.

And there they be euē vnto this daye. For the prestes which bare the arche stode in the myddes of Jordan / vntill all was finished that the Lorde commaunded Josua to saye vnto the people / accordyng to all that Moses charged Josua. And the people halted a wēt ouer. When all the people were cleane ouer then went ouer the arche of the Lorde / & al to the prestes before the people. And the chyldren of Ruben / and the chyldren of Gad / and halfe the tribe of Manasses went before the chyldren of Israel armed / as Moses charged them. vpon a fourty thousand crymmed for warre / went before the Lorde vnto battell / euen vnto the wyldernes of Jericho. That daye the Lorde magnified Josua in the syght of all Israel / and they feared hym / as they feared Moses all dayes of his lyfe.

And the Lorde spake vnto Josua sayinge. commaunde the prestes that beare the arche of wytnesse to come by oute of Jordan. And Josua commaunded the prestes sayinge. Ascende by out of Jordan. And when the prestes that bare the arche of the appoyntment of the Lorde were ascended out of Jordan: as sone as the sooles of the prestes fete were brought to drye land / the water of Jordan returned agayne vnto his place & went ouer all his bankes as he dyd before. And the people came by out of Jordan the tenth daye of the fyrst moneth and pitched in Galgal euen in the easke borders of Jericho.

And the twelve stones which they toke out of Jordan / Josua pitched in Galgal. And he spake vnto the chyldren of Israel sayinge. whē poure chyldren as the you in tyme to come the sayinge: what meane these stones / we me poure chyldren and saye: Israel came ouer this Jordan on drye land. For the Lorde poure God dyed by the water of Jordan before you / vntill ye were ouer / as the Lorde poure God dyd vnto the red see / which he dyed by before vs till we were ouer / & all the people of the worlde maye knowe the hande of the Lorde how myghtye it is / and that ye might feare the Lorde poure God for euer.

¶ The liij. Chapter. And when all the kyngs of the Amorites which are on this syde Jordan to the sewarde / & all the kynges of the Canaanites which lye on the lee bearde / how the Lorde had dryed by the water of Jordan before the chyldren of Israel / vntill they were ouer / their hertys syncted in them. And there was no spete in the any moare / for feare of the comyng of the chyldren of Israel.

That same tyme the Lorde sayde vnto Josua: Make the knyres of stone / and goo to agayne and circumsyde the chyldren of Israel the seconde tyme. And Josua made him knyres of stone & circumsyde the chyldren of Israel in the byll of sores knyres. And this is the cause why Josua & circumsyde All the people that came oute of Egypte that were males / all that were men of warre / dyed in the wyldernes by the waye after they came oute of Egypte. Now all the people that came oute were circumsyde. But all the people that were bozne in the wyldernes by the waye after they came oute of Egypte / they circumsyde not. For the chyldren of Israel walked fourty yeres in the wyldernes / till all the people of men of warre that came out of Egypte were consumed / which hardened not vnto the hope of God / so that the Lorde sware / that he wolde not shewe them the land which the Lorde sware vnto their fathers / & he wolde geue vs euē a lande / & floweth with mylke and honye. And their chyldren be set by in their steade: them Josua circumsyde: for they were vncircumsyde / because they circumsyde them not by the waye.

And when all the people were full circumsyde / they abode still in their places in the hoste till they were whole. And the Lorde sayde vnto Josua / this daye I haue taken awaye the name of Egypte from you: and called the name of the same place Galgal vnto this daye. And the chyldren of Israel pyched their tentes in Galgal / & helde the feast of passeouer the fourtene daye of the moneth at euen in the felbes of Jericho. And they ate of the coyne of the lande on the morowe after passeouer / stete cakes & parched coyne in the selfe same daye. And Anna ceased on the morowe / after they had eat of the coyne of the lande / neither had the chyldren of Israel Anna any moare / but dyd eate of the frutes of the lande of Canaan that yere.

And when Josua was come to Jericho / he lyste by his eyes and looked: and beholde there stode a man before him in his swerde drawe in his hande. And Josua went vnto hym and sayde vnto hym / arte thou on oure syde or on oure aduersaries. And he answered / Saye / but I am the captayne of the hoste of the Lorde & am now come. And Josua fell on his face to the erth and dyd reuerence / and sayde vnto hym / what sayth my Lorde vnto my seruaut. And the captayne of the lordes hoste sayde vnto Josua: do the thyngs of thy feate / for the place wheron thou standest is holy. And Josua dyd so.

¶ The liij. Chapter. And Jericho shutt in her people / & was shutt for feare of the chyldren of Israel / so that no man went out or in. And the Lorde sayde vnto Josua: beholde / I haue geuen into thyne hand / Jericho & her kyng & the men of warre. And ye shall compasse the cytie / all that be men of warre / & go rounde aboute it once: and so shall you do fyve dayes. And seven prestes shall beare seven trompettes of rammes hornes before the arche. And the seveneth daye / ye shall compasse the cytie seven tymes

& the prestes shall blowe with their trompettes. And when there is a longe blaste blowne wth the rammes horne / as sone as ye heare the soude of the horne / lett all the people shoute a myghtie shoute. And then shall the walles of the cite falle doune / and the people shall ascende by / euery man streight before hym. And Josua the sonne of Nun / called vnto the prestes and sayde vnto them: take ye the arche of the appoyntment / & lett seven prestes beare seven trompettes of rammes hornes before the arche of the Lorde. And he sayde vnto the people / go & compasse the cite: & lett the men of armes go before the arche of the Lorde. And when Josua had spokē vnto the people / the seven prestes that bare the seven trompettes of rammes hornes before the arche of the Lorde / went forth and blew with the hornes / and the arche of the testament of the Lorde folowed after them. And the men of armes wēt before the prestes & blew with the hornes / and the comē people came after the arche: and as they went / they blew with the hornes. And Josua commaunded the people sayinge / shoute not noz let your voice be harde / or any worde procede out of your mouthes / vntill the daye I by you shoute: and then shoute.

And so the arche of the Lorde compassed the cytie and went aboute it once: and then they returned into the hoste and lodged there. And Josua rose early in the morning / and the prestes toke by the arche of the Lorde / and seven prestes bare seven trompettes of rammes hornes before the arche of the Lorde / and as they went / blew with the hornes. And the men of armes went before them / and the comen people came after the arche of the Lorde: and as they went / they blew wth the hornes. And the seconde daye they compassed the cytie once / and returned agayne in to the hoste / and so they dyd fyve dayes longe.

And the seveneth daye they rose early: euen with the dawninge of the daye / & compassed the cytie after the same maner seven tymes: only that they compassed the cytie seven tymes.

And at the seveneth tyme / the prestes blew with the hornes / and Josua sayd vnto the people / shoute for the Lorde hath geuen this land into your hand.

from the cite: So that there was not a man least in Al/oz in Bethel / that went not oute after Israel. And they least the cite oped and followed after Israel.

When the Lorde sayde vnto Josua stretch out þe bouchelar þe is in thine hande toward Al/for I haue geue þe it. And Josua stretched out þe bouchelar þe was in his hande toward þe cite. And the lvers awaite rose quicklie oute of their places / a ranne / a lone as Josua had stretched oute his hande / a they entered into the cite / and toke it / a basted a sett it on fire. And when þe men of Al looked backe after them and sawe. Beholde / the smoke of the cite ascended vp to heuē. And they had no place to flee ether this waye or that / for þe people that fled to the wyldernesse turned backe agayne vpon the folowers.

And when Josua and all Israel sawe that the lvers awayte had taken the cite and that the smoke of it ascended. They turned agayne and layed on the men of Al. And the other pursued oute of the cite agaynst them. And so were they in þe middes of Israel / these being on the one syde of them / and the reste on the other. And they layed vpon them / so that they left none ether remayne or scape. And the king of Al they toke a liue and brought him to Josua. And whē Israel had made an ende of slaying all the inhabitants of Al in þe felde and in the wyldernesse by which they chased them / and when they were all fallen on the edge of the swerde / vntill they were wastede. When all Israel returned vnto Al and smote it with the edge of the swerde. And all that fell that daye / both of men and womē / were twelue thousande / euen all the men of Al.

For Josua plucked not his hande backe agayne which he stretched oute with þe bouchelar / vntill they had utterly destroyed all the inhabitants of Al. Only the catell a the spoyle of the sayde cite / Israel toke vnto the selues accordyng vnto the woide of the Lorde / which he commaunded Josua. And Josua sett Al on fyre and made it an heape for euer and a wyldernesse / euen vnto this daye. And the king of Al he hanged on tree / vntill euen. And as lone as the sonne was downe / Josua commaunded a they toke the carhas doun of the tree / and caste it in the entering of the gate of the cite / and cast theron a great heape of stones / that remayneth vnto this daye.

When Josua bylt an altare vnto the Lorde God of Israel / in mount Ebal / as Moses the seruaut of the Lorde commaunded the chyldren of Israel / accordyng as it is wrytten in the booke of the lawe of Moses: an altare of rough stone / ouer which no toole of yron was yfte. And they sacrificed therē burne-sacrifice / and offered peaceoffringes. And he wrote there vpon the stones the seconde lawe of Moses which he wrote in the presence of the chyldren of Israel.

And all Israel and the elders therof / and their officers / a Judges stode / parte on this syde the arche / and parte on that syde / before the prestes: that were leuites which bare the arche of the apoyntment of the Lorde: as well the stranger / as they that were borne amonge them: halfe on them on the forefront of the Mount of Garzim / and halfe of them on þe forefront of mount Ebal: as Moses the seruaut of the Lorde commaunded / fyrst to bless the people Israel. And after that he readd all the wordes of the lawe / bothe the blessing and cursynge / accordyng to all that is wrytten in the booke of the lawe: so þe there was not one woide of all that Moses commaunded / which Josua readde not / before all the congregacyon of Israel / with women and chyldren / and the strangers that were amonge them.

The Gabaonites obtayne peace of Josua by subtiltye / but are after excommunicate.

The ix. Chapter.

When all the kynges that dwell on this syde Jordan / in the hilles a valeys / a longe by all þe costes of the great see / eue vnto Libanon / the Hethites / the Amozites / the Cananites / þe Hethites / the Hethites / and the Jebusites heard: they gathered them selues to geiher to fight agaynst Josua and Israel / with one accord.

But when the inhabitants of Gabaon heard what Josua had done vnto Jericho / a Al / they played wyllye / and went and sent ambasadours / a toke olde sakes byd their wifes / and wyne bottles olde and rent and knytt to gether agayne / a olde clouted shoes vpon their fete / and olde rayment vpon them and all their prouysyon of bread was dyled by a hoied. And they came vnto Josua into the hoie / to Balgal and sayde vnto him and vnto the men of Israel: we be come from a farre contrey / now therfore make a gremēt with vs. And the men of Israel sayde vnto the Hethites / paradytūre you dwelle amonge vs / a then how shulde we make peace w you

And they sayde vnto Josua / we are thy seruantes. And Josua sayde vnto them / what are ye: a whēce come ye. And they answered him. We be a berpe farre cōtrepe thy seruantes are come in the name of the Lorde thy God: for we haue heard the same of him / and all þe he dyd in Egypte / a all that he dyd to the two kynges of the Amozites beyonde Jordan / Sehon king of Heth a Og king of Basan which dwelle at Ashtaroth. wherfore oure elders elders a all þe inhabitants of oure contrey spake to vs saying: take vitayles with you to serue by the waye / a go agaynst them / a saye vnto the we are your seruantes. Now therfore make a couenāt of peace with vs. Whys oure prouysyon of bread we toke with vs oute of oure houses / whotte / þe daye we departed to come vnto you. And now behold it is dyled by a hoied. And these bottles of wyne which we filled were newe: a se / they be rent. And these oure garmentes a shoes are waxt olde by the reason of the excedyng lōg Iourneye

And the men toke of their vitayles / and counceiled not with the mouth of the Lorde. And Josua made peace with them / a made a couenāt with them / to saue their lyues: a the Lordes of the congregacyon swore vnto the. But thre dayes after they had made peace with the / they heard þe they were neyboires vnto them / and that they dwelte amonge the for the chyldren of Israel toke their Iourney and came vnto their cities the thirde daye: a their cities were Gabaon / Caphira / Beeroth a Hariath Farim. And the chyldren of Israel slew them not / because the Lordes of the congregacyon had sworne vnto them by the Lorde God of Israel. And therfore all the multitude murmured agaynst the Lordes. But all the Lordes sayde vnto all the congregacyon: we haue sworne vnto the by þe Lorde God of Israel / a therfore we maye not hurte them. But this we will do to them a lett the liue: and so shall no wrath be vpon vs because of the othe which we swore vnto them. And the Lordes sayde vnto the / þe they shuld liue: And they were made þe wers of wodd and drawers of water vnto all the congregacyon / as the Lordes sayde vnto them.

When Josua sent for them / a talked with them / and sayde: wherfore haue ye begiled vs and yet ye dwell amonge vs: and now therfore cursed be you / and there shall not cease to be of you / bond men and hewers of wodd a drawers of water vnto þe house of my God

And they answered Josua a sayde: it was tolde thy seruantes / how that the Lorde thy God had commaunded his seruante Moses to geue you all the lande / and to destroye all the inhabitants therof oute of your syght / a therfore we were excedyng soze afrayed of oure lyues because of you / a now behold / we are in thyne hande / as it semeth good and right in thyne eyes to do vnto vs / so do.

And he dealte as it is sayde / with them / a ridde them oute of the handes of the chyldren of Israel / that they slewe them not. And Josua made them that same daye hewers of wodd and drawers of water vnto the congregacyon a vnto þe altar of God vnto this daye / in the place which God shulde chose.

When Adonizedec kyng of Jerusalem had heard how Josua had taken Al / and had destroyed it / and how þe as he had done to Jericho / Josua. vi. c. and her kyng / euen so he had done to Al and her kyng / and how the inhabitants of Gabaon had made peace with Israel a dyd remayne amonge them: then they feared exceedingly / for Gabaon was a great cite / as any cite of the kyngdome / a thereto greater then Al / and all her men were myghtye.

Wherfore Adonizedec kyng of Jerusalem sent vnto Hoham kyng of Hebron / and vnto Pharam kyng of Jericho / a vnto Gaphia kyng of Lachis / a vnto Dabir kyng of Egion saying. Come by vnto me and healpe me / þe we maye smyte Gabaon: for they haue made peace with Josua a the chyldren of Israel. When the. v. kynges of þe Amozites / the kyng of Jerusalem / the kyng of Hebron / the kyng of Jericho / the kyng of Lachis the kyng of Egion gathered the selues to geather / bothe they and all their hostes and went by and beseged Gabaon / and made warre agaynst it.

But the men of Gabaon sent vnto Josua vnto þe hoie to Balgal / sayinge: with drawe not thy handes fro thy seruantes / but come by to vs: for all the kynges of the Amozites which dwell in the mountaynes are gathered to geather agaynst vs.

And Josua ascended from Balgal / both he and all the people of warre with him / and all the men of myghte / and the Lorde sayde vnto Josua / feare them not / for I haue deliuered them into thyne hande / there shall not a man of them stande before the. And Josua came vnto the sodenlye / and iourneyed from Balgal all nyght. And the Lorde turnoyled them before Israel and slewe of them a great slaughter at Gabaon / and chased them a longe the waye that gothe by to Bethozon and slewe them tyll they came to Asah and Maheda. And as they fledde from Israel / euen in the goyng doun to Bethozon / the Lorde cast downe great stones from heauen vpon them / vntill they came vnto Asah / that they dyed. And there were mo that dyed with hayle stones / then the chyldren of Israel slewe with the swerde.

When spake Josua vnto the Lorde / þe daye when the Lorde deliuered the Amozites before the chyldren of Israel / and he sayde in sight of all Israel: Sonne stande thou still vpon / Gabaon / a thou Mōne / in the valeye of Aialon. The Conquestes of Josua.

What is (as the scriptures say) the conquestes of Josua upon their enemies. Is not this written in the booke of the scriptures? how the sonne abode in the space of a whole day. And there was no day like that before it. Or after it that the Lord obeyed the voice of a man: and all because the Lord fought for Israel.

And Josua returned and all Israel with him, unto the hoste to Gailgall: but the five kings fledde and hid them selves in a cave at Maheda. And it was tolde Josua saying: the five kings are founde hid in a cave at Maheda. And Josua sayde: rote great stones unto the mouth of the cave & appoynte men therto: for to kepe them. And stande ye not stille: but followe after your enemies & smyte the hindmost of them. And sotte them not to entre into their ctytes: for the Lord your God hath deliuered them into your hands. And when Josua and the chyldren of Israel had made an ende of slaying the with a great slaughter tyll they were wasted: yett there remayned a ceten of them / whych entered into walled ctytes.

And all the people returned to the hoste: to Josua at Maheda in peace: so that no man durst moue his tong agaynst the chyldren of Israel. Then sayde Josua: open the mouth of the cave: and bring out these. v. Kings unto me out of the cave. And they dyd so: & brought those fyue kings vnto hym / out of the cave: the kinge of Ierusalem: the kinge of Hebron: the kinge of Iericho: the kinge of Lachis: and the kinge of Eglon.

And when they had brought out those kings vnto Josua: Josua called for all the men of Israel: & sayde vnto the capytaynes of the men of warre: whych came with hym: come nere & put your sote by the neckes of these kings. And they came nere and put their sote by the neckes of the. And Josua sayde vnto them: seate not nere: but be strong and plucke by your hertes: for so shall the Lord serue all your enemies agaynst whych ye fight.

And then Josua smote them and slewe the & hanged the on fyue trees tyll euē. And at the goinge downe of the sonne: Josua gaue commaundement / and they toke them downe of the trees & cast them into the caue: where they hid them selves: and layed great stones on the caues mouth: whych remayne vnto this day.

And that same daye Josua toke Maheda & smote hit with the edge of the swerde / & the kinge therof also: and utterly destroyed the and all the soules that were therein / and lett nought remayne. And he dyd to the kinge of Maheda / as he dyd to the kinge of Iericho.

Then Josua went from Maheda: and all Israel with him vnto Libna: and fought agaynst Libna. And the Lord deliuered it also into their hands: with the kinge also and smote it with the edge of the swerde and all the soules that were therein: & lett nought remayne in it: and dyd vnto the kinge therof as he dyd vnto the kinge of Iericho.

After that Josua departed from Libna: and all Israel with hym vnto Lachis: and beleged it: and assauleth it. And the Lord deliuered it into the hands of Israel: Lachis: that they toke it the seconde daye / and smote it with the edge of the swerde / & all the soules that were therein: according to all that he dyd to Libna.

Then Hozam kinge of Gether came by to helpe Lachis: but Josua smote him and his people: vntill he leste hit naught remaying.

And from Lachis Josua departed: vnto Eglon: and all Israel with him / and there beleged it / and assauleth it / and toke it the same daye: and smote it with the edge of the swerde and all the soules that were therein: and utterly destroyed the the same daye: according to all that he dyd to Lachis.

Then Josua departed by from Eglon: and all Israel with him vnto Hebron. And they fought agaynst it: and toke it / and smote it with the edge of the swerde / and the kinge therof: and all the townes that pertayned to it: and all the soules that were therein: so that they leste nought remaying: but in all things as they did to Eglon / so they destroyed it utterly: and all the soules that were therein.

Then Josua returned and all Israel with him to Dabir: and they fought agaynst it: & toke it: and the kinge therof and all the townes that pertayned therto. And smote them with the edge of the swerde / & utterly destroyed all the soules that were therein / & lett nought remayne. And as he dyd to Hebron: so he dyd to Dabir and the kinge therof: and as he dyd to Libna and her kinge.

And Josua smote all the hille contrees & the southe contrees / and the valeys: and the springes of water: with all their kings and lett nought remayne / but utterly destroyed all that breathed: as the Lord God of Israel commaunded. And Josua smote them from Cadeg barne vnto Alah: and all the contrey of Golan: euen vnto Gabaon. And all those kings and their lande / Josua toke at one tyme: because the Lord God of Israel fought for Israel. And then Josua returned and all Israel with hym vnto the hoste to Gailgall.

And

Josua

And when Iabim kinge of Habor had hearde that he sent to Iobab kinge of Madon: and to the kinge of Sameron: and to the kinge of Asaph. And vnto the kings that are by north in the mountaynes / and playnes / on the southside of Ceneroth / and in the lowe countreys: and in the regions of Dor by the see / and vnto the Cananites bothe by East and West: and vnto the Amozites / Bethites / Pherezites / and Jebusites in the mountaynes: and vnto the Heuites vnder Hermon in the lande of Hazphah: which came oute and all these hostes with them a multitude of folke euē as the sandes of the see in nombre: with horses and charettes exceeding manye. And all these kings met to geather / and came and pitched to geather by the water of Merom: for to fight with Israel.

And the Lord sayde vnto Josua: be not afrayde of them: for to morowe aboute this tyme I will deliuer them all agayne: before all Israel: & thou shalt houghe their horses: & burne their charettes with fire. And Josua came & all the men of warre with him agaynst them: vnto the water of Merom: & benyve: & selle upon them. And the Lord deliuered the into the hands of Israel: and they smote the & chased them / vnto great Sidon: & vnto the whott waters: & vnto the valeys of Hazphah Eastwarde: & smote the vntill they had none remaying of them. And Josua serued them as the Lord hadde him: houghe their horses and burnt the charettes with fyre.

Then Josua at that tyme turned backe & toke Habor: and smote her kinge with the swerde. For Habor before tyme was the head of all those kingdomes. And they smote all the soules that were therein with the edge of the swerde: utterly destroying the / that no breathe was lett remayne. And burnt Habor with fyre and all the ctytes of those kings: with all the kings of them: Josua toke and smote them with the edge of the swerde: and utterly destroyed them: as Moyses the seruant of the Lord commaunded.

But Israel burnt none of the ctytes that stode by the hilles: save Habor only: that Josua burnt: but all the spoyle of the layde cities and the cattell: the chyldren of Israel caught vnto them selves: But the men onely they smote with the edge of the swerde vntill they had destroyed the: and had leste no breathe remayinge. As the Lord commaunded Josua / and euen so dyd Josua: and myngfwerde no worde of all that the Lord commaunded Moyses.

And so Josua toke all the lande: the hilles and all the southe contrey / and all the lande of Golan: and the lowe contrey: & the playnes:

Josua made warre longe tyme with those kings: for there was no cite that made peace with the chyldren of Israel: save those Heuites that inhabited Gabaon: Al other they toke with battell: for it came of the Lord to harden their hartes / that they shulde come agaynst Israel in battell: euen to destroye the utterly: that they shulde haue no mercy: but to bring them to nought. As the Lord commaunded Moyses.

And that same season Josua went & destroyed the Enakites out of the mountaynes: & out of Hebron: Dabir / & Anab: & oute of all the mountaynes of Juda: & oute of all the mountaynes of Israel. And Josua destroyed them utterly with their cities. So there was not one Enakite leste in the lande of the chyldren of Israel: only in Alah / Beth: and Sidon: there remayned of them.

And Josua toke the hole lande according to all that the Lord sayde vnto Moyses: and gaue it a possession vnto Israel euery man his parte in their trybes: and the lande rest from warre.

And there felle ten porcyons to Manasses befoze the lande of Galaad & Basan which are on the other syde Jordan: because the daughters of Manasses dyd enherett amonge hys sonnes. And Manasses other sonnes had the lande of Galaad. And the costes of Manasses reached from Aser to Machmathah & lyeth befoze Sichem & went a longe on the right hand/ euen into the enhabiters of Chaphuah/ & the land of Chaphuah belonged to Manasses / whych Chaphuah laye in the borders betwene Manasses and the chyldren of Ephraim. And the costes descended into the ryuer Canah on whose south syde Ephraim hath cyties amonge the cyties of Manasses. For the costes of Manasses were on the north syde of the ryuer & the endes of the was the see: so the south pertayned to Ephraim/ & the north to Manasses/ and the see is hys border. And they mette to geather in Aser northwarde/ and in Tlacar eastwarde. And Manasses had in Tlacar and in Alet/ Bethlean/ and her townes: & the enhabitours of Moiz/ with the townes pertaynyng to the same: & the enhabitours of Emdoz/ with the townes of the same: & the enhabitours of Chaanath with her townes & the enhabitours of Magedo with her townes of the same/ euē the cyties yet the chyldren of Manasses could not ouer come those cyties: But the Cananites began to dwell in the same lande. Neuerthelesse a stone as the chyldren of Israel were waxed strong / they put the Cananites to tribute/ but expelled the not.

And the chyldren of Joseph spake unto Josua saying: why hast thou geuen vs but one lotte & one porcyon to enherett/ seing we be moche people/ and for as moche as the Lord hath blessed us so: and Josua answered the: ye be moche people then gett you by to the wodde contreye/ and prepare for your selues there in the lande of the Phereites and of the Gergashites/ ye mounte Ephraim be to narowe for you. When the chyldren of Joseph sayde agayne the hill will not begot of us: for all the Cananites that dwell in the lowe contreye haue charettes of yron / and so haue they & enhabite Bethlean/ & the townes of the same & they also that dwell in the baleye of Jezreel. And Josua answered the house of Joseph/ Ephraim & Manasses saying: ye be moche people and haue great power and shall not therfore haue one lotte. But the hyl shall be pourses / for it is a wodde contreye & ye shall bypnyng it to facion/ and it shall be pourses euen into the endes of it/ for ye shall be able to cast oute the Cananites for all their yron charettes / and for all they be so stronge.

Wylng of euery tribe thre man & thre maye sende them. And they maye ryse & walke thowowe the land & distribute it by their inheritaunces & come agayne to me. And he diuide it into seuen partes. For Juda shal abyde by their coostes in the southe / & the house of Joseph shal stande to their coostes in the northe. Describe ye the lande therfore into seuen partes / & byng the description to me hether / & I maye caste lottes for you here before the Lord our God. The Leuites haue no parte amonge you for the priestly rpe of the Lord is their inheritaunce. And Gad / Ruben / & half the tribe of Manasse haue receaued their inheritaunce beyonde Jordan & thowarde / which Moyses the seruauit of the Lord gaue them.

And the men arose and went their waye. And Josua charged them & wote to describe the lande saying hence & go thowowe the lande & describe it / & come agayne to me hether: and I will cast lottes for you before the Lord in Siloh. And the men departed / & walked thowowe the lande and described it by cities into seuen partes in a booke / & returned to Josua into the house at Siloh. And Josua caste lottes for them in Siloh before the Lord / and there he deuided the lande vnto the chyldren of Israel / to eche their porcion. And the lotte of the tribe of the chyldren of Benjamin came by accordyng to their kynredes. And the coostes of their lotte came oute betwene the chyldre of Juda and the chyldren of Joseph. And their north coostes were fro Jordan and went by to the syde of Jericho on the northsyde / & went by thowowe the montaynes westwarde / and they ended at the wyldernesse of Bethauen: & went fro thence to the southsyde of Lus / other wyse called Bethel: and descended to Ataroth Adar vpon the hille that lyeth on the southe syde of the nether Bethhoron. And the west cooste dwaweth & compasseth southwarde / euen from the hille that lyeth before Bethhoron / & gothe oute at Mariathbaal which is Mariath Tarim / a cite of the chyldren of Juda: & thys is the west quarter: & the southe cooste gothe from the edge of Mariatharim westwarde / & gothe oute to the waterwelle / of Rephthoah and cometh doune to the edge of the hill that lyeth before the valeye of the sonne of Bennon whych is in the valeye of Raphaim northwarde / and descendeth thowowe the valeye of Bennon vnto the syde of Jebusi southwarde and gothe doune to the well of Rogell. And compasseth from the north and gothe southe to Enlames and to the coostes that lyeth before the goyng by vnto Adonim: and gothe doune to the sonne of Bohan the sonne of Ruben: and then gothe alonge towarde the syde of the playne / northwarde: and gothe doune in to the playne: and gothe a longe to the syde of Bethbaglah northwarde / and endeth at the poynte of the salt see norththerfrom / and at the ende of Jordan southe therfrom. This is the southe cooste.

And Jordan is their east cooste / thys is the inheritaunce of the chyldren of Benjamin with their coostes rounde aboute and by their kynredes. And these are the cyties of the tribes of the chyldren of Benjamin in their kynredes: Jericho / Bethbaglah / and the valeye of Raziz: Betharabah / Zamarim / and Bethel: Aum / Pharah / and Ophrah: Chepar Ammonat / Ophni / and Gabai / twelue cyties with their villages. Gabaon / Ramah / and Beroth: Mazpeth / Caphatrah / and Mozah: Bekem / Jarephel and Charelah / Zela / Elph / and the cytie of the Jebusites whych is Jerusalem / Gabaath / & Marath / fourtene cyties with their villages. This is the inheritaunce of the chyldren of Benjamin in their kynredes.

The xliij. Chapter.

And the seconde lotte came out vnto the tribe of the chyldren of Simed by their kynredes. And their inheritaunce felte in the myddes of the inheritaunce of the chyldre of Juda. And their inheritaunce was / Bersabe / Sabe / & Moaladah / Hazor / sual / Balah / & Azem / Eltholad Bethul / & Hozmah / Ziklag / Bethmarcaboth & Hazetlulah / Bethlebaath / and Saruen thertene cyties with their villages. Tim / Remoth / & Alon / four cyties with their villages: & therto all the villages that lyeth rounde about these cyties / eue vnto Balasath / Beoz / & Ramath / southwarde. This is the inheritaunce of the tribe of the chyldre of Simed in their kynredes oute of the porcion of the chyldren of Juda / came the inheritaunce of the chyldre of Simed. For the parte of the chyldren of Juda was to moche for them: and therfore the chyldren of Simed had their inheritaunce in the inheritaunce of them.

And the thyrde lotte came vnto the chyldren of Zabulon accordyng vnto their kynredes. And the coostes of their inheritaunce came to Sarid / and went by to the

See / and to Marislah / and touched at Dabath / & mette at the ryuer that lyeth before Johnenem: and turned from Sarid eastwarde towarde the sunne ryfing vnto the border of Chisloth in mounte Chabor: and then gothe oute to Dabereh and gothe by to Zaphia: and from thence gothe a longe eastwarde towarde the sunne ryfing / to Bethah / Dopher Githah / and Yazini / and gothe to Remon / Dethoar / & Meah. And compasseth it on the north syde and goeth to Nathan / and endeth in the valeye of Jephthahel. And Zafath / Mahalol / Benron / Zedalah / and Bethlehem: twelue cyties with their villages. Thys is the inheritaunce of the chyldre of Zabulon / in their kynredes. The sayde cyties with their villages.

And the fourthe lotte came oute to the chyldre of Issachar by their kynredes. And their coostes were Issachar / & Asuloth / Sunem / Naphtaim / Zion / Anaharath: Harabith / Histon / and Abet: Rameth / Enganim / Enhadab / & Bethphazez. And his coostes mette at Chabor / Sahazimah & at Bethlames & endeth at Jordan / Syrtene cyties with their villages. Thys is the inheritaunce of the tribe of the chyldren of Issachar by their kynredes & cyties and their villages.

And the fyfte lotte came oute vnto the tribe of the chyldren of Aser by their kynredes. And their coostes were Melkath / Bait / Betl and Achlaph: Alamelech / Amaad & Hiseal: and mette at Carmel on the see / & at Sihoz and at Labanath and turneth towarde the sunne ryfing to Bethdagon / & mette at Zabulon & in the valeye of Jechthah / & towarde the northsyde of Bethemeh & Megel / & gothe oute on the lefte syde of Cabul: and Hebzon / Kohob / Hamon / and Kanah euen vnto great Sidon. And then the coost turneth to Ramah and to the strong cite of Azo: and turneth to Hozah and endeth at the see: by the possession of Achyrah: Amah / Apyeh / and Kohob: twenty and two cyties with their villages. This is the inheritaunce of the tribe of the chyldren of Aser by their kynredes: these cyties with their villages.

And the Syrtte lotte came oute vnto the chyldren of Repphah by their kynredes. And their coostes were from Heleph and from Elot in Zaananim / & Adami / Meheb and Jabneel euen to Lakum / and go oute at Jordan. And then the cooste turneth westwarde to Alanoth in mounte Chabor: and then gothe oute from thence to Hukohah and meteth with Zabulon on the southe syde / and with Aser on the west / & at Juda vpon Jordan towarde the sunne ryfing. And their strong cyties are Zaim / Ber / Hamath / Kacath and Cenereth / Adamah / Hermah and Hazor: Kedesh / Edrat / and Enhazor: Aeron / Dagdelei / Hozem / Be-thanah and Bethlames: nyntene cyties with their villages. This is the inheritaunce of the tribe of the chyldre of Repphah by their kynredes: these cyties and their villages.

And the seuenth lotte felte to the tribe of the chyldren of Dan by their kynredes. And the coostes of their inheritaunce was Zarah / Elthol / Zlames / Saelabin / Vialon and Zechlah: Egion / Chemnathah and Aharon: Elchekeh / Sibethon and Baalath: Jechid / Banabarath and Gathernon / Merich and Harcon with the contrey that lyeth before Zapho. And the coostes of the chyldre of Dan went oute from beyonde the. For the chyldre of Dan went by and fought agaynst Efen and toke it / and smote it with the edge of the swerde / and conquered it / and dwelt therein and called it Dan / after the name of Dan their father.

Thys is the inheritaunce of the tribe of the chyldren of Dan in their kynredes: these cyties with their villages. When they had made an ende of deuoyding the lande by her coostes then the chyldren of Israel gaue an inheritaunce vnto Josua the sonne of Nun amonge them: at the mouthe of the Lord they gaue him the cytie whiche he asked / eue Chamnath serah in mounte Ephraim. And he bylte the cite and dwelt therein. These are the inheritaunces whych Eleazar the priest and Josua the sonne of Nun / and the auncient fathers of the tribes of the chyldre of Israel deuided by lotte in Siloh before the Lord / in the doze of the tabernacle of witness / and so made an ende of deuoyding the contrey.

The cyties of refuge or Sanctuaries.

The xliij. Chapter.

When the Lord spake vnto Josua saying: comen with the chyldren of Israel and saye: * Appoynte oute three cyties / of whych I spake vnto you by Moyses / that the fear that killeth any person breueth & bntwyttinglye / maye flee thither. And those cyties shalbe your refuge from the auenger of bloude. And the fear shall flee vnto one of those cyties and shall stande in the entryng of the gate of the cite and shall shewe bys cause in the eares of the elders of the sayde cytie. And they shal take him in to the cytie vnto them / and shall geue him a place that he maye dwell amonge the.

And when the auenger of bloude foloweth after him they shall not deliuer the fear into his hande: because he smote bys frende ignorantlye / and hated hym not before tyme. And he shall dwell in the sayde cite vntyll he stande before the congregacion in Judgement / and vntyll the death of the hye priest that shalbe in those dayes. And then shall the fear returne and come vnto bys awne cytie

m. ij. and

and bntw his stone house/and bnto the from whence he fledde. And they apoynted kades in Galile / in mount Nephtali / and Sichem in mount Ephraim / & kariattharbe which is Hebzon / in the mostaynes of Iuda
And on the other syde Jordan ouer agaynst Jericho estwarde / they gaue Beroi in p wyl-dermede bnd & playne / out of p tribe of Rubē & Ramoth in Galaad out of p tribe of Gad and Golan in Basan out of the tribe of Ma-nasses. These were the cities apoynted for all the chyldren of Israell / & to the stradgers that sojourned amoge the that wholouer kylled any person ignozatyve / & same might flee thether and quide not die by the hande of the auiger of bloude / vntyll he stode befoze p congregacyon.

The cyties geuen to the Leuytes / in nombze. xlvij.
The promys of geuyng the land of Canaan to the Ispych. The Ispyches are at rest.

The xxi. Chapter.

Ad then came p principall heades of the Leuytes vnto Eleazar the preatre / and vnto Josua the sonne of Nun / & vnto the aunciet heades of the trybes of the chyldre of Israell / & spake vnto them at Siloh in the lande of Canaan saying: * the Lorde comaunded by Moyses / to geue vs cities to dwell in & the selbes aboute the / for oure catell. And the chyldre of Israell gaue vnto the Leuytes out of their enherita-unces / at the bidding of the Lorde / these cities folowing with their Suburbes.

And the lotte cam out vnto the kynredes of the Cahathites: and the chyldren of Aaron the preate whych were of the Leuytes had geuen them by lotte / out of the trybe of Iuda / out of the tribe of Simeon / & out of p tribe of Benjamin. xlii. cities. And the reat of the chyldren of Cahath had by lotte / out of p kin-redes of the tribe of Ephraim / out of p tribe of Dan / & out of the halfe tribe of Manasses ten cities. And the chyldren of Gerson had by lotte out of the kynredes of p tribe of Issacar out of the trybe of Aser / out of the trybe of Nephtali & out of the other halfe trybe of Manasses in Basan. xlii. cities. And p chyldre of Merari by their kynredes / had out of the trybe of Ruben / out of the trybe of Gad / and out of the trybe of Zabulon / twelue cities.

And the chyldre of Israell gaue by lotte vnto p Leuytes these cities with their Suburbes as the Lorde comaunded by Moyses.

And they gaue out of the tribe of p chyldre of Iuda / & out of the trybe of the chyldren of Simeon / these cytyes by name: whych the chyldren of Aaron being of the kynredes of p Cahathites / and of the chyldren of Leui / ob-tayne: for theys was p fyrst lotte. And they gaue them Kariattharbe of the father of Enach / which is Hebzon / in the byll cōtrepe of Iuda / with the Suburbes of the same foure about it. But the cōtrepe that pretained to the cytye and the byllages therof / they gaue to Caleb the sonne of Iephune / to be his possession.

And thus they gaue to p chyldren of Aarō the preate the fraunchised cyties of the deat / Hebzon with her Suburbes: & Libna with her Suburbes / and Jathir with her Suburbes / and Esthmos with her Suburbes / and Holon with her Suburbes / and Dabir with her Suburbes / and Ain with her Suburbes / and Zutah with her Suburbes / and Bethlames with her Suburbes: nyne cities out of those two tribes. And out of the trybe of Benjamin they gaue Gabaon with her Suburbes: Gaba with her Suburbes: An-toth with her Suburbes: Almon with her Suburbes: foure cities. All these cities of p chyldren of Aaron preates were. xlii. cytyes with their Suburbes. And the kynredes of the chyldren of Cahath that were Leuytes: p is to saye the other chyldren of Cahath had the cytyes of their lotte / out of the trybe of Ephraim. And they gaue them the fye cytye of the deat: Siloh with her Suburbes / in mount Ephraim: & Gazer with her Subur-bes: and Kibzaim with her Suburbes: Bethoron with her Suburbes: foure cytyes.
And out of the trybe of Dan: Eltheke with her Suburbes: & Chithon with her Suburbes: Ailalon with her Suburbes / and Gathremon with her Suburbes: foure cytyes. And out of the halfe trybe of Ma-nasses / Chanach with her Suburbes: Gathremon with her Suburbes: two cytyes.
So that all the cytyes whych were geuen vnto the kynredes of the other chyldren of Cahath / were ten with their Suburbes.

And vnto the chyldren of Gerson whych were of the kynredes of the Leuytes / they gaue out of the other halfe trybe of Manasses / the cytye of refuge for the deat / Golan in Basan with her Suburbes: Beetherah with her Suburbes: two cities. And out of the trybe of Issacar / Kisyon with her Suburbes: Daberath with her Suburbes: Farimoth with her Suburbes: Engannim with her Suburbes: foure cities. And out of the trybe of Aser / Misael with her Suburbes: Abdō with her Suburbes: Malahath with her Suburbes: Rohob with her Suburbes: foure cities. And out of the trybe of Nephtali / the cytye of refuge of the deat / Kedes in Galile / with her Suburbes: Hamothdor / with her Suburbes: Carthan with her Suburbes: thye cytyes. So that all the cytyes of the Gersonites in their kynredes

kynredes were. xlii. with their Suburbes.

And vnto the kynredes of the chyldren of Merari / the rest of the Leuytes / they gaue out of the trybe of Zabulon / Gecnam with her Suburbes: Carthay with her Suburbes Danna with her Suburbes / and Mahalal with her Suburbes: foure cytyes. And out of the trybe of Rubē / they gaue Beroi with her Suburbes: Jathir with her Suburbes Ramoth with her Suburbes: & Maphaath with her Suburbes: foure cities. And out of p tribe of Gad / they gaue p fraunchised citie of p deat / Ramoth in Galaad with her Suburbes / Mahanaim with her Suburbes / Hebron with her Suburbes: & Jaser with her Suburbes: foure cities in all / so p all the cytyes of the chyldre of Merari in their kynredes / whych were the rest of the kynredes of the Leuytes / were by their lot / twelue cities. And all the cities that the Leuytes had in the possession of the chyldre of Israell were. xlvij. with their Suburbes And these cytyes had eche their Suburbes rounde aboute her thozow out all the sayde cities. And the Lorde gaue vnto Israell all the lande whych he swore to geue vnto their fathers. And they chquered it / & dwelt therein And the Lorde gaue them rest rounde about accorpyng to all that he swore vnto their fathers. So p there stode not a mā of all their enemies befoze the. But p Lorde deliuered all their enemies into their handes. There shaped nothing of al the good thinges which the Lorde had sayde vnto the house of Israell But all came to passe.

Ruben / Gad / and the halfe trybe of Manasses are sent a gape to their possessions. They byde an altace for a memoypall.

The xxii. Chapter.

Ad Josua called vnto the Rubenites / the Gadites and to the halfe tribe of Manasses and sayde vnto the: * ye haue kept all that Moyses the seruaunt of the Lorde comaunded you / & haue obetied my boyce in all p I comaunded you: ye haue not leste poure bzethren of a log season vnto this daye but haue kept the comaundement of p Lorde poure God. And now the Lorde hath geue rest vnto poure bzethre as he promesed them. Wherfore retorne and go vnto poure tentes & vnto p lande of poure possession / which Moyses the seruaunt of the Lorde gaue you on the other syde Jordan.

But in any wyle take exceeding good heade that ye do the comaundement & lawe whych Moyses p seruaunt of p Lorde charged you: whych is / that ye loue the Lorde poure God / and walche in his wayes and kepe his comaundementes / & cleane vnto him / & serue him with all poure herttes and all poure soules. And so Josua blessed them and sent them away. And they went vnto their tentes vnto the one halfe of the trybe of Ma-nasses Moyses gaue possession in Basan: and vnto the other halfe thet of gaue Josua with their bzethre on this syde Jordan westwarde And also when Josua sent them away vnto their tentes and blessed them / he sayde vnto the / retorne with moche rychesse vnto poure tent / & with very moche catell / with syluer goulde / byasse / yron / and with rayment aboue measure / & deuide the spoyle of poure enemies with poure bzethren.

And the chyldren of Ruben / the chyldren of Gad and halfe the trybe of Manasses / returned and departed from the chyldre of Israel out of Siloh which is in p lande of Canaan / to go vnto the cōtrepe of Galaad / & to the lande of their possession / wherin they were possessed at the mouth of the Lorde by the hande of Moyses. And when they came vnto the costes of Jordan that lye in p lande of Canaan: there the chyldren of Ruben / the chyldren of Gad and the halfe trybe of Ma-nasses / bylt an altare faste by Jordan a thac a great altare to se to. And when the chyldre of Israell hearde saye: beholde the chyldren of Ruben / the chyldren of Gad & the halfe trybe of Manasses haue bylt an altare in the sorestrounte of the lande of Canaan in p borders of Jordan on the syde of the chyldren of Israel: the hole congregacyon of the chyldren of Israell gathered them together to Siloh / to go vpon them with batell. And the chyldre of Israell sent vnto the chyldren of Ruben / to the chyldren of Gad and to the halfe trybe of Manasses into the lande of Galaad / Phinches the sonne of Eleazar the preate / and with him ten lordes of euery chese howse a lorde thozow out all the trybes of Israell / whych heades of their fathers householdes were ouer p thousandes of Israell. And they wēt vnto the chyldren of Ruben / of Gad & to the halfe trybe of Manasses / vnto the lande of Galaad and spake with them saying.

Thus saye the hole congregacyon of the Lorde: what trasgression is this that ye haue transgressed agaynst the God of Israell / to turne away this daye from after the Lorde and to byde you an altare for to rebelle this daye agaynst p Lorde / & the wicked deade of Deor to lytell for vs / wherof we are not cleanfed vnto this daye / & there was a page in the congregacyon of the Lorde: But that ye also shulde turne away this daye from folowing the Lorde: ye shall rebelle to daye agaynst the Lorde / and to morow he shall be wroth with all the congregacion. Not with-standyng ye the lande of poure possession be

The altar of Josua, Ruben & Gad.

where the tabernacle dwelleth / and be possessed amonge vs. But rebell not agaynst the Lorde noz agaynst vs / to buyde you anye other altar. And when Phinehes the sonne of Eleazar the p̄feste and the lordes returned fro the chyl- dzen of Ruben and of Gad oute of the lande of Galaad vnto the lande of Canaan / to the chyl- dzen of Israel / and brought them worde agayne. And the answer pleased the chyl- dzen of Israel well / and they p̄fayed God / and byd not entende to go agaynst them in batelle / to destroye the lande which the chyl- dzen of Ruben & Gad dwelt in. And the chyl- dzen of Ruben & the chyl- dzen of Gad called the altar *eb / because it is a witnesse be- twene vs / that the Lorde is God.

Then the chyl- dzen of Ruben and of Gad / and halfe the trybe of Manasses answered and sayde vnto the headres ouer the thou- sandes of Israel: The myghty God Jehouah he knoweth / and Israel shall knowe if it be to rebelle or transgresse agaynst the Lorde / then the Lorde saue vs not this daye. Or elles if we haue bylt vs an altar to turne from folowing the Lorde / or to offer theron burnt offrynges or meat offrynges / or to offer peace offrynges theron: let the Lorde requy- re it: And haue not rather done it for feare of this: least in tyme to come your chyl- dzen shulde saye vnto oures: what haue ye to do with the Lorde God of Israel / saying: that the Lorde hath made Jordan a border betwene vs and your chyl- dzen of Ruben & of Gad: ye haue no parte therfore in the Lorde: and so shall your chyl- dzen make oure chyl- dzen cease from feareinge the Lorde.

And therfore we sayde: Let vs cause an altar to be made / not for burnt offrynges / noz sacrificys / butt it shalbe a wytnesse be- twene vs and you and oure generacions af- ter vs / that we shulde serue the Lorde / with our offrynges / sacrificys and peace off- rynges: and that your chyl- dzen shulde not saye to oures in tyme to come / ye haue no parte in the Lorde.

And we thought if they shulde so saye to vs or to oure generacions in tyme to come / that we wolde saye agayne: Beholde the sacron- e the altar which oure fathers made / ne- ther for burnt offrynges noz sacrificys / but that it shulde be a wytnesse betwene vs and you. God forbydde þ we shulde rebell agaynst the Lorde and that we shulde turne this daye fro after hym / and bylde an altar for burnt- offrynges or sacrificys / saue the altare of the Lorde / oure God that is before vs ta- bernacle.

And when Phinehes the p̄feste and the Lordes of the congregacyon and headres ouer the thousandes of Israel which were with him / hearde the wordes that the chyl- dzen of Ruben / the chyl- dzen of Gad and the chyl- dzen of Manasses spake / they were well content. And Phinehes the sonne of Eleazar p̄feste sayde vnto the chyl- dzen of Ruben / of Gad and of Manasses this daye we perceaue that the Lorde is amonge vs / because ye haue not done thys trespass agaynst the Lorde. And now ye haue rydde the chyl- dzen of Israel out of the handes of the Lorde.

And Phinehes the sonne of Eleazar the p̄feste and the lordes returned fro the chyl- dzen of Ruben and of Gad oute of the lande of Galaad vnto the lande of Canaan / to the chyl- dzen of Israel / and brought them worde agayne. ¶ Josua exhorte the people that they Joyne not them selues to the Gentyles / and that they trust in none but in God onely / which had fulfilled hys pro- mises to them.

¶ The xxiij. Chapter.

¶ After that the Lorde had geuen reke vnto Israel from all their enemyes rounde aboute / that Josua was red olde and was srycken in yeres. wherfore he sent for all Israel / and for their elders / their headres / their Judges and offi- cers / and sayde vnto them: I am olde & sry- ken in yeres. And ye haue sene all that the Lorde your God hath done vnto all these na- cyons before your faces: for the Lorde your God he foughte for you. Beholde I haue ap- poynted these nacyns that remayne / to be your enherytance of your trybes: euen from Jordan / and all the nacyns that I haue de- stroyed / euen vnto the great See. And the Lorde your God he shall expell and cast the out before you / and ye shall conquere their landes / as the Lorde your God hath sayde vnto you.

* Be therfore exceedinge stronge that ye take hede to do all that is writte in the boke of the lawe of Moyses / * that ye bowe not a syde ther from / to the ryght hande or to the left: and that ye go not vnto these nacyns that remayne with you / and that ye neither make mencyon or sweare by the names of their Goddes: and that ye neither serue them noz bowe your selues vnto them. But that ye sticke fast vnto the Lorde your God / as ye haue done vnto this daye. So shall the Lorde call out before you great nacyns & myghtye / as ye se how no man hath stande before you hitherto. * One of you shall chase a thousand: for the Lorde your God he fighteth for you / as he hath sayde vnto you. ¶ The good good hede therfore vnto your soules / that ye loue the Lorde your God.

But and ye shall go backe and cleaue vnto the rest of these nacyns that remayne with you and shall make Mariages with them / and shall go to them and they come to you: be sure that the Lorde your God wyll not cast out all these nacyns fro before you. * But they shalbe snares and trappes vnto you / and scourges for your sydes / & prickes in your eyes / vntill ye perishe from of thys good lande which the Lorde your God hath geuen you.

Beholde I walke this daye / by the waye of all þ worlde: call ye to mynde in all your hertes and in all your soules / that nothyng hath sayed of all the good thynges which the Lorde your God promised you. All are come to passe / and nothyng hath sayed therof. And as all good thynges are come vnto you / which the Lorde your God promised you: so shall the Lorde byng vpon you all euell vntill he haue destroyed you from of thys good lande / which the Lorde your God hath geuen you when ye haue transgressed the apoyntment of the Lorde your God / which he comma- unded you: and haue gone & serued straunge Goddes / and bowed your selues to them. ¶ Then shal the wrath of the Lorde ware whote vpon you / and ye shall perishe quickely / fro of the good lande which he hath geuen you.

¶ Josua exhorte the people to the hepyng of the lawe. ¶ The bones of Josaphat are buried in the sepulchre.

¶ The xliij. Chapter.

¶ Josua gathered all the trybes of Israel to Sichem & called for the elders of Israel / and for their headres / Judges and officers which presented the selues before God. And Josua sayde vnto all the people / thus sayth the Lorde God of Israel. * your fathers dwelt on the other syde of the floude in olde tyme eue Cha- reh the father of Abraham and Nachor / and serued strange Goddes. But I toke your father Abrahā / & I brought him into the other syde of the floude / and he was with me / & I gaue hym Isaac. And I brought Isaac into the lande of Canaan / and he was with me / & I gaue hym Jacob. And I brought Jacob into Egypt / and I gaue him Joseph. And I brought Joseph into Egypt / and I gaue him Egypt / and I gaue him Joseph. And I brought Joseph into Egypt / and I gaue him Egypt / and I gaue him Joseph.

¶ Then I sent Moses and Aaron. And I plagued Egypt / after the maner as I dyd among them / and after that I brought you out of Egypt / I brought your fathers out of Egypt / and ye came vnto the see: and the Egypciens folowed after your fathers with charrettes and hofolme / vnto the redd see. And they cryed vnto the Lorde. And he put darcknesse betwene you and the Egypciens and brought the see vpon them and couered the. And your eyes haue sene what I haue done in Egypt. And ye dwelt in the wilderne as a long season. And I brought you into the lande of the Amorites which dwelt on the other syde Jordan. And they fought with you / and I gaue them vnto your handes. And ye conquered their contre. And I destroyed them in your syght.

¶ Then Balak the sonne of Ziphor / King of Moab arose and warred agaynst Israel / and sent & called Balam the sonne of Beor / for to curse you. But I wolde not agre to herken vnto Balam / and therfore he blessed you: And so I deliuered you out of his hande. And when ye went ouer Jordan / and came vnto Jericho / the egypciens of Jericho foughte agaynst you: the Amorites / Phere- stes / Canaanites / Hethites / Gergasites / He- wites / Jebulites which I deliuered in to your handes.

And I sent * hornettes before you and ye cast out before you: euen the two kynges of the Amorites: but not to your owne swerde or with your owne bowe. And I gaue you a lande in which ye dyd no labour / & cities which you bylt not / and ye dwelt in them. And synes / and diuice treces which ye placed not / and ye ate of them.

And now feare the Lorde and serue hym in purenesse and truthe: And put away the Goddes which your fathers serued on the other syde of the floude / and in Egypt / & serue the Lorde. But ye it seme euell vnto you to serue the Lorde / then chose you thys daye whom you wyll serue whether the Goddes which your fathers serued that were on the other syde of the floude / ether the Goddes of the Amorites in whose lande / ye dwelt / and I and my howse will serue the Lorde.

And the people answered and sayde / God forbyd that we shulde forsake the Lorde and Ierue strange Goddes. For the Lorde our God he it is that brought vs & oure fathers out of the lande of Egypt / the howse of bon- dage / and which dyd those mygacles in oure syght / and p̄serued vs in all the waye we went and amonge all the nacyns which we came thoroze. And the Lorde dyd cast out be- fore vs all the nacyns with the Amorites which dwelt in the lande / wherfore we wyll serue the Lorde for he is oure God.

But Josua sayde vnto the people / ye can not serue the Lorde: for he is an holpe God & cannot beare your transgression and synne. But when ye haue forsaken the Lorde and haue serued strange Goddes / he wyll tur- ne and do you euell and consume you / after that he hath done you good. And the people answered answered Josua: naye / but we will serue the Lorde.

Then Josua sayde vnto the folke / ye are wytnesses vnto your selues / & ye haue chosen you the Lorde to serue hym: & they sayde we are wytnesses. Then put away / sayde he / the strange Goddes whych are amonge you: & bowe your hertes vnto the Lorde God of Israel. And the people answered Josua: the Lorde our God we will serue and hys voyce we will obeye. And so Josua made a couenant with the people the same daye / and set ordynances and lawes before them in Sichem.

And Josua wrote these wordes in the booke of the lawe of God / and toke a great stone & pitched it on ende in the sayde place euen vnder an oke that stode in the sanctuary of the Lorde. And Josua sayde vnto all the people: beholde / this stone shalbe a wit-nesse vnto you / for it hath hearde all the wordes of the Lorde whych he spake with ysrahel. It shalbe therefore a wytnesse vnto you / that ye haue kept the Lorde your God. And so Josua so transfo:med let the people departe euery man vnto hys owne house.

And after these thynges the tyme came that Josua the sonne of Nun & the seruaunt of the Lorde dyed beinge an hundred and ten yeres olde. Whom they buried in the cōtre of his enheritaunce / euen in Chamnath sareth which is in mount Ephraim / on the north syde of the hill of Gaas.

And Israel serued the Lorde all the dayes of Josua / and all the dayes of the elders that ouer lured Josua / and which had sene all the wo:kes of the Lorde that he had done to Israhel. And the bones of Joseph / whych the chyliden of Israel brought out of Egypt / they buried in Sichem / in a parcell of grouyn whych Jacob bought of the sonnes of Hemor the father of Sichem / for an hun-

Judges. The booke of the Judges.

After Josua was dead / Juda was constitute Lorde ouer the armye when Jerusalem was besieged. The people that were not destroyed became tributarys.

The first Chapter.

After the death of Josua the chyliden of Israel asked the Lorde sayinge: who shall go by spirit vnto the Ca-nanites to fight agaynst the?

And the Lorde sayde: * Juda shall go by: beholde I haue deliuered the lande vnto his handes. Then Juda sayde vnto Simeon his brother: come vnto me into my lotte / for I haue fought agaynst the Cananites: And I my selfe will go vnto the into thy lotte. And Simeon went with him.

And Juda went by: & the Lorde deliuered the Cananites & Pherezites into their handes.
And they slew of the in Bezek ten thousand men. And they soughte Adonibezek in Bezek.
And they fought agaynst him / & slew the Ca-nanites & Pherezites. But Adonibezek fled / and they folowed after him / & caught hym / & cut of his thombes and his great toes. Then Adonibezek sayde: the thorne and ten kinges haueynge their thombes & great toes cut of / gathered their meate vnder my table: wherfore as I haue done so God hath done to me agayne. And they brought hym to Jerusalem / and there he dyed.

The chyliden of Juda fought agaynst Jerusalem & toke it / & smote it with the edge of the swerde / and set the citie on fyre. And after that the chyliden of Juda went euen to fight agaynst the Cananites & dwelt in the moun-taine / in the southe / & in the lowe contreye.
And Juda went vnto the Cananites & dwelt in Hebron / which before tyme was called Kariath Arbe. And Aris Sela / Abimān and Chalmān. And from thence they went to the inhabiters of Dabir / whose name in olde tyme was called Kariathsepher.

And Caleb sayde: he that smytheth Kariathsepher / & taketh it / to him will I geue Achah my daughter to wyfe. And Othniel the sonne of Kenaz Calebs younger brother toke it: to whom he gaue Achah his daughter to wyfe / and as they went he counceled hym to aske of her father a felde. And then he requeste of her a felde: and Caleb sayde vnto her: what wyldest thou? She sayde vnto hym: geue me a blessinge: for thou hast geuen me a Southwarde

warde & drye land / geue me also springes of water. And Caleb gaue her springes both ab-oue & beneath. And the chyliden of the Benite Moses father in lawe went out of the cite of pauine trees / whych the chyliden of Juda in to the wyderesse of Juda that lyeth in the southe of Arab / and dwelt amonge the people.

And Juda went & Simeon vnto him / & they slew the Cananites that inhabited Zephath / a better cite destroyed it / & called the name of the citie Hormah. And Juda toke Azah vnto the cottes therof / and Achalon with the cottes therof / and Tharon with the cottes therof.
And the Lorde was with Juda that he conquered the mountaynes / but they coulde not dye out the inhabiters of the valeys / because they had charrettes of yron. And they gaue Hebron vnto Caleb as Moses sayde.
And he expelled thence the thre sonnes of Enach.

And the chyliden of Benjamin dyd not cast out the Jebusites that inhabited Jerusalem / but the Jebusites dwell vnto this daye.

And in lyke maner the house of Joseph went by to Bethel and the Lorde with the /
and the house of Joseph serched out Bethel which before tyme was called Lus. And the spyes sawe a man come out of the cite and they sayde vnto hym shewe vs the waye into the cite. And he sayde: I will shewe the waye.
And he shewed them the waye into the cite / and they smote it with the edge of the swerde / but let the man and all hys housholde goo free. And the man went into the lande of the Bethites / and bylt a cite and called the name therof Lus which is the name therof vnto this daye.

Nether dyd Manasse expelle Bethsean with her townes / nether Echaanach with her townes / nether the inhabitours of Do: vnto her townes / nether the inhabitours of Je-blaam with her townes / nether the inhabitours of Magdo with her townes / and so the Cananites went to & dwelt in the sayde lande. But as sone as Israel was waxed mightie / they put the Cananites to tribute:
But expelled them not.

In lyke maner Ephraim expelled not the Cananites that dwelt in Gazer / but the Ca-nanites dwell styll in Gazer amonge them.
Nether dyd Zabulon expelle the inhabitours of Betron / nether the inhabitours of Dabhalol: But the Cananites dwell amonge them and be came tributarys.

Nether dyd Aser cast out the inhabitours of Achon / nether the inhabitours of Sidon / of Thabab / Aczib / Halbah / Aphek / nor of Rohob / but the Aserites dwelt amonge the Ca-nanites the inhabitours of the lande / and dye them not out.

Nether dyd Neftalim dye out the inhabitours of Bethsames / nor the inhabitours of Bethanath / but dwelle amonge the Cananites the inhabitours of the lande. Ne-uerthelesse the inhabitours of Bethsames and of Bethanath be came tributarys vnto them.

And the Amozites kepte the chyliden of Dan in the mountaynes / and suffered them not to come downe to the valeys. And so the Amorites wnt to and dwelled in mount Beres in Hailon and in Galabim. Neuerthelesse the hand of Joseph waxed heuie vnto them / so they be came tributarys. And the cottes of the Amozites was fro the going by to Acabim / and from the rocke bywarde.

The Angell rebuketh the people because they had made peace with the Cananites. Idolaters are punished / but yet leave not their inuencions. God sendeth them iudges to deliuer them.

The ii. Chapter.

And the angell of the Lorde came by from Gaigall to Bocim / & sayde / I brought you out of Egypte and haue brought you vnto the lande which I sware vnto your fathers. And I sayde that I wolde neuer breake myne appointment with you / but ye haue made no couenant with the inhabitours of this land / ye haue broken doune their altars: But ye haue not obeyed my voyce / why haue ye this done? wherfore I haue let you be determined & I will not cast them out before you: but they shalbe in the sydes of you / and their Goddes shalbe snarres vnto you. And when the angell of the Lorde had spoken these wordes vnto all the chyliden of Israel / the people cryed out and wepte. And Israel forthwith called the name of the sayde place / Bocim which shalbe called there vnto this daye.

And when Josua had sent the people awaye / the chyliden of Israel went euery man into his enheritaunce to possesse the lande. And the people serued the Lorde all the dayes of Josua / and all the dayes of the elders that outer lured Josua / and had sene all the great wokes of the Lorde that he dyd to Israel. And Josua the sonne of Nun the seruaunt of the Lorde dyed when he was an hundred yeres olde: whom they buried in the cottes of his enheritaunce: euen in Chamnath hares in mount Ephraim on the north syde of the hill of Gaas. And euen so all that generacion were put vnto their fathers / and there arose another generacion after them whych nether knewe the Lorde / nor yet the wo:kes which he dyd vnto Israel.

m. b. And

And then the chyldren of Israel dyd wprehede in the syght of the Lorde / and serued Baalm / & forsoke the Lorde God of their fathers / which brought them out of the land of Egypt / and folowed strange Goddesses / eue of the Goddesses of the nacjons that were round aboute them / and bowed them selues vnto them / and angered the Lorde. And so they forsoke the Lorde and serued Baal & Aha-roth. wherfore the Lorde wared angrey w Israel / & deliuered them into the handes of raueners to spoyle them and solde them into hades of their enemies rounde aboute the /

The.iiij. Chapter.

These are the nacjons which the Lorde leste to tpe Israel: eue as manye of Israel as had not knowen all the warres of Canaan: Only for the lemyng of the generacyon of the chyldren of Israel: which befoze knew nothing of warre he leste the spue Lordes of the Philistines / & all the Cananites / the Sidonites / the Heu-ites that dwelt in mount Libanon: euen from mount Baal Hermon vnto Hemath. Chole remayned to proue Israel by / to mete whether they wold hearken vnto the commaunde-mentes of the Lorde / which he commaunded their fathers by the hand of Moses.

And as the chyldren of Israel dwelt amog the Cananites / herbites / Amorites / Pheresies / Heutes / and Jebusites / they toke the daughters of them to be their wyues / & gaue their otone daughters to their sonnes / & ser-ued their Goddesses. And so the chyldren of Israel dyd wprehede in the syght of the Lorde and forgate the Lorde their God and serued Baalm & Aseroth. wherfore the Lorde was angrey with Israel and deliuered them into the handes of Chusan Rasathaim kynge of Mesopotamia. So that the chyldren of Israel serued Chusan Rasathaim. viij. yeres.

And then the chyldren of Israel cryed vnto the Lorde. And the Lorde sered them by a sauer & saued them: one Othoniell the sonne of Kenes / Calebs younger brother. And the spere of the Lorde came vpon him. And he iudged Israel / and went out to warre. And the Lorde solde Chusan Rasathaim kynge of Mesopotamia into his hade. So the hys hade was myghtie ouer Chusan Rasathaim And the lande had rest foure yeres. And Othoniell the sonne of Kenes died. And then the chyldren of Israel went to agayne / & co-mitted wprehede in the syght of the Lorde And then the Lorde hardened Eglon the kynge of the Moabites / agaynst the chyldren of Israel. because they had committed wprehede befoze the Lorde. And thys Eglon geathered vnto hym the chyldren of Ammon / and the Amalekites / and went and smote the chyldren of Israel / and coquered the cite of Paulme trees. And the chyldren of Israel serued Eglon the kynge of the Moabites. xviij. yeres. And then they cryed vnto the Lorde. And the Lorde sered the by a sauer / Ahud the sonne of Gera the sonne of Temini / a man that coulde do nothing handsonlye with hys ryght hande.

By whome the chyldren of Israel sent a present vnto Eglon the kynge of the Moabites whych Ahud made hym a dagger with two edges / of a cubyte length / & he hid gyde y vnder his cote vpon his right thyghe and caried the present vnto Eglon the kynge of the Moabites / which Eglon was a very fatte man

And when he had presented the present / he sent the people that bare it a waye / but he him selfe turned agayne from the 3 dolles by Galgal / and sayde: I haue a secret vnto the O Byng: and the Byng commaunded him to holde his peace vntyll all that stode aboute hym / were gone out from hym.
And Ahud came in vnto him into a somer parler / which he had seuerall vnto hym selfe alone / and sayde: I haue a message vnto the fro God. And he arose out of his seate. And Ahud put forth hys left hande and toke the dagger from hys ryght thyghe and thrust it into hys belye / so that the harte went in after the blade. And the harte stopped in the fatte / for he drue not the dagger out of hys belye.
And the byt came out. But Ahud gat hym out at a posterne doze / and shutte the dozes of the parler vpon hym and locked them.
When he was gone out / hys seruantes came and loked. And beholde / the dozes of the parler were locked. And they sayde: A / he is a dozing of his easement in hys somer chamber. And when they had taried tyll they were a shamed / for no man dyd the dozes of the parler open: then they toke a keye & opened them. And beholde their Lorde was fallen downe dead / vnto the erthe. But Ahud escaped while they taried and was gone beyonde the 3 dolles & escaped into Serrath.

And when he was come he blew a trom-pette in mount Ephraim. And the chyldren of Israel went downe with hym of the hille & he befoze them. And he sayd vnto them / so-lowe me: for the Lorde hath deliuered youre enemies / the Moabites into youre handes And they descended after hym and toke the passages of Jordan from the Moabites / & suffered not a man to passe ouer. And they slew of the Moabites / the same tyme vpon a ten thousande men / all fatte / and men of might: that there shapen not a man / and so the Moabites were subdued that daye / vnder the handes of Israel: and the land had rest lxxx. yeres.

And after hym came Samgar the sonne of Anath / which slewe of the Philistines. lx.
hundred men with an oxe gode / and deliue-red Israel also.

Israel is committed into the handes of Jabin / because they were returned to Idolatrye. Deboza and Barak deliuer them: Sifara is killed of Jael

The.iiij. Chapter.

And the chyldren of Israel beganne agayne to do wprehede in the syght of the Lorde / when Ahud was dead.
And the Lorde solde them into the handes of Jabin kynge of Canaan / that ragned in Hazor / whose captayne of warre was Sifara / which dwelt in Harofeth of gentyles. And the chyldren of Israel cryed vnto the Lorde: for he had nyne hundred cha-rettes of yron he oppressed the chyldren of Israel with power xx. yeres.

And Deboza a prophetyse / the wyfe of Lapidoth iudged Israel the same tyme / and dwelt vnder the paulme tre of Deboza / be-twene Ramath and Bethell / in mounte Ephraim.

And the chyldren of Israel came to her for iudgement. And she sent and called Barak the sonne of Abinoam / out of Kedesh Nephthalim / and sayde vnto hym.

The Lorde God of Israel commaundeth the / that thou go and dyawe to mounte Cha-boz / and take with the ten thousande men / of the chyldren of Nephtalim & of the chyldren of Zabulon. And I will byynge vnto the ryuer Bifon Sifara / the Captayne of warre vnto Jabin / with hys charettes / and his people / and will deliuer them into thyne handes. And Barak sayde vnto her / yf thou wilt go with me / I will go: But and yf thou wilt not go with me / then I will not go.
And she answered / I will surely go with the / but then the prayse shall not be thyne / in the waye which thou goest / for the Lorde shall deliuer Sifara into the handes of a woma.
And she arose and went with Barak to Ke-des. And Barak called Zabulon and Nephthalim to Kedesh. And he went by a foote with ten thousande men: and Deboza went with hym.

But Haber the Kenite was remoued out of Ain / wherch was of the chyldren of Mohab the father in lawe of Moses / and pyched his tente vntill he was come to the of Zaanaim / by Kedesh.

And then it was shewed vnto Sifara how that Barak the sonne of Abinoam was gone by to mount Chaboz. And Sifara called for all his charettes / euen ix. hundred cha-rettes of yron / and for all the people that he had / from Harofeth of the gentyles vnto the ryuer of Bifon. Then sayde Deboza vnto Barak: by / for thys is the daye in which the Lorde hath deliuered Sifara in to thyne handes: for the Lorde is gone oute befoze the. And so Barak went downe from mount Chaboz / and ten thousande men after hym.

But the Lorde trounsed Sifara and all hys charettes and all hys hoste with the edge of the swerde / befoze Barak. And Sifara lyghted downe of hys charett and fled a foote. But Barak folowed after the charettes and after the hoste / euen vnto Harofeth of the gentyles. And all the hoste of Sifara fell vpon the edge of the swerde / that there was not a man leaste. Now he it Silara fled a fote to the tent of Jael the wyfe of Haber the kente: for there was peace betwene Jabin the kynge of Hazor/ and the housholde of Haber the kente.

And Jael went out agaynst Silara and sayde vnto hym: turne vnto me / turne vnto me & feare not. And he turned into her into her tent: & she couered hym with a man-tell. And he sayde vnto her / geue me a lyttel water to dryncke / for I am thyrstye. And she opened a bottell of myrke & gaue him drynke and couered hym. And he sayde vnto her / stande in the doore of thy tent / & if any man come & aske the / or enquire of the whether there be any man here / saye naye.

Then Jael Habers wyfe toke a nape of the tente / and an hamer in her hand / & wot fotte vnto hym / and smote h nape thozow the tēples of his head in to the ground / as he dumbered beying wery: And so he dyed.

And beholde as Barak folowed after Si-lara / Jael came out agaynst hym / and sayde vnto him: come and I will shew the the mā whō thou sekest. And when he came into her tente: Beholde / Silara laye dead & h nape thozow his tēples. And so God brought Jabin the kynge of Canaan into subiection that daye / befoze the chyldren of Israel. And the hande of the chyldren of Israel prospered & was soze vpon Jabin the kynge of Canaan / vntyll they had brought him to naught.

The songe and thanckes geuyng of Deboza & Ba-rach after the victorie.

The .b. Chapter.

Then debora & Barach the sonne of Abinoam / sang the same daye: sayinge * Praise the Lorde in them were wyllynge whyle other late stille in Israel. Heare kynge and herken Lordes / I will synge / and geue praise vnto the Lorde God of Israel.

Lorde when thou departedst out of Seir and camest fro the felde of Edom / the erthe trembled / and the heuen rayned / & h cloudes drowped water: the mountaynes mealed be-foze the Lorde / euen mount Sinai befoze h Lorde God of Israel.

In the dayes of Shamgar the sonne of Annath and in the dayes of Jael / the hye wayes were vnoccupied. And they that walked by pathes / went by wayes that set compasses about. The byllages were vnenhabytē in Israel / were vnenhabytē: vntill J Deboza arose vntyll J Aroze a mother in Israel.

God chose new lacpons of warre / & oz whē they had warre at their gates: there was not a man. J sent amōge fourtye thousand / ether chyld oz yng / not way / spere in Israel. Wyne here loueth h maynteners of the lawe in Israel / h are wyllynge amonge the people. Blesse the Lorde ye that ryde on goodlye Ases and sytte in iudgement.

And ye h walcke by the wayes make duties.
Now h archers dō crye / where men draw water: there shall they tell of the iustyce of h Lorde / and of the iustyce of his vplandyng the folcke in Israel. And then the people of the Lorde went downe vnto the gates.

Wp by Deboza / wp by and synge a songe / by Barak / & take thy praye / thou sonne of Abinoam. Then they h had escaped / rayg-ned ouer h proudest of h people. The Lorde rayneth ouer the stronge.

Ephraim was h fyrst agaynst Amalech /
And after the Beniamin / amōge h people.
Of Machir came lerned men in the law / and of Zabulon that well coude byawe in the penne of a scribe.

The Lodes of Israhel were with Debo-ra. And as Barak / euen so was Israhel sent into the valeye & fote. But in h deuplyngs of Rubē / were great ymaginacions of herte.
Wherfoze abodest thou amonge the shepe folds / to heare the bleatynge of the flockes.
In the deuplyngs of Ruben / great were the ymaginacions of herte. Galaad abode on the other syde Jordan / and why tarped dan in shyppes. And Aler sat in the hauens of the see / and abode still in his awne costes. But Zabulon is a people that put their lyues in leopardye of death / and Nephtalim in lyke maner / euen vnto the toppe of the felde.
Bynges came and fought. Then fought the Kynge of Canaan at Chanach / vnto the water of Magedo. But the flyer h they coueted / they carped not awayne.

From beaue came battell: for the sterres being in their course / fought agaynst Sila-ra. The ryuer of Eison caught them awayne: that afflicte ryuer the ryuer Eison.

My soule: treade thou the myghtye vnderfote. Then they mailed the hoyses legges / h their myghtie courtiers leste prauynge.

Curse Meroz had the angell of the Lorde Curse / Curse the enhabytoures thereof because they came not forth to helpe h Lorde / to helpe the Lorde amōge the myghtie.

Blessed be Jael the wyfe of Haber the kente / about other women: about other women blessed be she in the tente.

He asked water / but she gaue him myrke / and brought butter in a goodlye dyshe. She caught a nape in her leaste hand / and a wozkynge hamer in her right / and nayled Sila-ra and wounded his head and pearced h wēt thozow his temples. Betwene her fete he bowd hym self / felle downe and laye stille.
Betwene her fete he bowd hym self & felle.
And whether he bowd hym self / thither he felle brought to nought.

Chozou

Chozou a widowe loke Silaras mother and howled thozow a lattise / why abydest his charer so longe / h it cometh not / why tarpe h wheles of his waggans? The myrke of her ladyes answered her: yee & she answered her awne word: her self hapye they haue fode / & deuyde the spoyle: I mayde / ye two mayds for a pecc: a spoyle of dyuerse coloures for Silara / a spoyle of dyuerse coloures wpyh h drowed woyses / dyuerse coloured browdered woyses for h necke for a praye. So perith the all thine enemyes Lorde: but they h loue h / let the be as h summe ryng in his myghte.

And the lande had rest fourtye yeres.

Israel is opprest of the Midianites / because he returned agayn into ydolatrie. Gedeon is sent of God to be their deliverer. The sulter of Baal is ouerthrowen.

The .vi. Chapter.

And the chyldren of Israel compted wpyh kednes in the syght of h Lorde And the Lorde deliuered them into the handes of the Midianites leuz peres. And when the hāde of h Midianites was soze vpon Israel / the chyldren of Israel made the demies in h mountaynes & caues & stronge holdes. For when Israel had sownen then came the Midianites the Amalechites & they of the East cōtreye vpon the & pitched their tentes agaynst them & destroyed h en-crease of the erthe euen vnto Azah / and leste no sustynance in Israel / nether shepe / ore oz alle / for they came wpyh their cattell and housholdes eue as grethopers in multitude:
so h both they and also their camelles were with out nombze. And they entrede h lāde to destroye it. And so was Israel exceedingly impouered by h Midianites & cryed vnto the Lorde. And when the chyldren of Israel cryed vnto the Lorde because of the Midianites / the Lorde sent a pphete vnto them / & sayd vnto the: Thus sayth the Lorde God of Israel: I sette you fro Egypt & brought you out of the house of bondage and I ryde you out of h hande of the Egyptians & out of h handys of all h opprested you: & cast the out be-foze you / & gaue you their land. And I sayd vnto you / I am h Lorde your God / & ther-foze feare not the Goddes of the Amozites in whose lande you dwell. But you haue not obeyed my voyce. And the Angell of h Lorde came a late vnder an Oke in Ephrah / h per eayned vnto Joas h father of h Gersy. And his sonne Gedeon pressed out where out of h eares in a presse / for to see fro h Midianites
And h angell of the Lorde appeared vnto hym / & sayde: h Lorde is with the / thou mā of myght / And Gedeon answered hym: Oh my Lorde / p the Lorde be with vs / why is all this come vpon vs: ye & where be hys myracles which oure fathers tolde vs of and sayde / the Lorde brought vs out of Egypt. But now h Lorde hath forsake vs / & deliuered vs into h hāde of the Midianites. And the Lorde toke vnto hym & sayd: So hence in this thy myght & de-liuer Israel out of h hādes of h Midianites.

Beholde I haue sent the: And he answered hym. Oh Lorde where is I should I saue Israel?
Beholde my kynred is h poozest in Manasses / & I am h least in my fathers house. But then h Lorde sayd vnto hym: I will be with the: & thou shalt myrke h Midianites / as they were but one mā. And he answered hym / yee I haue founde grace in thy syght / then shewe me a sygne / h thou art h Lorde h talketh to me. We parte not hence / vntill I come agayn vnto h & byng myne offryng / & haue sett it befoze h.

And he sayde I will tarpe vntyll thou come agayne. And Gedeon went & made re-dye a hydde / and swete hakes of an Ephra of flowze / & put the fleshe in a basket & h bzoith in a potte / & brought it out vnto hym vnder h Oke & presented it. And h angell of God sayde vnto hym: take the fleshe and the swete hakes & put the vnto this roche / & powze out the bzoith. And he dyd so. Then the angell of h Lorde put forth h ende of the staffe h was in his hande & touched the fleshe & h haks. And there arose by fyre out of h roche & consumed h fleshe and the hakes. And the angell of the Lorde banished out of his syght. And whē Gedeon perceaued h it was an Angell / he sayd Alas my Lorde I thouah / that I haue sene an angell of h Lorde face to face. And h Lorde sayde vnto hym: peace be to h & feare not / for thou shalt not dye. When Gedeon made an aultare there vnto h Lorde & called it * Jehouah Shalom / which vnto this daye is yet in use. * That is / the phrath h pertayneth vnto h father of h Ele- Lord of peace.

And h same nyght the Lorde sayde vnto hym / take an ore of thy fathers & another of
by. perz olde / & destroye h aultare of Baal h belongeth vnto thy father / & cutte dōune the groue h is about it / & make an aultare vnto the Lorde thy god vnto h toppe of this roche & burne the it. And take the seconde ore & offer burnt sacrifice to h woodd of h groue which thou shalt haue cut dōune. Then Gedeon toke ten men of his seruauts & dyd as h Lorde bad hym. But because he durst not do it by daye for feare of his fathers housholde and of the men of the cytie / he dyd it by nyght.

When h men of the cytie were by erlye in the mornynge: Beholde h aultare of Baal was broke / & the groue h stode about it cut dōune. And h seconde ore offered vnto h aultar h was made. And they sayde one to another / who hath done this thyng / & they enquired & asked. And it was tolde them that Gedeon the sonne of Joas had done it. When the men of the cytie sayde vnto Joas / byng out thy sonne h he maye dye because he hath broke h aultare

altier of Baal / & cut doune & groue & was about it. And Joas sayde vnto all that stode by him / will ye fyghe for Baal / or will ye be his defenders: he that stryeth for hym shall bye this moynynge. If he be a god let hym stryue with hym that cast doune his altier. And he called Gedeon Terobaal the same tyme saying: let Baal stryue with hym because he hath broken doune his altier.

¶ When all the Madianites / the Amalekites and they of the East / were gathered to geather & had gone and pitched in the balaye of Terach: the spere of the Lord entered vnto Gedeon. And he blew a trompette and called Abrezer to folow him / & sent messengers thozou oute all Manasses & called the by to folowe hym also. And he sent messengers vnto Isser / Zabulon and Nephtholim / which came also to mete him.

And Gedeon sayde vnto God: yf thou wilt saue Israel by my hande as thou hast sayde. Beholde I wyll put a flece of wolles in the thysdayning place. And yf the dewe be on & flece on lyf / and drye vpon all the erthe beynde: then I shall be sure & thou wilt saue Israel by my hande / as thou saydest. And it came so to passe. And he rose by crye on & mozowe / and he thrust & flece to geather and wonged the dewe therout & fylled a boole of water. And Gedeon sayde vnto God: be not angrie wyth me / that I speake once moare / let me pzooue only once agayne with the flece. Let it be drye on lyf vpon the flece / & dew vpon all the grounde aboute. And God dyd so & same nyght: so & it was drye vpon the flece on lyf / & on all the grounde aboute / dewe.

¶ The soundys that shulde go with Gedeon to battell are pzooued by taking the by water. Gedeon with his hundred men ouercometh the Madianites. Dzeb and Zeb are slayne.

¶ The. liij. Chapter.

¶ Then Terobaal otherwyse called Gedeon rose crye & all the people that were with him / & pitched beynde the well of Parad / so that the holte of the Madianites were in a baleye on & northsyde of & hell Hamozeh. And & Lozde sayde vnto Gedeon: the people that are with the are to many for me to geue the Madianites into their handes / lest Israel make their bawnte to my dishonoure & saye: our alyne hande hath saued vs. Now therfore make a pzoclamacion in the eares of the people and saye: yf any mād drede or be aferde / let hym retorne and get hym some from mounte Basland. And there departed and returned of the people .xxij. thousande / and there abode ten thousande.

¶ And & Lozde sayde vnto Gedeon: the people are yet to many / byng them doune vnto the water / and I wyll tpe them bnto the there. And of whom I laye vnto the / they shall go to the / the same shall go with the. And whosoeuer I laye vnto the / this shall not go with the / the same shall not go. And when he had brought doune & people vnto & water. The Lozde sayd vnto Gedeon: as many as lapped the water with their tonges / as dogges do / them put by them selues / and to do the that knelt doune vpon their knees to dryncke. And the nombe of the that put there handes to their mouthes and lapped / were .xij. hundred men. And all the remnant of the people knelt doune vpon their knees to dryncke water. And the Lozde sayde vnto Gedeon: wyth the thye hundred men that lapped wyll I saue & pou / and deliuer the Madianites into thyne hande. And all & other people shall go euery man vnto his alyne whome.

And they toke bytalles with them for the folke / & their trompettes. And he sent all the rest of Israel / euery man vnto his tente / and kepte the thye hundred with him. And & host of Madia was benethe him in a baleye. And the same nyght the Lozde sayde vnto him / by & go doune vnto the holte / for I haue deliuered it into thyne hande. But & yf thou feare to go doune / then go thou doune vnto & host / & Pharah thy ladde / & herke what they saye / and so shall thyne handes be strong / and then thou shalt go doune vnto the holte.

Then he went doune to Pharah his ladde / euen harde vnto the men of armes that were in the holte. And the Madianites / the Amalekites / and all they of the East / laye a longe in the baleye / lyke vnto grethopers in multitude / and their camelles were without nombe / euen as the sande by the see syde in multitude. And whē Gedeon was come: Beholde / there was a mād that tolde a dreame vnto his felowe & sayd: Behold I dreamede a dreame and me thought & a byoplede loofe of barley bzead tumbled in to the holte of Madian / & came vnto a tente & smote it that it felle / & ouerturned it / & the tente laye a longe. And his felowe answered & sayde: this is nothing elles saue the swerde of Gedeon the sonne of Joas a man of Israel / into whose hande the Lozde hath deliuered Madian & all & holte.

When Gedeon hearde the tellynge of the dreame & the interpretation of the same / he bowed hym selfe to the erthe & returned vnto the holte of Israel / and sayde: by for & Lozde hath deliuered into poure handes the holte of the Madianites. And he deuyned the thye hundred men into thye companies / and gaue euery mād a trobet in his hand / & an emptye pitcher & lampes therein / and sayde vnto the lode on me & do lyke wyse: and beholde / whē I come to the syde of the holte / eue as I do / so do so do you. And when I blowe with a trompet and all that are with me / blowe ye vnto trompettes also on euery syde the holte and saye: here be the Lozde and Gedeon.

And so Gedeon & the thye hundred men & were to him / came vnto the syde of & host in the begynnyng of the myddell watche / and repyd by & watche men. And they blew in their trobettes & bzahe the pychers & were in their handes. And all thye companyes blew in their left handes / & the trobettes in their right / to blowe wyth all. And they cryed the swerde of & Lozde & of Gedeon. And they stode stille / euery mād in his place rounde about & host. And all & host ranne & cryed & fled. And as the thye hundred blew with trompettes / & Lozde sett euery mādnes swerde vpon his neyghboure / thozow out all & host. And & host fled vnto the syde of Bethsitah / to Zerrath / & to & edge of Abelmeholah beynde Cabath. And & men of Israel gathered together of & tribe of Nephtholim / of Isser / & of all Manasses / & folowed after & Madian. For Gedeon had sent messengers thozou out all moost Ephzaim saying: come doune agaynst & Madianites & take fro the & waters bothe of Bethbarath & also of Jordan. Then all & men of Ephzaim gathered to geather & came doune & toke & waters bothe of Bethbarath & also of Jordan. And they toke two captaynes of the Madianites / Dzeb & Zeb / & slew Dzeb vpon the rocke Dzeb / and Zeb at the pynde Zeb and folowed after Madian. And brought the heades of Dzeb & Zeb to Gedeon on the other syde Jordan.

¶ Ephzaim maketh insurreccion agaynst Gedeon / but as sone as they sawe the inhabitants of Socoth refuse to geue Gedeon & his armye bzeed. The towne Phaniel is destroyed. Gedeon is constituted ruler ouer the Israelites. He hath .lxx. sonnes. He dyeth.

¶ And the men of Ephzaim sayde vnto hym. Why hast thou serued vs thus / & thou calledst vs not / when thou wēst to fyghe with & Madianites. And they chode with him a good. And he sayd vnto the: what deade haue I done lyke vnto poures: are not & clusters of Ephzaim better then & wyne heruest of Abrezer? God hath deliuered into poure handes & Lozdes of Madian / Dzeb & Zeb. And what was I able to do lyke as you haue done. And then their spirytes abated fro of him / whē he had sayde that. And then Gedeon came to Jordan & passed ouer / bothe he and the thye hundred men that were with hym beynde sayntie & yet folowed the chace. And he sayd vnto the men of Socoth: geue I praye you hark of bzeed vnto the people that folowe me: for they be sayntie / that I maye folowe after Zebah &

Salmona knynges of Madian. And & Lozde forsoke of socoth saye: are the handes of Zebah & Salmona now in thyne handes that we shulde geue bzeed vnto thy companye. And Gedeon sayde: therfore when the Lozde hath deliuered Zebah and Salmona in to myne hande / I wyll teare the fleshe of you with the thornes of the wilderness & with bzeers. And he went thence to Phaniel / and spake vnto the lyke wyse. And the men of Phaniel answered him / as vnto the men of Socoth. And he sayd also vnto the men of Phaniel: whē I come agayne in peace / I wyll bzeake doune this towne. Zebah & Salmona were in Arhar & their hostes with them / vpon a .x. thousand / which were all that were left of all & hostes of them of the East. And they & here slayne were a hundred & twenty thousande men that dreyne swertes.

And Gedeon went thozowe the & dwelle in tabernacles on the east syde of Jorabab & Zebah / & smote the holte: for the holte byd cast no perrelles. Zebah and Salmona fledde. But he folowed after them / and toke & two knynges of the Madianites / Zebah and Salmona and discomforted all the holte.

And Gedeon the sonne of Joas returned fro battell / & sone byng yet by / & caught a ladde of the men of Socoth / & enquired of him. And he toke him of the Lozdes & elders of Socoth. lxx. men. Then he came vnto the men of Socoth and sayde: Beholde Zebah & Salmona wyth which ye cast me in & teche sayntie: are & handes of Zebah & Salmona all redye in thyne hande / that we wuld geue bzeed vnto thy sayntie men. And he toke the elders of the cytie / and thornes of the wilderness and bzeers / & all to fare the therwith. And he bzahe doune the towne of Phaniel and slew the men of the cytie.

And then sayde vnto Zebah and Salmona / what maner men were they which ye slew at Cabath: and they answered / & lyke: nelle of the & the is all one / euen after the sayntie of the chyldren of a knyng. And he sayde: they were my bzeeth / eue my mothers chyldren / & as trulye as the Lozde lyueth / yf ye had saued their lyues / I wolde not sleue you. And he sayd vnto Zebah his eldest sonne / by & fle the: But the ladde dzeue not his swerde / for he feared because he was yet yong. Then Zebah & Salmona sayde: wyle thou & falle vpon vs / for as & mād is to is his strength. And Gedeon arose & slew the: & he toke awaye & chaynes & were on their camels neckes.

Then & men of Israel sayde vnto Gedeon: Raygne ouer vs / bothe thou thy sonne & thy sonnes sonne / for thou hast deliuered vs out of & handes of & Madianites. And Gedeon sayd vnto the: I wyll not raygne ouer you / neither forsoke of socoth saye: are the handes of Zebah & Salmona now in thyne handes that we shulde geue bzeed vnto thy companye. And Gedeon sayde: therfore when the Lozde hath deliuered Zebah and Salmona in to myne hande / I wyll teare the fleshe of you with the thornes of the wilderness & with bzeers. And he went thence to Phaniel / and spake vnto the lyke wyse. And the men of Phaniel answered him / as vnto the men of Socoth. And he sayd also vnto the men of Phaniel: whē I come agayne in peace / I wyll bzeake doune this towne. Zebah & Salmona were in Arhar & their hostes with them / vpon a .x. thousand / which were all that were left of all & hostes of them of the East. And they & here slayne were a hundred & twenty thousande men that dreyne swertes.

shall my chyldren raygne ouer you / but the Lorde shall raigne ouer you.

¶ Neuerthelater Gedeon sayde vnto them: I wolde desyre a certayne request of you / eue that you wolde geue me euerpe man the earnynges of his pryge. for they had goulden earnynges / because they were Ismaelites.
And they sayd we wyll do it. And they spred a mantell and dyd cast there into euerpe man the earnynges of his pryge. And the weyght of the goulden earnynges was a thousand & seue hundred spels of goulde / besydes brouches / ouches & garmentes of charlet that were of the kynges of Madian / & besyde the chaynes / that were about theire camels neckes. And Gedeon made an Ephod therof / & put it in his citty Ephrah. And all Israel wet a whoyrng after him there / which thyng was the ruine of Gedeons house. Thus were the Madia-nites brought lowe before the chyldre of Israel / so that they lyfte vp their headd / no moare And the contreye was in quyetnesse fourtye yeres in the dayes of Gedeon.

¶ And Jerobaal the sonne of Joas wet and dwelte in his awne house. And Gedeon had
ix. sonnes of hys bodye begotten / for he had many wyues. And his concubyne & dwelt in Sichem bare him a sonne also / whose name he called Abimelech. And Gedeon the sonne of Joas dyed / when he was of a good age / & was buryed in the buriall of Joas his father / euen in Ephrah that pertayned vnto the father of the Cytyes.

But as sone as Gedeon was deed / the chyldren of Israel turned away & went a whoyrng after Baal / & made Baal herpyth their God / & thought not on the Lorde their God which had deliuered them out of the handes of all their enemyes on euerpe syde. Nether shewed they mercy on the house of Jerobaal / otherwyle called Gedeon / accordyng to all the goodnesse which he shewed them.

¶ Abimelech is ordeyned a kyng after he had kylled his brethren. He him selfe was after kylled of a woman when he beleged Sheber. The parables of Joatham concerning his brother Abimelech.

¶ The ix. Chapter.

¶ Abimelech the sonne of Jerobaal went to Sichem / vnto hys mothers brethren / & comuned with the & with all hys mothers fathers kyndred sayng: saye I praye you / in the eares of all the inhabytours of Sichem: whether is better for you that all the sonnes of Jerobaal which are ix. personnes raygne ouer you / ether that one raigne ouer you. And remember thereto / that I am youre bones and your flesh. And his mothers brethren reher-sed of him in the audyence of all the Cytyens of Sichem / all these wordes / & moued there hartes to folowe Abimelech / in that they sayde how he was their brother. And they gaue him ix. peces of syluer out of the house of Baal Berith / with which Abimelech had Jehel and iygth personnes which went with him. And they wet vnto hys fathers house at Ephrah / & slew all his brethren / the sonnes of Jerobaal / euen ix. personnes * with one stone. Notwithstandyng per Joatham the youngest sonne of Jerobaal escaped / for he had hym selfe. And all the cytyens of Sichem geathered to geather with all the house of Mello / & went and made Abimelech kyng

* at a certen ocke that was by Sichem.

¶ And when it was tolde Joatham / he wet a stode in the toppe of mount Garzim / and lyfte vp his voyce & called / & sayde vnto the:
Hearke vnto me you cytyens of Sichem / & God maye herken vnto you. The trees went to anoynt a kyng ouer them / & sayde vnto the olyue tree / raygne ouer vs. But the olyue tree sayde vnto the: woulde I leaue my fatte-nesse which both God & man prayseth in me / and go to be promoted ouer the trees. Then sayde the trees to the fygge tree / come thou & be kyng ouer vs. And the fygge tree answered the: woulde I forsake my sweetnesse & my good frute / and woulde go to be promoted ouer the trees. Then sayde the trees vnto the vyne / come thou and be kyng ouer vs. And the vyne answered / woulde I leaue my wyne that cheareth bothe God & man / & go to be promoted ouer the trees. Then sayde all the trees vnto the: fyre bushe come thou and raygne ouer vs. And the fyre bushe sayde vnto the trees: if it be true that ye wyll anoynt me kyng ouer you / then come and rest vnder my shadowe / & ye shall see that a fyre shall come out of the fyre bushe and waste the cyper trees of Libanon.

¶ And eue so now / ye haue done trulye & vnto corruptye to make Abimelech kyng. And ye haue dealte well with Jerobaal & hys house / & haue done vnto him accordyng to the deseruyng of his hedes / for as moche as my father fought for you / & aduertured hys lyfe / And rydde you out of the handes of the Ma-dianites. And ye are rylen vp agaynst my fathers house this daye. And haue slayne hys chyldre / euen ix. personnes * with one stone and haue made Abimelech the sonne of hys mayde seruauit kyng ouer the cytyens of Sichem / because he is youre brother / ye then ye haue dealte purtlye and trulye with Jerobaal & in his house this daye: then reioyse ye in Abimelech / and let hym also reioyse in you. But ye haue not dealt trulye / then I praye God a fyre maye come oute of Abimelech & consume the cytyens of Sichem & the house of Mello. And there come a fire out

out of the cytyens of Sichem / & out of the house of Mello & consume Abimelech. And Joatham ranne awaye and fledde & went to Beer & dwelt there / for feare of Abimelech his brother. ¶ When Abimelech had raygned thre yere God sent an hate betwene Abime-lech & the cytyens of Sichem. And the cytezens of Sichem rayled vpon Abimelech / & wished that the wyckednes done to the ix. sonnes of Jerobaal myght come on hym / & sayde the bloude of the vnto Abimelech their brother which slewe the / & vnto the other cytezens of Sichem which ayded him in the kyllyng of his brethren. And the cytyens of Sichem set men to laye a wayte for hym in the toppe of the mountaynes / whych men robbed all that came a longe the waye by them. And it was tolde Abimelech.

¶ And Gaal the sonne of Abed & his brethren went & gat them to Sichem. And the men of Sichem put their confidence in hym. And they wet out into the felde & geathered in their grapes & troade the / & made mery. and wet in to the house of their God / & dyd eate & drynke & curted Abimelech. And Gaal the sonne of Abed sayde: what is Abimelech? and what is Sichem? & we woulde serue hym / is he not the sonne of Jerobaal? and Zebul is his officer? serue soche as come of Demoz the father of Sichem / for what reason is it that we shoulde serue him? wold God this people were vnder my hande / then I wolde take Abimelech out of the waye. And one sayde vnto Abimelech / make thyne hoste greater & go out. And whē Zebul the ruler of the cytie harde the wordes of Gaal the sonne of Abed / he was wroth & sent messengers vnto Abimelech pryncely sayng: Beholde Gaal the sonne of Abed & his brethren be come to Sichem: & beholde they sett the cite agaynst the. Now therfore vp by nyght / bothe thou & all the people that is in the waye in the felde. And ryse eue in the mornynge as sone as the sonne is vp & come vnto the cytie.
And whē he & the people that is in him come out agaynst the / do to him what thyne hand shalbe able. And Abimelech rose vp / & all the people that were with hym / by nyght. And they layde a wayte to the cytie in four companies. And Gaal the sonne of Abed wet out & stode in the entryng of the gate of the cytie. And Abimelech rose vp & the folke that were with hym / from layinge a wayte. And when Gaal sawe the people he sayd to Zebul: Beholde there come people doونه fro the toppe of the mountaynes.
And Zebul sayde vnto him: the shadowe of the hylles seme men vnto the. And Gaal answered agayne & sayde: se there come folke doونه by the myde of the lande & another companye come a lōge by the charmays Ocke. Then sayd Zebul vnto hym: where is now thy mouth that sayde / what felowe is Abimelech / that we shoulde serue him. These are the people that thou so despysedest. So out now a felowshipe & fygth with the. And Gaal went out before the cytyens of Sichem / & fought w Abime-lech. And Abimelech chased him that he fledde before him & many were ouer thyrown and slayne / euen vntill they came vnto the ente-ryng of the gate. And then Abimelech wet & dwelt at Arumah. And then Zebul thrust out Gaal & his brethren / & wolde not suffer them to dwelle in Sichem. And on the morowe the people wet out into the felde. And it was tolde Abimelech. And he toke his people & deuided the into thre companyes / & laye a wayte in the felde. And whē he sawe the people were come out of the cite he rāne vnto the & layde vnto the

¶ And Abimelech & the companyes that were with him / ranne & stode in the entryng of the gate of the cytie. And the two other companyes rāne vnto all the people that were in the felde & slue the. And then Abimelech fought agaynst the citty all the daye / & toke it / & slew the people that was therein / & destroyed the cytie and schew falt in the place. And when all the men of the towre of Sichem harde that they entered in to a stronge holde of the house of their God Baal Berith. And whē it was tolde Abime-lech / & all the men of the towre of Sichem were geathered to gether / he gat him to mount Zelmon / bothe he & all the men that were with him / & toke axes with hym & cut doune an arme of a tree & toke it vp / & put it on his shoulde / & sayde vnto the folke that were with him / what soeuer ye seme do: speede youre selues & do lykewyse. And all the people cut doune also euerpe man a bowgh / & folowed Abimelech / and put them into the holde / and sett the holde a fyre vnto the: so that all the men of the towre of Sichem were slayne / vpon a thousande personnes what of men & women to gether.

¶ Then went Abimelech to Sheber & beleged it / & toke it. But there was a strong towre in the mydes of the cite / & thither ranne all the men & women / & all the cytyens of the cytie & shut it to them / and got them vpon the toppe of the towre. Then came Abimelech vnto the towre & fought agaynst it / & wet harde vnto the entryng of the gate / to set it on fyr.
But a woman cast a pce of a mylstone vnto hys hedde & all to brake hys brayne panne.

¶ Then Abimelech called hastilye vnto the younge man that bare his harness / and sayde vnto him: dyawe thy swerde and slee me / that men saye not of me / a woman slewe hym. And his ladde thrust him thowowe & he dyed.

¶ And when the men of Israel sawe that Abimelech was deed / they departed / euerpe man vnto his awne house. And thus all the wyckednesse of Abimelech which he dyd vnto his father /

 & serued Baalim & Ashtaroth / & the Goddess of Sins / & the Goddess of Sidon / & Goddess of Moab / the Goddess of the chyldren of Ammon / & the Goddess of the Philistines / & forsoke the Lord & serued him not. And the Lord was wroth with Israel / & solde the into the hand of the Philistines / & into the hand of the chyldre of Ammon: which yeld & oppressed the chyldren of Israel in those dayes. xxiij. yere / all that were on the other syde Jordan in the lande of the Amozites in Galaad. Mo-reouer the chyldre of Ammon wēt ouer Jordan to fight agaynst Juda / Benjamin / & the house of Ephraim: so the Israel was sore combyed. Then the chyldren of Israel cryed vnto the Lord sayinge: we haue synned agaynst the: for we haue forsaken oware sware God / & haue serued Baalim. And the Lord sayde vnto the chyldre of Israel: dyd not the Egypciā / & Amozites / the chyldre of Ammon / the Philistines / the Sidonites / the Amalechites / & the Moabites / oppresse you? And ye cryed to me / and I deliuered you out of their hādes. And for all that ye haue forsaken me / and serue strange Goddesses / wherfore I will helpe you no more. But go and crye vnto the Goddess which ye haue cholen / and lett the saue you in the tyme of youre tribulacyon.

But the chyldren of Israel sayde vnto the Lord we haue synned: do thou vnto vs whatsoeuer please the / & deliuer vs onely at this tyme. And they put awaye the strange Goddess from the / and serued the Lord. And the myserie of Israel greued his soule.

¶ Then the chyldre of Ammon gathered together & pitched in Galaad. And the chyldre of Israel gathered the to gether & pitched in Maphah. And the company of the Lordes of Galaad sayde eche to other / whosoever will beginne & battell agaynst the chyldre of Ammon / the same shalbe heard ouer all the inhabiters of Galaad.

¶ Jephthah the sonne of a Harlot deliuereth Israel fro the Ammonites after they asked for iudges.

The xi. Chapter.

¶ And there was one Jephthah a Galaadite / a stronge man / which was the sonne of an harlott: Now be it Galaad begat Jephthah. But Ga-laades wyfe bare hym sonnes / which when they were come to age / thrust out of Jephthah / & sayde vnto him: thou shalt not enheret in oure fathers house / for thou art the sonne of a strange womā. Then Jephthah hedde fro hym byeth & dwelt in the lande of Tob. And there gathered Idole people to Jephthah / & went out to him. But it chaun-ced in processe of tyme / the chyldre of Ammon made warre agaynst Israel / then the elders of Galaad wēt & sett Jephthah out of the lande of Tob / & sayd vnto him: come & be oure captayne / & let vs fight wth the chyldre of Ammon. And Jephthah sayde vnto the elders of Galaad: dyd not ye hate me & expelle me out of my fathers house: how happeneth it then if you come vnto me now in tyme of youre tribulacyon? And the elders of Galaad answered Jephthah. Therefore we turne agayne to the now / that thou go wth vs / & fight agaynst the chyldre of Ammon / & be oware heed ouer all the inhabitants of Galaad. And Jephthah sayd vnto the elders of Galaad: If ye bynge me home agayn / to fight wth the chyldre of Ammon / then yf the Lord deliuer the before me / I shal-be youre heed. And the elders of Galaad sayde to Jephthah / the Lord be witness betwene vs yf we do not accordyng to thy wordes. Then Jephthah wēt wth the elders of Galaad. And the people made him heed & ruler ouer the. And Jephthah rebeked all his wordes in Maphah.

¶ Then Jephthah sent messengers vnto the kyng of the chyldre of Ammon / saying: what ayleth the to me & thou comest vnto me to fight agaynst my lāde? And the kyng of the chyldre of Ammon answered vnto the messengers of Jephthah / because Israel toke a wape my lāde / whē they came out of Egypt: euē fro Ammon vnto Jabbok / & fro thence vnto Jordan. Now therefore restore those lādes agayne to saye mean. And Jephthah sent messengers agayne vnto the chil-dre of Ammon / & sayde vnto hym: thus sayth Jephthah. Israel toke not a wape the lande of Moab / nor the lāde of the chyldre of Ammon. But whē Israel came out of Egypt / they walked thowowe the wyldernes / euē vnto the redd see / & came to Cad / & sent messengers vnto the kyng of Edom saying: let vs we praye the go thowou thy lande. But the kyng of Edom wolde not agre thereto. And in lyke maner they sent vnto the kyng of Moab / but he wolde not consent. And so Israel

so Israel abode still in Cad. And then they went a long thowou the wyldernes / & compased the lāde of Edom / & the lande of Moab / and came a long by the east syde of the lande of Moab / & pitched on the other syde the ruer of Arnon / & came not within the coostes of the Moabites: for Arnon was their bmost bozder. And then Israel sent messengers vnto Schon / kyng of the Amozites / & kyng of Heshon / & sayde vnto hym: Let vs passe thowou thy lande vnto oware atone contreye.
 But Schon trusted not Israel / to go thowou his coostes: but gathered all his people to gether & pitched in Jazah / & fought wth Israel. But the Lord God of Israel deliue-red Schon & all his folke into the hādes of Israel. And so Israel smote them & conquered all the lande of the Amozites / the enhabiters of the sayde cōtreye. And they cōquered all the coostes of the Amozites / from Ar-non vnto Jabbok / & from the wyldernes vnto Jordan. So now seing the Lord God of Israel hath cast out the Amozites before his people shuldest thou possesse the lāde: Naye / but what people Camos thy God bygueth out / the lande possesse thou. But whatsoeuer nacyns the Lord oure God expelleth / that lande ought we to enioye. And thereto art thou better then Balack the sonne of Zepho / kyng of Moab: dyd he stryue wth Israel to fight agaynst the: all the while Israel dwelt in Heshon & her townes / & in Aroer & her townes / & in all the cyties the be a longe by the coostes of Arnon. iij. hundred yeres: whypdest thou not recouer the in all that space / wherfore I haue not synned agaynst
 the. But thou dost me wronge / to warre agaynst me. The Lord therefore be iudge this daye / betwene the chyldre of Israel / and the chyldre of Ammon. Now be it the kyng of the chyldre of Ammon hath red not vnto the wordes of Jephthah which he sent him.

¶ Then the spyte of the Lord came vpon Jephthah. And he passed ouer Galaad & Ma-nasses / & came to Maphah the lye in Galaad / & fro thence vnto the chyldre of Ammon.
 And Jephthah bowed a bowe vnto the Lord & sayde: If thou shalt deliuer the chyldren of Ammon into my handes / then that thyng the cometh out of the doores of my house agaynst me / whē I come home in peace / fro the chy-dren of Ammon / shalbe the Lordes / & I will offer it by a burnt offering. And so Jephthah wēt vnto the chyldren of Ammon to fight wth
 the. And the Lord deliuered the into his handes And he smote the from Aroer vnto Menith / xx. cyties. And so forth to the playne of the byneyades / & made an exceeding great slaughter. And thus the chyldren of Ammon were brought vnder / before the chyldre of Israel.

¶ Then Jephthah came to Maphah vnto his house. And se his daughter came out agaynst hym / & tymberelles & daunces / which was his onely childe: so the deliuered her. he had nether sonne nor daughter. And when he sawe her / he rent his clothes & sayde: Alas my daughter / thou hast made me troupe & art one of the that trouble me. For I haue opened my mouth vnto the Lord / & cannot go backe. ¶ And she sayde vnto hym: my father / yf thou haue opened thy mouth vnto the Lord / then do with me accordyng to that proceeded out of thy mouth / for as moche as the Lord hath aduenged the of thyne enemyes & chif-dzen of Ammon. And she sayde vnto her father / do this moche for me: lett me alone two monethes & I maye go downe to the moun-taines & bewaile my virginite with my felowes. And he sayde: go / and so he sent her awaye two monethes. And she wēt with her cōpanions & lamed her maydenhead vnto the moūtaynes. And after the two monethes / she turned agayne vnto her father which dyd wth her accordyng to his bove which he had bowed / and so she knewe no man. And it became an ordynance in Israel yere by yere / that the daughters of Israel shulde go & lamente the daughter of Jephthah the Galaadite / foure dayes in a yere.

The xii. Chapter.

¶ And the men of Ephraim gathered the selues to gether / & went north-warde / and sayde vnto Jephthah:
 wherfore wentest thou to fight wth the chyldre of Ammon / & dydest not call vs to go wth the: we will therefore burne thine house vnto the / wth fyre. And Jephthah sayde vnto the: I & my people were at great stryfe wth the chyldre of Ammon. And I called you. But ye deliuered me not out of their hādes. And whē I sawe that ye deliuered me not / I put my lyfe in my handes & went vpon the chyldren of Ammon. And the Lord deliuered the into my handes. wherfore then are ye come vpon me to fight with me.

¶ And Jephthah gathered to gether all the men of Galaad / & fought wth the Ephraim. And the men of Galaad smote the Ephraim / because they sayde: Ye Galaadites are but rā-neagates of Ephraim amonge the Ephraim & the Manassites. Moareouer the men of Galaad toke the passag of Jordan fro the Ephraites. And when those Ephraim the were elcaped / sayde lett vs go ouer. ¶ Then the men of Galaad sayde vnto the: Ye are Ephraim / & they sayde naye. ¶ Then the other answered: then saye: Siboleth. And they sayde Siboleth.

Of the xlii. Chapter.

And the chyliden of Israel begonne agayne to comytte wyckednesse in the sight of the Lord. And the Lord belyucreted the into the hande of the Philistines fourtye yere. And there was a man of Ramathaim Zorah of the kynred of the Danites / named Samson / whose wife was borne to him And the Angell of the Lord appeared vnto his wyfe & sayd vnto her: Behold / thou art barren & bearest not: But thou shalt conceiue & beare a sonne. And now beware / and be not waghe / ner strong dryncke / ne that eate any uncleane thyng: for se / thou shalt encrease & beare a sonne. And there maye come on his heed: for the Lord shall be an stayner vnto God / euen till the daye of his birth. And he shall begynne to set the Philistines out of the handes of the Israelites.

Then I wote we at a tolde he thus was saying: a man of God came into it / an / the face of him was like the face of an Angell of God exceedinge fearful. But I asked him not whence he was / neither roide he me his name. And he sayd unto me: *b holde thou nowe brynche no wyne noz stronge brynche / neither eate any becrease thyng: for the ladd shalbe an abstinence to Goddren from hys

Then Manoah made intercession to the Lord/and sayde: I praye the my Lord lett þ voyce of Manoah/ & þ anuell of God came agayne vnto the wyfe as she satt in the feld:

But Hanosh her husbande was not w her.
Then þe wyfe made haste & rane & shewed her husbā & sayde to him: Beholde þe mā ap-eared vnto me þe came þe other daye vnto me.

And Shanoah arose & wet after hys wyfe and came to the mō and sayde vnto hym: art thou the man þe spakkest vnto my wyfe? And he sayde yee. Then Shanoah sayde / nowt whē thy saying is come to passe: what shalbe the maner of the chyldre / & what shall he do? And the Angell of the Lord sayde vnto Shanoah: thy wyfe must abstayne fro all that I sayde vnto her: she maye eate of nothyng þe cometh of the vyne tree / net dryncke wyne oꝝ strong dryncke / noꝝ eate any bunleane thyng: But must obserue all that I bad her. Then sayde Shanoah vnto the Angell of þe Lord / graunte vs to tarye vntill we haue made redge a kydd & haue set it befoꝛe þe. And þe angell of þe Lord sayde vnto Shanoah: though thou make me abide / I wyll not eate of thy meate. And mo-reouer yf thou wilt prepare a burnt offeryng / þe thou must offer vnto þe Lord. For Shanoah wist not þe it was an angell of þe Lord. And Shanoah sayd vnto þe angell of þe Lord: what is thy name? whē thy sayig is come to passe / we maye do þe some worshyppe? And the angell of þe Lord sayde vnto hym: why askest thou after my name? when it is maruelouse.

wyfe lohyng bpō. for whē ꝑ flame came vp out of ꝑ aultare/ ꝑ angell of ꝑ Lord ascended vp in ꝑ flame of ꝑ aultare. And Manoah & hys wyfe lohed bpō & fell flat on their faces vnto the grounde. But ꝑ angell of ꝑ Lord dyd nomore appeare vnto Manoah & hys wyfe.
And then Manoah knew ꝑ it was an angell of the Lorde: & sayde vnto his wyfe: we shall surely dye/ because we haue sene God. But his wyfe sayde vnto hym: If ꝑ Lorde wolde kill vs/ he wolde not haue receaued a burntoffring & a meateoffring of our hand/ ne ther wolde he haue shewed vs all these thyngs/ nor wolde haue tolde vs as he hath of thynges to come. And the wyfe bare a sonne/ and called his name Samson. And the ladd grew/ and the Lorde blessed him. And the sperte of the Lorde begonne to be with the house of Dan/ betwene Zarah and Esthaol.

¶ The marryage of Samson. He kylleth a Lyon. He propoundeth a riddle. He kylleth xxx. men. His wyfe forsaiketh him & taketh another.

Of the xiii. Chapter.

Sanson wēt doune to Chamnath/ & sawe a womā in Chamnath of the the daughters of the Philistines/ & came by and tolde hys father & hys mother/ and sayde: I haue sene a woman in Chamnath

¶ Hammath of 8 daughters of 8 Philistines.
And now geue her me to wyfe. Then his father and mother sayde vnto him / is there neuer a womā of the daughters of thy brether / amonge all my people: but that thou must go & sette a wyfe of the incircumcised Philistines: And Samson sayd vnto his father / geue me this womā for she pleasech me well But his father and mother wist not that it was the Lordes doing / and that he sought an occasion of the Philistines / which at that tyme raygned ouer Israel.

Then went Samson and hys father and his mother downe to Chamnath. And when they came to the bynepardes of Chamnath: beholde a young Lyon rozed vpon hym. And the sperte of the Lorde came vpon hym. And he tare him / as a man wolde rent a Bydde / and yet had nothing in his hande. Deuerthelater he tolde not his father & mother what he had done. And he went downe and talked with the woman / which semed well sauored in the syght of Samson.

And within a short space after/as he w^olde thither agayne to take her to wyfe / he turned out of þ^e wyge / to se þ^e carhulle of þ^e l^ord.
And beholde there was a swarme of bees in the carhulle of the l^ord and honye. And he toke of the honye in hys handes and went caryng / and came to hys father and mother and gaue them also. And they dyd eate. But he tolde not them / that he had takē the honye out of the carhulle of the l^ord.

And when is father was come vnto the woman. Samson made there a feast / for to blyd the younge men to do. And when her frendes sawe him / they brought xxx. companions to beare felowshippe. And Samson sayde vnto them: I wyll put forth a ryddle vnto you. And yf you can declare it within viij. dayes of the feast and fynde it out / I wyll geue you thyrtye shertes and thyrtye chaunge of garmentes: But if yf you cannot declare it me / then shall ye geue me thyrtye shertes & thyrtye chaunge of garmentes. And they answered him / put forth thy ryddle and lett vs heare it. And he sayde vnto them. Out of eater came meate: and out of the strong came swetnesse. And they coulde not in thyr dayes expounde the ryddle. And whē the seuēth daye was come / they sayde vnto Samsons wyfe. flatter with thyne husbande / that he maye declare vs thy ryddle / or elles we wyll burne the and thy fathers house with fyre / haue ye called vs to make vs beggers of? Then Samsons wyfe wepte vnto him and sayde / it cannot be but that thou hatest me & lovest me not: for thou hast put forth a ryddle vnto the children of my folke and wylt not tell me what it meaneth. And he sayde: Beholde / I haue not tolde it my father nor my mother/and shulde I tell it thee?

And he wepte vnto him. viij. dayes / while the faste laſted. And the ſeuēth daye he tolde her / becauſe ſhe laye ſo loze vpo him. And he tolde it the chyldren of her folke. And ſome of the cytie ſayte vnto him the ſeuēth daye before the ſonne wēt downe. What is ſweeter then honye / and what is ſtrōger then a Lyon ¶ Then ſayde he vnto thē : If ye had not * plowed with my cauſe / ye had not founde out my rydle. ¶ Then the ſpyte of the Lorde came vpo hym. And he went downe to Aſhalon / a ſeuēthpytie men of them / and ſpoyled thē / and gaue theiſe garmentes vnto them which expounded the rydle. And he was wroth and wēt vpo to his fathers houſe. But Samſons wyfe was geuen to one of his companyons that bare him companye.

¶ Samson tyeth hys chades to For taylor: & letteth them runne in to the coyrne and burne it / to be augeſt of them that toke his wyfe from him. With the Jawe bone of an Aſſe he kyllith a thouſand men. Oute of a great toche in the Jawe God geueth him water / to ſatiffye hys thyrſt.

Other, to Chapter:

But it chanced within a while after/euen in the tyme of where heruest/ þ Samson visited hys wyfe with a kydde. And when he supposed to haue gone in vnto hys wyfe into the chamber/her father wolde not suffer hym to go in: But sayde: I thought that thou haddest hated her/ ætherfoze gaue I her vnto one of thy companions. How be it/her younge sister is fayer then she. Take her in steade of the other. Then sayde Samson vnto them: Now I am blamelesse cōcernyng the Philistines/though I do them euill.

And Samson went out and caught thye hundred foxes/ and toke fyze bandes/ & fastened taye to taye/ and put a fyze bnde in þ myt des/ betwene two tayles. And he sett þ fyze bandes on fyze/ and put them into the come of the Philistines/ and burnt bp bothe the reped cozne and also the standynge/ with bynes & olyues. When the Philistines asked/who had done that? And it was tolde the that Samson þ sonne in lawe of the Ammitite/because he had taken his wyfe and geue her to one of his chpanyons. And þ Philistines came & burnt her and her father with fyze.

And Samson sayde vnto them: shulde ye do so: I will suretye be aduenged of you / & then I will cease. And he smote them* legge & thyrge with a myghtye plage. And then he wēt & dwelt in the caue of the roche etani.
¶ Then the Philistines came by & pyched agaynst Tuda and leye in Lehi. And the men of Tuda sayde, why are ye come agaynst vs?

And they answered to hynde Samson are we come/euen to do him as he hath done to vs. Then thre thousand men of Iuda went downe to the caue of the rocke Etam/a sayde to Samson:wottest thou not that the Philistines are rulers ouer vs? Wherfore then hast thou serued vs thus? And he answered the/as they serued me/to haue I serued the.

And they sayde vnto him/we are come to hynde the & to deliuer the into the handes of the Philistines. And Samson sayde vnto them: I were vnto me/the ye shall not hurte me your selues. And they sayde we will not hurte the/ save onely hynde the and deliuer the vnto their handes: But we will not kille the. And so they bounde him with two newe cordes and brought him by from the rocke. And when he come to Lehi/the Philistines shotted agaynst him. And the spyete of the Lord came vpon hym/and the cordes that were vpon his armes became as flaxe that was burnt with fire/and the bandes louted fro of his handes. And he founde a Jaw bone of a ratten Ale/and put forth his hande and caught it/a lue a thousande men therewith.

And Samson sayde: wylth the Jawe of an alle/haue I made heapes:wylth the Jawe of an alle haue I slayne a thousande men. And whē he had left speakeyng/he cast awaye the Jawe out of his hande & called the place Ramath Lehi. And he was toze a thyrst/a called on the Lord and sayde. Thou Lord hast geuen this great victorie/tho:ome the hande of thy seruauit. And now I must dye for thyrst and faile into the handes of the vncircumcysed. But God brake a great cothe that was in the Jawe/and there came water therout. And when he had dronke his spyete came agayne/a he was refreshed/wherfore the name therof was called/the welle of the caller on/whych is in Lehi vnto this daye. And he iudged Israel in the dayes of the Philistines twentye yeres.

Samson lyeth by the Gates of Gaza and carryeth the by in to the mountayne. He was deceaued by Dalilah & made blynde. He pullich downe the house vpon the Philistines and dyeth with them.

The xlii. Chapter.

Then went Samson to Gaza/and saw there an whoze/a went in vnto her. And it was tolde the Gazites/that Samson was come thither. And they met aboute and layde awaite for him all nyght in the gate of the cite/but were styll all the nyght sayyng: Carrye tyll the morning the it be daye/a then lett vs kyll him. And Samson toke his rest tyll midnyght/and arose at midnyght and toke the dozes of the gate of the cite/a the two lye postes/a rent them of/barrres and all/a put them vpon his shoulders/and carryed the by to the toppē of an hyl that lyeth before Hebron.

And after that he loued a woman/vpon the rquier of Sozek/called Dalilah vnto whom came the Lordes of the Philistines/a sayde vnto her: Flatter with hym & se wherin his great strenght lyeth/and by what meane we maye haue power ouer hym/that we maye hynde him/to bryng him vnder/and we will geue euerye mā a leue hūdyed syluerlynges.

And Dalilah sayde to Samson. Oh/tell me where thy great strenght lyeth/a yf thou were bounde wherwith men might cōstrayne the. And Samson sayde vnto her. If men bounde me with by. grene withthes the neuer dyed/I shulde be weakē & as another man. And then the Lordes of the Philistines brought her. by. withthes the were yet grene & neuer dyed/and she bounde him therewith. Notwylth standyng she had men lyinge in wayte with her in the chābre. And she sayde vnto him/the Philistines be vpon the Samson. And he brake the cordes as a stryng of towe breaketh/when hit fealeth fire. And so his strenght was not knowne.

Then sayde Dalilah to Samson: Se thou hast mocked me and tolde me lyes. Now yet tell me I praye the/wherwith thou myghtest be bounde. And he sayde: If I were bounde with newe ropes that neuer were occuppyd/then shulde I be weakē/and as another mā. And Dalilah toke newe ropes & bounde hym therewith/a sayde vnto him/the Philistines be vpon the Samson. And there were lyes of wayte in the chamber/and he brake them from of his armes/a as they had bene but a threde. And Dalilah sayde vnto Samson/hitherto thou hast begyled me & tolde me lyes: I praye the yet telle me wherwith men maye hynde the. And he sayde vnto her. If thou plattedest the seven lockes of my heed wylth an heare lace and fastnedest the wylth a napele. And she sayde vnto hym/the Philistines be vpon the Samson. And he awaked out of his slepe/a plucked & went awaye wylth the napele the was in the platting & wylth the heare lace. Then she sayde vnto him: How canst thou say the thou louest me/when thine hert is not wylth me:for thou hast mocked me this in. tym/a hast not tolde wherin thy great strenght lyeth. And as she laye vpon hym wylth her word continually beryng of him/his soule was encombred euē vnto the death. And he tolde her all his herte/and sayde vnto her: there neuer came teler nor theres vpon myne heed/for I haue bene an abstayner to God euē fro my mothers wombe. If myne heare were cut of/my strenght wold go fro me/a I wold ware as he lyke all other men. And when Dalilah sawe the he had tolde her all his hert/she sent for the Philistines sayyng/come by yet this once/for he hath betwed me all his herte.

Then the Lordes of the Philistines came and brought the money in their handes. And she made him slepe vpon her lappe/and sent for a man/and cut of the leue lockes of his heed & begane to bere him. But his strenght was gone from him. And she sayde the Philistines be vpon the Samson. And he awooke out of his slepe and thought to go out as at other tymes before & make him Telle/a wylth not that the Lord was departed from hym. But the Philistines toke him and put out his eyes/and brought hym downe to Gaza/and bounde him with fetters. And he was made to grinde in the prison house/how be it the heare of his heed beganne to growe agayne after that he was thome.

Then the Lord of the Philistines gathered the to gather for to offer a selemni. offring vnto Beathon their God/a to reioyse:for they sayde/oure God hath deliuered Samson our enemye into oure handes. And whē the people sawe him/they prayed their God:for they sayd oure God hath deliuered into oure handes our enemye/the destroyed oure cōcrete and lue manye of vs. And when their hert were merue they sayde: sende for Samson & lett him playe before vs. And they sette Samson out of the prison house/a he played before the/a they set him betwene the pillars. And Samson sayde vnto the ladd that leed him by the hāde: sett me that I maye touche the pylers that the house stande vpon/a that I maye leane to the. And the house was full of men & women. And there was all the lordes of the Philistines. And there were vpon the rouse a thre thousand men & women/that be hēde how Samson played.

And Samson called vnto the Lord/and sayde my Lord I thowke thynke vpon me/a strengthen me/at this tyme onely O God/that I maye be aduenged of the Philistines for my two eyes. And Samson caught the two myddell pylers on which the house stode and on which it was borne by/the one in his ryght hande/a the other in his left/a sayde: my soule dye wylth the Philistines/a bowch hym wylth might. And the house fell vpon the lordes and vpon all the people the were therein. And so the deed which he slewe at his deeth/were moo then they which he slewe in his lyfe. And then his byethzen and all the house of his father came downe and toke hym by/and brought hym and buryed hym betwene Sarah and Elhaol/in the burying place of Manoah his father. And he iudged Israel twentye yere.

Of Micah whose mother made him an Idoll of syluer. Of the young preast of the lpyage of Leui of Bethlehem.

The xlii. Chapter.

There was a mā in mount Ephraim/named Micah whych sayde vnto his mother: the leue hūdyed syluerlynges the were take fro the/aboute wylth thou curlest a saydest in myne eares: Beholde the syluer is wylth me for I toke it awaye. When sayd his mother blest be thou my sonne/in the Lord. And so he restoyred the seven hundred syluerlynges to his mother agayne. And his mother sayde: I bowed the syluer vnto the Lord of myne hande for my sonne: to make a graue ymage & an ymage of metall. Now therfore I geue it the agayne. And he restoyred the moneye agayne vnto his mother. Then his mother toke two hundred syluerlynges & put them to a goldsmith/to make therof a graue ymage and a ymage of metall/which remayned in the house of Micah. And the mā Micah had a chapel of Gods/and made an Ephod and ymages/a spyled the hand of one of his sonnes which became his preast. For in those dayes there was no kyng in Israel/ but euery man dyd what thought hym best.

And there was a younge mā out of Bethlehem Iuda/a out of the hymredes of Iuda: which young man was a Leuite and sojournd there. And the mā departed out of the cite of Bethlehem Iuda/to go dwell where he coulde fynde a place. And he came to mount Ephraim/a to the house of Micah as he sought where he myght get more profyt by auauitage.

And the Leuite went & beganne to dwell wylth the man/and was vnto hym as dere as one of his awne sonnes. And Micah spyled the hande of the Leuite/and the young man became his preast/and cōtynued in the house of Micah. Then sayde Micah/nov I am suer the Lord will be good vnto me/seeing I haue a Leuite to my preast.

The child of Dan take the Goddess the priest of Michah away. They destroy Laish after they are at Agayne.

The xlviii. Chapter.

In those dayes there was no king in Israel. And in those dayes the tribe of Dan sought the an inheritance to dwell in / for unto that tyme there fell none inheritance unto the tribe of Israel. And the child of Dan sent of their kynred syue men of actiuite / out of their coostes / euē out of Zarahab & Eshaiol / to bewte the lāde & searche it out / & sayde vnto the go & searche out & lāde. And they came to mount Ephraim / euē to & house of Michah & lodged there. And whē they were come vnto the house of Michah / they knew & voice of the young mā & Leuite / & turned in thither / and sayde vnto him / who brought & hither / & what makest thou in this place / & what hast thou here. And he sayde vnto the / thus and thus dealeth Michah wyth me and hath hired me to be his preast. And they sayd vnto him / the of God I praye the / that we maye knowe whether & waye which we go / shalbe prosperous or no. And the preast sayd vnto them / go in peace / for the waye whych ye go is befoze the Lorde.

Then the syue men departed and came to Laish / & sawe the people & were therein / how they dwelt carcelle / & after the maner of & Sidons / & without casting of parell / & that no mā made any trouble in the lande / or blurped any dominion / & how they were farre fro the Sidons & had no busines with any nacyon. And they came vnto their brythē / to Zarahab & Eshaiol. And their brythē sayde vnto them / what thynges byng you?

And they sayd by and lett vs go vnto the / for we haue sene & lāde / & it is berpe good. Daffe therfore & be not slouthfull to departe & to go & cōquerre the lāde. Whē ye be come / ye shall come vnto a people that casteth no parell / and vnto a large contry: for God hath geue into your hands a place wherein is no lacke of any thyng & is in the woyle.

And there departed thence of the kynred of the Danites / out of Zarahab and Eshaiol syue hundred men apoynted with instrumēt of warre. And they wēt & pitched in Baniath Garim in Juda. wherfore the place is called Mahanah Dan vnto this day / which is on & backside of Baniath Garim. And they wēt thence vnto mount Ephraim / & came to the house of Michah. Then answered the syue men & went to spyre out the cōtrey of Laish / & sayde vnto their brythē: wot ye not that there is in these houses an Ephod & Images / & a graue Image / and an Image of metall? Now therfore consyde what ye haue to do.

And they turned thitherwarde & came to the house of the young man the Leuite in the house of Michah / & saluted him pleasantly. And & syue hundred men gyrded w weapons of warre which were of & child of Dan stode in the enterpyng of the gate. And & syue men & that went to spyre out the lande / went in thither and toke the herued Image / & & Ephod the herued Image / & the Image of metall. And the preast stode in the enterpyng of the gate with the syue hundred men that were armed vnto battell / while & other wēt to Michahs house / and sett the herued Image / the Ephod / the herued Image and & Image of metall. Then sayde the preast vnto the: what do ye? & they answered hym / holde thy peace / & put thine hande vnto thy mouth / and come with vs / and be vnto vs a father and a preast: whether is it better for the to be a preast vnto the house of one man / or to be preast vnto a tribe or a kindred in Israel? And the preast was glad and toke the Ephod and the Images / and the graue Image / & wene with the people. And they turned & departed / and put the child / the catell & their cōlyge & thynges befoze them.

When they were a good waye fro & house of Michah / the men that were in the houses & were by Michahs house / made an out crye / and folowed after the child of Dan and called vnto the. And they turned their faces / and sayde vnto Michah / what ayleth the / that thou makest an out crye: And he sayde / ye haue takē awaye my Goddess which I made & also the preast / and go your wayes wyth the: And what haue I moare / how then saye ye vnto me / what ayleth the? And the child of Dan sayde vnto him / let not thy voyce be heard amonge vs / lest we angrye felowes runne vpon the / and thou looke thy lyfe / wyth the syues of all thyne householde to. And so the child of Dan went their wayes. And whē Michah sawe that they were to stronge for hym / he turned & went backe vnto hys house agayne.

And they toke the thynges which Michah had made / and the preast which he had / and went vnto Laish / euē vnto a people & were at rest and without mistrust / and smote the wyth the edge of the swerde and burnt the ctyre wyth fyre. And there was no man to helpe / because it was farre from Sidon / and they had no medelinge wyth any other nacyon. And the ctyre stode in & baleye that lyeth by Bethrehob. And they bylt the ctyre and dwelt therein. And called it Dan / after the name of Dan their father whych was borne vnto Israel. Now be it in very deade the name of the ctyre was Laish at the begynnyng.

And

And the child of Dan set them by the graue Image. And Jonathan the sonne of Gerson / the sonne of Manasses & his sonnes were the preastres vnto & trybe of the Danites / vntill they were caried awaye out of the lande captiue. And they sett them by the herued Image which Michah made / all & while that the house of God was in Siloh.

Of the Leuite whose wyfe was villainously bylled in Gabaah. She is described in to. xlv. partes & of her sent to encreyfe trybe of Israel a pease.

The xlv. Chapter.

In chanced in those dayes / when there was no king in Israel / that a certē Leuite dwelling on & syde of mount Ephraim / toke to wyfe & concubine out of Bethlehem Juda: whiche concubine played the whoze in hys house / & went awaye fro hym / vnto her fathers house to Bethlehem Juda / & there continued some monethes. And her husband arose and went after her / to speake frendelye / vnto her / & to bring her home agayne / & his ladd with him a couple of Iares. And she brought him vnto her fathers house / & when the father of & damosell sawe him / he reioysed of his comyng. And his father in lawe the damoselles father kept him that he abode wyth him thre dayes and so they ate and dranke and lodged there.

The fourth daye they arose eyle in the morning / & the man stode by to departe. But the damoselles father sayde vnto his sonne in lawe / cōfyt thine harte w a morsell of bread & then go your waye. And they late doune & did eat and drinke bothe of them to geather. Then sayde the damoselles father vnto the man / go to I praye the and tarpe all nyght & lett thine hart be mery. How be it & mā stode by to departe: but his father in lawe cōpelled him to turne agayne & to tarie all nyght there. And he rose by eyle & fifth daye to departe. The sayde & damoselles father cōfyt thine herte: & so made hī tarpe vntill after middaye. And they did eat bothe of them to geather.

And then the man arose to departe wyth his concubine and his ladd. But hys father in lawe the damoselles father sayde vnto him beholde the daye gothe fast awaye & dwaleth towardes euē / tarpe all nyght: at the least waye tarpe this daye here and lett thine hert be mery. And to morowe get you eyle vnto your waye and get the to thy tent. Neurtherelatter the mā wolde not tary / but arose & departed and came as ferre as Jebus / whych is Jerusalem / & hys two asses laden / and hys concubine and his ladd with him. And whē they were fast by Jebus / the daye was soze spent and the young man sayde vnto hys master / come I praye the & let vs turne in / into thys cite of the Jebusites & lodge all nyght there.

But his master sayde vnto hym / we wyll not maryed wyfe turne in to a straunge ctyre that are not of the child of Israel: we wyll go forth to Gabaah. And he sayde vnto his ladd / go forwarde / & we shall come to one place or other vnto a place. & shall lodge all nyght in Gabaah or in Laish. And they went forwarde vpon their waye / and the sonne went doune vpon them when they were fast by Gabaah whych is in Benjamin. And they turned thitherwarde to go and lodge all nyght in Gabaah. And whē they came in / they sat the doune in a street of the cite / for there was no man to ke the in to lodge. But beholde there came an olde man from his worke / out of the felde at euē whych was also of mount Ephraim / and but a stranger in Gabaah for the men of & place were of the child of Jemini. And when he had lyfte by his eyes / and sawe a wayefaring mā in the streets of & cite he sayde: whether goest thou? And whence comest thou? And & other answered hym / we come from Bethlehem Juda towardes the syde of mount Ephraim: from thence am I / and went to Bethlehem Juda / and go now to the house of the Lorde. But there is no man that receaucth me to the house of house: and yet I haue strawe & prauender for my selfe / and bread and wyne for me and my handmayde / & the ladd that are with thy seruant / and lacke nothyng.

The olde man sayde / peace be with the / all that thou lackest wait thou fynde with me: onlye abyde not in the streets all nyght / and he brought him into his house / and gaue sodder vnto his asses. And they washed their feet / and dyd eat and drinke. And as they were making their herttes mery / the men of the cite which were wycked / set the house round about / and thrust at the doze / & spake to the man of the house / the olde man saying: byng for the the man that came into thyne house / that we maye knowe hym.

But the man of the house went out to the and sayde vnto them / Oh / naye my brythē / do not so wickedlye seing & this man is come into myne house: do not this folye. Beholde my daughter a mayden and this mannes concubine / them I will bring out vnto you / and humble the / and do with them what semeth you good: but vnto this mā / do not this folye. But the men wolde not herken to him. Neurtherelasse the man toke hys concubine and brought her out vnto them / and they had to do with her / & entreated her shamefullye / all the nyght euē vnto the morning. And when the daye beganne to spryng / they lett her go.

And then came the woman in the morning of the daye and fell doune at the dooze of the mannes house / where her Lorde was / & there she laye till daye. And her Lorde arose by in the morning.

morning and opened the doors of the house/ and went out to go his way. And beholde/ hys concubine laye alonge befoze the doze of the house/ and her hand vpon the thershold. And he sayde vnto her: bp a let vs be going. But she answered not. Then he toke her bp vpon an Asse and rode bp/ and gat him vnto his aunc home. And when he was come vnto his house/ he toke a dresyng kynse/ & caughte his concubine & deuised her thozou the bones into twelue peces/ & sent her into all quarters of Israel. And all that sawe it sayde: there was no soche deade done oꝝ sene sence the chyldren of Israel cam out of Egypt vnto this daye/ consyder the matter/ geue counsell and save poure mynbes.

¶ The .xx. Chapter.

In all the chyldren of Israel wēt out: and there gathered a congregacyon to gather* as it had bene but one mā, euē frō Bā to Bēseba & out of the lande of Galaad, vnto the lande to Marphah and there stode folke out of all quarters of all the trybes of Israel/ in the congregacyon of the people of God/ foure hundred thousande forte men that dꝛew swerdes. And the chyldren of Benjamin hearde that the chyldren of Israel were gone bp to Marphah.

¶ Then sayde the chyldren of Israel/ tell vs how this wickednesse happened. And the leuite the womans husbāde that was slayne/ answered and sayde: I came into Gabaah & is in Benjamin with my concubine to lodge all nyght. And the cytezens of Gabaah tole agaynst me/ and set the house rounde about vpon me by nyght/ and thought to haue slayne me: and caught my concubine and forced her/ that she dyed. And I toke my concubine and cutt her in peces and sent her thozou out all the landes of the enherytaunce of Israel. foz they haue comitted abhominacyon and folly in Israel. Beholde ye are all chyldren of Israel. Se therfoze and geue poure aduysē in the case.

¶ Then all the people arose/ as it had ben one man sayng: there shall not a man of vs go to his tent/ nether turne in to hys house. And now this is it that we wil do to Gabaah/ And cast lottes agaynst it. And we wyll take ten men of the hundred thozou out all the trybes of Israel/ & an hundred of the thousande/ and a thousande out of the ten thousande/ to sett bitayle foz the people to make that they maye go agaynst Gabaah Benjamin/ accordyng to all the folpe/ & they haue brought in Israel. And to all the men of Israel gathered to geather/ vnto Gabaah/kytte to geather as it had ben but one man. And the trybes of Israel sent men thozou all the trybe of Benjamin sayng: what wickednesse is this that is happened amōge you. Now therfoze helyuer vs the mē/ those wycked wretches of Gabaah that we maye slep them/ and put away euell from Israel.

¶ Neuerthelater the chyldren of Benjamin wolde not herken vnto the voyce of their bꝛethꝛen the chyldren of Israel: but gathered them selues to geather out of the cyties vnto Gabaah/ to come out in batayle agaynst the chyldren of Israel. And the chyldren of Benjamin were nombꝛed at that tyme/ out of & cities. xxi. thousande mē that dꝛew swerdes beside the enhabiters of Gabaah which were nombꝛed seven hundred chosen mē. And amōge al these folke were seuen hundred leste handed men/ which every one coulde styng stones at an hear bꝛeadeth/ & not myse. And the chyldꝛen of Israel besyde the chyldꝛen of Benjamin/ were nombꝛed foure hundred thousand men that dꝛew swerdes/ and all men of warre.

¶ And the chyldren of Israel arose & went bp to Bethel/ and asked of God/ who shulde begynne the battell agaynst the chyldꝛen of Benjamin/ and the Lorde sayde Juda shal begynne. And the chyldren of Israel stode by erye and beseged Gabaah. And the mē of Israel went out to battell agaynst Benjamin/ and put them selues in araye agaynst them/ to fyght agaynst Gabaah. And the chyldꝛen of Benjamin came out of Gabaah and destroyed in Israel that daye. xxi. thousande men/ and brought them to the erth.

¶ And the folke of the chyldꝛen of Israel plucked by their hertes/ and went to agayne & made battell in the same place where they dyd the fyrst daye: but they wēt fyrst bp and wept befoze the Lorde vnto euen/ and asked of the Lorde sayng: Shall we go agayne to battell agaynst the chyldꝛen of Benjamin oure bꝛethꝛen. And the Lorde sayde go bp vnto the. And when the chyldꝛen of Israel were come to the chyldꝛen of Benjamin & seconde daye/ the chyldꝛen of Benjamin went agaynst the out of Gabaah/ the seconde daye/ & destroyed to the erth of the chyldꝛen of Israel once agayne. xxi. thousande men & dꝛew swerdes euerye man of them.

¶ Then the chyldꝛen of Israel and all the people went bp and cam vnto Bethel/ and wepte and sat there befoze & Lorde/ & fasted the same daye vnto euen/ and offered burnt offerynges and peaceofferynges befoze the Lorde. And they asked the Lorde: foz there was the arche of the apoyntment of God/ in those dayes. And phinches & sonne of Eleazar/ the sonne of Aaron waytyng vpon it at that tyme: and they sayde shall we go out any more more to battell agaynst the chyldꝛen of Benjamin oꝛe bꝛethꝛen/ oꝛ shall we cease? And & Lorde sayde go: foz to morowe I will deliuer them into poure handes. And Israel sett layes awayte agaynst Gabaah rounde about. And & chyldꝛen of Israel wēt agaynst & chyldꝛen of Benjamin & thirde tyme/ & put the selues in araye agaynst Gabaah/ as twyse befoze. Then came the chyldꝛen of Benjamin agaynst & people/ tyll they were drawē a great waye from the citie. And they beganne to smyte of the people deed/ as twyse befoze/ by two hye wayes of which one gothe bp to Bethel & & other to Gabaah thozou the selde/ vpon a thyrtye men of Israel. foz the chyldꝛen of Benjamin thought & the other had ben beate befoze them/ as at the fyrst tyme. But the chyldꝛen of Israel sayde/ let vs flee & plucke the awaye frō the cytye/ vnto the hye wayes.

¶ And then all the men of Israel rose bp out of their standing/ & put them selues in araye at Baal Hamar. And lixewyse the layes in wayte of Israel came forth out of their places/ euen out of the medowes of Gabaah/ & came befoze Gabaah: ten thousande chosen men out of all Israel/ & there was soze battell. But & other wēt not & euell was so nyte the. And the Lorde plagued Benjamin befoze Israel/ so that the chyldꝛen of Israel destroyed in Benjamin the same daye. xxi. thousande & a hundred mē/ & dꝛew swerdes euerye one of the. It semed the chyldꝛen of Benjamin/ that the other had ben put to the woode. foz the men of Israel gaue Ronie to Benjamin/ because they trusted vnto the layes in wayte which they had layde agaynst Gabaah. And the layes in wayte halted and ranne vpon Gabaah/ and went & smote al the citie with the edge of the swerde. And the apoyntment of the mē of Israel with the layes in wayte to runne vpon Benjamin with the swerde/ was when they shulde make the smoke ryse bp out of & citie. And the men of Israel fled in the battell. And Benjamin began to smyte deed of the chyldꝛen of Israel/ aboute a thyrtye parsonnes/ foz they supposed that the other had ben put to the woode befoze them/ as in the fyrst battell. Then began to aryse out of the citie/ a pillar of smoke. And the Beniamites looked backe: and beholde the wastynge of the hole citie began to ascende bp to heuē. When the men of Israel turned agayne/ the men of Benjamin were abashed: foz they saw & euell appoyched the. And they turned befoze the men of Israel vnto the waye that leade th to the wilderness/ & other folowynge the at the harde heles. And besyde that they of the citie destroyed the in the myddle of them. And they copased Benjamin about/ & chaled them to Mennah/ & ouer ranne them befoze

Gabaah on the east syde: & there were slayne of Benjamin. xxi. thousande/ & all men of myght. And they turned & fled to the wilderness warde & vnto the roche* of pounegarnettes. And & other flue by the waye of prest of the/ syue thousande mē/ & stiched vnto the vntill they cam to Gadaam/ & flue two thousande moe of the. So that all & were slayne that same daye of Benjamin were. xxi. thousande men & dꝛew swerdes/ & all mē of myght: onely. vi. hundred men turned and fled to & wilderness/ vnto the Roche of pounegarnettes and abode there. liij. monethes. And then the men of Israel turned backe agayne vnto the chyldꝛen of Benjamin/ and smote them with the edge of the swerde in the cities bothe man and beast and all that came to hande/ and mozeouer sett all the cytyes they coulde come by/ one fyre.

¶ The .xxi. Chapter.

And & men of Israel ware in Marphah sayng: there shall none of vs geue his daughter vnto any of Benjamin to wife. And the people cā to Bethel & abode there till euē/ befoze God & liste by their voyces & wept soze & saide: O Lorde God of Israel/ why is this chaunced in Israel/ that there shulde be this daye one tribe lacking in Israel? And on the morowe & people rose bp by tyme & made there an altare & offered burntofferpynges & peaceofferynges.

¶ And the chyldꝛen of Israel asked/ who are they amonge all the trybes of Israel & came not with the congregacyō vnto & Lorde: foz they had made a great othe concerning the & came not bp to & Lorde to Marphah sayng & they shulde swerye bye. And & chyldꝛen of Israel had pytie on Benjamin their bꝛethꝛen/ and sayde: there is one tribe cut of frō Israel this daye: what shall we do vnto the remaunt of the/ foz to gett the wyues/ foz as moche as & we haue sworne by the Lorde & we will not geue the of oure daughters to wyues. Then they sayde/ what are they of & tribes of Israel & came not bp to Marphah to & Lorde. And beholde ther came none of & enhabitours of Jabes Galaad vnto & congregaciō. And whē & people were betwed: beholde there were none of & enhabiters of Jabes Galaad there. And & congregacyon sent thether. xij. thousande men of & strongest of the/ & comāunded them sayng: go & smyte & enhabiters of Jabes Galaad wth edge of & swerde both wemē & chyldꝛen. And this is & pe shal do: utterlie destroye al & males & al & wemē & haue līe by mē. And they founde amōg & enhabiters of Jabes Galaad foure hundred damoselles virgins/ & had knowe no man no man by lying with any male. And they brought them into the host to Siloh which is in the lande of Canaan.

And the hole congregacion sent and spake with the chyldren of Benjamin that were in the flooke of ponigarnettes/and called peaceabyllye vnto the/ & Benjamin came agayne at that tyme/and they gaue them the women which they had sau'd a lyne of the women of Iabes Galaad. But they so susyded them not. And the people had compassion on Benjamin/ because that God had made a gappe in the trybes of Israel. And then the elders of the congregacyon sayde: what shall we do to the remnant of them/ to get them wyues seing all the wyues of Benjamin are destroyed? And they sayde there must be an inheritaunce for them that be escaped of Benjamin: that a trybe be not destroyed out of Israel: how be it we maye not geue them wyues of oure daughters. For the chyldren of Israel had made an adiuration saying: "cursed be he that geueth a wyffe to Benjamin."

Then they sayde: beholde/ there is a feast of the Lorde yeiue in Siloh which is on the northsyde of Bethel/ & on the east syde of the waye that gothe from Bethel to Sichem and south from Libanon. And they commaunded the chyldren of Benjamin saying: go and lye in wayte in the bynepardes. And when ye see that the daughters of Siloh come out to daunce in a rowe/ then come ye out of the bynepardes/ and cathe you euerye ma & wyffe of the daughters of Siloh/ & gett you vnto the lande of Benjamin. And if their fathers or brethren come vnto vs to complayne/ we will saye vnto them/ haue pytie on them/ because we refused not to eche man his wyffe in tyme of warre/ and therto because that ye gaue the none in due tyme/ ye were to blame.

And the chyldren of Benjamin dyd euen so: and toke them wyues accordyng to the nombze of them of the dauncers which they caught. And then they went and returned vnto their inheritaunce/ & bylt there cyties and dwelt in them.

And the chyldren of Israel departed thence at that tyme & went euery man to his trybe/ and to his kynred/ and went out from thence euery man to his inheritaunce. In those dayes there was no kynng in Israel: but euerye man dyd what seemed hym ryght.

The ende of the booke of Judges.

The booke of Ruth

Elimelec gothe with his wyffe and chyldren in to the lande of Moab. After his death his wyffe Noemi retourneth agayne in to her countrey with her Ruth her daughter in lawe.

The fyrst Chapter.

In the tyme when the Judges iudged/ there selle a darty in the lande. wherfore a certain man of Bethleh Juda went soj to sojourn in the countrey of Moab with his wyffe and two sonnes. The name of the man was Elimelec/ and his wyffe Noemi/ and the names of his two sonnes were/ Mahalon and Chilion/ & they were Ephraites/ out of Bethleh Juda. And when they came into the lande of Moab/ they contynued there. And Elimelec Noemies husband dyed/ and he remayned with her two sonnes which toke the wyues of the nations of the Moabites: the ones name Dypah and the others Ruth. And when they had dwelled there aboute a ten yere/ Mahalon & Chilion dyed also euen both two of them/ so that the wyffe was leste desolate of her two sonnes & of her husbunde therto. Then she ode by with her daughters in lawe and returned from the countrey of Moab: for she had hearde saye/ being in the countrey of Moab: how that the Lorde had bysytte his people and geuen them lode. wherfore she departed out of the place where she was & her two daughters with her. And as they went by the waye returnyng vnto the lande of Juda/ Noemi sayde vnto her two daughters in lawe: go & retorne eche of you vnto youre mothers house: the Lorde deale as kynndye with you/ as ye haue drafft with the deede & with me. And the Lorde geue you that you maye fynde rest ether of you in the house of her husbunde: and so she kysch the.

Then they cryed and wepte & sayde vnto her we wil go with the vnto thy folke. But Noemi sayde/ turne agayne my daughters: for what cause wolde you go w me? thynke you that ther be any moare chyldren in my bowelles/ to be youre husbandes? Turne agayne my daughters & go: for I am to olde to haue an husband. If I sayde I haue hope/ also if I toke a ma this nyght: ye and though I had all readye borne sonnes: wolde ye staye after the/ tyll they were of age? or wolde ye for them so long trespasse from takyng of husbandes? Not so my daughters: for it greueth me moche for youre sake/ & the hande of the Lorde is gone out agaynst me.

Then with they cryed and wepte agayne how be how be it Dypah kysch her mother in lawe but Ruth abode still by her/ then she sayde: se/ thy sylter law is gone backe agayne vnto her people & vnto her God: retorne thou after her. But Ruth sayde: entreate me not to leaue the/ and to retorne from after the/ for whether thou goest/ I will go/ & where thou dwellest/ there I will dwelle: thy people are my people/ and thy God is my God. Where thou diest/ I will dye/ and there wilbe buried

The Lorde do so and so to me/ except that death onlye departe the and me a sondre.

When she saw that the wolde heade go to her/ she leste speakyng vnto her. And so they went bothe together vntill they came to Bethlehem. And when they were come to Bethlehem/ it was norysed thow all the cite and the women sayde: is not this Noemi?

But she sayde vnto them/ calle me not Noemi: call me Mara/ for the all nyghtye hath made me berye bitter. I went out full: but the Lorde hath brought me home emptye. Why shulde ye then calle me Noemi: seing the Lorde hath habbled me/ & almyghtie hath brought me vnto aduersyte? And the tyme when Noemi with Ruth the Moabitess her daughter in lawe returned out of the countrey of Moab and came to Bethlehem/ was in the begynnyng of barley harueste.

Ruth leasch come in the felde of Booz & syned her fauour in his syght.

The secorde Chapter.

Noemi had a kynsmā of her husbandes/ a man of myght/ of the kynredd of Elimelec/ named Booz. And Ruth the Moabitess sayde vnto Noemi/ let me go to the felde and lease & geather eares/ after whosoer I fynde grace in his syght. And she sayde vnto her: go my daughter. And she went and came and geathered after the haruest men/ and her chaurce was that parte of the felde pertayned vnto Booz whych was of the kynred of Elimelec. And beholde/ Booz came from Bethlehem & sayde vnto the haruest men/ the Lorde be with you. And they answered him/ the Lorde blesse the. Then sayde Booz vnto the young man that had the ouersyght of the heruest men. Whose damosell is this? And the young man that was sett to ouer se the heruest men answered and sayde: it is the Moabitish damosell that came with Noemi out of the countrey of Moab/ and she sayde/ let me praye the/ leasch geather after the heruest men/ the eares that remayne. & so she came and hath cont. in. euen from the moynyng vnto now/ as she dyd not long in the house.

Then sayde Booz vnto Ruth: hearest thou my daughter? go on no nother felde to geather/ neyther go maydens. Whene eyes are on a felle & shalbe repedyd: after the maydens therfore/ for I haue charged the young men/ that they touch the not. Moreover when thou art a chursh/ go vnto the beles and drynche of that which the laddes haue drawe. When she fell on her face & bowed her selfe to the grounde & sayde vnto him: how is it that I haue founde grace in thine eyes/ to knowe me/ seing I am an alpaunt?

And Booz answered & sayde vnto her: all is tolde me that thou hast done vnto thy mother in lawe sence the death of thine husbunde/ how thou hast lette thy father & thy mother/ & the lade where thou wast borne/ & art come vnto a nactō which thou knewest not in tyme past. The Lorde quyte thy woiche/ and a full rewarde be geue the of the Lorde God of Israel vnto whom thou art come/ to trust vnder his winges. The she sayde vnto him/ let me fynde sauoure in thy sighte my Lorde: for thou hast comforted me & hast spoken hartelye vnto thy mayde/ whych yet canot be lyke vnto one of thy maydes. And Booz whē the tyme of reseed was come/ saide vnto her: come hither & eate of the bread/ & dippe thy loppe in the binagre. And she sat doune by the repers/ & he raught her & parched corne. And so she dede eate & was suffised & leste parte. And whē she was ryfen by to geather/ Booz saide to the young mā sayng let her geather the eares & remayne & do her no despite. And therto pull out of the sheues for her & let it lye/ the she maye gather it by/ & re-buke her not. And so she geathered vntill eue & then thersed the she had gathered/ & it was vnto an epha of barleye. And she toke it by & wet to the cite/ & shewed her mother in lawe what she had gathered. And therto she plucked out & gaue to her the she had reserved whē she had eatē ynough. Then sayde her mother in lawe vnto her/ where geatheredst thou to daye? and where wroughtest thou? blessed be he that knowe the. And she shewed her mother in lawe id whō she had wrought & sayde: the mannes name id whō I wrought to daye id Booz. Then sayde Noemi vnto her daughter in lawe: blessed be he for he geathereth not to do the same goodnesse to the deede/ & he did to the yung.

And Noemi saide vnto her: the mā is nye vnto vs/ eue of our next kynne. And Ruth the Moabitess saide: he had me also/ & I shuld continew id his young men/ vntill they had ended all the heruest he hath. The she saide Noemi vnto Ruth her daughter in lawe/ it is best my daughter the thou go out with his maydens/ and that no man mete the in any other felde. And so she kept her by the maydens of Booz/ to geather vnto the ende of barley haruest and of where herue it also: & dwelt with her mother in lawe.

Booz leasch at Booz/ & he knowe his kinne/ and so

The thirde Chapter.

The ii. Chapter.

And Hannah prayed & sayde: myne herte reioyseth in the Lorde / myne herte is hie in the Lorde / and my mouth is open ouer mine enemies / for I reioyce in thy sauing. There is none so holpe as the Lorde / no there is none saue thou. Neither is there any strength lyke vnto our God. Take not to moche proude-tye: let olde thynges depart out of youre mouthes / for the Lorde is a God of knowledge / & iudgeth the thoughtes. The boomes of the strong are broke: and the weake are endued with strength. They that were full / haue hired out the selues for bread / and they that were hongry cease to be: in so moche that the barren hath borne seven / & she that had many chyldren is waxed feeble.

2. Of these two is spoken Psal. 113.

But the Lorde bylleth and maketh a lyue / he byngeth doune to hell & fetcheth by agayne. The Lorde maketh poore / and maketh ryche / bringeth lowe / and heueth by on hye. He reyleth by the poore out of the dust / and lyfeth by the begger from the dong hill: to sett them among princes / and to enherett them with a seate of glorie. For the pillars of the erth are the Lordes / & he hath sett the rounde worlde vpon the. He will kepe & sette of his sayntes but the wykked shall kepe silence in darchnesse. For in his awne myght shall no man be stronge. The Lordes aduersaries shall be made to feare hym: and out of heauen he shall thunder vpon them. The Lorde shall iudge the endes of the worlde / and shall geue myght vnto his kynge / and exalte the home of his anoynted. And Elkanah went to Ramath to hys house / and the ladd byd mynistrer vnto the Lorde before Eli the preeste.

C But the sonnes of Eli were vnkynd / & they were not the Lorde. For the maner of the preestes wth the people was / whensoever any man offered any offeringes the preestes ladd came / whyle the flethe was in seething / and a flethoke wth the tette in his hand / and thrust it into the panne / kelle / caldren / or potte. And all that the flethe boke brought by the preeste toke awaye. And so they did vnto all Israel that came thither to Siloh. Yee: & therto before they had offered the fatte / the preestes ladd came and sayde to the man that offered: geue fleth to roste for the preeste / for he will not haue sodden flethe of the / but rawe. And yf any man sayde vnto him let the fatte be offered accordyng to the daye / & then take as moche as thine herte desireth. The ladd wold answere him / thou shalt geue it me now / or els I will take it with violence. And the synne of the younge was very great before the Lorde. For they despised the people and also the offering of the Lorde.

But the ladd Samuel mynistrer before the Lorde girded about with a linnen Ephod. Mozeouer hys mother made hym a lytle coote / and brought it to him fro feast to feast when the same by with her husbunde to offer the offering of the sayde feast. And Eli blessed Elkanah and hys wyfe / and sayde: the Lorde geue the seede of this woman / for that she hath lent the Lorde. And they went vnto their awne whome. And the Lorde blessed Hannah so that she conceaued and bare thre sonnes & two daughters. But the boye Samuel grewe dwelling still with the Lorde.

Eli was very olde and herde all that hys sonnes did vnto all Israel / & how they slepte with the women that wayted in the doore of the tabernacle of wytnesse / & sayde vnto the: why do ye loche thynges? For I heare youre wicked deades of all these people. Oh / naye my sonnes: for it is no good repoyte that I heare how that ye make the Lordes people to trespasse. If one man synne agaynst another / dayemen maye make his peace: but yf a man synne agaynst the Lorde / who can be his dayeman? Notworth standyng they herkened not vnto the boye of their father / because the Lorde wolde slaye the. The chyld Samuel profited and grewe / and was in fauoure boyn with the Lorde and also with me.

And there cam a man of God vnto Eli and sayde vnto him: thus saith the Lorde. I appeared vnto the house of thy father / when they were in Egypte in Pharos house. And I chose thy father out of all the trybes of Israel to be my preeste / for to offer vpon myne altare & to burne incense / & to write an Ephod before me. And I gaue vnto the house of thy father all the offeringes of the chyldren of Israel. Wherfore heke ye agaynst my sacrifice and agaynst myne offering which I commaunde in the tabernacle / and honore it / the chyldren about me / and make youre selues fatt of the first frutes of all the offeringes of Israel my people: wherfore the Lorde God of Israel sayth: I sayde that thynne house and the house of thy father shoulde haue walked before me for euer. But now the Lorde sayth that he farre from me: for the that woz wyne me I will woz wyne / & they that despyle me / shalbe despyled. Beholde the dayes will come that I will cut of thine arme and the arme of thy fathers house / that there shall not be an elder in thine house. And thou shalt se thynne enemye in the tabernacle / in all that shall please Israel / and there shall not be an elder in thynne house while the worlde standeth. Neuerthelesse I will not destroye all thy males from my altare / to base thy synge with all & to make thynne herte melte. And all the multitude of thynne house shall dye younge.

And

And thus shalbe a sygne vnto the / & I shall come vpon thy two sonnes / Hophni & Phinehes: eu in one daye they shall dye both of the. And I will sterre me by a faithfull preeste / & I shall do as it is in myne herte & in my mynde. And I will bylde him a sure house. And he shall walke before myne anoynted for euer. And they that are lesse in thynne house / shall come & crouch to him for a lytle peece of syluer & a cake of bryed / & I shall saye: put me I praye the in one offyce or other among the preestes / & I maye eate a morsell of bryed.

After the Lorde had lesse to appere by open vision in Siloh for a long season: he yet calleth Samuel thre tymes / & sheweth him what shoulde befall on Eli.

The iii. Chapter.

And the child Samuel mynistrer vnto the Lorde before Eli: & the worde of the Lorde was precious in those dayes / for there was none oped bynd. And it chaused at that tyme / & Eli laye in his place / & hys eyes began to waxe dymme / & he coulde not se. And yet the sygne of God wot out Samuel layde him doune to slepe / in the temple of the Lorde / where the arcke of God was. And the Lorde called Samuel: & he sayde / here am I / and he ran vnto Eli & sayde here am I / for thou calledst me. And he sayde I called the not: go agayne & slepe. And he went and layde him doune to slepe. And the Lorde called once agayne: Samuel / and Samuel arose & went to Eli & sayde: I am here / thou dydest calle me. And he answered: I called the not my sonne. So agayne & take the rest: but it was yet Samuel knew the Lorde & yet the worde of the Lorde was opened vnto hym. And the Lorde wot to & called Samuel the thrid tyme. And he arose & wet to Eli & sayde: I am here / for thou hast called me. When Eli perceaued the Lorde had called the ladd / and sayd vnto hym / go & lye downe: & yf he call the agayne then laye / speake on Lorde / for thy seruant heareth. And Samuel wet & layed him doune in his place. And the Lorde cam & stode & called as before / Samuel Samuel. And Samuel saide: speake on / for thy seruant heareth the. And the Lorde sayde to Samuel: beholde I will do a thyng in Israel / & the eares of as many as heareth it / shall tingle. In the daye I will performe to Eli / all that I haue spokē concerning hys house: I will begynne it & ende it. For I haue tolde hym & I will iudge hys house for euer. For the wickednesse whych he knoweth / how his sonnes are ingratiouse / & he was not wroth therewith. And therefore I haue swoyne vnto the house of Eli / & the wickednesse of Elies house / shall not be purged by sacrifice nor offering / while the worlde standeth. And Samuel laye till the morning & then opened the doores of the house of the Lorde.

It was at the night that the lampe burned in the tabernacle of the Lorde.

But Samuel feared to shewe Eli the vision. When Eli called Samuel & sayde: Samuel my sonne. And he answered here I am. And he sayde what is the he sayde vnto the? Se thou hide it not fro me. The Lorde do so & so to the / yf thou hide anything from me / of all that he saide vnto the. And Samuel tolde him euery whit & hidde it not fro him. And he answered: it is the Lorde / let him do what semeth him best.

And Samuel grewe / and the Lorde was with him / and left none of his wordes vnperformed. And all Israel fro Dan to Berseba wist that Samuel was truly made the Lordes prophete. And the Lorde apered agayne in Siloh: for the Lorde opened hym selfe to Samuel in Siloh / thow the worde of the Lorde.

The battell of the Philistines. Israel speth. The Arcke of the Lorde is taken. Elies chyldren dye / and he hym selfe also.

The iiii. Chapter.

And Samuel spake vnto all Israel. And Israel went out agaynst the Philistines to battell / & pitched beside the helpe stone. And the Philistines pitched in Aphek. And put the selues in aray agaynst Israel. And in the end of the battell Israel was put to the woode before the Philistines. And the Philistines slue in aray along by the selues / about a towne thousand men.

And when the people were come into their tentes / the elders of Israel sayde: wherfore hath the Lorde beate vs this daye before the Philistines: let vs fetch the arcke of the apoyntment of the Lorde / out of Siloh vnto vs / & let it come amogge vs & saue vs out of the handes of our enemies. And the people sent to Siloh / & sett fro thence the arcke of the apoyntment of the Lorde of hostes whych dwelleth betwene Cherubims. And ther were the two sonnes of Eli / Hophni & Phinehes / & the arcke of the apoyntment of God. And wher the arcke of the apoyntment of the Lorde cam into the host / all Israel shouted a myghtie shout / so the erth rang agayne.

When the Philistines herde the noyse of the shout they sayde: what meaneth the sound of this myghtie shout in the host of the Chyruens? And they vnderstode how that the arcke of the Lorde was come into the host. And the Philistines were affrayed / wher it was tolde how the God was come into the host & saide. Who vnto vs / for it was neuer so before this. Who vnto vs / who shall deliuer vs out of the hand of this myghtie God? this is the God that smote the Egyptians in all maner of plagues in the wilderness. We strong & quite youre selues like men / ye Philistines / that ye be not seruantes vnto the Chyruens / as they haue bene to you. Jude. 16. Be men therfore & fight. And the Philistines fought / and Israel was put to the worde and fledde / euery man into hys tente. And ther was a myghtye a myghty great slaughter/so that ther were ouer thowowt of Israel/thirtie thousand senten. And the arke of God was taken/and the two sonnes of Eli / Dophni & Phinehes were deed. And there ran a ma of Benjamin out of the araye & came to Siloh the same daye/with his clothes rent & erthe vpon his heed. And when the man cam in/eli late vpon a stole by the waye syde loking: for his heart feared for the arke of God. And the man cam in & tolde it in the cite. And all the cite cried when eli hearde the noyse of the crying/ he asked what the noyse of the rumoz ment. And the man halted & cam in & tolde eli. Eli was fourte thowt & eighteen yere olde / & his syght failed him he could not se. And the ma saide vnto eli: I am he & cam out of the araye and fled out of the host this daye. And he sayde how is it fortunyd my sonne? And he messenger answered & sayde: Israel is fled befoze the Philistines/ & there is a great slaughter chaunced amonge the people/ & thy two sonnes/ Dophni & Phinehes are deed/ & ther to the arke of God is taken. And wher he made mencio of the arke of God/eli fell from of his stole backwarde toward the gate/and his necke brake/ & he died: for he was olde & vnwelle/ and he had lugged Israel fourtie yeres.

And his daughter in law Phinehes wyfe was in childe hys the byrthe. And wher he hearde the tynghes of the taking of the arke of God/ & her father in law/ & her husbunde were deed/ she bowed her selfe & traueled/ for her paynes & vpon her. And aboute the tyme of her deeth/ she wene she shold about her/ saide vnto her: feare not for thou hast borne a sonne. But she answered not noz regarded it. And she named the childe Ichabod saying: honoure is departed fro Israel. Because the arke of God was take/and her father in law and her husband were deed. And therfore she sayde/ honoure is gone fro Israel/ because the arke of God was taken.

¶ Dagon the God of the Philistines to call that befoze the arke. The Philistines were playd after they had lene the arke.

¶ The b. Chapter.

¶ And the Philistines toke the arke of God & carried it fro the helpe stone/ vnto Afood/ & brought it into the house of Dagon/ & set it by Dagon. And wher they of Afood were by in the morning beholde/ Dagon laye groueling vpon the erth befoze the arke of the Lozde. And they toke Dagon & set him in his place agayne. And when they were by erly in the next morning beholde/ Dagon laye groueling vpon the ground befoze the arke of the Lozde/ & his heed and his two handes cut of vpon the thretholde/ & the bodye onely was left on him. Wherfore nether the priestes of Dagon/ nether any ma that cometh into Dagon's house might treade on the thretholde of Dagon vnto this daye.

¶ But the hand of the Lozde was heuie vpon the Emmerodes/ both Afood & all the coastes therof. And wher the ma of Afood saide it was so/ they sayde: the arke of the God of Israel shal not abyde here to vs/ for hys hand is soze vpon vs & vpon Dagon oure God. And so they sent & gathered all the Lozdes of the Philistines vnto the arke: what shall we do to the arke of the God of Israel/ when they sayde they of Beth let the arke of the God of Israel be carped about. And they carried the arke of the God of Israel about. And wher they had carried it about/ the hand of the Lozde was in the cite/ & a myghtie great plage/ and he smote the men of the cite both smalle and great: and they were smyten in their secrete places/ with the Emmerodes.

¶ Then they sent the arke of God to Aharon. And as lone as the arke of God was to Aharon/ the Aharonites cryed out saying: they haue brought the Arke of the God of Israel to vs: to see vs and oure people.

¶ Then they sent and sette all the Lozdes of the Philistines vnto them and sayde: send away the arke of the God of Israel/ and let it go home agayne vnto his awne place/ that it see vs not with oure people. For ther was a plage of deeth thowowt out all the cite/ and the hand of God was excedyng soze there/ in so moche that they which died not/ were smyten with the Emmerodes: so that the crye of the cite went by to heauen.

¶ The hefters bryng home the arke with the reuwardes. The Bethsamites were playd after they had lene the arke.

¶ The b. Chapter.

¶ And so when the arke of the Lozde had bene in the contreye of the Philistines seuen monethes/ the Philistines called to the priestes and the soth-layers saying: what shall we do with the arke of the Lozde/ tell vs wherewith we shall sende it home agayne. They answered yf you sende the arke of the God of Israel home agayne send it not emptye: But rewarde it with a trespass offering: and then ye shal be whole/ and it shal be knowne to you/ wher hys hand departeth not from you.

¶ Then sayde they/ what shal be the trespass offering wherewith we shall rewarde him with? And they answered: syue golden artles with Emmerodes and syue golden myce/ accordyng to the nobze of the Lozdes of the Philistines. For it was one maner of plage that was on you all/ & on poure Lozdes to. Wherfore ye shall make images like to poure artles with Emmerodes and and images like to poure mice that destroyed poure lande/ & shall geue glorye vnto the God of Israel: that he maye take his hand from of you/ and from of poure Goddes/ and from of poure lande. Wherfore shulde ye harden your hertes as the Egipcians & Pharaon hardened their hertes/ which for all that/ when he had played his pageauntes with the/ were sayne to lett the people go and depart.

¶ Now therfore make a new carte and take two meache kyne/ on whose neck neuer ca poche. And tye the kyne in the carte/ & bryng the calves whome from them. Then take the arke of the Lozde & put it in the carte/ & put the quelles of golde/ wher ye rewarde hym with for a trespass offering/ in a forcer by the syde therof and send it away & let it go. And make yf he go by the waye he leadeth vnto his awne cooste/ to Bethsamites/ that it is he that do vs this great euell. But and yf he do not/ then it is not hys hand that smote vs/ but it was a chaunce that hapened vs. And the men did euell: for they toke two kyne & gaue mylch & tye the in the carte/ and kept the calves at home/ & they layde the arke of the Lozde vpon the carte & the forcer with the myce of golde & the images of their artles with Emmerodes.

¶ And the kyne toke the straght waye to Bethsamites/ both one waye/ & as they wet/ to wether turning nether to the right hande ner to the lefte. And the Lozdes of the Philistines wet after the vntill they cam to the borders of Bethsamites.

¶ And they of Bethsamites were repyng their whete heruel in the baleye. And they lift by their eyes & spied the arke. And reioyced wher they saw it. And the carte came into the town of one Bethsamite/ and stode it yll there. Ther was there also a great stone. And they claue the wodde of the carte & offered the kyne a burnt offering vnto the Lozde.

¶ And the Leuites toke downe the arke of the Lozde & the forcer that was therby/ wher in the quelles of golde were & put the on the great stone. And the men of Bethsamites sacryficed burnt sacrifice & offered offering/ the same daye vnto the Lozde. And wher the syue Lozdes of the Philistines had lene it/ they returned to Aharon the same daye. These are the golden artles with Emmerodes which the Philistines gaue to amender for a trespass offering/ to the Lozde: for Afood one/ for Gaza one/ for Ashalon one/ for Beth one/ & for Aharon one. And the golden myce were accordyng to the nobze of all the cities of the Philistines thowowt the tyme of the Lozdes: both of walled townes & of townes vnwalled/ euell vnto the great stone/ wher they set downe the arke of the Lozde: which stone remayneth vnto this daye in the feld of Jehosua the Bethsamite. And he playd the men of Bethsamites/ because they had lene the arke of the Lozde. And he slue of the people fiftie thousand & thye thowt & ten persones. And the people lamented/ because the Lozde had layne so great a slaughter of the. And the me of Bethsamites saide who is able to stande befoze the Lozde to holpe a God & to whom shal he go from vs? And they sent messengers to the enhabiters of Cariath Farin saying: the Philistines haue brought home agayne the Arcke of the Lozde: come downe and sett it by to you.

¶ The arke is brought to Cariath Farin. The people wepe/ for which Samuel maketh intercession to the Lozde. The Philistines are smyten.

¶ The b. Chapter.

¶ And the men of Cariath Farin cam & set by the arke of the Lozde/ & brought it vnto the house of Abinadab in Gabaah & sanctified Eleazar hys sonne to waite vpon the arke of the Lozde. And whyle the arke abode in Cariath Farin/ the dayes multiplied/ that it was twenty yeres/ & all Israel lamented after the Lozde.

¶ And Samuel spake vnto all Israel saying yf ye become agayne vnto the Lozde shal poure hertes/ then put away the strange Goddes fro among you/ & Aharoth/ & prepare poure hertes vnto the Lozdes serue hym alone/ & so shal he ryde you out of the handes of the Philistines. And then the chylzen of Israel did put away the Baalim & Aharoth/ & serued the Lozde onely. Then saide Samuel: gather all Israel to Mizpah/ & I maye praye for you vnto the Lozde. And they gathered to gether to Mizpah/ & drey water & potyzed it out befoze the Lozde & fasted the same daye & sayde there: we haue synned agaynst the Lozde. And Samuel iudged the causes of the chylzen of Israel in Mizpah. When the Philistines heard/ the chylzen of Israel were gathered to gether to Mizpah/ & the Lozdes of the Philistines went by agaynst Israel. And wher the chylzen of Israel heard that they were assayed of the Philistines & saide to Samuel: craie not to crye vnto the Lozde oure God for vs/ he maye saue vs out of the handes of the Philistines. And Samuel toke a sucking lambe & offered it all to geather for a burnt offering/ vnto the Lozde/ & a Co crye here no more into the cootes of Israel: for þe hand of the Lord was vpon the Philistines all the dayes of Samuel. Wherto þe cities which þe Philistines had takē frō Israel/ came agayne to Israel/ eue frō Ierico to Geth/ id þe cootes of the same/ which Israel plucked out of the handes of þe Philistines. For ther was peace betwene Israel & þe Amorites. And Samuel iudged Israel all the dayes of hys lyfe/ and went about pere by pere/ to Bethel Galgal and Masphah/ and iudged Israel in all those places/ & came agayne to Ramath: for ther was his house/ and there he iudged Israel/ & there he bylt an autare vnto the Lorde.

¶ Because Samuels sonnes did myslike euell/ the people requere a kyng: & to the is described the fact of a kyng.

¶ The. iij. Chapter.

When Samuel was olde/ he made hys sonnes iudges ouer Israel. The name of his eldest sonne was Joel/ & þe name of þe secōde Abiath/ which were iudges in Bersabe. Neuerthelesse his sonnes folowed not his steppes: but turned a side after lucre: & toke rewardes/ & peruertered þe right. Then al þe elders of Israel gathered the to gether & came to Samuel vnto Ramath & sayde vnto him: beholde/ thou art olde/ & thy sonnes folowe not thy wayes. Now therfore make vs a kyng to iudge vs/ as all other naciōs haue. But the thyng displeased Samuel/ whē they sayde/ geue vs a kyng to iudge vs. And Samuel prayed vnto þe Lord.

¶ And þe Lorde sayde vnto Samuel/ heare the voyce of þe people in all þe they saye vnto the. For they haue not cast the awaye/ but me: þe I shuld not raigne ouer the. And as they haue cuer done/ sence I brought the out of Egypt vnto this daye/ & haue forsaken me & serued other Goddes/ eue so do they vnto the. Now therfore herke vnto their voyce/ howbeit yet tellistie vnto the & them the word of þe kyng þe shall raygne ouer the. And Samuel tolde all þe wordes of þe Lorde vnto þe people/ & asked a kyng of him/ & he sayde: this shal be þe dutie of þe kyng þe shall raigne ouer you: he wil take poure sonnes & put the to his charettes & make his horsmen of the & they must rāne before his charet/ & will make him capitaines of the ouer thou shalt & ouer fifties/ & will set the to care his grounde/ & to geather in hys heruel/ & to make instrumentes of warre & apparell for hys charettes. And he will take poure daughters & make the þe dyers of his opyntmentes/ & hys cookes & bakers. And he shall take þe best of poure felles/ & of poure bynepardes & of poure olue trees/ & geue the to his seruantes. And he shall take þe tenth of poure seed & of poure vines/ & geue it to hys lordes/ & to his seruantes. And he shall take the best of poure menservantes and maydeseruantes & young men/ and of poure asses/ and do his worke with the. And he shall take þe tenth of poure shepe/ & ye shal be his seruantes. And when ye crye out at that tyme vpon poure kyng/ which ye shall haue chosen you/ the Lorde will not heare you at that daye.

¶ Neuerthelesse the people wolde not heare þe voyce of Samuel/ but did saye: naye not so: But ther shal be a kyng ouer vs/ & we wil be like al other naciōs. And oure kyng shal iudge vs/ & go out before vs & fight oure battelles. And Samuel hearde all þe wordes of the people & rehered the in þe eares of þe Lord. And þe Lorde sayde to Samuel: herken vnto their voyce & make the a kyng. The sayde Samuel vnto þe me of Israel go euery mā vnto his cite. ¶ And the sonne of Israhel his fathers assis and is chosen a kyng.

¶ The. iij. Chapter.

Now there was a mā of Benjamin named Cis the sonne of Abiel/ the sonne of Zeror/ þe sonne of Bechorath/ the sonne of Aphiah/ þe sonne of a man þe was a Geminite/ a man of myght the same had a sonne called Saul/ a goodly yōng mā/ so þe amōge þe chyldre of Israel/ ther was none goodlyer then he/ & was thereto frō the shoulders bpwarde hert then all þe other people. And it chadred þe wyf of this Cis Sauls father were lost. Then sayde Cis to Saul his sonne: take one of þe laddes id the & bp a go like þe asses. And they went thozow moūt Ephraim & thozow þe land of Salisa/ & founde the not. Then they went thozow the lande of Salim/ & there they were not. Then they wēt alig thozow the land of Jemū/ and they found the not. Then whē they were come to the land of Zuph/ Saul sayde to þe young hill þe was id him: come let vs retorne/ lest my father leue caring for þe asses/ & take thought for vs. And he answered him: beholde/ ther is in this cite a worshipfull mā of God/ & all þe he sayth/ cometh to passe. Now then let vs go thither: peraduenture he shall shew vs what waye we may go. Then sayde Saul to his lad þe we go: what shall we bring the man? For oure byed is all spent out of oure bāpers & there is no nother present to bring the mā of God/ what haue we? And the young man answered Saul agayne & sayde: I haue found about me þe fourth part of a Sicel/ & will we geue the man of God to tell vs owre waye.

¶ Before tyme in Israel when a man wēt to seke an answer of God/ thus wyse he spake come & let vs go to the Shear. For he that is now called a prophet/ was in the olde tyme called a Shear. Then sayde Saul to his yōng man: well sayd of the: come let vs go. And so they wēt vnto the cite where the man of God was. And as they were going bp into þe cite/ they mett wyth damoelles that came out to draw draw water/ & sayde vnto them: is there here a fear. And þe maydens answered the/ yee: beholde/ he gothe before you. Make hast now/ for he cam this daye to the cite/ for þe people must offer this daye in þe hill. Whē ye be come bp to the hill to eat: for the people will not eat vntill he come/ because he must blesse þe offering. And then eate they þe be bidden to þe feast. Now therfore get you bp for euen now shall ye fynde him. And they went bp into the cite. And whē they were come into þe middes of þe cite: beholde/ Samuel came out agast the/ for to go bp to the hill. But þe Lorde had tolde Samuel a daye before Saul came/ saying: to morow thys tyme I will sende þe a man out of the lande of Benjamin/ him shal thou anoynte to be captaine ouer my people Israel/ that he maye saue my people out of the hand of the Philistines/ for I haue looked vpon my people/ and their crye is come vnto me. When Samuel saw Saul/ þe Lorde answered him: se/ this is the mā whō I spake to þe of. This same shall raygne ouer my people.

¶ The. iij. Chapter.

¶ Then went Saul to Samuel in þe middle of the gate/ & sayde: tell me I praye þe/ where about the sears house is/ and Samuel answered Saul & sayde: I am the fear/ go bp before me vnto the hill/ for ye shall eate with me to daye. And to morow I will let the go etlye/ & we will tell the all that is in thine hert/ and as for thine asses that were lost this daye the dayes/ care not for the/ for they are lost. And mozeouer whose shall þe bewisfull thynges of Israel be? belog they not to þe/ & vnto all thy fathers house? But Saul answered & sayde: am not I the sonne of a Geminite of þe smallest trybe of Israel/ and my kynred the least of all the kindredes of the trybe of Benjamin/ wherfore then speakest thou so to me?

¶ And Samuel toke Saul and his ladd & brought them into the parlor and made them syt in the cheffest place amonge the þe were bidden: which were vpon a thirtie persones. Then sayde Samuel vnto the cooke: bring forth þe porcion which I gaue the/ & of which I sayde kepe it with the. And the cooke toke bp the shoulder and brought it/ & set it before Saul. And Samuel sayde: beholde/ þe which is left: put it before the & eate/ for I kept it for the of purpose/ when I called the people. And so Saul did eate with Samuel þe daye. And when they were come downe frō the hill into þe cite/ Samuel communed with Saul bp þe toppe of þe house: & they arose etlye. And about the spryng of the daye Samuel called Saul bp þe toppe of the house saying: bp I maye send þe awaye. And Saul arose. And they wēt out at þe dozes both of the/ both he & Samuel. And when they were come almost out of the towne/ Samuel sayde to Saul: bid the lad go before vs/ and he went/ but stande thou still a while euen now/ that I maye shew the what God sayeth.

¶ Saul was anoynted a kyng/ & prophesied. Samuel declareth the people their faulte/ in that they asked a kyng. God sende the kyng lyfe.

¶ The. iij. Chapter.

¶ And when Samuel toke a boxe of oyle & powred it vpon his heed and kissed hym & sayde: the Lorde hath anoynted the to be a captaine ouer his enheritaunce. And now whē thou art departed from me/ thou shalt mete two mē by Rahels sepulchre in þe borders of Benjamin eue at Zalezah. And they will saye vnto the/ & asses which thou wentest to seke/ are founde se/ thy father hath left the care of þe asses and foroweth for you saying: what shall I do for my sonne? Then thou shalt go forth frō thēce & shalt come to þe ocke of Chaboz. And there shalt thou mete the mē going to God to Bethel: one carryng thre kiddes/ & a nother carryng thre loues of byed: & þe thrid carryng a botell of wine. And they will salute þe & geue the two loues of byed: which thou shalt receaue of their handes. After that thou shalt come to þe hill of God/ where the Philistines kepe their watche. And when thou art come thither to þe cite/ thou shalt mete a cōpanye of prophetes comyng doune frō þe hill/ with a psalter/ a timbrell/ a pipe/ & a harpe before the/ & they prophesye. And the spryte of the Lorde will come vpon the/ & thou shalt prophesie id the/ & shalt be turned vnto a nother mā. And whē these signes are chadced þe/ the do what thou hast to do/ for God is with the. And thou shalt also go before me to Galgal. And beholde I will come vnto þe/ to sacrifice burnt sacrifice & peace offerings. ¶ And say for me seven dayes/ till I come to the/ & shew the what thou shalt do. And as one as he had turned his shoulder to go frō Samuel/ God gaue him a nother maner of herite/ & all those tokes cam to passe that same daye. Whē they came to the hill: beholde/ the cōpanye of prophetes mett him/ & þe spryte of God cā bp him/ & he prophesied amonge the. And all that knew hi before whē they saw þe prophesied amonge þe prophetes/ they sayde ethe to other: what

What is happened into the sonne of Cis? Is Saul also among the prophets? And one of the same place answered & sayde: who is their father? And therof sprang a prouerbe: what is Saul also among the prophets? And whē he had made an ende of prophesying/ he cā to the hill. Saules fathers brother sayde vnto him & his ladd: whether wēt ye? And he answered: to seke the alleg: & when we sawe they were no where / we went to Samuel.

Then sayde Saul vnto him: tell me what Samuel sayde vnto you? And Saul answered his bnde: he tolde vs the alleg were founde. But of the kyngdome wherof Samuel spake tolde he him not. After that Samuel called the people to geather vnto the Lozde to Mizpah & sayde vnto the chyldre of Israel: thus sayth the Lozde God of Israel: I brought you out of Egypt: & deliuered you out of the hand of the Egypciāns: & out of the hand of all kingdomes that oppressed you. And ye haue thys daye cast awaye your God: & holpe you out of al your aduersities & tribulaciōs. And ye haue sayde vnto hi: make a king ouer vs. Now therfore staide before the Lozde by your tribes & your thousands. And whē Samuel had brought al the tribes of Israel the tribe of Benjamin was caught. whē he had brought the tribe of Benjamin by their kindredes: the kindred of Betul was caught: and Saul the sonne of Cis was caught. And they sought hi: but he couid not be founde. Then they asked the Lozde further: whether he shalde come thither. And the Lozde answered: beholde: he hath hidde himselfe among the stulle. And they ran & sech the stulle. And whē he stode among the people: he was hyer then any of the people. fro the shoulders bywarde. And Samuel sayde to all the people: there se ye whō the Lozde hath chosē & how there is none like hi amonge all the companye. And all the people howled and sayde: God lend the kyng ipte.

Then Samuel tolde the people the butie of the kyngdome / & wrote it in a booke / and layde it vp before the Lozde: & so sent all the people awaye / euery man to his house. And Saul also went home to Gabaah. And there went to him an hoste / soche as God had touched their hartes. But the chyldre of bntzistinne sayde: how shall he saue vs? and despyed him & brought him not presentes. And he made as though he had not hearde it.

The people deliuered the tyrante of Babilon: & smother the kyngdome of Saul.

The xi. Chapter.

Then Dabas the Ammonite came & beseged Jabes in Galaad. And all the people of Jabes sayde vnto Dabas: make a couenaunt with vs & we will be thy seruantes. And Dabas the Ammonite sayde: herto will I make a couenaunt with you: cut to thrust out all your right eyes: & I maye by the same word al Israel. & he saide: the elders of Jabes: geue vs leue dayes respit: & we maye send messengers vnto all the colles of Israel. And then if there come no man to helpe vs, we will come out to the. Then came messengers to Gabaah where Saul dwelt: & tolde this thinges in the eares of the people. And all the people sate by their voices & wept. And beholde Saul cam following his oren out of the scide: & asked what ayled the people to wepe. And they tolde him the thinges of the me of Jabes. Then cā the spyte of God vnto Saul: whē he herde those thinges: & he was exceeding angrie. And toke a pouke of oyle & helmed the in pecces / & sent the thozow out al the colles of Israel by the handes of messengers saying: whosoever cometh not forth after Saul & after Samuel / so shall his oren be serued. Then the feare of the Lozde fell on the people: & they cā out as it had bene but one man. And when they were nobred in Beze the chyldre of Israel were thye hundred thousand: and the men of Juda thirtie thousand. And they sayde vnto the messengers that cā: so saye vnto the men of Jabes in Galaad: to morow by that tyme / the sonne be hote / ye shall haue helpe. And the messengers cam & shewed the men of Jabes / & they were glad. And then the men of Jabes sayde: to morow we will come out vnto you: that ye maye do with vs all as please you. And on the morow Saul put the people in thye partes. And they cā in vnto the host in the morning watche: & due the Ammonites: vntill the heat of the daye. And they remained: & shattered: so that two of them were not left to geather. Then sayde the people to Samuel: what are they? said: Shall Saul raigne ouer vs? bying the we maye slay the. But Saul sayde: there shall no man die this daye: for to daye the Lozde hath saured Israel.

Then sayde Samuel vnto the people: come & let vs go to Gaigal: & renewe the kyngdome there. And the people wēt to Gaigal and made Saul kyng there: before the Lozde in Gaigal. And there they offered peace offeringes before the Lozde. And there Saul and all the people reioysed exceedingly.

Then sayde Samuel vnto the people: come & let vs go to Gaigal: & renewe the kyngdome there. And the people wēt to Gaigal and made Saul kyng there: before the Lozde in Gaigal. And there they offered peace offeringes before the Lozde. And there Saul and all the people reioysed exceedingly.

The xii. Chapter.

Then sayde Samuel vnto all Israel: beholde I haue obeyed your hope: in all that ye sayde vnto me: & haue made you a kyng. And se your kyng walketh before you. But I am olde & graye headed: & behold my sonnes are with you: & I haue walked before you fro my chyldhode vnto this daye. Behold here I stand: & I will be before before the Lozde & before his anoynted: whose ore haue I taken: of whose will haue I take whom haue I done wylg to: of whom haue I pilled? And of whose hand haue I receaued any byrbe / to blynde myne eyes therewith? & I will restore it you agayne. And they sayde: thou hast done vs no wylg: nor pilled vs: neither hast thou taken ought of any mānes hande. Then sayde he to them: the Lozde is witness vnto you: and his anoynted is witness this daye: that ye haue sode nought in my handes. And they answered: we are witnesses. Then sayde Samuel vnto the people: it is the Lozde that made Moses & Aaron: & which brought your fathers out of Egypt. Now therfore stande still: and let me reason with you before the Lozde: of all the right-wynesses of the Lozde which he shewed both you and your fathers.

After that Jacob was come into Egypt: your fathers cryed vnto the Lozde: & the Lozde sent Moses & Aaron: whych brought your fathers out of Egypt: & made the dwell in thys place. Neuerthelater they forgat the Lozde their God. And he solde them into the hande of Silara chese captayne of Fabin kyng of Egipt: and into the handes of the philistines and into the handes of the kyng of Moale: which fought agaynst them. Then they cryed vnto the Lozde and sayde: we haue synned: because we haue forsaken the Lozde & haue serued Baalim and Astaroth. But now deliuer vs out of the handes of our enemyes: and we will serue the. And the Lozde sent Jerobaa: Bada. Jephthah: and Samuel: & deliuered you out of the handes of your enemyes on euery syde: so that ye dwelled without feare. And for all that whē you saw that Dabas the kyng of the chyldren of Ammon cā agaynst you: ye sayde vnto me: not so: a kyng shall raigne ouer vs: whē yet the Lozde poure God was your kyng. Now therfore beholde the kyng whom ye haue chosē and whom ye haue desired: se: the Lozde hath geuen you a kyng: & that ye wolde feare the Lozde & serue him: & heare his voyce & not disobey the mouth of the Lozde: and that both ye and the kyng that raygneth ouer you wolde follow the Lozde your God. For ye shall not berken vnto the voyce of the Lozde: but shall disobey the Lozdes mouth: then shall the hande of the Lozde be vpon you & on your fathers. Now also stande & se this great thing which the Lozde will do before your eyes: is it not now wherheruest. And yet for all that I will call vnto the Lozde: and he shall sende thunder and rayne. Wherbye perceauē & vnderstande: how that your wickednes is great which ye haue done in the syght of the Lozde in asking you a kyng. And when Samuel called vnto the Lozde: the Lozde sent thunder and rayne the same daye. And all the people feared the Lozde and Samuel exceedingly. Then sayde all the people vnto Samuel: praye for thy seruantes vnto the Lozde thy God: for we dye not: for we haue synned in asking vs a kyng: besyde all that synne that euer we did.

Then sayde Samuel vnto the people: feare not. And though ye haue done all thys wickednes: yet by parte not fro the Lozde in any case. But serue hym with all your hartes. Nether turne ye after bayne thynges: whych canot deliuer you: for they are but vanities. But the Lozde will not forsake his people: because of his great names sake: because the Lozde hath begone to make you his people. Moreover God forbydde that I shoulde synne agaynst the Lozde in leuyng praying for you and to shewe you the good and right waye. Only feare you the Lozde and serue him truly with all your hart: for se he hath done great thinges for you. But & if ye shall do wickedlye: then shall bothe ye and your kyng thereto perishe.

The xiii. Chapter.

Saul was as a chyld of a yere olde: when he begā to raygne. And whē he had raygned two yeres ouer Israel: he chose hym thye thousand men out of Israel. & two thousand were with Saul in Machmas and mount Bethel: and a thousande with Jonathan in Gabaah Benjamin. And the rest of the people he sent: euery man to his awne house. And Jonathan due the philistines in an holde they had in Gabaah: & it came to the philistines eares. And Saul caused the trompet to be blowne thozow out all the land saying: let the Gbewes heare. And all Israel heard saye: how the Saul had destroyed an holde of the philistines: & how the Israel francke vnto the philistines. And all the people cryed after Saul to Gaigal.

Then the philistines gathered the selues to geather to fyght with Israel: thirtie thousand charettes & sixe thousande horse men with other people: & he came by the seide side in multitude & came by a pitched in Machmas eastwarde from Bethauen. And whē the men of Israel saw the selues in a drayte: & the people were accombyed: they hidde the selues in caues / in pyer holes / in rocks / in dennes & pittes. And the Gbewes went over Jordan vnto the land of Gad & Galaad. But Saul was yet in Gaigal: and all the people followed him were a sonped. And he tarped seven dayes: as Samuel had appoynted. But Samuel came not to Gaigal: & the people a. The Lorde is counted to be for hym selfe/ not because he knoweth not any thing of a man: but he min. And Saul nōbryd þe people þe were foude hym/ about a fyre hundred mē. And Saul & Jonathan his sonne & the people that were founde in the/ had their abyding in Gabaah Benjamin. But the Philistines had pitched in Machmas. And there came out of the host of the Philistines thre cōpanies, to destrōie: one cōpanye turned vnto þe waye þe leade to Ephrah vnto the land of Saul. And a nother cōpanye turned þe waye to Bethoꝝ. And the thyrde cōpanye turned to þe waye of the coast þe turneth to þe vale of Zeboum towarde þe wil-dernesse. But there was no myght thowout all þe lāde of Israel. For þe Philistines thought þe then þe Ebyez might make the swerdes of speres. And therfore must all Israel go downe to þe Philistines/ to mende euery man his share/ his mattock/ his are/ or his cychle: as ofte as þe edges of þe cichles mattock/ dōung forches/ & axes were blide/ and also to mende their goodes. And so in tyme of battell there was nether swerde nor spere founde in the handes of any of the people that were wyth Saul & Jonathan: saue for Saul and Jonathan his sonne was there cōwhat founde. And the Garison of þe Philistines came out & stode on the other syde before Machmas. ¶ Jonathan cōpanyed with his harnessebearer putteth the Philistines to fyghe. He taketh the honye wyth his father/ vnto knowyng to him/ had forbidden the whole host. He shude therfore haue bene slayne but the people deliuer hym. ¶ The xiiij. Chapter.

And it fell on a daye/ that Jonathan the sonne of Saul sayde vnto his young mā þe bare his harnesse: come & let vs go ouer to the watche mē of þe

Philistines þe are possider on the other syde/ & tolde noth is father. But Saul tarped in the vtmost parte of Gabaah vnder a pomegar-net tree/ þe was in Machmas/ & the people that were in him were vnto a fyre hundred mē. And Abiah þe sonne of Abitob Zehabodes brother/ þe sonne of Phineches/ the sonne of Eli/ was þe Lorde pꝛeste in Siloh and bare an Ephod. But þe people wist not þe Jonathan was gone.

And in þe waye ouer by which Jonathan sought to go ouer vnto þe garison of þe philistines/ were there two warpe rocks/ euē one of þe one side/ & þe other on þe other side: þe one called Bozer/ & þe other Seneh. And þe one leaneth northwarde towarde Machmas/ & the other southwarde towarde Gabaah. The sayd Jonathan to þe young mā þe bare his harnesse: come & let vs go ouer vnto þe stāding of these bncirectes/ paraduētūre þe Lorde wil wozke it vs: for þe Lorde is free to saue in manye oꝝ in fwe. And his harnesse bearer sayde vnto him do all þe is in thine hert: set þe forwarde: & se I am w þe as thine hert lusteth. Then saide Jonathan: beholde/ whē we go ouer vnto þe mē/ & we oure selues vnto the: yf they saye on this wise to vs: saye vnto the: we come to you/ then we will stāde still where we be & not go vnto the. But yf they so saye vnto vs: come vnto vs/ the we will go vnto/ for þe Lorde hath deliuered the into oure handes. And this shalbe a sygne vnto vs. And when they had bothe theweth the selues vnto þe garison of þe Philistines/ þe Philistines sayde: se/ þe Ebyez come out of þe holes where they had hid the selues in. And þe mē of þe garison answered Jonathan & his harnessebearer & sayde: come vnto vs/ & we wil shew you a thing. The sayde Jonathan vnto his harnessebearer: come vnto me/ for þe Lorde hath deliuered them into þe handes of Israel. And Jonathan clame vnto his handes & fete/ & his harnessebearer after he. When they fell before Jonathan: and his harnessebearer shue the after he. And þe first slaughter which Jonathan & his harnessebearer made was vnto a twētie mē/ vnto þe cōpalle as it were about an halfe shere of land. And ther was a feare in þe host þe was in þe feld/ & amōg all þe people: in so moche þe they kept þe holde/ & they were gone to robbe/ were a straide also: & þe erth trembled/ & there was a feare sent of God. And þe watche mē of Saul in Gabaah Benjamin/ saw. And beholde/ þe people skatered & rāne hither & thither. The saide Saul vnto þe people þe was in him: nōbrye & se who is gone awaye fro vs. And whē they had tolde: beholde/ Jonathan & his harnessebearer were not there. And the Saul said vnto his bys-hether þe arche of God/ for þe arche of God was at þe tyme in the chyloze of Israel. And while Saul talked vnto þe pꝛeste/ þe people þe were in the in þe port of þe philistines/ rāne moze & moze. And Saul sayde vnto þe pꝛeste: with dyaw-thine hāde. And Saul cryed & all the people were in him/ & wēt to battell. And beholde euery mānes swerde was agaynst his felowe/ & a mightie great slaughter. Moꝝeouer þe Ebyez were in þe philistines before þe tyme/ & were come in the in all partes of þe host/ they turned to Israel that was with Saul & Jonathan. And they also which had hydde them selues in mounte Ephraim/ as sone as they hearde how that the Philistines were fledde/ they folowed after the in battell. And so God holpe Israel that daye. And the battell continued vntill they came to Bethauen.

And the men of Israel loꝝned the selues to geather þe daye: & Saul aduised the people sayinge: Cursed be he that eateth anye fode vntill nyght/ that I maye be aduenged of myne enemies. And so there was none of þe people that tasted any sustināce. And all the lande came to a wood where honye laye vnto þe grofde. And whē þe people were come into the wood: beholde/ the honye dropped. How be it there was no mā þe moued his hād to his mouth/ because that the people feared the curse. But Jonathan heard not whē his father aduised þe people/ wherfore he put for-the þe ende of þe staffe þe was in his hād & dꝛe it in an honye combe/ & put his hande to his mouth/ & his eyes receaued sight. The spake one of þe people & sayde: thy father aduised þe people sayinge: Cursed be þe mā þe eateth any sustināce this daye/ & yet the people were saynt. ¶ Then sayde Jonathan: my father hath troubled þe lāde: for se/ myne eyes hath receaued sight/ because I tasted a litle of this honye: how then yf all þe people had eat of þe spoyie of their enemies which they foude had there not bene then a moche greater slaughter amōg þe Philistines? And they layd on the Philistines that daye/ fro Machmas to Aia. And þe people were excōpyng sayntie.

¶ Then þe people gat the to the spoyie & toke the pe oꝝen & calues/ & shue the on the grofde & byd eate with the bloude. ¶ Then men tolde Saul sayinge: Beholde the people synne agaynst the Lorde/ in that they eate with the bloude. And he sayde: ye haue trespassed. But rowle a great stone vnto me now/ and go abroade among þe people & byd the kyng eue-ry mā his oꝝe & euery man his shepe/ and lay the heze/ & synne not agaynst þe Lorde in eatyng in the bloude. And þe people brought euery mā his oꝝe in his hand by nyght & shue the there. And Saul made an altare vnto þe Lorde. And þe was the fyrst altare þe he made vnto the Lorde. And Saul sayde: lett vs go downe after the Philistines by nyght/ & lett vs make hauoke amōg the vntill it be daye in þe moꝝnyng/ & lett vs not leaue one of the. And þe people answered/ do whatsoeuer thou thinkest best. ¶ Then sayde the pꝛeste: lett vs come hither vnto God. And Saul asked of God: shall I go downe after þe Philistines? & wilt thou deliuer the into myne hand? But he answered him not at þe tyme. ¶ Then sayde Saul let the people come hyther out of all quarters/ & knowe & se/ in whō this synne is chaūced this daye: for as truly as the Lorde lyueth which hath saued Israel/ though it be in Jonathan my sonne/ he shall dye for it. But no man answered him of all the people.

¶ Then he sayde vnto all Israel: be ye on one syde/ & I & Jonathan my sonne wylbe on another. And þe people sayde vnto Saul: what thou thinkest best that do. And Saul sayde vnto the Lorde God of Israel: geue perfect knowledge. And Saul and Jonathan were caught/ & the people shaped free. ¶ Then sayd Saul: cast lott betwene me & Jonathan my sonne. And Jonathan was caught. ¶ Then Saul sayde to Jonathan: tell me what thou hast done. And Jonathan tolde him & sayde: I tasted a litle honye vpon the ende of my staffe & was in myne hande/ & se/ I must dye.

¶ Then sayd Saul: God do so/ and so to me/ except þe thou dye Jonathan. But the people sayde vnto Saul: shall Jonathan dye which hath so myghtely holpe Israel? God forþyd. As truly as þe Lorde lyueth/ there shall not one heare of his heed fall to þe grofde: for he hath wrought wyth God this daye. And so þe people deliuered Jonathan/ & he dyed not. And then Saul departed fro folowyng the Philistines. And þe Philistines went to their awone place. And so Saul toke þe kyngdome ouer Israel/ and sought agaynst all his enemies on euery syde: agaynst the Moabites: agaynst þe chyloze of Ammid: agaynst þe Edomites: agaynst the kynges of Zobah and agaynst þe Philistines. And whether so euer he turned him selfe there he warne/ & played the mā & shue þe Amalechites/ & rydde Israel out of the hādes of the that spoyled the. ¶ The sonnes of Saul were/ Jonathan/ Melchishua/ and Melchishua. And his two daughters were thus named: the elder was called Merob & þe younger Michol. And the name of Saules wife was Abinoam þe daughter of Abimaaz. And the name of his cheafe captayne was Abner the sonne of Ner Saules vncle. And ¶ This was Saules father. And Ner þe father of Abner was the sonne of Abiel. And there was soze warre in þe Philistines/ all þe dayes of Saul. For wher soeuer Saul sawe a strong mā/ & an actiue/ he toke him vnto him. ¶ Saul is commaūded to slay Amalech. He is disobedient to the voyce of God/ and saue the spoyie to of fer it vnto the Lorde: for which the Lorde reuēgeth & casteth him awaye. Samuel mourneþ for Saul.

i. Samuel.

The xii. Chapter.

When sayde Samuel vnto Saul: The Lord sent me to anoynt þe kynge ouer his people Israel. Now therfore obeye thou the voyce of the wordes of the Lord. Thus sayth the Lord of hostes: I haue called to remembraunce þe which Amalech did to Israel how they laye in wayte for them in the waye / as they came out of Egypte. Now therfore go & smyte the Amalechites / & only destroye ye all that per- sayneth vnto the / & le thou haue no cōpadyō on the. But slay bothe man & womā / infant & sucklyng / & ore / shepe / camell & alle.

And Saul tolde it the people / & nombred them in & clain two hundred thousand foote men / & ten thousand mē of Iuda. And Saul came vnto a citty of þe Amalechites / & fought in a balleys. But Saul sayd vnto the Kenites go & departe and gett ye doune frō among þe Amalechites / lest I destroye you with them for ye shewed mercy wth Israel when they came out of Egypt. And þe Kenites departed from amonge the Amalechites.

And Saul slue the Amalechites frō He- uila to Sur that lyeth before Egypt / & toke Agag the kynge of the Amalechites a lyue / & biterly destroyed all the people wth þe edge of the swerde. But Saul & the people spard Agag / and they left of the shepe and of the oxen and of the catt thynges and the lambes & all that was good / and wolde not destroye the. But all that was noughte worth a flaggye / that they destroyed biterly. Then came the word of the Lord vnto Samuel saying: it repenteth me / & I haue made Saul kynge. For he is turned from me & hath not parfo- med my commandementes / wherefore Sa- muel was euell apasde & cryed vnto þe Lord all nyght. And Samuel rose erlye / to mete Saul in þe moynyng. And it was tolde Sa- muel that Saul was come to Carmel / and had set him bp a pillar of trāsphe. And was turned and departed and gone to Galgal.

And when Samuel was come to Saul / Saul sayde vnto him: Blessed be thou in the Lord. I haue done the commandement of the Lord. And Samuel answered: what meaneth then the bleatynge of the shepe in myne eares / & the noyse of the oxen which I heare? And Saul sayde: they haue brought them from the Amalechites. For the people spared the best of the shepe and of the oxen / to sacrifice vnto the Lord thy God. And the word of the Lord came vnto Samuel saying: I haue destroyed.

But Samuel sayde to Saul: cease & let me tell the what the Lord hath sayde to me this nyght. And he sayde vnto hym: saye on. And Samuel sayde when thou wast a ylle in thyme awone syght / wast thou not made þe head of the tribes of Israel? And the Lord anoynted the kynge ouer Israel. And then þe Lord sent the on a iourne / & sayde vnto þe / le that thou biterly destroye those synners / the Amalechites & syght agaynst them vntill ye haue biterly destroyed the. And when thou hast thou now not obeyed the voyce of þe Lord: But dydest turne to the praye & hast wrought wickednesse in þe syght of þe Lord.

And Saul sayde vnto Samuel: I haue obeyed the voyce of the Lord / and went the waye which þe Lord sent me / & haue brought Agag the kynge of the Amalechites. And haue biterly destroyed þe Amalechites. And the people toke of the spoyte / shepe / oxen / & the cheffest of the thynges which shuld haue bene destroyed / to offer vnto þe Lord thy God in Galgal. Then sayd Samuel: hath þe Lord as great pleasure in burnt sacrifices & offer- ynges / as he hath that thou shuldest obeye his voyce? Beholde / to obaye is better then offeryng / and to geue heade is better then þe fatt of rammes. For rebelliousnesse is as þe synne of witchcraft / & stubbornnesse is wickednesse & Idolatrye. Because therfore thou hast cast awaye the word of the Lord / therfore hath the Lord cast awaye the also / frō beynge kynge.

Then sayde Saul to Samuel: I haue synned for I haue traspassed the mouth of the Lord / and thy wordes / because I feared the people & obeyed their voyce. But now take awaye my synne / & turne agayne wth me / that I maye worship the Lord. Then sayde Samuel vnto Saul: I will not retorne to the: for thou hast cast awaye the byddynge of God / & therfore the Lord hath cast awaye the also / & thou shalt not be kynge ouer Israel. And as Samuel turned to go awaye / he caught the lappe of his coote / and it rent. Then Samuel sayde / the Lord hath rent þe kynge dome of Israel from the this daye / and hath geuen it to a neybour of thyme that is better then thou. And thereto he that geureth victoie to Israel / will not begyle no / repit: for he is not a man / that can repent.

Then he sayd: I haue synned. But yet ho- noure me before þe elders of my people / and before Israel / and turne agayne wth me / that I maye praye vnto the Lord thy God. And Samuel turned agayne and folowed Saul. And Saul prayed vnto the Lord. Then sayd Samuel: Byng ye hither to me Agag the kynge of the Amalechites. And Agag came vnto him / & depcately. And Agag sayde: truly þe bitternesse of deeth cometh on. And Samuel sayd: As thy swerde hath made wome childelesse / so shall thy mother be chyl- delesse amonge other women. And so Samuel hewed Agag in peaces before the Lord in Galgal.

Galgal. And then Samuel departed to Ra- math. And Saul went home to his house to Gabaah Saul. But Samuel came no more to see Saul vntill þe daye of his deeth. Ne- uerthelesse Samuel mourned for Saul / be- cause the Lord repented that he had made him kynge ouer Israel.

David is anoynted kynge: and receaueth the holy goost. An euell sprete cometh vpon Saul which de- parteth when David playeth.

The xiii. Chapter.

When the Lord sayde vnto Sa- muel: How longe wilt thou moune for Saul / saying I haue cast hym awaye frō ragynng ouer Israel? I will sende the to Israel þe Bethlehemite / for I haue spied me a kynge amonge hys sonnes. But Samuel answered: how shall I goo? For Saul shall heare it & wyll kyll me. And the Lord sayde: Take an heylster wth the / & saye thou goest to offer to þe Lord. And calle Israel to the offeryng / & I will shew the what thou shalt do. And thou shalt anoynt him whom I saye vnto the. And Samuel byd as the Lord bad him. And when he came to Bethlehem / þe elders of the towne were astonied at hys comyng / and sayde: Betokeneth thy comynge prayce? and he sayde yee / for I am come to of- fer vnto the Lord. & I ense poure sciurs and come to me to the offeryng. And he purified Israel & his sonnes / & bad the to the offeryng. And when they were come / he looked on Eliab & sayd: þe Lord anoynted is before him. But þe Lord sayde vnto Samuel: loke not on his sacpon no / on the heyghe of his stature / for I haue refused him. Because it is not as man looth on the outward appe- raunce: but the Lord beholdeth the harte.

Then Israel called Abinadab & made him come before Samuel. And he sayde: nether hath þe Lord chosen this. Then Israel made Samah come / and he sayde: nether yet hath þe Lord chosen hym. Then made Israel sciurn of hys sonnes come before Samuel. And Samuel sayde / the Lord hath chosen none of these.

Then sayde Samuel to Israel: are here all thy chyldre? and he sayde: the youngest is yet behynde: Beholde / he kepeth þe shepe. Then Samuel sayde vnto Israel: sende & lette hym for we wyll not sytte doune / till he be come hither. And he sent & brought hym in. And he was bytome with goodlye eyes / and well fa- uored in syght. And then the Lord sayde bp and anoynt him: for this is he. And Samuel toke the boyne wth the oymnt and anoynted hym in the presens of his brethren. And the spyte of the Lord came vpon Da- uid / from that daye forwarde. And Samuel rose bp and went to Ramath.

But the spyte of the Lord departed frō

Saul / & an euell sprete sent of þe Lord be- reid hym. Then sayde his seruantes vnto him: Beholde / an euell sprete sent of God bereyth the / lett oure Lord therfore comaunde hys seruantes to seke a man that is a connyng player in an harpe. And then when the euell sprete sent of God / cometh vpon the / that he maye playe in his hāde / & thou shalt be cased. And Saul sayde vnto his seruantes: seke me a man that can well playe / and byng him to me. Then answered one of hys seruantes & sayde: Beholde / I haue sene a sonne of Israel þe Bethlehemite / that can playe vpon instru- mentes / and is an actyue felowe and a man of warre and prudent & well made / and the Lord is wth hym / wherupon Saul sent messengers vnto Israel & sayde: sende me Da- uid thy sonne which is wth the shepe. And Israel toke an asse lade wth byred / and a flac- ket of wyne / & a kydder / and sent the by Da- uid his sonne vnto Saul. And David went to Saul & came before him / & he loued hym very well / so that he was made hys harnes- bearer. And Saul sent to Israel saying: lette David remayne wth me / for he hath founde fauour in my syght. And when the spyte of God came bpō Saul / David toke an harpe and played wth his hande / & so Saul was refreshed / and did amend and the euell sprete departed from hym.

The battell of the Philistines agaynst Israel. I tell David ouercometh great Goliath.

The xiiii. Chapter.

When the Philistines gathered their ho- ste to battell / & came to gether to Socoh in Iuda / and pytched be- twene Sococh and Azekah / in the ende of Domim. And Saul and the men of Israel came and pytched in Okechole / & put them selues in a raye / to syght agaynst the Philistines. And the Philistines stode on an hyll on the one syde / & Israel stode on an hyll on þe other syde / & a balleie betwene the. And then came a mā & stode in the myddes / out of þe lētes of the Philistines named Goliath / of Geth syre cubytes & an hāddyeth longe / & had an helmet of brasse vpon his heed / and a coote of mayle about hym. And þe weyght of his coote of mayle was syue thousande Cy- kles of brasse. And he had harnesse of brasse bpō his legges / & a shilde of brasse vpon hys shoulers. And þe waste of his spere was like a weuers beame. And his speare heed weyed bi hundred sykles of yron. And one bearyng a shilde went before him.

And he stode & called vnto the hoste of Is- rael / & sayde vnto them: what needeth þe shulde come out in araye to battell? am not I a Philistine / & you seruantes to Saul / cho- se you a mā / and lett him come doune to me /

E* what am I? what is my life of the hundred of my father in Israel? I will be sonne in law to the King: How be it when I come was come I Merob Sauls daughter should haue bene geue to David/ the was geue to to Abiel a Micholothite/ to wyfe. How be it Michol Sauls daughter loued David.
And when it was shewed Saul: the thynge pleased him well. And he sayde: I will geue him her that he maye be a snare to hym/ to bryng the hande of the Philistines vnto hym.
And Saul sayde to David: thou shalt this daye be my sonne in law agayne. And Saul commaunded his seruantes/ to comen to Da-uid secretlye & saye: Beholde the King hath a fauoure to the/ and all his seruantes loue the/ be therfore the kynges sonne in lawe.

And Sauls seruantes spake those wordes in the eares of David. But David answered: semeth it to you a lycht thyng to be I kyngs sonne in lawe/ when I am a poore man & of smalle reputacyon? And Sauls seruantes tolde him agayne sayinge: of this maner answered David. Then sayde Saul: this wyse saye to David: the kyng careth for no nother dowrye but for an hundred foreskynnes of the Philistines/ to be aduaged of I kynges enemies. For Saul thought to make David fall into the handes of the Philistines. Then his seruantes tolde David these wordes/ & it pleased David well to be I kynges sonne in lawe. And wher after David arose to his men/ & went/ & slue of the Philistines/ two hundred men/ & brought their foreskynnes/& satisfied the King therof to be his sonne in lawe. * And so Saul gaue him Michol his daughter to wyfe. And when Saul sawe bnderhede/ how that the Lord was with Da-uid/ & that Michol his daughter loued hym/he was the more afrayed of David/ and he came Davids enemye for euer. And when the Philistines went out to warre/ David behaued him selfe wylfyer then all I seruantes of Saul: so I his name was moche let bye.

Saul commaunded to sle David. Michol his wyfe saue hym by a poyse state/ & becaused her father. Saul is also amonge the prophetes.

The xix. Chapter.

Ihen Saul comuned with Jona-thas his sonne/ & with all his ser-uantes/ that they should kill Da-uid. * But Jonathan Sauls sonne had a great fauoure to David/ & tolde Da-uid sayinge: Saul my father gothe about to sle the. Now therfore take hede to thy selfe.
be tymes & abyde in some secret place & hyde thy selfe. And I will go out & stande by my father in the felde where thou art/ & will co-men with my father of the/ and yf I can par-ceane ought I will tell the.

And Jonathan spake the best of David vnto Saul his father & sayde vnto him: lett not the King synne agaynst his seruant Da-uid/ for he hath not synned agaynst the/ & his wozkes are to the warde very good. For he hath put his lyfe in his hande & slue the Philistine/ & the Lord gaue a great victorye to all Israel. And thou sawest it/ & thou reioy-sedest/ wherfore then synnest thou synne agaynst innocent bloude/ & sle David for nought? And Saul hardeneth his heart/ & he of Jonathan and warres truly as I Lord spueth/ he shall not dye. Then Jonathan called David & shewed him all those wordes/ & brought him to Saul. And he was in his presens as in tymes past.

And the warre began agayne/ and David wot out & fought with the Philistines & slue a great slaughter/ & put them to flight. And the euell spete of the Lord was vpon Saul as he sat in his house hauing a Gaueyng in his hande/ & David played with his hande.
And Saul entended to naye David to the walle with the Gaueyng: But David ryde hym selfe out of Sauls pzelens/ & he smote the speare into the walle. But David fled & sawd him selfe that same nyght. Then Saul sent messengers vnto Davids house/ to watche hym & to sle hym in the morninge. But Michol his wyfe tolde it him sayinge: I shal saue not thy selfe this nyghte/ to morow thou art a deed man. And so Michol lett David downe throu a wyndow/ & he wot and fled & sawd him selfe. And then he toke an yma-ge & layed it in I bed/ & put a pylow stuffed with goates hearre vnder the heed of it/ & co-uered it with a clothe. And when Saul sent messengers to fetch David/ the sayde that he was sycke: Then Saul sent the messengers to se David sayinge: bryng him to me/ bed & all/ that he maye be slayne. And when the messengers were come in: Beholde there laye an ymage in the bed/ with a pylow of goates hearre vnder the heed of it. Then sayde Saul to Michol: why hast thou mocked me so/ and sent away myne enemye that he is escaped?
And Michol answered Saul: he sayde vnto me/ let me go/ or elles I will kill I. And so David fled and escaped and went to Samuel to Ramath & tolde him all that Saul had done to him. And he/ and Samuel went and dwelt in Ramoth.

And it was tolde Saul sayinge: Beholde/David is at Ramoth in Ramath/ then Saul sent messengers to sett David. And wher they saw a cōpanye of prophetes/ prophesyng and Samuel standyng fast by the spete of God fell vpon the messengers of Saul/ & they prophesied to. And when it was tolde Saul/ he sent other messengers/ & they prophesied

Saul sent messengers yet agayne the thyrde tyme wher they prophesied also. Then went he hym selfe to Ra-mach/ & wher he cam to a great well that is in Socoh/ he asked & sayde: where are Samuel & David? And they sayde: se they be at Ramoth in Ramath/ and as he wot thither to Ramoth in Ramath the spete of God came vpon him also/ and he went prophesying/ & brought with hym a Gaueyng. And he stripte of his clothes and prophesied before Samuel in lyke maner/ & I fell naked all I daye & all that nyght/ wherfore it is a comen sayng/ is Saul also amonge the prophetes?
David being in Socoh/ of his lyfe & of his to Jonathan. Jonathan loueth him as he himselfe deliuereth him. A proper poyse deuised be the by which David shuld knowe the extent of Sauls yet Jonathan be blamelesse. The xx. Chap.

David fled to Ramoth in Ra-mach & went & sayde before Jona-thas: what haue I done? wher in am I faultie? what is the synne I I haue committed before thy father that he sekerh my lyfe? And Jonathan answered him: God forbydd/ thou shalt not dye. For se my father will do nothinge ether great or small/but I he will shew it me. For wher shuld my father hyde this thyng fro me? there shalbe no soche thing. And David swore agayne & sayde: thy father knoweth I haue founde grace in thyne eyes & therfore he thynketh/Jonathan shall not knowe it/ leste he be sope.
For in very deade/ euil as truly as I Lord sp-ueth/ & as truly as thy soule spueth/ there is but a steppe betwene me & deeth. Then sayde Jonathan vnto David/ what soeuer thy soule desyret h I will do vnto the. And David sayde vnto Jonathan: Beholde/ to morow is I feyrt daye of the moneth/ & I shulde spe-de I kyng at meate. But let me go I maye hyde my selfe in the felde vnto this daye the 30 dayes at euil. If thy father myle me/ then saye: David asked leaue of me/ I he myghte go to Bethlehem to his awne cytie/ for there is holde a peryle seekt for all his kynne. And yf thy father saye thus: it is well done/ then thy seruant shall haue peace. But yf he be angrye: then be sure that wickednesse is betraye concluded of him. And then thou shal deuise me mercy vnto thy seruant/ for thou hast made with me thy seruant a bonde in I Lord. Notwithstandyng yf there be in me any trespase/ then sle me thy selfe/ for what madeth the to bryng me to thy father.

And Jonathan answered: God kepe I fro the/ I shuld knowe/ I wykednesse weare concluded of my father/ to come vpon the: and shulde not tell it I. Then sayde David/ who shall tell me/ yf thy father answer cruelly?
Then sayde Jonathan to David/ come & lett us go out into the felde. And they went out both of them into the felde.

And Jonathan sayd vnto David: O Lord god of Israel wher I haue groped my fathers mynde/ one tyme or other within this thre dayes/ that it stand well with David: and I then sende not vnto the and shew it the/ the Lord do so & so vnto Jonathan. And in lyke maner/ yf euil to the warde please my father/ I will shew the and sende the awaye/that thou mayst go in peace. And the Lord be with the as he hath bene with my father.
And thou shalt performe vnto me the mercy of the Lord/ not onely whyle I lyue but euil wher I am deed plucke not thy mercy away from my house for euer: Do not when the Lord hath destroyed the enemies of David every one from the face of the erth.

And so Jonathan made a bonde with the house of David/ desyryng that the Lord shulde seke out of the handes of Davids enemies their wickednesse. And wher other wordes Jonathan adured David/ because he loued him. For as his awne soule he loued him.

Then sayde Jonathan to David: to morow shalbe the feyrt daye of the moneth. And thou shalt be mylde/ because the place shall appere emptye. But this daye the dayes come in any wyse vnto the place where thou shalt hyde thy selfe/ when it is mocheday: euil by the stoone & ell. And I will shote thre arowes by I one syde therof/ as though I shot at a marke/ and will sende after a ladd/ and bidde him go seke the arrows. If I saye vnto the lad: se I arrows are on this syde I bryng the: then come thou: so it is peace & nothing to do/ as sure as the Lord spueth. But and yf I saye thus vnto the poyse fellow/ beholde/I arrows are beyonde I/ the go/ for I Lord hath sent I awaye. And of this which thou I haue spoke: beholde I Lord is witness be-twene the & me for euer. And so David hyd him selfe in the felde. And when the new mone was come/ I kyng sat him downe at meate/for to eat. And the kyng sat him downe after the olde maner/ in his seate by the wall. And Jonathan arose/ & I bner late by Sauls side/& Davids place was emptye. Neuerthelesse yet Saul sayd nothyng at all I daye. For he thought some thyng had chaunced him I he is not cleane. But on the morow which was the seconde daye of the mone/ when Davids place appered emptye. Saul sayde vnto Jonathas his sonne: wherfore comest not the some of I sai to meate/ neither yesterdaye nor to daye. And Jonathan answered vnto Saul.
David asked licence of me to go to Bethlehem sayinge: let me go I pray I/ for oure kynrede holde an offeringe in the cytie/ and my brother hath sent for me. Now therfore yf I haue found

founde fauoure in thynne eyes / lett me me go & se my brother. And therfore he cometh not vnto the table of the kyng. Then was Saul angry with Jonathan & sayde vnto him: O frowarde and rebellious / thyne self thou knowe not how thou hast chosen & sonne of Isai vnto thine owne rebuke: & vnto & rebuke and shame of thy mother. For as long as the sonne of Isai spureth vpon the erth / thou shalt not be stablyshed / nor yet thy kyngdome: wherfore now sende and lett him vnto me: for he is the chyld of deeth.

1. Reg. xxi. c.
 §. 1. Reg. xxi. a.

But Jonathan answered Saul his father & sayde to hym: wherfore shuld he dye? what hath he done? Then Saul cast a spear at hym to hyt hym: wherby Jonathan was well-& it was hitte by the determyne of hys father: to sleigh David. And so Jonathan arose fro the table in a great anger & dyd eate no meate the seconde daye of the moneth / for he was sorre for David: because his father had done hym shame. On the next morning Jonathan went out into the felde: at the time apointed with David: and a lytle lad with him. And he sayde vnto the boye: turne & synde out myne arrowes which I shot. And as the boye ran / he shot an arrow beyonde him. And whē the lad was come to & place whether Jonathan had shot the arrow / Jonathan cryed after him & sayde: the arrow is beyonde &. And he cryed after the lad: haste / make speede and stāde not still. And Jonathan lad geathered by & arrow and came to his master. But the lad wist nothyng of the matter: Only Jonathan & Da-uid wist it. Then Jonathan gaue his wepōs vnto the lad & sayde vnto him: go and carpe the to the towne. And as lone as the lad was gone / David arose out of a place that was toward the south and fell on his face to the ground & bowed hym self thre tymes. And they kydded ether other and wepte to gether: but David moare abundantly. And Jonathan sayde to David: go in peace which we haue sworne bothe of vs in the name of the Lord saying: the Lord be betwene the & me / and betwene thy seide & myne for ever. And he roose & departed. And Jonathan went in to the towne.

 chap. c. d

David fleeth in to Rob to Abimelech the preast & getteth on hym. Wher he had to sacryfyce hys hunger: & that with a cleane conserued eye. After he flyeth to kyng Achis: and there killeth him selfe to be mad.

The xxi. Chapter.

Then came David to Rob to Abimelech the preast: And Abimelech was afforded at is comyng & sayde vnto him: why comest thou thyself alone? & no man with thee? And David sayde to Abimelech the preast: the kyng hath commanded me to do a certen thyng and sayde vnto me: let no man knowe where aboute I sende and what I haue commaunded the to do.

 And therfore I haue appoynted my seruates to soche and soche places. And now what hast thou vnder thyne hande? geue me spue loues of byed or what cometh to hande.

And the preast answered David and sayde:
 there is no comen byed vnder myne hande / but there is halowed byed / yf & young men had abstained only from women. And David answered the preast and sayde vnto him: of a truthe women hath bene locked by from vs about a thre dayes: when I cam out: and &
 * be lles of the young men were holy. How be it: this waye is bryure: but it shalbe halowed in the bestell. And so the preast gaue hym halowed byed / for there was no nother byed there saue thewe byeds that were taken from before the Lord: to put fre the byed there: the daye that it was taken awaye.

And ther was there the same daye a certē man of the seruantes of Saul abydyng before the Lord named Doeg an Edomite / the cheff of Sauls hearde men. And Da-uid sayde vnto Abimelech: is not here vnder thine hande othe speare or swerde? for I haue nether brought my swerde nor myne harnes with me: because the kynges busines required haste. Then & preast answered: & swerde of Goliath the Philistine whom thou slewest in Ochdale: that is here wapt in a cloth behynde & Ephod. If thou wilt take that / take it: for there is no nother saue that here. And David sayde: there is none to & geue it me.

And David arose and fled the same daye from the presence of Saul: & went to Achis the kyng of Geth. And the seruantes of Achis sayde of hym: is not thys David the kyng of the lande? dyd they not syng vnto thys felow in daunces saying: Saul hath slayne his thousand: and David his ten thousand? And David put those wordes in to hys heart: & was sore affrayed of Achis the kyng of Geth. And he chaunged hys countenaunce before them: and rauced in their handes:
 and scrabled on the doores of the gate: and let hys spittel falle downe vpon hys beard.

Then sayde Achis vnto hys seruante. Looye saw that thys man was besyde hym selfe: wherfore then haue ye brought hym to me:
 lacke I made men / & ye haue brought thys felow to playe the mad man in my presence: he shall not come into my house.

David fleeth in to the caue Doelam. After that into Masphah to the kyng of Moab. And thence in to Gath. Doeg betrayeth David. Abimelech is affraid of treyson and slayne: and is rui. preastes moued hym: because they receaued David. Rob is detroied of Saul. Abimelech fleeth to David.

The xxi. Chapter.

And

And David departed thence & escaped: and came vnto the caue Doel-am. When his brethren & all his fathers house heard it: they wet thither to hym. And there geathered vnto hym all men that were in combrance and in dett & troubled in their hertes: and he became a captayne ouer the. And there were with him vpon a foure hundred men. And David wet thence to Masphah in the lande of Moab: and sayde vnto the kyng of Moab: Let my father and mother I praye the / haue their abydyng with you: till I knowe what God wyll do to me. And he sette the wyth & kyng of Moab: and they dwelt w hym all & wyple that David kepte hym selfe in holdes. And & prophet Gad sayde vnto David: Abide not in castelles: but departe & go to the land of Juda. Then David departed and came into the forest Hareth. And Saul heard of it: for Da-uid was knowe & also the men & were wyth hym. And as Saul satt in Gabaah vnder a groue by a hye bancke w hys speare in hys hande & all hys men about hym: he sayde vnto his seruantes: & stode about him. Heare I pray you: you sonnes of Emim: will & sonne of Isai also geue euery one of you selfe & vineyard / & make you all captaynes ouer thousandes and ouer hundredes: that ye haue all conspi-red agaynst me / so that there is none of you that openeth myne eare / in so moche & my sonne hath made a bonde wyth the sonne of Isai: nether is there any of you that mouneth for me or sheweth it in myne eare: because my sonne hath set by my seruante to lye & wayte agaynst me: as it appeareth this daye.

Then answered Doeg & Edomite: which had the ouer syght of the seruantes of Saul and sayde: I saw the sonne of Isai / when he cam to Rob: to Abimelech the sonne of Abitob: which asked counsell of the Lord for hym: & gaue him vitayles / and the swerde of Goliath the Philistine also. Then the kyng sent to calle Abimelech the preast the sonne of Abitob / & all his fathers house: that is to saye / & preastes that were in Rob. And they cam all to the kyng. And Saul sayde: heare thou sonne of Abitob. And he sayde: here I am my Lord. Then sayde Saul to him: why haue ye conspired agaynst me / thou and the sonne of Isai: in so moche & thou hast geuen hym vitayle & a swerde: & hast asked counsell of God for hym: that he shoulde aryse agaynst me & lye awaye as it is come to passe thys daye. And Abimelech answered the kyng and sayde: who is so faythfull among all thy ser-uantes as David & therto & kynges sonne in law: and gothe at thy bydyng: and is had in honoure in thynne house: haue I this daye begone to aske the coscell of God for hym?

God forbyd that from me: lett not the kyng put soche a thyng vnto his seruante & on all the house of my father. For thy seruante kno-weyth nothing of all this: ether lesse or moare.

But for all that & kyng sayde: thou shalt surely dye Abimelech: both thou and all thy thy fathers house. Then sayde the kyng vnto his sote men that stode about him: turne & sleigh the preastes of the Lord: both because their handes wyth David: and because they knewe when David fled and shewed it not to me. But the seruantes of & kyng wolde not moue their handes / to runne vpon the preastes of the Lord. Then sayde the kyng to Doeg: turne thou and sleigh the preastes.
 And Doeg the Edomite turned & ranne vnto the preastes and slue that same daye foure & thre and fyue persones that dyd weare eche man a linnen Ephod. And Rob the cytie of & preastes he smote with the edge of & swerde:
 both man and woman: chyld and sucklyng / with oxe alle and shepe.

1. Reg. xxi. g.

But yet one of the sonnes of Abimelech & sonne of Abitob: named Abiathar: escaped & fled to David: and the word David: how that Saul had slayne the Lordes preastes. And David sayde vnto Abiathar: I wist it & same daye / & Doeg the Edomite which was there wold tell it Saul. And I am cause of & deeth of all & Soules of thy fathers house. Abide w me & feare not: he that seeketh thy soule / shall seke myne: & w me thou shalt be in sauegard.

David deliuereth Keilah. He fleeth into the wy-ernes of Ziph. He is comforted of Jonathan. & he Ziphites wolde haue betrayed him: but he sleigheth.

The xxiij. Chapter.

Then men tolde David saying: Behold: the Philistines fight agaynst Keilah: & spoyle the barnes. Then David asked the Lordes aduise saying: Shall I goo and sleigh the Philistines? And the Lord sayde vnto David: go & smite the Philistines and saue Keilah. Then sayde Davids me vnto him: se we be affrayed here in Juda. What shall we then be / when we come to Keilah: to & host of the Philistines. Then David asked the Lord agayne.
 And the Lord answered him and sayde: by and go to Keilah: for I wyll deliuer the Philistines in to thynne handes.

And so David and his men went to Keilah and fought with the Philistines / and dzaue awaye there cattell and slue a great slaughter of them. And so David saued & enhabiters of Keilah. And it chadred whē Abiathar & sonne of Abimelech fled to David to Keilah: that he brought an Ephod in his hande.

And it was tolde Saul: that David was come to Keilah. Then sayde Saul: God hath deliuered hym into myne hand. For he is but p m/

in that he is come into a towne with gates & barres. And Saul called all the people to warre/soz to go to Keilah/to beslege David & his men. But David had knowledge that Saul imagined mysche agaynst him/and sayde therfore to Abiathar & preast: *Byng the ephod. Then sayde David/ O Lord God of Israel/ thy seruaut heareth that Saul is about to come to Keilah to destroye the cytie for my sake: wyl the men of Keilah deliuer me into his hand: or wyl Saul come as thy seruaut heareth saye: *Lord God of Israel tell thy seruaut. And the Lord sayde: he will come. Then sayde David: wyl I men of Keilah deliuer me and my men into the hande of Saul: & I Lord sayde: they will deliuer you.

Then David & his men which were upon a hill/heard/and departed out of Keilah & wēt whether chaunce dynt them. And when it was tolde Saul/ that David was fled from Keilah/ he let I forney alone. And David abode in the wyldernesse in stronge holdes/ & in a mountayne in the wyldernesse of Ziph. And Saul sought him all his tyme/ but God deliuered him not into his hand. And David saw I Saul was come out/ to seke his tyme/ whyle David was in the wyldernesse of Ziph in a checkett. And Jonathan Sauls sonne arose & went to David to the checkett/ & strenghted him in God/ & sayde vnto hym: feare not/ for the hande of Saul my father shall not fynde the/ & thou shalt be king ouer Israel/ and I must be next vnto I. And Saul my father therto knoweth that it shalbe so. And they made a bōde bothe of the to geather before the Lord. And David tarped styll in the checkett/ and Jonathan wēt to his house.

Then came I Ziphites to Saul/ to Gadash saying: David hybeth hym selfe last by us in stronge holdes that are in a checkett in the hyl of Hachilah on the ryght syde of the wyldernesse. Now therfore syz kynges/ come downe with all the lust that thy soule hath to come. And oure parte shalbe to deliuer hym into I hādes of the kyng. Then sayde Saul: Blessed are ye in the Lord: for ye haue compassyon on me. Go I pray you and make moare dysgētye/ & knowe I se his haunte/ where his sote hath bene/ & who hath sene him there: for it is tolde me I he is very sotel. Se therfore & knowe all the fourkyng places where he lurketh/ & come agayne to me in the cententye/ and I wyl go with you. And then yf he be in the lāde/ I wyl hunt him out with all the thousandes of Iuda. And they arose & wēt to Ziph before Saul. But David and his men were in the wyldernesse of Maon/ in the wyldes felde/ on I right hand of the wyldernesse. For whē Saul was gone with his men to seke/ it was tolde Da-

uid. And therfore he went vnto a Roche and dwelt in the wyldernesse of Maon. And whē Saul hearde I he folowed after David in to the wyldernesse of Maon. And Saul and his men wēt on I one syde of I mountayne/ and David & his men on I other. And David as a mā amased/ made hast to get frō Saul. For Saul & his men had compassed David & his men rounde about/ to take them.

But there cam a messenger to Saul sayig: Hast the I come/ for the Philistines are come in I roue I lād. wherfore Saul returned frō persecutynge David/ & wēt agaynst the Philistines. And therfore I place is called: Se la Mahelcoth. And then David wēt thence and dwelt in strong holdes at Engad.

David fleeth in to Engad and there hybeth him in a cave. Saul cometh in thither to do his sōlment and David cutteth of the bozdes of his mantel for a token/ but hurteth hym not. David goth out of the cave after Saul and speaketh to him.

The xxiij. Chapter.

When Saul was come agayne frō the Philistines/ there were I tolde him sayig: beholde/ David is in I wyldernesse of Engad. Then Saul toke thre thousand chosē mē out of all Israel/ & wēt to seke David & his mē in I Roche/ where no thyng haunted but* wyldes gootes. And he cam to I flockes of shepe by awayes side where was a cave. And Saul wēt in* to couer his feate. And David & his men sat a lōge by I syde of I cave. And I mē of David sayde vnto him: se I daye is come/ of which I Lord sayd vnto the: Beholde I wyl deliuer thyne enemye in to thyne hād/ & thou shalt do to him what it pleaseth the. Thē David arose & cutt of a lappe of Sauls cote ppycelye. And immediately Davids hert smote him/ because he had cutt of a lapp of Sauls cote. And he sayde vnto his men: the Lord kepe me frō doynge I thynges vnto my master/ I is the Lordes anoynted/ to lape myne hande upon him/ saying he is the Lordes anoynted. And so David kept of his seruantes in wordes/ and suffred them not to gobpon Saul.

And when Saul was by out of the cave & gone awaye/ David arose and went out of the cave and cryed after Saul sayinge: My Lord kyng. And Saul looked behynde hym. And David stouped to the erth & bowed hym self/ & sayde to Saul: wherfore geuest thou an eare to mennes wordes/ that saye/ David sekethe the euell. Behold this daye thine eyes haue sene/ how I the Lord had deliuered the this daye/ into myne hand in the cave. When they had hyl the/ myne eye had compassyon on the: and I sayde: I will not lape my hādes on my master/ for he is the Lordes anoynted. And moreover my father/ se yet the lapp of thy cote in my hande. And in as moche as I killed

I killed the not to/ when I cutt of I lapp of thy cote/ vnderstande I se/ I there is nether euell noz rebell younesse in me/ & that I haue not synned agaynst the. And yet thou hūstest after my soule to take it. The Lord be iudge betwene the & me/ & the Lord aduenge me of the. But myne hād be not vpon the. Accor- dyng to the olde prouerbe/ wyckednesse shall pproceade out of the wycked: But myne hand be not vpon the. After whom art thou come out/ thou kyng of Israel: After whō chasest thou/ euen after a deere dogge/ & after a flee.

The Lord be iudge & iudge betwene the and me/ & se I please my cause/ and iudge me fre out of thyne hād. Whē David had made an ende of speakeyng all these wordes to Saul/ Saul sayde: is this thy voyce my sonne David: and he lyfte by his voyce and wepte/ and sayde to David: thou art ryghteouful then/ for thou hast rewarded me with good/ and I haue rewarded the with euell. And thou hast shewed this daye how that thou hast dealt lo- uynge with me/ for as moche as when the Lord had locked me in thyne handes/ thou sleest me not. For who shall fynde his enemye and lett him depart a good waye. wherfore the Lord rewarde the with good/ for I thou hast done vnto me this daye. And now I wot well I thou shalt be kyng/ & I the kyngdom of Israel shalbe stablyshed in thyne hande. Swere therfore vnto me by I Lord/ I thou shalt not destroye my leade after me/ & that thou shalt not destroye my name oute of my fathers house. And David swore vnto Saul. And Saul went home. But David and his men gatt by vnto an holde.

David fleeth in to the wyldernesse of Maon. He is angrye with Nabal: but is parye. Nabal dyeth and David maryeth Abigail.

The xxv. Chapter.

When Samuel dyed/ and all Israel geathered to geather & lāmed him & buryed him in his atone house at Ramath.

And David arose and gat him to the wyldernesse of Pharan. And there was a man in Maon whose catell was in Carmel/ and I mā was excedyng myghtye/ & had thre thousand shepe & a thousand gootes. And he was cheryng his shepe in Carmel. The name of the man was Nabal/ & the name of his wyfe was Abigail/ and was a womā of good wisdom and bewtiful. But the man was churlysh and of shehode condicions/ and was a Calebite. And when David hearde in I wyldernesse/ that Nabal ware his shepe/ he sent out ten of his younge men/ & sayde vnto the: gett you by to Carmel and go to Nabal and grete him in my name. And thus wyl saye into my frende: peace be to the/ peace be to thyne house and peace be vnto all that thou hast. I haue hearde saye that thou hast shepers. Now thy sheperdes were with vs/ and we dyd the no spyte/ nether was there ought myslynge vnto them/ all the while they were in Carmel: alke thy laddes/ & they wyl shew the. wherfore let these young men fynde fauoure in thyne eyes/ for we come in a good ceason/ & geue I praye the whatsoeuer cometh to thyne hand vnto thy seruantes and to thyne sonne David.

And Davids postmen came & tolde Nabal all those wordes in the name of David & then stopped. And Nabal answered Davids seruantes & sayd: what is David: and what is the sonne of Isai: there is plentye of seruantes now a dayes/ that bryake a waye euery mā from his master. I shulde take my byed/ my water & my flethe I I haue killed for my shepers/ and geue it men which I wot not whence they be.

And Davids seruantes turned their waye and went agayne/ and came and tolde hym accor dyng to all those saynges. Then David sayde vnto his men: gyde euery man his swerde aboute hym. And they gyded euery man his swerde on/ and David therto gyde on his swerde. And there folowed David vpon a foure hundred men/ and two hundred abode by the stiffe.

But one of the laddes tolde Abigail Nabals wyfe sayig: se David sent messengers vnto oure master out of I wyldernesse to salute him/ and he rayled on them. And yet the men were very good vnto vs and dyd vs no displeasure/ nether mysled we any thyng/ as long as we were comersant in the/ whē we were in the felde. But they were a wall of defence vnto vs bothe by nyght and also by daye/ all the while we were in them keepyng shepe. Now take hede I se what thou hast to do/ for it is concluded to do myscheue vnto oure master and to all his household. And he is ungracious to speake to. Then Abigail made hast and toke two hundred loaves and two bottles of wyne and fyue shepe readye dressed and fyue measures of parched corne/ and an hundred bondelless of reafynge/ and two hundred frayles of fygges/ & laded them on asses/ and sayde vnto her younge men: go before me/ and se I come after you/ & tolde her husband Nabal nothyng the rol. And as he rode on her ass and was comyng downe in a lāde of the hyl/ David & his men came downe agaynst her/ and she met them.

And David sayde: in bayne haue I kept all that this selowe had in the wyldernesse: so that nought was mysled that pertayned vnto him/ for he hath quyte me with euell for good.

The xxvi. Chapter.

After þe came þe Ziphites vnto Saul & to Gabaah saying: David hyeth himself in the hyll of Hachilah euē before þe wyldernesse. Then Saul arose & went to the wyldernesse of Ziph and thre thousande chosen men of Israel w hym/for to seke David in the wyldernesse of Ziph.
And Saul pyched in the hyll of Hachilah which lyeth before the wyldernesse/ by the wayes syde. But David dwelt in the wyldernesse. And whē he saw that Saul cam after him into the wyldernesse/ he sent out spyes & bnderstode that Saul was come of suretye.

Wherefore David arose & wēt to the place where Saul had pyched/ and behelde the place where Saul laye with Abner þe sonne of Ner hys chefe captayne. For Saul laye with in a round bancke/and the people pyched rounde about him. When answered Da-uid and spake to Abimelech the Pethite and to Abisai the sonne of Zaruah and brother to Joab saying: who will go downe with me to Saul to the hoste? & Abisai sayde: I will go downe with the.

And so David & Abisai came to þe people by nyght. And beholde/ Saul laye slepyng with in a rounde backe & his speare pitched in the

in the ground at his heed/ Abner the people lyng round aboute him. When sayde Abisai to David: God hath closed in thyn enemye vnto thyn hade this daye. Now therfore lett me smyte him a felowshippe w my speare to þe erth/ euē one stroke/and I will not smyte him þe secōde tyme. But David sayde to Abi-sai: destrye him not/ for who can laye his had on þe Lord? anoynted & be gyltlesse? And Da-uid sayde furthermoze: as sure as the Lord lyueth/ þe Lord shall smyte hym/ or hys daye shall come to dpe/ or he shall descēde into battell & there perishe: but þe Lord kepe me fro layng myne hand vpon þe Lordes anoynted.
Now then take a felowshippe & speare & is at is heed/ & the cruise of water/ & let vs go.
And David toke þe speare & þe cruise of water & were at Sauls heed/ & they gatt them away/ & no mā saw o3 wist it o3 awoke. For they were all a slepe/ because the Lord had Clent a sōber vpon the. Then David wēt ouer to þe other syde & stode on the toppe of an hill a farte of (a great space being betwene the) & cryed to the people & to Abner the sonne of Ner saying: Answere thou not Abner: and Abner answerde & sayde: what art thou that cryest to the kyng? and David sayde to Abner: art not thou a mā/ & who is lyke þe in Israel? But wherfore hast thou not kept thy Lord þe kyng: for there came one of þe folke to destroy þe kyng thy Lord. It is not good þe thou hast done. As truly as þe Lord lyueth ye are worthy to dpe/ because ye haue no better kepte þe Lord anoynted. And now se where the kynges speare is and þe cruise of water that were at his heed.

Then Saul knewe Davids boyce & sayde:
Is this thy boyce my sonne David? and Da-uid sayde: it is my boyce my Lord kyng. And he sayde therto wherfore doth my Lord persecute his seruaunt: for what haue I done? or what euell is in myne had? Now heare therfore (my Lord kyng) þe wordes of thy seruaunt.
If þe Lord haue slered þe vpon agaynst me/ he shal smell þe sauoure of sacrifice. But & yf they be þe chyldre of me/ cursed be they before þe Lord. For they haue cast me out fro abydyng in þe inheritaunce of þe Lord/ sayng: hece a go serue othes Goddes. And yet I hope my bloude shall not fall to the erth before þe face of þe Lord/ though þe kyng of Israel be come out to hunt a lile/ as men hunt þe parrtreg in þe moūtaynes. When sayde Saul: I haue synned/ come agayne: & sonne David for I will do þe no moare haime/ because my soule was precyouse in thyn eyes this daye. Beholde/I haue played the sole & haue erred exceeding moche. And David answered and sayde: Be-holde þe kynges speare/lett one of the younge men come ouer & fect it. The Lord rewarde euery mē n3s ryghte welle & sayth: for the Lord deliuered the into my hade this daye/but I wolde not laye myne had vpon þe Lord anoynted. And as thy lyfe was moche set bye this time in myne eyes: so be my lyfe set by in þe eyes of the Lord/ that he deliuer me out of all tribulacion. And Saul sayde to David: Blessed art thou my sonne David/ for thou * shalt be a doer and also able to byng to an ende. And so David wēt his waye/ and Saul turned to his place agayne.

David fleeth to Achis kyng of Geth/ which geneth him Zikeleg to dwell in. He hylieth the Philistines And when Achis demaunded agaynst whom he had rouch he geneth him a fellell answer and decaueth hym properlye.

The xxvii. Chapter.

Then thought David in his hert: I maye perythe one daye or other by the hads of Israel. There is no better for me/ then to flee into þe lande of the Philistines/ þe Saul of very dyspayre to finde me/ may cease to seke me any moare in all þe coostes of Israel: for so I maye escape his hand. And David arose/ & he & þe syre badyed men þe were w hym wēt vnto Achis/the sonne of Maach/ kyng of Geth. And Da-uid dwelt w Achis at Geth/ both he and hys men/ euery mā w his housholde/ and David w his two wyues: Abinoam þe Jezrahelite & Abigail Nabals wyfe of Carmel. And whē it was tolde Saul that David was fled to Geth/ he sought no moare for him. And Da-uid sayde vnto Achis: If I haue found grace in thyn eyes/ lett me haue a place in some towne in the leide/ þe I maye dwell there. For what shulde thy seruaunt dwell in þe heed citee of þe kyngdome w the. Then Achis gaue him Zikeleg þe same daye for which cause Zikeleg pertaineth vnto the kynges of Iuda vnto this daye. And the tyme þe David dwelt in the cōtre of the Philistines/ was a yere & fourte monethes. And David & hys men went a ranne vpon the Getherites/ the Gertites & þe Amalekites: which nations were fro the begynnyng & enhabytors of the lād/ as men go to Sur/ and so forth to Egypte. And David smot þe lād & left nether mā ner womā alpye/& toke þe shepe the oxen/ the asses/ camelles/ & clothes/ & remoued & came to Achis. And Achis sayde: haue ye not bene a rounyng this daye? And David answered: yea in the south of Iuda/ and in the south of þe Jezrahelites/and in the south of þe Benites. And David saued nether mā nor woman alpye to byng to Geth/ for feare lest they shulde telle ont þe saying: so dped David & so is hys maner all þe while he dwelt in þe cōtre of þe Philistines.
And Achis beleued David sayinge: He hath made hi self to styrke vnto his people Israel/ & therfore he shalbe my seruaunt for euer.

Saul kylleth ii. Samuel. him self.

And dureth to this daye. Whē David cam to Zikeleg he sent of his praye vnto the elders of Iuda & to his frendes sayig: se there a blec-syng for you of the spoyles of hys enemyes of hys Lord. He sent to the of Bethel: to the of south Ramath: to the of Gether: to the of Aroer: to the of Sephamoth: to the of Aithamo: to the of Rachal: to the of the ctyes of hys Terhame-elites: to the of hys ctyes of hys Benit: to the of Harnamah: to them of Bozalan: to them of Achach: to the of Hebzo: & to all places wher Saul & his men were wont to haunte.
 And he battell be twise hys Philistines and Irael. Saul kylleth him self: & his chyldre are slayne in hys battell.

¶ The xxxi. Chapter.

As hys Philistines fought agaynst Irael: hys me of Irael fled awaye from the Philistines: & fell downe deed in mount Gelboe. And hys Philistines folowed after Saul & his sonnes: & slew Jonathas / Abinadab and Melchisua Sauls sonne. And hys battell wet soze agaynst Saul / in so moche hys shoters w bowes had for him: & he was soze wounded of hys shoters.
 ¶ The sayd Saul vnto his harnesberer: * draw out thy swerde & thrust me thorow therewith lest these vncircumcised come thrust me troughe a make a mocking Roche of me. But his harnesberer wolde not: for he was soze a-frayed. Wherfore Saul toke a swerde & fell vpon it. And when hys harnesberer saw that Saul was deed / he fell by hys swerde vpon hys swerde & dyed with him. And so Saul dyed & his thre sonnes & his harnesberer: & therto ¶ all his men / that came daye to greather.

¶ When the men of Irael & were of hys other syde hys balys / & they of the other syde of hys heard the men of Irael were put to flight: & that Saul & his sonne were deed / they left the ctyes / & ranne awaye / & the Philistines cam & dwelt in the. ¶ On the morow whē the Philistines were come to strypp the hys were slayne / they founde Saul & hys thre sonnes lying in mount Gelboe. And they cut of hys heed & stripped him out of his harnesse: & sent into the lād of hys Philistines euery where / to publishe in the houses of their Gods & to the people. And they hanged by hys harnesse in hys house of Achazoth: but they hanged by hys carhaile on the walles of Bethsan. When hys enhabiters of Iabes in Galaad heard therof / what the Philistines had done to Saul / they arose as manie as were men of warre & wet all nyght & toke the carhaile of Saul & the harnesse of his sonne: & hys walles of Bethsan & brought the to Iabes: & burnt the there and toke their bones & buried them vnder a tree at Iabes: and fasted seuen dayes.

¶ The xxxii. Chapter.

After the deeth of Saul / whē David was returned fro the daughter of the Amalekites & had bene two dayes in Zikeleg: Beholde / there cam a man the thyrde daye out of the holte fro Saul w his clothes rent & erth vpon his heed. And whē he came to David / he fell to hys erth & dyd obersaunce. ¶ To whō David sayde: whence comest thou? And hys other answered hym: Out of the host of Irael am I escaped. And David sayde to hym agayne: How hath it chaunced? tell me. And he sayde: the people fled fro the battell: & many of the people are ouerthrowen & deed: and Saul & Jonathas his sonne are deed therto.

¶ And David sayde vnto the young mā that tolde him: how knowest thou that Saul and Jonathas his sonne be deed? and the younge man that tolde him / sayde: I was by chaunce in mount Gelboe. And se / Saul leane vpon hys speare / and the charettes and horsemen folowed hym at the heles. And Saul looked backe and called me. And I answered: here am I. And he sayde vnto me: what art thou? and I sayde vnto hym: I am an Amalekite. And he sayde vnto me: come on me & slay me: for anguysh is come vpon me and my lyfe is yet all in me. And I went on him & slay hym: for I was sure that he coulde not lyue / after that he was fallen. And I toke the crowne that was vpon his heed and the Byalet that was on his arme and haue brought them vnto my Lorde byther.

¶ When David toke hys clothes and rent the / & so dyd all the men that were with him. And they mourned / wepte & fasted vntill eue: for Saul and Jonathas hys sonne / and for the people of the Lorde / and for the house of Irael / because they were ouerthrowen with the swerde.

¶ When David sayde vnto the young mā that brought him tydyngs. Whē art thou? And he sayde: I am hys sonne of an alpaūt an Amalekite. And David sayde vnto hym: How is it that thou wast not afrayed to slay thyne hād on hys Lordes anoynted / to destroye hym? And David called one of his young men & sayde: Go to and runne vpon him. And he smote hym & he dyed. ¶ When David sayde vnto him: thy bloude vpon thine awne heed: for thine awne mouth hys mouth hath testyfyed agaynst the saying: I haue slayne the Lorde's anoynted.

 ¶ And David sang thys song of mourning ouer Saul and ouer Jonathas hys sonne: & he had to teache the children of Irael hys stanes therof. And Beholde it is wyrtē in the boke of the ryghtwes. The gloze of Irael is slayne vpon hys hilles: Whē how were hys myghte in the streates of Bethalon: lest the daughters of the Philistines reioyse / & that hys daughters of hys vncircumcised crūphe therof.
 ¶ Ye mountaynes of Gelboe / vpon you be nether dew nor raygne / ner felbes whence heauē offeringes come. For there the wydes of hys myghte were cast from them: the wyde of Saul / as though he had not bene anoynted with oyle. The boome of Jonathas and the swerde of Saul turned neuer backe agayne emptye / from the bloud of the wounded and from the fatte of the myghtie warryours.

¶ Saul and Jonathas louely and pleasaunt in their lyues / were in their deethes not deuīd / men swifter then Eagles and stronger then Lyons. Ye daughters of Irael / wepe ouer Saul / whych clothed you in purple & garmentes of pleasure / and bordered poure rayment with ornamente of goulde. How were hys myghte slayne in battell? Jonathas on the hie hilles was wounded to deeth. Whō is me for the my brother Jonathas: delectable to me wast thou excedyng. Thy loue to me was wonderfull / passing hys loue of womē. How were thy myghte ouerthrowen / & how were the weapons of warre forlozen.

¶ The second Chapter.

After thys David asked the Lorde sayig: Shall I go by in to any of hys cities of Iuda? And hys Lorde sayde: go. And David answered whither shall I go? He answered vnto Hebzon. And so David went thither with his two wyues also / Abinoam the Ierusalemite and Abigail Nabals wyfe hys Carmelite. And the mā that went w him / dyd David carpe by also / euery man with hys house. And they dwelt in the townes of Hebzon. And the men of Iuda came and there anoynted David byng ouer hys house of Iuda. When it was tolde David / how the men of Iabes in Galaad had buried Saul / he sent messengers vnto them & sayde vnto them: blessed are ye vnto the Lorde / that ye haue shewed soche hyndnesse vnto poure Lorde Saul / and haue buried hym. Wherfore the Lorde shew you merce and trueth agayne. And I will do you good also / because ye haue done this thyng. And now let poure handes bere the & playe ye the men / though poure mayster Saul be deed. And finallye vnderstāde hys the house of Iuda haue anoynted me king ouer them. But Abner the sonne of Ner hys was captayne of Sauls host / toke Icholeth hys sonne of Saul and brought him to Mahanaim and made him king ouer Galaad and ouer the Amurites / & ouer Ierabel: and ouer Ephraim and Benjamin and ouer all Irael. And Icholeth Sauls sonne was fourty yere olde when he began to raygne ouer Irael / and raygned two yere. But the house of Iuda only folowed David. ¶ And hys tyme which David raygned in Hebzon ouer the house of Iuda / was. liij. yere & thre monethes. And Abner the sonne of Ner and the seruantes of Icholeth the sonne of Saul wet out of Mahanaim / to Gabaon. And Joab the sonne of Zaruiah and the seruantes of David went out and mette them by the Pole of Gabaon. And they satt downe / the one parte on the one side the Pole & the other on the other syde. And Abner sayde to Joab: let the young men arise and playe before vs. And Joab answered: be it. ¶ Then there arose & went ouer: twelue of Benjamin by nobys whych pertayned to Icholeth the sonne of Saul / and twelue of the seruantes of David. And they caught eche hys fellow that came agaynst hym / by the heed and thrust hys swerde in hys syde / and so felle downe all at once. Wherfore the place was called * the lath Zuruiah whych is in Gabaon. And there beganne an excedyng cruel battell that same daye. But Abner and the men of Irael were put to the worse of the seruantes of David.

 ¶ And there was thre sonnes of Zaruiah there: Joab / Abisai and Asahel: whych Asahel was as swifte of fote as a wybe. And folowed after Abner and turned nether to Gabaon. ¶ And he toke the ryght hande not to the lefte from Abner. ¶ Then Abner looked behynde hym and sayde: art thou Asahel? And he sayde ye. ¶ Then sayde Abner: turne hys either to the right hande or to the lefte & cathe one of the young men and take the hys spoyles. But Asahel wolde not depart fro hym. And Abner sayde agayne to Asahel: turne from me / for I were loth to smyte hys to the grounde. For then how shulde I holde by my face before Joab thy brother: howbeit he wolde in no wise depart.
 ¶ Then Abner with the hynder ende of the speare smote him vnder hys throte rybbes / that the speare cam out behynde hym: that he fell downe in the same place & dyed there. And as many as cam to the place where Asahel fell downe and died / stode still. But Joab & Abisai folowed Abner tyll the sonne wet downe. And when they were come to the hill Amah that lyeth before Gabaon / hys waye that goeth thorow the wilderness of Gabaon / hys children of Benjamin gathered the selues to gether after Abner on a plump & rode still on the toppe of an hill. Then Abner called to Joab and sayde: Shall the swerde deuoure without ende? knowest thou not þe bitternesse is wont to come in the later ende? how long shall it be/ yet thou bydde the people retorne fro following their brethren? And Joab answered: as truly as God lyueth / yf thou haddest so sayde/ then euen in the morning had þe people departed/ eche from following his brother.

And therewith Joab blew a trumpet/ and all the people rode styl & pursued after Israel no more nor fought no more. And Abner and his men walked all that nyght by the wyde felde/ and went ouer Jordan/ & past thozow all Bethhoron and cam to Mahanaim.

And Joab returned from after Abner and gathered all the people to gether. And there lacked of Dauid seruantes nyntene persons & Ishai. But the seruantes of Dauid had slayne of Benjamin and of Abners men/ thye hundred & thye thye men. And they toke bp Ishai and buried him in the sepulchre of his father in Bethlehem. And Joab and his men wet all nyght/ and cam in the dawning to Hebron.

The. iii. Chapter.

1. Paral. 11. 2.

Here was long stryfe betwene the house of Saul and the house of Dauid. But Dauid waxed stronger and stronger/ and the house of Saul waxed weaker & weaker. * And Dauid had childe borne him in Hebron: his eldest sonne was Amnon of Abinoam the Jezrahelite: the seconde Cheleab of Abigail the wyfe of Nabal the Carmelite: the thyrde Absalom the sonne of Maachab & daughter of Achis: the fourth Adoniah the sonne of Heger: the fourth Adoniah the sonne of Hagith: the fyfte Saphatiah & sonne of Ishai: the syxte Jehoram by Eglia Dauids wife. These were borne to Dauid in Hebron. And as long as there was battell betwene the house of Saul and the house of Dauid/ Abner helde by the house of Saul.

Gencl. 27. 2.

And Saul had a concubyn named Rippah the daughter of Aiah. And Jcholeth sayde to Abner. wherfore yest thou with my fathers concubyn? Then was Abner very wroth for the wordes of Jcholeth and sayde: Am I not a dogges hebd/ which I against Juda haue shewed merce thys daye vnto þe house of Saul thy father and to his brethren & frenedes/ & haue not deliuered them into the hand of Dauid: seying thou fyndest a fault in me this daye for a woman? So do God to Abner and so therto: except that as the Lorde hath sworne to Dauid / I so do to him/ and byng the kyngdom from the house of Saul/ & sett by the thyrone of Dauid ouer Israel and ouer Juda/ euen from Dan to Bersabe. And he coude geue Abner neuer a woorde to answer because he feared him.

And Abner sent messengers to Dauid forthwith/ saying: whose is the land? and he sayde therto: make a bonde with me/ and se/ my hand is with the/ to bring all Israel vnto the. And Dauid answered well sayde/ I will make a bonde with the. But onethyng I requere of the/ that thou se not my face/ except thou first byng Michol Dauids daughter/ when thou comest to seme.

And Dauid sent messengers to Jcholeth Sauls sonne saying: deliuer me my wyfe Michol whych I maryed with an hundred forskymmes of the Philistines. And Jcholeth sent and toke her fro her husbunde Phaltiel the sonne of Laish. And her husband went w her/ and cam weeping behinde her/ tyll they ca to Bahurim. Then sayde Abner vnto him go and retorne. And he returned. And Abner had comunycacon with the elders of Israel saying: ye haue long gone about that Dauid shulde be kyng ouer you. Now then do it: for the Lorde hath sayde of Dauid/ by the hand of my seruante Dauid/ I will saue my people Israel/ out of the handes of the Philistines/ and out of the hand of al there enemyes. And like woordes had he with Benjamin/ & then went to tell in the eares of Dauid in Hebron all that Israel was content with & the whole house of Benjamin. And when Abner was come to Dauid to Hebron and twenty men with hym. Dauid made him and the me that were with him a feast. Then Abner sayde vnto Dauid: I will bp and gather all Israel vnto my Lorde the kyng/ that they maye make an appoyntment with the/ that thou mayst be kyng ouer all that thine hart desireth. And so Dauid lett Abner depart/ and he went in peace.

And se/ the seruantes of Dauid & Joab came from chasyn robbers and brought a great praye with them. But Abner was not with Dauid in Hebron: for he had sent hym awaye to depart in peace. And Joab and all the host that was with him were come/ men tolde Joab saying: Abner the sonne of Ner came to the kyng / & he hath sent hym awaye that he is gone in peace. Then Joab went to the kyng & sayde: what hast thou done? Se/ Abner came vnto þe/ why hast thou sent hym awaye/ that he shulde shape quyte? Thou myghtest know Abner the sonne of Ner/ that he ca to flater with the/ and to know the couersacyd and behauoure/ and to know all þe thou doest. And when Joab was come out from from þe kyng / he sent messengers after Abner/ which brought him agayne fro the well of Sirah bwyng to Dauid. And whē Abner was come agayne to Hebron/ Joab toke him a syde in the gate / to speake with hym guetly / & there smote hym vnder the thozt rybbes þe he dyed/ for the bloud of Ishai his brother. And when it afterwarde came to Dauids eare/ he sayde: I & my kyngdom are gyltesse before the Lorde for euer/ concerning the bloude of Abner the sonne of Ner. It fall therfore on þe herd of Joab & on al his fathers house: þe house of Joab be neuer withoute one of other þe hath runnyng issues of blood lepers & goers on crouches / & that fall on þe swerde and that lacke breed. And the cause why Joab & Abisai slue Abner was/ þe Abner had slayne their brother Ishai at Gaba in battell. And Dauid sayde to Joab & to all the people þe were with him/ rent youre clothes & put on sacke cloth & moune before Abner. And kyng Dauid hym selfe folowed the byzon/ the kyng lyfte bp his voyce and wepte ouer the sepulchre of Abner/ and so did al þe people. And the kyng lamented ouer Abner and sayde: Abner died not as a wretche dieth. Thy handes were not manacled ner thy feet brought into gyes: but as men falle before wyked chylzen / so feldest thou. And all the people wept yet moare ouer him.

When Sauls sonne heard that Abner was deed in Hebron/ his handes faynted & all Israel was troubled. Now this Sauls sonne had twy men that were become captaynes ouer the soudiars/ the one called Baanah & þe other Rechab / the sonnes of Remon a Berothite/ and of the chylzen of Benjamin: for Beroth was reckened to pertayne to Benjamin. And these Berothites fled to Gethaim and sojourned there vntill the same tyme. And Jonathas Sauls sonne had a sonne that was lame on his feete: yue yere olde was he whē the tydynes cam of Saul & Jonathas out of Jezrahel. And his nource toke him by and fled awaye. And as she made hast to flee and was amaled/ þe childe fell & became halt & was calleth Miphiboseth. And these sonnes of Remon the Berothite/ Rechab and Baanah went/ & cam in the heat of the daye to þe house of Jcholeth/ as he slept on a bed at none. And beholde they cam into the house as though they wold haue bought whete/ & smote hym vnder the thozt rybbes and fled. For they cam into the house as he slept on his bed in his resting chamber/ and smote him and slue hym and beheaded hym and toke his heed & gat the awaye thozow the wyde felde all nyght. And they brought the heed of Jcholeth vnto Dauid/ to Hebron and sayde to the kyng: behold there the heed of Jcholeth Sauls sonne thine enemye/ which sought thy soule. But the Lorde hath aduenged my Lorde the kyng this daye/ of Saul and of his seede.

But when the Philistines heard that they had anointed David King over Israel, they gathered all by to seek David. And as soon as David heard of it, he got him to an hold. And the Philistines came and layd them a long in the balleys of Raphaim. And David asked of the Lord saying: Shall I go to the Philistines? will thou deliuer them into my handes? And the Lord sayde vnto David: go for I will deliuer the Philistines into thy handes. And David came to Baal Pharazim & smote them there & said: the Lord hath deuised myne enemies a sonde before me / as a man would deuise water. And therfore he called the name of the sayd place / Baal Pharazim. And there they left their Images and David & his men toke them by. And the Philistines came yet againe & layd them in the balleys of Raphaim. And David asked the Lord, & he sayd go not. But compass them on the backside & come by them fro the Peretrees. And when thou hearest the noise of a thing going in the topes of the Peretrees, then moue. For then the Lord is gone out before thee, to smyte the host of the Philistines. And David did as the Lord commanded him and smote the Philistines from Gabaath to Gezer.

¶ The arche is brought forth of the house of Abinadab. Jah is cryen & dyeth because he touched the arche. The arche is brought into the house of Dabshal & is thence in to Jerusalem. David daunceth before it & is therefore despyed of his wife Michol.

After that Dauid chose out all the these young men in Israel to the somme of thyrte thousand; & stole & went & all the folke that were w him of the mē of Iuda/ to sett awaye & Ark of God vpon which is called the name of the Lorde of hostes that dwellyth betwene & cherubyns. And they put the Ark of God vpon a new cart and brought it out of the house of Abinadab & dwelt at Gabaah. And Ozaiah and Ahio the sonnes of Abinadab dyaue the new cart. And when they brought it out of the house of Abinadab that dwelt at Gabaah with the Ark of God/ Ahio went before the ark. And Dauid and all the house of Israel playde before the Lorde wth all maner instrumentes of fyre woode/ wth harpes/ psalteries/ timberelles/ sedyllies/ andymbals.

And when they came to Bethshon they smote floure / Ozab put his hand to the arke of God and held it / for the oxen stobled. And the Lord was wroth wth Ozab and God smote hym in the same place for his fault / and there he died by the arke of God. And Dauid was displeased because the Lord had rent Ozab.
And the name of the place was called Perez Ozab vntill this daye. And Dauid was then afraid of the Lord and sayde: how shuld the Arche of the Lord come to my house? And so Dauid wolde not bring the Arche of the Lord with him into the cite of Dauid. But carried it into the house of Obed Edom a Gethite.
And the Arche of the Lord continued in the house of Obed Edom the Gethite / thre monethes / and the Lord blessed Obed Edom and all his household. And when it was tolde Kynge Dauid how that the Lord had blessed the house of Obed Edom and all þe pertayned vnto him / because of the Arche of God / he went and brought the Arche of God from the house of Obed Edom vnto the cite of Dauid with gladnes. And euer whē they þe bare þe Arche of the Lord / had gone fyve daies / he offered an oxe and a fatt shepe. And Dauid daunced before the Lord with all his myght in a synner Ephod girded vnto him. And Dauid and all the house of Israel brought the arche of the Lord with shouteing and tropet blouteing.

And as the archer of the Loyde cam into the citie of Dauid/ Michol Saulls daughter loked thorow a wyndow and saw King Dauid spyrng a dounce before the Loyd/ & therefore despyed hym in her bert, And when she had brought brought in the Arcke of the Lord/and had let it euen in hys place / euen in the tabernacle that Dauid had prepared for it: Dauid offered burntofferings and peaceofferings before the Lord, and as sone as Dauid had made an ende of offering burntofferings and peaceofferings he blessed the people in the name of J^{h} Lord of Hostes / & gaue amonge all the folke / euen amonge the hole multitude of I^{h} Israel / as well to the women as men euerye one a Cake of bzead & a pece of fleshe and a slacket of wyne. And so the people departed euery man to his house.

Then Dauid returned to salute his house-holde. And Michol the daughter of Saul came out against him and sayd: Oh how glorious was the kyng of Israel to daye / which stripe him self to daye before the eyes of the maydens of his seruantes / as a lyght bray-ners selow is wont to stripe him self. But Da-uid sayd againe to Michol / I wil make spote before the Lord which chose me before thy father & before all his kynne / commaundyng me to be ruler ouer al his people Israel. And I wilbe yet more hyle then so / & wilbe meke in myne awne lyght: and shall for all that of every same maydeseruauntes whych thou speakest of / be had in honour. But the sayd Michol daughter to Saul had no childe unto the daye of her deeth.

E Dauid of a good intent, entred by to bylde an house vnto the Lorde as forbydden of God. He prayeth that the promys of God may be fulfilled.

#2: From the people with their Judges.

For thou Lord of Hostes God of Israel hast tolde in the eare of thy seruauit saying: I will hyde the an house. And therfore hath thy seruauit found in his harte to praye thys prayer vnto the Lord. And now Lord I shew thee thou art the God / and thy wordes must be true: for thou hast tolde thys goodnesse vnto thy seruauit. And now go to and blesse the householde of thy seruauit / that it maye contynue for ever before the. For thou Lord I shew thee thou hast tolde the house of thy seruauit shall be blessed for ever.

David overcometh the Philistines and maketh them to be come tributaries. He ordeineth & appoynteth hys officers.

The viii. Chapter.

After that David bette the Philistines and subdued them and toke the byrdell of bondage out of their handes. And he bette the Moabites. And he measured them with a lyne / making them lye a long on the erth / & then measuring the length of two lynes to lye / & the length of one lyne to saue a lyne. And so became the Moabites Davids seruantes & payd tribute. David smote also Adabezer the sonne of Rehob kynge of Zobah as he wet to make the ende of his cootes at the ryuer Euphrates. And David toke a thousand and seven hundred horsemen of hys / and twentye thousand fore men and dectroyed all his charettes returyng one hundred of them. Then came the Syrians of Damalcon to succoure Adabezer kynge of Zobah. And David slue of the two and twentye thousand men & put sounde in the Syrians. And he came to the Syrians & became seruantes to David payng tribute. And thus the Lord saued David in all that he wet to. And David toke the shildes of gold were by the seruantes of Adabezer & brought the to Ierusalem. And therto out of Bethah and Berathai cyties of Adabezer he brought exceeding great aboundance of byll.

When Choh kynge of Hemath had heard how David had discomfited all the hoste of Adabezer / he sent Joab his sonne vnto king David to salute him with peace and to blesse him because he had fought against Adabezer and beaten hym: for Choh kept warre with Adabezer / whych sonne brought beuelles of syluer / golde & of byll with him. And them also kynge David dyd dedicate vnto the Lord with the syluer and golde that he consecrated of all nations whych he subdued: of the Syrians / the Moabites / the chyldren of Ammon / the Philistines / the Amalekites / and of the spoyle of Adabezer sonne of Rehob kynge of Zobah. And David made him a name after he returned from the slaughter of the Si-riens in the vale of Salt where he slew xviij thousand men. And he put keepers in Edom / euē thow out all Edom put he sound poyntes and all Edom became hys seruantes. And the Lord kept David whatsoever he toke in hand. And David raygned ouer all Israel and executed ryght and Justice vnto all hys people. And Joab the sonne of Zaruiah was ouer the host / and Jeholaphat the sonne of Ahilud was recorder. And Sadoch the sonne of Ahitob and Ahimelech the sonne of Abiathar were the prestes / and Saraiab was scribe. And Banaiab the sonne of Jehofada was ouer the Cherethites and the Phelethites and Davids sonnes were chiefe rulers.

David reioyseth all the kydes of Saul to Miphiboseh the sonne of Jonathas.

The ix. Chapter.

When sayd David: is there yet any man left of the house of Saul / I maye shew hym merce for Jonathas sake. And there was of the household of Saul a seruauit named Zibah which was called vnto David. And the kynge sayd vnto him: art thou Zibah. And he sayde: thy seruauit is the man. Then sayd the kynge remayneth ther yet any man of the kynred of Saul / whom I maye shew the merce of God vpon. And Zibah sayd vnto the kynge: Jonathas hath yet a sonne which is lame on both fete. And the kynge sayd vnto him: where is he. And Zibah sayd vnto the kynge: behold he is in the house of Machir: the sonne of Amiel in Lodaber. Then kynge David sent a lett him out of the house of Machir the sonne of Amiel / out of Lodaber. Now whē Miphiboseh the sonne of Jonathas the sonne of Saul was come vnto David / he bowed hym self and fell on his face. Then sayd David: Miphiboseh. And he answered: Behold thy seruauit. And David said: feare not: for I will surely shew the kindnesse for Jonathas sake and will restore the all the feldes of Saul thy father / and thou shalt eate meate on myne awne table all waye. And the other bowed hym self and sayd: what is thy seruauit that thou shouldest boucheface to loke vpon soche a deed dogg as I am.

Then the kynge called vnto Zibah Davids young mā saying vnto hym: I geue vnto the masters sonne all that pertayned to Saul & to all hys kynne. Se therfore that thou and thy sonnes and thy seruantes tyll the lande for him / and bring in / that thy masters sonne maye haue fode to eate. For Miphiboseh thy masters sonne shall eate meate all waye vpon my table. For thys Zibah had sittene sonnes and twentye seruantes. Then sayd Zibah vnto the kynge: all that my Lord hath sayde sayde vnto his seruauit / thy seruauit shall do. For (sayd the kynge) Miphiboseh must eate vpon my table / as one of the kynges sonnes. Thys Miphiboseh had a sonne & was young named Micha / and all that dwelled in the house of Zibah were seruantes vnto Miphiboseh. And Miphiboseh dwelt in Ierusalem / for he ate euer at the kynges table / and was therto bault on bothe legges.

The messengers of David are spytfully & vngladly entreated of the kynge of Moab: whych kynge David auengeth.

The x. Chapter.

It happened after this / that the kynge of the chyldren of Ammon died / & his sonne raygned in his steade. Then said David: I will shew kindnesse vnto Hanon the sonne of Nubas / as hys father shewed kindnesse vnto me. And ther by David sent to comfort hym by the hand of his seruantes ouer the deeth of his father. Now when Davids seruantes were come in to the land of the chyldren of Ammon / the Lordes of the chyldren of Ammon sayd vnto Hanon their Lord: thyneest thou that David dothe honoure thy father / because he hath sent to comfort the. Maye / he hath rather sent hys seruantes vnto the / to seache the cytie and to spyre it out / euen to ouerthrow it.

Wherfore Hanon toke Davids seruantes and haued of the one halfe of euery mannes berd & cut of their garmēt: & euen in the myddle / euē harde by the buttockes of the and sent the awaye. When it was tolde David he sent against the / for they were mē exceedingly a thamed / & sayd: tarpe at Jericho vntill your beerdes be growē / & then retorne. And when the chyldren of Ammon sawe that they stanche vnto David / they sent a hired & lones of Bethzebo & of the Syrians of Zobah. x. thousand fore mē & of king Maacah a thousand mē / & of Tob twelue thousand mē. And whē David hearde of it / he sent Joab & all the host of strong men. And the chyldren of Ammon came out & waged battell before the gate & the Syrians of Zobah / of Rehob / Tob and Maacah were by them selues in the felde.

When Joab sawe that the front of the battell was before and after / he chose of all the best of Israel & put the in araye agaynst the Syrians. And the rest of the people he deliuered into the hand of Abisai his brother / which put the in araye agaynst the chyldren of Ammon. And he sayd: the Syrians overcome me / then succoure me. But if the chyldren of Ammon be to good for / I will come & succoure / & quyte like a mā / & let vs fyght lusty for oure people & for the cyties of oure God. And the Lord do what semyth best in his eyes. And forthwith Joab proceeded & the people & was to him in to battell against the Syrians / whiche fled before hym. And whē the chyldren of Ammon sawe the Syrians were fled / then fled they also before Abisai / & entered into the cytie. And so Joab returned fro the chyldren of Ammon & came to Ierusalem. And whē the Syrians sawe that they were put to the worse before Israel / they geathered the to geather. And Hadabezer sent & brought out the Syrians & were beyonde the ryuer. And the host of them came / and Sobah the captayne of the host of Hadabezer before them.

And when it was shewed David / he geathered all Israel and passed ouer Jordan and came to Belam: where the Syrians put them selues in araye agaynst David and fought with hym: how be it the Syrians fled before Israel. And David destroyed seven hundred charettes of the and fourty thousand horsemen / and smote Sobah the captayne of hys host / that he there dyed. And when all the kynges that were seruantes to Hadabezer sawe that they were put to the worse before Israel / they made peace with the & serued them. And so the Syrians feared to helpe the chyldren of Ammon any moare.

The aduourtyse of David with Bethsabe the wyfe of Urias. Urias is spytfully slayne. After that David taketh Bethsabe to wyfe.

The xi. Chapter.

Now it came to passe in the beginning of a new yere / in the times whē kynges are wont to go forth to battell / that David sent Joab & his seruantes with him & all Israel. And they destroyed the chyldren of Ammon / & beseged Rabah. But David tarped still at Ierusalem. And it chaunced in an euening that David arose fro his cotche & walked by the route of the kynges palace / & fro the route sawe a very betwixt woman washyng her selfe. And he sent to enquire what woman it shuld be. And it was answered agayne / that she was Bethsabe the daughter of Eliams wife to Urias the Hethite. And David sent messengers & lett her / and she came vnto him / and he layd with her. And she was streyght waye purified fro her uncleynesse / & returned vnto her house. And when the woman had perceaued that she had conceaued / she sent & tolde David / and sayde: I am with chyld. Then

That is / howe the women of mores disease / is a token that women haue co- ressed.

When David sent to Joab / to sende unto him Urias the hethite. And Joab sent Urias to David. And when Urias was come unto him he demanded how Joab dyd / and how the people fared / and how the warre prospered.
And David intreated him more over to Urias: go doune to thine house and walke thy fete. And Urias departed out of the kynges palace / & there followed him a seruyce fro the kynges table. But Urias slept at the doore of the kynges palace with all the seruantes of his Lord / and went not downe to his house.

Then they tolde David saying: Urias descended not into his house. When sayd David unto Urias: Saying that thou art come fro lozneying / why doste thou not go downe into thyne house? And Urias sayd unto David: I arcke and Israel & Juda dwell in paypys: and my Lord Joab and the seruantes of my Lord lye in tentes vpon the batt erthe: & shuld I then go into myne house / to eat and to drynke & to lye with my wife? By thy life and as sure as thy soule lyueth I will not do that thyng. Then sayd David unto Urias:
*tarpe here this daye also / & to morrow I will lett the depart. And so Urias abode in Jerusalem that daye and on the morrow. And Da-uid called him / and he ate & dranke befoze him: and he made him droncke. And at euen he went out to lye on his couche with the ser-uantes of the Lord / and went not downe to his house. Wherefoze on the morrow David wrote a letter to Joab and sent it by Urias.

And he wrote in the letter saying: put Urias in the forefront of the battell where it is most strong / and come back from him that he may be smytten to deeth. And as Joab beleged the citie he assigned Urias unto a place where he wist that strong men were. And the men of the citie cam out & fought wth Joab. And there were certen ouerthrowen of the people and of the seruantes of David / and Urias the hethite dyed also.

Then Joab sent and tolde David all the processe of the warre and charged the messengers saying: when thou hast made an ende of telling the stoye of the warre vnto the kyng yf he begynne to fume and saye vnto the:

And the messengers went and came & the-wed David all that Joab had sent him with / and said vnto David: When preuayle agaynst stake vnto them / euen vnto the entering of the gate. And the mothers shotte from the walles / and some of the seruantes of the kyng is deed also. When sayd David vnto the messenger / thus wyl I saye vnto Joab / let not the thyng trouble the. For the swerde deuoureth one as well as another: make thy battell more stronge agaynst the citie and destruye it / and let that thou courage Joab. And when the wyfe of Urias heard that her husband was deed / she mourned for hym / & as sone as the mourning was ended / David sent and sett her to his house / and she was his wife & bare him a sonne. But the deede that David had committed / displeased the Lord.

The xii. Chapter.

And the Lord sent Nathan vnto Da-uid. And he cam vnto him and sayd vnto hym: there were two men in one cite / a ryche and a poore. And the ryche had exceeding great aboundance of shepe and oxen. But the poore had nothyng saue one lytle lambe which he bought & norysted by. And it grew by with hym and bys chyliden / and did eate of his awne meate and dranke of his awne cuppe / & slept in his bo-some / & was as dere vnto hym as his daughter. And there cam a stranger vnto the ryche man. And he coulde not fynde in his heart to take of his awne shepe nor of his beestes to dresse for the stranger / for he was come vnto him.
But toke the poore manes lambe & dressed it for the man that was come to him. And David was exceeding wroth wth the man / and sayd to Nathan: as surely as the Lord lyueth I felow the hache done this thyng. Is the chyld of deeth and shall restore the lambe four fold / because he dyd this thyng and because he had no pitye. Then Nathan sayd to David: thou art the man. Thus sayth the Lord God of Israel: I anointed the kyng ouer Israel & ryde the out of the handes of Saul. And I gaue the thyngs of his house and the masters wines into thy bosome / & gaue the the house of Israel and of Juda / and wolde yf that had bene to lytle: haue geuen the thyngs somoche moare. Wherefoze hast thou despyled the comaundement of the Lord / to do wickednesse in his syght: thou hast kylde Urias the hethite with the swerde and hast taken his wyfe to thy wyfe / & hast slayne hym with the swerde of the chyliden of Amnon.

Now therfoze the swerde shall neuer repart from thyne house / because (sayth the Lord) thou hast despyled me and taken the wyfe of Urias the hethite / to be thy wyfe.

Thus

Thus sayth the Lord: beholde I wyl stre-ke by euell agaynst the euen of thyne awne house & wyl take thy wyues befoze thine eyes / and geue them vnto thy neybour / whych shall sleepe with the in the syght of the sonne. And thou didest it secretly / yet wyl I do this thyng befoze all Israel and in the open sonne lyght.

Then sayd David vnto Nathan: I haue synned agaynst the Lord. And Nathan sayd agayne to David: the Lord hath put awaye thy synne / thou shalt not dye. Now be it because in doyng this deade thou hast geuen the enemys of the Lord a cause to sayle / the chyld is borne the shall dye surely. And Nathan departed vnto his house. And the Lord stroke the chyld that Urias wyfe bare David & it sickened. And David besought God for the boye & fasted & went & laye all nyght vpon the erthe.
And the elders of his house arose and went to him to take him by the erth. But he wolde not / neither yet eate meat with them.

And it hapened the seventh daye that the chyld dyed. But the seruantes of David durst not tell him that the chyld was deed. For they sayd: se / while the chyld was yet alvyue / we spake vnto him / and he wolde no herke vnto oure boyce. Now moche moare then wyl he herke him self yf we tell hym that the chyld is deed. But David saw his seruantes whysperryng and therby perceaued that the chyld was deed / and sayd vnto his seruantes: is the chyld deed. And they sayd ye. Then David arose from the erth and washed & anoynted him self and chaunged his apparell / & went into the house of the Lord & prayed / & after cam to his awne house & bade the they shuld set meat befoze hym / and he byd eate. Then sayd his seruantes vnto hym: what is this that thou hast done? Thou fastedest and we-pest for thy chyld while it was a lyue / and as sone as it was deed thou dydest ryse by and dydest eate meate. And he answered: while the chyld was a lyue / I fasted and wepte. For this thought: who can tell whether God wyl haue mercy on me that the chyld maye lyue.
But now seying it is deed / wherefoze shuld I fast? can I byng hym agayne any moare? I shall go to him: but he shall not come agayne to me. And David comforted Bethsabe his wyfe / & wet in vnto her & laye with her / & he bare a sonne whose name was called Salomon / & the Lord loued him. And he sent by the hand of Nathan the prophete and called his name Jediasah / of the Lordes behalfe.

And as Joab fought agaynst Rabah the citie of the chyliden of Ammon he toke the kynges Courte / and sent messengers to Da-uid saying: I haue made assaunt to Rabah / they had their water. Now therfoze geather the rest of the people to gether / & come & be-sege the citie & take it: lest yf I take it / the victory be ascribed to me. And David geathered all the people to gether / & wet to Rabah and assawnted it & gat it. And he toke the kynges croune fro of his heed whych wayed an hundred wayght of golde / & was sett wth peryous stones. And David wore it on his heed. And he brought out the spoyle of the citie in excedyng great aboundance. And he brought out the people that was therein & sawed the & dyd harowes of yron vpon the / and shred some of them with shreding knyues of yron / & thrust some into fornaices. And so he serued all the cities of the chyliden of Ammon. And then Da-uid & all the people returned vnto Iherusalem.

Amnon Dauids sonne defyleth his syster Chamar.
Abalom therfoze killeth Amnon and after slepyth a waye for feare of his father.

The xiii. Chapter.

And it chaunced that Abalom Da-uids sonne had a fayre sister named Chamar / whiche afterwarde Amnon a nother sonne of David loued.
And this Amnon was so bered that he fell sycke for the loue of his sister Chamar: for it thought hym harde to come by his purpose of her / seying she was yet a virgyn. But Amnon had a companion called Jonadab the sonne of Sa-mah the brother of David: whych Jonadab was a very wyse man. And he sayd vnto hym how cometh it that thou beying the kynges sonne art thus consumed euery moornyng? mayst thou not tell it me? And Amnon answered him: I loue Chamar my syster Abisaloms syster. Then sayde Jonadab vnto him: lye on thy bedde and laye thy self sycke. And when thy father is come to se the / saye vnto him: let my syster Chamar come & geue me meate and dresse it in my syght / that I maye se it and eate it of her hande.

And Amnon laye downe & made him self sicke. And when the kyng was come to se him Amnon sayd vnto him: let Chamar my syster come & make me a couple of frytters in my syght / for I maye eate of her hand. And David sent home to Chamar saying: go to the brother Ammons house & dresse hym meate. Whiche Chamar came to her brother Ammons house he laye. And she toke flour & made paste & made frytters in his syght & did bake the / & toke a platter & powred the out befoze hym.
And Amnon wolde not eate / but commaunded to haue out all men from him. And they wet all out from hym. Then sayd Amnon vnto Chamar: byng the meate into the chambze for I maye eate of thyne hand. And Chamar to-ke the frytters which she had made / & brought the into the chambze to Amnon her brother & set the befoze hym to eate. And he toke her and sayd vnto her: come Ipe to me my syster. And she answered hym: nay / my brother do not force me / for it ought not to be so in Israel do not this folly. * For whither shall I go wpyth my shame? And thou shalt be as one of the soles in Israel. But speake vnto the kynge & he shall not denge me vnto the.

Gene. xxxij. e. & Levit. xviij. e.
How be it he wolde not herke vnto her boyce but was to struge for her & forced her & laye w her. And then Amnon hated her exceedingly: so he hate wherwith he hated her was greater then he loue w whiche he before loued her. And he sayd vnto her: bp & awaye. Then she sayde vnto hym: this great cruelnesse that thou puttest me awaye pssyth the other that thou dydest vnto me. Neuertheless he wolde not heare her / but called hys iad that waited vpon him & sayd: put her out at the dozes fro me & bolt the doze after her. And she had a kistell of diuerse coloures bp her: so w soche were he kynge's daughters & were virgines appareled / made strypte vnto the. Then hys seruante brought her oute at the dozes & locked the dozes after her. And Chamar put althes on her heed and rent her gaye kystell & was on her and put her hand on her heed & so went / & as she wet cryed. Then Abfalom her brother sayd vnto her: hath Amnon thy brother bene with the? Now then be still my syster: for he is thy brother. And let not this thyng greue thine hert. And so Chamar remayned discomforted in her brother Abfaloms house. And kynge Dauid heard of all these thynges and was very wroth. And Abfalom sayd vnto hys brother Amnon neither good ner bad. How be it Abfalom hated Amnon because he had forced hys syster Chamar.

And it happened two yere after he Abfalom had a shepetheryng in Baal Hazor besydes the tribe of Ephraim / & had all the kynge's sonnes & he cam to the kynge & sayde: behold thy seruante hath a shepetheryng / let the kynge & hys seruantes come w thy seruante. And he king sayd vnto Abfalom: Oh naye my sonne let us not go euerye one of us that we be not chargeable vnto the. And Abfalom laye soze bp him: how be it he wolde not go / but blessed hym. Then sayd Abfalom: then let my brother Amnon go wpyth us. And the kynge answered what nedeth it he go wpyth the. But Abfalom made soche instance he let Amnon go wpyth hym / & all the kynge's chyldren.

Then Abfalom commaunded hys young men saying: make when Ammons hert is mery wpyth wyne / & when I byd you smyte Amnon then kill him: feare not / for it is I he bid you / be bolde therfore & playe the lusty bloudes. And the young men of Abfalom serued Amnon even as Abfalom commaunded the. And all the kynge's sonnes arose & toke eche man his dwle and fled. And whyle they were yet in the waye / tidynges cam to Dauid that Abfalom had slayne all the kynge's sonnes / so he none was left a lyue. Then the kynge arose and tare his garmentes and laye along on the erth: & all hys seruantes stode by wpyth their clothes rent. Then Jonadab the sonne of Samah Dauids brother answered and sayd: let not my Lorde suppose that theye haue slayne all the young men the kynge's sonnes / save Amnon only is deed. For that hath bene euer in Abfaloms mouth sence he forced hys sister Chamar. Now therfore let not my Lorde the kynge take he thing so greuousslye to chyncke that all the kynge's sonnes were deed / when Amnon only is deed.

But Abfalom fled. And the young man he kept the watche lyfte bp hys eyes and loked aboute. And beholde / ther cam moche people by awaye that was behynde hys backe a longe by an hylles syde. Then sayd Jonadab vnto the kynge: behold / he kynge's sonnes are come / and as thy seruante sayd / so it is. And as sone as he had lesse speaking: beholde / the kynge's sonnes came and lifte bp their boyces and wepte. And therto the kynge and all hys seruantes wept exceedingly. But Abfalom escaped and went to Chohmah the sonne of Amihud kynge of Gesur. And the kynge mourned for hys sonne continually. And so Abfalom escaped and went to Gesur / & was there thye yeres. And by that tyme the kynge turned hys mynde from pursuing Abfalom. For he had lest mourning for the deeth of Amnon.

By the wysdome of the woman of Thekoa Abfalom is called. & he comelynesse & wysdome of Abfalom. Abfalom syneth Joabs coine. His father kylleth him.

Chapter. xij.
When Joab the sonne of Sarubabber perceived that the kynge's hert was turned agayne to Abfalom / he sent to Thekoa / and sett thence a wyse woman / and sayd vnto her: seyne thy selfe to be a mourner / and put on mourning apparell. And anoynt not thy selfe w oyle. But be as a woman he had lode tyme mourned for the deeth of some hodge. And go to he kynge and speake of this maner vnto hym. And so Joab taught her what she shuld saye.

And when the wyse of Thekoa was come to speake wpyth the kynge / she fell on her face to the grounde & dyd obeysaunce & sayd: helpe me O kynge. And the kynge sayd vnto her: what ayleth the? & she answered: I am a wedow / and myne husbnde is deed. And thy handmayde had two sonnes which fought to gether in the felde where was no man to go betwene the / & the one slewe the other. And beholde / the whole kytred arose agaynst thy handmayde handmayde & sayd: deliuer us him that smote his brother: & we maye kill hym for he soule of his brother whome he due / for we will destroye he ppye also. And so they shall quenche my sparkle which is left that he shall bere bp neether name of issue bp he erth vnto my husbnde. And the kynge sayd vnto the wyse: go home to thyne house / and I will geue a charge for the. And he woman of Thekoa sayd vnto the kynge: My Lorde kynge / the trespace be on me and on my fathers house / and he kynge and hys seate be gyltesse. And then sayd the kynge: yf any man saye ought vnto he / bring him to me / & he shall no moare trouble the. Then sayd she: lett the kynge remember hys Lorde God / that the next of the bloude gather not on heappes to gether to destroye / & that they slaye not my sonne. And he sayd: as sure as the Lorde lyueth / there shall not one hearre of thy sonnes heed fall to the erthe.

That is / for he killeth.
Then he woman sayd: lett thyne handmayde speake one woorde moare vnto my Lorde he kynge & he sayd: laye on. And he woman saide wherfore then hast thou determyned on thys same maner agaynst the people of God: that the kynge shulde speake this thyng & be faultye therein / so that the kynge shulde not sett home agayne hys banesshed. For we must nedes bye and perysh as water spyt on the grounde which cannot be gathered bp agayne & God will not take awaye he lyfe but synde the meanes that the banysshed be not biterly expelled fro him. And now concerning that I am come to speake of this thyng vnto he king my Lorde in the presence of the people: thy handmayde thought: surely I will speake vnto the kynge / peraduenture the kynge will bete the request of his handmayde. And the kynge shall heare his handmayde & deliuer her out of the hand of the man he wolde haue destroyed me & my sonne also out of the inheritaunce of God. Then thyne handmayde sayd: I pray God that the woorde of my Lorde the kynge may be immutable for my Lorde he kynge is as an Angel of God / in hearing of good or bad: & therfore the Lorde thy God be w the.

That is / for he killeth.
Then the kynge answered and sayd vnto he woman: hide not fro me I praye the: the thing that I shall aske the. And the woman saide: let my Lorde the kynge saye on. Then sayd he king: Is not he hande of Joab wpyth the in all this matter? And the woman answered and sayd: as sure as thy soule lyueth my Lorde kynge / it is nether on the ryght hande nor on he lefte hande that my Lorde the kynge hath spoken. For thy seruante Joab he had me / and he put all these woordes euen in the mouche of thyne handmayde. And the turning of my tale a nother waye / that made thy seruante Joab. And so I se that my Lorde is wyse eue as an Angell of God / to vnderstand all thyngs that are in the erthe. Then sayd the kynge to Joab beholde / I am content to do this thyng. So therfore sett home the iadd Abfalom. And Joab fell to he ground on his face & bowed hym selfe and blessed the kynge and sayd: now thy seruante knoweth that I haue founde grace in the syght of my Lorde the kynge in that he hath fulfilled the request of hys seruante. And so Joab arose & wet to Gesur & brought Abfalom to Jerusalem. Then sayd he kynge: lett hym turne to his atone house / but se that he come not in my presence. And so Abfalom went to his atone house / but came not in the kynge's presence.

That is / for he killeth.
Moreover in all Israel there was not so goodlye a man as Abfalom / so greatlye praysed / fro the soole of his fote to the toppe of his heed there was no blame in hym. And whyle he shaued his heed / for at euery yeres ende he shaued it because it was heuie on hym / and therfore he shaued it / the hearre therof wayed two hundred cycles weyght of the kynge's weyght. And this Abfalom had thye sonnes bozne him & one daughter named Chamar / whiche was a saye woman to loke vpon. When Abfalom had dwelt two yere in Jerusalem without comyng into he kynge's presence he sent for Joab / to haue sent hym to the kynge. But he wolde not come to him. And he sent agayne / & for all that he wold not come. Then he sayd vnto his seruantes: beholde / Joab hath a parcell of launde fast by myne / & hath barlye therein. So and set it on fire. And Abfaloms seruantes went & sett it on fyre.

Then Joab arose & came to Abfalom vnto his house & sayd vnto hym: wherfore haue thy seruantes burnt my selde wpyth fyre? And Abfalom said to Joab: beholde / I sent for the desyryng the to come / because I wolde haue sent the to the kynge / for to saye: wherfore am I come from Gesur. It had bene as good for me to haue bidden there still. Now therfore let me come to the kynge's presence / or else yf there be any trespace in me / kill me. And Joab went to the kynge & tolde him. And he sent for Abfalom: whych whan he was come / fell to the grounde on his face before the kynge. And the kynge kitled hym.

That is / for he killeth.
Abfalom maketh insurreccyon agaynst his father. Dauid is sayne to see for feare of him.

B And when kynge Dauid came to Bahurim: beholde/ thence cam out a man of þe kinrede of the house of Saul named Semei þe sonne of Gera: and he cam out cursyng. And therto he cast stones at Dauid and at all the seruantes of hyng Dauid/ all the people & all the men of warre goyng part on his right hand/ & part on his lefte. And thus sayde this Semei as he cursed: come forth/ come forth thou bloudesteder and thou vnthriftie man. Ethelord hath brought hyon the all þe bloude of the house of Saul / in whose stead thou hast raygned / and he hath deliuered the kyngdom into the hand of Absalou thy sonne And thou art wapped aboute wth thyn stone mytheue / because thou art a bloudesteder.

haue saved thy lyfe / & the lyues of thy sonnes & daughters / & thy lyues of thy wyues & concubynes / in þe thou louest thine enemyes & hatest thy frendes. Thou hast declared this daye þe thou comest nether for thy Lord / nor seruantes. For this daye I do perceaue / yf Absalom had lyued / & all we dyed this daye / þe then it had pleased þe well. Now therfore by þe come out / & speake kyndely vnto thy seruantes / I sweare by þe Lord except thou come out / there will not tarpe one man wth þe this nyght. And þe will be wofull vnto the / then all þe euell þe fell on the from thynne yowthe vnto this houre. When the kynge arose and satt downe in the Gate. And it was tolde vnto all the people / how the kynge satt in the Gate. And then all the people cam before the kynge. But Israel fled euery man to his tent.

And all the people were at streffe thorow out all the trybes of Israel saying: the kynge deliuered vs out of þe hand of oure enemyes. And he deliuered vs out of the hand of þe Philistines. And now he is fled out of þe land for Absalom. But Absalom whom we anoynted ouer vs is deed in battell. Now therfore why are ye so styll / that ye byng not the kynge agayne. And kynge Dauid sent to Sadock & Abiathar the prestes saying: speake vnto þe elders of Iuda & saye: why shulde ye be the last þe shulde bynge agayne þe kynge to his house / seeing þe soche tidinges is come fro all Israel vnto þe kynge euil to his house: ye are my brethren / my bones & my flethe: wherfore then shulde ye be the last that shulde come to byng the kynge home agayne. And saye to Amasa: art thou not my bone and my flethe. And God do so to me & so therto: except thou be captaine of þe host to me for euery in þe troume of Iobab. And he bowed þe herttes of all þe men of Iuda / as a man wolde bow þe hert of one man: so þe they sent woode to þe kynge / þe he shuld retorne to all his seruantes. And the kynge returned & came to Iordā. And Iuda came to Galgal for to go agayne þe kynge to conueye him ouer Iordā. And Semei þe sonne of Gera the sonne of Jemini whyche was of Bahurim / hastid & came to the me of Iuda agayne þe kynge Dauid / & a thousande men of Benjamin wth him / and Siba the seruauant of the house of Saul & his xij. sonnes and twenty seruantes wth him. And they whyppe ouer Iordā before the kynge. And there wēt ouer a Botte to carpe ouer þe kynge's housholde and to do hym pleasure.

And Semei the sonne of Gera fell before the kynge / as he was come ouer Iordā and sayde vnto him: let not my Lord impute wickednesse vnto me / ner let him not remēber the wickednesse that thy seruauant did / when my Lord the kynge departed out of Jerusalem.

that the kynge shuld take it to herte. For thy seruauant dothe knowe how that I haue done amysse. And therfore beholde / I am the fyrt this daye of all þe house of Ioseph þe am come to mete my Lord the kynge. But Abisai the sonne of Neraiah answered & sayd: shall Semei not dye for that cause: whych cursed the Lordes anoynted. And the kynge sayd: what matter is betwene you & me ye sonnes of Neraiah / þe ye shuld this daye be aduersaries vnto me. There shall no man dye this daye in Israel: for I knowe that I am this daye kynge ouer Israel. And the kynge sayde vnto Semei: thou shalt not dye / & swaie vnto hym.

And Biphibose the sonne of Saul came also to mete þe kynge / & had nether dyed his fete ner haue his beerde ner walshed his clothes fro the tyme þe kynge departed / vntill he came agayne in peace. And when he was come to Jerusalem towards þe kynge / the kynge sayd vnto him: wherfore wentest thou to me Biphibose. And he sayd: my Lord the kynge / my seruauant deceaued me. For thy seruauant sayd: þe I wolde haue mine Ache sabled to ryde theron / for to go to þe kynge / because thy seruauant is lame. And he hath therto cōplained on thy seruauant vnto my Lord þe king. But my Lord þe kynge is as an Angel of God: do therfore what seemeth best in thynne eyes. For all my fathers house were but deedmen vnto my Lord the kynge: & yet dydest thou put me amonge the þe eate at thine a lone table. What right therfore haue I yet / to crye any more vnto þe kynge. And þe kynge sayd: it needeth the not to speake any moare / for I haue sayd: þe thou & Siba shall deuide þe land betwene you. And Biphibose sayd vnto þe kynge: yee let him take all: for so moche as my Lord þe king is come in peace vnto his a lone house.

And Berelai the Galaadite came fro Rogellim & wēt ouer Iordā to þe kynge / to accompanye him ouer Iordā: whiche Berelai was a very aged mā / euil soure shorne yeres olde / & had prouided þe kynge of sustenance while he laye at Mahanaim: for he was a mā of verie great substance. And þe king sayd vnto Berelai: come thou to me / þe I may fede þe to me in Jerusalem. But Berelai sayd vnto þe kynge of what age am I of / þe I shulde go to þe kynge to Jerusalem. I am this daye soure shorne yeres olde: & therfore can not deeme sauerie fro bawery / nether hath thy seruauant pleasure in þe eateth of drincketh: ner yet delectaciō in þe songes of mē or womē. It is no nede þe thy seruauant be a burthen vnto my Lord þe kynge: let thy seruauant go a lytle waye ouer Iordā to the kynge: for why shulde þe kynge render me soche a rewarde. But let thy seruauant turne back agayne / þe I maye dye in mine a lone cōtrey / by the graue of my father and mother.

But lo here is thy seruauant Chama: let him go with my Lord the kynge / and do to hym / what shall please the.

And the kynge answered: Chama shall go with me. And I will do to hym that thou shalt be content with. And therto whatsoeuer thou shalt require of me / that same will I do for the. And all the people went ouer Iordā. And whē the kynge was come ouer Iordā / he hymself Berelai & toke his leaue of him / & he went backe agayne vnto his a lone place. And then the kynge wēt to Galgal / and Chamaam went with him. Now all the men of Iuda were at the bynginge ouer of the kynge / & but halfe the men of Israel.

Wherfore all the men of Israel came to þe kynge & sayde vnto him: why haue oure brethren the men of Iuda stolen the awaye / and haue brought the kynge & his housholde & all Dauid's men with him ouer Iordā. And all the men of Iuda answered þe men of Israel: for the kynge is nere of hymne to vs: wherfore be ye angrie for that matter: thynke ye that we rate of the kynge's cost / or that the kynge geueth vs any gyses. And þe men of Israel answered the men of Iuda & sayde: we haue ten partes in the kynge / & haue therto moze cryght to Dauid then ye. Why then dyd ye deliue vs / that oure aduylle had not ben fyrt had in restoring oure kynge agayne. And þe woordes of the men of Iuda were feared then the woordes of the men of Israel.

¶ Seba the sonne of Bochi: reaseth Israel agayne Dauid. Iobab hymself Amasa fraterally. The heere of Seba is deliuered to Iobab. Dauid's receauers are nombred.

The xx. Chapter.

¶ And there happened to be an birth of the felow named Seba the sonne of Bochi: a mā of Genui whych blew a trompet and sayd: we haue no parte in Dauid / nor inheritaunce in the sonne of Iſai / O Israel / lett vs depart therfore euery mā to his tent. And all Israel wēt from Dauid & folowed Seba the sonne of Bochi. But the men of Iuda claued fast vnto the kynge / fro Iordā to Jerusalem.

And when Dauid was come to his house to Jerusalem / he toke the ten wyues his concubynes þe he had left behynde him to kepe þe house / & put the in warde and mēstred all thynges vnto them: but laye no moare wth them. And so they were enclosed vnto þe daye of the deeth of the / & lyued a wydowes lyfe.

¶ Then sayde the kynge to Amasa: call me þe men of Iuda to geather wth in thre dayes & present thy selfe here. And Amasa went to geather the men of Iuda to geather: but tarried longer then þe time which was apoynted hym. Wherfore þe kynge sayde to Abisai: now shall Seba þe sonne of Bochi be wofull to vs the Absalom. Take thou therfore thy Lord's seruantes & solow after him: lett he gett him walled cyties & escape vs. And there wēt out after him Iobab's men and the Gerethites & the Phelthites & the men of myght. And they departed out of Jerusalem to solow after Seba the sonne of Bochi. And when they were come to the great stone in Gabaon / Amasa met the. And Iobab had his garment that he had about him / & yde hito him / & had gyde ther on a knyfe lopyed fast to his lopyes / in soche a wyse þe as he wēt it fell some tymes out. And Iobab sayde to Amasa: are all thyngs in rest and peace my brother. And Iobab toke Amasa by the chynne with the ryght hande / as though he wolde haue hymself hym. And Amasa toke no hede to the knyfe that was in Iobab's hand / wth which Iobab smote hym in the thort rybbes & shed out his bowelles to þe ground and smote him but one stroke / and he dyed.

¶ And then Iobab and Abisai his brother followed after Seba the sonne of Bochi. And one of Iobab's men þe stole by hym sayd: what is he that he wolde be as Iobab / & what is he þe wolde be vnto Dauid in stede of Iobab. And Amasa laye walowping in bloude in þe midd of the waye. And there was a man þe saw all the people stande styll. And whē he saw that all þe came by him stole a cloth / he rowled Amasa out of the waye into the seide & cast a cloth vpon hym. And as sone as he was tombeled out of þe waye / all þe people wēt after Iobab / to solow after Seba þe sonne of Bochi.

¶ And he went thorow all the trybes of Israel vnto Abel Bethmaacah & all Barim. And þe people geathered vnto him & wēt also after him. And they cam and beleged hym in Abel Bethmaacah. And they cast by a bakke agayne the cytie. And it was beleged. All þe people þe was wth Iobab labored busely to ouerthrowe the walles. Then cryed a wyfe woman out of the cytie / heare heare / byd I praye you Iobab that he come hyther / that I maye speake to him. When Iobab was come / the woman sayd: art thou Iobab. And Iobab answered þe am I. And he sayd to him: heare þe woordes of thy hād mayde. And he sayd: I am readye to heare. And she sayde: it hath bene a comen sayinge in the olde tyme / men must aske of Abel / and then go to and synne the the worst. Abel is one of the quyetest & sayth: willl receaue peace: accoꝝ byng to þe lawe of Iſrael. And thou goest about to de stroye a cytie that is as a mother of Iſrael. Why deuotest thou the enheritaunce of the Lord.

¶ And Iobab answered and sayd: God forbid / God forbid it me / that I shuld ether deuotore or de stroye it. The matter is not so: But there is a man of mount Ephraim / Seba is some of Bochoz by name / which hath lyce by his hand agaynst kyng David. Welpuer by him only / and I will depart fro the cite. And the woman sayde vnto Joab: Beholde / his heed shalbe thyowen thowen the walle to the. And then the woman went vnto all the people in her wyl dome. And they smote of the heed of Seba the sonne of Bochoz / and cast it to Joab. And he blew a trompet / and they shatered from the cite / euery ma to his tent. And Joab returned to Iherusalem vnto the kyng. And Joab was ouer all the hoste of Israel. And Banasah the sonne of Jehoiada was ouer the Cherethites & the Phelethites. And Aduram was ouer the tribute. And Jehoiaphat the sonne of Ahilud was recorder. Serua was scribe. And Sadock and Abiathar were the prelates. And Ira the Iarite was iherowyle Davids prelat.

Chap. xii. The vengeance of the synnes of Saul lyghtly on his synnes / which are hangyd / foure great batelles / which David had agaynst the Philistines.

The xii. Chapter. When there fell an hōgre in the dayes of David the yeres / yere by yere. And David enquired of the Lorde. And the Lorde answered: it is for Sauls sake & the house of bloude / because he slue the Gabaonites. And the kyng called the Gabaonites & sayde vnto the. Now these Gabaonites are not of the chyldre of Israel / but a remnaue of the Ammozites / & the chyldren of Israel swore vnto the. And yet Saul sought to sle the / for a reke that he had to the chyldren of Israel & of Iuda. Wherefore David sayd vnto them: what shall I do for you? and wherewith shall I content you? & ye maye * blesse the inheritaunce of the Lorde.

And the Gabaonites sayde vnto hym: we haue no matter of siluer or of golde / w Saul or with his house: nether haue we any ma that we wolde kill in Israel. Then he sayd: what saye ye that I shall do for you? And they sayd vnto the kyng: the man that consumed and imaged to bynge us to nought / hym we ought to destroye / that nought of him continew in any of the coostes of Israel / let seven men of his synnes be deliuered vnto us / that we maye hang the by vnto the Lorde / in Gabaab of Saul & lordes electe. And David sayde: I will geue them you.

But the kyng had compassion on Giphiboseh the sonne of Jonathan / the sonne of Saul / because of the Lordes othe that was betwene the: that is to saye betwene David and Jonathan the sonne of Saul. But he toke the two synnes of Rezzah the daughter of Aiah which he bare vnto Saul / Armoni and Giphiboseh / & the syue synnes of Michol the daughter of Saul which he bare to Doziel the sonne of Bercelai the Gholathite / and deliuered the vnto the handes of the Gabaonites / which hangyd the in the hill before the Lorde. And they fell all seven to geather in the fyrst dayes of heruest: cut in the begynnyng of Barley heruest.

And Rezzah the daughter of Aiah toke Sackclothe & spyed it vnder her vpon the Roche / cut fro the begynnyng of hatueit vntill rayne dropped vnto the out of heuen and suffered nether the birdes of the Ayre to fall on them by daye nor beastes of the felde by nyght. And when it was tolde David what Rezzah the daughter of Aiah the concubine of Saul had done / he wet & toke the bones of Saul & of Jonathan his sonne / of the men of Jabes in Galaad / which they had stolen fro the strete of Bethlan / where the Philistines had haged the in the dayes wher the Philistines had slayne Saul in Gelboe. And he brought thence the bones of Saul & the bones of Jonathan his sonne / & they sett awaye the bones of the that were hangyd / & buried them with the bones of Saul and Jonathan his sonne in the contrey of Beniamin / in Zela / in the sepulchre of Cis his father. And wher they had performed all the kyng commaunded / God was then at one with the lande.

And the Philistines had yet agayne warre with Israel. And David went downe and his seruantes with him / & fought with the Philistines. And David waxed sayntie / and Iesol of * Nob one of the synnes of Paraphah whose speare heed waxed the hadged sydes of Basse / & was gyde with a new swerde thought to haue slayne David. But Abisai the sonne of Neriiah succoured him & smote the Philistine & killed him. When the seruantes of David swore vnto him saying. Thou shalt go no moare out with us to battell / that the lyght of Israel be not put out. And there was yet after this / battell with the Philistines at * Nob / in which Sobochai the Gholathite slew Shaph of the synnes of Paraphah.

And there was yet the thirde battell in Goh / in the Philistines / where Ehanan the sonne of Jaere Ogrim / a Bethlehemitte slue one Goliath a Gephite: the slawe of whose speare was as great as a weuers cloth beame.

And there was yet battell in Geth / where was a ma of a size and had on euery hand. bi fingers and on euery foote. bi toes. xxiij. in all. And was also of the synnes of Paraphah / and defyed Israel. And Jonathan the sonne of Samach the brother of David slue hym. These foure were of the synnes of Paraphah in Geth / and were ouer thowen by the hand of David and by the handes of his seruantes.

The

The Canticle of song of David for the helpuerant from his enemyes.

The xxiij. Chapter.

David spake the wordes of this songe vnto the Lorde / what tyme the Lorde had deliuered him out of the handes of all his enemyes / and out of the handes of Saul.

And he sayde: the Lorde is my roche / my castle and my helpuerer. God is my strength / in hym will I trust / my wyde & the home that defendeth me: myne hye holbe & refuge: my Sauet / saue me from wonge.

I will prayse and calle on the Lorde / and shall be saued from myne enemyes. For the waues of death haue closed me about / and the floodes of Belial haue feared me. The cordes of death haue ouertaken me. In my tribulacion I called to the Lorde / & cryed to my God. And he heard my voyce out of his temple / and my crye entered into his eares. And the erth trembled and quoke / and the foundations of heau moued & shoke / because he was angrie.

Smoke went vp out of his nostrilles / & consuming fyre out of his mouth / that coles were kendled of him. And he bowed heu and came downe / and darchnesse vnder nethe his fete. And he rode vpon Cherub and flew: and appered vpon the wynges of the wynde. And he made darchnesse a tabernacle rounde about him / in water geathered to geather in thicke cloudes. Of the brightnesse / that was before him / coles were lett on fyre.

The Lorde thundred from heuen / and the most hye put out his voyce. And he shotte arrowes and hatered them / and huried lygh-tenyng and tymogled them. And the bottome of the see appered / and the foundations of the world were sent / by the reason of the rebuking of the Lorde / and thowen the blasfemyng of the byreth of his nostrilles. He sent from an hye & sett me / & plucked me out of myghty waters.

He deliuered me fro my mightie enemye / & from the that hated me and were to strong for me. When they had compassed me in the daye of my tribulacion / the Lorde stayed me by. And he brought me out into rowmeth / & deliuered me / because he delyped in me.

The Lorde rewarded me accordyng to my ryghtwysnesse / & accordyng to the purenesse of my handes he dealt with me. For I kept the wayes of the Lorde / and dyd no wychednesse forslaying my God. But I had all his lawes in my syght / & turned my face from none of his ordinaunces. But was pure vnto him ward / & kept my self fro wychednesse.

And the Lorde dyd to me agayne / accordyng to my ryghtwysnesse / and after my pu-renesse that I had in his syght. With the holp thou shalt be holy / and with the man that is incorrupt / thou shalt be incorrupt. With the pure thou shalt be pure / & with the froward thou shalt be froward also. And the people that are in aduersyte / thou shalt helpe. And on the proude shalt thou cast thine eyes. Thou art my lyght O Lorde / and the Lorde shall lyght my darchnesse.

With thy helpe I will tume thowen an hoste of men / and by the waye of my God will I prayse ouer a walle. The waye of God is bndelyed / and the wordes of the Lorde syned as golde / & he a wyde to all that trust in hym. Who is a God saue the Lorde / and who myghte saue our God? God is my strength in warre / and rydeth the waye cleare before me. And maketh my fete as swyfte as an hyndes and setteth me fast vpon my hye hold.

And teacheth my handes to fyght / that a botwe of byasse is to weake for myne armes. And thou hast saued me with thy hye / and keppest me ever in meakenes. And thou madest me space to walke in / that my fete shuld not stoble. I folowed myne enemyes & destroyed the / and turned not agayne vntill I had consumed them.

I wasted them and so clouted the / that they could not aryse: but fell vnder my fete.

And thou compassedest me about in might to battell / & madest them that roase agaynst me to troupe vnder me.

And thou madest myne enemyes to tume thowen awaye & their backes to me / and them that hated me / and destroyed them. They looked for helpe: But none came to saue them vnto the Lorde they cryed / but he heard them not.

And I will beate them as smalle as the dust of the erth / and will stampe them as the byrte of the strete / & will sprede the abroad.

And thou deliueredst me from the byssness of my people / & kept me to be an hee ouer nacyos / for the people which I knew not be came my seruantes.

And the alpenes crouched vnto me / and obeyed me at a woide.

And the alpenes & the syncke awaye shall tremble for feare in their defended places.

The Lorde lyue / and blessed be he for his myghte strength: and exalted be God for strength that saue me. It is God that aduengeth me / & byngeth downe the people vnder me. And deliuereth me from myne enemyes / thou hast test me by on hye from the that ryle agaynst me / and deliuerest me from the wicked men.

And therefore I will prayse the O Lorde in the name of the Lorde / & will synge vnto thy name. For thy great & manyfolde sauyng of the bynge / and the wyng merce vnto thyne anointed / cut to David / & his seede for ever.

David. ij. Samuel.

The last communicacion of David, and the description of the myghty men to hym belonging.

The xxij. Chapter.

These be the last saynges of David. David the sonne of Isai sayde. And the man is lyfte by on hye / & anointed of the God of Jacob & pleasant Psalmist of Israel sayde: the spere of my Lynde spake in me / & his wordes were on my tong. The God of Israel spake vnto me / and the strength of Israel sayde: he that beareth rule ouer men / he that ruleth iustlye in the feare of God. And he shalbe as the moynynge light / when the sonne shyneth in a moynynge in which are no cloudes to lett the byghthefle / and as the grasse of the erth is by the vertue of the raygne. And is not myne house so with God? in that he hath made with me an euerylastyng couenaunt perfecte in all popytes: & in that he shall fulfyll all that is heathesome vnto me / & all mydesyres therto. When the onthysme men are all of the as thornes take out of their places / which cannot be take wth handes: But the man that shall touche the / must be armed wth yron on a longe helue. And then shall they be burnt with fyre to spe the by.

a. Understande / sayde / that he toothe rayge by of my herte a king / which shal be he. Whiche / shalbe the rule in the feare of the Lord: that is in the true moynynge of the one true God. For the myghty men of which is the hight of the that helue and toothe / God / myghty is a ruler: that hope his chylde / demerit / and emelle / with all their true came to that that pleasyth him.

These be the names of the myghty men that were about David: Joseph of Sebeth the Gadymonite / first of thye / otherwyse called Admo the Azonite / which slue. him. hundred at one tyme. And nexte to him Eleazar & sonne of Dodo & sonne of Abiath / one of the thye pyn / cyll & were wth David / which whē they despyed the Philistines & were there geathered to geather in battell / and the men of Israel were gone by / arose & layed on the Philistines vntill his hande shed and claue vnto the swerde. And the Lord made a great victorie the same daye. And the people returned & wēt after him only to spoyle. After hym was Sema & sonne of Ageh the Hararite / which when the Philistines were geathered to geather in Lahata where was a parcell of lande full of ryce / and the people were fled for feare of the Philistines / stode in the myddes of the sayde grounde / & defended it & slue the Philistines. And the Lord gaue him a great victorie.

And these thye of the thirtie of the Lordes went downe & came to David in the hartest tyme vnto & caue Adolom. And the Host of the Philistines had pyched in the baleye of Beanters. And David was then in an holde And the soundfores of the Philistines were then in Bethleh. And David longed & sayde: Wh / that I had of the water that is in the well in the gate of Bethlehem for to drynke. And anone the thye myghtie brake thozow the Host of the Philistines and lett water out of the well of Bethlehem & was in the gate / & toke and brought it to David: Nevertheless he wolde not drynke therof / but offered it vnto the Lord & sayde: the Lord forbyd & I shuld do so / shuld I drynke the blood of men & were in iopardye of their lyues: and so he wolde not drynke it. These thynges dyd these thye myghty men. Then Abisai the brother of Joab / the sonne of Sarisab: he was a cap- tayne. ouer the thye / & he lyfte by his speare agaynst thye hundred & slue them / & was named in the thye. For he was nobler man then the thye & was their capayne. Now be it he attayned not vnto those thye in actes.

Then Banaiab the sonne of Jehoiada & sonne of a lusty mā balyat in actes of Bab- zeel / he slue two Lyons of Moab. He went downe & slue a lyd in a pyn tyme of Snow. And he slue an Egyptian a goodly mā / which had a speare in his hand. And Banaiab went downe to hym wth a staffe & plucked the speare out of the Egyptians hand & slue him wth his awne speare. Soche thynges dyd Banaiab the sonne of Jehoiada & was the noblest of thye type: But not lyke to anye of the thye in factes of warre. And David made him of his counsell. Aabel & brother of Joab was one of the thye type. Then Elchasan the sonne of Dodo of Bethlehem: Semah the Harodite: Elia the Harodite: Heliz the Pakite: Fra the sonne of Akes the Chekoite: Abiez of Anathoth: Mubonai the Pusathite: Zelman an Ahobite: Maharai the Metophathite: He- leb the sonne of Baanah an Metophathite: Zhai & sonne of Ribai of Gabaah a cytie of the chylde of Benjamin: Banaiab the Phara- thonite: Bedai of the ryuer of Gaas: Abial- bon the Arbathite: Asmauth a Bethomite: Elhaba a Salabonite: & of the sonnes of Ja- sen Tonathas: Semah the Harodite: Abiam the sonne of Sarai an Ararite: Elphelet the sonne of Asbat the sonne of a Maacha- thite: Eliam the sonne of Abithophel the Gil- lonite: Hetrat the Amelite: Phara the Ar- bite: Zgaal the sonne of Nathan of Zobah: Bani the Gadite: Zelec an Amomite: Mah- rai a Berothite the Harnelherer of Joab the sonne of Sarisab: Fra the Zethite: Gareb & Zethite: Gziah the Bethite: in all thirtie and seven.

Because David caused the people to be nombred / as Israel plagued with pestilence: so that in thye dayes there dyed. lxx. thousand.

The xxij. Chapter.

And the Lord was wryth agayne agaynst Israel / & sterred by David agaynst the saying: go and nombre both Israel and Juda. And forth- with the kyng sayd to Joab the capayne of his Host: go abroade & praye the / thozow out all the trybes of Israel / eue fro Dan to Ber- sabe sabe & nombre the people that I maye knowe the nombre of them. And Joab sayde vnto the kyng: I beseeche the Lord the thy God make the people as many moo as they be: yz & an hundred tymes so many mo / and that the eyes of my Lord the kyng maye se them. But how is it that my Lord the kyng hath a lust in this thyng? Notwithstanding the kynges wordes preyayled agaynst Joab & agaynst all the capaynes of the Hoste.

Then Joab and the capaynes of the Host went out from the kyng / to bewe the people of Israel. And they passed ouer Jordan & pre- ched in Doer on the ryght syde of the cytie & lyeth in the myddes of the baleye of Gad and so forth to Jazer. And then they went to Ga- laad and to the nether land of Hodei / & from thence to Dan / Zaan / and aboute to Sidon / and came to the stronge towne of Tyre / and to all the cyties of the Heuites and of the Ca- nanites / and then went out to the South of Juda / euen to Bersabe. And so whē they had bene abroade thozow out all the lande they returned to Jerusalem agayne at the ende of nyne monethes and twetye dayes. And then Joab despyered by the rekenyng of the nom- bze of the people vnto the kyng. And there were found in Israel nyne hundred thousand men of myght & byzow swerdes. And the men of Juda were fyue hundred thousand men.

And Davids heart smote hym after that he had nombred the people. And he sayde vnto the Lord: I haue synned excedyngly in & I haue done. And now Lord take awaye the trespace of thy seruauit: for I haue done so- lyshely. And when David was by in a moyn- yng / the wordes of the Lord came vnto the prophete Gad Davids sear sayng: go and saye vnto David / this sayth the Lord: I of- fer the thye thynges / chose which of them I shall do to the.

And Gad came to David and shewed him / and sayde vnto him: whether wilt thou haue by / yeres hunger in thy lade / or that thou see thye monethes before thye enemyes & they folowynge the / or that there be thye dayes pe- stilence in thy lande. Now understande and se / what word I shall bypnyng agayne to him that sent me. Then sayd David vnto Gad: I am in a manerous strait. But let me falle & praye the / into the handes of the Lord / for moche is his mercy / and lett me not falle in into the handes of men.

And the Lord sent a pestilence in Israel from the moynynge vnto the ende of the tyme appoynted. And there dyed of the people be- twene Dan & Bersabe. lxx. thousand men. And when the Angell stretched out his hand vnto Jerusalem to haue destroyed it / the Lord had compassyon to do that euell / and sayde to the Angell that destroyed the people: it is suf- ficient: let thye hande cease. And the Angell was at the thestynge place of Acreunah the Jebusite. Then spake David vnto the Lord whē he saw the Angell that smote the people / and sayde: loo / it is I that haue synned / and I that haue done wyckedly. But these were what haue they done: lett I praye the thye hand be on me and on my fathers house.

And Gad came the same daye to David & sayde vnto him: go by & reare an autare vnto the Lord in the thestynge flowe of Acre- nah the Jebusite. And David accordyng to the saying of Gad went by as the Lord com- manded. And when Acreunah looked and saw the kyng & his seruantes comyng towarde him / he went out: and bowed hym selfe to the kyng flat on his face to the ground / & sayde: wherfore is my Lord the kyng come to hys seruauit? And David sayd: to bye the thest- synge flowe of the / for to make an autare vnto the Lord that the plage maye cease fro the people.

And Acreunah sayde vnto the kyng: let my Lord the kyng take and offer what semyth him good in his eyes: Beholde oren for sacre fyce / and leades and the other instrumentes of the oxe for wood. And Acreunah the kyngs frende gaue all to the kyng / and sayde mo- reouer vnto the kyng: the Lord: the Lord the thy God accept the. But the kyng sayde vnto Acreunah: not so / but I will bye it of the at a pryce / and will not offer sacrefyce vnto the Lord my God that shall cost me nought And so David bought the thestynge flowe / and the oren for fyfte cycles of syluer. And David byt there an autare vnto the Lord and offered burnt sacrefyses and peace offeringes. And so the Lord was agreed with the lande. And the plage ceased from Israel.

The ende of the second boke of Sa- muel: which they comenly call the second of the kynges.

The thirde boke of the Kynges after the rekenyng of the Latenistes: whych after the Hebrewes is called the first of the Kynges.

The young virgin Abisag begeth David in his extreme age. Adoniah occupieth the realme bywytting to his father. Salomon is anoynted Kyng and then Adoniah fleeth.

The first Chapter.

When Kyng David was wahren olde & stryke in yeres / though they couered hym w cloth / yet he caught no heate. wherfore his seruantes sayd vnto him: let there be sought for my Lorde the kyng a young mayden to waite vpon hym and to cheryshe hym. And let her lye in thy bosome / that my Lorde the kyng maye get heate. And so they sought for a fayre Damoelle thowout all the coostes of Israel & founde one Abisag a Sunamite & brought her to the kyng. And the Damoelle was exceeding fayre / & cheryshed the kyng & numsted to him: But the kyng knewe her not.

But Adoniah the sonne of Hagith exalted him self saying: I wyll be kyng. And he gatt him a charret and horsmen and tye men to runne before hym. And his father rebuked hym not at anye tyme nor sayde so moche to him as why dost thou so. And he was thereto a goodlye man & his mother bare hym next after Abisalom. And he comuned wth Joab the sonne of Saruiab & w Abiathar the prest. And they holpe Adoniah. But Sadock the prest / Banaiab the sonne of Jehoiada / Nathan the prophet / Semet and Rei & the men of myght which were wth David sauered not Adoniah. And Adoniah sacrificed shepe & oxen and fatynges at the ston of Zobelet which is sayd by the well of Rogell: & bad all his brethern the kynges sonnes & all the men of Juda the kynges seruantes. But Nathan the prophet & Banaiab and the mightie men and Salomon his brother he had not.

wherupon Nathan spake vnto Bethsabe the mother of Salomon saying: halt thou not heard how that Adoniah the sonne of Hagith both raigne brweting vnto our master David? Now therfore come I maye geue the counsell how to saue thyne awne lye & the lye of thy sonne Salomon. Hence & get the vnto kyng David & saye vnto him: dydest thou my Lorde kyng swere vnto thy hadmayde saying: Salomons thy sonne shall raygne after me / and he shall sitt vpon my seate / why is then Adoniah made kyng? And se / while thou yet talkest there wth the kyng / I will come in after & I will ende thy word.

And Bethsabe went in vnto the kyng into the chambze. And the kyng was very olde & Abisag the Sunamite mynstred vnto hym. And Bethsabe stouped & made obeysaunce vnto the kyng. And the kyng sayde: what is thy matter? And she answered & sayde: My Lorde thou swarest by the Lorde thy God vnto thyne hadmayde: Salomons thy sonne shall raygne after me & he shall sitt vpon my seate. But now se / Adoniah is kyng and thou my Lorde kyng wottest it not. And he hath offered oxen fatynges & shepe abundantly / & hath called all the sonnes of the kyng / and Abiathar the prest / and Joab the captayne of the hoste. But Salomon thy seruant hath he not byddē. And now my Lorde kyng & eyes of all Israel wayte on the / to tell them who shall sitt on the seate of my Lorde the kyng after him. For elles when my Lorde the kyng is layde to rest wth his fathers / I and my sonne Salomon shalbe synners.

And beholde while she yet talked wth the kyng / Nathan the prophet was come. And they tolde the kyng saying: here cometh Nathan the prophete. And when he was come before the kyng / he made obeysaunce vnto the kyng vpon his face vnto the ground / & sayde: My Lorde kyng / halt thou sayde / Adoniah shall raygne after me / & he shall sitt vpon my seate? For he is gone downe this daye & hath offered oxen / fatynges & shepe abundantly / and hath called all the kynges sonnes & the captaynes of the host / and Abiathar the prest. And se / they eate and drynke before him and saye: God saue kyng Adoniah. But me thy seruant and Sadock the prest and Banaiab the sonne of Jehoiada / & thy seruast Salomon he hath not called. Is this thyng done of my Lorde the kyng & yet woldst thou shewe me thy seruant / who shulde sitt on the seate of my Lorde the kyng after him?

Then kyng David answered & sayde: call me Bethsabe. And she cam in & stode before him. And the kyng swere saying: As sure as the Lorde (that hath rydd my soule out of all aduersyte) lyueth: euen as I swere vnto the by the Lorde God of Israel saying: Salomon shall raygne after me / and he shall sitt vpon my seate for me / so wyll I do this daye. And Bethsabe bowed on her face to the erth and dyd obeysaunce vnto the kyng and sayde: I praye God my Lorde kyng David maye lyue euer. Then sayde kyng David call me Sadock the prest and Nathan the prophet and Banaiab the sonne of Jehoiada. And whē they cam before the kyng. The kyng sayde vnto them: take with you the seruantes of youre Lorde / & lett Salomon my sonne vpon myne awne Mule and carpe him downe to Gihon. And let Sadock the prest and Nathan the prophet phet anoynte him there / to be kyng ouer Israel. And then blowe ye wth a tropet & saye: God saue kyng Salomons. And then come ye after him / & let him come and sette vpon my seate. For he shalbe kyng in my stede. And hym I haue comaunded to be captayne ouer Israel and Juda. And Banaiab the sonne of Jehoiada answered the kyng & sayde: Amen / & so I praye God that the Lorde God of my Lorde the kyng saye so to. And as the Lorde hath bene w my Lorde the kyng / euen so / I praye God he maye be wth Salomon and he make his seate gloriouslyer then the seate of my Lorde kyng David.

And Sadock the prest and Nathan the prophet and Banaiab the sonne of Jehoiada & the Gerethites and Phelethites wet downe / & lett Salomon vpon kyng Davids Mule & led him to Gihon. And Sadock the prest toke an horne of oyle out of the tabernacle & anoynted Salomons. And they blew a tropet / and all the people cam by after him ppyng wth pypes and reioysyng greatlye / so the erth range wth the sounde of them.

And Adoniah and all the gesses that were wth him / heard it euen as they had made an ende of eatyng. And when Joab hearde the sounde of the trompet / he sayde: how happeneth it that there is soche a noyse in the cytie? And as he yet spake / se / Jonathas the sonne of Abiathar the prest came. And Adoniah sayde: come for thou art a lustye bloude and byngest good tydynges. And Jonathas answered & sayd to Adoniah: wterly oure Lorde kyng David hath made Salomons kyng. And the kyng sent wth him / Sadock the prest and Nathan the prophet: and Banaiab the sonne of Jehoiada & the Gerethites & the Phelethites / & they haue set him vpon the kyngs Mule. And Sadock the prest and Nathan the prophet haue anoynted him kyng in Gihon. And as they came by agayne they reioysed that the cytie dyd sounde agayne. And that is the noyse that ye haue heard. And therto Salomon sitteth on the seate of the kyngdome. And mozeouer the kynges seruantes went in to blesse oure Lorde kyng David saying: the God make the name of Salomons moare fauoure then thyne / and his seate moze glorious then thyne. And the kyng bowed hym self vpon the beed. And last of all thus sayde the kyng: blessed be the Lorde God of Israel which hath made one to sitt on my seate this daye / euen myne eyes seying it.

And all the gesses that were w Adoniah were a frayd & rose by & went euery mā his waye. And Adoniah fearyng Salomons arose & went & caught holde on the hornes of the aultare. And it was tolde Salomon / how the Adoniah for feare of kyng Salomon hadde caught handfast by the hornes of the aultare saying: let kyng Salomon swere vnto me this daye / that he wyll not sleie his seruant wth the swerde. And Salomon sayde: yf he wyll be a chyld of vertue / there shall not an hearte of him fall to the erth. But & yf wickednesse shalbe found in hym / he shall dye for it. And therupon kyng Salomons sent & fet him downe from the aultare. And he came & dyd obeysaunce vnto kyng Salomon. And Salomon sayde to him: get the to thyne house.

David dyeth. Adoniah requyeth to haue Abisag to his concubyne / and therfore Salomons comaundeth to sleie hym. Abiathar is put from his presthode. Semet and Joab are slayne.

The seconde Chapter.

When the dayes of David were drawen nye / that he shulde dye / he charged Salomon his sonne saying: I must walke by the waye of all the world / neuer the later / be thou strong & quyte thy self manfully. And se that thou kepe the appoyntment of the Lorde thy God / & thou walke in his wayes & kepe his commaundementes / ordinaunces / lawes and testymontes / euen as it is wrytten in the lawe of Moyses: & thou mayst vnderstand all that thou oughtest to do / and all that thou shuldest meyn with. That the Lorde maye make good his promysse which he hath promysed me saying: yf thy chyld shall take hede to their wayes / that they walke before me in truthe / wth all their hartes & wth all their soules / then thou shalt neuer be wth out one synnyng on the seate of Israel.

Mozeouer thou wottest how Joab the sonne of Saruiab hath serued me / and what he hath done to the two captaynes of the hostes of Israel: vnto Abner the sonne of Ner and vnto Amasa the sonne of Jether: how he sleue them & shed the bloude of warre in tyme of peace / and put the bloude of warre vpon his gyrdle that was about his loynes and in his shoes that were on his fete. Deale wth him therfore accordyng to thy wysdome and se & thou byngest not his hore heed downe to the graue in peace. And when kynnesse vnto the sonnes of Berseai the Galaadite / & lett them be among them that eate at thyne awne table / because they so claue to me when I fled from Abisalom my brother.

And se / thou halt wth Semet the sonne of Pera the sonne of Gemini of Bahurim / which cursed me wth a bytter curse what tyme I wet to Mahanaim. But he came agaynst me to Jordan / and I swore to him by the Lorde saying: I wyll not sleie the wth the swerde. But pardon thou him not. Thou art art a ma of wisdom and shalt knowe what to do to him/te therfore that thou bynge his horre heed to the graue with bloude.

And so Dauid rested with his fathers/ & was buried in the cytie of Dauid. And the dayes which Dauid raygned vpon Israel/ were fourtye yeres: seuen yeres in Hebron/ & thirtie and thye yere in Ierusalem. And Salomon late vpon the seate of Dauid his father & his kyngdome was stablyshed myghtely.

After that Adoniah the sonne of Hagith came to Bethsabe the mother of Salomon And she sayde: * Betokeneth thy comig peace? And he sayde: it betokeneth peace. Then sayd he: I haue a matter to shew to the. And she sayd: saye on. And he sayde: thou knowest that the kyngdome was myne / & that all Israel put their eyes on me / & I shulde raygne / how be it the kyngdome was turned away & geue to my brother / for it was appoynted him of the Lord: & now I aske a peticio of the / wherof be nye me not. And she sayd vnto him: tell what it is. Then he sayde: speake I pray the / vnto Salomon the kyng (for he wyll not saye the naye) that he geue me Abisag the Sunamite to wyfe. And Bethsabe sayde: well / I wyll speake for the vnto the kyng.

And therupon Bethsabe went vnto kyng Salomon to speake vnto him for Adoniah. And the kyng rose by agaynst her and bowed hym selfe vnto her / and laet hym downe on his seate. And there was a seate sett for the kynges mother / & she sat on his right syde. When she sayde: I must desyre a litle peti- cion of the: saye me not naye. And the kyng sayd vnto her: Alke on my mother: for I wyll not saye the naye. And she sayde: let Abisag the Sunamite be geuen to Adoniah thy brother to wyfe. And kyng Salomon answered & sayd vnto his mother: why doest thou aske Abisag the Sunamite for Adoniah: but rather aske for him the kyngdome / for he is myne eld- er brother: Euen for him aske it & for Abiathar the pteast / & for Joab the sonne of Ierusalem.

Then kyng Salomon sware by the Lord saying: * God do so to me & so therto yf Adoniah haue not spoke this worde agaynst him self. Now therfore as surely as the Lord ly- ueth which hath stablyshed me and set me on the seate of Dauid my father / & which hath made me an house as he promysed me / Adoniah shall dye this daye. And kyng Salomon sent by the hand of Banaiash the sonne of Jehoiada / and smote him that he dyed.

And vnto Abiathar the pteast sayde the kyng: get the to Anathoth vnto thine awne felde / for thou art woorthy of death: but I wyll not at this tyme kylle the / because thou barest the Arche of the Lord Jehouah before Dauid my father and because thou sufferedst with my father in all his afflictions. And so Sa- lomons put away Abiathar fro being pteast vnto the Lord: to fulfill the wordes of the Lord which he spake ouer the house of Eli in Siloh. Then thynge came to Joab: for Joab had turned after Adoniah but not after Salomon. wherupon he fled vnto the taber- nacle of the Lord and caught a handfast on the hornes of the aultare. And it was tolde kyng Salomon how that Joab was fled vnto the tabernacle of the Lord and stode by the aultare. Then Salomon sent Banaiash the sonne of Jehoiada saying: go and smyte him. And when Banaiash was come to the taber- nacle of the Lord he sayde vnto hym: thus sayth the kyng / come out. And he sayd naye: But I wyll dye euen here. And Banaiash brought the kyng worde saying: thus sayde Joab and thus he answered me.

And the kyng sayde: do euen as he hath sayde: smyte hym & burie him / & take awaye the bloude (which Joab shed causelesse) from me and from the house of my father. And the Lord byng his bloude vpon his awne heed / for he smote two men rightwyse and better then he / & slue them with the swerde / my fa- ther bntwetyng: eue Abner the sonne of Ner captayne of the host of Israel / and Amasa the sonne of Iether captayne of the host of Iuda. And their bloud retorne vpon the heed of Joab and on the heed of his seede for euer. And prosperye be vnto Dauid / and vnto his seede / and vnto his house / and vnto his seate / of the Lord for euer.

And Banaiash the sonne of Jehoiada wet by and smote hym and slue hym & buried hym in his awne house in the wilderness. And the kyng put Banaiash the sonne of Jehoiada in his rowme ouer the host / and put Sadoch the pteast in the rowme of Abiathar.

Then the kyng sent and called Semel / and sayde to him: buyde the an house in Je- rusalem & dwell there & se that thou go not once threer any whether. For be thou sure of it / the daye thou goest out and passest ouer the ryuer of Cedron / thou shalt dye for it / & thy bloud shalbe on thine awne heed. And Se- mel sayde vnto the kyng: it is wel sayde: as my Lord the kyng hath sayd / so wyll his seruante do. And Semel dwelt in Ierusalem many a daye. And it chaunced at the ende of thye yere that two of the seruantes of Semel ranne awaye vnto Achis sonne of Maacah kyng of Geth. And one tolde Semel saying: se / thy seruantes be in Geth. And Semel stode by and labled his Asse and gat him to Geth to Achis / to seke his seruantes / and came and brought them agayne from Geth.

But it was tolde Salomon how that Se- mel had gone from Ierusalem to Geth and was was come agayne. And the kyng sent & called Semel & sayde vnto him: Why I not aduise the by the Lord / & testified vnto the saying: be sure wher so euer thou goest out & walkest abroade any whether / thou shalt dye for it. And thou answeredst me / it is good thynges that I haue hearde. Why then hast thou not kept the othe of the Lord / and the commaun- dement that I commaunded the?

And then the kyng sayde to Semel: thou remembrest all the wickednesse which thine hert knoweth / & thou dydest to Dauid my fa- ther. The Lord therfore render agayne thy wickednesse vpon thine awne heed: & kyng Salomon be blessed / & the seate of Dauid be stablyshed before the Lord for euer. And the kyng commaunded Banaiash the sonne of Je- hoiada: which went out and smote him that he dyed. And so was the kyngdome settled in the hand of Salomon.

Salomon taketh Pharaos daughter to wyfe. The Lord apereth to him and geueth him wysdome. The pleatyn of the 3. parables who shulde owne the kyng chylde: and Salomons sentence therin.

The thirde Chapter.

Then Salomon drew affinite with Pharaos kyng of Egypte / and toke Pharaos daughter & brought her into the cytie of Dauid vntill he had made an ende of bylding his awne house & the house of the Lord & the walles of Je- rusalem rounde aboute. Only the people sac- rificed in aultares made on hylls / because there was no house bylt vnto the name of the Lord vntill those dayes. And Salomon loued the Lord and walked in the ordinaunces of Dauid his father / saue onlpe that he sacrific- ed & offered incense vpon aultares in hylls.

And the kyng wet to Gaboon / to offer there: for it was a great offeringe place. And there Salomon offered a thousand burnt offeringes vpon that aultare. And in Gaboon the Lord apered to Salomon in a dreame by nyght. And God sayde: Alke what I shall geue the. And Salomon sayde: thou hast shewed vnto thy seruant Dauid my father great merce / accordynge as he walked before the Lord in truth & in ryghtewinesse & playnesse of herte with the. And thou hast kept for hym this great merce / & thou hast geue him a sonne to syt on his seate: as it is come to passe thys daye.

And now Lord my God / it is thou that hast made thy seruant kyng in steade of Dauid my father. * And I am a poore lad & wott not how to order my selfe. And thy seruant is in the mydd of the people which thou hast cho- sen / & a people so manye & they canot be tolde nor nombred for multytude. * Geue ther- fore vnto thy seruant an understandyng here to iudge the people & to decerne betwene good / and badd. For who is able to iudge this thy so mayghtie a people?

And it pleased the Lord well / & Salomon had desyred this thyng. wherfore God sayde vnto him: because thou hast asked this thyng & hast not asked long lyfe / nether hast asked ryches / nor the lyng of thine enemyes / but hast asked the discrecion to vnderstande equyte. So I haue done accordynge to thy peticion: and beholde / I haue geuen the a wyse and an vnderstandynge hert / so that there was none lyke the before / nether after the. I will an- swer thy praye / & I haue geuen the the praye thou askedst not / bothe rychesse & ho- noure: so that there shalbe no kyng lyke the all thy dayes. And yf thou wilt walke in my wayes / to kepe myne ordinaunces & com- mandemets as Dauid thy father dyd walke / I will lengthen thy dayes also. When Sa- lomons awoke / this was his dreame. And he came to Ierusalem & presented hym selfe be- fore the Arche of the testament of the Lord / & offered burnt offeringes & peace offerings / and made a feast to all his seruantes.

Then came there two women & were har- lottes vnto the kyng & stode before him. And the one of the sayde: Oh my Lord / I & this wo- man dwell in one house. And I was deliue- red of a chylde in her in the sayde house. And the thirde daye after I was deliuered / she was deliuered also: we two bynginge toge- ther & no straddger is vs in the house saue we two alone. And this wyues chylde dyed in a nyght / for she had overlaid it. And then she stole at mydnyght & toke my sonne from my syde / whyle thine hand mayde slept & layde it in her bolome / and put her deed chylde in my bolome. And when I rose by in the moynyng to geue my chylde sucke: it was deed. But when I had looked moare diligently vpon it in the moynyng: beholde / it was not my sonne which I dyd beare. And the other woman sayde: it is not so: But the lyuyng is my sonne / and the deed thine. And she sayde agayne: thou sayest vntreue / for the deed is thy sonne / & the lyuyng myne. And thus they pleated before the kyng. Then sayde the kyng: the one sayeth / this that is a lyue is my sonne / and the deed is thine. And the other sayth naye: But thy sonne is the deed and the lyue chylde is myne. When sayde the kyng: byng me a swerde. And they brought a swerde before the kyng. And then the kyng sayde: Deuyde the lyuyng chylde in two / and geue the one halfe to the one / and the other to the other.

Then spake the woman whose the lyuyng welles are: chylde was vnto the kyng / for her sonne was the deed / and she peried vpon her sonne / and sayde: I beseeche the my Lord / geue her the lyuyng chylde / and in no wyfe slep it. And the other sayde: it shalbe shalbe nether myne nor thyne / but deuyde it. When þe kyng answered and sayde: geue her the lpyng chyldre and sey it not / for he is þe mother therof. And all Israel hearde of the iudgement which the kyng had iudged and feared the kyng: for they sawe that the wisdom of God was in him to do iustice.

The thynnes and rulers vnder Salomon. The purueyance for his vitayles. The nombre of his dayles and of his parables.

The.iii. chapter.

And so kyng Salomon was kyng ouer all Israel. And these were his Lozdes: Azariah the sonne of Sadock the preste: Eliphaz the sonne of Sisa / scribes. Jeolaphath the sonne of Ithiud / the recorder. And Banasah the sonne of Jehoiada was ouer þe hoste. And Sadock and Abiathar were the prestes. And Azariah the sonne of Nathan was ouer þe generall receauers. And Sabub the sonne of Nathan was a wayter and the kynges companion. And Abisar steward of housholde: And Adonira sonne of Abda ouer the tribute.

And Salomon had twelue generall receauers ouer all Israel which sustayned the kyng & his housholde: eche man hys month in a yere. Whose names are these: the sonne of Hur in mount Ephraim: the sonne of Deharin in Mahez / in Salem in Bethsames / in Elon & in Bethhanan: the sonne of Beled in Ariboth / & to him pertayned Socob and all the lande of Heber: the sonne of Abinadab / which had all the regions of Doz / and Capheth daughter of Salomon was his wyfe: Baanah the sonne of Abiud had Chanach Pagebo and all Bethsan which is by Zarahana bene the Jezrahel / & from Bethsan to Abel Mehulab & vnto beyound Jermaam. the sonne of Gaber had Ramoth Galaad / & his were the townes of Jair & sonne of Manasse which lye in Galaad / and hys was the colles of Argob in Balan / the thre thore great ctyes with walles and Barres of Wall.

a. Ther was also another sonne of Salomon which Salomon caused to be kylled: of whom shew in the 11. chapter of the booke: but he was the sonne of Geras of Sabarim.

Abinadab the sonne of Abda had Sabanah: Abimaz had Mephthahim / & he had taken Basemath the daughter of Salomon to wyfe: Baanah the sonne of Dufat had Afer and Aloth: Jehosaphat & sonne of Pharuah had Isachar. Semei the sonne of Elah had Beniamin: Gaber the sonne of Wyz had the contreye of Galaad and the lande of Sehon kyng of the Amozites & of Og kyng of Basan / and was alone receauer in the land. And Juda and Israel were manye euē as þe land of the see in nombze / eatyng / dyncyng and making merye. And Salomon raygned ouer all kyngdomes from the ryuer Euphrat out all the lande of the Phylistines vnto the borders of Egypt / and they brought presentes & serued Salomon all dayes of his lyfe.

And Salomons fode was in one daye thirtie quarters of manchet flour & thre thore quarters of mele: ten stalled oxen / & twentie out of the pastures & an hundred shepe and gootes / besydes / herttes / buckes & buballes & fatt pultrye. For he ruled in all the regions on the other syde Euphrates / fro Chaphsah to Gaza / & also ouer all þe kynges on þe other syde the sayde Euphrates. And he had peace with all his seruantes on euery syde. And Juda and Israel dwelt without feare / euery man vnder his byne & vnder his fegg tre fro Dan to Bersabe / all þe dayes of Salomon.

And Salomons had fourtie thousand stables of horses for charettes / & twelue thousand hoysmen. And þe fozsayde generall receauers made purueyance for kyng Salomon and for all that came to kyng Salomons table / euery man his moneth / so that there lacked nothyng. And as for barige and straw for the horses & beastes / they brought vnto þe places where þe officers were / euery man in his office.

And God gaue Salomons wisdom & vnderstandyng exceeding moche & a large hert / euē as þe lande a long by the see banche: so þe Salomons wisdom exceeded the wysdome of all the of the East contreye & all the wysdome of the Egyptians. And he excelled all men in wysdome / both than the Egrahite / & Hemā / Chalcol and Doda & sonnes of Mahol. And his name spred abroade among all nacys on euery syde. And Salomon wrote thre thousand prouerbes / and his songes were a thousand & syue. And he disputed of trees / euē fro the Cedar tre þe groweth in Libanon vnto the Ilope þe spryngeth out of the walle. And he disputed of beastes / foules / womes and fythes. And there came of all nacions to heare þe wysdom of Salomons / & fro all kyngs of the erth which had hearde of his wysdome.

Kyng Hiram sendeth Cedar tymber to the byldyng of the temple. The description of the wayches.

The.ii. chapter.

And Hiram kyng of Tyre sent hys seruantes vnto Salomon / for he had hearde that they had anoynted him kyng in the towne of his father. And thereto Hiram was euer a louer of Dauids. And Salomon sent agayne to Hiram sayyng: thou knowest of Dauid my father / how he coulde not bylde an house vnto þe name of the Lord his God for warre which he had on euery syde / vntyll the Lord my God hath geue me rest on euery syde / so þe ther is nether aduersarye nor anye euell plage. And therfore I am disposed to bylde an house vnto vnto the name of the Lord my God / as he promised Dauid my father sayyng: the sonne which I wyll put vpon thy seate for the / he shall bylde an house vnto my name. Now then comaunde þe they hewe me Cedar trees in Libanon. And let my seruantes be with thine / & wyll geue þe hire of thy seruants in all soche thyngs as thou shalt appoynte / for thou knowest þe there are not amog þe þe can thyll to hewe tymber lyke vnto þe Sidones.

When Hiram hearde the wordes of Salomon / he reioysed greatly & sayde: Blessed be the Lord thy God daye which hath set Dauid a wyse soune ouer this myghtie people. And Hiram sent agayne to Salomon sayyng: I haue accept the request which thou sentest to me for / & wyll satisfye all thy lust / concerning tymber of Cedar trees & fyre. My seruantes shall byyng the Libanon to the see. And I wyll conueye the by shippe vnto þe place that thou shalt sende me word / & wyll cause them to be discharged there / that thou mayst receaue the. And thou shalt do me this pleasure agayne / to mynstre fode for myne house. And so Hiram gaue Salomon Cedar trees & fyre trees / as moche as he desired. And Salomon gaue Hiram twelue thousand quarters of wheate to fede his housholde / & all / & twelue buttys of pure oyle. And so moche gaue Salomon to Hiram yere by yere.

And the Lord gaue Salomon wisdom as he promised hym. And there was peace betwene Hiram and Salomon & they were confedered to geather. And kyng Salomon aseyed a tribute thozou out all Israel. And þe tribute was thirtie thousand men / which he sent to Libanon / ten thousand a moneth by course / so that they were one moneth in Libanon and two monethes at home.

And Adoniram was ouer the tribute. And Salomon had thre thore & ten thousand bare burdens / & thre thore and ten thousand that hewed in the mountaynes besydes the Lord he had / to ouer se þe woche / in nombze thre thousand & thre hundred / which ruled þe people that wrought in þe woche. And at þe commandement of the kyng / they brought great stones and that fre stones / and hewed therto / to laye in þe foundation of the house. And Salomons masons and the masons of Hiram byd hew them / with them of the borders. And so they prepared both tymber and stone to bylde the house.

The frame and forme of the Temple porche and Bulke etc.

The.iii. chapter.

And it came to passe the four hundred and four thore yere after the chyldre of Israel were come out of the lande of Egypt / & þe fourth yere of the raygne of Salomon vpon Israel / and the seconde moneth called Zif þe he begane to bylde the temple vnto the Lord. And the house which Salomon bylt for the Lord / was thre thore cubytes longe and twentie broade & thirtie cubytes hie. And the porche that was before þe bodye of the temple / was twentie cubytes longe after the measure of the bredeth of the house / and ten broade / euē at the berye ende of the house. And he made vnto the house windowes to open and shutt.

And vnder þe walles of the house he made galaries rounde about / bothe rounde aboute the temple and also the quere. And so made sydes rounde aboute. And the nethermost galery was .v. cubytes broade & the myddle galery .vi. And the thrid .vii. cubytes broade. For he made the walles without wheron the beames laye / euery thynner and thynner / so that they were not fastened in the walles of the house. And the house was bylt of stone made perfecte all readye perit was brought thither / so that there was nether hammer or axe ether any tole of yron hearde in þe house / whyle it was in byldyng.

And the doze of the myddle galery was in the ende of the house on the ryghte syde. And men went by with wyndyng seares into þe myddle galery / and out of the myddle into þe thrid. And so he bylt the house and fynished it / and rousset it with beames of Cedar tymber made holow and loryned to geather. And then he bylt chambzes ouer all the temple of syue cubytes height / and coupled the house to geather with beames of Cedar.

And the woode of the Lord came to Salomon sayyng: concerninge the house which thou art in byldyng / yf thou wyll walche in myne ordinaunces and execute my lawes & kepe all my comaundementes / to walche in them: then wyll I make good vnto the / my promys / which I promised Dauid thy father. And I wyll dwelle amonge the chyldre of Israel and will not forsake my people Israel. And so therfore Salomon bylt þe house and fynished it and syled the walles of the house within / with rybbes of Cedar tre: euē from the pauement vnto the rousset he syled it with that / and boarded the flooze of the house with planches of fyre.

And he syled twentie cubytes in the ende of the temple bothe flooze & walles with Cedar / and dyssed it within to be the quere and place most holpe. And þe fyrst house / that is to saye / the bodye of þe temple / was fourtye cubytes longe. And the Cedar of the house within was kerued with knoppes & grauen in floures / & all was Cedar tymber / so that no stone was sene. And the quere that was within the temple / he prepared to set there the Arche Arche of the appoyntment of the Lorde. And the quere was twenty cubytes longe / and twenty in bredth & twenty in heyght. And he syled it with pure golde / & bozded the aultare with Cedar.

And Salomon syled the house within also with pure golde. And he made golden barres runne a longe the quere / whych he had couered with goulde. And the whole house he oner layde with goulde vntill he had ended it. And the aultare that was in the quere he ouer layde with goulde also.

Exod. xxv. b.

And within the quere he made two Cherubys of olpue tree / ten cubytes hie a pece / and euery wyngge fyue cubytes longe: so that from the uttermost parte of one wyngge vnto the uttermost parte of the other were ten cubytes.

Exod. xxv. b.

And the other Cherub was ten cubytes hie also: so that bothe the Cherubes were of one measure and one syle. The heyght of the one Cherub was ten cubytes / & so was it of the other. And he put the Cherubes in the middle of the inner house. And the Cherubes stretched their wynges / so that the one wyngge of the one touched the one wall / and the one wyngge of the other touched the other walle. And the other two wynges of them touched one another in the middes of the house. And he ouerlayde the Cherubes with goulde.

And all the walles of the house rounde aboute / he garnished with worke of Cherubes & paulme trees and grauen flowres / bothe within in the quere and without in the temple. And the floore of the house he couered with goulde bothe within in the quere & also without in the temple. And in the engering of the quere he made two dozes of olpue tree / with the hyper and two syle postes fyue square. And the two dozes of olpue tree / he graued with grauing of Cherubys and Paulme trees and graued flowres / & couered the with goulde / and layde goulde ouer the Cherubes and also the Paulme trees. And in lyke maner vnto the dooze of the temple he made postes of olpue tree / iij. square / & two dozes of fyue tree / & ether doze with two syle postes leues and graued thereon Cherubes Paulme trees and flowres / and couered the with goulde made playne by a ruler.

And then he bylde the inner court with thre rowes of hewed stone and one rowe of Cedar wodd.

And Salomon bylde his stone house in .xij. yere space and full synished it. And he bylde the house of wood of Libanon / an hundred cubytes long and fyfte bzoade / & thre / & fyve / four square with rowes of Cedar pylers / and Cedar beames a longe vpon the pylers. And the rouse was Cedar aboute an hie vpon the beames that laye an hie on the pylers / which pylers were fourtye & fyue in nombze / fyfene on a rowe / and the spaces betwene the pylers were one agaynst another thre folde. And all the dozes with the fyve postes were four square one agaynst another thre fold.

And he made a porche of pylers fyfte cubytes longe and thre / & fyve bzoade: and yet a porche before that with pylers / and a thicke piler before that. Then he made a porche to syt and ludge in / syled with Cedar thozou out all the pauementes. And his stone house where he kept resydence in a nother court without that porche was of the same worke. And then Salomon made an house for Pharaos daughter / which he had takē to wyfe / lyke vnto that porche.

And all these thynges were of ryche stones hewed after a measure & sawed with sawes within & without / euen fro the foundacyon vnto that wheron the beames were layed / & on the out syde therto warde the great court. And the foundacion was of ryche stones and the myghtie great stones of ten cubytes & of egypt. And aboute were ryche stones hewed accordyng to the same syle / & also with Cedar. And the great court round about was with thre rowes of hewed stone and one rowe of Cedar planches. And lyke wyse was it in the inner court of the house of the Lorde & of the porche of the temple. And kyng Salomon sent & set one Hiram out of Tyre / a weldowes sonne of the trybe of Nephtalim / hys father beyng of Tyre. which Hiram was a crafter mā in bzoale / & full of wysdome / understanding & comyng to worke all maner of worke in bzoale. And he came to kyng Salomon and wrought all hys worke. He cast two pylers of bzoale of .xliij. cubytes a pece hie / and a stryng of .xij. cubytes myghte compase ether of them aboute. And he made two heed peeces of molten bzoale to set on the toppes of the pylers / of fyue cubytes longe a pece / & garlandes of bzoaled worke & whopps of chayne worke for the heed peeces that were on the pylers. .viij. for the one and .viij. for the other. And he made the pylers / & for ether of the heed peeces a garlande in two rowes of po-of pomegranetes to couer the with all. And the heed peeces that were on the toppes of the pylers were wrought in lykes in the porche the space of four cubytes of them. And the pomegranetes aboute & benethe on the wythen chaynes that compased the myddle of the heed peeces were in nombze two hundred on ether heed pece. And he sett vp the pylers in the porche of the temple / and when he had set vp the ryght piler / he called the name therof Jachin / & when he had set vp the lefte piler he called the name therof Boaz. And the toppes of the pylers were thus wrought in lykes / & so was their workmanship synished.

Then he cast a see of bzoale / ten cubytes wyde fro byrm to byrm and rounde in compase / & fyue cubytes hie. And a stryng of .xxx. cubytes myght compase it aboute / and vnder the byrm of it as it were apples compased and embzased the see of ten cubytes wyde in two rowes cast with it whē it wast cast. And it stode on twelue oxen: of which thre looked North / thre west / thre South & thre East / & the see on hie vpon them / and all their hynderpartes were inward. And it was an hand bzoade thicke / and the byrm wrought lyke the byrm of a cup with flowres of lykes. And it containyd two thousand Baches.

And he made ten botomes of bzoale / four cubytes long & four cubytes bzoade a pece / & thre hie. And the workes of the botomes were on this maner that the spyes were as it were flat bozdes betwene the ledges. And on the flat bozdes betwene the ledges were that were aboute & beneth the lyons & oxen / was forned pendant worke. And euery botom had four bzoalen wheles / whose axeltrees were also of bzoale. And in the four corners were underletters vnder the lauatozpe cast eche ouer agaynst his fellow.

And the stalcke of the lauatozpe was in the middle of the botome one cubit hie / and a cubyte & an half rosse / & it had knoppes there on in the bare places which were four square not rounde. And vnder the spyes were four wheles and their axeltrees forned fast to the botome. And the height of euery whele was a cubyte and an half. And the workmanship of the wheles was lyke the worke of a chariot whele. And the axeltrees / & nauelles / spokes and shaftes were all moulten. And the four underletters in the four corners were of the berge botomes.

And vnder the stalcke of the lauatozpe in the myddes of the botome was there a rounde fore of halfe a cubit hie. And thereon playne places and ledges of the selfe. And he graued in the playne & also on the ledges / Cherubes / lyons & paulmetrees / euery where rounde about. And on this maner he made ten botoms cast worke: all of one measure & one syle. Then he made ten lauerys of bzoale containinge fourtye Baches a pece / and they were of four cubytes a pece / for euery one of the botomes a lauer. And he put fyue of those botomes on the ryght corner of the temple / and other fyue on the lefte: And put the see on the ryght corner of the temple Eastwarde & toward the South.

And Hiram made pottes / houelles & basons / and so synished all the worke that he made kyng Salomon for the house of the Lorde: that is to saye / two pylers & two kalpes of the heed / & were on the toppes of the two pylers / & four hundred pomegranetes vpon two wythes / two rowes on ether wythe / to couer the two kalpes of the heed / that were on the toppes of the two pylers: And the ten botomes of bzoale with ten lauerys vpon the: & a see with twelue oxen vnder it: & pottes / houelles & basens. And all these vesselles which Hiram made to kyng Salomon for the house of the Lorde were of byrght bzoale. And in the playne of Jorda dyd the kyng cast the: euē in the claye of the erth betwene Socob and Zarthan. And Salomon left all the vesselles bzoaled / for the exceeding abundance of bzoale that was in them.

And Salomon made all the vesselles that pertayned vnto the house of the Lorde: the aultare of goulde / and the table of goulde wheron the shew bred was put: And fyue candelsticks / for the ryght syde / and as many for the lefte / before the quere / of pure goulde: & flowres / lampes / and snuffers of goulde: and Bolles / Plasteries / basons / spones and fyue pannes of pure goulde: and wynges of gould bothe for the dozes of the quere / the place most holpe / and for the dozes of the temple also.

And so was ended all the worke that kyng Salomon made for the house of the Lorde. And then Salomon brought in the thynges which David his father had dedicated in syluer / goulde and other vesselles / & put the to the treasure of the house of the Lorde.

The Arche is borne in to the temple. A Cloude fylleth the temple. The Temple is blessed.

The .liij. Chapter.

Then Salomon gathered the elders of Israel / all the heedes of the trybes and auncient Lordes of the chyldren of Israel / vnto him to Jerusalem / to byrgne by the Arche of the appoyntment of the Lorde out of the cytie of David which is Sion. And all the men of Israel assembled vnto kyng Salomon to the feast that falleth in the moneth * Ethanim which is the seventh moneth. And when all the elders of Israel were come / the prelates toke by the Arche of the Lord brought it also a tabernacle of witness and all the holpe thereof were therein. And the prestes and the Levites brought them up. And king Salomon and all the congregation of Israel that were assembled/ and were with him before the Arche/ by offer there and oxen that could not be tolde nor nombred for multitude.

And so the prestes brought the Arche of the apoyntment of the Lord into his place: and into the quere of the temple and place most holy/ under the wynges of the Cherubes. For the Cherubes stretched out their wynges over the Arche/ and covered bothe it and also the staves thereof as hye byd it. Now be it the staves were so longe that the endes of them appered out of the holy place before the quere/ but were not sene without. And there they be unto this daye. And there was a nothyng in the Arche save the two tables of stone which Moyses put there at Horeb/ when the Lord made an apoyntment with the chyldren of Israel after they were come out of Egypt.

And when the prestes were come out of the Holy place/ then a cloude fylled the house of the Lord/ that the prestes could not endure to minister because of the cloude: for the glorie of the Lord had fylled the house of the Lord. Then spake Salomon: the Lord sayde/ he wolde dwelle in darkness. I have bylt an house to dwelle in/ as an habitaciō for he to abide in for ever. And the kyng turned his face and blessed all the congregacion of Israel/ all the congregacion standyng. And he sayde.

Blessed be the Lord God of Israel/ which hath fulfilled with his hand/ that he spake in his mouthe unto David my father sayyng: fro the daye I brought my people Israel out of Egypt/ I chose no cytye among any of the trybes of Israel/ to bylde an house/ that my name myghte be there: But I have chosen David to be ruler over my people Israel.

And it was in the hert of David my father/ to bylde an house for the name of the Lord God of Israel. But the Lord God sayde unto David my father: in it was in thyne hert to bylde an house for my name/ thou bydest well/ that thou walt so mynded. Nevertheless thou shalt not bylde the house/ but thy sonne that shall come out of thy loynes/ he shall bylde an house for my name.

And the Lord hath made good his worde: he spake. For I bode by in the towne of David my father/ as I sate on the seate of Israel/ as the Lord promysed/ and have bylt an house for the name of the Lord God of Israel. And I have prepared therein a place for the Arche wherein I couenaunt of the Lord is/ which he made to our fathers/ after he had brought the out of the land of Egypt. And Salomon stode before the altare of the Lord in sight of all the congregacion of Israel and stretched out his handes to heuē and sayde: Lord God of Israel/ there is no God like the in heuē above or in the erthe beneath/ he kepeth apoyntment and mercye to the seruantes/ he walke before the in all their hertes: which also hath kepte to the seruantes David my father/ and thou promysedst him. Thou spakst to thy mouthe and hast fulfilled in thyne hand/ as it is come to passe this daye. And now Lord God of Israel/ kepe to the seruant David my father/ and thou promysedst him sayyng: thou shalt not be with out one or other before me/ settinge on the seate of Israel: Now be it of thy chyldren shall take hede to their wayes that they walke before me/ as thou hast walched before me. Now then Lord God of Israel/ let thy worde be stable whych thou spakst unto the seruant David my father.

But in deade can God dwelle on the erthe? Beholde nether heuē nor heuē above all heuē are able to contayne the: how moche lesse then this house that I have bylt? But loke to the prayer of the seruant and his supplicacion Lord my God/ to geue an eare unto the voyce and prayer which the seruant prayeth before the this daye/ that thyne eyes maye be open vnto this house night and daye/ and upon the place/ of which thou hast sayde/ my name shall be there: that thou herken vnto the prayer which the seruant shall praye in this place. And herke vnto the supplicacion of the seruant and of the people Israel which they shall praye in this place: And heare thou vnto heuē thy dwelling place/ and when thou hearest haue mercye. And of any man trespasse agaynst his neybour/ and his neybour take an aduersion to aduise him in all/ and an aduersion come before thine altare at this house then herke thou vnto heuē/ and worke a iudge the seruant/ and thou cōdempe the wycked to bylg his waye vnto his heed/ and iustice be righteous to geue him accordyng to his rightwelle. And the people of Israel be put to the worde before their enemies/ because they haue sinned agaynst the Lord/ and afterwarde tyme agayne to the Lord saye thy name/ and praye and make supplicacion vnto the in this house: then heare thou vnto heuē and be mercifull vnto the synne of the people Israel/ and bring the agayne vnto the lande which thou gauest vnto their fathers.

If heauen be shutt by/ that there be no rayne/ because they haue synned agaynst the Lord/ yet if they praye in this place and praye thy name and turne from their synnes/ thou shalt shewyng of them: then heare thou vnto heuē/ and be mercifull vnto the synne of the seruantes and of the people Israel/ and thou shewe them a good waye to walke in/ and geue rayne

rayne vpon the lande that thou hast geuen vnto thy people to inheret.

If there chaunce darth in the land/ pestilence/ blasting/ or witheryng of come/ or if fruites be deuoured of Grasshoppers or Caterpillers/ or if their enemies besedge the in the land/ and in their atone cyties/ or whatsoever plage or synnes chaunce: then heare thou vnto heuē thy dwelling place/ all thy prayers and supplicacions shall be made of all men thowout all the people Israel/ which shall knowlege every man the plage of his atone hert/ and stretch forth his hand vnto this house/ and be mercifull/ and worke/ and geue every man accordyng to his wayes/ as thou oney knowest every mannes hert/ for thou knowest the hertes of all the chyldren of Adā/ and they maye feare the as longe as they lyue vnto the erth which thou gauest vnto their fathers. And I the people of a stranger/ and is not of the people Israel come out of a farre country for thy names sake/ for they shall heare of thy great name/ and of thy myghtie hand and stretched out arme/ and therfore yet he come and praye at this place/ heare thou vnto heuē thy dwelling place and do accordyng to all that the stranger calleth to the for: that all nacyns of the erth maye knowe thy name/ to feare the as do the people Israel/ and that it maye be known that this house which I haue bylt is called after thy name.

And when they go out to battell agaynst their enemies whether soeuer thou shalt send them/ and shall praye vnto the Lord towarde the cytie which thou hast chosen and toward the house that I haue bylt for thy name: heare thou their prayers and supplicacions/ vnto heuē/ and iudge their cause.

And finally when they shall haue synned agaynst the/ (for there is no man that synneth not) and thou art angry with them and hast deliuered the to their enemies/ that they be carryed awaye prysoners vnto the land of their enemies/ whether ferre or neare/ yet if they turne agayne vnto their hertes in the lande where they be in captiuite/ and retorne and praye vnto the in the lande of the captiue/ sayyng: we haue synned and haue done wyckedlye and haue trespassed/ and so tyme agayne vnto the with all their hertes and all their soules in the land of their enemies which holde them captiue/ and praye vnto the/ towarde the land which thou gauest vnto their fathers/ and toward the cytie which thou hast chosen/ and house which I haue bylt for thy name: then heare thou their prayer and supplicacion vnto heuē thy dwelling place/ and iudge their causes/ and be mercifull vnto the people that haue synned agaynst the/ and vnto all their trespasse/ and they haue trespassed agaynst the/ and get the sauoure in the syght of them/ and holde the captiue that they maye haue compassyon on them. For they be thy people and thyne inheritaunce which thou broughtest out of Egypt/ fro the fornice of Egypt. And lett thyne eyes be open vnto the prayer of the seruant and vnto the prayer of the people Israel/ to herke vnto them/ in all that they calle vnto the for. For thou dydest seprat the/ to be thyne inheritaunce/ aboute all the nacyns of the erth/ as thou saydest by the hande of Moyses thy seruant/ when thou broughtest our fathers out of Egypte Lord Jehouah.

And when Salomon had made an ende of praying all this prayer and supplicacion vnto the Lord/ he arose from before the altare of the Lord and from knelyng on his knees and stretchyng of his handes vnto heuē and a blessed all the congregacion of Israel with a loude voyce sayyng: Blessed be the Lord which hath geuen teste vnto his people Israel accordyng to all that he promysed: so that there is not one worde escaped of all the good promyses which he promysed by the hand of Moyses his seruant. And the Lord our God be with vs/ as he was with our fathers/ and take vs not nether leue vs/ but that he bowe our hertes vnto hym/ to walke in all his wayes/ and to kepe his comādemētes/ ordinaūces and customes which he comāded our fathers. And these my wordes which I haue prayed before the Lord/ benye vnto the Lord our God daye and nyght/ that he defende the cause of his seruant and of his people Israel euermore/ that all nacyns of the erth maye knowe that the Lord he is God and none but he. And I praye God that poure hertes maye be founde with the Lord our God/ to walke in his ordinaūces and to kepe his lawes as we do this daye.

And the kyng and all Israel with hym/ offered offerynges before the Lord. And the peaceofferynges Salomon offered vnto the Lord/ were xxij. thousand oxen and an hundred and twenty thousand shepe: And so the kyng and all the chyldren of Israel dedicated the house of the Lord. And the same daye the kyng halowed the myddle of the court/ and is before the house of the Lord: for there he offered burnt-offerynges and meateofferynges and the fat of the peaceofferynges/ because the brasen altare that was before the Lord/ was to lytle to receaue the burnt-offerynges and meateofferynges and the fat of the peaceofferynges.

And Salomon helde that same tyme an hye feast and all Israel with hym/ a myghtie congregacion/ euen from the costes of Hemath vnto the ryuer of Egypte/ before the Lord our God/ seuen dayes and yet seuen dayes/ and is

The Lord speareth the second tyme to Salomon. Salomon greeth Dawid to Hiram. The Ammonites be come tributaries. He sendeth shippes for goulde. He byldeth many cyties.

The ix. Chapter.

And when Salomon had fynished the byldyng of the house of þ. Lord and of the kynges palace / & of all that his desyre & lust was to make: the Lord appered vnto him agayne / as he appered to hym at Gabaon. And the Lord sayd vnto hym: I haue hearde thy prayer and intercession þ. thou madest before me / & haue halowed this house which thou hast bylt / to put my name there for ever & myne eyes and myne hert shall be there perpetually. And yet thou wilt walke before me / as Dauid thy father walked / in purenesse of hert & playne-nesse / to doo all þ. I haue commaunded the / and shalt kepe myne ordynances & customes: then I will stablish þ. seate of thy kyngdom vpon Israel for ever / as I promised to Dauid thy father sayyng: *Thou shalt not be without one or other vpon the seate of Israel.

But & yf ye and youre chyldre shall turne awaye from after me / & shall not kepe myne ordynances which I haue set before you / but shall go & serue other Goddes & bowe youre selues vnto the: then I will weede Israel out of the lade which I haue geuen them. And this house which I haue halowed for my name / I will put out of my syght. And Israel shall be a prouerbe & a fable vnto all nacions. And his house which is sayde / *all þ. passe by it shall be astonied & shall hye & saye: why hath the Lord dealt on his manner in this lande & with this house? And it shall be answered the / because they forsoke the Lord their God which brought their fathers out of the lade of Egypt / & haue taken holde vpon other Goddes & haue stouped vnto him & serued them: therefore hath the Lord brought vpon the all this euell. *Then at the ende of twentye yeres in which Salomon had bylt the two houses / þ. is to wete / the house of the Lord & the kynges palace: because Hiram the kyng of Tyre had suppyed hym w. Cedar / fyre & goulde / as moche as he desired: therefore Salomon gaue Hiram. xx. cyties in the lande of Galilee. And when Hiram was come fro Tyre to se þ. cyties which Salomon had geue him / they pleased him not wherefore he sayde: what cyties are these which thou hast geue me / my brother? & he called them the land of Cabul vnto this daye. This Hiram had sent þ. kyng. vi. shoores hundred wagght of goulde. And this is þ. summe of þ. tribute which kyng Salomon rayled / to bylde the house of the Lord and his alyone house / and Ophir & the walles of Jerusalem / and Bether / and Magedo / and Gazer.

For Pharaos kyng of Egypt went by and toke Gazer & burnt it with fyre / and due the Canaanites þ. dwelt in the cytie / & gaue it for a present vnto his daughter that was Salomons wyfe. And Salomon bylt Gazer and Beth Hozon the nether: and Baalath & Chamar in the wyldernesse þ. is in the lande: & all the floore cyties þ. Salomon had / & cyties for his charettes / & cyties for his horsemen & all þ. his lust was to bylde in Jerusalem and Libanon and in all the land of his kyngdom.

And all the people that were left of the Amorites / Bethites / Pherezites / Heuites & Jebusites / which were not of the chyldren of Israel / the chyldre of the sayde nacions that were left in the lande / because the chyldren of Israel were not able to destroye them / vpon Salomons make tributaries vnto this daye. And of the chyldren of Israel vpon Salomon make no bondemen. But they were men of warre & his seruantes and his lordes and Captaynes & rulers of his charettes & of his horsemen. And these maner lordes & ouersawe the worke had Salomon / fyue hundred and fiftye / which ruled the people that brought in the worke.

And Pharaos daughter came by oute of þ. cytie of Dauid vnto the house which Salomon had bylt for her. And after that he bylt Ophir. And thys was a yere vpon Salomon offer burntofferinges and peaceofferinges vpon the aultare which he had bylt vnto the Lord / to burne the fette thereon: which aultare is before the Lord.

And when kyng Salomon had made the house perfecte / he made shippes in Tyre / Gaber which is besyde Eloth / on the byrnycke of the red see / in the lande of Edom. And Hiram sent by shippe also of his seruantes / that were shipmen and expert in the see / with þ. seruantes of Salomon. And they went to Ophir & fet from thence goulde / to þ. summe of iiii. hundred and xxij. talentes / & brought it to Salomon.

The Quene of Saba cometh from the uttermost partes of the land to heare and se the wysdom of Salomon. The yerly revenues and rentes of Salomon. His thorne / bellies of goulde / & charytes / & abundance of spicer.

The x. Chapter.

And the quene of Saba heard of the wysdom of Salomon concerning the name of the Lord / and came to proue him with ryddelles. And she came to Jerusalem in a nightie great multitude of Camelles that bare swete odoures & goulde goulde exceeding moche / & precious stones. And when she was come to Salomon / she communed with hym of all þ. was in her hert. And Salomon expounded her all her questions / that there was not one thyng hydd from the kyng whych he expounded her not.

And when the quene of Saba had sene all Salomons wysdom & the house that he had bylt / & the meate of his table / & the settinge of his seruantes / & the standinge of his seruantes / & the apperell / & his buttelers / and his sacrifyce that he offered in the house of þ. Lord / she was astonied. Then she sayd to the kyng: þ. worde I harde in myne alyone lande of thy dedes and wysdom / is true. How be it I beleued it not / tyll I came & saw it with myne eyes. And se / the one halfe was not tolde me: for thy wysdom and goodnesse exceedeth the fame which I hearde. Happy are thy men: and happye are these thy seruantes / whych stande ever before the and heare thy wysdom. And blessed be the Lord thy God whych had a lust to the / to sett the on the seate of Israel / because the Lord loved Israel for ever / and therefore made the kyng / to do equite and ryght wysnesse.

And she gaue the kyng an hundred and xx. talentes of goulde / and of swete odoures exceeding moche / & precious stones. There came neuer after soche aboundance of swete odoures as þ. Quene of Saba gaue to kyng Salomon. And therto the shippes of Tyre that brought goulde from Ophir / brought from Ophir great plenty of Amuge tre & precious stones. And kyng Salomon made of the Amuge trees pillars in the house of þ. Lord & in the kynges palace / & made harpes & psalteries for synners. There came no moare Amuge tre so / nor was anye moare sene vnto this daye. And kyng Salomon gaue vnto þ. Quene of Saba all her desyre that she asked of hym: besydes þ. he gaue her w. hys alyone hand. And so she returned vnto her alyone countrey with her seruantes.

The weyght of goulde that came to Salomon in one yere / was. vi. hundred thye shoores and. vi. talentes of goulde / besydes that he had of chapmen and of merchautes of Potyrry / & of all the kyngs of Arabia & of þ. Lordes of þ. countrey. And kyng Salomon made two hundred boukelers of beate goulde / vi. hundred sick of goulde wett to a boukeler. And he made thye hundred shippes of beate goulde / thye pound of goulde goyng to a perr / & put them in the house of the wood of Libanon.

And þ. kyng made a great seate of Tyrry and couered it with precious golde. And the seate had sixe steeppes. And þ. toppe of þ. seate was rounde behinde his backe with pomelles on ether syde on the place where he satte / and two Lyons standinge betwixt þ. pomelles. And there stode. xij. Lyons on the steeppes / vi. on a syde. Ther was none lyke sene in any kyngdom. And all kyngs Salomons dyn- kyng belles were of goulde / & all the belles of the house of the wood of Libanon were of pure goulde. And as for syluer it was no thyng wythe in the dayes of Salomon. For the see shippes whych the kyng had in the see / with the shippes of Tyre / came euery thye yere laden with goulde / syluer / Tyrry / apes and peockes. *And so kyng Salomon excreased all the kynges of þ. erthe in richesse & wysdom. And all þ. world reioyced to Salomon / to heare his wysdom / which God had put in his hert. And brought him euery man his present / belles of syluer and of goulde / and of rayment / harnesse / swete odoures / horses and Pulles / yere by yere. And Salomon gathered together charettes and horsemen: so that he had a thousand and. iij. hundred charettes / and. xij. thousand horsemen / whych he bestowed in the charett cyties and with the kyng at Jerusalem.

*And the kyng made syluer in Jerusalem as plenteous as stones / and Cedar as plenteous as the mulberry trees that grow in the balys. And Salomons horses came out of Egypt from Beua: the marchautes sett the from Beua at a pryce. A charret came out of Egypt for. vi. hundred sicles of syluer / & an horse for an hundred and fiftie. And even so by the handes of the sayde marchautes / horses were brought out for all the kynges of þ. Bethites and for the kynges of Siria.

Salomon hath sene hundred Quenes and thye hundred Concupyces / which bring him to Idolatrye. His aduersaries rebel agaynst hym. He dyeth / & Jeroboam bys sonne caryeth in hys Reade.

The xi. Chapter.

And kyng Salomon loved many out-landish women: the daughter of Pharaos & of þ. Moabites / Ammonites / Edomites / Sidonites & Bethites / eue of nacions of which þ. Lord sayde vnto þ. chyldre of Israel / se ye come not at the nor let them come to you: for surely they will turne youre hertes after their Goddes. Nevertheless to soche Salomon claued & fell in loue w. the. *And he had sene hundred *bery Quenes & thye hundred concubines / which turned awaye his hert. For when Salomon was olde / his wyues turned his hert after other Goddes: so þ. hys hert was not perfecte to the Lord his God / as was phert of Dauid his father.

And Salomon followed after the God of the Sidons / & whilco the abhominacion of the Ammonites. And Salomon brought wykednesse in the syght of the Lord & continued not after the Lord as did Dauid his father. After þ. Salomon bylt an alter for Chamos the ab-the abhominacion of the Moabites in þe hill that standeth before Jerusalem: & vnto Mo- loch the abhominacion of the childre of Am- mon. And ykewise dyd he for all his outlan- dysh wyues which burnt censse and offered vnto their Gods. Then was the Lorde angrye with Salomon because hys hert turned fro the Lorde God of Israel which appered vnto him twise: & gaue him a charge of this thyng that he shulde not folowe other Gods. But he kept not that whiche the Lorde com- maunded him: wherupon the Lorde sayde to Salomon: for as moche as this is done of þe / and thou hast not kepte myne appoyntment and myne ordynaunces whiche I haue coma- unded the: therfore I will rent the kyngdome from the: & will geue it to thy seruauit. Not- withstanding in thy dayes I will not do it / because of Dauid thy father: but I will take it from thy sonne. Now be it I will not take awaye all: But I will geue one trybe to thy sonne / because of Dauid my seruauit & be- cause of Jerusalem whiche I haue chosen.

And þe Lorde stered by an aduersarye vnto Salomon / one Hadad an Edomite & of the kynges hygnage of Edom. For whē Dauid was in Edom / & Joab þe capytayne of the hoste was gone by to burie the þe were slayne: & had slay- ne all þe mē childre in Edom. For by monethes dyd Joab remayne there & all Israel / tyl he had destroyed all þe men childre in Edom. And this Hadad fled & certē other Edomites of his fathers seruantes with him / to go to Egypte Hadad beyng yet a lytle lad. And they arose out of Egiptian and went to Pharan: & toke men with them out of Pharan and came to Egypte vnto Pharaos kyng therof / whych gaue him an house / and apoynted him bita- les and garmēt hym lawfully.

And Hadad gat great fauoure in þe syght of Pharaos / so that he gaue hym to wyfe the syster of his awne wyfe / the syster of Chaba- phnes the Quene. And þe syster of Chaba- phnes bare hym Semubath hys sonne. And Chabaphnes wened hym in Pharaos house. And he was in Pharaos house amonge the sonnes of Pharaos. And when Hadad heard saye in Egypte þe Dauid was layde to slepe with his fathers / and that Joab the capytayne of the hoste was deed also / he sayde to Pharaos let me departe / þe I maye go to myne awne cōstrete. Then sayd Pharaos vnto him: what lackest thou heere with me / þe thou woldest go to thyne awne cōstrete? And he sayde / nothing: how be it let me go. And God stered by an other aduersarye / one Hazon the sonne of Eliada / whych fled from Hadadzer kyng of Zobah his master. Whych Hazon geathe- red men vnto him & became capytayne ouer the compaigne / when Dauid sue them. And they went to Damasco and dwelt therein / & raygned in Damasco. And he was an aduer- sarye to Israel all the dayes of Salomon / wh the euell þe Hadad dyd / whych aboyred Israel and raygned in Siria.

And Rehoboam the sonne of Nabat an Ephraimite of Zeredah (whose mother was called Teraah & was a widow & he Salo- mons seruauit) * like by his hand agaynst the kyng. And herof cam it / that he liste by his hand agaynst the kyng. Salomon byt Mele & mended broken places in the cite of Dauid hys father. And this felowe Rehoboam was an active man. And whē Salomon sa to the younge man / that he wrought so lustely in the worke / he made hym ruler ouer all the charges of the house of Joseph. And it cha- ced at þe reason / as Rehoboam was gone out of Jerusalem / that the prophet Ahiah þe Si- lonite mett him by the waye / hauing a newe mantell on him / & they two alone in þe felde. And Ahiah caught the new mantell that was on him & rent it in twelue peces / & sayde to Rehoboam: take the ten peces. For this sayth the Lorde God of Israel: behold / I will rent the kyngdome out of the handes of Salomon and will geue ten trybes to the / and he shall haue one / for my seruante Dauid sake & for Jerusalem the cite whiche I haue chosen out of all the trybes of Israel: because they haue forsaken me / and haue bowed them sel- ues vnto Astaroth the God of the Sidons / & to Camos the God of the Moabites / and to Milcom the God of the childre of Ammon / & haue not walked in my wayes / to do that please me / and myne ordynaunces and cus- tomes / as dyd Dauid hys father.

Now be it I will take none of the kyng- dome out of his hand: but I will make him che- asse all his lyfe longe / for Dauid my seruau- tes sake / whiche I chose: because he kept my comaundementes & ordynaunces. But I will take the kyngdome out of his sonnes hand & will geue vnto the ten trybes of it: and will geue his sonne one / that Dauid my seruauit maye haue a lyght allwaye before me in Je- rusalem / the cite whych I haue chosen me / to put my name there. And I will take the / & thou shalt raygne vpon all that thy soule de- syreth / & shalt be kyng ouer Israel. And yf thou shalt hearken vnto all that I comaunde the / & shalt walke in my wayes and do that is right in my syght / that thou kepe myne ordynaunces & comaundementes as Dauid my seruauit dyd: then I will be with the and byld the an house that shall contynue / as I byld for my seruauit Dauid / & will geue Israel vnto the. And therewith will I bere the seeche of Dauid / but not for euer.

And Salomon sought to kyll Rehoboam wherfore wherfore Rehoboam arose & fled into Egypte vnto Setah kyng of Egypte and continued there vntill the deeth of Salomon. And the rest of the Actes of Salomon and all that he dyd / & his wysdome are wyrtten in the booke of the Actes of Salomon. And the tyme that Salomon raygned in Jerusalem vpon all Is- rael / was fourtie yere. And then he layd hym to rest with his fathers / and was buried in þe cite of Dauid hys father / and Rehoboam his sonne raygned in hys stede.

¶ The kyngdome is deuyded: and Rehoboam ray- gneth ouer. 9. trybes and Jeroboam ouer. 7. Anduram is sloued. Jeroboam maketh goulden calves.

¶ The xij. Chapter.

¶ And Rehoboam wet to Sichem: for all Israel were come to Sichem to make him kyng. And when Jero- boam the sonne of Nabat heard of it beyng yet in Egypte: for he fled to Egypte for feare of Salomon / & dwelt in Egypte. And they sent & called hym: and so Rehoboam & all the congregaciō of Israel came & spake vnto Rehoboam sayng: thy father made oure pouche greuous / but now make thou the greuous seruyce of thy father and hys soze pouche whych he put vpon vs / lyghter: & so we will serue the. And he sayde vnto the: de- part yet for the space of thre dayes / & then co- me agayne to me. And the people departed.

And kyng Rehoboam toke counsell with the olde men that stode before Salomon his father / while he yet lyued / & sayde: what coun- cell geue ye to answer this people with all? And they sayd vnto hym: If thou wilt be a seruauit vnto this people this daye and serue them & answer the & speke kynde wordes to the: they will be thy seruantes for euer. But he sette the counsell þe olde men had gaue him / & consiled with the younge men þe were nourished by with him & had waityd on him.

And he sayde vnto them: what counsell geue ye / to answer this people w all whych haue comyned with me sayng: make the pouche whych thy father dyd put vpon vs / lyghter? And the younge men that were brought by with hym / answered him sayng: this people that haue sayde vnto the: thy fa- ther made oure pouche heuie / make thou it leys lyghter: thus answered them. Wherof syng- er shalbe wayghter then my fathers loynes. And now where my father put a greuous pouche vpon you / I will make it heuier. For where my father corrected you with scourges / I will chastise you with scor- pions. And when Rehoboam: and all þe people were come to Rehoboam the thyrde daye / as the kyng apoynted them / sayng: come to me agayne this daye thre dayes: the kyng answered the people churlyshly and sette the adulter that olde men gaue him: and spake to þe them after the counsell of the younge men sayng. My father made poure pouche gre- uous / but I will make it greuouser. For where my father chastised you w whippes / I will chastise you with scorpions. And so the kyng hekened not vnto the people: for the hitting awaye was of þe Lorde / to perforce his sayng / whych the Lorde sayde by Ahiah þe Silonite vnto Rehoboam & sonne of Nabat.

And when all Israel saw that the kyng regarded them not / the people answered the kyng & gayne sayng: we haue no parte in Dauid / nor inheritaunce in þe sonne of Dauid. * To poure stes therfore Israel / & now se to thine awne house Dauid. And so Israel de- parted vnto their tentes. Now be it ouer the childre of Israel whiche dwelt in the cite of Juda / dyd Rehoboam raygne xij. Then kyng Rehoboam sent Aduram the receauer of the tribute. And all Israel stoued hym to deeth w stones. But kyng Rehoboam made spede & gat hym by to his charret & fled to Jerusalem. And so Israel departed fro the house of Da- uid vnto this daye. And whē all Israel heard that Rehoboam was come agayne / they sent and called hym vnto the congregacyon and made hym kyng ouer Israel: so there folo- wed the house of Dauid / but the trybe of Juda only. * And when Rehoboam was co- me to Jerusalem / he geathered all the house of Juda and the trybe of Beniamin an hun- dred and foure skore thousandes of chosen men and good warryoures / to fyghe agaynst the house of Israel / and to byngne the kyng- dome agayne to Rehoboam the sonne of Salomon.

¶ Then came the worde of the Lorde vnto Semerish the man of God sayng: speake vnto Rehoboam & sonne of Salomon kyng of Juda / and vnto all the house of Juda and Beniamin / and the remnant of the people & saye. Thus saythe the Lorde: go not nor yet fyghe agaynst poure brethren the childre of Israel / but retorne euery man to hys house / for this doynge is of þe Lorde. And they obeyed the worde of the Lorde and returned and de- parted accordynge to the worde of the Lorde. ¶ Then Rehoboam byld Sichem in moun- tephraim / and dwelt therein. And went from thence and byld Phamuel.

¶ And Rehoboam thought in hys hert: now might the kyngdome retorne to the house of Dauid agayne. For yf thes people shall go by & do sacrifice in the house of the Lorde at Jerusalem / then shall their hertes turne agayne vnto their Lorde Rehoboam kyng of Juda. And so shall they kyll me and go agayne to Rehoboam kyng of Juda. * Wherupon þe kyng toke counsell and made two calves of golde and sayde

and sayde vnto the people: ye shall not make to go any moare to Ierusalem. Beholde your gods Israel whych brought you out of the lande of Egypt. And he put the one in Bethel and the other in Dan. And that daynge was a cause of synne. And the people went before the one as farre as Dan, and he made houses of hillaultares / & made of the lowest of the people prestes which were not of the sonnes of Leui. And Jeroboam made a feast the xv. daye of the. viij. moneth / lyke vnto the feast that was in Iuda / and offered on the aultare. And so did he in Bethel / to offer vnto the calves that he had made. And he put in Bethel prestes of the hillaultares / whych he had made. And he offered vpon the alter whych he had made in Bethel / the. xv. daye of the. viij. moneth / whych he had imagined of hys awne hert: and made a solemne feast vnto the chyldre of Israel / and went vp to the aultare to burne sacrifice.

Jeroboam sacrificyng vnto calves is reprehended of the prophete. His hand wyth up while he putteth it oute agaynst the prophete. The prophete is tyllid and buryed.

The xliij. Chapter.

And beholde / there came a man of God out of Iuda with the woorde of God to Bethel / as Jeroboam stode by the aultare to offer / & cryed agaynst the aultare at the commaundment of the Lorde and sayde: aultare / aultare / thus saythe the Lord. Beholde a chyldre shall be borne of the house of David / Josiah by name / whych vpon the shall offer the prestes of the hillaultares that sacrifice vpon the / & shall burne mennes bones vpon the. And he gaue them the same tyme a signe sayinge: this is the signe of that the Lorde hath promised. Behold the aultare shall rent and the ashes that are in it shall falle out.

And when the kyng hearde the saying of the man of God whych he cryed agaynst the aultare in Bethel / he stretched out his hand from the aultare sayinge: hold him. And hys hand whych he put forth toward him / dyed bp / & he coulde not pull it in agayne to hym / & the aultare claued and the ashes rane out of the aultare accordyng to the token whych the man of God had geuen at the commaundment of the Lorde. And the kyng answered & sayde vnto the man of God: Chyppage vnto the Lord thy God & make intercession for me / that my hand maye be restored me agayne. And the man of God besought the Lorde / & his hande came to him agayne as well as before.

Then sayde the kyng vnto the man of God: come home with me and refreche thy selfe / & I will geue thee a rewarde. But the man of God answered & sayde: I will not do so. me halfe thynne house / I would not go with the nether wood / I ate meate of dryncke water in this place. For so was it charged me / thou the woode of God & sayd to me: eate no bred nor dryncke water nor turne agayne by the same waye thou wentest. And so he went a nother waye and returned not by the waye he came to Bethel. And there dwelt an olde prophet in Bethel / whose sonnes came and tolde him all the woordes that the man of God had done that daye in Bethel / and the woordes whych he spake vnto the kyng they tolde their father also. And their father sayde to them: what waye went he: for hys sonnes had sene what waye the man of God went whiche came from Iuda. Then sayde he to his sonnes: saddle mine Asse. And they saddled him an Asse. And he gat him by the waye and went after the man of God / and founde him sittinge vnder an Oke & sayde vnto hym: art thou the man of God that camst fro Iuda: And he sayde: yee.

Then he sayde to him: come home with me and eate breade. And the other sayde agayne: I maye not retorne with the / to go with the / nether maye I eate breade of dryncke water with the in this place. For it was sayde to me by the commaundment of the Lorde: eate no bred nor dryncke water in this place / nor turne agayne by the waye thou wentest. And the olde prophet sayde vnto him: I am a prophet as well as thou / & an Angel spake vnto me with the woode of the Lorde sayinge: bringe him agayne with the to thynne house / and let him eate bred and dryncke water / & yet lye vnto him. And so the other went agayne with him & ate bred in his house & dryncke water.

And as they late at the table / the woode of the Lorde came vnto the prophete & brought him agayne. And he cryed vnto the man of God that came fro Iuda / sayinge: thus sayth the Lorde: because thou hast disobeyed the mouth of the Lorde / & hast not kept the commaundment whych the Lorde thy God commaunded the / but camest backe agayne & hast eat bred and dryncke water in the place in whiche he bade the thou shouldest eate no bred nor dryncke water: therefore thy catshaffe shall not come vnto the sepulchre of thy fathers.

And when he had eaten bred & dryncke / he saddled an Asse for the prophete whiche he had brought agayne. And as he journeyed a litle mett him by the waye and sue him / & his catshaffe laye a longe in the waye & the Asse stode therby / & the Lyon stode by the coole also. And men that passed by / saw the catshaffe call a longe in the waye and the Lyon standyng therby / and went and tolde it in the towne where the olde prophet dwelt. And when the prophete brought him backe agayne fro the waye / he sayde: it is the myght of God of God whiche disobeyed the mouth of the Lorde. And therefore the Lorde hath deliuered hym vnto the Lyon whiche hath rent him & slayne hym / accordyng to the woode of the Lorde / whiche he sayde to hym. And he sayde to hys sonnes: saddle me an Asse: & so they did. And he wet & founde the bode cast alonge in the waye and the Asse and the Lyon standyng therby. And the Lyon had not eaten the catshaffe nor hurt the Asse. And he toke by the bode of the man of God & put it vpon the Asse & brought it agayne / & came to the cytye of the old prophete to lament hym / and to burye him. And he layde hys bode in hys awne graue / & lamented ouer him. Oh my brother. And when he had buryed hym / he spake to hys sonnes sayinge: when I am deed / se that ye burye me in the sepulchre wherin the man of God is buryed / and laye my bones by his. For I sayng whiche he cryed at the bedding of the Lorde agaynst the aultare in Bethel / and agaynst all the houses of hillaultares which are in the cities of Samarie / shall come to passe.

How be it for all that / Jeroboam turned not fro hys wicked waye: but turned a waye & made of the lowest of the people prestes of the hillaultares. Whosoever wolde / he filled their hand / & they became prestes of the hillaultare. And this doyng was synne vnto the house of Jeroboam / euil to destroye it and to put it awaye from of the face of the erthe.

Jeroboams wyfe aseth counsell of Abiah the prophete which propheseth vnto her of her chyldre & the destruction of all the Reuolues. Jeroboam dyeth. Sejan kyng of Egypt robbeth the house of the Lorde. Rehoboam dyeth and Abiam succeedeth hym.

The xliij. Chapter.

At that tyme Abiah the sonne of Jeroboam fell sicke. And Jeroboam sayde vnto his wyfe: bp a felowship & charge thynne apparell & thou be not knowen to be the wyfe of Jeroboam / and get the to Siloh. For there is Abiah the prophete whych tolde me: that I shoulde be kyng ouer this people. And take with the ten lours and cracknelles and a cruse of oynge / and go to him: for he will tell the what shall come of the lad. And Jeroboams wyfe did so: she arose and went to Siloh and came to the house of Abiah. But Abiah coulde not see / for his eyes were waxen dymme for age.

And the Lorde sayde vnto Abiah: beholde / the wyfe of Jeroboam cometh / to questyon with the about her sonne whych is sicke. And this wyfe and thys wyfe answered her. And when she came / she seyned her selfe to be a nother woman. But when Abiah hearde the sounde of her fete as she came to the doze / he sayde: come in thou wyfe of Jeroboam / why seynest thou thy selfe to be a nother: I am sent to the a cruel messenger.

So and tell Jeroboam / thus saythe the Lorde God of Israel: for as moche as I exalted the from amonge the comen people and made the prince ouer my people Israel / and dyd set the kyngdome awayne from the house of David and gaue it the: and thou hast not bene as was my seruaunt David / whych he kept my commaundmentes and folowed me with all hys herte / to do that onely whych semeth ryght in myne eyes: but hast done euell about all that were before the / and hast gone and made the other gods and images of metall / to prouoke me / and hast cast me behynde thy backe: therefore beholde I will drynke euell vpon the house of Jeroboam / and will drye from Jeroboam all that pisseth agaynst the wall / and what soeuer is in Ierusalem / or taken in Israel / and will take awaye the remnant of the house of Jeroboam / as men take awaye a dong hille / & it shall be consumed. And whosoever of Jeroboams house dye in the towne / hym shall the dogges eate / and hym that dyeth in the felde / shall the fowles of the ayre eate: for the Lorde hath sayde it / bp and gett the to thynne house / and as lone as thy fete entereth the cytye / the lad shall dye. How be it all Israel shall mourne hym and burye hym / for thys only of all Jeroboam shall come to the sepulchre / because in hym there is founde goodnesse toward the Lorde God of Israel in the house of Jeroboam.

Whosoever the Lorde shall bere hym bp a kyng ouer Israel whych shall destroye the house of Jeroboam in that daye. And what is that that is now in hande: And the Lorde shall smyte Israel / as a reede that groweth in the water is waken / and will weede Israel out of this good lande whiche he gaue to their fathers / and will scatter the beynonde Euphrates / because they haue made them groves to angre the Lorde. And he will geue Israel bp / because of the synne of Jeroboam wherewith he dyd synne and made Israel synne therto.

And Jeroboams wyfe arose and departed and went to Cherah / and be that she was come to the trelholde of the doze / the lad was deed. And all Israel buryed hym and lamented hym / accordyng to the woode of the Lorde whych he spake by the hand of his seruaunt Abiah the prophete. And the rest of the deedes of Jeroboam / how he warred and how he raygned / are wyrtte in the booke of the stories of the kynges of Israel. And the dayes whych Jeroboam raygned / were. xxij. yere. And then he rested with his fathers / and Sabab hys sonne raygned in hys stede.

And Rehoboam the sonne of Salomon raygned in Iuda and was .xli. yere olde whē he beganne to raygne / and raygned .xli. yere in Ierusalem the cite whych the Lorde had chosen out of all the trybes of Irael / to put his name there. His mothers name was Ma-mah an Ammonite. * And Iuda wrought wit-hēnesse in the syght of the Lorde and angered hym aboue all the fathers dyd / with their synne whych they synned. For they also made the hill alters & Images & groves on euery hyl & vnder euery grene tre. And therto there was a stues of male childen in the lande / & they did accorde to all the abhominacions of the nacions whych the Lorde cast out before the childen of Irael. And the fyfte yere of kyng Rehoboam came Sefach kyng of Egypte vnto Ierusalem / & toke awaye the treasure of the house of the Lorde / and the treasure of the kynges house and all that was to be had.
 And he toke awaye the childen of goulde whiche Salomon made. In whose steade kyng Rehoboam made brasse shildes & put them in the keepinge of the captaynes of the garde whiche waited at the doore of the kynges house. And as ofte as the kyng went into the house of the Lorde / they of his garde bare the / & euer brought them agayne into the garde chāber.
 The rest of the Actes of kyng Rehoboam and all he dyd / are wyrtten in the boke of the Actes of the kynges of Iuda. And there was warre betwene Rehoboam & Jeroboam all their lyues. And Rehoboam layde hym to rest with his fathers / and was buryed with his fathers in the cite of Dauid. And his mothers name was Maamah an Ammonite.
 And Abiam his sonne raygned in his ROME.

 and Jeroboam. And Abiam rested with his fathers / & they buried hym in the cite of Da-uid. And Asa his sonne raygned in his steade.
 The .xv. yere of Jeroboam kyng of Irael beganne Asa to raygne ouer Iuda / and ruled in Ierusalem .xli. yere. And his mothers name was Maacah the daughter of Abielalom.
 And Asa did that seemed right in the eyes of the Lorde / like Dauid his father. And he made the stues of males departe the lande / and put awaye all the Idoles whiche his fathers had made.
 And therto he put downe Maacah his mother fro berynge rule / because she had made an Idole in a groue. And Asa destroyed her Idole and burnt it by the bryke of the chon. But he put not downe the hillalters. Neuerthelesse Asa herte was whole with the Lorde all his dayes. And he brought in that his father had dedicat / and the thynges dedicat vnto the house of the Lorde / syluer / golde / & Jewels.
 And there was warre betwene Asa & Baasa kyng of Irael all their dayes.

And Baasa kyng of Irael wot by agaynst Iuda & built Ramah / because that he wolde let none of Asas people kyng of Iuda / go in or out. When Asa toke all the syluer & goulde that was left in the treasure of the house of the Lorde / and all the treasure of the kynges house and deliuered it vnto his seruantes / and sent them to Benhadad the sonne of Bazemon the sonne of Bezion kyng of Syria that dwelt at Damascus / sayinge : there is a bonde betwene the and me as was betwene thy father and myne. Therefore I sende the bothe golde and syluer for a gyfte / that thou go and breake the appoyntment betwene the and Baasa kyng of Irael / that he maye departe fro me. And Benhadad herkened vnto kyng Asa and sent the captaynes of his hostes whych he had agaynst the cytyes of Irael / & smote Thion / Dan / Abel called Beth Macah and all Ceneroth with all the lande of Nephtali. And when Baasa heard that / he leste burying of Ramah & dwelt in Cher-zab. When kyng Asa made a proclamacion thowout all Iuda / that none shuld be excused. And they toke the stoness of Ramah & the tymber wherewith Baasa had buryd / and kyng Asa byt therewith Gabaah in Beniamin and Hazpah.

And the remnant of all the deedes of Asa and of all his might and of all that he dyd / and the cities whiche he byt / are wyrtten in the chonicles of the actes done in the dayes of the kynges of Iuda. Neuerthe later in his olde age he was diseased in his fete. And Asa lay-de hym to rest with his fathers / & was buryed with

with his fathers in the cite of Dauid his father. And Jeroboam the sonne of Nebat raygned in his towne. And Nadab the sonne of Jeroboam beganne to raygne vpon Irael the seconde yere of Asa kyng of Iuda / and raygned by Irael two yere. And he dyd euell in the syght of the Lorde and walked in the waye of his father & in his synne wherewith he made Irael synne. But Baasa the sonne of Thiah of the house of Isacar conspired agaynst hym / & slew hym at Sebethon a cite of the Philistines for Nadab & all Irael laye at seage before Sebethon. And it was the thirde yere of Asa kyng of Iuda / when Baasa slew hym / and raygned in his steade. And as sone as he was kyng / he slew all the house of Jeroboam and leste hym naught that byethed / buttill he had put hym cleane out / aggreying vnto the saying of the Lorde whiche he spake by his seruante Thiah the Sionite / for the synne of Jeroboam wherewith he synned and made Irael synne / and for his angering wherewith he angered the Lorde God of Irael.

The rest of the deedes of Nadab / and all he dyd / are wyrtten in the chonicles of the kynges of Irael. And there was warre betwene Asa and Baasa kyng of Irael all their dayes.

In the thirde yere of Asa kyng of Iuda / Baasa the sonne of Thiah beganne to raygne ouer all Irael in Cherzab / and continued
 .xxij. yere. And he dyd that whych displeased the Lorde / for he walked in the waye of Jeroboam and in his synne wherewith he made Irael synne.

 Jeru the sonne of Hanani agaynst Baasa saying : for as moche as I exalted the out of the dust & made the captayne ouer my people Irael / and thou hast walked in the waye of Jeroboam & hast made my people Irael synne / to angre me with their synne : therefore I will make cleane rido-dance of Baasa & of all his house / and will make his house like the house of Jeroboam the sonne of Nebat. * And he & dyeth of Baasa in the cite / him shall dogges eat : and hym & dieth in the felde / shall the fowles of the ayre eat.

The rest of the deedes of Baasa / & what he dyd / and his power / are wyrtten in the boke of the histories of the kynges of Irael. And Baasa fell on slepe with his fathers & was buried in Cherzab. And Elah his sonne raygned in his steade. And therto thowout the Prophete Jeru the sonne of Hanani / the woode of the Lorde came agaynst Baasa and agaynst his house / because of all the wychednesse that he dyd in the syght of the Lorde / in angering hym with the woordes of his handes / that he shuld be lyke the house of Jeroboam / because he had killeth Nadab.

The .xxij. yere of Asa kyng of Iuda be-ganne Elah the sonne of Baasa to raygne ouer Irael in Cherzab / and continued two yere.
 And his seruante Samri captayne of hal-fe his charrettes / conspired agaynst hym / as he was in Cherzab dyncing of stronge dyncche in the house of Arza Guard of his house in Cherzab. And Samri came and smote hym and killeth hym the .xxij. yere of Asa kyng of Iuda / and raygned in his steade.
 And as sone as he was kyng and sate on his seate / he slew all the house of Baasa and leste not a piler agaynst a wall.

And therto he slew all his kynne and fren-des / and so Samri destroyed all the house of Baasa / accorde to the woode of the Lorde whych he spake to Baasa thowout Jeru the Prophet / for all the synnes of Basa in all synnes of Elah his sonne / wherewith they synned & made Irael synne / to angre the Lorde of Irael in their hauntyes. The rest of the deedes of Elah & all he dyd / are wyrtten in the chonicles of the kynges of Irael.

The .xxij. yere of Asa kyng of Iuda / Samri raygned .vij. dayes in Cherzab / the people besieging Sebethon a cite of the Philistines. And when the people that laye in the seage / heard saye how Samri had conspired / and how he had slayne the kyng also : then all Irael made Amri the captayne of the men of warre kyng that same daye ouer Irael euen in the hothe. And Amri departed from Sebethon and all Irael with hym / and beseged Cherzab. And when Samri saw that the cite must nedes be take / he went into the palayse of the kynges house / and set the ky-nges house a fyre vpon hym selfe and there dyed / for his synnes whych he synned in do-yng wychednesse in the syght of the Lorde / and for walkinge in the waye of Jeroboam and in his synnes wherewith he dyd and made Irael synne.

The rest of the Actes of Samri and the treason that he wrought / are wyrtten in the boke of the chonicles of the kynges of Irael. Moreover that same treason was Irael deuoyd in thwayne / for halfe the people folowed Chebni the sonne of Sineth / to make hym kyng. And the other halfe folowed Amri. But the people that folowed Chebni the sonne of Sineth. And so Chebni dyed and Amri raygned.

¶ The .xxij.

The xxxi. yere of Aha kyng of Iuda, he-game Amri to ragnye ouer Irael. xij. yere & he ruled. vi. yere in Cherzab. And he bought the hill of Samaria of one Semar for two hundred talentes of syluer / & byle in the hill / and called the name of the cite whych he had built Samaria after the name of Semar & Lorde of Ihill. And this Amri wrought wickednesse in the eyes of the Lorde wofle then all that were befoze him / and walked in all the wayes of Jeroboam the sonne of Nabat / and in his synne wherewith he made Irael synne / to angre the Lorde God of Irael wth their banyties. The rest of the actes of Amri which he did / and his power that he bled / are wyrtte in the chronicles of the kynges of Irael. And Amri layde him to rest wth his fathes / and was buried in Samaria / and Ahab his sonne ragned in his steade.

The xxxiiij. yere of Aha kyng of Iuda / beganne Ahab the sonne of Amri to ragnye ouer Irael / and ragned in Samaria. xxiij. yere. And he displeased the Lorde aboute all the were befoze him. For it semed him a lyght thyng to walke in the synne of Jeroboam.
But toke Jezabel the daughter of Ethbaal kyng of the Sidonites to wyfe / and met & serued Baal and bowed vnto him. And he re-red an altare to Baal in the house of Baal whych he had made in Samaria. And Ahab made a groue / and proceded further in angeryng the Lorde God of Irael / then all the kynges of Irael that were befoze hym.

In his dayes Hiel of Bethel bylt Jericho.
And it colte him Amri his eldest sonne whē he layde the foundacyon / and his youngest sonne when he sett by gates / agreinge vnto the woorde of the Lorde whych he spake by Josua the sonne of Nun.

Eliah is nouryshed and fedde of Ravens / and after he is sent to the woman of Sarephtha / whose childe he caryeth to lyfe.

The xliij. Chapter.

And Eliah the Thersbite which was of the enhabiters of Galaad / sayde vnto Ahab: *as truly as the Lorde God of Irael lyueth / befoze whome I stonde / there shalbe nether dewe nor raine these yeres / saue as I appoynt it.

And the woide of God came to him saying:
gett the hence and turne the estwarde / & hyde thy selfe in the brooke Barith that lyeth be-foze Jordan: & syncke of the ryuer for I haue comanded the rauens to fede the there. And he went and dyd accordyng vnto the woide of the Lorde: he went & dwelt by the brooke Barith that lyeth befoze Jordan. And the rauens brought hym bred and flesch euery monyng and euery euening / and he dranche of the brooke. And it chaunced after a while that he brooked / dyed by / because ther fell no raine vpon the erth. Then came the woide of the Lorde vnto him saying: *up and gett the to Sarephtha a cite of Sidon / & dwell there.

Beholde I haue comanded a wydowe there to sustayne the. And he arose & went to Sarephtha. And whē he came to the gate of the cite / there was a wedow there geathering sticks. And he called to her & sayde: *set me I praye the / a lytle water in a dyshe that I maye dryncke. And as she went to fette it / he cryed to her and sayde: brynge me I praye the / a morsell of bred in thine hande. And she answered: as surely as the Lorde thy God li-ueth / I haue no bred / but euen an handfull of Mele in a picher / and a lytle Oyle in a cruse. And se / I haue geathered a fewe sticks for to go and bake it for me and my sonne / & we maye eate it and then die.

And Eliah sayde vnto her: feare not / but go and do as thou hast sayde: but make me therof a lytle cake fyrst of all / and brynge it out to me: and afterwarde make for the and thy sonne. For thus sayth the Lorde God of Irael: I picher of Mele shall not be wasted neither shall thy oyle cruse be wth out oyle / vntyll the Lorde haue sent raine vpon the erth. And she wet and dyd as Eliah bad. And she and he & her house dyd eate a good space / & the picher of mele wasted not neither was the oyle cruse without oyle accordyng to the woide of the Lorde whych he spake thowm Eliah.

And after these thynges / it happened that the sonne of the wyfe of the house fell sicke.
And his sicknesse was so sore / that there was no breath left in him. When sawe the wyfe Eliah what haue I to do with the / O thou man of God: art thou come vnto me / that my syn-ne shoulde be thought on & my sonne slayne?
And Eliah sayde vnto her: geue me thy sonne.
And he toke hym out of her lappe and carped hym vnto a losse wher he laye / & layde hym vpon his awne bed / and called vnto the Lorde and sayde: O Lorde my God / hast thou bene so euell vnto the wedowe wth whome
I sojourne / that thou hast slayne her sonne?
And he stretched hym selfe vpon the lad thre tymes / and called vnto the Lorde and sayde: O Lorde my God / let the ladders soule come vnto hym agayne. And the Lorde heard the hoice of Eliah / and the soule of the lad came vnto hym agayne and he reuined. And Eliah toke the boye and brought hym downe out of the chambrye into the house and deliuered hym vnto his mother and sayde: se / thy sonne lyueth. When the wyfe sayde to Eliah: now I know that thou art Gods man / and that the woide of the Lorde in thy mouth / is trueth.

The

Abdiah
Jezabel

Eliah is sent to Ahab. Abdiah byrdeth an hundred prophetes and saureth them. Baal can not heare although the people crye very loude. Eliah killeth all Baals prophetes: and after obtayneth raine.

The xliij. Chapter.

What the last & mooste of the Lorde came to Eliah the thyrde yere sayinge: go shew thy selfe vnto Ahab / that I maye sende raine vpon the erth.
And Eliah wet to shew hym selfe vnto Ahab / for ther was a great samythemēt in Samaria. wherfore Ahab called Abdiah the governer of his house: whych Abdiah feared God greatly: in so moche that when Jezabel destroyed the prophetes of the Lorde / he toke an hundred of the prophetes & hid the / stie in one caue & sytpe in a nother / & prouyded bred & water for the. And Ahab sayde vnto Abdiah: walke thowm the lande / vnto all fastaynes of water and vnto all brokes / to se whether any grasse maye be founde / & we maye saue the hoxes and the Oxes / that we destroye not the bestes. And they deuyded the lande betwene them to walke thowm it. Ahab wet one waye by hym selfe / and Abdiah went a nother by hym selfe.

And it chaunced as Abdiah wet in the waye that Eliah mett him. And Abdiah knew hym & fell on his face and sayde: art not thou my Lorde Eliah. And he sayd vnto him: I am he.
Go and tell Ahab that Eliah is here. And the other answered: what haue I synned / & thou wouldest deliuer me into the hand of Ahab / to sley me? As surely as the Lorde thy God lyueth there is no nacyō o kyngdome / whether my Lorde hath not sent / to seke the. And when they sayde thou wast not there / he tooke an othe of the kyngdome & nacyō / because he found the not. And now thou sayest: goo tell thy Lorde / Eliah is here. And as sone as I am gone fro the / & sytpe of the Lorde shall carpe the awaye whether I shal not knowe: & then when I haue gone & tolde Ahab / & then he shal not fynde the. he shall sley me. And yet I the seruant haue feared the Lorde fro my yowthe age. Was it not tolde my loide / what I dyd / when Jezabel slue the prophetes of the Lorde how I hydde an hundred of the Lordes prophetes / sytpe in one caue & as many in another / & prouyded them of bred & water: And yet now thou sayest: goo shew thy Lorde / & Eliah is here / that he shoulde sley me.

Then Eliah sayde: as truly as the Lorde of Hostes lyueth / befoze whome I stonde: I wyl shew my selfe vnto hym this daye. And ther vpon Abdiah wet to Ahab & tolde hym.
And Ahab went agaynst Eliah. And when Ahab sawe Eliah / he sayd vnto him: art thou he that troubleth Irael? And he sayde: it is not I that troubleth Irael / but thou & thy sa-thers howse / in that ye haue forsaken the comaundementes of the Lorde / & hast folowed Baal. But now sende and geather to me all Irael vnto mount Carmel & the prophetes of Baal four hundred and sixtie / & the prophetes of the groues four hundred / whiche rate of Jezabels table. And Ahab sent for all the chyldren of Irael / and geathered the prophetes vnto mount Carmel.

And Eliah came vnto all the people and sayde: why halce ye betwene two oppynions?
If the Lorde be very God / folowe hym: or if Baal be he then folowe hym. And the people answered hym not one woide. Then sayde Eliah vnto the people: I only remayne of the Lordes prophetes / & Baals prophetes are four hundred and sixtie. Let two oxen be geuen vs / and let them chose the one & cut hym in peces and laye hym on wood / and put no fyre vnder / And I wyl dresse the other & put hym on wood / & wyl put no fyre vnder. And call ye on the name of youre God / & I wyl call on the name of the Lorde. And then the God that answereth by fyre / he is the very God.

*And all the people sayde: it is well spokē.
Then sayd Eliah vnto the prophetes of Baal / chose you an oxen and dresse hym fyrst / for ye are many / and call on the name of youre God / but put no fyre vnder. And they toke the oxen that was geue them & drested it / & called on the name of Baal from morning to none saying: O Baal heare vs. But there was no hoice nor answer. And they lepte aboute the altare & they had made. And at none Eliah mocked them and sayde: call lowde / for he is a God: but he is talkyng o occupied / o in the waye / o happily he slepeth / that he may awake. And they cryed lowde / and cut them selues / as their maner was / with knyues & sauncers / tyll the bloude folowed on them.
And whē myddaye was passed / they prophsyed vntyll it was tyme to offer. But there was neither hoice nor answer ney any thac regarded them.

Then Eliah sayde to all the folke: come to me. And all the people came to hym. And he mended the altare of the Lorde that was broken. *And he toke xiiij. stones & accordyng to the nombe of the xiiij. trybes of the sonnes of Jacob / vnto whom the woide of the Lorde came saying: *Irael shalbe thy name. And with Gene. the stones he made an altare in the name of the Lorde. And he made a gutter rounde about the altare / able to receaue two peches of come. And he put the wood in order / and hewed the oxen in peces / and put hym on the wood / & sayde: fylle foure pichers with water and potoze it on the sacryfyce and on the wood. And he sayde: do so agayne. And they dyd so agayne. When he sayde: do it the thyrde tyme.

Jezebell. And they did so & thus tyme. And the water ranne rounde about the altar / & the gutter was full of water also.

And whē offeryng tyme was come / Eliab the prophete went to & sayde: Lorde God of Abraham / Isaac & of Israel / let it be knowen this daye / that thou art the God in Israel / & I am thy seruast / & I do all thyse thyngs at thy commaundement. Heare me O Lorde / heare me / that this people maye knowe / that thou Lorde art & God / & that thou hast turned their hertes backward. And there fell fire fro the Lorde & consumed the sacrifice & the wood & the stones & the dust / & licked up the water that was in the gutter. And whē all the people saw / they fell on their faces & sayde: Lorde he is God / Lorde he is God. Then sayde Eliab unto the / laye handes on & prophete of Baal / let not one of the escape. And when they had taken the / Eliab brought downe unto & byooke Balaam / & flue the water.

Then Eliab sayde unto Ahab / gett the by and eate and dryncke / for ther is a sounde of moche rayne. And when Ahab wēt by to eate and to dryncke / Eliab went by to the toppe of mount Carmel. And bowed him selfe to & erthe / and put his face betwene his knees / & sayde to his seruast: go by & looke towarde the see. And he went by and looke / and sayde: here is nothing. And he sayde go agayne. viij. tymes. And the seventh tyme he sayde: beholde / there ariseth a lytle cloude out of the see / lyke the palme of a marnes hande. Then he sayde: go and saye to Ahab / put the hofers in the charet / and gett the downe that the rayne stoppe & not. And withyn a lytle while / heuē was blacke with cloudes and winde / & there was a great rayne. And Ahab rode & went to Jezrebel. And the hand of the Lorde was on Eliab / & he gyrded by his lognes & rāne before Ahab / tyll they came to Jezrebel.

And Eliab being from Jezrebel is nourished of the Angell of God. he complayneth that he is left a lone / and that they seke his life too. he is commaunded to annoynte Ahab / Jehu and Eliseus.

14. Reg. xij. a. Jaco. v. b.

And Eliab being from Jezrebel is nourished of the Angell of God. he complayneth that he is left a lone / and that they seke his life too. he is commaunded to annoynte Ahab / Jehu and Eliseus.

The xij. Chapter.

And Ahab tolde Jezebel / all & Eliab had done / and all to gether how he had slayne the prophetes with the swerde. Then Jezebel sent a messenger unto Eliab sayinge: so do God to me & so therto / except I make thy soule like one of theirs / by to morow this tyme: whē he saw / he arose & wēt for his life / & came to Bersabe in Iuda / & left his iad there. And he wēt a dayes journey into the wyldernesse / & whē he was come satt downe vnder a chynar tree / & desired for his soule / & he might die / & sayde: it is now ynough O Lorde / take my soule / for I am not better then my fathers.

Jon. iij. c.

And as he laye and slepte vnder the chynar tree: beholde / there came an Angell & touched hym / & sayde vnto him: vp and eate. And he looked aboute hym: and se / there was a loffe of bryyled bryade and a cruse of water at his heed. And he ate and dranke and layde hym downe agayne to slepe. And the Angell of the Lorde came agayne the seconde tyme and touched hym / & sayde: vp & eate / for thou hast a longe journeye to go. And he arose & dreynde & dryncke and went in the strengthe of that meate fourty dayes & fourty nyghtes / vnto Horeb the mount of God / & entred there into a caue & lodged there all nyghte.

And then the woode of the Lorde came to him & sayde: what doest thou here / Eliab? And he answered: I haue bene / tho / to angrie for the Lorde God of Hostes sake. For the chyldren of Israel haue forsake thy couenant / & haue byoke downe thine alters / & slayne thy prophetes with the swerde / & I only am left / & they seke my soule to haue it too. And he sayde: come out & stande before the Lorde. And he holde / the Lorde went by & a myghtie strōge wynde that rent the mountaynes & brake & rockes before him. But the Lorde was not in the wynde. And after the wynde came an erthquake. But the Lorde was not in the erthquake. And after the erthquake / came fire: but the Lorde was not in the fyre. And after the fyre / came a small still voyce. And when Eliab hearde it / he couered his face with his mantle / & went out & stode in the mouth of the caue. And se / there came a voyce vnto hym & sayde: what doest thou here Eliab? And he answered: I was gelouse for the Lorde God of Hostes sake: because the chyldren of Israel haue forsaken thyne appoyntment and haue cast downe thyne alters / & slayne thy prophetes with the swerde / & I only am left / & they seke my soule to haue it. Then the Lorde sayde vnto him: go and turne thy waye to the wyldernesse of Damasco / & go and annoynte Hazael to be kyng of Siria. And Jehu the sonne of Namī / annoynte to be kyng ouer Israel. And Eliseus the sonne of Saphat of Abel Bethuliah annoynte to be prophete in thy royaume. And who so escapeth the swerde of Hazael / him shall Jehu slaye: & yf any mā scape the swerde of Jehu / hym shall Eliseus slaye. And therto I haue left me leuē thousande in Israel / of which neuer man bowed his knees vnto Baal nor killed him with his mouth.

And he departed thence and founde Eliseus the sonne of Saphat plowynge with twelue yoke of oxen before him / & he was the twelue. And Eliab wēt to him & cast his mantle vpon hym. And he left the oxen & ranne after Eliab & sayde: let me I praye the / hyt my father & my mother / & then I will folow the.

And he departed thence and founde Eliseus the sonne of Saphat plowynge with twelue yoke of oxen before him / & he was the twelue. And Eliab wēt to him & cast his mantle vpon hym. And

And he sayde to hym: go backe agayne / for what haue I done to the? And he went backe agayne from after hym / and toke a yoke of ore and flue them / and dreyed the flethe with the instrumentes of the oren and gaue it the people / and they dyedate. And then he arose and went after Eliab & mynistrd vnto him.

The first and seconde tyme that Samaria was besieged of Benhadad kyng of Siria.

The xij. Chapter.

And Benhadad kyng of Siria gathered all his hoite to gether / and xxxij. kynges with him / with horse and charet: and went by & besieged Samaria & warred agaynst it. And he sent messengers to Ahab kyng of Israel into the cytpe / and sayde vnto hym: thus sayth Benhadad. Thy syluer and thy goulde is myne / & the best of thy wyues / and the best of thy chyldren be myne. And the kyng of Israel answered and sayde: my Lorde kyng accorpyng to thy sayyng / I am thine with all I haue.

And the messengers came agayne to Ahab and sayde: thus sayth Benhadad. I haue therto sent vnto the / sayyng: deliuer me then thy syluer and thy goulde / and thy wyues / & thy chyldren. Or else I will sende my seruantes vnto the by to morow this tyme: & they shall serche thine house / & the houses of thy seruantes / which shall take all that is glorious in thine eyes / and drynge it awaye with them. Then the kyng of Israel sent for the elders of the lande and sayde: take hede I praye you & se / how thys selow goeth about my cheue. For he sent vnto me / for my wyues and my chyldren / and my syluer and my goulde: and I denyed hym nothyng of it. And all the elders of Israel & all the people sayde: heken not to him nor consent.

Wherupon he sayde vnto the messengers of Benhadad: tell my Lorde the kyng / all that he sent for the first tyme / that I will do: but this request I maye not do. And the messengers departed and brought hym woode: then Benhadad sent vnto hym and sayde: thus do the Gods to me and so therto / yf the dust of Samaria be ynoughe for all the people that solow me / that every man maye haue an handfull. And the kyng of Israel answered and sayde: tell hym / let not hym that putteth on his harnesse bothe hym selfe / as he & his chyldren / as he and the kynges were drynchynge in the pauillyons / he sayde vnto his seruantes: put ye in araye. And they put them selues in araye agaynst the cytpe.

And beholde there came a prophete vnto Ahab kyng of Israel / and sayde to him: thus sayth the Lorde. Seyst thou all this great multitude: beholde / I will deliuer them into the hande of the Syrians / & they shall be slayne. And the seventh daye toged batayle.

And the seventh daye toged batayle. And the seventh daye toged batayle. And the seventh daye toged batayle.

And the seventh daye toged batayle. And the seventh daye toged batayle. And the seventh daye toged batayle.

thine hande this daye / that thou mayst knowe that I am the Lorde. And Ahab sayde / by whome? And he sayde thus sayth the Lorde: euen by the men of the gouernours of the wyres. And Ahab sayde: who shall I gyne batayle? And he sayde / thou. Then he nombred the men of the gouernours of the wyres: and they were two hundred and xxxij. And after them he nombred all the people / and all the chyldren of Israel were sauen thousande.

And they went out at none when Benhadad was a drynchynge stronge dryncke in the pauillyons with the xxxij. kynges that holpe hym. And the men of the chyres of the wyres went out fyrst.

And Benhadad sent out / and they shewed him saying: there came me out of Samaria. And he sayde: yf they come out for peace / take the a lyue. And also yf they come for warre / take them yet a lyue. And when those me of the chyres of the wyres were come out of the cite and the host after the / they slue every one of them bys man. And the Syrians fled / and Israel solowd after them. And Benhadad the kyng of Siria escaped on a horse with his hofemen. And the kyng of Israel went out and smote horse and charet / and slue a great daughter of the Syrians.

Then there came a prophete to the kyng of Israel / and sayde to him: go forthe & playe the man / be wyse and take hede what thou doest: for when the yere is about / the kyng of Siria will come agaynst & agayne. Then sayde the seruantes of the kynges of Siria to him: the Gods of the hilles are theire Gods / and therfore they had the better of vs. But let vs fyght with them in the playne / and for what ye will / we shall haue the better of the. And this do: take the kynges awaye every mā out of his place / & put dukes in their rowms. And do thou nōbye & an hoste / like the host that thou hast loste / & horse for horse & charet for charet / & let vs fyght with the in the playne / & for a wager / we gett the better of the. And the kyng hekened vnto their voyce and dyd euen so.

And as sone as the yere was aboute / Benhadad nobzed the Syrians & went by to Aphek to warre with Israel. And the chyldren of Israel were nombred & prouyded of vitayle / & went agaynst them / and pitched before them lyke two lytle flockes of kyddes: but the Syrians fylled the countrey. Then there came a man of God & sayde vnto the kyng of Israel thus sayth the Lorde. Because the Syrians saye / the Lorde is but a God of the hilles / & not God of the valeys: totherfore will I deliuer all this great multitude into thine hande that ye maye knowe that I am the Lorde. And they pitched one ouer agaynst the other. viij. dayes / and the seventh daye toged batayle.

111. And

Benhadad. And the children of Israel were of the Syrians an hundred thousand foot men in one daye. And the rest fled to Aphek into the cite. And there fell a walle byd. xxviij. thousande of the that were left. And Benhadad fled and went into the cite / from chambze to chambze.

Then sayde his seruantes vnto hym: beholde / we haue heard saye / that the kynges of the house of Israel are mercifull kynges. Let vs put sacke cloth about oure Loppes & ropes about oure heedes / & go out to the kyng of Israel: happye he will saue thy lyfe. And they gadded sacke clothe aboute their loyns & put ropes aboute their heedes / & went out to the kyng of Israel & sayde: thy seruant Benhadad sayth / I praye & let me lyue. And he sayde: is he yet a lyue? what he is my brother.

And they toke & woode for good luche & hastily caught it out of his mouth & sayde: yet thy brother Benhadad. Then he sayde: go and bynge him. And Benhadad came out to hym / and the other toke him by into the charret. And Benhadad sayde: the cyrpes whych my father toke fro thy father / I will restore agayne. And thou shalt make freates for the in Damasco / as my father dyd in Samaria. And I will make an apoyntment wth the and sent the awaye. And so made an apoyntment wth hym and sent hym awaye.

1. Reg. xviij. 2.

Then a certen man of the chyldren of the Prophets sayde vnto his felow with & woode of the Loyde / smyte me I praye the. And & man wold not smyte him. And he sayde: because thou hast not obeyed the voyce of the Loyde: beholde / as sone as thou art departed fro me a lyf shall slaye & . And as sone as he was departed fro him / a lyf sold him & slue him. Then he founde a nother man & sayde to him: smyte me I praye & . And the man gaue him a good stripe & wounded him. And the Prophete wet for the & wayde for the kyng by the waye & put althes by his eyes / and put hym selfe out of knowledge. And whē the kyng came by / he cryed vnto him & sayde: thy seruant went out in the myddes of the battell. And se / there was one begonne to flee. And there cam a man to me & sayde: hepe this man. And yf he be missed thy lyfe shall go for bys / or else thou shalt paye a talent of syluer. And as thy seruant had here & there to do / he was gone. And the kyng of Israel sayde vnto him: eue so shall thy iudgement be as thou hast defined it thy selfe.

And he hasten & toke the althes awaye fro his eyes: & the kyng of Israel knew him / & he was of the Prophets. And he sayde vnto the kyng / thus sayth the Loyde: because thou hast lett go a man that ought to haue byed / thy lyfe shall go for his lyfe / & thy people for his. And the kyng of Israel wet to his house wayward and heyre / and entred into Samaria.

Jezabel comendeth to byll Naboth / for & hym: that he refused to sell Ahab. Jezabel requereth Ahab / and he repenteth.

The xxi. Chapter.

After these thynges were done / it chaunced that Naboth the Jezrahelite had a byneparde in Jezrahel harde by the palace of Ahab kyng of Samaria. And Ahab spake vnto Naboth sayinge: let me haue thy byneparde / to make me a garde of petyes therof / because it lyeth so nye my house: and I will geue the a better byneparde for it: or yf it please the I will geue the the mothe of it in syluer. But Naboth sayde to Ahab: the Loyde forbydde that from me / that I shoulde geue the inheritaunce of my fathers vnto the.

Then went Ahab vnto his house wayward and euell apayde / because of the wordes whych Naboth the Jezrahelite had spoken to hym saying: I will not geue to the the inheritaunce of my fathers. And he layde hym downe upon bys heed and turned a waye bys face / and wolde eate no meate. And then Jezabel his wyfe came to hym / and sayde vnto hym: why art thou so stowarde / that thou eatest no meate? And he sayde vnto her / I spake vnto Naboth the Jezrahelite / and sayde vnto him: geue me thy byneparde for syluer / or else yf thou wilt / I will geue the a nother byneparde for it. And he sayde: I will not geue the my byneparde.

Then sayde Jezabel his wyfe vnto hym: what a goodly kyngedome were thou able to make in Israel: by & eate meates set thine hert at rest / for I will geue the the byneparde of Naboth the Jezrahelite. And she wrote a letter in Ahab's name & sealed it with his scale / & sent it vnto the elders & chiefe men of his cite that dwelt where Naboth dwelt. And the wrote in the letter sayinge: proclayne fastyng and lett Naboth on hye amonge the people / and lett two bnythiste before hym / & let the testifye agaynst hym sayinge: thou dydest curse both God and the kyng. And byd that carpe hym out and stowe hym to deeth.

And the elders & nobles of his cite / whyche dwelt in his cite / did as Jezabel had sent vnto the / & as it was writte in the letter which she had sent vnto them. They proclamed fastyng / & lett Naboth an hye amonge the people / & there came in two bnythiste persones & late before hym. And the two bnythiste persons witnessed agaynst Naboth before the people sayig Naboth did curse God & the kyng. And byd they caried him out of the cite & stoned him to deeth. And then they sent to Jezabel sayinge: Naboth is stoned to deeth. And whē Jezabel hearde that Naboth was stoned to deeth: she sayde to Ahab: by & take possession of the of the byneparde of Naboth / the Jezrahelite / whyche he denied to geue the for syluer / for Naboth is not a lyue / but deeth. And whē Ahab hearde that Naboth was deeth. He stode up to go downe to the byneparde of Naboth the Jezrahelite / to take possession of it.

And the woode of the Loyde came vnto Elias the thessbite sayinge: by & go downe to mete Ahab kyng of Israel which is in Samaria. Beholde / he is in the byneparde of Naboth: for he is gone downe thither / to take possession of it. And saye vnto hym: thus sayth the Loyde / thou hast killed & therto gott possession of the Loyde: in the place where dogges lapped the bloude of Naboth / shall dogges lappe euen thy bloude also. And Ahab sayd to Elias: hast thou founde me thyne enemye at any tyme? And he sayde yee / because thou art bitterly geuen to worke the wickednesse in the syght of the Loyde. Beholde / I will bynge euell vpon the / and will make cleane riddance of the / & will destroye vnto Ahab all the pyeth agaynst the walle / and yf ought be pelsoned or lost / then in Israel: & I will make thine house / lyke the house of Jeroboam the sonne of Nabat / & lyke the house of Baasa the sonne of Ahiab / for the angering wherewith thou hast angered / and made Israel synne.

1. Reg. xxi.

And therto agaynst Jezabel came the woode of the Loyde sayig: dogges shall eate Jezabel / vnder the walles of Jezrahel. And he the byth of Ahab in the towne / him shall dogges eate: and he that byth in the felde / him shall the foules of the ayre eate. For there was none at all like Ahab / that was so bitterly geue to worke the wickednesse in the syght of the Loyde and that because Jezabel his wyfe pyethed hym forwarde. And therto he dyd exceeding abhominable / in folowynge Idoles / in all thynges like as byd the Ammonites which the Loyde cast out before the children of Israel.

1. Reg. xxi.

When Ahab hearde those wordes / he rent his clothes & put sacke cloth about his lethe and fasted / and laye in sack and went cōfortlesse. And the woode of the Loyde came to Elias the thessbite sayinge: seyst thou how Ahab humbleth him selfe before me? because he so admitteth hym selfe before me / I will not bynge euell in his dayes: but in his lorn dayes / I will bynge euell vpon his house.

Four hundred and fortye prophetes do counsell Ahab and Jehosaphat to warre agaynst Ramoth: onely Micah propheseth the trache / for which he is smytte and put in the lon.

The xxi. Chapter.

And they continued there yere with out warre betwene Syria and Israel. And the thirde yere Jehosaphat kyng of Iuda / came to the kyng of Israel. Then sayde the kyng of Israel vnto his seruantes / knowe ye not that Ramoth in Galaad is oures / and we syt stille & take it not out of the handes of the kyng of Syria? And he sayde vnto Jehosaphat: wilt thou go wth me to batayle / to Ramoth in Galaad? And Jehosaphat sayde vnto the kyng of Israel: I will be as thou art / & my people shall be as thine / and my horses as thine.

1. Reg. xxi.

And Jehosaphat sayde vnto the kyng of Israel: as the counsell I praye the of the Loyde to daye. And then the kyng of Israel gathered of the Prophetes to gether / byd a foure hundred men / and sayde vnto them: shall I go to Ramoth in Galaad to batayle / or be still? And they sayde: go: for the Loyde shall deliuer it into the handes of the kyng. And Jehosaphat sayde: is there neuer a Prophet of the Loydes here moare / that we myght enquire of him? And the kyng of Israel sayde to Jehosaphat: there is yet one / by whome we maye aske counsell of the Loyde / one Micah the sonne of Iemlah. But I hate hym: for he neuer propheseth good vnto me / but euell. And Jehosaphat sayde: let not the kyng saye so. Then the kyng of Israel called vnto one of his chamberlains and sayde: fette Micah & some of Iemlah byther at once.

And the kyng of Israel and Jehosaphat the kyng of Iuda satt ether in bys seat and their apparell on them / in a boyde place before the entryng of the gate of Samaria / & all the Prophetes prophesenge before the. And Jeechiah the sonne of Canaanah made hornes of yron & sayde: thus sayth the Loyde: with these hornes thou shalt wyndow the Syrians vntill thou haue made an ende of the. And all the Prophetes prophesied euen so sayinge: go to Ramoth in Galaad and prosper / for the Loyde shall deliuer it into the handes of the kyng.

And the messenger that was gone to call Micah / sayde vnto him: se / the wordes of the Prophetes speake good vnto the kyng with one voyce: let thy wordes I praye the / be like the wordes of one of them / and speake that is good. And Micah sayde: as surety as the Loyde lyueth / what the Loyde putteth in my mouth / that will I speake. And when he was come to the kyng / the kyng sayde to him: Micah / shall we go to Ramoth in Galaad to batayle / or shall we be still? And he sayde vnto him: go and prosper / the Loyde deliuer it into the handes of the kyng. And the kyng sayde vnto him / how often shall I aduise / that thou tell me nothyng but true / in the name of the Loyde?

Then he sayde I saw all Israel scattered vpon the hilles / as shepe that haue no pader. And the Loyde sayde: those haue no matter maister/let them returne / every man to his house in peace. Then sayde the kyng of Israel to Jeholaphat: dyd I not tell the / that he wolde prophete no good unto me / but euill? And Michaeah sayde: here therfore the worde of the Lorde. I sawe & Lorde spak on his seate and all the companye of heauen standynge about him / on his ryght hand & on his left. And & Lorde sayde: who shall deceaue Ahab that he maye go and be slayne at Ramoth in Galaad: and one sayde on this maner and another on that. Then came forth a spyte and rode before the Lorde and sayde: I will deceaue him. And the Lorde sayde: wherwith? And he sayde: I will go out & be a faile spyte in the mouthes of all his prophetes. And the Lorde sayde: thou shalt deceaue him and also pteuayle / go forth and do euen so. Now therfore beholde / the Lorde hath put a lyinge spyte in the mouth of all these thy prophetes: when in very dede the Lorde hath spoken euell towards the.

Then Sebedchiah the sonne of Canaanah went to and smote Michaeah on the cheke / & sayde: how is the spyte of the Lorde come from me / to speake in the? And Michaeah sayde: beholde / thou shalt se in that daye / wher thou shalt go from chambze to chambze to hyde the. And the kyng of Israel sayde: take Michaeah and carpe hym backe agayne unto Ammon the gouernour of the cite / & vnto Joab the kynges sonne / and saye: thus sayth the kyng. Put ye this felow in the prison house and fede him with hyerd and water strayne / vntill I returne in peace. Then Michaeah sayde: yet thou come late agayne / the Lorde hath not spoken in me. And he sayde mozeouer / herken to ye people every one of you.

And so the kyng of Israel & Jeholaphat & kyng of Iuda went vp to Ramoth in Galaad. And the kyng of Israel sayde to Jeholaphat: chaunge the and gett the to warre: but put on thyne a newe apparill. And the kyng of Israel chaunged hym selfe / & went to battell also. But the kyng of Syria had commaunded the capitaynes of his charettes of whych he had. xxiij. sayinge: fyght nether with small nor greute / save with the kyng of Israel onlye. And when the capitaynes of the charettes sawe Jeholaphat / they thought he had bene the kyng of Israel / and therfore turned to him to fight. But Jeholaphat cried out. And when the capitaynes of the charettes saw that he was not the kyng of Israel / they turned backe from hym.

And a certen man dyed a boone / igno- rantlye and smote & kyng of Israel betwene the ribbes of his harnesse. wherfore & kyng sayde vnto & dyuer of his charette / turne thy hande and carpe me out of the host / for I am hurte. And the battell increased that daye / and the kyng continued in his charet before the Syrians / and died at euill. And the bloude ranne out of the wounde into the botome of the charette. And there went a proclamacyon thozow out the hoste after the sonne was dothne sayinge: every man to his cite and to his a home countrey. And when the kyng of Israel was dede / they came to Samaria and buried hym there. And whyle they walshen the charet in the pole of Samaria / the dogges licked up his bloude / and harlottes walshen hym accordynge vnto the worde of the Lorde whych he spake.

The rest of the dedes of Ahab / and all he dyd / and the Tuozze house whych he made / & the cytyes that he buyit / are wyrtten in the boke of the chronicles of the kynges of Israel. And when Ahab was layde to rest with his fathers / Shoziah his sonne raygned in his stede.

Jeholaphat the sonne of Aha beganne to raygne vpon Iuda / the fourth yere of Ahab kyng of Israel / & was. xxxv. yere olde when he beganne to raygne and raygned. xxiij. yere in Ierusalem. And his mothers name was Iudab & daughter of Shalah. And he walshed in all & wayes of Aha his father & bowed not therfrom. But dyd that was ryght in the eyes of the Lorde. Only he dyd not put the hyllaulters out of the waye: for the people offered and burnt their sacrytyces yet / in the hyllaulters. And he had peace with the kyng of Israel.

And the rest of the dedes of Jeholaphat / and the myght that he bled / and how he watred / are wyrtten in the boke of the chronicles of the kynges of Iuda. And the remnaunt of the shyes of the males / whych remayned in the dayes of his father / he put cleane out of the lande. & here was then no kyng in edd / the kyng was but a debite. And Jeholaphat made wyppes in the se / to go to Ophir for gould / but they went not: for & shippers brake at Zidon Gaber. Then sayde Shoziah the sonne of Ahab vnto Jeholaphat: let my seruantes go with thyne in the wyppes. But Jeholaphat wolde not. And Jeholaphat layde hym to slepe with his fathers / & was buried with his fathers in the cytye of David his father: And Shoziah his sonne raygned in his stede.

Shoziah falleth and is hurte and a chere counsell of Jerolaphat whiche was he maye come by health. The capitaynes ouer felyte with their countreyes are burnt with fyre from heauen by the prayer of Elijah. Shoziah is reproued of Elijah and dyeth and Jehoram his brother succedeth hym.

The fyfth Chapter.

Shoziah the sonne of Ahab beganne to raygne vpon Israel in Samaria / the. xxiij. yere of Jeholaphat kyng of Iuda / & was kyng ouer Israel two yere / and dyed euell in the sight of the Lorde / and walked in the waye of his father and in the waye of his mother / and in the waye of Jeroboam the sonne of Nabat whych he made Israel synne. And he serued Baal and bowed hym selfe to hym / & angered the Lorde God of Israel / in all thyng / as dyd his father. And & Moabites rebelled agaynst Israel after the deeth of Ahab.

And Shoziah fell thozow a lattise window out of an upper chambze & he had in Samaria / and fell speke. Then he sent messengers sayinge vnto them: go and enquire of Beelzebub the God of Aharon / whether I shall recouer of this disease. But the Angell of the Lorde spake to Elijah the Chetbite / by name / and go agaynst the messengers of the kyng of Samaria & saye vnto them: Is it because there is no God in Israel / that ye go to aske thozow Beelzebub the God of Aharon? Therfore thus sayth & Lorde: thou shalt not come downe fro the bedde on whych thou art gone vp / but shalt die. And Elijah departed.

And the messengers turned backe agayne vnto him. And he sayde vnto the: why are ye thus come agayne? And they sayde vnto him: there came a man agaynst vs and sayde vnto vs: go and turne agayne vnto the kyng that sent you / & saye vnto him. Thus sayth & Lorde: Is it because there is no God in Israel / that thou sendest to enquire thozow Beelzebub & God of Aharon? Therfore thou shalt not come downe from the bedde on whych thou art gone vp / but shalt surely die. And he sayd to the: what maner a man was that whiche mett you & tolde you these wordes? And they sayde vnto him: it was an heary man and gyde id a gyble of a kynne aboute his loynes. And he sayd vnto them: it is Elijah the Chetbite.

Then the kyng sent vnto him a captayne ouer felyte id his fellyte. And when & captayne was come to him / beholde he satt on & toppe of an hyll. And the captayne sayde vnto hym:

man of God / the kyng biddeth & come downe. And Elijah answered & sayde to the captayne ouer the fellyte: yf I be a man of God / fyre come downe fro heauen & consume the and thy fellyte. And there came fyre downe fro heauen & deuoured hym & his fellyte. And & kyng wnt agayne & sent to him a nother captayne ouer fellyte with his fellyte / whiche answered & sayde vnto him: O man of God / thus sayth & kyng make hast & come downe. And Elijah answered & sayd vnto the: yf I be a man of God / then let fyre come downe fro heauen & consume the and thy fellyte. And there came fyre downe from heauen and consumed hym & his fellyte.

And the kyng sent agayne the thirde captayne ouer fellyte. And when & thirde captayne ouer fellyte was come to him / he fell on his knees before Elijah and besought hym & sayde vnto him: O man of God / let my life and the life of these fellyte thy seruantes be precious in thy sight. Beholde there came fyre downe from heauen & burne by the two fore captaynes ouer fellyte with their fellytes. But let my life now be precious in thy sight. Then sayde the Angell of the Lorde vnto Elijah: go downe with him / and be not a strayde of hym. And he wnt downe with him vnto the kyng.

And he sayde vnto the kyng / thus sayth & Lorde: for as moche as thou sentest messengers to aske thozow Beelzebub the God of Aharon / as though there had bene no God in Israel to aske thozow his woorde: therfore thou shalt not come of & bedde on whych thou art ascended / but shalt surely die. And so he died according to & woorde of & Lorde whych Elijah spake / & Jehoram was made kyng in his stede / & seconde yere of Jehoram sonne of Jeholaphat kyng of Iuda / because he had no sonne. The rest of the dedes of Shoziah whiche he dyd / are wyrtten in the chronicles of the kynges of Israel.

Elijah denudeth the waters with his melle. He is taken vp in to heu. The hytter and benemoule waters are healed by the salt that Elisha put into them. The chyllyen that moue Elisha are rent in peces.

The. vi. Chapter.

And it chauced wher & Lorde wold take vp Elijah to heau in a whorlewende / & Elisha & Elisha were goinge fro Baikal. And Elisha said to Elisha / tary here I pray the / for the Lorde hath sent me to Bethel. But Elisha sayde: as surely as the Lorde liueth / & as thy soule lyueth / I will not leaue & . And wher they came to Bethel / & chyllyen of & prophetes & were at Bethel came out to Elisha and sayde to him: knowest thou not how & the Lorde will eake awaye the maister fro & this daye? And he sayde: I knowe it too / holde your peace.

Then sayde Elisha to Elisha: tary hym in a luffe. Belowship selewisshp/so; the Lorde hath sent me to Jericho. And he sayde: as surely as the Lorde liueth/and as surely as thy soule lyueth/ I will not leaue the/ & so they went to Jericho. And the chyldren of the Prophetes & were at Jericho came to Eliseus & sayde vnto hym: art thou not ware & the Lorde wyll take awaye thy mother fro & this daye? And he answered: I knowe it also/ holde youre peace. And Eliah sayde to him: tarye I praye & here/ so; the Lorde hath sent me to Jordan. But he sayde: as surely as the Lorde lyueth/and as thy soule lyueth/ I will not leaue the. And so they went bothe of the to geather. And fyfte me of the sonnes of the Prophetes wot & stode in syght a farr of/ as they two stode by Jordan.

And then Eliah toke hys mantell & wapte it to gether and smote the water/ and it deuided it selfe/ parte the one waye and parte the other/ & they two wet ouer on the drye lande. And as sone as they were ouer/ Eliah sayde to Eliseus/ alke what I shall do for the per I be take awaye from the. And Eliseus sayde: let me I praye the/ haue thy sytelle* double in me. And he sayde: thou hast asked an hard thyng. Neuerthelesse yf thou se me when I am taken awaye from the/ thou shalt haue it. So; yf thou do not/ it shall not be. And as they went walkynge and talkynge: beholde/ there came a chariot of fyre and hoxses of fyre and put them a sondre. And Eliah went by in the whorlewynde to heauen. And Eliseus sawe and cryed: O my father/ O my father/ & chariot of Israel and the hoxsamen therof/ & sawe hym no more: and therfore toke hys awne clothes and rent them in two peces.

And then he toke by the mantell of Eliah that fell from hym/ and went backe agayne and stode by Jordans syde/ and toke the mantell of Eliah that fell from him/ and smote the water and sayde: where is the Lorde God of Eliah where is he? And when he had smyt the water it deuided parte this waye & parte that waye/ and Eliseus went ouer. And the chyldren of the Prophetes of Jericho whych sawe hym fro a farr/ sayde: & spryde of Eliah both rest on Eliseus/ and went agaynst hym & bowed to & ethe vnto him. And they sayde vnto him: se/ there be amonge thy seruantes fyttie lustie men: let the go and seke thy master/ happye the sytelle of the Lorde hath taken him by & cast him upon some mountayne or in some valeye. And he sayde: sende not. Neuerthelesse yet they laye upon him/ tyll he was a shamed/ & sayde: sende/ and they sent fyttie men whych sought him thre dayes and thre nyghtes/ but founde him not. And they came agayne to hym/ so; he taryed at Jericho. And he sayde to them/ did I not saye vnto you that ye shulde not go.

When the men of Jericho sayde to Eliseus: beholde the cytle standeth pleasantly as my Lorde seyth/ but the water is haught and the grounde barren. And he sayde: bryng me a newe cruise & put salt therin. And they broughed it to him. And he went vnto the springe of & water & cast the salt in thither/ & sayde thus sayth & Lorde: I heale this water/ ther shall not come henceforth ether deethe or barrenesse. And & water was helthsome euer after accordyng to the saying of Eliseus whiche he spake.

And he went from thence by to Bethel. And as he was goynge by in the waye/ there came yfse ladders out of the cytle and mocked hym/ and sayd to hym: go by thou bald herd/ go by thou bald herd. And he turned backe and looked on them and cused them in the name of & Lorde. And there came two beares out of & wood & tare. xlii. of & boyes. And he went fro thence to mount Carmel/ & from thence went agayne to Samaria.

The kynges of Israel Juda and Edom lache water: when they shulde seyghe agaynst Moab: whych they obtayne throughe the payre of Eliseus. The kyng of Moab lefeth the syde and after sacrefyeth his sonne.

The. iij. Chapter.

Jehoram the sonne of Ahab began to raygne by & Israel in Samaria the .xviij. yere of Jehosaphat kyng of Juda/ & cōtynued twelue yere. And he wrought that was euell in the syght of the Lorde: but not lyke hys father or hys mother/ so; he put awaye the ymage of Baal that hys father had made: neuerthelesse he cōtynued in the synne of Jehoram the sonne of Ahab whiche made Israel synne/ and shonke not therfrom.

And Mesa kyng of Moab whych was riche of shepe (and was wont to render vnto the kyng of Israel an hundred thousand shepes & as many rāmes in the wolle) rebelled agaynst the kyng of Israel after the deeth of Ahab. And kyng Jehoram went out of Samaria the same season/ & nobred all Israel. And then wet & sent to Jehosaphat kyng of Juda sayynge: the kyng of Moab hath rebelled agaynst me/ wile thou go dōme agaynst the Moabites to battell? And he sayde: I will go/ & wybe as thou/ & my people walbe as thine/ and my hoxses as thine. And he sayde: what waye shall we go? And & other answered: & waye thow the wilderness of Edom.

And the kyng of Israel toke his fourme yfth the kyng of Juda & the kyng of Edom. And when they had cōpased the waye seven dayes/ there was no water for & hoxs nor for the cattell that they had wpth them. When sayde the kyng of Israel: Alas/ the Lorde hath called to geether these thre kynges to deliuer the into the handes of the Moabites. But

But Jehosaphat sayde: is there heare no prophet of the Lordes/ that we maye enquire of the Lorde by hym? And one of the kyng of Israel's seruantes answered and sayde: here is Eliseus & some of Sabbath whiche & potized water on the handes of Eliah. And Jehosaphat sayde: & wybe of the Lorde is with him. And so the kyng of Israel/ and Jehosaphat and the kyng of Edom went dōme to him.

And Eliseus sayde to the kyng of Israel: what haue I to do wth the? Get the to the prophetes of thy father & of thy mother. And the kyng of Israel sayde vnto him: Oh naye/ but hath the Lorde called these thre kynges to deliuer the into the handes of the Moabites? And Eliseus sayde/ as sure as the Lorde of Hostes lyueth/ in whose syght I stand/ and se wert not that I regard & presence of Jehosaphat & kyng of Juda/ I wolde not loke towarde the/ nor yet se the. But now bryng me a mynstrel. And as the mynstrel played/ the hand of the Lorde was by him. And he sayde: thus bydoeth the Lorde/ make this broke full of yfches/ & so thus sayth the Lorde: ye shall se nether wynde nor rayne/ & yet this broke shall be fylled wth water/ that ye maye dryncke/ & poure beastes & poure cattell also. And thus is yet but a small thing in & syght of & Lorde. But he wyll geue the Moabites in to poure handes also. And ye shall destroye all strong townes and all goodlye cytys/ & shall falle all pleasaunt trees & stoppe all the welles of water/ & marre all good plattes of grounde with stones. And in the mornynge about offeryng tyme: there came soche a water & waye fro Edom & the contrey was fylled wth water.

And when all the Moabites hearde & the kynges were come to fight agaynst the/ they geathered to geather/ fro & youngest & was able to put on harnesse and so byward/ and waped in the borders.

And they beyng by etly in the mornynge/ & sonne arose & shone by & water. And when the Moabites sawe & water a farr of/ as red as bloude/ they sayde: it is bloud/ the kynges haue sought to geather & one slayne another. Now therfore ye Moabites gett you to the people. And whē they came to & Hoste of Israel/ & Israelites stode by & layde on & Moabites/ & they fled befoze the: And so they entered & lād & destroyed the Moabites. And they ouerthrew & cytys/ & on euery good parcell of lande/ cast euery man his stone & ouer couered it/ and scopte all & welles of water/ & felde all & good trees. And as long as & stones therof did remayne in & wallis of & byc/ he the kynges went upon it and bette it.

And whē the kyng of Moab saw/ that & battell was to strong for him/ he toke wth him foue hundred men & dreyne the sperde/ to haue broke by vnto the kyng of Edom. But they coude not. And then he toke his eldest sonne & shuld haue raigned in his steade/ & offered him for a burnt offering by the wallis. And ther came so great wach by & Israel/ & they departed fro him & returned to their awne lād. & God geueh a certen paye wth & oyle and flour by Eliseus. Eliseus obsequy of God a chyldre for hys hostelle: whiche dyeth & is after sayed to lyfe thow hym. He maketh sweete the potage/ and multiplieth the loaves.

The. iij. Chapter.

And there cryed a certen woman of & the wyues of the chyldre of & prophetes vnto Eliseus sayynge: thy seruante my husbande is deed/ & thou knowest that thy seruante dyd feare & Lorde.

And the credito; is come to sett my two sonnes/ to be his bondme. And Eliseus sayd to her: what shall I do for &? Tell me/ what hast thou in thine house? And she sayde that handmayde hath nothing at all in her house/ save a precher with oyle. And he sayde: Go & dozw the in other places/ of all thy neyhoures/ emptye besselles & that not a fewe. And then go and shutt the doze to the and to the sonnes/ & pouze out into all those besselles/ and putt the full all waye a syde.

And she went from hym/ & shutt the doze to her & to her sonnes. And they brought to her/ & she potized out. And when the besselles were full/ she sayde to her sonne: bryng ye a bessel: And he sayde: there is no mo. And then the oyle ceased. When she came and tolde the mā of God. And he sayde: go & sell the oyle and paye thy credito;. And Ioue thou & thy chyldren of the reste.

And it fell on a daye/ that Eliseus came to Sunam/ where was a ryche woman & toke hym in for to cate byed. And as ofte as he came that waye/ he turned in thither to cate byed. And she sayde vnto her husbande: se/ I perceaue that the man of God is perfecte/ & cometh allwaye by us. Lett us make hym a chambze wth a lytle walle/ & let us set him there a bed/ a table/ a stole & a candellpyche & he maye tume in thither/ whē he cometh to us.

And it fortuned on a tyme & he came thither & turned into the chambze & laye there. When he sayde to Gibezi his seruante: call this Sunamite. And he called her/ and she came befoze him. And Eliseus sayde to him/ saye to her I praye the: se/ thou hast made all thys prouisyon for us/ what shall we do for the? woldest thou be spoken for to the kyng or to the captayne of the Hoste? And she sayde: I dwell amonge mynt stōne people. When he sayde/ what is to be done for her? And Gibezi sayde: wterly she hath no chyldre/ and her husbande is olde. And he sayde: call her. And he called her. And she came and stode at the

as the frute can lyue / thou shalt embrace a sonne / and the sayde / Wh nape my Lord thou ma of God / do not lye into thynne hardmays.
And the wyfe conceaued and bare a sonne & same reason that Eliseus had sayd unto her / as lone as the frute coulde haue lyte.

And when the ladd was grete / it fell on a dape / that he went out to his father / to h ueltme. And there he cōplained to his father / my heed / my heed. And his father sayde to a lad / carpe him to his mother. And he toke him a brought him to his mother. And he satte on her knees till none / & then died. And she caried hym by and layde him on the bedde of h man of God / and shut the doze to him / & went out / and came to her husbande and sayde: sende me one of h younge men & an Ase that I maye runne to the man of God. And he sayde: wher fore wilt thou go to him to dape / while it is nether newe monie no? Saboth dape. And she sayde: be content. Then she labelled an Ase & sayde to the lad: leade awaye and make me not cease rydyng / butyll I byd the.

And to the went and came vnto the man of God / to mount Carmel. And when the ma of God saw her a farre / he sayde to Ghezi: hys seruaunt: se / where oure seruaunt cometh.
How runne agaynst her / & aske her / whether it be all well with her / and with her husbande and with the ladd. And she sayde: all is well. Then she went to the man of God by to the hyl and caught him by the fete. And Ghezi wēt to her / to thrust her awaye. But the man of God sayde: let her alone / for her soule is beryed / and the Loyde hath hid it from me and haue not tolde it me. Then she sayde: byd I besyde a sonne of my Lord: byd I not saye / that thou shuldest not bynge me in a soles

Then he sayde to Ghezi: gyde by thy loynes / and take my staffe in thynne hand and awaye. If anye man mete the / salute hym not. And if anye salute the / answer him not agayne. And put my staffe vnder the bope. Not withstandyng the mother of h chyld sayde:
as sure as the Loyde lyueth / & as thy soule lyueth / I wyll not leaue h. And then he arose and folowed her. Ghezi went befoze them & put the staffe vpon the ladd. But there was nether boyce no? attendyng. And then he wēt agayne agaynst hys master and tolde hym sayyng: it hath not a waked the ladd.

Actu. xv. c.

When Eliseus was come to the house: Be-holde / h ladd was deede & layde vnder hys bed.
And he went in & shut the doze to the ladd & him / & prayed vnto the Loyde. And he wēt by a laye vpon the ladd / & put his mouth on hys mouth / and his eye on his eye / & the palme of his handes on the palme of his hādes / and spredde him selfe vpon the ladd / that the fleche of the chyld waked warme. And wēt agayne & walked once by & downe in the house / and then went by & spredde him selfe vpon him. And then the ladd waked leue times and opened his eyes. And he called Ghezi & sayde: Calle for this Sunamite. And he called her. And when she was come to him / he said: take thy sonne when he went & sell at his fete & bowed her selfe to the ground / & toke by her sonne & wēt oute. When Eliseus was come to Galgal agayne / there was a darthe in the lande / and the chyld of the prophete dwelt with hym.

Then he sayde to his seruaunt: put on a great pot / & make pottage for the chyld of h pro-phete. And one went out into the felde / to gather herbes / & founde as it were a wyde byne / and gathered therof Colocynthis: & brayd his lapfull / & came & shewd the into the pott of pottage / they bntwetyng. And they powred out for the men to eate. And when they had tasted of the pottage / they cryed out & sayde: there is deeth in the pot thou man of God / & coude not eate therof. Then he sayde: bynge meale. And he cast it in to the pot and sayde: fyll for the people that they maye eate / and there was no harme in the pot.

There came a man from Baalsalisa and brought the ma of God byedde of fyrt frute / euen. xx. loues of barlepe / and new corne in a cloth he had. And Eliseus bade put it befoze the people that they myght eate. Then hys mynter sayde: what shuldest set this befoze an hundred men? And he sayde: sett it befoze the people and lett them eate. For thus sayth the Loyde: they shall eate and leaue. And he sett it befoze them / and they ate and leste / ac-cordinge to the worde of the Loyde.

Naaman the Syre is healed of his leprosy. Ghezi is cryen with a leprosy because he toke money and payment of Naaman.

The. b. Chapter.

Naaman captayne of the Hoste to the kyng of Siria / was grete in his master & well taken: for thozous him the Loyde saued Syria. And he was an actue ma / & yet a leper. And ther had gone a compaigne of Shoudpours oute of Siria a runnyng / and had brought oute of the contrey of Israel a lytle mayde / which was with Naamā's wife. And the Damocell sayd vnto her ladye: I wolde my master were with a prophete that is in Samaria: he wold deliuer him of his leprosy. And she went & tolde her husbande sayyng: thus & thus sayth the mayde that is out of the lande of Israel.
And the kyng of Siria sayde: go thy waye / and I wyll sende a letter vnto the kyng of Israel. And he went and toke with hym ten talentes of siluer and. vi. thousande peces of goulde goulde / and ten chaunge of raymentes. And he brought h letter to the kyng of Israel cota:nyng this tenoure. Now when this letter is come by to the: Beholde I haue sent Na-man my seruaunt to the / that thou shouldest ryde him of his leprosy. And whē the kyng of Israel had read h letter / he rent his cloth & sayde: am I God / to sle & to make a lyue / that he shuld sende to me / for to deliuer a ma fro his leprosy. But consyder I praye you & se / how he ppheth quarelles w me. And whē Eliseus the man of God / had heard how that the kyng of Israel had rent hys clothes / he sent to the kyng sayyng: wherfore hast thou rent thy clothes: let him come to me / that he maye knowe h there is a prophete in Israel.

And Naaman came with his hōdes & his charret / and stode at h doze of Eliseus. Then Eliseus sent a messenger sayyng: go & walke the in Jordan seue tymes / and thy flech shall come agayne to the as befoze / and thou shalt be cleane. And Naaman was wroth and wēt awaye / and sayde: Beholde / I thought in my selfe / he wolde haue come out / & stand & call on the name of the Loyde his God / & put his hande on the place of the diseale / and so take awaye h leprosy. Are not Abanah & Pharphar / ryuers of Damascus / better then all the waters of Israel: wher I not rather wash in the & be cleane? And so he turned & departed in an angre. Then came his seruaunt & comured to him & sayd: Father of h prophete had bydd h done some great thyng / oughtest thou not to haue done it? How moche rather then shuldest thou do it / while he sayth to the onise: walke & be cleane. Then he wēt doune & washed seue tymes in Jordan / as the man of God bade / & his fleche chaunged / lyke bntthe flech of a lytle boye / and he was cleane.

Then he turned agayne to the ma of God & all his compaigne with him / and came and stode befoze hym & sayde. Beholde I knowe that there is no God in all the world / but in Israel. And now I praye the take a blessing of thy seruaunt. But he sayde: as surely as h Loyde lyueth befoze whome I stande / I wyll receaue none. And the other wold haue con-strayned him to receaue: but he wolde not do it. And Naaman sayde: if thou wilt not: yet I praye the / make there not be geuen to thy seruaunt the burthe of two mules of erthe.
For thy seruaunt wyll henceforth offer nether burnt sacrifice no? offeringe vnto any other God / then to the Loyde. But herin the Loyde be mercyfull to thy seruaunt / for whē my master goeth into the house of Remon to worshipp there / he leaneeth on myne hā / and I must worshipp in h house of Remon / let the Loyde I praye the be mercyfull vnto thy seruaunt in this case. And he sayde to him:

go in peace. And whē he was departed from h him a furlonge of ground / Ghezi the seruante of Eliseus the ma of God / sayde: my master hath kept of this Siria Naaman that he wolde not receaue of his hande & he offered.
As surely as the Loyde lyueth I wyll runne after him and take somewhat. And in Ghezi went after Naaman. And whē Naamā sawe him come runnyng after him / he came doune of h charret agaynst him & sayd: is all well? And he sayde yee.

But my master hath sent me sayyng: se / there be two younge men come to me out of Ephraim of the chyld of h prophete: geue the I praye the / one talēt of syluer & a couple of good garmentes. And Naamā sayde: auen-ture and take two talentes of syluer in two bagges / with two goodlye garmentes / & de-liuered them vnto two of his seruaunt / to beare it befoze him. And he went in h darthe & toke it of their handes & bestowed it in the house / and let the men go / and they departed.

Then he went & stode befoze hys master.
And Eliseus sayde to hym: whence cometh Ghezi? And he sayde: thy seruaunt went no whether. And he sayde: wēt not myne bert to the / whē the ma turned & came of his charret agaynst the? Is it a tyme to receaue syluer to receaue garmentes / olpuettes / vineyard / oren / wepe men seruaunt / and maydeser-uaunt? The leprosy therfore of Naaman cleaue vnto h / & vnto thy seede for euer. And he wēt out fro him a leper as white as snow.

Eliseus wakeneth Jon to swimme aboue the water.
The Siria belege Israel / so that. h. went agyre to geather to eate their owne chyldren.

The. vi. Chapter.

Then sayde the chyldren of the pro-phete vnto Eliseus: se / the place where we dwelle in the / is to lytle for vs. Let vs there take euery ma a beame and byde vs a place there / to dwell in. And he sayde: goo ye. And one sayde: begyne I praye the / & go with thy seruaunt.
And he sayde: I wyll / and so went with them.

And when they came to Jordan / they cutt downe wood. And as one was betwyinge of a beame / the axe heed fell into h water. And he cryed out & sayde: Master master / for it was lent me. And the ma of God sayde: where fell it? And he shewd him h place. And he cut an helue and cast it in thither / and made the axe head swimme. And he sayde: take it by to the.
And the other stretchd his hāde & caught it.

And the kyng of Siria fought agaynst Israel / & toke counsell with hys seruaunt sayyng: In soche a place and in soche a place wyll I ptyche. And the man of God sent br-to the kyng of Israel sayyng: Beware thou go not by soche a place/for there are the Sīrians gone downe. And the kyng of Israel sent to the place whiche the man of God tolde him and warned him of / and saued him selfe there moare then once or twyse.

1 Reg. 17. 1. 2.

And the bett of the kyng of Siria was troubled therewith / & he sent for his seruants & sayde to them: * wylle ye not shewe me whych of vs telleth & kyng of Israel. And one of his seruantes sayde vnto the kyng: Eliseus the prophet that is in Israel / he telleth the kyng of Israel & wordes that thou speakest in thy slepyng chambr. Then he sayde: Go and spye where he is / that I maye sende & sett him. And one tolde the kyng sayyng: se / he is in Dothan. And he sent thither horse & charettes & a great hoste. And they came thither by nyght & compassed & towe aboute.

And when the seruants of the men of God rose by eyle and was gone oute: Beholde / there was an host round about the towne wth horses and charettes. Then sayde hys ladd to him: Alasse master / what shall we do? And he sayde: feare not / there are mo wth vs then wth them. And Eliseus prayed and sayde: Lorde open the eyes of the younge man / & he sawe. And he holde / & mountayne was full of horses and charettes of fyre rounde aboute Eliseus. And when the soudyours came downe to him / Eliseus prayed vnto the Lorde & sayde. Smyte this people with blindness. And he smote the wth blindness accordyng to the besyche of Eliseus. Then Eliseus sayde vnto the chylde: This is not the waye / for this is not & towne: But folow me and I wylle byngge you to the man ye seeke. And he ledde the to Samaria.

1 Reg. 17. 1. 2.

When they were come to Samaria / Eliseus sayde: Lorde / open their eyes & let the se. And the Lorde opened their eyes & they sawe. And beholde they were in the myddes of Samaria. And then sayde the kyng of Israel vnto Eliseus when he sawe them: * shall I smyte them / shall I smyte the father: And he sayde: smyte them not. But smyte them thou takest wth thyne awne swerde & wth thyne awne bowe. But set bread and water before them / and let them eate & dryncke / and go to their master. And he made great ordynance before them. And when they had eate and dryncke / he sent them awaye / and they went to their master. And so the soudyours of Siria came no moare into the lande of Israel.

* Cab was a certain beest used at that tyme as we now use chontelles or lache lybe.

After this Benhadad kyng of Siria gathered all the hoste / and wet & besieged Samaria. And there arose great darthe in Samaria: for they had beseged it / vntill an asses heed was worth foure thousande pennes / and the fourth part of an asses heed was worth fyue pennes. And as the kyng of Israel walked vpon the walles there cryed a woman to him / sayyng: helpe / my Lord kyng. And he sayde: Hap / the Lorde helpe the. But wherewith shouldest thou helpe the / wth corne or wth e? Then sayde the kyng to her: what ayleth the? And she answered: this woman here sayde to me / byngge thy sonne and lett vs eate hym to daye / and we will eate myne to morrow. And so we dyed my sonne and dyd eate him. And I sayde to her another daye / byngge thy sonne that we maye eate him. But she hath bydd her sonne. When the kyng hearde the wordes of the woman / he rent his clothes euē as he was walkyng on the walles. And when & people looked vpon him / se / he was clothed in sack cloth. Then he sayde: God do so and so to me / yf I herd of Eliseus the sonne of Saphat tarye on him this daye. And as Eliseus satte in his house and the elders wth him / the kyng sent one from him. But yf the messenger came at him / he sayde to the elders: se you not how & some of this murtherers hath sent / to take of myne heed: be circumspect therfore when the messenger cometh / and that the doye / and thrust him backe therewith: for the sounde of his masters fete foloweth him. And while he yet talked wth them: Beholde the messenger was come vnto him. And he sayde: beholde this euell is of the Lorde / what moare shall we loke for of the Lorde.

Eliseus propheseth plentifulnes of bytallies and other thyngs to Samaria. The Sīrians tūne awaye and haue no man folowynge them. The Lorde & wylde not beleeue the wordes of Eliseus as troden to death.

The. vii. Chapter.

When Eliseus sayde: heare & worde of the Lorde: for thus sayth & Lorde to morrow this tyme a boushell of fyne flour shalbe solde for a sylce / & two boushelles of barley for a nother in & gates of Samaria. Then aggrat Lorde on whose hande & kyng leane / answered & said of God & sayd: though the Lorde wold make windowes in heuen / yet wolde not this be. And he sayde agayne: Beholde / thou shalt se it wth thyne eyes and shalt not eate therof.

And there were foure lepers sett wth oute the Gate of Samaria. And they sayde eche to hys companion / what sytt we here vntill we dye: though we thought that we myght come into the cytie / yet is the darthe so great in & cytie / that we shall there dye. And yf we tarye here / we are but dead also. Now therfore come & lett vs flee to the hoste of the Sīrians: yf they saue our lyues / we shall lyue. And yf they kyll vs / then are we dead. And so they arose in & darthe to go to & hoste of & Sīrians. And when they were come to the syde of the hoste of Siria: se / there was no man there.

For the Lorde had made the hoste of the Sīrians rians heare a hope of charettes & a hope of horses / and the hope of a great host. In so moche & they sayde one to another: se / the kyng of Israel hath bydd agaynst vs / the kynges of the Hethites & the kynges of Egypte / to come vpon vs. And vpon & they arose & fled in the darthe / & leste their tentes / their horses / their asses and the felde they had pitchted euē as it was / and fled for their lyues. And when these lepers came to the edge of the host / they went into a tent and dyd eate & dryncke and caried thence syluer / gould and rayment / & went & hidd it: and came agayne and entred in to another / and caried thence also / and went and hidd it.

Then they sayde one to another: it is not well & we do / for this daye is a daye to byngge & dryncke. And yf we holde oure peace / & tarye till it be daye light / we shall fynde a myscheu. Now therfore come / lett vs god and tell the kynges & our hostes. And so they went & called to the porters of the cite and tolde the sayyng: we came to the paupions of the Sīrians: & se / there was no man there / neither boyce of man / but horses and asses tyed / & the tentes euē as they were.

Then the porters called & tolde the kyngs house wth in. And the kyng arose in & nyght and sayde to his seruantes: I wylle shewe you / how the Sīrians haue serued vs. They know that we are oppressed wth hungr / and they foz are gone out of their paupions to hyde the selues in the felde sayyng: They will come out of the cytie / and then we shall catch them a lyue and get into the cytie. And one of hys seruantes answered and sayde: Let men take fyue of the horses that remaine and are leste in the cytie. Beholde they are as good as all the multitude that are leste in the cytie: and as good as all the multitude of the cite that are consumed / and lett vs send & se. And they toke two charettes of horses / and the kyng sent after the hoste of the Sīrians sayyng: go and se. And they folowed after them euē vnto Jordan: and se / all the waye was full of clothes and bestelles which the Sīrians had cast from them for haste.

And the messengers returned and tolde the kyng. And then the people went oute & robbed the tentes of the Sīrians. And so a boushell of flour was solde for a sylce / & ff. boushelles of barley for a sylce / accordyng to the worde of the Lorde. And the kyng / lett & Lorde on whose hande he leane / to kepe the gate. And the people troade him in the gate / that he dyed / accordyng to the sayyng of the man of God which he sayde / when the kyng came downe to him. And it came to passe accordyng to the worde of the man of God to the kyng sayyng: two boushelles of barley for a sylce & a boushell of barley for another shalbe to morrow this tyme in the gates of Samaria. And the Lorde answered the man of God and sayde: though the Lorde made windowes in heuen / yet wolde this not be. And & other sayde: Beholde / thou shalt se it wth thine eyes / & shalt not eate therof. And so it chaunced: for the people troade hym vnder fete in the gate / that he dyed.

Eliseus propheseth vnto the Sunamite the darthe of. vii. yere. After the death of Benhadad ragneth Hazael in Siria. Jehozam the sonne of Jehosaphat ragneth in Iuda. Edom sallet from Iuda. Jehoiah succedeth Jehozam.

The. viii. Chapter.

When spake Eliseus vnto the woman whose sonne he had restored to lyfe agayne / sayyng: by & go both thou and thyne house / & sojourn where thou thinkest best / for the Lorde wylle call a darthe whych shall come on the lande seven yere. And the woman arose and dyd after the sayyng of the man of God / and wet bothe she and her house and sojourned in the lande of the Philistines seven yere. And at the seuen yeres ende / whē & woman was come agayne oute of the lande of the Philistines she went oute to speake to the kyng for her house & for her lande. And the kyng was talkyng wth Giezi the seruant of the man of God sayyng: tell me I praye the / all & great deades which Eliseus dyd. And it chaunced as he was tellyng the kyng how he restored a ded boyce to lyfe agayne that the woman whose sonne he reuyned / cryed to the kyng for her house and lande. When sayde Giezi: My Lorde kyng / this is the woman and this is her sonne whych Eliseus brought to lyfe agayne. And the kyng asked the woman / and she tolde him. And so the kyng sent wth her one of his chambrelaynes sayyng: restore all that pertayneth to her / wth all the frutes of the felde / sence the daye she leste the land / vnto this tyme.

After that Eliseus went to Damasco / Benhadad the kyng of Siria beyngde syche. And one tolde the kyng sayyng: The man of God is come hither. Then sayde the kyng to Hazael: * take a present wth the and go agaynst the man of God and aske the Lorde by hym whether I shall recouer of this my disease or no. And Hazael went to mete hym and toke presentes wth hym / euē of all the good thynges of Damasco / as moche as fourty Camels coude beare / and came & presented hym selfe before hym and sayde: thy sonne Benhadad kyng of Siria hath sent me to the / sayyng: Shall I recouer of this my disease?

1 Reg. 17. 1. 2.

And Eliseus sayde to hym: go and saye to hym

Whoziah. him/thou shalt recover/how be it the Lorde D hath shewed me that he shall surely dye. And the man of God beganne * to loke earnestly/in comoch that he was a shamed: and the ma of God wepte. And Hazael sayde: why we-peth my Lorde: And he answered: for I know that thou shalt do euell vnto the chyldren of Israel: their stronge cyties thou shalt sett on fyre: & their younge men thou shalt sle with the swerde: and shalt dash out the brynes of their suchynge chyldren / and all to teare their women with chylde.

And Hazael sayde: what is thy seruauit which am but a dogge / that I shulde do this great thyng? And Eliseus sayde: for the Lorde hath shewed me / that thou shalt be kyng of Siria. And so he departed from Eliseus and came to his master / which sayd to him: what sayde Eliseus to the? And he sayde: he tolde me that thou shuldest recover. And on the mo-row he toke a rowgh clothe and dypt it in the water and spredde it on his face: & he died/and Hazael raygned in his steade.

The fyfte yere of Jehozan sonne of Ahab kyng of Israel / Jehosaphat beyng yet kyng of Iuda / Jehozan the sonne of Jehosaphat / kyng of Iuda / beganne to raygne. xxxij. yere olde was he when he beganne to raygne / and he raygned. liij. yere in Jerusalem. And he walked in the waye of the kynges of Israel / as dyd the house of Ahab for the daughter of Ahab was his wyfe / and he dyd that displeased the Lorde. Neuerthelater the Lorde wolde not destroye Iuda because of Dauid his seruant / as he promysed hym to geue hym a lyght in his chyldren all waye.

And in his dayes Edom fell awayne fro vnder the hand of Iuda / and made them a kyng of their awne. And Jehozan went to Seir / & all his charettes with him. And he rose by nyght & layde on the Edomites / which compased him in / & the captaynes of his charet & the people fled into their tentes. And so the Edomites slipte awayne from vnder the hande of Iuda vnto this daye. And then Lobnah slipte awayne to / euen that same tyme.

The rest of the dedes of Jehozan and all he dyd / are writte in the chronicles of the kynges of Iuda. And Jehozan rested wth his fathers & was buried with his fathers in the cytie of Dauid. And Whoziah his sonne raygned in his steade. The xij. yere of Jehozan sonne of Ahab / kyng of Israel / dyd Whoziah & sonne of Jehozan kyng of Iuda beganne to raigne Two & twentie yere olde was Whoziah whē he beganne to raygne / & raygned one yere in Jerusalem / his mothers name was Achishah daughter of Amri kyng of Israel. And he walked in the waye of the house of Ahab: for he was a sonne in law to the house of Ahab.

And Jehozan the sonne of Ahab went to warre with Hazael kyng of Siria / at Ra-moth in Galaad / and the Sirians wounded him. wherfore kyng Jehozan went backe agayne / to be healed in Jezabel of the weede which the Sirians had geue him at Ramoth / whē he fought with Hazael kyng of Siria.
And Whoziah & sonne of Jehozan kyng of Iuda went downe to se Jehozan sonne of Ahab in Jezabel because he was sycke.

Jehu is made kyng of Israel / and killeth Jehozan the kyng thereof / and Whoziah kyng of Iuda also: and thereto causeth Jezabel to be cast downe forth of a wyndowe: whom dogges eate.

The x. Chapter.

And Eliseus the prophete called vnto one of the chyldre of the prophetetes / and sayde to him: gylde by thy loynes & take this boxe of oyle in thyne hand & get to Ramoth in Galaad. And when thou comest thither / thou shalt there se Jehu the sonne of Jehosaphat the sonne of Ramth / and go to him / & make him a ryle by from amonge his brythren / and carpe him to a secret chambze. And take the boxe of oyle and powze it on his heed & saye / thus sayth the Lorde: I haue anoynted the to be kyng ouer Israel. And then open the boxe & see / & saye not. And the seruaut of the prophete get him to Ramoth in Galaad / & when he came / the captaynes of the hoste were syttinge to geather. And he sayde: I haue an errande to the Sir captayne. And Jehu sayde / vnto which of all ys? And he sayd: to the captay-ne. And he arose and went in to the house.

And the other powzed the oyle on his heed and sayde to him / thus sayth the Lorde God of Israel: I haue anoynted the to be kyng ouer Israel & people of the Lorde / that thou slepe in thine house of Ahab thy master. For I sayth the Lorde / I will aduenge the bloude of my seruautes the prophetes / and the bloude of all the seruautes of the Lorde / of the hande of Jezabel (for the whole house of Ahab shalbe destroyed) and I will destroye vnto Ahab what pisseth agaynst the wall / and so moche as the pzeloned of that is losaken in Israel / & I will make the house of Ahab lyke the house of Jeroboam sonne of Nabat / and lyke the house of Baasa the sonne of Abiah. And as for Jezabel the dogges shal eate her in the feld of Jezabel / & none shall burie her. And he opened the doze and fled.

And when Jehu was come out to the ser-uautes of his Lorde / they sayde to him: is all peace? wherfore came this mad felow to the?
And he sayde to him: ye know the person and his communicacyon. And they sayde: it is not so. But tell vs a felowshyppe. And he sayde / thus and thus spake he to me sayinge. Thus sayth

Jehozan. sayth the Lorde: I haue anoynted the to be kyng ouer Israel. And they hastid and toke every man his mantell & put vnder hym on an hys beche at the toppe of steyppes / & blew a trompet and sayde: Jehu is kyng. And so Jehu the sonne of Jehosaphat the sonne of Ramth conspired agaynst Jehozan. And Jehozah had bene waiting at Ramoth Galaad / and all Israel with him / for feare of Hazael kyng of Siria / and was returned to be healed in Jezabel / of the woundes which the Si-rians had geuen hym as he fought with Ha-zael kyng of Siria.

Then sayde Jehu: If it be your myndes / then let no man escape out of the cite / to goo and tell in Jezabel. And Jehu rode and wote to Jezabel: for Jehozan laye there / & Whoziah kyng of Iuda was come to Jehozan. And the watchman that rode on the towze in Jezabel / spied the company of Jehu as he came / and sayde: I see a company. And Jehoram sayde: take an hofman a sende agaynst them / and let him aske whether it be peace.
And there went one on hofbacke agaynst him & sayde: thus sayth the kyng: is it peace?
And Jehu answered: what hast thou to do wth peace? turne & come after me. And the watchman tolde sayinge: the messenger came to the but he cometh not agayne.

Then he sent out another on hofbacke / which came to them & sayde / thus sayth the kyng: is it peace? And Jehu answered: what hast thou to do wth peace? turne & come after me. And the watchman tolde sayinge: he came to the / but he cometh not agayne / & the drying is lyke the drying of Jehu & some of Ramth / for he dryeth as he were mad.

Then sayde Jehozan / make ready. And they made ready his charet. And Jehozah kyng of Israel / & Whoziah kyng of Iuda wote out either in hys charet agaynst Jehu / and mett him in the furlonge of Naboth the Jezabe-lite. And when Jehozan sawe Jehu / he sayd: is it peace Jehu? And he sayde: what peace wulde there be / so long as the whoredomes of thy mother Jezabel & her witchcraftes are so great? And Jehozan turned his hand & fled / & sayde to Whoziah / there is falsed Whoziah.
And Jehu toke a bowe in hys hande & smote Jehozan betwene the shoulers / & the arrow came out at his bzeast. And he fel downe the folde in his charet. Then he sayde to Badahar a lorde of his / take & cast him in the plat of grounde of Naboth the Jezabelite. For I remembre as I & thou rode to gether after Ahab his father / how the Lorde spake these wordes agaynst him: I haue sene yestredaye the bloude of Naboth & of his sonnes / sayth the Lorde / and I will quyte hym in this ground / I sayth the Lorde. Now therfore take and cast him in the plat of grounde accordenge to the woorde of the Lorde. And when Whoziah the kyng of Iuda sawe that he fled the waye to the garden house. And Jehu followed after him & sayde: smyte him also. And they smote him in his charet at the going by to Sur by Jezelaam / & he fled to Magdo & there dyed.

And his seruantes caried him to Jerusalem / & buried him in his sepulchze wth his fathers in the cite of Dauid. And in the xj. yere of Jehozah sonne of Ahab / beganne Whoziah to raygne ouer Iuda. And whē Jehu was come to Jez-abel / Jezabel heard of it / & starched her eyes & tyred her heed & looked out at a wyndow.
And as Jehu entered at the gate she sayde: hab Samri peace which slew his master? And he lyft up hys eyes to the wyndow & sayde / who is of my side who? And there looked out to him two of the lordes that were chaberslaynes.
And he sayde: Whozah her downe. And they threw her downe. And he spyrnkled of her bloude vpon the walles & on the hofses / and trode her vnder sofe.

And then when he was come in & had eatē & dronke / he sayde: goo & bylet I praye you / ponder curst creature / & burie her / for she is a kynges daughter. And whē they came to burie her / they founde no moare of her / then the skulle & the two fete & the two handes.
And they came agayne & tolde hym. And he sayde: it is the woorde of the Lorde which bespake by the hand of his seruaut Eliah the chet-bite sayig: * in the feld of Jezabel shal dogges eate the flesh of Jezabel / & the carcas of Jezabel shalbe donge vpon the crabe / in the feld of Jez-abel / & men shall not saye / this is Jezabel.

Jehu causeth the lxx. sonnes of Ahab to be slayne / & after that. xij. of hys brythren he synketh a meane also to kyll all the whorres of Baal. After hys deeth hys sonne raygneth in his steade.

The x. Chapter.

Ahab had lxx. sonnes in Samaria. And Jehu wrote letters / & sent to Samaria vnto the elders & were lordes of Jezabel / & to them that nourced by Ahab's chyldren sayinge: now at the coming of these letters to you / ye haue id you your masters sonnes / & ye haue id you charettes & hofses / & a strong cite & barnesse.
Wherfore chole the best / & him & most plea-seth you of your masters sonnes / & put him in on his fathers seate / & fight for your lordes howse. And they were exceedingly astrapde / & sayde: se / two kynges were not able to stande before him / how shall we then stande? And the gouernour of the kynges howse & of the cite of the elders and the nources sent to Jehu sayinge: we are thy seruantes & will do all that thou shalt byd us: we will make no mā kyng:
but do thou what semeth good in thine eyes.
Then

Then he wrote another letter to the sayg:
If ye be myne & wyll obeye my boyce / then take the heedes of poure masters sonnes and come to me to Jerzabel / by to morow thys eyme. And the kynges sonnes were. lxx. personnes with the great men of the cytie which nouryshed the. And when the letter came to them / they toke the kynges chyldre and slue the in nombze. lxx. personnes / and put their heedes in cophines and sent them to hym to Jerzabel. And there cam a messenger & tolde hym saying: they have brought the heedes of the kynges sonnes. And he sayde: lett the put the on two heapes in the enterynge of the gate/till it be daye.

And in the mornynge he went out & stode & sayde to all the folke / ye be righteouse: for ye have conspired agaynst my master and slue him.
But who slue these? cospyre now how there is nothyng of the Lordes worde fall to the erthe / which he spake agaynst the house of Ahab: for the Lord hath done that he spake to his seruaunt Eliah. And so Jehu slue all the remayned of the house of Ahab in Jerzabel / & all that were great with him / & his companyons & his preastes / but he had left hym naught remayne. And he arose and departed & went to Samaria. And as Jehu was come eue to the house where the weperdes bynde their shepe by the weye syde / he met with the bethzen of Dhohiah kyng of Juda / and sayde: what are ye? & they sayde: the bethzen of Dhohiah are we / and goto salute the children of the kyng & of the quene. And he sayde: take them a lyue. And they toke them a lyue / & slue the at the well besyde the house where the weperdes bynde their shepe / in nom-
bze. xliij. personnes / that he left none of them.

And when he was departed thence he mette Jehonadab the sonne of Rechab compynge agaynst hym. And Jehu saluted hym & sayde to him: is thynne hert ryghte / as myne hert is with thynne. And Jehonadab sayd: yee that it is. If it be / then geue me thynne hand. And he gaue his had / & the other toke him: by to hym into the charet & sayde: go w me & se the zeale I haue to the Lord / & made hym ryde w him in his charet. And wher he came to Samaria / he slue all that remayned vnto Ahab in Samaria / till he had wypte him out / accorpyng to the sayg of the Lord which he spake to Eliah.

After that Jehu geathered all the people to geather & sayde to the: Ahab seued Baal a litle: But Jehu shall serue him a good. Now therfore call vnto me all the wyphetes of Baal & all his seruantes & all his preast / & none be lackyng. For I haue a great sacrefyce to do to Baal: & if any be mysted he shall not lyue. But Jehu dyd it for a sotelte / to de-stroye the seruantes of Baal. wherfore Jehu sayde: A poynte a solempne feast for Baal / & they proclaimed it. Then Jehu sent thowm out all Israel. And all the seruantes of Baal came / that there was not a man left behinde that came not. And when they were come in to the temple of Baal / the temple was full from one ende to another.

Then he sayde to the keeper of the bestre / brynge forth garmentes for the seruantes of Baal. And he brought the out garmentes.
And Jehu went to Jehonadab sonne of Re-chab into the house of Baal: and sayde to the seruantes of Baal: seache and loke that there be none here w you of the seruantes of the Lord / but the seruantes of Baal onlye.
And they went in / to offer sacrefyce & burntofferpynges. But Jehu appoynted him foure choze men without & sayde: If any of the men which I shall brynge vnto poure hand escape / he that letteth him go shall dye for hym.

And as lone as he had made an ende of of-ferpyng of burnt sacrefyce / he sayde to them of the garde & to the Lordes: go in & slep the / let none come out. And they smote the w the edge of the swerde. And the garde & the Lordes cast them out / & went vnto the cytie of the house of Baal / & set out the Image out of the house of Baal & burnt it. And they brake the Image of Baal / & brake the house of Baal / & made a lege of it euer after. And so Jehu destroyed Baal out of Israel. But from the synnes of Jeroboam the sonne of Nabat whych made Israel synne with the goulden calves in Bethel and Dan / Jehu departed not.

Then the Lord sayde to Jehu / because thou hast lustely done that pleasech me / and hast done to the house of Ahab all that was in myne hert / therfore shall thy chyldren in the fourth generacion set on the seate of Israel. But Jehu cared not to walke in the lawe of the Lord God of Israel with all his hert: for he departed not from the synnes of Jer-oboam which made Israel synne.

In those dayes the Lord beganne to cut Israel shorte / for Hazael slue them in all the coostes of Israel / from Jordan Eastward: euen all the lande of Galaad / the Gadites / the Rubenites and the Manassites / from Arco vpon the ryuer of Arnon / with Galaad and Basan. The rest of the actes of Jehu / and all he dyd / & all his poynte / are wyrted in the chronicles of the kynges of Israel. And when Jehu was layde to rest w his fathers / they buryed him in Samaria / & Jehoahaz his sonne raigned in his stead. And the tyme the Jehu raig-ned vpon Israel in Samaria / was xliij. yere

And Athaliah putte to death all the kynges sonnes / except Jehoas the sonne of Dhohiah: which is wyrted after her death is made kyng.

The xij. Chapter.

And

choas.
Athaliah.
Jehoiada.

And Athaliah the mother of Dhohiah / when she saw that her sonne was dead / she arose and stode all the serbe of the kyngdome. But Jehosaba the daughter of kyng Jehoram & syster of Dhohiah / toke Jehoas the sonne of Dhohiah / and haled him from among the kynges sonnes that were slayne / & hys nourse with him / out of a sleppynge chambze / & hidd hym fro Athaliah / that he was not slayne. And he was with her / byd in the house of the Lord vi. yere. And Athaliah dyd raygne ouer the land
vii. yere.

And the seuenth yere Jehoiada sent & set the rulers ouer hundredes in the captaynes & them of the garde / & toke the into him into the house of the Lord / and made a bonde with them / and toke an othe of them in the house of the Lord / & shewed the the kynges sonne.
And he commaunded them saying: this is that ye must do: one thirde parte of you shall come on the Saboth daye and kepe the watche of the kynges house: And another thirde parte shall be at the gate Sur: and another thirde parte shall be at the gate behynde the garde chambze / and so shall ye kepe the watche of the house of the Lord / & two porcions of you:
that is / all that goo oute the Saboth daye / shall kepe the watche of the house of the Lord aboute the kyng / & shall compasse the kyng round aboute / euer y mornynge w his wepen in his hande. And whosoever cometh with in the rages shall dye for it. And so that ye be with the kyng as he goeth out and in.

And the captaynes ouer the hundredes dyd all thynge as Jehoiada the preast commaunded: & toke euer y mornynge his men / that is / the in the Saboth daye with them that wet out the Saboth daye / and went to Jehoiada the preast. And the preast gaue to the captaynes ouer hundredes the speares & spydes & were byng & dauid & had remayned in the temple.
And the garde stode euer y man w his wepon in his hand round aboute the kyng / fro the ryght corner of the temple to the left a long by a litle & the temple. And he brought oute the sonne of the kyng & put the crowne vpon hym / and deliuered him the witnesse / & made him kyng & anoynted him. And they clapte their handes and sayde: God saue the kyng.

And when Athaliah heard the noyse of the rummyng of the people / she came to the people into the house of the Lord. And wher she saw the kyng stode by a pple (as the maner was) & the syngers & the trompettes by the kyng / & all the people of the lande reioysynge / and the blowynge of the trompettes / she rent her clothes & cryed: treason treason. And Jehoiada the preast commaunded the Captaynes of the hundredes & had the rule of the house / and sayde to the: haue her out without the ranges /

& slay any colow her / let him dye w the swerde: for the preast sayde: she may not be slayne in the house of the Lord. And they layde handes on her / & she wet the weye that the hoyses of the kynges went out & was slayne there.

And Jehoiada made a bonde both betwene the Lord & the kyng / & betwene the people and the Lord / that they shuld be the Lordes people: & also betwene the kyng & the people.
Then all the people of the land wet into the house of Baal / & destroyed his altars / and brake downe his Images lustely / & slue Ma-than the preast of Baal before the altare. And the preast set watche men in the house of the Lord / & toke the rulers ouer hundredes & the captaynes & the garde & all the people of the land: And they brought the kyng from the house of the Lord & went the weye of the gate of the garde of the kyngs house. And he sat him downe on the seate of the kynges. And all the people of the Land reioysed / and the cytie was in quiet.
And they slue Athaliah with the swerde in the house of the kyng.

Jehoas maketh psonson for the repayng of the temple: he is helpe by the seruantes / and Amasiah raygneth in his steade.

The xij. Chapter.

Jehoas was seue yere olde when he was made kyng. And he begane to raygne the seuenth yere of Jehu / & raygned fourty yere in Jerusalem. His mothers name was Zebiah Berla-be. And he dyd that pleased the Lord / as long as Jehoiada the preast enformed hym. But they toke not awaye the billaulers / for the people slue & offered tyll in the billaulers.

And Jehoas sayde to the preast: all the ty-uer is dedicat & brought to the house of the Lord in curraut moneye / that is to saye / the moneye that euer y man is set at / with all the moneye that euer y manes hert geueth him to brynge into the house of the Lord / let the preast take it to the / euer y mornynge of his aquapn-taunce / & let the repaie the broke places of the temple in all places where oughte to be found decayed.

Neuer the later the preastes had not meded vnto the. xliij. yere of Jehoas / he was decayed in the temple. Then kyng Jehoas called for Jehoiada the preast & for the other preastes also / & sayde to the: why repaie ye not the broke places of the temple? Now therfore se ye receaue no moare moneye of poure aquapn-taunce / but deliuer it to repaie the temple withall. And the preast consented to receaue no moare moneye of the people: But that it shulde go to the mendynge of the temple.

Then Jehoiada the preast toke a cofre & hoied an hoale in the wyde of it / & put it besyde the altare on the ryght syde as a mornynge into the house of the Lord. And into the dyd the preast

prelates & kepte & dozes/put all & money & was brought into the house of the Lord. And when they sawe & there was moche money in the cofer * the kyngs scribe & the bye prelate came/ & kept by the money & was found in & house of the Lord/after they had tolde it.

And they gaue the money by sommes into the handes of the woꝝche men & had & ouer-lyght of the house of & Lord: & they brought it out to & carpenters & buylders & woꝝght by on the house of the Lord/ & to masons and hewers of stone/ to bye tymber & fre stone/ to repaire the decay in & house of the Lord/ & all & that needed repaꝝyng in the house: how be it there was not made in the house of the Lord/ booles of siluer/ shydꝝng kynges/ basens troꝝetts/ or any other instruments of goude or syluer/ of & money & was brought to/ the house of the Lord. For they gaue & to the woꝝchemen/ to repaꝝy the house of the Lord. Wherouer they rehered not to the men/ into whose handes they deliuered & money/ to be bestowed on woꝝchemen: But they did it euē of fidelite. How be it respace money & synne money might not be brought into & house of & Lord/ for it was & prelate.

Then came Hazael kyng of Siria/ and fought agaynst Beth & toke it/ & appoynted him self to go by to Jerusalem. But Jehoas kyng of Iuda toke all the dedicat thynge & Jeholaphat/ Jehoꝝa & Ohoꝝiah his fathers kynges of Iuda/ had dedicat/ & & he him self had dedicat/ & all & he could & he could be sold in the treasure of the house of the Lord/ & of the kynges house/ & sent it to Hazael kyng of Siria: & so he departed from Jerusalem.

The remnaunt of & actes of Jehoas & all he dyd/ are wꝝtten in & chronicles of & kyngs of Iuda. And his awne seruantes arose and wrought treason/ & slue Jehoas in the house Melo/ in & waye downe to Sela. Tozabar & sonne of Semaath & Jehoꝝabad & sonne of Somer his seruante/ smote him/ & he dyed. And they buried him with his fathers in the cite of Dauid. And Amaziah his sonne raigned in his steade.

Jehoahaz the sonne of Jehu is deliuered into the handes of the Sirians/ and dyeth. Joas his sonne raigned in his steade. Eliseus dyeth.

The. xxiij. Chapter.

In the. xxiiij. yere of Jehoas sonne of Ohoꝝiah kyng of Iuda/ Jehoahaz & sonne of Jehu was made kyng ouer Irael in Samaria/ & contynued. xxiij. yere. And he wrought wickednesse in the syght of the Lord: for he folowed the synne of Jeroboꝝ the sonne of Nabat which made Irael synne/ & departed not ther fro: wherfore the Lord was angry with Irael/ and deliuered them into the hande of Hazael kyng of Siria/ and into the hande of Benhadad the sonne of Hazael all their dayes.

But Jehoahaz brought & Lord/ & & Lord heard him. For he had sene & oppꝝessed of Irael/ how the kyng of Siria oppꝝessed them. And therfore & Lord gaue Irael a deliuerer & they wēt out fro vnder & handes of the Sirians. And & chyldꝝ of Irael dwelt in their tentes as before tyme. Howtherlesse they departed not fro the synne of & house of Jeroboꝝ which made Irael synne/ but walked therein. And there remayned a groue also in Samaria still: But there were left of the people to Jehoahaz/ but fyre hoꝝemen and ten charrettes/ & ten thousand fotemen for & kyng of Siria had destroyed the & made the Ipe thepylhed chaffe. The rest of the actes of Jehoahaz/ & all he did & his powꝝe are wꝝtten in the chronicles of the kynges of Irael. And Jehoahaz rested with his fathers/ & they buried him in Samaria/ & Joas his sonne raigned in his steade. In the. xxxviij. yere of Jehoas kyng of Iuda/ begane Joas & sonne of Jehoahaz to raigne ouer Irael in Samaria/ & contynued. xviij. yere/ & dyd unhappely in & syght of the Lord/ & departed in nothing fro the synnes of Jeroboꝝ & sonne of Nabat that made Irael synne/ but walked therein.

The remnaunt of the actes of Joas & all he dyd/ & his power/ how he fought with Amaziah kyng of Iuda/ are wꝝtten in the chronicle boke of the kynges of Irael. And when Joas was layde to rest with his fathers/ Jeroboꝝ sat upon his seate. And Joas was buried in Samaria amonge the kynges of Irael.

When Eliseus was fallen sycke of & synne/ whereof he dyed/ Joas kyng of Irael came to him & wepte to him/ & sayd: O father father & charer of Irael & the hoꝝemen of & same. And Eliseus sayde vnto hym/ byngne bootw & arowes. And he brought to him bow & arowes. And he sayde to & kyng of Irael: put thine hand vpon & bootw/ & when he had put his hande vpon the bootw/ Eliseus put his handes vpon & kyngs handes. When he sayde/ open & wyndowe ee stwarde: & he opened. And Eliseus sayde: shote/ & he shotte. And he sayd: the arowe of helpe of & Lord/ & the arowe of helpe agaynst the Syꝝias/ for thou shalt bete & Syꝝians in Aꝝch till thou haue consumed the.

When he sayde: take arowes: and he toke. Then he sayde to the kyng of Irael/ smyte the grounde: & he smote thysse & ceased. And the mē of God was angry with him & sayde: thou shouldest haue smytē thysse of syꝝe tymes/ and then thou haddest smytten the Syꝝians till thou haddest consumed them: wherfore now thou shalt bete them but thysse.

the yere solowynge. And it chaunced as they were buryng a man/ that they spied the Sowdꝝares/ & therfore cast them into the sepulchꝝe of Eliseus. And as sone as the mā came and touched & bones of Eliseus/ he refused and stode by on his fete.

And Hazael oppꝝessed Irael/ all the dayes of Jehoahaz. But the Lord had merce on the & pytied them & turned to the/ because of his appoyntment made with Abꝝahā/ Isaac & Jacob/ & wolde not destroye them/ ether cast the from him as yet. And when Hazael kyng of Siria was dead/ Benhadad his sonne raigned in his steade. And then Joas the sonne of Jehoahaz wēt agayne & toke out of the hāde of Benhadad sonne of Hazael/ the cyꝝes which he had taken awaye out of the handes of Jehoahaz his father/ in warre. And thys tymes dyd Joas beate hym and brought the cyꝝes of Irael agayne.

Amaziah the kyng of Iuda putte to death & maner quellers of his father: and after smyteth Edom. Joas kyng of Irael taketh Amaziah and robber the temple of the Lord/ Joas dyeth and Jeroboꝝ his sonne succeedeth in his rowme: and after him raygneth Zachariah. Amaziah is kylled in Lachis/ and Amaziah raygneth in his steade.

The. xliij. Chapter.

In the seconde yere of Joas sonne of Jehoahaz kyng of Irael raygned Amaziah & sonne of Jehoas kyng of Iuda: he was. xxiij. yere olde when he began/ and raygned. xxiij. yere in Jerusalem. His mothers name was Jehoꝝaban/ & was of Jerusalem. And he dyd that pleased the Lord/ yet not like Dauid his father: but dyd in all thyngs as Joas his father dyd. Whether toke they awaye the hillaulters: But & people slue and offered still in & hillaulters. And as sone as the kyngdom was setteled in his hande/ he slue his seruantes that kylled the kyng his father. But the chyldꝝ of those mynistrars he slue not/ as it is wꝝtten in the boke of the lawe of Moyses/ where the Lord commaunded sayng: the fathers shall not dye for the chyldꝝens cause/ nor the chyldꝝen for the deades of their fathers: But every man shalbe slayne for his awne synne.

And he slue of & Edomites in the saltbale ten thousand/ and toke the towne Sela with strenght of battell/ and called the name of it Jehether/ euer after.

After & Amaziah sent messengers to Joas the sonne of Jehoahaz sonne of Jehu kyng of Irael saying: come/ let vs se eche other. But Joas kyng of Irael sent agayne to Amaziah kyng of Iuda saying: A thysse in Libanō sent to a cypꝝelle tree in Libanō sayng: geue thy daughter to my sonne to wyfe. But & wyde beastes in Libanō wēt and troade downe the thysse. Because thou hast braten the Edomites/ therfore thysse beate thyself. Be glouious: but tarpe at home. For what needest thou to prouoke to myscheue/ that thou shouldest be ouerthowen & Iuda with the.

But Amaziah wolde not heare. And so Joas kyng of Irael went by/ & he and Amaziah kyng of Iuda sawe ether other at Bethlames in Iuda. And Iuda was put to the woꝝte before Irael/ & they fled euery man to his tete. And Joas kyng of Irael toke Amaziah kyng of Iuda/ sonne of Jehoas sonne of Ohoꝝiah/ at Bethlames. And then he wēt to Jerusalem/ and brake downe of the walles of Jerusalem from the gate of Ephꝝaim to & corner gate/ foure hundred cubytes. And he toke all the goude & siluer & all the bestelles that were founde in the house of the Lord/ and in the treasure of the kynges house/ and hostages therto: & then returned to Samaria agayne.

The rest of & actes of Joas which he dyd/ and his power/ & how he fought with Amaziah kyng of Iuda/ are wꝝtten in the chronicles of the kynges of Irael: & Joas layde him to rest with his fathers and was buried at Samaria amonge the kynges of Irael: & Jeroboꝝ his sonne raigned in his rowme.

Amaziah the sonne of Jehoas kyng of Iuda/ dyed after the death of Joas sonne of Jehoahaz kyng of Irael/ & thysse yere. And the remanaunt of & deades of Amaziah/ are wꝝtten in the chronicles of & kynges of Iuda. And they conspired great treason agaynst him in Jerusalem/ & he fled to Lachis. And they wēt after hē to Lachis & slue him there. And they brought him on an hoꝝle & he was buried at Jerusalem with his fathers in & cyꝝie of Dauid. And all the people of Iuda toke Azariah/ which was. xviij. yere olde/ & made him kyng for & his father Amaziah. And he & byle Ailath and brought it agayne to Iuda/ after that the kyng was layde to rest with his fathers.

The. xlv. yere of Amaziah sonne of Jehoas kyng of Iuda/ was Jeroboꝝ sonne of Joas made kyng ouer Irael in Samaria/ and raygned. xli. yere/ and wrought wychednesse in the syght of the Lord: for he turned in nothing fro the synne of Jeroboꝝ & sonne of Nabat which made Irael synne. He restored & coltes of Irael fro the enterynge of Hemath vnto the see/ in the wyde felde/ according to the woꝝde of the Lord God of Irael which he spake thowm his seruante Jonah the sonne of Amithai & prophete/ which was of Beth Opher. For the Lord had sene & how that the affliction of Irael was exceeding better/ in someche & the pꝝesoned & the foꝝlahē were at an ende. And there was no helper vnto Irael. And the Lord had not yet

The xv. Chapter.

In the xxviij. yere of Jeroboam kyng of Israel / Azariah sonne of Amasiah kyng of Juda beganne to raygne. Sixtene yere olde was he whē he was made kyng / & he raygned. liij. yere in Jerusalem / his mothers name was Techeliah / & was of Jerusalem. And he dyd þe pleased þe Lorde in all thynges as dyd his father Amasiah / saue that they put not the hyllaulters awaye / for þe people offered a burned fat still in the hyllaulters. And the Lorde smote the kyng / that he was a leper vnto þe daye of his deathe / and dwelt in an house at Iybertye / and Jotham the kynges sonne gouerned þe house & iudged the people of the lande. The rest of the dedes of Azariah & all he dyd / are writte in þe chronicles of þe kyngs of Juda. And Azariah layde him to slepe wth his fathers / & they buried him wth his fathers in the cytie of Dauid / & Jotham his sonne raygned in his steade.

In þe xxxviij. yere of Azariah kyng of Juda / was Zachariah the sonne of Jeroboam made kyng vpon Israel in Samaria / & raygned syxe monethes / & dyd þe displeased the Lorde / as dyd his fathers / and turned not fro the synnes of Jeroboam the sonne of Nabat which made Israel synne. And Selum the sonne of Iabes conspired agaynst him / and smote him befoze the people / & kyllid him / and raygned in his steade.

The rest of the dedes of Zachariah are writen in the chronicles of the kyngs of Israel. Whis is the saying that the Lorde spake vnto Jehu / saying: * thy sonys shall lytt on þe seate of Israel in the fourth generacion. And it came to so passe.

Selum the sonne of Iabes beganne to raygne the xxxix. yere of Azariah kyng of Juda / and he raygned a moneth in Samaria. For Manahem the sonne of Gadi came by from Cherah and wnt to Samaria and smote Selum the sonne of Iabes in Sama ria / and slue him / and raygned in his steade. The rest of the dedes of Selum & the treason / which he conspired are writte in þe chronicles of the kyngs of Israel. The same tyme Manahem destroyed Thaphlah and all that were therein / and the costes therof fro Cherah / because they opened not to him / he smote and rent all the women with chylde.

The xxxix. yere of Azariah kyng of Juda / beganne Manahem the sonne of Gadi to raygne vpon Israel / & continued ten yere in Samaria. And he dyd euell in the syghte of the Lorde / & turned not all his dayes fro the synne of Jeroboam þe sonne of Nabat which made Israel synne. And Phul kyng of Assyria came vpon the land. And Manahem gaue Phul a thousand talents of syluer / to helpe him to stablishe his kyngdome. And Manahem raysted the money in Israel / vpon all men of substance / so / to geue the kyng of Assyria sytte cycles of syluer a pece. And þe kyng of Assyria turned backe agayne & taried not there in the lande.

The rest of the dedes of Manahem & all he dyd / are writen in the chronicles of the kynges of Israel. And whē Manahem was layde to rest with his fathers Phaheliah his sonne raygned in his steade.

The lxxiij. yere of Azariah kyng of Juda / beganne Phaheliah the sonne of Manahem to raygne ouer Israel in Samaria / and continued two yere / & wrought wythedy in þe syghte of the Lorde & leste not of fro þe synnes of Jeroboam sonne of Nabat which made Israel synne. And Phahel the sonne of Romeliah a Lorde of his conspired agaynst hym and slue hym in the palayse of the kynges house / with Argob and Arian and sytte men with him that were Galaadites: and whē he had kyllid him / raygned in his rowme. The rest of Phaheliah and all he dyd are writte in the chronicles of the kynges of Israel.

And the liij. yere of Azariah kyng of Juda beganne Phahel the sonne of Romeliah to raygne ouer Israel in Samaria and continued. xx. yere / and dyd euell in the syghte of the Lorde / and turned not from the synnes of Jeroboam sonne of Nabat þe made Israel synne. In the dayes of Phahel kyng of Israel / came Teglat Phalasar kyng of Assyria / and toke Aion / Abel / Beth / Maacah / Tanoah / Had / Hazor / Gataad / Galile / and all the lande of Rephath / & caried them awaye to Assyria.

And Hosea the sonne of Eliah conspyed treason agaynst Phahel the sonne of Romeliah and smote him and slue him and raygned in his steade / the. xx. yere of Jotham the sonne of Azariah. The rest of þe actes of Phahel / and all he dyd / are writen in the booke of the kynges of Israel.

The seconde yere of Phahel some of Romeliah kyng of Israel / beganne Jotham the sonne of Azariah kyng of Juda to raygne. & yue & twetic yere olde was he when he beganne to raygne / and he raygned. xviij. yere in Jerusalem. His mothers name was Jerusa the daughter of Zadoh. And he dyd that was ryght in þe syghte of þe Lorde: euell in all thynges as dyd his father Azariah / dyd he. But they put not awaye the hyllaulters: for the people offered a burnt incense still in the hyllaulters / he bit the highest doze in þe howse of þe Lorde. The rest of the dedes of Jotham and all he dyd / are writte in þe Cronicles of the kynges of Juda. In those dayes the Lorde beganne to sende agaynst Juda / Razin þe kyng of Syria and Phahel the sonne of Romeliah. And Jotham rested with his fathers & was buried with his fathers in the cytie of Dauid his father / & Ahas his sonne raygned in his steade.

Ahas kyng of Juda consecrated his sonne in syre: & had many batelles agaynst the kynges of Israel. He smiteth an auter to be made lyke vnto it of Damasco. In the steade of Ahas raygneth Hezekiah his sonne.

The xvi. Chapter.

In the xviij. yere of Phahel some of Romeliah kyng of Israel / Ahas sonne of Jotham kyng of Juda / beganne to raygne. xx. yere olde was he / when he was made kyng: & raygned xviij. yere in Jerusalem / and dyd not that was ryght in the eyes of the Lorde his God / lyke Dauid his father: But went in the waye of the kynges of Israel / & therto he offered his sonne in fyre / after the abomynacion of the hethen whych the Lorde cast out befoze the chyldren of Israel. And he offered a burnt the fat in the hyllaulters & on the hylls & vnder euery grene tree. * When Razin kyng of Syria & Phahel sonne of Romeliah kyng of Israel came vpon to Jerusalem to fight. And they beseged Ahas / but coude not ouercome him. At the same tyme Razin kyng of Syria brought Tilath agayne to Syria / & ryd the Jewes thence. And the Syrians went to Tilath and dwelt therin vnto this daye.

Then Ahas sent messengers to Teglat Phalasar kyng of Assyria / saying: I am thy seruaunt & thy sonne / come & deliuer me out of the hand of þe kyng of Syria / & out of the hand of the kyng of Israel which are rylen agaynst me. And Ahas toke the syluer & the goulde that was founde in the howse of the Lorde & in the treasure of the kynges howse / & sent it for a rewarde to þe kyng of Assyria. And the kyng of Assyria berkened to hym / & went to Damasco / & toke it / and caried the people awaye to Birs / and slue Razin.

And kyng Ahas went agaynst Teglat Phalasar kyng of Assyria / to Damasco. And when he sawe a certen auter þe was at Damasco / he sent to Azariah the priest þe patern of þe auter & þe sacry of all the workmanchip therof. And Azariah the priest made an auter in all poynts lyke to þe patern which kyng Ahas had sent fro Damasco / & had synnified it by þe kyngs comyng fro Damasco. And whē the kyng was come fro Damasco & sawe þe auter / he went to it & offered thereon. And he burnt his burnt offering / and spyncheled the bloud of his peace offering / and powred his bypnyke offering & spyncheled the bloud of his peace offerings vpon the sayde auter. And the byasen auter þe was befoze the Lorde / * he sett fro befoze the howse / fro betwene þe auter & the howse of the Lorde / & put it on the north syde of the sayde auter.

And the kyng comanded Azariah þe priest saying: vpon the great auter set on fyre / in the morninge burnt offering / & in the eue meate of the offeringes / & the kynges burnt sacrifice and his meate offering / & the burnt offerings of all the people of the lande & their meate offering / & their bypnyke offerings / & powre thereon all the bloud of all maner offerings. But þe byasen auter shalbe for me / to enquyre with. And Azariah þe priest dyd all thyngs as kyng Ahas comanded hym. And kyng Ahas brake þe sydes of þe botomes & toke þe launders fro of the / & toke downe the see fro of þe byasen orþe / & were vnder it / & put it vpon a pavement of stone. And therto the pulpit for the Saboth that they had made in the howse / & þe kynges entrie without turned he to the howse of the Lorde / for feare of the kyng of Assyria. The reste of the dedes of Ahas whych he dyd are writen in the Chronicles of the kynges of Juda. And Ahas layde him to rest with his fathers / and was buried with his fathers in þe cytie of Dauid: & Hezekiah his sonne raygned in his rowme.

Holen kynges of Israel is taken. And he and all his realme brought to the Assyrians.

The xviij. Chapter.

In the xxiij. yere of Ahas kyng of Juda / Hosea sonne of Eliah beganne to raygne in Samaria vpon Israel / & continued. ix. yere / & dyd þe displeased the Lorde / but not so euell as dyd þe kynges of Israel that were befoze hym. And Salmanasar kyng of Assyria came vpon hym / & Hosea became his seruaunt & gaue him presentes. And the kyng of Assyria founde treason in Hosea / because he had sent messengers to Soma kyng of Egypte / & sent no presentes vnto þe kyng of Assyria / as he was petyly wont to doo. Therfore þe kyng of Assyria beseged him & put him in prysoun. * And then the kyng of Assyria came thozowout all the lande / & came to Samaria & beseged it. i. liij. thye the yere. And in the nynte yere of Hosea / the kyng of Assyria toke Samaria & caried Israel awaye into Assyria & put the in Gala / in Habor on the ryuer of Gozan / & in the cities of the Medes. For the chyldre of Israel had synned agaynst the Lorde their God which brought the out of the land of Egypt / fro under the hand of Pharaon kyng of Egypt / and feared other gods. And they walked in the ordinance of the hethen which the Lorde cast out before the chyldre of Israel / & in the thinges which the kynges of Israel had made. And the chyldre of Israel wropte the selues in thinges that were not well towards the Lorde their God. And they bylt them highalters in all their cyties / bothe in the towncs where they kept watch and also in the stronge townes. And they made them images & groues on every hye hyll & under every grene tre. And there they sacrificed in the highalters / as did the hethen which the Lorde caried awaye at their comynge / & wrought wicked dedes / to angre the Lorde with all. And they serued Idoles / wherof the Lorde had sayde to them: ye shall not do so.

And the Lorde testified to Israel & to Juda / by all the prophetes & by all the sears sayng: Come fro youre wicked wayes & hepe my commaundementes & myne ordynaunces according to all the lawes which I commaunded youre fathers / & as I sent to you by my seruantes & prophetes. Notwithstandyng they wolde not heare / but hardened their neckes / lyke to the neckes of their fathers & dyd not beleue the Lorde their God. And they refused his ordynaunces & his appoyntment & he had made in their fathers / & the wyne they became bayne / lyke to the hethen that were round aboute them / of which the Lorde had charged the / that they shoulde not do lyke the. But they leste the commaundementes of the Lorde their God & made the images of metall / euen of calves: & made groues & bowed them selues vnto all the Hoste of heauen / & serued Baal. And they sacrificed their sonnes & their daughters in fyre / & bled wythcraft & enchaſement / & were sold to wiche wickednesse in the sight of the Lorde / so to angre him.

Wherfore the Lorde was exceeding wroth with Israel & put the oute of his sight / that there was left but the tribe of Juda only / and therto Juda kept not the commaundementes of the Lorde their God / but walked in the ordynaunces of Israel which they had made. Wherfore the Lorde cast up all the seed of Israel & berethed and deliuered them into the handes of spoylers / vntill he had cast the oute of his sight. And Israel deuoyded them selues from the house of Dauid / and made Jeroboam & sonne of Nabat kyng. which Jeroboam thrust Israel awaye from the Lorde and made the synne agreat synne. And so the chyldre of Israel waiched in all the synne of Jeroboam which he had sett by / and departed not thence / vntill the Lorde had put Israel awaye oute of his sight / as he sayde by all his seruantes the prophetes. And so he translated Israel out of their land to Assyria / euen vnto this daye.

And the kyng of Assyria brought the Babylonians & the Chuthians & the Iudas & the Beniamites and from Sepharuaim / and put them in the cyties of Samaria in steade of the chyldren of Israel. And they possessed Samaria and dwelt in the cyties therof. But at the begynnyng of their dwelling / they feared not the Lorde. Wherfore the Lorde sent Lyons vpon the which slue the. When men tolde the kyng of Assyria / sayng: The nacion which thou hast translated & put in the cyties of Samaria / knowe not the maner of the God of the lande / and therfore he hath sent Lyons vpon them / which slay them / because they know not the maner of the God of the lande.

Then the kyng of Assyria commaunded sayng: carpe thether one of the prelates which ye brought thence / & let him go & dwell there / & teache the the sacron how to serue the God of the contrey. And then one of the prelates which they had caried thence / went & dwelt in Bethel / & taught the how they shoulde feare the Lorde. How be it every nacion made their awne gods & put the in the houses of the highalters which the Samaritans had made / euen in their cities where they dwelt. The men of Babilon made Socoth / Benoth. The men of Cuth made Nergel. The men of Beniam made Asima. The Euites made Reba / haz / and Charthan. And the Sepharuaites burnt their chyldre in fyre vnto Adramelech and Nemelech / the gods of the Sepharuaites. And though they feared the Lorde / yet they made them prelates of the lowest of the people / for the highalters / which sacrificed for them in the houses of the highalters. And so they feared the Lorde / and yet serued their awne gods after the maner of the people fro whence they were brought.

Vnto this daye they do after the olde maner: they nether feare the Lorde / nether do after their awne ordynaunces and customes / and after the lawe & commaundement which the Lorde commaunded the chyldren of Israel / whose name he called Israel / and made an appoyntment with them & charged them sayng: feare not any other goddes / nor bowe your selues to the nor serue them / nor sacrifice to them: but to the Lorde which brought you out of the land of Egypt in great powre and & a stretched out arme: hym feare & to hym bowe & to him sacrifice. And the ordynaunces / customes / lawe & commaundement which I wrote for you / se that ye be diligent to do for euermore / & feare not any other goddes. And the appoyntment which I have made with you / se ye forget not / and that you feare none other goddes: but the Lorde your God ye shall feare / & he shall deliuer you out of the handes of all your enemyes. Now be it they hearde not / but dyd after the olde maner. And eue so dyd these naciones feare the Lorde & serue their images therto: & so dyd their chyldren & their chyldrens chyldren to. Euen as dyd their fathers / so do they vnto this daye.

Hezekiah kyng of Iuda putteth downe the highalters / & destroyeth the Idoles. Salmanasar bringeth Israel to Assyria. The blasphemie of Semaherib.

The xliij. Chapter.

In the thirde yere of Hosea sonne of Ela / kyng of Israel raygned Hezekiah sonne of Abaz kyng of Iuda. Twente & thre yere olde was he / when he beganne to raygne / and raygned xxiij. yere in Jerusalem. His mothers name was Abi the daughter of Zachariah / & he dyd that pleased the Lorde in all thyng / lyke to Dauid his father. He put awaye the highalters & brake the images & cut downe the groues / & all to brake the brasen serpent which Moles made. For vnto those dayes the chyldre of Israel dyd burne sacrifice to it / & called it Nehushtan. He trusted in the Lorde God of Israel / so that after him came none lyke him amonge all the kynges of Iuda / nether amonge them that went before him. He came to the Lorde & departed not fro hym / but kept his commaundementes which the Lorde commaunded Moles. And the Lorde was with hym. And whatsoeuer he toke in hand he dyd it wisely. And he rebelled agaynst the kyng of Assyria & serued him not. He bett the Philistines euen vnto Azah & the costes therof / bothe in castles of garisons and stronge cities to.

And the fourth yere of kyng Hezekiah / which was the seuenth yere of Hosea sonne of Ela kyng of Israel / came Salmanasar kyng of Assyria vnto Samaria & besieged it. And they toke it at the ende of the yere / which was the sixte of Hezekiah: that is to saye the nynte yere of Hosea kyng of Israel / was Samaria wonne. And the kyng of Assyria dyd carie awaye Israel vnto Assyria / & put the in Gala / & in Habor on the ryuer of Gozan / & in the cyties of Medes: because they wolde not hearken vnto the voyce of the Lorde their God. But trasgressed his appoyntment / & all that Moles the seruauent of the Lorde commaunded / & wolde nether heare nor do.

The xliij. yere of kyng Hezekiah came

Semaherib kyng of Assyria agaynst all the stronge cities of Iuda & toke them. Wher vpon Hezekiah kyng of Iuda sent to the kyng of Assyria to Lachis sayng: I haue offended. But depart fro me / & what thou puttest on me that will I beare. And the kyng of Assyria appoynted vnto Hezekiah kyng of Iuda thre hundred talentes of syluer & thirtie talentes of gould. And Hezekiah gaue him all the syluer that was founde in the howse of the Lorde and also in the treasure of the kynges howse. And he sayde reason Hezekiah rent of the doores of the temple of the Lorde & the pylers / which he sayd Hezekiah kyng of Iuda couered ouer / & gaue the to the kyng of Assyria.

And the kyng of Assyria sent Sennacherib Rablaris & Rabshakeh fro Lachis to kyng Hezekiah in a great Hoste to Jerusalem. And they went by & came to Jerusalem / & toke the howse by the conduyte of the uppermost pole which is in the waye to the fullers selde / and called to the kyng. And there came out to the / Eliakim sonne of Helkiah stuarde of howse / holde & Sennacherib scribe / & Joah the sonne of Asaph / the recorder. And then Rabshakeh sayde to the. Tell ye Hezekiah I praye you: thus sayth the great kyng the kyng of Assyria. What confidence is this that thou hast? thou wilt haply speake a lyght word / that thou hast counsell & powre to make warre. On whome then dost thou trust / that thou rebellest agaynst me: dost thou trust to the staffe of this broke reede Egypte / on which if a man lene it will rene into his hand & perce it. For eue so is Pharaon kyng of Egypte vnto all that trust on him. If ye saye vnto me / we trust in the Lorde our God. Is not the whole highalters & other alters to Hezekiah hath put downe / & hath sayde to Iuda & Jerusalem / bowe your selues before this altier here in Jerusalem.

And now I praye the to my lord & kyng of Assyria / & I will deliuer the two thousand howses / if thou be able to sett ryders vpon the: (and if thou be not) how then art thou able to resist one of the leste Duks of my masters seruantes? or trustest thou to Egypte for charettes and horsmen? Whosoer thinkest thou that I am come without the byddynge of the Lorde to this place to destroye it: naye the Lorde sayde to me / goo vp to this land & destroye it. Then sayde Eliakim the sonne of Helkiah & Sennacherib & Joah / to Rabshakeh: speake we praye the to thy seruantes in the Syrians language / for we vnderstande it: & talke not with vs in the Jewes tonge / in the eares of the people that are on the walles. And Rabshakeh sayde vnto them: hath my master sent me only to thy master & to the / to speake these wordes / or rather to the men that hepe

In the Colossians where it is said that he kept watch and also in the stronge townes. And they made them images & groues on every hye hyll & under every grene tre. And there they sacrificed in the highalters / as did the hethen which the Lorde caried awaye at their comynge / & wrought wicked dedes / to angre the Lorde with all. And they serued Idoles / wherof the Lorde had sayde to them: ye shall not do so.

the walles / that they shall eat their owne bryte & drynke their awne pissid you.

And so Rabshakeh stode and cryed wth a lowde voice in the Jewes langage / and spake layunge: heare the saying of the great kyng / the kyng of Assyria. Thus sayth the kyng: let not Hezekiah begile you / for he is not able to deliver you out of myne hand: neither let Hezekiah make you trust to the Lorde sayinge: the Lorde shall surely rydd vs / and this cytie shall not be deliuered into the handes of the Kyng of Assyria. Perken not vnto Hezekiah / for thus sayth the kyng of Assyria.

Deale kindly wth me / & come out to me.
And then eate eury man of his awne byne / & of his awne pygg tree / & drynke eury man of the water of his awne welles / tyll I come and sett you to as good a lande as youres is:
a lande of come and wyne / a lande of breade & bynegardes / a lande of olyue trees / of oyle & of hony. And ye shall lyue and not dye. And herke not vnto Hezekiah for he wyll begyle you / sayinge: the Lorde shall deliuer vs. For haue the Gods of the nacjons deliuered any God his lande / out of the hande of the kyng of Assyria: where are the Gods of Hemanth & of Arphad: where are the Gods of Sepharuaim of Ana and Luah: did they deliuer Samaria out of myne hand: what God of any land hath deliuered his land out of myne hand / the Lorde wyll deliuer Ierusalem out of myne hand.

But the people helde their peace and answered not him a worde: for the kyng had comaunded sayng: and were hi not. When Eliakim the stuard of household & Sobnah the scribe and Joah the sonne of Asaph the recorder / came to Hezekiah wth their clothes rent & tolde him the wordes of Rabshakeh.

The Angell of the Lorde killeth an hundred foure thouste and fye thousand men of the Assyrians. And Sennacherib is killeth of his awne sonnes.

The xix. Chapter.

When kyng Hezekiah hearde / he rent his clothes & put on sacke & went to the house of the Lorde. Furthermore he sent Eliakim stuard of household / and Sobnah the scribe / and the elders of the Priestes clothed in sacke / to Isaiah the prophete the sonne of Amoz. And they sayde to hym / thus sayth Hezekiah: this daye is a daye of tribulacion / rebukynge and rapiing. Euen as whē the chyldre are readye to be borne / and the mothers haue no power to be deliuered. Whē the Lorde thy God wold heare all the wordes of Rabshakeh whom the kyng of Assyria has master hath sent to raipe on the Ipyngge God / and to rebuke him wth wordes which the Lorde thy God hath hearde wherfore lyfte vp thy prayer for the remnant that is left. When the seruantes of kyng Hezekiah were come to Isaiah: Isaiah sayd to the So shall ye saye to your master. Thus sayth the Lorde: be not afrayde of the wordes thou heardest / wth which the younge men of the kyng of Assyria haue raipled on me. For I will sende him a blast that he shall heare rynges / & so returne to his awne lande: And I wyll ouer-throw him wth the swerde / eue in his awne land.

And Rabshakeh went backe agayne and founde the kyng of Assyria fygthing agaynst Lobnah: for he had hearde how he was departed fro Lachis. And he hadde rynges of Cherubim kyng of the blacke Moyses / how he was come out to fyghe agaynst him. And there vpon he departed & sent messengers vnto Hezekiah saying. Thus saye to Hezekiah kyng of Iuda: let not thy God carpe the out of the waye / in whō thou so trustest sayinge: Ierusalem shall not be deliuered into the hand of the kyng of Assyria. Beholde / thou hast heard what the kyngs of Assyria haue done to all landes / how they haue utterly destroyed them. And how then shuldest thou escape: hathe the Gods of the hethen deliuered them which myne sunseruantes haue destroyed: as Gozan / Waran / Rezep / and the chyldren of Eden which were in Chelasar: where is the kyng of Hemanth / the kyng of Arphad / the kyng of the cytie of Sepharuaim / and the kyng of Ana and the kyng of Luah.

When Hezekiah had receaued the letter of the hand of the messengers and had redde it: he went into the house of the Lorde and layde it abroade before the Lorde. And Hezekiah prayed before the Lorde & sayde: Lorde God of Israel which dwellest betwene the Cherubes / thou art God alone ouer all the kyngdomes of the earth / & thou hast made bothe heuē & earth.
Lorde / how thyne eares are heare: open Lorde thyne eyes & see: & heare the wordes of Sennacherib which hath sent to raipe on the Ipyngge God. But of a truthe Lorde / the kyngs of Assyria haue destroyed nacjons & their landes / & haue sett fyre on their Gods. For they were no Gods / but the worke of the handes of man: eue wood & stone. And therfore they destroyed the. Now therfore Lorde oure God / saue thou vs out of his hand / & all the kyngdomes of the earth maye knowe / that thou Lorde art God alone. And Isaiah the sonne of Amoz sent to Hezekiah saying: thus sayth the Lorde God of Israel: that thou hast prayed to me concernynge Sennacherib kyng of Assyria / I haue hearde it. This is the thyng that the Lorde sayth of him: he hath despised the / & virgine daughter of Sion: he hath shaked his hebd at the / thou daughter of Ierusalem: whome hast thou raipled on / and whom hast thou reuyled: Agaynst whom hast thou exalted thy boycce / and hast lyfte vp thyne eyes to he-Euen

By the hand of the messenger thou hast raipled on the Lorde and sayde: with the multitude of my charettes I am come by to the height of the mountaynes euen along by the sydes of Libanon / & haue cut of the Cedartrees & the lustie firre trees therof euen to the wood of Carmel & belongeth therto. I haue digged a dyche & drainge waters / and haue dryed vp wth the sooles of my fete poles enclosed.

But hast thou not heard how I haue o-bernyed such a thyng & a great whylle ago / & haue prepared it from the begynnyng: And now I byrnye it forth & it shall be to destruye and to byrnye stronge cities in to rube heapes of stones. And the inhabitants of them shall be of litle power / and sayne herted & confounded.
They shall be lyke the graue of the feide and grene erbes / and as the hepe on the toppes of the houses which wetherth or: it come to any berght. I wote where thou dwellest / and thy cominge out and going in know I to / & how thou setteest by thy byrnelles agaynst me.
And because thou setteest by thy byrnelles agaynst me / and that thy ragnge is come bp to myne eare: therfore I will put a ragnge in thy nose and a byt in thy lippes / and will byrnye the backe agayne & same waye thou camest.

And this shalbe a sygne vnto the: eate this perce of the fruites of the seade that fell out / & the thyrde perce soure ye and reape / plant byne-gardes & eate the fruites therof. For the daughter of Iuda that is escaped and left / shall yet agayne take rottinge downwarde & beare fruite bpwarde. For out of Ierusalem shall go a remnant / and a nombze that shall escape out of mount Sion: the rele of the Lorde of Hostes shall byrnye this thyng to passe.

Wherfore thus sayth the Lorde / of the kyng of Assyria: he shall not come to this cytie / nor wote arowe into it / nor come before it / shalbe nor cast any bancke agaynst it: but shall go backe agayne the waye he came / & shall not come at his cytie sayth the Lorde. For I will defende this cytie and saue it / for myne awne sake and for Dauid my seruantes sake.

And the selfe same nyght the Angell of the Lorde went out & smote in the hoste of the Assyrans an hundred foure thowse & fye thousand And when they were by crye in the mornynge: beholde / they were all deed corpes. And so Sennacherib kyng of Assyria auoyded and departed & went agayne / & dwelt at Ninue.
And as he was in his deuocyn kneelinge in the house of Nisroch his God / Adramelech and Sarasar smote him wth the swerde. And they escaped into the lande of Ararat / & Asarhadon his sonne ragned in his stede.

Hezekiah is sycke & receaueth the sygne of his healeth by the dyall of Ahaz. He receaueth rewardes of Beroch / and is repcheted of Isaiah because he sheweth hym the treasure. He dyeth and Sennacherib his sonne ragneth in his stede.

The xx. Chapter.

Howe the tyme Hezekiah was sycke & vnto the deeth. And the Prophete Isaiah sonne of Amoz came to him and sayde to hym. Thus sayth the Lorde: put thyne household in an ordze / for thou shalt die & not lyue. And Hezekiah turned his face to the walle & besought the Lorde sayinge: Whē Lorde remembre yet how I haue walked before the trulpe and wth a perfecte herte / & haue done that which is good in thy syght / and wepte a great pace.

And Isaiah was scarce gone out into the middle of the cytie / but the worde of the Lorde came to hym sayinge: turne agayne and tell Hezekiah the capitayne of my people. Thus sayth the Lorde God of Dauid thy father. I haue herd thy prayer & sene thy teares. Beholde I will heale the / & this daye the dayes thou shalt go bp into the house of the Lorde. And I will lengthen thy dayes yet fyftene yere / and will deliuer bothe the and this cytie out of the hand of the kyng of Assyria / & wyll defende this cytie for mine awne sake / and for Dauid my seruantes sake. And Isaiah sayde: byrnye a lumpe of pygges. And they brought & put it on the soze / and he recovered.

Then sayde Hezekiah to Isaiah: what is the sygne / the Lorde will heale me / & I shall go bp into the house of the Lorde the thyrde daye.
And Isaiah sayde: this sygne shalt thou haue of the Lorde / that the Lorde will do & he hath spoken: shall the shadow go forwarde ten degrees / or go backe agayne ten degrees: And Hezekiah sayde: it is a light thyng for I wa-dow to go downe ten degrees. Wherfore I will not that: but let the shadow go backewarde ten degrees. And Isaiah the Prophete called to the Lorde / & he brought the shadow ten degrees backewarde by which it had gone downe / in the dyall of Ahaz.

The same ceason Berodach Baladan the sonne of Baladan kyng of Babilon sent letters & presentz vnto Hezekiah / for he hearde how Hezekiah was sycke. And Hezekiah harkened vnto them and shewed them all that was in the spyccery house / and his syluer and goulde & oboures & precious oymētes and his armozes all that was founde in his treasure: there was nothinge in his house or in all his realme / that he sheweth the not.

Then came Isaiah the Prophete vnto kyng Hezekiah and sayde to him: what saye these men and from whence come they to the: And Hezekiah sayde: they be come fro a farre coun-tree / euen from Babilon. And he sayde: what blacke clothes set to burne offeringes in the hilauiters in the cytyes of Juda round about Jerusalem and also the that burnt sacrifices into Baal to the sonne & to the moon & to the planetes / & to all the Hoste of heauen. And he brought out the groue from the temple of the Lorde without Jerusalem into the broke Cedron / & burnt it at the broke Cedron & stampre it to powder / & cast the dust thereof vpon the graues of the people of the countrey. And he brake downe the celles of the malechores that were in the house of the Lorde / where the women wour litle houses for the groue.

And he brought all the prestes out of the cities of Juda / & defiled the hilauiters where the prestes did burne sacrifice / euen fro Gabaa to Berlabee. And he brake downe the hilauiters of the Gates / that were in the enterynge of the gate of Josua & gouernoure of the cite / whiche were on the leste hande of the gate of the cite. Neuerthelesse the prestes of the hilauiters myght not come at the aulter of the Lorde in Jerusalem / saue onely theyd eate of the swete breade amonge their brethren.

And he defyled the temple of the Lorde / because he defyled the chylidren of Beniamin / because no man woulde offer his sonne or his daughter in fyre to Moloch / he put downe the holtes that the kynges of Israel had geue to the sonne at the entrynge of the house of the Lorde / in the chambere of Nathanmelech the chamberlaine in the layne which was of Danurim / & burnt the charettes of the sonne with fyre. And the aulter that were on the toppe of the parloure of Abaz which the kynges of Juda had made / and the aulter whych Manasse had made in the two courtes of the house of the Lorde / the kyng brake downe / & ranne thence and cast the dust of the in to the broke Cedron.

And the hilauiters that were before Jerusalem on the right hand of the moote / with which Salomō kyng of Israel built to Ashtaroth the abhominaciō of the Zions abites / & to Milchom the abhominaciō of the chylidren of Ammon / the kyng defiled / & brake the ymages & cut downe the groues and fylled the places with the bones of men.

Moreover the aulter that was at Bethel / the hilauiter made by Teroboam the sonne of Nabat whych made Israel synne / bothe the aulter and also the hyl he brake downe and burnt the hyl and stampre it to powder / and burnt the groue. And as Josiah turned hym selfe / he spied the graues that were in the moote and sent & fette the bones out of the graues & burnt them vpon the aulter & polluted it according to the woide of the Lorde that the man of God had proclaymed / whiche openlye had denounced the same thynges.

Then the kyng sayde: what meaneth this der graue stone that I se. And the men of the cytie tolde hym / it is the sepulchre of the man of God / whiche came from Juda and openlye denounced the selfe same thynges that thou hast done to the aulter of Bethel. And he sayde let hym be: se that no man moue his bones. And to his bones scraped with the bones of a prophete that came out of Samaria.

And therto all the houses of the hilauiters of the cities of Samaria whych the kynges of Israel had made / to angre with all: Josiah put out of the way & dyd to the in all poyntes as he did in Bethel. And he sacrificed all the prestes of the hilauiters that were there euen vpon the aulter / & burnt mennes bones vpon the / and returned to Jerusalem.

And the kyng commaunded all the people saying: kepe the feast of passouer vnto the Lorde your God / as it is wrytten in the booke of the covenant. For there was no passouer holden lyke that / from the dayes of the iudges that iudged Israel / and thowow out all the dayes of the kynges of Israel and of Juda. And in the .xxiiij. yere of kyng Josiah was this passouer holden to the Lorde in Jerusalem.

And therto workers in spyces / soylayers / ymages of witchcraft / ydoles and all other abhominacions that were fynyed in the lande of Juda and in Jerusalem / Josiah put out of the way / to make good the wordes of the lawe / whych were wrytten in the booke that Helkiah the preste founde in the house of the Lorde: like vnto him was there no kyng before hym / that turned to the Lorde with all his herte / with all his soule & all his myght / according to all the lawe of Moyses / methet after him arose there any soche.

Not withstandinge the Lorde turned not from his searce and great wrath wherewith he was angrie agaynst Juda vpon all the prouocations that Manasse prouoked hym. But the Lorde sayde: I will put Juda too / out of my syght / as I haue done Israel / & will cast of this cytye Jerusalem whych I haue chosen / and the house of which I haue sayde / my name shalbe there.

The rest of the dedes of Josiah and all he did are wrytten in the booke of the storyes of the kynges of Juda.

In his dayes Pharaos Decob kyng of Egypt went agaynst the kyng of Assyria to the ryuer of Euphrates. And kyng Josiah went agaynst hym / and was slayne of hym at Magedo when he had sene hym. And his seruants carped hym dead from Magedo and brought him to Jerusalem & buried him in his aulone sepulchre. And the people of the lande toke Jehoahaz the sonne of Josiah & anoynted hym & made him kyng in his fathers towne.

And he began to raygne and raygned thre monethes in Jerusalem. His mothers name was Hamital the daughter of Jeremiah of Lobnah. And he dyd that displeased the Lorde / in all thynges as his fathers had done. And Pharaos Decob put him in bondes at Reblah in the lande of Hemath / in the yere of his raygne in Jerusalem / and put the lande to a tribute of an hundred talentes of syluer and a talent of golde. And Pharaos Decob made Eliakim the sonne of Josiah / kyng in the rowme of Josiah his father / and turned his name to Jehoiakim / and toke Jehoahaz away whych he when he came to Egypt dyed there.

And Jehoakim gaue the syluer & the golde to Pharaos: how be it he taxed the lande / to geue the moneye at the commaundement of Pharaos / and as every man was set at / so he required the syluer and the golde of the people of the lande / to geue Pharaos Decob. Jehoakim was .xiiij. yere olde when he beganne to raygne / & he raygned .xiiij. yere in Jerusalem.

His mother was named Zedebah the daughter of Phadaiab of Ramah. And he dyd that was euell fauoured in the syght of the Lorde / like in all thynges as did his fathers.

Jehoacin. iii. Kynges.

And he beganne to raygne and raygned thre monethes in Jerusalem. His mothers name was Hamital the daughter of Jeremiah of Lobnah. And he dyd that displeased the Lorde / in all thynges as his fathers had done. And Pharaos Decob put him in bondes at Reblah in the lande of Hemath / in the yere of his raygne in Jerusalem / and put the lande to a tribute of an hundred talentes of syluer and a talent of golde. And Pharaos Decob made Eliakim the sonne of Josiah / kyng in the rowme of Josiah his father / and turned his name to Jehoiakim / and toke Jehoahaz away whych he when he came to Egypt dyed there.

And Jehoakim gaue the syluer & the golde to Pharaos: how be it he taxed the lande / to geue the moneye at the commaundement of Pharaos / and as every man was set at / so he required the syluer and the golde of the people of the lande / to geue Pharaos Decob. Jehoakim was .xiiij. yere olde when he beganne to raygne / & he raygned .xiiij. yere in Jerusalem.

His mother was named Zedebah the daughter of Phadaiab of Ramah. And he dyd that was euell fauoured in the syght of the Lorde / like in all thynges as did his fathers.

Jehoakim dyed / and after him succeeded Jehoacin Jerusalem is beleged of the Babylonians. Jehoacin yeldeth him selfe to the kyng of Babylon. And in his towne cam Nabuchodonosor which was called Zedekiah.

The .xliij. Chapter.

In his dayes came Nabuchodonosor kyng of Babylon / & Jehoakim became his seruant thre yere / and then turned and rebelled agaynst hym. And the Lorde sent vnto him men of warre out of Caldey / out of Syria / out of the Moabites / and fro the chylidren of Ammon: & sent them into Juda / to destroye it / according to the sayinge of the Lorde which he spake by his seruantes the prophetes. Only at the bydyng of the Lorde happened it so to Juda / to put the out of his syght / for the synne of Manasse according to all he dyd: and for the innocent bloude that he shedde and fylled Jerusalem with innocent bloude / whiche the Lorde wolde not forgeue.

The rest of the dedes of Jehoakim and all he dyd / are wrytten in the chronicles of the kyng of Juda. And Jehoakim layde hym to slepe with his fathers / & Jehoacin his sonne raygned in his steade. But the kyng of Egypt came now no moare out of his lande: for the kyng of Babylon had taken from the ryuer of Euphrates / all that pertayned to the kyng of Egypt. Jehoacin was .xiiij. yere olde when he beganne to raygne / & raygned in Jerusalem thre monethes. His mothers name was Nebuchaz the daughter of Elnathan of Jerusalem.

And he dyd that displeased the eyes of the Lorde in all poyntes as his father did.

In his tyme came the seruantes of Nabuchodonosor kyng of Babylon / to Jerusalem and the cytye was beleged. And Nabuchodonosor came to the cytye as his seruantes were yet a besegynge of it. And Jehoacin the kyng of Juda came out to the kyng of Babylon / with his mother / his seruantes / his Lorde & his chamberlaynes. And the kyng of Babylon toke hym / in the eyght yere of his raygne.

And he dyd that displeased the eyes of the Lorde in all poyntes as his father did.

In his tyme came the seruantes of Nabuchodonosor kyng of Babylon / to Jerusalem and the cytye was beleged. And Nabuchodonosor came to the cytye as his seruantes were yet a besegynge of it. And Jehoacin the kyng of Juda came out to the kyng of Babylon / with his mother / his seruantes / his Lorde & his chamberlaynes. And the kyng of Babylon toke hym / in the eyght yere of his raygne.

And he carped out thence all the treasure of the house of the Lorde / and the treasure of the kynges house / and brake all the bestelles of golde whych Salomon kyng of Israel had made / in the temple of the Lorde / as the Lorde had sayde. And he carped away all Jerusalem / and all the Lodes and all the men of myght / to the nombre of ten thousande in to captiuyte and all craftes men and Joyners / none remaynyng saue the pooore people of the lande. And he carped away Jehoacin to Babylon / & the kynges mother / & the kynges wyues / & his chambrelaynes / & the myghtie of the lande carped he away fro Jerusalem to Babylon. And all the me of actiuite to the nūbre of seven thousande / & craftsmen and Joyners a thousand / all stronge & apte for warre / did the kyng of Babylon bringe to Babylon to dwell. And the kyng of Babylon made Nabuchadrezzar his father's brother / kyng in his steade / and chaunged his name & called him Zedekiah.

Zedekiah was .xiiij. yere olde when he beganne to raygne & he raygned .xiiij. yere in Jerusalem. His mothers name was Hamital the daughter of Jeremiah of Lobnah. And he dyd euell in the syght of the Lorde / in all poyntes lyke to Jehoakim. For throughe the wrath of the Lorde it so chaunced to Jerusalem & Juda / vntill he had cast them out of his syght. And the sayde Zedekiah rebelled agaynst the kyng of Babylon.

By the rebelling of Zedekiah is the towne of Jerusalem beleaged of Nabuchodonosor. The towne & the temple are bothe burnt. The sonnes of Zedekiah are slayne before his eyes / & after that his eyes put out. Juda is brought to Babylon / and after is Jehoacin captiue.

The .xliij. Chapter.

Wherfore in the nynte yere of hys raigne/the tenth daye of the tenth monethe/ came Nabuchodonosor kyng of Babilon with all hys power to Jerusalem: and pitched agaynst the towne and made engynes agaynst it on euery syde. And the cite continued beleged vnto the xi. yere of kyng Zedekiah. And the nynte daye of the fourth monethe of that yere/ there was so great hongre in the cite/ that there was no sustenance for the people of the lande. And thereto the cite was broken by: wherfore all the men of armes fled by nyght/ by a waye thorow a gate/ betwene two walles hard on the kynges garden: the caldees spenged aboute the cite.

W And the kyng wet straght toward the deserte. And the hoste of the caldees folowed after hym/ and toke him in the deserte of Jericho/ all hys armye begonne scattered awaye from him. And when they had taken him/ they brought him to Nabuchodonosor the kyng of Babilon to Reblah/ where they reasoned with hym. And they due the sonnes of Zedekiah before his eyes/ and put out the eyes of Zedekiah/ and fettered hym/ and carped hym to Babilon.

And the chefe Marshall toke Saraiah & the chefe preste/ and Zophoniah the hiest preste saue one/ & thre hiepers of the doze. And out of the cite he toke a certayne chambrelayne that had the ouersyght of the men of warre/ and fūe men that were euer in the kynges presence/ whiche were founde in the cite/ & Sopher the captayne of the hoste & taught the people of the lande to make warre/ & thre choze men of the people of the lande that were founde in the cite also. And Nabuchodonosor the chefe Marshall toke them and brought the to the kyng of Babilon to Reblah. And the kyng of Babilon smote them and due them at Reblah in the lande of Berath. And so Juda was caried awaye out of their lande.

And ouer the people that remaigne in the lande of Juda/ whych Nabuchodonosor kyng of Babilon left/ he set Godoliah the sonne of Shiham the sonne of Shaphan. And when all the capitaynes of the men of warre & the men hearde that the kyng of Babilon had made Godoliah gouernour/ there came to Godoliah to Maphphah/ Ismael the sonne of Nathaniah and Johanan the sonne of Kareah & Saraiah the sonne of Chananieth & Mesophahtite & Jeroniah the sonne of Maachath and their men. And Godoliah swore to the and to their men/ and sayde to the: feare not ye the seruantes of the caldees. But dwelle in the lande and serue the kyng of Babilon and ye shalbe in good condycion.

But it chaunced the seventh monethe after/ that Ismael the sonne of Nathaniah the sonne of Elisama of the kynges bloude came/ and ten men with hym and smote Godoliah that he dyed: and so did he the Jewes and the caldees that were with hym at Maphphah. Therupon all the people bothe smalle and greates & capitaynes of the men of warre arose & wet to Egypt: for they were afrayed of the caldees.

Notwithstandinge yet the xxxij. yere after Jehoacin kyng of Juda was caried awaye/ the xxxij. daye of the twelue monethe/ byd Eulmerodach kyng of Babilon lyfte by the heed of Jehoacin kyng of Juda out of the prison house/ and spake kyndely to hym and set hys seate aboute the seate of all the kynges that were with him in Babilon/ and chainged hys prison garments. And he did euer eate breade before him all the dayes of his lyfe. And a continuall porcyō was assigned hym of the kyng/ daye by daye as longe as he lyued.

The battell of Saul agaynst the Philistines: in which he dyed and hys sonnes also.

Of the x. Chapter.

Some reade
Ingabon.

And the Philistines fought agaynst Israel. And the men of Israel fled before the Philistines & were ouerthrowen and slayne in Mount Gelboe. And the Philistines solowed Saul and his sonnes and slue Jehonathan/Abinadab and Melchilua the sonnes of Saul. And the battell went fore agaynst Saul/in so moche that the hoters met him/a he was wounded of the hoters. Then sayde Saul to his swepd beater/draw the swerde a thurst me thowowe therewith/that these becircumcised come not and dome shame. And his swepd beater woode not/ but feared exceedingly. Whereupon Saul caught a swerde & fell upon it. And when his harnes beater sawe that Saul was deed/ he fell on a swerde also and dyed.

Some reade
Ingabon.

And thus Saul and hys thre sonnes and all hys house dyed to gether. And when all the men that dwelt in the balces/saw how they fled/and that Saul and his sonnes were deed they forsoke their cyties & ranne awaye/and the Philistines came and dwelt in them.

And on the morow when the Philistines came to stripe the deed bodyes/they founde Saul and his sonnes ouerthrowen in mounte Gelboe. And when they had stript hym they toke hys heed and hys harnesse and sent them into the lande of the Philistines round aboute to shew thynges unto their Gods and to the people. And they put his harnesse in the houses of their Gods. But hys shulle they hanged in the house of Dagon.

And when all they of Jabes in Galaad hearde all that the Philistines had done to Saul/all the men of warre arose & set awaye the bodie of Saul & the bodyes of his sonnes and brought them to Jabes and buried the bones of them under an ocke in Jabes/a fasted seven dayes.

And so Saul dyed for his trespass that he trespassed agaynst the Lozde/in that he kept not the worde of the Lozde/and in that he asked counsell of a woman that wrought with a spyt/a asked not of the Lozde. And therfore the Lozde killed him & turned the kyngdome vnto Dauid the sonne of Iesai.

After the death of Saul & Dauid annoynted in Bethleem. The Jebusites rebell agaynst Dauid: so which he catched the towne of Sion. His men are nombred.

Of the xi. Chapter.

And all Israel gathered the scheyf to Dauid vnto Hebron/and sayde: We be thy bones and thy fleshe. And mozeouer in tyme past/euen when Saul was kyng/ thou leddest Israel out and in. And the Lozde thy God sayde vnto thee: thou shalt fede my people Israel/a thou shalt be captayne ouer my people Israel. And when all the elders of Israel were come to the kyng to Hebron/Dauid made a couenant with the there before the Lozde. And they annoynted Dauid kyng ouer Israel accordyng to the woorde of the Lozde by the hand of Samuel.

And Dauid and all Israel went to Ierusalem whych is Jebus: for there dwelt the Jebusites the inhabitants of the lande. And the inhabitants of Jebus sayde to Dauid/thou comest not here. Neuerthelater Dauid wanne the castell of Sion/whych is called the cytye of Dauid. Then sayde Dauid: whosoever smyte the Jebusites fyrt/shalbe the pyncepsall captayne & a lozde. And Joab the sonne of Zarithah went fyrt bp/and was therfore the chefe captayne. And because Dauid dwelt in the castell/therfore it was called the cytye of Dauid. And he built the cytye on every syde euen from Milorounde aboute. But Joab repared the rest of the citie. And Dauid prospered and waxed great/and the Lozde of Hostes was with hym.

These are the pyncepsall men of powre & claue to Dauid in hys kyngdome with all Israel/to make hym kyng vpon Israel accordyng to the woorde of the Lozde. And the Lorde gaue a great victorie.

¶ Reg. xxiij. c.

And the thre of the xxx. chese went to a rocke to David at the caue Dolum. And the Hoste of the Philistines had pitched in the valey of Rappaim. And David was in an holme. And there was a garison of the Philistines at Bethleh that same tyme. And David longed & sayde: Wh that one wolde geue me of the water of the well of Bethlehem that is in the gate / for to drynke. And the thre byake thozow the Host of the Philistines and drw of the water of the well of Bethlehem & was in the gate / and toke it & brought it to David. Neuerthelesse David wolde not drynke of it / but offered it to the Lorde / and sayde: God forbyd it me / that I shulde do this thyng / for I shulde drynke & bloude of these men that haue put their lyues in Jeopardye (for wth the Jeopardye of their lyues they brought it) and therfore he wolde not drynke it. Chys dyd the thre myghtyest.

¶ And Abisai the brother of Joab was capytayne of the thre / and he lyfte by hys speere agaynst. iij. hundred and slue them / and had a name amonge the thre. And he was moche more nobler then any of the thre / and was their capytayne. But was not lyke to any of the thre in actes.

Banaiab the sonne of Jehoiada the sonne of a stronge man that had done great deades & was of Cabzeel: he slue two stronge Lyons of Moab / & went downe and slue a Lyon in a pyt in tyme of snowe. And he slue an Egyptian which was a man of a lize / euen lyue cubytes longe / and in his hand had a speare & lyke a weeters beame. And the other went to him with a mallet and plucked the speare out of the Egyptians hande / & slue hym with hys speare. Soche thynges dyd Banaiab the sonne of Jehoiada / and had a name wth the thre myghtyest / and was the gloriousest of thynges: but attayned not vnto the thre. And David made hym of his secret counsell.

And these were the best men of warre of the Hoste: Abisai the brother of Joab and Elhanan the sonne of Dodo out of Bethleheem. And of the Gadites there separated the seluy bnto David whyle he kept an holde in the wilderness / mē of myghte & men apte for warre and coude handle wynde and speare / whose faces were lyke the faces of Lyons / and they were thereto as swifte as the Roos of the mountaynes: Ezer the syte / Odbiah the seconde / Eliab the thirde / Mahmarnah the fourth the Teremah the fyfte / Ethel the syte / Eliel the seuenthe / seuenthe / Johanan the eight / Elisabad the x. Jeremiah the tenth / and Macabbanah the xi. These were of the sonnes of Gad / and were capytaynes ouer the men of warre / the small ouer an hundred / and the greates ouer a thousande. These are they that went ouer Jordan in the fyfte monethe / when he had fylled ouer all hys bancke. And they put to flight the of the baileye bothe of the East syde and also the weste.

¶ And there came of the chyldren of Benjamin and Juda to the holde of David. And David went out to them & answered and sayde to the: If ye be come peesablye vnto me / to helpe me / myne hert shalbe to geather wth you. But if ye come to begyle me and to be myne aduersarye / seynge ther is no wyckednes in myne handes / the God of oure fathers loke theron and reuke it. And the spyrte came vnto Amasai a capytayne ouer xxx. and he sayde: Thyne are we David / & on thy syde thou sonne of Isai: peace be with the / & peace be with thine helpers / for thy God helpeth the. Then David receaued them & made the herdes of copanyes of the men of warre.

¶ And there felde of Manasse to David whyle he went wth the Philistines agaynst Saul to battell / but holpe them not. For the Lordes of the Philistines toke counsell and sent him awaye sayng: he will fall to his master Saul to the Jeopardye of oure herdes. And as he went to Ziklag there fell to him of Manasse: Eonah Jozabad / Jediel / Michael / of Jozabad / Elihu and Jathai / herdes of the thousand of Manasse. And they holpe David agaynst those rours. For they were all myghtie men and Capytaynes in warre. And there came one or other to David daye by daye to helpe him: vntill it was a great Hoste / lyke the Hoste of God.

And this is the numbre of the herdes prepared to battell / that came to David to Hebron / to turne the kyngdom of Saul to him / accordyng to the mouthe of the Lorde.

The chyldren of Juda that bare wynde & speare were fyve thousande and eyght hundred trymmet to warre. Of the chyldren of Simeon / men of might to warre / seue thousande and one hundred. And of the chyldre of Leui were foure thousand and fyve hundred. And Jehoiada was the chiefe of the of Aaron and wth him thre thousande and seuen hundred. And Zadock a possig mā of great power had his fathers householde wth Capytaynes xiiij. And of the chyldre of Benjamin & byethzen of Saul / were thre thousande. And a great parte of the dyd yet folowe the house of Saul.

And of the chyldren of Ephraim / were. xx. thousand and eight hundred / men of myghte and named men in the householde of their fathers. And of the halfe trybe of Manasse. xviij. thousande which were appoynted by name to go to make David kyng. And of the chyldren of Issacar which were men that had vnderstandyng in the ryght tyme to knowe what Israel ought to do: the herdes of them were two hundred / and all their byethzen at their myll. And of Zabulon that went out wth the Hoste and proceeded in the araye to battell wth all maner of wepons of warre / fyfye thousande that kepte in order wth one accord. And of Nephthali a thousande Capytaynes / and wth them wth wynde & speare. xxxviij. thousande. And of Dan prepared to battell / were. xviij. thousande and. vi. hundred. And of Aser that went out to the Hoste to make battell / fourtie thousand. And of the other trybe Jordan / of the Rubenites / Gad / Gites & of the halfe trybe of Manasse in all maner of instrumentes of warre an hundred and thentie thousand.

All these beynge men of warre able to orde the araye / came to Hebron to pure herte / to make David kyng vpon all Israel. And therto all the rest of Israel was of one accord to make David kyng. And there they were wth David thre dayes eatyng & drynkynge: for their byethzen prepared for them. More ouer they were nye to the / as Issacar / Zabulon and Nephthali brought bydde on Asse / Camels / mules & oxen / & meate: flour / figges / realynge / wyne / oyle / oxen / & shepe abondantly. For there was mythe in Israel.

¶ The xiiij. Chapter.

¶ And David counceiled wth the Capytaynes of thousand & hundredes / and wth all the Lordes / and sayde vnto all the congregacion of Israel: If it seme you good and also to be of the Lorde our God: Let vs take & sende vnto the remnant of oure byethzen thozow out all the lā of Israel / & to the prelates and Leuites wth the / in their cyties and suburbs / & geather them to geather to vs. And lett vs bynge agayne the Arche of the Lorde to vs: for we regarded it not in the dayes of Saul. And all the congregacion was content so to do / for the thyng semed good in the eyes of all the people.

And David geathered all Israel to geather fro Sibon in Egypt vnto Hemath / to byng the Arche of the Lorde fro Karaiath Jarim. And David wēt by & all Israel to Baalab / and so to Karaiath Jarim & is in Juda / to fet thence the Arche of the God and Lorde & syteth on the Cherubes. Where his name is called on. And they caried the Arche of God in a newe carie out of the house of Aminadab. And Oza & his brother draue the carie. And David & all all Israel played before God with all their myght/with synnginge/harpes/plalteries/tymbzelles and trompettes. And when they came on þe thyrtyng flowre of Chidon/Dauid put forth his hande to holde the arche/for þe open stombled. And the Lorde was wroth wth Dauid and smote him/because he put his hande to the Arche. And there he dyed before God. And Dauid was displeased/because þe Lorde had rent a rent in Dauid/and called the sayde place Perez Dauid unto this daye. And Dauid was so afrayed of God that daye/that he sayde/how shall I byngge the Arche of God whome to me. And so Dauid brought not the Arche home to him to þe cytie of Dauid. But turned it in to the house of Obed Edom a Gethite. And the Arche of God was with Obed Edom in his house/thre monethes. And the Lorde blessed the house of Obed Edom & all that he had.

Chyram sendeth wode & wyche men to Dauid. Dauid begeth chyliden after he had taken hym wyche he hath. & victories of the Philistines.

The xxiij. Chapter.

After that Chyram kynge of Tyre sent messengers to Dauid and tymbzellers of Cedar trees with masons & carpenters/to buylde hym an house. Wherby Dauid perceaued that the Lorde had prepared him to be kynge bpō Israel/in þe his kyngdom was lyste bp on hye/because of hys people Israel. And Dauid toke yet more wyche at Jerusalem & begat mo sonne & daughters. And these are the names of his chyliden which he had born at Jerusalem: Samuella/Sobab/Bathan/& Salomon/Jebhar/Elisua & Eliphalet/Moga/Dehpeg & Japhiah. Elisama/Ballada and Eliphelet.

And whē it was knowne among the Philistines that Dauid was anoynted kynge bpō all Israel/all the Philistines went bp to seke Dauid. And Dauid hearde of it & went oute agaynst the. And the Philistines came and prauised in the balege of Raphaim. And Dauid asked God saying: Shall I go agaynst the Philistines & wylt thou deliuer them into myne handes? And the Lorde sayde to hym: go/for I wyl deliuer the into thynne hande. And when they were come as ferre as Baal Pharazin/Dauid bett them there. And Dauid sayde: God hath deuoyded myne enemyes with myne hande as a mā wolde deuoyde water. And therfore they called the name of the sayde place Baal Pharazin. And they sette their Gods there/which Dauid hadde to be burnt with fyre.

And the Philistines came agayne & ranne abroade in the balege. Then Dauid asked God: And God sayde to him: go not after the/ but turne awaye fro them/ & come bpō the stronght fro the peere trees. And when thou hearest a sounde go in þe toppes of the peere trees/then go out to battell: for God wyl go out before the to smyte the hoste of the Philistines. And Dauid dyd as God commaunded him. And they smote the hoste of the Philistines all the waye fro Gabaon to Gazer. And the fame of Dauid went out into all landes/and the Lorde made all nacjons feare hym.

The Leuites byng agayne the Arche of the conuauance of the Lorde. Dauid daunsyng before it is despyed of his wyche Michail/ the daughter of Saul.

The xli. Chapter.

And Dauid made him houses in þe cytie of Dauid/ & prepared a place for the Arche of God/ & pitched for it a tent. And then Dauid sayd/ þe Arche of God ought not to be caried but of the Leuites. For the hath the Lorde chosen to beare the Arche of the Lorde and to minystr to him for euer. And therfore Dauid gathered all Israel to Jerusalem/ to fetch the Arche of the Lorde into þe place which he had ordeyned for it. And Dauid brought to gather þe chyliden of Aaron & the Leuites. Of þe sonnes of Cahath: Miziel & chefe/and of his brythzen an hundred and xx. And of the chyliden of Merari: Alalah the chefe/and of his brythzen. ii. hundred and xx. And of the sonnes of Gerson Joel the chefe/and of his brythzen an hundred and thirtie. And of the chyliden of Elizaphan Semeriah the chefe and of hys brythzen two hundred. And of the sonnes of Hebzon Eliel the chefe/and of his brythzen. lxxx. And of the sonnes of Ozziel Aminadab the chefe/ & of his brythzen an hundred and xij.

And Dauid called to Zadock and Abiathar the prelates/ & to the Leuites. Miziel/Alalah Joel/Semeriah/Eliel & Aminadab: & sayde vnto the: ye are the princypall heedes of the Leuites/ sanctefye therfore your selues & your brythzen/and byngge the Arche of the Lorde God of Israel vnto þe place þe I haue prepared for it. For because ye were not there at the fyrst tyme/ the Lorde oure God made a rent amonge vs/ for þe we sought hym not as the lastyon ought to be. And the prelates and the Leuites sanctefied the selues/ to sett the Arche of the Lorde God of Israel. And þe chyliden of the Leuites bare þe Arche of God bpō their shoulters wth stauces theron as Moyses commaunded accordyng to the worde of the Lorde.

And Dauid spake to the chefe heedes of the Leuites/ & they shulde appoynte of their brythzen to synge wth instrumetes of musyke plalteries/harpes & symbales that sounded/ and to synge on hye with Joyfulnesse. And þe Leuites appoynted Hemai the sonne of Joel: and of his brythzen/Asaph the sonne of Barachiah.

Barachiah. And of þe sonne of Merari their brythzen: Ethan & sonne of Cusaiah. And wth the their brythzen of þe seconde degree: Zachariah/Ben/Jaaziel/Semiramoth/Jahiel/Gun/Eliab/Banaiab/Maasiah/Mathathiah/Eliphelehu/Makaniah/Obed Edom and Jaiel/porters. Heman/Asah and Ethan sange wth symbales of byasse to make a sound. And Zachariah/Oziel/Semiramoth/Teziel/Ani/Eliab/Maasiah & Banaiab sang with plalteries on an Almuth. And Mathathiah/Eliphelehu/Makaniah/Obed Edom/Jaiel/and Ozaziah sange wth harp an eyght aboue to courage with all. And Conanias the chefe of the Leuites was master of þe songe and taught to synge/for he was a mā of vnderstandyng.

And Barachiah and Elcanah kepte þe doze of þe Arche. And Sacanias/Jehosaphat/Mathanael/Amasai/Zachariah/Banaiab and Eliezer prelates were blowers wth trompettes before the Arche of God. And Obed Edom and Jahiah were keepers of the doze of the Arche.

And Dauid and the elders of Israel & the Capitaynes ouer thousandes went to set the Arche of the appoyntement of the Lorde out of the house of Obed Edom wth gladnesse. And when God had holpe the Leuites that bare the Arche of the appoyntement of the Lorde/they offered. bii. oxen and bii. rāmes. And Dauid had on him an aube of bylle/ & so had the Leuites that bare the Arche/ and so had the syngers/and Conanias the ruler of þe songe & of the syngers. And Dauid had moreouer bpō him an Ephod of synen. And all Israel brought the Arche of the Lordes couenauent wth shawtyng & blowyng of hornes/ & wth trompettes and symbales that sounded/and wth plalteries and harpes.

And as the Arche of the appoyntement of þe Lorde came into the cytie of Dauid/Michol the daughter of Saul loked oute at a wyndowe: & whē she saw kynge Dauid daunsyng & playyng/ she despyed him in her herte.

After the Arche was brought with great solempnyte and melodye/Dauid ordeyned mynstres/ that wth wyche/Asaph and his brythzen to mynister before the Lorde. He hym selfe laued and prayeth the Lorde God of Israel.

The xli. Chapter.

When they had brought in þe Arche of God they set it in the tente that Dauid had pitched for it. And they brought burnt sacrifice & peaceofferynges before God. And whē Dauid had made an ende of offeryng of burnt offeryngs and of peaceofferynges/ he blessed the people wth the name of the Lorde. And he dealt all Israel bothe man and woman a cracknell of byedde/a pece of shee and a mede of coppers. And he appoynted certen of the Leuites to mynister before the Lorde/and to repete/ and to thanke and prayse the Lorde God of Israel: ene Asaph the chefe/and next to him Zachariah then Teiel/Semiramoth/Teziel/Mathathiah/Eliab/Banaiab/Obed Edom/and Teiel wth plalteries & harpes. But Asaph wth soundyng symbales and Banaiab and Jahaziel prelates wth trompettes continuallye before the Arche of the couenauent of God.

And that same tyme Dauid dyd appoynte cheslye to thanke the Lorde by Asaph & his brythzen. * Chāke þe Lorde/ calle on his name/ make hys Actes knowne amonge þe people. Synge vnto him and playe vnto him: and recorde all his wonderfull dedes. Prayse his holy name/and let the hertes of the that seke the Lorde reioyse. Seke the Lorde and hys strenghte: Seke his presence all waye.

Remembze hys maruelles which he dyd/ and his wonders/and the iudgements of his mouth: The seed of Israel are his seruantes: the chyliden of Jacob are his chosen. He is þe Lorde oure God: & in all landes are hys iudgements. Chynke on his appoyntment euer/ & on the worde he commaunded to a thousand generations. Of his couenauent to Abraham/ & of his othe to Isaac/ which he set before Jacob for a decrete/and to Israel for an euerlastyng couenauent/ saying: to the I wyl gyue the land of Canaan/ to be þe porcion of youre inheritaunce. whē you were a smalle companye in numbze/ euen but a few/ and therto straungers therin. And they went fro people to people/ & from one kyngdome to another nacion. He suffered no mā to do the wronge: But rebuked hysngs for ther sakes. Touch not myne anoynted/ nor do my prophetes any harme. * Synge vnto the Lorde all the erthe: & shew fro daye to daye hys victories.

Tell amonge the hethen of his glorie: and amonge all nacjons of his wonderfull deade. For grete is the Lorde and to be praised exceedingly: & terrible is he aboue all Gods. For all the Gods of the hethen are Idoles: But the Lorde made heauen.

Prayse and honoure are in hys presence: strenght and gladnes are in hys place. Ascribeto þe Lorde þe kyndes of people/ Ascribeto the Lorde glorie and strenght. Geue honoure vnto the Lordes name: byngge presentes and come before hym/ and bowe to the Lorde in holy apparell.

* All the erthe feare hym/ he stablyshed the erthe that it cannot moue. The heauen is for all the dwellers/ and the erthe he glade/ and lett men less in the earth. tell amonge the nacjons that the Lorde is a kyng.

Let the see thunder and his fulme/ & let the feldes reioyce and all that is therein.

Moreouer let the trees of the wood ringe at the ptesence of the Lorde: for he cometh to iudge the erthe.

D Thanke the Lorde for he is good/ and his mercede lasteth euer: and saye: saue vs o God oure sauoure & geather vs to geather & deliuer vs from among the hethen / to thanke thy holy name / & to prayse the with & prayse that becometh the Blessed be the Lorde God of Israel for euer and euer / and all nacjons saye Amen / so prayse the Lorde.

Of Amen / ye haue. Quere. 9.

And he sette there before the arcke of the Lordes couenaunt / Baph and his brethren / to minstre before the Arcke euermore daye by daye. And Obed Edom with his brethren thre thore & eight / and Obed Edom & sonne of Jothun & Ozah to be porters. And Zadock the preste with his brethren & prelates sette before the tabernacle of the Lorde at the hyllauker of Gabaon / to offer burntofferynges vnto the Lorde vpon the burntofferynge aultar perpetuallye at moynynge & euenynge / accordynge to all that is witten in the lawe of the Lorde which he commaunded Israel. And with the Heman and Jothun / & other that were chosen & named by name / to thanke the Lorde & his mercede lasteth euer. And in the sayde Heman and Jothun were trouppettes & soundynge tymbales / & instrumentes of the melodye of God. And the sonnes of Jothun were porters. And then all the people departed / euerie man to his house: and Dauid returned to salute his household.

Dauid is sayd to haue an house vnto the Lorde because of the bloudshedynge that he had shed. Christ is promised vnder the figure of Salomon.

The. xlii. Chapter.

1. Reg. 29. a.

As Dauid dwelt in his house he sayde to Nathan the prophete: loo / I dwell in an house of Cedar tree: and the Arcke of the Lordes couenaunt dwellyth vnder curtaynes. And Nathan sayde to Dauid: do all that is in thyne herte / for God is with the.

But the same nyght the worde of God came to Nathan saying: go and tell Dauid my seruante / thus sayth the Lorde / thou shalt not buyde me an house to dwell in. For I haue dwelt in no house sence I brought out the chyldren of Israel vnto this daye: But haue gone from tent to tent & from one tabernacle to another. Neither in anye place wherfoer I haue walked thowout all Israel / spake I euer one worde to anye of the iudges of Israel which I commaunded to fede my people / saying: why buyde ye me not an house of Cedar tree? Now therfore thus saye vnto my seruante Dauid: thus sayth the Lorde of Hostes

I toke the out of the pasture fro after shepe / & thou shuldest be capitayne ouer my people Israel. And I haue bene with the in all thou tokest in hand / and haue waded out all thyne enemyes out of thy syght / and haue made a name lyke the name of the greatest men of the erthe. And I will ordayne a place for my people Israel and will make it fast / & they shall dwell vnder it & shall moue no more. Neither shall the chyldre of wickednesse bere them any more as at the begynnyng / and sence the tyme I commaunded iudges to be ouer my people Israel / & I will byynge vnder all thyne enemyes / for I tolde the that the Lorde wold buyde the an house.)

But when thy dayes be expired / & thou must go after thy fathers / I will sett by thy seed after the / which shall be of thy sonnes & will sette his kyngdome. He shall buyde me an house / and I will stablyshe his seate for euer. I will be his father and he shall be my sonne / and I will not put my mercede awaye from him as I dyd from him that was before the. But I will sett him in myne house and in my kyngdom for euer / and his seate shall be sure for euer.

When Nathan had tolde Dauid accordyng to all these wordes / & to all this vision / kyng Dauid wote & sate him before the Lorde & sayd: what am I O Lorde God & what is myne household / that thou hast promoted me thus sette. And yet this seemed lyttel in thyne eyes O God. But that thou shuldest speake of thy seruantes house for a great whyle to come: & shalt loke vpon me as vpon a ma of hye degree O Lorde God. What can Dauid desyre more of the / wherin thou shuldest make thy seruant more gloriouse? Thou knowest thy seruant: And Lorde for thy seruantes sake / euē accordyng to thyne awne hert thou hast done all this magnificence / to shew all bounteousnesse Lorde / there is none lyke the / nor anye God saue thou / accordyng to all that we haue hearde in oure eares. Moreouer what nacjon on the erth is lyke thy people Israel / which God wote and redeemed to be his awne people / and to make the a name of excellencie and terriblenesse / with carrynge out nacjons from before thy people / for euer / and thou Lorde art become their God.

And now Lorde the thyng thou hast spokē concernyng thy seruante & his house be true for euer / and do as thou hast sayde. And thy name continue & waxe great for euer / that it be sayde: the Lorde of Hostes / & God of Israel is God in Israel / and the house of Dauid thy seruante be stable before the. For thou Lorde hast tolde thy seruante / & thou wilt buyde him an house. And therfore thy seruant hath founde in his herte to praye before the. And now now Lorde thou arte the very God / and hast promysed this goodnesse vnto thy seruante. Now therfore go to and blese the house of thy seruante / that it maye continue before the for euer. For what thou blestest O Lorde is blessed for euer.

The Battelles of Dauid agaynst the Philistines.

The. xliii. Chapter.

After that Dauid beat the Philistines and subdued them / and toke Geth & the townes that longed therto / out of the handes of the Philistines. And he beat the Moabites / and the Moabites became Dauids seruantes and payde hym tribute. And Dauid beat Hadadezer kyng of Zobah vnto Hemath / as he wote to bynne his domynion vnto the ryuer Euphrates. And Dauid toke fro him a thousand charettes and seuen thousande horsemen & twentie thousande fotemen / and brake all the charettes / saue that he reserued of them an hundred. Then came the Syrians of Damascus to helpe Hadadezer kyng of Zobah. And Dauid slue of the Syrians. xxiij. thousande / and put garisons in Siria Damascus: And the Syrians became Dauids seruantes & brought hym tribute. For the Lorde holpe Dauid in all that he went to.

And Dauid toke the chyldes of goulde that were on the seruantes of Hadadezer and brought them to Jerusalem. And fro Chebath & Chun / cyties of Hadadezer / brought Dauid exceedinge moche brasse. Wherewith Salomon made the brasen see and the pylers and the vessels of brasse.

And when the kyng of Hemath heard howe Dauid had beaten all the hoste of Hadadezer kyng of Zobah / he sent Haduram his sonne to kyng Dauid / to salute him and to blese him / because he had fought with Hadadezer & beaten hym / for thou had wastre the Hadadezer / and sent all maner of Jewelles of goulde / syluer & brasse to him. And kyng Dauid dedycated the also vnto the Lorde in the syluer & goulde that he brought fro all nacjons / fro the Edomites / fro the Moabites / fro the chyldre of Ammon / from the Philistines / & from the Amalechites. And Abisai the sonne of Zairiah slue of the Edomites in the salte valeye. xliij. thousande / and put Soullars in Edom / & all Edom became Dauids seruantes: for the Lorde kepte Dauid in all that he toke in hand. And Dauid raygned ouer all Israel and dyd right and equitye vnto all his people. And Joab the sonne of Zairiah was ouer the hoste / and Zolaphat the sonne of Abihud recorder / and Zadock the sonne of Abihud & Abimelech the sonne of Abiathar were the prelates / and Sula was scrbye / & Banaiab the sonne of Jehoiada was ouer the Cerethites and the Phelethites / and the eldest sonnes of Dauid waited at the kyngs hand.

Hanan kyng of the sonnes of Ammon both greates murye to the seruantes of Dauid.

The. xliii. Chapter.

After this it chaunced that Hanan had kyng of the chyldre of Ammon dyed / & his sonne made kyng in his steade. Then sayde Dauid / I will shew kynnesse vnto Hanan & sonne of Hanan / because his father dealt kynlye with me: And therupon Dauid sent messengers to comforte him ouer the deeth of his father. And when the seruantes of Dauid were come into the land of the chyldre of Ammon to Hanan to comforte him / the Lordes of the chyldre of Ammon sayde to Hanan: thyne self thou that Dauid dothe honoure thy father in thy syght / & he hath sent comforters vnto the / but it is to seache & ouerthrowe us to sye out the land / & his seruantes be come vnto the.

Wherupon Hanan toke Dauid seruantes & shaued them / and cut of their cootes harde by their bottocks & sent them awaye. And there went to tolde Dauid how the men were scured. And the kyng sent to meete them (for the men were exceedinglye a shamed) and sayde: tarpe at Jericho vntill youre becces be growen / and then retorne.

And when the chyldren of Ammon saw that they stanke in the nose of Dauid / Hanan / & the chyldren of Ammon sent a thousand talents of syluer to byre them charettes and horsemen out of Mesopotamia & out of Siria Paacah & out of Zobah. And they byred xxiiij. thousande charettes / & a kyng of Paacah & his people / which came & pyched before the citye. And the chyldre of Ammon gathered the serues to geather fro their cyties & went out to battel. And as sone as Dauid hearde of it / he sent Joab with all the hoste of stronge men. And the chyldre of Ammon came out and put them in aray to battell before the gate of the cytye. And the kynges that were come kepte the by them selues in the felde.

When Joab saw that the fronte of the battell was before him and after / he chose out of all the pouthe of Israel and put the in aray agaynst the Syrians. And the rest of the people he deliuered vnto Abisai his brother / & they shulde put them selues in aray agaynst the chyldre of Ammon / & sayde: If the Syrians be to stronge for me / succoure me / and if the chyldren of Ammon be to good for the / I will helpe the. Phicke by thyne herte and lette vs playe the men for oure peoples sake and for the cyties of oure God / & the Lorde do what semeth him beste. And Joab and the people that were with him dyue nye to the Syrians to syght / to fight/and they fled before him. And when the chyldre of Ammon sawe that the Syrians were fled/they ranne awaye lyke wynde from Abisai his brother and gat them into the cite. And Joab came to Jerusalem.

And when the Syrians sawe that they were put to the worse of Israel/they sent messengers & sett out the Syrians that are beyonde the ryuer with Sophach the Capitayne of the Hoste of Hadadezer before the. which when it was tolde David/ he gathered all Israel. and went ouer Jordan/ & went & set by the. And David put him selfe in aray agaynst the Syrians/ and they fought with him. But the Syrians fled before Israel/ and David destroyed of the Syrians. vii. thousande charrettes/ and slue. xl. thousande fote men/ and killed Sophach the Capitayne of the hoste. And when the seruantes of Hadadezer sawe that they were put to the worse of Israel/they made peace with David and serued him. Neither wolde the Syrians helpe the chyldre of Ammon anye moare.

The the most victorious battelles of David.

The. xxi. Chapter.

2. Reg. xi. a.

And the yere folowynge aboute the tyme that kynge go out a warre fare/ Joab carryed out the armye of the hoste and destroyed the cite of the chyldren of Ammon/ and went and beleged Rabah and destroyed it: But David boode at Jerusalem whyle Joab smote Rabah and destroyed it: And David toke the crowne of their kynge of his heed/ and founde therein the waight of a talēt of goulde/ & there were p̄ciouse stones in it/ and it was set on Davids heed. And he brought out also the spoile of the cite which was exceeding moche. And he brought out the people that were in it and fained them with sawes & harowes of yron & with bakes/ and so dealt David with all the cyties of the chyldre of Ammon. And then David & all the people came agayne to Jerusalem. After that there arose warre at Gazer with the Philistines. At which tyme Sobacai the Gushathite slue Saphai that was of the chyldre of Bapham/ & they were subdued. And there was battell agayne with the Philistines/ & Elhanan the sonne of Jathiel slue Lahmi the brother of Goliath the Gethite/ whose speare was lyke the beame of a wever. And there chaunced yet agayne warre at Geth/ where was a man of a fyze. xlii. fingers & toes. bi. on every hande/ and. bi. on every fote/ & was the sonne of Haraphah & defied Israel. And Jehonathan the sonne of Samas Davids brother slue hym. & these were borne of Haraphah at Geth and were overthowen by the hande of David and of his seruantes.

2. Reg. xxi. b.

The people are punnyshed wth pestilence/ because David caused them to be nombred: so that there dyed lxx. thousand men.

The. xxi. Chapter.

And Satan stode by agaynst Israel/ & persuaded David to numbre Israel. And David sayde to Joab & the rulers of the people/ go ye and numbre Israel fro Bersabe to Dan/ and bynge it to me that I maye knowe the numbre of the. And Joab answered the Lord make the people an hundred times so manye mo as they be. But my Lord sayng/ are they not all my Lords seruantes? why then both my Lord requyre this thyng? why shoulde my Lord be a cause of trespass to Israel?

Nevertheless the kynge woold p̄cuse agaynst Joab. And Joab toke his waye and went thowout all Israel/ and came to Jerusalem and gaue the numbre of the counte of the people vnto David. And all Israel were in numbre a thousand thousande & an hundred thousande men & byue swerde: and Judas was. cccc. lxx. thousande mē & byue swerde. But the Levites and Benjamin he counted not among the. For the kynge deade seemed abomynable to Joab. And the Lord was displeased with this thyng/ and smote Israel. Then sayde David to God: I haue sinned exceedingly in deynge this thyng. Nevertheless yet do a waye the wickednesse of thy seruante/ for I haue done aboute measure folowynge.

And the Lord spake vnto Gad Davids fear of byssons sayng: goo and tell David sayng. Thus sayth the Lord: I geue the choice of thye thynges: chose the one of them/ that I maye do vnto the. And Gad came to David & sayd vnto him: Thus sayth the Lord. Chose the eithr thye peres sampliment/ or thye monethes to be consumed of thine aduersaries/ the swerde of thine enemies ouertakynge the: or else the swerde of the Lord thye dayes and pestilence in the lade/ the Angell of the Lord destroyinge thowout all the colles of Israel. And now aduise thy selfe what worde I shall bynge agayne to hym that sent me. And David sayde to Gad/ I am in an exceeding strait. But let me fall in to the hande of the Lord/ for passynge great is his mercye/ and lett me not falle into the handes of men.

And the Lord sent pestilence vpon all Israel/ so that there were overthowen of Israel lxx. thousande men. And God sent the Angell to Jerusalem to destroye it. And as he was about to destroye/ the Lord behelde and had compassion on the wretchednesse/ and sayde to the Angell that destroyed/ it is p̄noughe/ now cease thine hand. And the Angell of the Lord Lozde stode by the thershyng floure of Oman & Jebusite. And David lyfte up his eyes & saw the Angell of the Lord stode betwene the erthe and heauen in a byawen swerde in his hande stretched out towarde Jerusalem. Then fell David & the elders of Israel clothed in sacke vpon their faces. And David sayde vnto God: Is it not I that commaunded to numbre the people? And I am he that haue sinned & done euell in bede. But what haue these theye done/ lett thine hande therfore O Lord God/ be on me & on my fathers house/ and not on the people to destroye them.

And the Angell commaunded Gad to saye to David/ that David shoulde go & retyre by an aulter vnto the Lord/ in the thershyng floure of Oman the Jebusite. And David went at the sayng of Gad which spake in the name of the Lord. And Oman turned aboute and saw the Angell/ & his sourse cometh with him/ & byd the selues/ for Oman was thershyng whete. And David came to Oman. And when Oman looked and saw David/ he wēt out of the thershyng floure & bowed hym selfe to David with his face to the grounde.

And David sayde to Oman: geue me the place of the thershyng floure/ that I maye buyde an aulter therin vnto the Lord. Let me haue it for as moche money as it is worthe/ that the plage maye cease fro the people. And Oman sayde to David: take it to the/ and let my Lord sayng do that semethe good in his eyes. So I geue the open for a burnt sacrifice/ & the thershyng floures for wodde/ & whete for meate offering: I geue it all. But sayng David sayde to Oman: not so/ but I wyll bye it for as moche money as it is worthe. I will not take that which is thine/ for the Lord/ & offer burnt offerings without colte.

And so David gaue to Oman for the place cycles of goulde. bi. hundred by waight. And David buyt there an aulter vnto the Lord & offered burnt offerings & peace offerings/ & called vnto the Lord & he hearde hym fro heauē in fyze vpon the aulter of burnt offerings. And the Lord commaunded the Angell to put by his swerde agayne into the sheathe of it. At that tyme when David sawe the Lord had hearde him in the thershyng floure of Oman & Jebusite/ he bled to offer there/ for the tabernacle of the Lord which Moyses made in the wyldernesse/ & the aulter of burnt offerings were at that reason in the hyll at Gabaon. And David coulde not go before it to seke God/ because he was aferde of the swerde of the Angell of the Lord. And David sayde: this is the house of the Lord God/ and this is the burnt offering aulter for Israel.

David willet his sonne Salomon to byde the temple of the Lord/ which thyng he him selfe was forbydden to do.

The. xxi. Chapter.

And David commaunded to gather the straungers that were in the land of Israel/ and sett hewers to hew stone/ to buyde the house of God. And David prepared p̄ctie of yron for nayles to the doores of the gates & to ioyne id all/ & abundance of brasse without waight/ & of Cedar trees without numbre. For the Sidons and they of Tyre brought moche Cedar wood to David. For David thus thought/ Salomon my sonne is younge & tender/ and the house that is to be buyt for the Lord/ must excede in greatnesse/ that it maye be spoken of and prayed in all landes. I wyll therfore make ordinaunce for it. And so David prepared abundance before his deethe.

And he called Salomons sonne & charged him to buyde an house for the Lord God of Israel: And David sayd to Salomon: my sonne/ I had in myne hert to buyde an house vnto the name of the Lord my God. But the worde of the Lord came to me sayng: thou hast shed moche bloude/ and hast made many battelles/ thou shalt not buyde an house for my name/ for thou hast shed moche bloude to the erthe in my sight. Beholde a sonne shalbe borne to which shalbe a mā of reſte/ for I will geue him rest from all his enemies rounde about. And his name shalbe Salomons: for I will sende rest & peace vnto Israel in his dayes. We shall buyde an house for my name/ & he shalbe my sonne/ & I wilbe his father/ & I will stablish the seate of his kyngdom vnto Israel for euer. Now my sonne/ the Lord be with the/ & thou mayest prosper & buyde the house of the Lord thy God/ as he hath sayde of the. And the Lord geue the wisdom & understanding/ & make the gouernour of Israel/ and to kepe the lawe of the Lord thy God. For then thou shalt prosper: If thou shalt be diligent to do the ordinaunces & lawes which the Lord charged Moyses to deliuer to Israel. Whiche by thyne hert & be strōge/ & read not no be discouraged. Beholde in myne aduersite I haue prepared for the house of the Lord an hundred thousand talents of goulde & a thousand thousand talēt of syluer/ & as for brasse & yron it canot be numbred/ it is so moche. And I haue prepared timbre & stone/ & thou shalt prouyde moare thereto. Moreover thou shalt workmen knowe & masons & carpenters to worke in stone & timbre/ & all maner of wise mē for whatsoeuer worke it be. And of gould syluer/ brasse & yron there is no numbre. wyll therfore & set by it/ & the Lord shalbe with the.

And David commaunded all the Lordes of Israel/ to helpe Salomons sonne sayng/ Is not the Lord your God in you? & hath he not geue you rest on every syde? for he hath geue the inhabitaunces of the land into myne hand. and Salomon is/ as moche to saye by inter- p̄tacyon as p̄calable.

and þ lande is subdued before the Lord & before his people. Now therefore set your heart & your soules, to seke the Lord your God.
And by a buylde ye the temple of the Lord God, to bynge þ Arke of the couenaunt of the Lord, & the holy vesselles of God into þ house so buylt for the name of the Lord.

¶ David being olde/ ordeyneth Salomon kynge. He causeth the Levites to be nombred/ and assigneth them to their offices.

● The First Chapter

The deuytyon of 8 sonnes of Aarō: Nabab/Abihu, Eleazar and Jthamar.* But Nabab and Abihu dyed Leuiti. xxi.
before their father and had no chyldren. And Eleazar and Jthamar were the preattes. And Dauid ordered them on thys maner: Zadock of the sonnes of Eleazar and Abimelek of the sonnes of Jthamar to be in offyce by course. And there were mo mightie heedes sounde of the sonnes of Eleazar then of the sonnes of Jthamar. And they deuyded them into .xvi. heedes of aunciet householdes of the sonnes of Eleazar/ & eight of 8 sonnes of Jthamar. And they put them in order by lott/ one with another that there shulde be rulers in the sanctuarie and Lordes before God as well of the sonnes of Jthamar as of the sonnes of Eleazar. And Semeiash the sonne of Nathaneel the Scribe of the Leui-tes wrote them before the kyng & 8 Lordes/& before Zadock the preatte and Abimelek the sonne of Abiathar/ & before the auncient heeds of 8 preatt/ & of 8 Leuites: one pryncy-

The 17th Chapter

The deuyſyon of the porters amonge þe Cozebites: Meſelemaſ þe ſonne of Kozeb of the chyldren of Iſaſaph.
And the ſonnes of Meſelemaſ were

were these: Zachariah the eldest / Gadiel the seconde / Sabadiah the thirde / Zathaniel the fourth / Elam the fyfte / Jehohanan the syxte / Eloenai the seuenth. And Obed Edom had sonnes: Semeiah the eldest / Jehosabab the secnde / Joab the thirde / Sacar the fourth / Nathanael the fyfte / Amiel the syxte / Tisacar the seuenth and Polathar the viij. for God had blessed him.

And vnto Semeiah his sonne were sonnes borne that ruled in the house of their father / for they were men of myght. The sonnes of Semeiah: Othni / Raphael / Obed and Elzabab & hys brethren men of actyute / Elihu & Samachiah. All these were of the chyldre of Obed Edom / which with their brethren and their chyldren / actiue men & of strength to do seruice / were. xiiij. of Obed Edom. And Meseleniah had sonnes & brethren / actiue men / xviij. And Josah of the chyldren of Merari / had sonnes: Semri the chiefe / yet he was not the eldest / but hys father made him the chiefe. Helkiah the secnde / Eabeliah the thirde and Zacariah the fourth: so that all the sonnes & brethren of Josah were. xiiij.

Vnto these was deuyled the offyce of the porter / as vnto heedes ouer the men & wayted with their brethren and mynistrs in the house of the Lorde. And they cast lottes / the smalle as well as the greate in the house of their fathers / from gate to gate. And the lot fell to Semeiah. And to Zacariah his sonne a wise counsellor / they cast lottes / and his lot came out towarde the North. And Obed Edoms lot fell to the South. And to hys sonnes fell the counsell houses. And to Suphim and Josah fell the weste wyth the gate Salecheth / where the way ascendeth upward / & one waye beyng fast by the other.

In the East hepte syre Leuites in the North / a daye / & in the South. iij. a daye / and in every counsell house two / & in the watch houses / on the hys waye westward four: two in a house. These are the deuysons of the porters among the sonnes of Bozeth & the sonnes of Merari. And of the Leuites Abiah had the ouersyght of the treasure of the house of God / and of the treasure of the dedicat thynge.

As concerning the sonnes of Laadan which were Gersonites. Laadan had auncient fathers. Laadan the Gersonite had Jehiel. The sonnes of Jehiel: Zethan & Joel his brother / which were ouer the treasures of the house of the Lorde. Amonge the Amramites / Zabharites / Hebzonites & Ozelites / was Subuel the sonne of Gerson the sonne of Moses a ruler ouer the treasure. And of his brethren the sonnes of Eliezer / was Rahabiah / whose sonne was Isatah / & his sonne was Joazam / & his sonne Zechai / & hys sonne was Selomuch / which Selomuch & hys brethren were ouer all the treasures of the dedicate gyftes which David the kynge / & the auncient heedes / of the capitaynes ouer thousandes & hundredes / & the capitaynes of the hoste had dedicated of the spoyle wonne in battell / to maynteyne the house of the Lorde: & ouer all the Samucl the sear & Saul the sonne of Cis / and Abner the sonne of Ner / & Joab the sonne of Zathuriah had dedicated. All this was dedicated / was vnder the hand of Selomuch & of hys brethren.

Of the Zabharites Conanah and hys sonnes were in businesse without forth made officers & iudges ouer Israel. And of the Hebzonites Salabiah & his brethren men of actiute a thousand & six hundred were officers in Israel on this side Jordan westward / in all busynesses of the Lorde & seruice of the kynge. And Josiah was the chiefe among the hundredes & fathers of the Hebzonites. And in the fourtye yere of the kynge of David they were sought for. And there were founde of the men of actiute at Tazer in Galaad. And hys brethren were in the actiute / two thousand & six hundred auncient heedes / which kynge David made rulers ouer the Rubenites / Gadites & the halfe trybe of Manasse in all matters pertaining to God & busynesses of the kynge.

The xxviij. Chapter.

In the numbre of the were auncient heedes & capitaynes of thousandes & hundredes / & officers & serued the kynge in all thynge according to the companyes he came in or went out / moneth by moneth thorough out all the monethes of the yere. And every companye had. xiiij. thousande.ouer the fyft companye in the fyft moneth / was Isobab the sonne of Zabbai. And in hys numbre were. xiiij. thousand. And the chiefe of all the capitaynes in the host of the fyft moneth was of the chyldre of Pharez. ouer the companye of the secnde moneth Bodaai an Abhite / & in hys hoste was Maheloth a ruler. And in his companye were. xiiij. thousand. The chiefe capitayne of the thirde host in the thirde moneth / was Banasah the sonne of Jehoiada the preste. And in his hoste. xiiij. thousande. This is the Banasah mightie among the thirde & aboute thirtie. And in his parte was Amizabad hys sonne.

The fourth capitayne in the fourth moneth was Israhel the brother of Joab / & Zabadiab his sonne after hym. And in hys hoste. xiiij. thousand. The fyfte capitayne in the fyfte moneth was Samahut the Jerahtite: & in hys hoste. xiiij. thousand. The syxt capitayne in the syxte moneth was Tra the sonne of Ahas & hehute: & in hys hoste. xiiij. thousande.

The seuenth Capitayne in the seuenth moneth / was Helet the Phalonite / of the chyldre of den of Ephraim: & in hys hoste. xiiij. thousande. The eight Capitayne in the eight moneth / was Sobocai an Husathite of the kynge of Sarah: & in his hoste. xiiij. thousand. The nynte Capitayne in the nynte moneth / was Abiezer an Anathothite of the sonnes of Beniamin: and in his hoste. xiiij. thousande. The tenth capitayne in the tenth moneth / was Mahari the Netophathite of the Sarabites: & in his hoste. xiiij. thousand. The leuente moneth / was Banasah the Pharonite of the chyldre of Ephraim: & in his hoste. xiiij. thousande. The twelue capitayne in the twelue moneth / was Helet the Netophathite of Othoniel: & in his hoste. xiiij. thousand. And the rulers ouer the trybes of Israel were these. Amonge the Rubenites / was Eliezer the sonne of Zechai. Amonge the Simoonites / was Saphath the sonne of Maath. Amonge the Leuites: Salabiah the sonne of Amucl. Amonge the Haronites: Zabocho. In Juda: Eliu of the brethren of David. In Issacar: Amos the sonne of Michael. In Zabulon: Felmah the sonne of Abiah. In Nephtalim: Jerimoth the sonne of Zriel. Amonge the chyldre of Ephraim: Hosea the sonne of Zaiab. In the halfe trybe of Manasse: Joel the sonne of Phadaiah. Of the halfe trybe of Manasse in Galaad: Jado the sonne of Zachariah. In Beniamin: Zassiel the sonne of Abner. In Dan: Zariel the sonne of Jeroham. These are the Lorde in the trybes of Israel.

But David toke not the numbre of them vnder. xx. yere: for the Lorde sayde he wolde encrease Israel like vnto the starres of the skye. And Joab the sonne of Zathuriah began to numbre. And though he synned it not / yet there fell wrath for that vpon Israel. And therfore the numbre was not put in the chronycles of kynge David.

Ouer the kynges treasure was Amoth the sonne of Abiel. And ouer the treasure of the felbes / in the cyties / byllages & castelles / was Jehonathan / the sonne of Oziah. And ouer the woorkmen in the felbes & tyllid the ground / was Azri the sonne of Chelub. And the ouersyght of the brye pades had Semeiah the Ramathite. ouer the wynecellers & treasure of wyne was Sabot the Saphonite. And ouer the olyuetrees & mulbertyrees that were in the baleyres was Baal Hanan the Gadathite. And ouer the treasure of oyle was Joas. And ouer the oren & fed in Saron was Seltari the Saronite. And ouer the oren in the baleyres was Saphat the sonne of Adai. And ouer the camelles & byll the Amalethite. And ouer the asses was Johadiah the Merothite. And ouer the shepe was Jazis the Hagarite. All these were the rulers of the substance of kynge David. And Jehonathan David's brother's sonne / a man of coucell / a man that taught wisdom / & a writer he & Zechiel the sonne of Bachamoni wayted on the kynges sonne. And Abithophel was of the kyngs coucell. And Husai the Archite was of the kyngs company. And nexte to Abithophel was Jehoiada the sonne of Banasah / & Abithar. And the capitayne of the kyngs warre was Joab.

Because David was forbidden to buyde the temple he exhorted Salomon & the people to performe it.

The xxv. Chapter.

And David gathered to gather all the Lorde of Israel: the Lorde of the trybes / the Lorde of the companyes that mynistrd to the kynge by court / the Lorde ouer the thousandes & ouer the hundredes / and the Lorde ouer all the goodes and catell of the kynge and of his sonnes / in the chambrelaynes warpours & all actiue men vnto Jerusalem. And kynge David stode vpon his fete and sayde.

Hear me my brethren & my people: I had in myne hert to buyde an house of rest for the Arche of the couenant of the Lorde: & a place for our God: and had made redye to mercede for it. But God sayde to me: thou shalt not buyde an house for my name / because thou art a man of warre & hast shed bloude. Wherefore the Lorde God of Israel chose me of all the house of my father / to be kynge ouer Israel for euer: for he chose Juda to be a capitayne: & in the house of Juda & house of my father / & of the sonnes of my father he had a lust to me / to make me kynge ouer all Israel. And of all my sonnes / for the Lorde hath geue me many sonnes / he hath chosen Salomon my sonne / to sitt in the seate of the kyngdom of the Lorde ouer Israel. And he sayd vnto me: Salomon thy sonne / he shall builde my house & my courtes: for I haue chosen him to be my sonne / and I wil be his father / & I will stablye his kyngdom for euer: for he will harden him selfe to do my commaundementes / and my lawes / as it goeth this daye.

And now I laye vnto you before all Israel the congregacion of the Lorde / & in the audience of our God: kepe & seke for all the commaundementes of the Lorde your God: & ye maye enioye a good lande & inheret your chyldre after you for euer. And thou Salomon my sonne: knowe God thy father and serue him with a pure herte and lust of soule. For the Lorde secheth all hertes & vnderstandeth all the Imagynacions of thoughtes. If thou shalt seke him / he will be founde of the: But if thou forsake him / he will cast thee off for euer. Take hede now / for the Lorde hath chosen thee / to buyde an house of thy sanctuary. Be stronge and do it.

And David gaue Salomon his sonne the patene of the porche & of the houses & longed thereto / ther to / and of the store houses / upper chambers / inner parlours and of the house of the mercies: and the example of all that was in his mynde, both of the courtes of the house of the Lorde & of the treasure houses rounde about / for the treasures of the house of God and for the treasure of the dedycate gyftes / and of the companyes of the preastes & Le-uites that waited by course / & of all woꝝkemanshipe / that shulde serue for the house of the Lorde & for all beuelles that shulde serue in the house of the Lorde. And appoynted him what wayghte of goulde shulde serue for thynges of goulde thozou out all beuelles for whatsoeuer use it serued: and what wayghte of syluer shulde suffice for all maner of be-uelles of syluer / for whatsoeuer purpose they serued.

And the wayghte of the goulden candel-styckes and of their lampes of goulde / the wayghte for euery candelsticke and for their lampes. And for the candelstyckes of syluer by wayght / both for the candelsticke & also for her lampes accordynge to the offyce of euery candelsticke. And the wayghte of goulde for the tables of shew breede / table by table:
and lyke wyse syluer for the tables of syluer.
And for fleshehookes / basens and dynchynge pottes of pure goulde. And for cuppes of goulde by wayghte / cuppe by cuppe. And for cuppes of syluer by wayghte / cuppe by cuppe.
And for the suler of incense of tryed goulde by wayght. And the sympletyde of the seate of the Cherubes that stretched oute their wynges and couered the Arke of the coue-naunt of the Lorde. All was geuen me by wyrtynge of the hande of the Lorde / whych made me vnderstande all the woꝝkemanshipe of the paterne.

And David sayde to Salomō his sonne: harde thy selfe and be strong and do it / feare not nor lett thyne herte dyscourage the. For the Lorde God my God is with the / and shall not leaue the nor forsake the / but thou hast synned all the woꝝke that must serue for the house of the Lorde. Beholde the preastes and Leutes deuyded in companyes / for to do all maner of seruice that perfayneth to the house of God / and besyde that / thou hast with the for all maner of woꝝkemanshipe / all that are wyllynge and wyse for any maner of seruyce. And the Lordes & all the people are at thy commaundemente in all thynges.

The offerynge of David and of the pryces for byldynge of the temple. David dyeth and Salomō his sonne appoynteth in his steade.

The xxix. Chapter.

And David the kynge sayde vnto all the congregaciō: God hath spe-ciallye chosen Salomō my sonne whych is yet younge and tender / & the woꝝke is grete / for the house is not for man / but for the Lorde God. Whereouer I haue prepared with all my myghte for the house of God: golde for thynges of goulde / & syluer for thynges of syluer / brasse for thynges of brasse / yron for thynges of yron and wood for thynges of wood: & onykes stones / *Some reade Carbuncle / &
another petyco-
le stone called Sctibian.* & lett
stones / and of other gaye stones / and all maner of pꝛecious stones / and of marblye great aboundance. And yet because I haue lust to the house of my God: I haue seuerall goulde and syluer whych I geue to the house of my God aboute all I haue prepared for the holy house: eue the thousand talentes of goulde of Ophir / and seven thousand talentes of syluer tryed: to fyle the walles of the house with goulde where it becomethe / and with syluer where syluer is mete / and for all maner of woꝝke by the handes of Artificers.
And let me se who is wyllynge also / to fyll his hande for the Lorde this daye.

And the auncient lordes and the lordes of the trybes of Israel / and the Capitaynes of thousandes and hundredes & the lordes ouer the substance of the kynge / were wyllynge & gaue for the seruyce of the house of God / fyue thousand talentes of goulde and ten thousande peces of goulde coynes / and ten thousande talentes of syluer / and thys thousand talentes of brasse / and an hundred thousand talentes of yron. And they that had pꝛecious stones gaue them for the treasure of the house of the Lorde / vnto the hande of Iehiel the Gersonite.

And the people reioyced that they were so wyllynge: for with a pure herte they were wyllynge vnto the Lorde. And therto David the kynge reioyced with great gladnesse. And David blessed the Lorde before all the congregaciō and sayde: Blessed art thou Lorde God of Israel oure father / for euer and for euer. Thyne (O Lorde) is greatnesse / power glorie / victorie and prayse: for all that is in heaue and in erthe is thyne / and thyne is the kyngdom (O Lorde) and thou art liste by an hee above all.

And rychesse and honoure come of the / & thou raggest ouer all / and in thyne hande is power and strenghte / and in thyne hande it is to make grete and to geue strenghte vnto all.

And now oure God / we thanke the / and prayse thy gloriouse name. For what am I and what is my people: that we shulde ob-tayne strenghte to be so wyllynge: But all is of the / and of that we receaued of thyne hande

hade we haue geue the. For we be but strai-gers before the & tenants / as were all oure fathers. Oure dayes on the erthe is but a shadowe / and there is none abydynge. O Lorde oure God / all this hope that we haue prepared to bylde the an house for thy holy name / cometh of thyne hande / and is all thyne.

I wrote my God / that thou prouest the herte and hast pleasur in playnesse. And in play-nesse of myne herte I haue wyllynge geue all this. And now I se the people whych are here in gladnesse / to offer wyllynge to the. O Lorde God of Abraham / Isaac and of Israel oure fathers / kepe this for euer in the ymaginaciō of the thoughtes of the herte of thy people / & prepare their hertes vnto the. And geue vnto Salomō my sonne / a pure herte to kepe thy comaundementes / thy testymo-nies and thyne ordynances / and to do all / & to bylde the house whych I entended.

And David sayde to all the congregaciō: bless the Lorde poure God. And all the congregaciō blessed the Lorde God of their fathers / & stowed & bowed the selues vnto the Lorde & to the kynge. And they offered offerynges vnto the Lorde. And on the morow after the sayde daye / they offered in burnt offerynges vnto the Lorde a thousand oxen / a thousand rammes & a thousand lammes / with theyre dynche offerynges. And they stue plemouse thozou out all Israel / & did eate & dynche before the Lorde the same daye with grete gladnesse. And they made Salomō his sonne of David kynge the seconde tyme / & annoynted him vnto the Lorde / to be ruler / and Zadock to be the preaste. And so Salomō sat on the seate of the Lorde / and was kynge for David his father / & prospered / and all Israel obeyed him. And all the Lordes and men of power / & therto all the sonnes of kynge David submitted them selues vnder kynge Salomō.
And the Lorde magnified Salomō on hye / in the syght of all Israel / and gaue hym so gloriouse & kyngdome as none of all the kynge before in Israel had.

Now David the sonne of Iat was kynge ouer all Israel. And the space he reigned ouer Israel was fourty yere: seue yere in Hebron & xxxij. yere in Ierusalem. And he dyed in a good age: olde / ryche & gloriouse. And Sa-lomō his sonne reigned in his steade. The actes of David the kynge bothe fyrst & laste / are writte in the booke of Samuel the sear & in the booke of Nathan the prophete / & in the booke of Gad the sear of byssons / with all his kyngdom & power & tymes that wet ouer hym & ouer all Israel / & ouer all the kyngdomes of the erthe.

The offerynge of Salomō in the byltauer at Gabaon / where he receaueth an answer of God what wyldome shulde be geuen hym / with the numbre of his charrettes and hoysmen.

The fyrst Chapter.

And Salomō the sonne of David wared a ryge in his kyngdome / and the Lorde his God was with hym & magnified hym on hye. And Salomō conuined with all Israel the capitaynes ouer thousandes & hundredes / the iudges and all other Lordes & auncient heedes thozou out all Israel. And so Salomō & all the congregaciō to hym / wet to the byltauer of Gabaon: for there was the tabernacle of the wynter of God / whych Moyses the seruaunte of the Lorde made in the wynter berne. But the Arke of God had David brought fro Bariath Jarim / in to the place he had prepared therfore. For he had pyched a tente for it at Ierusalem. Whereouer the brasse suler the Bezeleel the sonne of Ozi / the sonne of Oz had made / was at Gabaon also / before the tabernacle of the Lorde. And Salomō & the congregaciō wet to byset it. And Salomō offered there before the Lorde vpon the brasse sul-ter that was by the tabernacle of wynter / a thousand burnt offerynges. And the same night God appered vnto Salomō & sayde to him: as he what I shall geue the. And Sa-lomō sayde vnto God: thou hast shewed great mercy vnto David my father / & hast made me kynge in his steade. And now O Lorde God / I set thy promysse vnto David my father be true. For thou hast made me kynge ouer a people lyke the dust of the erth in multytude: wherefore geue me wyldome and knowledge how to behaue my selfe vnto this people: for who is able to iudge this people that is so grete?

Then God sayde to Salomō / because thou haddest this in thyne herte / & dydest not aske treasure & rychesse / honoure & the lyues of thyne enemyes / nether yet longe lyfe: But hast asked wyldome & knowledge / to iudge my pepole / ouer which I haue made the kynge: wyldome & knowledge shalbe geue the / & I will geue the treasure / rychesse / & glorie also / & among the kynges before the / or after the / none was or shalbe lyke the. And so Salomō cam fro the byltauer that was at Gabaon to Jerusalem. And Salomō gathered cha-rettes & hoysmen: he had a thousand & four hundred charrettes / & xii. thousand hoysmen / whych he bestowed in the charret cities & aboute the kyng at Jerusalem. And þe kyng made syluer & goulde at Jerusalem as plenteous as stones & Cedar trees as plente as mulberry trees þe growe in the baleys. And þe horsen which Salomon had, were brought him out of Egypt fro Meua. The kyngs marchautes set the oute at Meua at a pryce. They came and brought out of Egypt a charet for fyre hundred cycles / and an horse for an hundred & fyfte. And so brought they to all þe kynges of the Hethites and to the kynges of Siria thow the handes of the sayde marchautes. Salomon sendeth to Hiram the kyng of Tyre for wood and workmen. ¶ The seconde Chap.

And Salomon determined to builde an house for the name of the Lord / & an house for his kyngdome: and tolde out thre thowse and ten thousande men to beare burders and foure thowse thousande to hewe in the mountayne / & thre thousande and fyre hundred to ouer se them.

ii. Reg. v. a

¶ And Salomon sent to Hiram kyng of Tyre sayyng: As thou dydest deale to Dauid my father & dydest send him Cedar wodde / to bylde him an house to dwelle in / euen so deale with me now: that I may bylde an house for the name of þe Lord my God / to consecrat it to him to burne swete odoures & to sett shewbreed before him perpetuallye / & for burnt sacrifice moynynge & euenynge / & on the Saboth dayes / & the first daye of euery new mone / & in þe solempne festis of þe Lord oure God / so to cōfyrme euer in Israel. And þe house which I bylde is great: for great is oure God aboue all Gods: So that who can be able to builde him an house: whē that heuē / nether heauen aboue all heauens is able to receaue hi / what am I then that I shulde bylde him an house? nay / but to burne sacrifice before him: sende me now therfore a conyng mā to worke in goulde / syluer / bzaile / yron / scarlet / cremosyn & facincte coloure / & þe can shylle to graue / to be to the conyng men þe are to me in Iuda and Jerusalem / which Dauid my father dyd prepare. And sende me also Cedar trees / fyre trees & * Algume trees out of Libanon. For I wote well thy seruantes can shille to hewe tymbze in Libanon. And se / my men shalbe with thyne / & they maye prepare me tymbze ynough. For þe house which I bylde is great & wonderfull. And beholde / I sent for thy seruantes the cutters & hewers of tymbze. xx thousand quarters of beate whete / & xx thousand quarters of barley / & xx thousand bathes of wyne / & xx thousand bathes of oyle.

* Some rende.
For all of these syll.

And Hiram kyng of Tyre answered in wyrtynge & sent to Salomon: because þe Lord loueth his people / therfore he hath made the kyng ouer the. And Hiram sayde moreouer: blessed be the Lord God of Israel which hath made bothe heauē & erthe / & þe hath geuen Dauid þe kyng a wyfe soune þe hath discrecion & vnderstandynge / to buyde an house for the Lord / & another for his kyngdom. And now I haue sent a wyfe mā & a mā of vnderstandynge called Hiram Abi / & is the sonne of a woman of the daughters of Dan / how be it his father was a Tyris / & he can shylle to worke in gould / syluer / bzaile / yron / stone / tymbze / scarlet / facincte / bylle & cremosyn: a graue all maner of grauings / & to fynde out all maner sotle worke þe shalbe sett before hym / to thy conyng men / & wyth the conyng mā of my Lord Dauid thy father. And now the whete / barley / oyle & wyne which my Lord hath sayde / let him sende his seruantes. And we will cut wood oute of Libane / as moche as thou shalt nede / & will bynne it to þe in shippes by see to porte Japō: & thēce thou mayst carye the to Jerusalem. And Salomon numbred all the grauings that were in the lande of Israel / after the tyme his father Dauid had numbred the. And they were founde an hundred & xiiij. thousande and fyre hundred. And he set lxx. thousand of the to beare burthens / and lxxx. thousand to hew in þe mountayne / and thre thousande and fyre hundred to carriage and to set the people a worke.

¶ The temple of the Lord and the porche are bylde / with other thynges thereto belongyn.

¶ The iij. Chapter.

And Salomon began to buyde þe house of the Lord at Jerusalem in iij. Reg. vi. moūt Moziab / which was thewed Dauid his father whē he prepared a place in the thredynge flour of Oman the Jebusite. And he began to builde the seconde daye of the seconde monethe þe fourth yere of his raygne. And this is þe foundation of Salomon in buydynge þe house of God. The length was thre thowse cubytes after þe olde cubyt / & þe bredeth. xx. And þe porche at þe ende was as large as the house bredeth. xx. cubytes: & the height was an hundred & x. cubytes. And he ouerlayed it on þe pinner syde with pure goulde.

And the great house he tyld with fyre tree / & ouerlayde it with good gould / & graued therto paulmetrees and cheynes. And he paued the house with precious stone goodlye. And it was goulde of Pharaunim. And he ouerlayde the house: bothe beames / postes / walles & doores with gould / & graued Cherubes by þe walles.

And he made þe house moost holpe / whose length was. xx. cubits lyke to þe bredeth of þe house / & þe bredeth therof was also. xx. cubits. And he ouerlayde it with best gould / & dynt to þe summe of. vi. hundred talents. And þe waighe of þe nayles of gould was therto fiftie cycles. And he ouerlayde þe upper chabres with gould.

And he made in the house moost holy two Cherubim of image worke / & ouerlayde the with gould. And þe wynges of þe Cherubes were xx.

xx. cubytes longe. The one wyng was fyue cubytes & touched the walle of the house / & the other wyng was like wyse fyue cubytes & touched þe wyng of the other Cherub. And the one wyng of þe other Cherub was fyue cubytes / & touched the walle of the house / & þe other wyng was fyue cubytes also / and raught to þe wyng of the other Cherub. So þe wynges of the sayde Cherubes raught xx. cubits. And they stode on their fete & looked inward. And he made a soze hangynge of facincte coloure / of scarlet / cremosyn & bylle: & caused Cherubes to be bordered thereon. And he made before the house two pylers of xxx. cubyt longe. And þe heed þe was aboue on the toppe of one of the was fyue cubytes. And he made soche chapnes as was in the quere / & put the on þe heedes of þe pylers / & made an hundred pomegranates & put the on þe cheynes. And he rered by þe pylers before þe temple: one on the ryght hand & another on þe lefte / & called þe ryght Jachim & þe lefte Boaz.

¶ The auter of bzaile / the see / the beuelles to walke with / the candell cycles. &c.

¶ The iiii. Chapter.

And he made an auter of bzaile. xx. cubytes longe & xx. cubyt bzoade and ten cubyt hie. * And he cast a bzaile see of ten cubyt fro bym to bym / & rounde in copase & fyue cubytes hie: and a lyne of. xxx. cubytes myght haue copased it rounde aboute. And the sacron of oren dyd copase it rounde aboute vnder it: that is to wete / two rowes of oren cast when it was caste dyd copase that see whych was ten cubyt wyde / rounde aboute. And it stode also upon twelue oren: of whych thre looked North / thre west / thre South & thre East / and the see upon them aboue an hie / and the vnder partes of the inward. And þe thickest of it was an handbrede / & the byme lyke þe bym of a cuppe / with floures of lyles. And it receaued & helde the thousande bathes.

And he made ten lauers: & put fyue on the ryght hand & fyue on the lefte / to wasch with all. And in them they thrust the fleshe of the burntofferynge. But the see was for the preastes to washe in. And he made ten candell cycles of goulde in their sacrons / & put them in the temple: fyue on the right hand & fyue on þe lefte. And he made also ten tables and put them in the temple: fyue on þe ryght syde and fyue on the lefte. And he made an hundred balens of goulde. And he made the court of the preastes / and the great court and doores to it: and ouerlayde þe doores of the with bzaile. And he set the see in the ryght syde of the East ende / to warde the South. And Hiram made pottes / shouelles and balens.

And Hiram syned the worke he made for hyng Salomon into the temple of God: The two pylers with their scalpes of þe two heedes that were on the toppes of þe pylers: and the two wynges to couer þe two scalpes of the heedes that were on the toppes of the pylers: and foure hundred pomegranates for the two wynges / two rowes of pomegranates for euery wyng / to couer þe two scalpes of the heedes that were on the pylers. And he made bottomes / and lauers upon the bottomes: and þe see with twelue oren vnder it. And therto pottes / shouelles / flesh hookes / & all their beuelles byd Hiram Abi make for hyng Salomon for the house of the Lord / of bryght bzaile. In the playne of Jordā byd þe kyng cast the / in the thicke erthe / betwene Socoth & Jaredatha. And made of all these beuelles so myghte grete aboundaunce / þe weight of bzaile coude not be rekene.

And Salomon made all the beuelles that pertayned to the house of God: the goulden auter and the tables with the shew breede upon the / the candell cycles with their lampes to burne after the maner before the quere / & that of pure goulde / and the floures and the lampes / and the snuffers were goulde / & that perfecte goulde: and the bryngynge knyues / balens / spones and censers of pure goulde. And the pinner doores of þe place moost holpe / and the doores of the temple to / were goulde. And so was all the worke that Salomon made for the house of the Lord syned.

And when the worke þe Salomon made in the house of the Lord was syned: then Salomon brought in the gyftes dedycat by Dauid his father / the syluer and the goulde and all the Jewelles / and put them amonge the treasure of the house of God.

¶ After the fore houses and the see were put in þe temple / the gloze of the Lord spiled the temple.

¶ The v. Chapter.

And Salomon geathered the elders of Israel to geather and all þe heedes of the trybes and auncient iij. Reg. vi. g. Lodes amonge the chyldre of Israel / into Jerusalem: to bynne the Arche of the couenaunt of the Lord oute of the cytie of Dauid which is Zion. And all the men of Israel resorted into the kyng in the feast of the seuenthe monethe. And whē all the elders of Israel were come / the Leuites toke by þe Arche. And þe preastes & the Leuit brought away the Arche & þe tabernacle of witness / and all the holy beuelles that were in the tabernacle. And kyng Salomon and all the cōgregation of Israel that were assembled into him before the Arche / offered shepe and oren / so manye that they coude not be tolde or numbred for multitude.

And the preastes brought þe Arche of the i. liij. appoynt:

exceedynge great congregacyon/ euen from Hemath vnto the ryuer of Egypte. And the eight daye they made a geatheringe for they kept the halowenge of the aulter seue dayes & the feast seue dayes. And the xiiij. daye of the seue dayes moneth he let the people departe into their tentes/ glad & merie in hert for the goodnesse of the Lorde had shewed to Dauid/to Salomon & to Israel his people. * And so Salomon synpshid the house of the Lorde & the kynges house and all that came in his bert to make in the house of the Lorde and in his ston house/ and that prosperouslye.

And the Lorde aperted to Salomon by night and sayde to him: I haue heard thy petition & haue chosen this place for my selfe to be an house of sacryfice. Whereouer thou shalt praye heare & there be no rayne/ or thou shalt praye the locustes to deuoure the lande/ or thou shalt praye pestilence amonge my people: yet thou shalt praye that are named after my name/ shall humble the selues & make intercession & seke my presence/ & turne fro their wyched wayes/ then will I heare fro heauen and be mercifull to their synnes/ & will heale their lande. Wherto myne eyes shall be open & myne eares attent vnto the prayers made in this place. And finally I haue chosen & sanctified this house/that my name be there for euer/ & myne eyes & myne herte shall be there perpetuallye.

And thou shalt walke before me as Da-uid thy father walked/ to do accordynge to all that I haue commaunded the/ & shalt obserue myne ordynances & my lawes: then I will stablysh the seat of thy kyngedome/ accord-ynge to the couenaunt I made with Dauid thy father saying: thou shalt haue euer one of other that shall rule in Israel. But and thou shalt turne away & forsake myne ordynances & my commaundementes which I haue set before you/ and shall go & serue other Gods and bowe your selues to the: then will I plucke them by the rotes out of my lande whych I haue geuen them/ & I will cast this house which I haue sanctified for my name out of my sight/ & will make a prouerbe & a tale of it amonge all nacions. And this house that is so hye/ shall be a wonder to all that passeth therby that they shall say: why hath the Lorde deale on this facyon with this lande and with this house? And it shall be answered the/ because they forsoke the Lorde God of their fathers which brought the out of the lande of Egypte/and caught holde on other Gods/ and bowe to them & serued them: eue therfore brought he on them all this euill.

The cyres that Salomon bylded after the house of God was synpshid.

The. viij. Chapter.

And after. x. yere when Salomon had buyt the house of the Lorde & his stony house: he builde the cities that Hiram gaue hym/ & put of the children of Israel in the. And Salomon wet to Hemath Zobah and strenghted it. And he builde Chadmor in the wilderness and all the foure cities which he buyt in Hemath. And he buyt Bethhoron the upper & Bethhoron the nether/ and made them strong cities with walles/ gates & barres. And Baalath & all the foure cities of Salomon had/ & all the char-cytes & the cities of Hozemen/ & all the Salomons had lust to builde in Ierusalem and Li-band/ & thowout all the lande of his domynion.

And all the people that were leste of the He-thites/ Amozites/ Pherezites/ Heuites & Jebusites/ which were not of the children of Israel: euen the childre of the/ which were leste after the in the lande/ & were not consumed of the childre of Israel/ the did Salomon make tributarys vnto this daye. But of the childre of Israel byd Salomon make no bondemen in his worke: but they were men of warre & rulers & great lordes with him/ & capitaynes ouer his charcytes and Hozemen. And kyng Salomons offycers that ouersawe & ruled the people/ were two hundred and fiftye.

And Salomon brought the daughter of Pharao out of the city of Dauid vnto his house that he had made for her. For he sayde: my wife shall not dwelle in the house of Dauid kyng of Israel/ for it is holy/ because the Arcke of the Lorde came into it.

And from thenceforth Salomon offered burnt offerynges vnto the Lorde on the aulter of the Lorde which he had built before the porche to offer daye by daye accordynge to the commaundement of Moses/ & in the sabbotes & newmones/ and the thre solempne feastes of the yere/ the feast of swete byrde/ the fest of weekes and the feast of bothes.

And Salomon put the sortes of prestes in compaynes as Dauid his father had ordered the/ vnto the offyces/ & the Leuites vnto their wayte/ for to praye & synpshid before the prestes daye by daye/ & the porters by course at euery gate. For so had Dauid the man of God commaunded. And the commaundement of the kyng vnto the prestes & the Leuites cocernynge whatsoeuer cause it was/ & concernynge the treasures/ was not disobeyed.

And all the worke of Salomon went su-cessfullye forwarde eue vnto the daye of the foun-dacyon of the house of the Lorde was layde: & from thence till he had synpshid it/ that the house of the Lorde was perfecte. And then went kyng Salomon to Arion Gaber and to Elath & to the sees syde in the lande of Edom.
And Hiram sent him by the hande of his seruauntes

uauntes/ shippes and seruantes that coude trille of the see: whych went with the seruauntes of Salomon to Ophir/ & brought thence foure hundred and fiftye talentes of gould/ and brought it to kyng Salomon.

The communicacyon of Salomon with the quene of Saba/ the gyftes that she gaue the other. The death of Salomon/ after whom succeeded Rehoboam.

The. ix. Chapter.

15. Reg. 1. 2.
15. Reg. 1. 2.
15. Reg. 1. 2.

And the quene of Saba hearde of the fame of Salomon and came to proue him with ryddelles at Ieru-salem/ with a very great companye/and with camelles that bare swete odoures and plentie of goulde & pprecious stone. And when she was come to Salomon/ she com-myned with him of all that was in her herte.
And Salomon copied her all her questions/that there was nothinge hid from Salomon/which he tolde her not.

And when the quene of Saba had sent the wisdom of Salomon and the house that he had built/ and the meate of his table and the springe of his seruantes and the standynge of his wayters/ and their apparell/ and his buttelars with their apparell/ & his parloure out of which he went into the house of the Lorde/there was no more herte in her.

And then the sayde to the kyng: the sayinge which I hearde in mine awne lande/ of thine actes and of thy wysdome/ is true. But I beleued not the wordes of the/ vntill I came & myne eyes had seene it. And se/ the one halfe of thy wysdome was not tolde me: thou exceedest the same that I hearde/ happye are thy men/ & happye are these thy seruantes which stande before the all waye & heare thy wisdome. Blessed be the Lorde thy God which had lust to the/ to make the kyng on his seate/ vnto the Lorde thy God. Because thy God loued Israel/ to make them contynue euer/ therfore made he the kyng ouer them to do ryght and equyte.

And she gaue the kyng an hundred and. xx. talentes of goulde/ and of swete odoures ex-ceedynge great aboundance with pprecious stones/ & there was no soche swete odoures as the quene of Saba gaue kyng Salomon. And therto the seruantes of Hiram & the seruantes of Salomon which brought goulde from Ophir/ brought also. Aligume wood and pprecious stones. And the kyng made of the Aligume wood steyres in the house of the Lorde and in the kynges palace/ and harpes and psalteries for synners. And there was no soche wood seene before in the lande of Iuda. And kyng Salomon gaue to the quene of Saba all her desire that she asked about the brought vnto the kyng. And so she turned her waye to her awne lande with her seruantes

The summe of goulde that came to Salomon in one yere/ was syxe hundred. lxxvi. talentes of goulde/ besydes that whych chapmen and marchauntes brought/ and all the kynges of Arabia and dukes of countreyes brought gould & siluer to Salomon. And kyng Salomons made two hundred bokelars of goulde/bi. hundred sicles of Beten goulde to a bokellar: & thre hundred wyldes of Beten goulde/thre hundred sicles of goulde to a wyld: & he put the in the house of the forest of Libanon.

And the kyng made a great seate of Iuorie and ouerlayde it with pure goulde. And ther were sixe steppes to the seate: & a pomelles on eche syde of the syttinge place/ & two lyons standynge by the pomelles. And xij. lyons stode on the one syde & on the other/ vpon sixe steppes/ & there was no soche in any kyngedome.

And all the dynchynge beestles of kyng Salomon were goulde/ & all the beestles of the house of the forest of Libanon/ were pure goulde And as for syluer/ it was counted nothyng wothe in the dayes of Salomon. For the kynges shippes went to Tharsis to the seruantes of Hiram euer thre yere once. And the ship-pes of Tharsis brought gould/ siluer/ & tethe of elephantes/ apes and pecocres.

And kyng Salomon passed all the kynges of the erthe in rycheesse and wisdom. And all the kynges of the erthe sought the presence of Salomon/ to heare the wysdome that God had put in his herte. And they brought euery man his present in beestles of syluer & be-stelles of goulde/ and rayment/ harnesse/ swe-te odoures, horses and mules yere by yere.

And Salomon had foure thousand masgers of horses & charettes for the/ & twelue thousand horsemen. And he bestowed the in the charet cities & with the kyng at Ierusalem. And he raygned ouer all the kynges fro Euphrates vnto the lande of the Philistines & so to the boders of Egypte. * And the kyng made syluer in Ierusalem as plenteous as stoncs/ & Cedar trees as plenteous as the mulberry trees that growe in the valeys. And Salomon had horses brought him out of Egypte & out of all lande.

* And the rest of the actes of kyng Salomon both syde and last are written in the boke of Nathan the prophete and in the prophete of Ahiah the Silonite and in the byspions of Iadith the sear of byspions agaynst Ieroboam the sonne of Nabat. And when Salomon had raygned in Ierusalem vpon all Israel fourtye yeres/ he layed him to rest with his fathers/& was buried in the cite of Dauid his father/& Rehoboam his sonne raygned in his steade.

The folowynge of Rehoboam/ and the decayon of his reaulme.

The. x. Chapter.

15. Reg. 1. 2.

I And Rehoboam went to Sichem: for to Sichem were all Israel come to make him king. And when Jeroboam the sonne of Nabat/beinge in Egypte hearde it (for he was fled for feare of Salomon the kynge) he returned out of Egypte. And they sent and called him. And so Jeroboam & all Israel came & comuned wyth Rehoboam & sayde. Thy father made vs a greuous pouche: but remytte thou somewhat of the greuous scrupce of thy father & of his heuye pouche that he put vpon vs: & we will serue the. And he sayd to them: come againe after thre dayes to me. And the people departed

B And kynge Achoboaun counceled with the elders that stode before Salomō his father/ while he layed/ & sayde: what counsell geue ye me/ to answer thys people agayne. And they tolde him sayyng: If thou shalt be kinde to this people & please them and shalt speake louynge wordes to the/ they will be thy seruantes for euer. But he left the counsell which the elders gaue him/ & tooke counsell with the youngemen that were nurled by hym & had stonde in his presence/ & sayde to them: what abuse geue ye? I maye answer thys people whych haue comuned with me sayyng: I hate somewhat of þe pouche which thy father dyd put vpon vs.

And the younge men that were nurced by C with hym talked with hym sayinge: thus an-swere the people that spake to the sayinge.
Thy father made oure pouche heupe: But make thou oure pouche somewhat lyghter.
Thus theye answered them: my lytle tynger shal be heuier then my fathers loynes. * 90 where my father put a heuie pouche byp you I will put moare thereto: & where my father chastised you with whippes / I will chastyce you with scorpions.

And when Jeroboam and all Israel were come þe thirde daye/as þe kynge hade sayinge: come agayne to me þe thirde daye. The kynge answered the cruelly/for kynge Rehoboam lette the council of the aged. me/ & answered the after þe aduise of the younge men sayng. If my father made youre poucke greuous/ I will adde therto/ & where my father chastised you wryth whyppes/ I wyll chastyce you wryth scorpions. And so the kynge hearkenod not vnto the people/ for the turnynge awaye was of God/ that þe Lorde myght make good hys sayinge whych he spake by the hand of Ahiah the Silonite to Jeroboam the sonne of Nabat.

D And when all Israel saw that the Kinge wolde not heare them / the people answered h Kinge / sayinge: what parte haue we with Dauid oz inheritaunce in the sonne of Iſai? let every man of Israel go to his tent. * And nowe Dauid se to thyne stone house. And therupon all Israel get them to their tentes/so þe Rehoboam raygned ouer no moo of the chilidren of Israel then dwelt in the cytyes of Iuda. Then kynge Rehoboam sent to the Haduram that was ouer þe tribute, & the childe of Israel stoned him with stones that he died.

But kynge Rehoboam made speere and gat hym by to hys charet to fye to Ierusalem.
And so Israel departed from the house of Dauid into thys daye.

¶ Jeroboam is forbidden to feyght agaynst Jerobo. he hath. xviij. wyues and thye hore concubynes; by them. xxviij. sonnes and. iij. hore daughters.

● The xi. Chapter.

And when Rehoboam was come to I 3 Ierusalem he gathered of the house of of David & Benjamin to the number of mynny thousands choise men of warre to fight with Israel: for to bringe the kyngdom agayne to Rehoboam. But the worde of the Lorde came to Semeiah the man of God sayinge: speake vnto Rehoboam the sonne of Salomon kyng of Iuda & to all Israel that are in Iuda / and to Benjamin and say: thus sayth the Lorde. Go not nor fight with youre brethren: But returne euery man to his house / for this thyng is done of me.
 And they obeyed the wordes of the Lorde & returned from goynge agaynst Ieroboam.

And Rehoboam dwelt in Jerusalem, and built stronge cities in Iudas: as Bethlehem/ Etams/ Chekus: Bethzur/ Socho & Doolam: Beth/ Marelah & Ziph: Adurahim/ Lachis and Becah: Sarah Zialon and Hebron, which were the stronge cities of Iudas Benjamin. And when he had repayred those stronge cities/ he put captaynes in the and store of bitasse/ & of oyle & of wine. And he ordered in all cities shildes & speares/ & made them exceddyng stronge. And so Iudas and Benjamin were bader hym.

And the prestes & the Leuites that were in all Iſrael reſortēd to hym / out of all their

he tooke Maacah the daughter of Abisalom whych bare hym Abiah / Ethai / Ziza & Sa-lunith. But Rehoboam loued Maacah the daughter of Absalom aboue all his other wy-ues & concubynes for he toke .xxviij. wyues & thre skore concubynes / and begat thre skore daughters and .xxviij. sonnes. And Rehoboam made Abiah the sonne of Maacah the chiefe ruler amonge his brethren / for to make hym kyng. And he played wisely & skattered of all hys chyldren throzow out all the countreyes of Iuda & Beniamin in euery stronge cite.
And he gaue them a boundaunce of vitayle / and asked manye wyues.

The victory of Abiah against Jeroboam.

● The .m. Chapter.

The. xiiii. yere of kynge Jeroboam I began Abiah to raigne ouer Iuda. / 19. Reg. .xv. a. a he raigned thre yere in Ierusalem.
His mothers name was Michajah the daughter of Uriel of Gabaah. And there was warre betwene Abiah and Jeroboam.
And Abiah made a battell wyth an Hoste of fychtynge men of foure hundred thousand chosen men. And Jeroboam put in aray to feght agaynst him / wyth. viii. hundred thousand pecte men and stronge.

And Abiah rode by p̄p̄ō Semaraim an hill in moūt Ephraim & sayde: heare me thou Jeroboam & all Israel. Becometh it not you to know how that ꝑ̄ Lorde God of Israel gaue ꝑ̄ kyngdome of Israel to Dauid for ever/ euē to hym & to hys sonnes/ wryth a* salted couenant. ¶ Of this Rumer p̄bly.

naunt. But Ieroboam the sonne of Nabas the seruant of Salomon the sonne of Da-uid/ rebelled agaynst the Lorde. And there gathered to him lewde men and bnythyses/and preuayled agaynst Rehoboam & sonne of Salomon: for Rehoboam was younge and tender hearted & not stronge ynough for the.

And now ye thinke to preuaile agaynst þe kyngedome of þe Lorde in þe hande of þe sonnes of Dauid/because ye be a great multitude & haue with you the golde calues wherch Jeroboam made you for Gods. And haue ye not call out the prestes of the Lord the sonnes of Aarō & the Leuites/& haue made you prestes like the nacions of other landes: euen whosoever cometh and filleth his hande with an ore & fewe rammes/the same is made preste to them that are no Gods.

But with vs is the Lord our God whom we have not forsaken/and the prestes of the sonnes of Aaron ministringe vnto the Lord/ & the Levites in office/ burninge vnto the Lord every morninge & every eue burnt offerings and sweete oyle: & the shew bread put in oyle vpon a pure table: & the candlesticke of goulde with the lampes of the same/ to be light euery eue. For we kepe the watche of the Lord our God: but ye haue forsaken hym. Wherefore the Lord is with vs in the forewarde/ and bys prestes/ and the roynge trumpettes to crye alarum agaynst you. Ye chyldren of Israel syght not in the Lord God of youre fathers: for he will not prosper wth you.

But for all that Jeroboam sent men pryuelie aboute to come behinde vpon the: & so they were before Juda/ & the layes in wayte were behynde the. And whē Juda turned and saw the battell behynde & before/ they cryed vnto the Lord/ & the prestes blew the trumpets & the men of Juda gaue a shout. And as the men of Juda shouted/ God smote Jeroboam & all Israel before Abiah & Juda. And the chyldren of Israel fled before Juda/ & the Lord deliuered the into the handes of Juda. And Abiah & his people gae a great slaughter of the: so that there were streyned downe deed of Israel fye hundred thousand cholen me. And so the chyldren of Israel were brought vnder at that tyme/ & the chyldren of Juda preyed: because they leaned vnto the Lord God of their fathers. And Abiah folowed after Jeroboam & wanne certayne cities from hym: Bethel with the towne belonginge thereto/ and Jeshanah wth the towne that longed thereto/ and Ephron with her towne. And Jeroboam recovered not strength agayne in the dayes of Abiah. And at the last the Lord plagued hym/ & he dyed.

And Abiah warded myghtie/ and toke hym xiij. wyues/ and begat. xxiij. sonnes and. xviij. daughters. The rest of the actes of Abiah & his wayes and his doynges are writte in the booke of the prophete Ido. And when Abiah was layde to slepe with his fathers/ they buried hym in the cypse of Dauid/ and Ala his sonne raygned in his steade. In whose dayes the lande was quyet ten yere.

Abiah dyeth after whom succeedeth Ala.

The. xliij. Chapter.

And Ala did that was good & ryght in the eyes of the Lord his God/ & toke awaye the alters of strange gods & the high alters/ & brake the images and cut downe the groues/ and commaunded Juda to seke the Lord God of their fathers/ & to do accordynge to the lawe & commaundement. And he put awaye out of all the cities of Juda/ the high alters & the pooles: for the kyngedome was quyet before hym. And he built stronge cities in Juda: because the lande was in rest/ & he had no warre in those yeres. For the Lord had geuen hym rest.

And therfore he sayde to Juda: let vs build these cypses & compase the with walles and towres/ gates & barres/ whyle we haue the lande quyet. For we haue sought the Lord our God: & because we haue sought hym/ he hath geue vs rest on euery syde. And so they built and prospered. And Ala had an Arme that bare shield and speare/ out of Juda the hundred thousande/ & out of Benjamin that bare shield & bowe two hundred & lxxx. thousande/ and were all stronge men.

And there came out agaynst the Zarah & Mozan wth an host of ten hundred thousande/ & the hundred charrettes/ and came as ferre as Marefa. And Ala went out to hym/ & they put in arraye to battell in the balke of Zephatah besyde Marefa. And Ala cryed vnto the Lord his God and sayde: Lord it is all one wth the to helpe them that haue no power/ wth few or wth many: helpe vs O Lord our God/ for we trust to the/ & in thyne name be come agaynst this multitude. Thou art the Lord our God/ let not man preyale agaynst the.

And the Lord smote the blacke Mozes before Ala and Juda/ that they fled. And Ala and the people that was with him/ folowed after the as ferre as Gerar. And the blacke Mozes were ouerthrowen/ that there bode none a lyue of the/ but were destroyed of the Lord & of his hoste. And they carped awaye a myghty great praye. And they smote all the cypses rounde aboute Gerar. For the feare of the Lord came vpon the. And they robbed all the cities for ther was excedynge moche to be robbed in them. And thereto they smote the tentes of catell and carped awaye plentye of shepe & camelles/ and returned to Jerusalem.

Ala by the monition of the prophet Asaria after he had put downe the ydols/ in cryeth to the Lord. He depyeth his mother of her doynges.

The. xlv. Chapter.

And the spirit of God came on Asaria. And he sonne of Obed. And he wet out agaynst Ala and sayde to hym: heare me Ala & all Juda and Benjamin. The Lord is with you/ whyle ye be with hym/ and if ye shall seke hym/ he will be founde of you. But if ye shall forsake hym/ he will forsake you. There will come many dayes in Israel/ in whiche there shalbe no true God no prest & teacheth/ no any law. And in their tribulacyō they shall turne vnto the Lord God of Israel and shall seke hym/ & he shall be founde of the. And in those dayes there shalbe no peace to the that go out & in. But great vexacion vpon the inhabytors of all landes Jeholaphat. all landes. For one nacron shall destroye another/ and one cypse another: for God will browne the with all aduersyte. But plucke you by youre hertes & let not youre handes faunte/ for youre workes shalbe rewarded.

When Ala hearde those wordes & the prophete of Asaria the sonne of Obed the prophete/ he toke courage & put awaye the abominacions out of all the lande of Juda & Benjamin/ & out of the cities whiche he wane in mount Ephraim/ & renewed the altar of the Lord that was before the porche of the Lord. And he gathered all Juda & Benjamin/ and the straungers wth them out of Ephraim/ Manasseh and Simeon. For there fell many to hym out of Israel/ when they saw that God was wth hym. And they assembled at Jerusalem the thyrde monethe of the systene yere of the raygne of Ala. And they offered vnto the Lord that same tyme of the spoyle whiche they had brought. vij. hundred oxen & vij. thousande shepe.

And they made a couenaunt to seke the Lord God of their fathers/ wth all their hertes & all their soules: so that all that sought not the Lord God of Israel/ should dye for it/ whether he were smalle or grete/ man or woman.

And they sware vnto the Lord with a loude voyce and shoutynge & wth trumpets and hornes. And all Juda reioysed in the othe/ for they had sowne wth all their hertes/ and sought hym wth all their luff/ & he was founde of them. And the Lord gaue the rest rounde aboute.

And thereto kyng Ala put Maacah his mother out of auctoryte/ because she had made an ydole in a groue: & brake downe her ydole & stampe it and burnt it by the broke Cedron. But they put not the high alters out of Israel: neuertheless the hert of Ala was pure all his life. And he brought into the house of God the dedycat gyftes which he & his father had dedicate/ in goulde/ syluer and other gemelles. And there was no more warre vnto the. xxx. yere of the raygne of Ala.

Ala for feare of Baasa kyng of Israel/ maketh a couenaunt with Benhadad kyng of Siria.

The. xlvj. Chapter.

In the. xxxi. yere of the raygne of Ala/ came Baasa kyng of Israel agaynst Juda & buyt Ramah/ to the entent that he wolde let none that pertayned to Ala kyng of Juda haue passage in and out. Whereupon Ala fet out syluer and goulde out of the treasures of the house of the Lord and of the kynges house/ & sent it to Benhadad kyng of Siria that dwelt at Damasco/ & sayde. There is a confederacyō betwene me and the/ & so was betwene my father & thine/ wherfore I haue sent the syluer and goulde/ that thou go and breake thyne apoyntment with Baasa kyng of Israel/ & he maye departe from me. And Benhadad graunted vnto kyng Ala/ & sent the capitayn of his armie agaynst the cypses of Israel. And they bet Xion/ Ban/ Abelmaim & all the cypses of Nephthali. And when Baasa hearde that/ he left buildinge of Ramah and let his workes cease. And then Ala the kyng toke all Juda & carped awaye stones & tymber of Ramah wherwith Baasa & Maacah a buildinge: & he buyt therewith Gabaa & Mazphah.

At that same tyme Hanani the sear/ came to Ala kyng of Juda & sayde to hym: be cause thou trustest in the kyng of Siria/ & trustest not in the Lord thy God/ therfore is the hoste of the kyng of Siria escaped out of thyne hande. Wder not the blacke mozes and they of Libia a great hoste wth excedynge many charrettes and horsemen? And yet because thou trusteddest in the Lord/ he deliuered the in to thyne handes. For the eyes of the Lord beholde all the erthe/ to strengthe the hertes of the that are hoale with hym. Herein thou hast done folyshly/ and therfore from henceforth thou shalt haue warre. Whereupon Ala was wroth wth the sear & put him in the conuertynge house/ for he was displeased wth hym because of that. Whereupon Ala oppressed certayne of the people the same reason.

The dedes of Ala both fyrst and last/ are written in the boke of the kynges of Juda & Israel. And the. xxxij. yere of his raygne Ala fell sycke of his fete/ and that his dyscase excedid. And thereto in his sicknesse he called no counsell of the Lord/ but of Physycons. And at the last Ala fell on slepe wth his fathers and died when he had raygned. xli. yere. And they buried hym in his awne sepulchre whiche he had made in the cypse of Dauid/ and layed hym in the bed whiche he had fylled wth sweete oboures of dyuerse kynde/ made by the crafte of the potecaryes. And they dyd excedynge great coste aboute buryenge of hym.

Jeholaphat succeedeth after Ala/ whiche causeth the feare of the Lord to be renewed amonge the people.

The. xlvij. Chapter.

And Jeholaphat his sonne raygned in his steade & was myghtyer then Israel. And he put souldyours in all the stronge cypses of Juda/ and set rulers bothe in the lande of Juda and also in the cypses of Ephraim whiche Ala his father had wonne. And the Lord was wth Jeholaphat/ because he walked in the olde wayes of his father Dauid/ and sought not Baals: But sought the Lord God of his father and walked in his commaundementes & not after the doynges of Israel. Therfore the Lord stablyshed the kyngedome in his hande/and all Juda brought hym presentes / that he became excedyngre ryche & glazpoule. And hys hert was corageous in the wayes of the Lorde / and he put downe yet moare of the hillaiters and groues out of Juda.

And the thyrde yere of hys raygne he sente of his Lorde: Benhail / Abdiab / Zachariah / Nathanael / Michah to teache in the citres of Juda: and wyth them / Semeliah / Nathaniah / Sabadiah / Alahel / Semiramoth / Jehonathan / Aboniah / Chobiah and Chobodoniah Levites: & wyth the Elisama & Joiam prestes. And they taught in Juda / & had the boke of the law wth the / & w^{et} aboute thozout all the cyties of Juda & taught the people.

And the feare of the Lorde fell upon all the kyngedomes of the landes that were tourne aboute Juda / that they durst not warre wth Jehosaphat. And the Philistines brought Jehosaphat giffes & tribute spher. And therto the Arabiens brought hym of shepe / seven thousande & seven hundred rammes / & seven thousande & seven hundred he gottes. And so Jehosaphat prospered & grue by on hys. And he built in Juda / castels and toze citres. And he had great substaice in the citres of Juda / & fygthinge men & m^e of myght in Jerusalem.

And this is the order in the houses of their fathers / of the capitaynes ouer thousandes in Juda: Ednah the capytayne and wyth him of fygthinge men thze hundred thousande. And nexte to hym Jehohanan a capytayne & wth hym two hundred & lxxx. thousande. And by his syde Amariah the sonne of Jehoi wil-lynge unto the Lorde / & wth him two hundred thousande mightie men. And of the chyliden of Benjamin / Elada was a m^a of myght / and had wth hym armed wth bowes and shildes two hundred thousande. And by hys syde Jehosabad wth whome were an hundred & lxxx. thousande trimmed for warre. These w^{et} on the kyng / besydes those which the kyng had put in stryge citres thozout all Juda.

After Ahab had asked counsell of the four hundred prophetes / he put Michah in prison. he dyeth wth the shot of an arrow.

The. xiii. Chapter.

14. Arg. 77. 4.

And Jehosaphat became bertryche and glazpoule / & toynd affinitie wth Ahab. And after certayne yeres he went downe to Ahab to Samaria. And Ahab shue shepe & open plenteousse for hym & for the people that came wth hym / & entreated hym to go by unto Ramoth in Galaad. And Ahab kyng of Israel sayde to Jehosaphat kyng of Juda: wylt thou go wth me to Ramoth in Galaad? And he answered hym / I wylbe as thou / and my people shalbe as thine and we wyl be wth the in the warre. But Jehosaphat sayde unto the kyng of Israel: aske the Lorde / the worde of the Lorde. And the kyng of Israel gathered to gether of the prophetes four hundred men / & sayde unto the: Shall we go to Ramoth in Galaad to fygth / or shall I cease? And they sayde / go: the Lorde shall deliuer it into the kyngs hande. And Jehosaphat sayde / is there yet here neuer a prophete moze of the Lorde / that we myght aske of hym? And the kyng of Israel sayde to Jehosaphat / there is yet one / to aske the Lorde by hym: But I hate hym / for he neuer propheseth me good / but allwaye euell / one Michah the sonne of Jemla. And Jehosaphat sayde: let not the kyng say so.

Then the kyng of Israel called one of hys chabylaynes & sayde: fetch heether quickly Michah the sonne of Jemla. And the kyng of Israel and Jehosaphat kyng of Juda late ether of the on hys seate in their apparell / in a chabylaynge slowze besyde the gate of Samaria / & all the prophetes prophesinge besyde the. And one Zedekiah the sonne of Chananah made hym hoynes of yron and sayde / thus sayth the Lorde: wth these thou shalt w^{yn}nowe Siria vntyll thou hast brought the to nought. And all the prophetes prophesyd euil to sayng: Go by to Ramoth in Galaad and prosper / for the Lorde shall deliuer it into the hande of the kyng.

And the messenger that went to call Michah / spake to him sayng: beholde / the word of the prophetes are pleasaunt to the kyng wth one assent / let thy wordes I pray the / be lyke one of thes / & speake the which is pleasaunt. And Michah sayde: as truly as the Lorde lyueth / euil what my God sayeth / that will I speake. And when he was come to the kyng / the kyng sayde to hym: Michah / shall we go to Ramoth in Galaad to fygth / or shall I be in rest? And he answered: go ye & prosper / for the Lorde shall deliuer it into your hand. But the kyng sayde to him: how oft tymes shall I adure the the thou saye no-thing but trueth to me / in the name of the Lorde.

Then he sayde: I se all Israel shatterd in the montayns / as shepe the haue no sheparde. And the Lorde sayde: these haue no maister / let the retorne euery m^a to his house in peace. Then sayde the kyng of Israel to Jehosaphat / did I not tell the / that he wolde not prophesye good vnto me / but euell?

And he answered: therfore heare ye the worde of the Lorde. I saw the Lorde syt by his seat / and all the cōpanye of heauen standyng on his ryght hande & on his left. And the Lorde sayde: who shall decaue Ahab kyng of Israel / that he maye go & be ouerthrowen at Ramoth in Galaad. And whyle one sayde thus & a nother that / there came out a spirite and stode before the Lorde and sayde: I will decaue decaue him. And the Lorde sayde to him / how? And he sayde: I will go out & wylbe a lyngre spirite in the mouth of all his prophetes. And the Lorde sayde / thou shalt decaue him & shalt preyntle / go out & do euil so. And now beholde the Lorde hath put a lyngre spirite in the mouth of all these thy prophetes / & yet the Lorde hath spokē euell agaynst the. And Zedekiah the sonne of Chananah / w^{et} to a smote Michah by the cheke / & sayde: by what waye w^{et} the spirite of the Lorde fro me / to speake in the? And Michah sayde: thou shalt se the daye when thou shalt rine fro chabylaynge to chambylaynge / for to hyde thy selfe. Then sayde the kyng of Israel / take ye Michah & deliuer him to Imo the gouerner of the cite / & to Joas the kyngs sonne & saye / thus sayth the kyng: put this felow in prison / and fede him wth bread & water of tribulaciō / vntyll I come agayne in peace. And Michah sayd: yf thou come agayne in peace / the hath not the Lorde spokē in me. And Michah saide mozeouer / herken to ye people euery one of you. And so the kyng of Israel & Jehosaphat the kyng of Juda went by to Ramoth in Galaad. Then sayde the kyng of Israel to Jehosaphat: charge the get the to battell / but se the thou haue thine awoie apparell by the. And the kyng of Israel charged himselfe / & they went to battell. But the kyng of Siria commaunded the capytaynes of hys charetes sayng: se the ye fygth not agaynst small or great / saue agaynst the kyng of Israel on ly.

And wh^{et} the capytaynes of the charetes saw Jehosaphat / they had w^{et} he had bene the kyng of Israel / & therfore cōpased aboute him / to fygth. But Jehosaphat cryed out / & the Lorde holpe him / & God tyled the awoie from him. For wh^{et} the capytayn of the charetes perceaued the was not the kyng of Israel / they turned backe agayne fro hym. And a certē m^a dze to his bowe ignozassely a smote the kyng of Israel betwene the shoultres of his haberyngne. And he sayde to the charet m^a / turne thine hand and carpe me out of the hoste / for I am hurt. And the battell arole that daye. Now be it the kyng of Israel contynued standyng in his charet agaynst the Siriens vntyll euen. And about the sonne goyng downe he dyed.

After Jehosaphat was recheved by the prophet Jehu / he called agayne the people to the honouryng of the Lorde God.

The. xix. Chapter.

And Jehosaphat kyng of Juda retorne to hys house safe & sounde to Jerusalem. And Jehu the sonne of Hanani the sear / w^{et} out agaynst him & sayde to the kyng Jehosaphat: oughtest thou to helpe the wycked / & to loue the the hate the Lorde. In this bereyng the wycked of the Lorde by the. Therelater there are good thynges founde in the / in the thou hast put awaye grouis out of the lande / & hast prepared thine herte to seke God. And as Jehosaphat dwelt at Jerusalem / he w^{et} to agayne & w^{et} amoge the people fro Bersebe to mounte Ephraim / & brought the agayne vnto the Lorde God of their fathers. And he set Judg in the lande / thozout all the stryge citres of Juda / cite by cite / & saide to the Judges: take hede what ye do / for ye be not Judges in the law of m^a / but of God / whych is wth you in the wordes of the law. Wherfore let the feare of the Lorde be wth you / & take hede and do it. For there is no vnryght / & wisnesse in the Lorde oure God / noz regardyng of persones / noz takyng of rewardes.

Mozeouer in Jerusalem did Jehosaphat set of the Levites & of the prestes & of the assciēt heeds of Israel / ouer the custome of the Lorde & causes of stryfe. And then they returned agayne to Jerusalem. And he charged the sayng: do euil so in the feare of the Lorde wth trueth & pure herte. And whatsoeuer come to you of youre brethren / the dwell in their citres / betwene bloud & bloud / law / cōmaudemēt / ordynances & cōstomes: se that ye warne the / the they trespase not agaynst the Lorde / lest the wrath come byd you & on youre brethren. Thus doe ye shall not of-fende. And se here Amariah the prest which is bred ouer you in all matters of the Lorde / & Sabadiah the sonne of Jemla a ruler in the house of Juda / he is ouer all causes concernyng the kyng / wth officers of the Levites before you. Take courage to you and go byd it / and the Lorde shalbe wth the good.

The meruelous victorie that the Lorde gaue Jehosaphat kyng of Juda agaynst the Moabites / and the chylden of Ammon / and them of Siria.

The. xx. Chapter.

After the came the chyliden of Moab & the chyliden of Ammon & the of the Ammonites agaynst Jehosaphat to battell. And ther came the tolbe Jehosaphat sayng: ther cometh a great multitude agaynst the fro the other syde the see out of Siria. And se they be in Hadason Chamar in bychys Engadi. And Jehosaphat feared & set him self to seke the Lorde / & proclaymed sayng thozout all Juda. And Juda gathered them selfes to gether for to aske the counsell of the Lorde. And therto there came out of all the cyties of Juda to seke the Lorde. And Jehosaphat stode in the cōgregaciō of Juda & Jerusalem in the house of the Lorde before the new court & sayde: Lorde God of oure fathers / art not thou God in hea- uē / & raygnest not thou on all the kyngedomes of the hethen? And in thine hand is power & might / & no m^a can stande before the. Art not thou oure God which dydest cast out the inhabi- taters of this lande before thy people Israel / & gauest it to the seed of Abraham thy louer for euer?

ever: And they dwelt therein and have built a temple therein unto thy name: & sayde: whē euell cometh vpon vs / as the swerde of iudgement / pestilence or hongre: then yf we stande before thy house & before thee (for thy name is in thy house) & shall cry vnto thee in our tribulation / thou shalt heare and helpe.

And now beholde / the children of Ammon & Moab & mount Seir / by which thou wouldest not let Israel go / when they came out of Egypt: but they departed fro the & destroyed the not. And lo / how they rewarde vs / to come for to cast vs out of thy possession which thou hast possessed vs with all. O our God / wylt thou not iudge them? for we haue no myght agaynst this great compaignie that cometh agaynst vs. Nether wot we what to do: but our eyes be vnto thee.

And as all Iuda stode before the Lorde in their poure ones / their wiues & their childre: the spirit of the Lorde came vpon Zachariah the sonne of Zachariah the sonne of Banaias the sonne of Iehiel the sonne of Mathaniah a Leuite of the house of Iasaph / euē as he was in the middes of the congregaciō. And he sayde: herke all Iuda & the inhabitants of Ierusalem / and also kynge Jehosaphat. Thus sayth the Lorde vnto you: be not afeide or fayne hearted by reason of this great multitude. For the warre is not yours / but Gods. And to morrow ye shall go downe to the: se / they come by at Siz / and ye shall mete the in the flaggis of the broke before the wilderness of Ieruel. Whoeuer it belongeth not to you for to fight in this quarell: but stepe forth & stande & beholde the helpe of the Lorde which is w you: feare not / nor let your heart faile you / for ye of Iuda and of Ierusalem. To morrow go out to the: for the Lorde is w you.

And Jehosaphat bowed him selfe with his face to the citie / & all Iuda & the inhabitants of Ierusalem fell before the Lorde / to bowe the selfe vnto the Lorde. And the Leuite & the childre of the Cahathites & of the Corahites stode by to praye the Lorde God of Israel in a loude voyce on his. And so they arose crye in the moynge & get the out vnto the wilderness of Ieruel. And as they went out Jehosaphat stode & said: heare me Iuda & ye inhabitants of Ierusalem.

Beleue in the Lorde your God / & so shall ye continue: & beleue his prophetes / & so shall ye prosper. And he gaue the people coucell / & let the singers of the Lorde & the psalmes in holy apparel / to go out before the armie & to saye: praise the Lorde for his mercie lasteth euē. And what tyme they began to laude & praye / then the Lorde set layes awayte agaynst the childre of Ammon & Moab & mount Seir / to destroye the better & to wype the out. And whē they had made an ende of the inhabitants of Seir / then they holpe to destroye eche other.

And when Iuda came to Masphah in the wilderness / they looked vnto the multitude. And beholde / they were deen carcases falle to the erthe / and none escaped. And Jehosaphat & his people wet to robbe a waie the spoyle of the & founde amonge the aboundance of goodes & raimetes of pleasaunt Jewelles / & caught fro them more then they coude carry awaye: so that they were thre dayes in geatheringe of the spoyle / it was so moche. And the fourth daye they asssembled in the valeys of blessinge / for there they blessed the Lorde. And therfore they called the name of the place the valeys of blessinge vnto this daye. And so all the men of Iuda & Ierusalem returned & Jehosaphat amonge the chiefe of the / for to go agayne to Ierusalem with gladnesse: for the Lorde had made them to reioyse of their enemies. And they came to Ierusalem in psalteryes & harpes & trumpets / euē vnto the house of the Lorde. And the feare of God fell in the kyngdomes of all landes / when they had hearde that the Lorde fought agaynst the enemies of Israel. And so the realme of Jehosaphat was in tranquillite: for his God had geuen hym rest on euery syde.

And Jehosaphat raygned vpon Iuda / and was xxxv. yere olde whē he began to raygne & raygned xxx. yere in Ierusalem. And his mothers name was Iubas the daughter of Silhi. And he walked in the waye of Asa his father & bowed not therfro / to do the was pleasaunt in the syght of the Lorde. How be it they put not downe the hillauiters / nether dyd the people yet prepare their hertes vnto the God of their fathers. The rest of the actes of Jehosaphat fyrst and last are wyrtten in the booke of Iehu the sonne of Hanani / whych noted the in the booke of the kynges of Israel.

After this / Jehosaphat king of Iuda ioynd him selfe with Ochoziah kyng of Israel / whych was a wycked doer. And he coupled him selfe with him / to make shippes to go to Charis. And they made the shippes in Aziel Gaber. And the seer the sonne of Odanah of Maresha prophesied agaynst Jehosaphat / sayng: because thou hast ioynd thy selfe with Ochoziah the Lorde hath broke thy workes. And the shippes were broke & they were not able to go to Charis.

Jehosaphat dyeth & Jehozam succeadeth him which putted to death his brethren / and was oppressed of the Philistines / and dyeth of the lxx.

The xxi. Chapter.

Jehosaphat sayde him to rest in his fathers / & was buried with his fathers in the citie of David. And Ochoziah his sonne raygned in his rowne: which Iehozah had other brethren / sons of Jehosaphat: Azariah / Jehiel / Zachariah / Azariah / Michael & Serphatiah. All these were the sons of Jehosaphat king of Iuda. And theire father gaue the manye the manye great giftes in syluer / goulde and other precious thinges / with stronge cities in Iuda: but the kyngedome he gaue to Jehozah / because he was the eldest. And whē Jehozam was xxv. yere olde the kyngdome of his father & Ierusalem he stode all his other brethren in the swerde / & dyed. And the Lorde of Israel therto: Jehozah was xxxij. yere olde whē he began to raygne / & he raygned xliij. yere in Ierusalem. And he walked in the wayes of the kynges of Israel / like as dyd the house of Iahab / for a daughter of Iahab was his wife / & he wrought euell in the eyes of the Lorde. How be it the Lorde wolde not destroye the house of David / because of the couenaunt that he had made with David / & as he promised to giue a lyght to him & to his sonnes for euē. In his dayes the Edomites departed fro vnder the hande of Iuda & made the a kyng. And Jehozah met Iotham his sonne & all his brethren / whiche roale by night layde on the Edomites / whiche roaled him in a cavitaynes of his chareys. And so they departed fro vnder the hande of Iuda vnto this daye. At the same tyme also did Iobnah departe fro vnder his power / because he lette the Lorde God of his fathers. Whoeuer he made hillauiters in the mostaynes of Iuda / & caused the inhabitants of Ierusalem to comitt adulterye / & he thrust Iuda out of the waye.

And ther came a writinge to him fro Elias the prophete of this tenoure. Thus sayth the Lorde God of David thy father: because thou walkest not in the wayes of Jehosaphat thy father / & in the wayes of Asa king of Iuda / but walkest in the wayes of the kynges of Israel & hast made Iuda & the dwellers of Ierusalem go a whozinge / like to the whozinge of the house of Iahab / & hast therto slayne thy brethren & were thy fathers house / whych were better then thou: therfore beholde the Lorde will smyte the with a myghtie plague in thy folke / in thy childre / in thy wiues and in thy goodes. And thou shalt haue moche dyscase thowto in infirmite in thy bowelles / vntill thy bowelles fall out by reason of thy sickness / daye by daye.

And the Lorde stered by agaynst Jehozah the spirit of the Philistines & the Arabians & bozder on the blacke mox. which came agaynst Iuda & all to take the lande / & carryd awaye all the substance that was founde in the kyngs house / & therto his sonnes & his wiues: so that there was neuer a sonne left him saue Jehozah his youngest sonne. And after all that the Lorde smote him in his bowelles was an incurable dyscase. And in processe of tyme / euē about the ende of two yere his guttes fell out by reason of his sickness: & so he dyed of euell dyscaies. But they made him no bonesyre / like the bonesyres of his fathers. whē he began to raygne / he was xxxij. yere olde / & raygned in Ierusalem. xliij. yere. And he walked not pleasauntly / & they buried him in the citie of David: but not in the sepulchre of the kynges.

Ochoziah raygneth in the rowne of Jehozam / Jehozam kyng of Israel killeth Ochoziah. Achaliah putteth to death all the kynges & payge / onely Iosabab escapeth.

The xxii. Chapter.

And the inhabitants of Ierusalem made Ochoziah his youngest sonne kyng in his stede. For the nyie of warre that came to the Arabians in the holte / had slayne all his elder sonnes. And so Ochoziah the sonne of Jehozam kyng of Iuda / was made kyng. And the fourth yere olde was he when he began to raygne / & raygned one yere in Ierusalem. His mothers name was Achaliah the daughter of Amri. And he walked also in the wayes of the house of Iahab / for his mother was his couceller for to do euell. Wherfore he dyd the displeased the Lorde like to the house of Iahab / for they were his coucellers after the death of his father / to his destruction. And he also walked after their coucell. And Jehozah the sonne of Iahab kyng of Israel wet to fight with Hazael kyng of Siria at Ramoth in Galaad: & they of Ramoth wounded him. Wherfore he returned to be healed in Ierusalem of his wound / which were geue him at Ramoth / whē he sought with Hazael kyng of Siria. And Ochoziah the sonne of Jehozah kyng of Iuda wet downe to se Jehozah the sonne of Iahab at Ierusalem / because he was oileased. For it was thrust into Ochoziah of God to go to Jehozah / & whē he was come he shuld go out with Jehozah agaynst Iehu the sonne of Namsi whome the Lorde had appointed to destroye the house of Iahab.

And as Iehu was executyng iustice vpon the house of Iahab. He founde the Lorde of Iuda & the sonnes of the brethren of Ochoziah that wayted on Ochoziah / & he slew them. And he sought Ochoziah / & they caught hym where he was hid in Samaria / and brought him to Iehu. And whē they had slayne him they buried him: because (sayde they) he was the sonne of Jehosaphat which sought the Lorde in all his hert. And there was none of the house of Ochoziah / that coude obtayne to be kyng.

For Achaliah the mother of Ochoziah / whē she saw her sonne was deed / arose & spake to all the seed of the kyngedome of the house of Iuda. But Jehosabab the daughter of the kyng toke Jehozah the sonne of Ochoziah and stode hym fro amonge the kynges sonnes that were slayne / & put him in a clepinge chabre. And so Jehosabab the daughter of the kyng Jehozah & wife of Jehosada the prieste (because she was the sister of Ochoziah) hid him fro Achaliah & she stode hym not. And he was with them in the house of God xij. yere. And Achaliah raygned ouer the lande.

Jehozah the sonne of Ochoziah is made kyng. Achaliah is put to death. The xxiiij. Chapter.

p. 6. Am

For it was thrust into Ochoziah of god / to go to Jehozah / & whē he was come he shuld go out with Jehozah agaynst Iehu the sonne of Namsi whome the Lorde had appointed to destroye the house of Iahab.

that he coming to Jehozam might be ouerthrowne of Iehu.

118. Reg. xi. a.

And in the fourth yere Jehoiaha toke hert, & made a bonde with the capitaynes of hundredes Azariah the sonne of Jeroham, Jismael & sonne of Johana, Azariah & sonne of Obed, Maasiah the sonne of Adaiab and Elisaphat the sonne of Zechi. And they went aboute in Juda and gathered the Levites out of all the cytys of Juda and the auntyent heeres of Jitael: and they came to Jerusalem. And all the congregacion made a bonde with the kynge in the house of God. And Jehoiaha sayde to them: beholde / the kynge's sonne must raigne over the chyldren of David/as the Loyde hath sayde.

B This is it therfore ye shall do. The thirde parte of you prestes & Levites whych come in the Saboth daye, shall kepe the oores & a nother thirde parte shall be in the king's house & a nother thirde parte shall be in the gate of the foundacyon / & all the people shall be in the court of the house of the Loyde. And ther shall none come into the house of the Loyde / save the prestes & the Levites & minstre. They shall go in / for they are holy: & all the people shall kepe the watche of the Loyde. And the Levites shall copase the kynge rounde aboute / & every man his wepō in his hande: & whatsoever other man come into the house of the Loyde, he shall dye for it: and they shall be with the kynge / as he cometh in and as he goeth out.

C And the Levites & all Judah did in all thinges as Jehoiaha the preste commaunded / & toke every man his men: bothe the that came in and the that went out the saboth daye: for Jehoiaha the preste did let none of the companies departe. And Jehoiaha the preste bespured to the capitaynes of hundredes spears & shilds & bowe-lars & pertayned to kynge David & were in the house of God. And he set all the people & every man his wepō in his hande / to the right corner of the house to the left corner of the house / alonge by the aulter and the house rounde about the kynge. And they brought out the kynge's sonne and put upon hym the crowne and the testymonye / and made hym kynge. And Jehoiaha & his sonnes annointed hym and sayde: God save the kynge.

D When Athaliah hearde the noyse of the people runnyng & prayng the kynge / she went amonge the people in to the house of the Loyde. And when she sawe the kynge stande at his pyler in the enterynge / and the Lordes and trompetes about the kynge / and all the people of the lande reioysynge & blowynge with trompetes / and the syngers with instruments of musycke teachinge to prayse. When she rem her clothes and cryed: treason treason. And Jehoiaha the preste went out with the capitaynes of hundredes that were apoynted to governe the hoste / and sayde to them: have her out without the arayes and whosoever followeth her / let hym be slayne with the swerde. For the preste sayde: she is not in the house of the Loyde. And they layde handes on her / and when she was come out to the enterynge of the horgate in the kynge's house / they slue her there.

E And Jehoiaha made a bonde betwene hym and all the people and the kynge / to be the Loydes people. And all the people went to the house of Baal and destroyed it / & brake his alters and his ymages / and slue Maathan the preste of Baal before the alters. And Jehoiaha put the offyces of the house of the Loyde in the handes of the prestes the Levites / whych David had deuyded in companies for the house of the Loyde / to offer burntofferynge unto the Loyde / as it is wyrtten in the lawe of Moyses / with reioysynge and syngynge / as it was ordeyned by David. And he set porters unto the gates of the house of the Loyde / that none that was uncleane in any poynte shoulde enter in.

F And he toke the capitaynes of hundredes and the nobles / and the gouernours of the people & all the folke of the lande / & brought the kynge downe out of the house of the Loyde / and they went thowto the byre gate in the kynge's house / and set the kynge upon the seate of the kynge-dome. And all the people of the lande reioysed / & the cytie was in tranquillite: but they slue Athaliah with the swerde.

G Jehoas durynge the yere of Jehoiaha kepeth the lawe: but after hys deeth he regardeth it not. He bylyeth Zachariah the prophete. Jehoas so bylyed of hys awne seruantes / and after hym raigneth Amaziah.

The xxiij. Chapter.

Jehoas was leue yere olde when he beganne to raigne / and he raigned fourty yere in Jerusalem. Hys mothers name was Zebiah of Berzabe. And Jehoas dyd & pleased the Loyde all the dayes of Jehoiaha the preste. And Jehoiaha gaue hym two wyues / and he begat sonnes and daughters.

K It chaunced after that / that Jehoas was mynded to mende the house of the Loyde. And upon that he gathered to gether the prestes and the Levites and sayde to them: go out thowto the cyties of Juda and gather of all Jitael syuer / to strength the house of youre God / yere by yere / & so that ye haue the thynge how be it the Levites were slacke. When the kynge called Jehoiaha that was the chiefe / and sayde to hym: why requyrest thou not of the Levites to bynne in / out of Juda and Jerusalem the summe apoynted by Moyses the seruaut of the Loyde / and by and by the congregaciō of Jitael / for the tabernacle of wyne. For wicked Athaliah & her chyldren had broken the house of God / & had thereto bestowed all the debekat gyftes of the house of the Loyde / aboute Baals.

L wherfore at the kynge's commaundement / they made a cofer / and set it at the gate of the house of the Loyde: and made proclamation thowto Juda and Jerusalem to bynne in to the Loyde: the taxaciō of Moyses the seruaut of God / whiche he set upon Jitael in the wilderness. And the Lordes and all the people reioysed and brought in and cast in to the cofer untill it was full. And when the tyme came that the chiefe shoulde be brought in by the handes of the Levites at the apoyntment of the kynge / when they sawe there was moche moneye: then came the kynge's scribe & one apoynted by the hys preste / and powred out that was in the cofer / & then toke it & carryed it to hys place agayne / & thus they dyd daye by daye / and gathered moche moneye.

M And the kynge and Jehoiaha gaue it to workemen that wrought upon the house of the Loyde / and byed Masons & carpenters to redresse the house of the Loyde / and soday they artifycers in yron and brasse / to repayre the house of the Loyde. And the workemen wrought & the worche mended thowto their handes / and they made the house of God as it ought to be / and strenghted it. And when they had synfished it / they brought the rest of the moneye to the kynge and Jehoiaha / & therewith were made vessels for the house of the Loyde: euen vessels to mynstre with all and to serue for burntofferynge as labelles and vessels of goulde and syluer. And they offered burntofferynge in the house of the Loyde continuallye all the dayes of Jehoiaha. And Jehoiaha waxed olde and full of yeres and dyed. In hundred and thirtie yere olde was he when he dyed. And they buried hym in the cite of David amonge the kynge's because he had done good in Jitael / and on God and on his house. And after the deeth of Jehoiaha / came the Lordes of Juda & made obeysaunce to the kynge. And then he benedictioynto them. And so they lefte the house of the Loyde God of their fathers / and served groues and ymages. And then came there wrath by Juda & Jerusalem / for theys their trespasses sake. Not withstandinge yet God sent prophetes to the / to bynne the agayne unto the Loyde. And they refused unto them. But they wolde not heare.

N And the spyrte of God came upon Zachariah the sonne of Jehoiaha the preste / and he cryed by about the people and sayde to them. Thus sayth God: why transgresse ye the commaundementes of the Loyde: ye shall therfore not prosper / but as ye haue forsake hym / so shall he forsake you. When they conspired agaynst hym and stoned hym with stones / at the commaundement of the kynge: euen in the court of the house of the Loyde. And so Jehoas the kynge remembred not the kyndenes whiche Jehoiaha his father had done to him / but slue his sonne. And when he dyed / he sayde: the Loyde se and require a reconynge.

O And when the yere was out / the host of the Syrians came agaynst hym: and they came to Juda and Jerusalem / and destroyed all the Lordes of the people that amonge the people and sent all the spoyle of them unto the kynge to Damasco. And though the armie of Syria came with a smalle compaigne of men / yet the Loyde deliuered a very great hoste into their handes / because they had forsaken the Loyde God of their fathers. And thereto they served Jehoas accordynge.

P And as soon as they were departed from hym / though they left hym in great diseases: yet hys awne seruantes conspired agaynst hym for the bloude of the chyldren of Jehoiaha the preste / & slue him on his bed. And when he was deed / they buried hym in the cytie of David: but not in the sepulchres of the kynge's. And these are they that conspired agaynst hym: Sabad the sonne of Samaath an Ammonite and Jehoabab & sonne of Simrit & Moabite. And hys sonnes and the summe of the tax that came to him / and the foundaciō of the house of God / are wyrtten in the booke of the booke of kynge's. And Amaziah hys sonne raigned in his steade.

Q Amaziah ouercometh the Edomites. And Joas kynge of Jitael ouercometh and bylyeth Amaziah.

The xxv. Chapter.

Amaziah was xlv. yere olde when he beganne to raigne / & he raigned xxx. yere in Jerusalem. Hys mothers name was Jehoiaha of Jerusalem. And he did that pleased the Loyde: but not with the hoale hert. And as soon as he was seteled in the kynge-dome / he slue the that killed the kynge hys father. But he slue not their chyldren as it is wyrtten in the lawe / euen in the boke of Moyses to whome the Loyde commaunded sayinge: the fathers shall not dye for the chyldrens causes / nor the chyldren for the fathers / but every man shall dye for hys awne synne. And Amaziah gathered Juda to gether & made capitaynes ouer thousandes & ouer hundredes in the houses of their fathers thowto out all Juda and Beniamin. And he numbred them from twety yere & aboue / & founde the thre hundred thousande lustie men able to go to battell / and that coude handle speare and shyld. And he byed therto an hundred thousande syghyng men out of Joas.

Israel for an hundred talents of silver. But there came a man of God to him and sayde: kynge/ let not the armye of Israel go with the: for the Lorde is not with Israel neither wyl any of the house of Ephraim. Whelpe thou neades wylt/ then go & do it/ & make thy selfe stronge to battell: & thou shalt see/ & God shall make þe fall before thine enemyes. For God hath power to helpe o: to cast doune. And Amaziah sayde agayne to þe mā of God/ what shall we do then/ for the hundred talēt which I haue geuē vnto the hoſte of Israel? And the man of God sayde: the Lorde is able to geue the moche more then that.

And then Amaziah leuered the armie that was come to hym out of Ephraim/ to go whome agayne. wherfoze they were excrebynge woth the with Juda/ & returned to their awne whome in great angre.

ii. Reg. xiiij.

And Amaziah toke herte & carped out his host & wēt to salt dale. * wher he slue of the chyldre of Seir ten thousande. And other ten thousande & chyldre of Juda toke alpye/ and caried the vnto the toppes of a rocke & cast the downe fro the toppes of the rocke/ that they al to burst: but þe mē of þe armie which Amaziah had turned backe & wolde not let go with his people to battell/ ranne by þe cittyes of Juda from Samaria vnto Bethhoron & slue thre thousande of them and wanne moche spoyle.

And it chaunced/ after that Amaziah was come from the slaughter of þe Edomites/ & had brought the Gods of the chyldren of Seir/ he set the by to be his Gods/ & bowed hym selfe before the & burned censle vnto the. wherfoze þe Lord was wroth w Amaziah & sent to him a prophete/ & sayde to him: why sekest thou þe Gods of þe people which were not able to deliuer their awne people out of thyn hand? And as þe prophete spake to him/ he saide to þe prophete: haue men made the of the kynge's counsell: cease/ lest thou be beaten. And the prophete ceased & sayde: I am sure that God hath takē counsell to deſtroye þe/ because thou hast done this/ & obest not my counsell.

ii. Reg. xiiij.

Then Amaziah kyng of Juda toke aduſſe & sent to Joas the sonne of Jehoahaz þe sonne of Jehu kyng of Israel & sayde: come/ & let vs see ether other. And Joas kyng of Israel sent agayne to Amaziah kyng of Juda sayig: a thyllell in Libanon sent to a Cedar tree of Libanon & troade doune þe thyllell. Thou thinkest: se/ I haue beate þe Edomites/ wherfoze thynne hert aryleth to glorifye thy selfe. Now hyde at home: what needest þe to prouoke to euell/ that thou perishe and Juda with the.

But Amaziah rested not: for it came of God/ eue to deliuer the into þe hand of these enemyes: & that because they had sought the Gods of the Edomites. And Joas kyng of Israel came by: & they saw ether other/ both he & Amaziah kyng of Juda at Bethlames in Juda. And Juda was put to the worse before Israel/ & fled euery mā to his tent. And Joas kyng of Israel toke Amaziah kyng of Juda & sonne of Jehoas & sonne of Jehoahaz at Bethlames: & brought hym to Jerusalem/ & tare the walle of Jerusalem fro the gate of Ephraim vnto the corner gate/ four hundred cubytes lōge. And he toke all the goulde & silver & all the velleys that were founde in the house of God wth Obed Edom & the treasure of the kynge's house and hostages/ and returned to Samaria.

And Amaziah þe sonne of Jehoas kyng of Juda lpyed after the deethe of Joas sonne of Jehoahaz kyng of Israel xv. yere. The rest of þe actes of Amaziah fyrst & last are wrytē in the booke of the kynge's of Juda and Israel. And after that tyme that Amaziah dēd turne awaye from the Lorde/ they conspired treason agaynst hym in Jerusalem: and he fled to Lachis. wher they sent after hym and slue hym there/ and brought hym by wth hoſtes and buried hym wth his fathers in the cypse of Juda.

After the deeth of Amaziah raygneth Oziah whych is wrytten with the lxx. and Joatham raygneth in his rowme.

The. xxiij. Chapter.

Then all the people of Juda toke Oziah whych was. xvi. yere olde/ & made hym kyng in the rowme of his father Amaziah. And he buylt cloth and brought it agayne to Juda after the kyng was layde to rest with his fathers. Sixtene yere olde was Oziah whē he began to raygne/ & he raygned. liij. yere in Jerusalem. His mothers name was Jecaliah of Jerusalem. And he dēd that pleased the Lorde/ in all poyntes as dēd his father Amaziah. And he sought God whyle Zachariah the teacher to se God spued: and as long as he sought þe Lorde/ God made hym prosper.

And he went to battell agaynst the Philistines & brake doune the walles of Geth/ & the walles of Jabneh & þe walles of Asdod/ and built cittyes aboute Asdod & amonge the Philistines. And God holpe him agaynst the Philistines & agaynst the Arabians & dwelt in Gurbal/ & agaynst the Ammonites. And þe Ammonites gaue tribute to Oziah/ and his name spred abroade euen to Egypt: for he played the mā & excelled. Wherfoze Oziah buylt towres in Jerusalem ouer the corner gate/ & ouer the baleye gate/ and ouer other corners/ and made the stronge. And he buylt towres in þe wilderness & digged many welles/ for he

for he had moche cattell/ bothe in the baleye and also in the playne: and plowmen and bynders in the mountaynes and in Chamel/ for he loued husbandrye.

And Oziah had an host of fyghtinge men that went out to warre in the armye & were tolde & numbred by Jziel the scribe & Maasiah an officer/ vnder the bande of Hananiah one of þe kynge's Lodes. And þe hoale nūbre of the auncient herdes of the men of myght were. ii. thousande & fyre hundred and vnder the bandes of the was the armie of the hoſte/ thre hundred & seue thousande/ & fyue hundred that made warre wth myght & strenght/ to helpe the kyng agaynst his enemyes. And Oziah prouyded the thowse oute all þe hoſte shields/ speares/ helmes/ habergynes/ bowes & stinges for stones. And he made engynes in Jerusalem by the crafte of artificers to be on þe towres & corners/ to shote arrowes & great stones w all. And his name spred farre abroade/ for he was wonderfyll holpe/ vntyll he was become myghty.

And in his greatnesse his hert arose/ & he was married: & transgressed agaynst þe Lorde his God. For he went in to the temple of the Lorde to burne censle vpon the altier of incense. But Asariah the preste went in after him with foure thowse prestes of the Lorde & were bolde men. And they stepte to Oziah & kyng & sayde to him: it pertayneth not to the Oziah to burne censle vnto the Lorde/ but to the prestes the chyldren of Aaron that are consecrate for to burne incense. Come out of the sanctuarie/ for thou hast trespassed/ and it shalbe no woth to þe before þe Lorde God.

ii. Reg. xxiij.

And Oziah was wroth & had censle in his hande to offer/ and in his indignaciō agaynst the preste/ & he lepye spage in his forehead before the prestes in the house of the Lorde/ euen besyde the incense altier. And Asariah the chefe preste w all the other prestes looked vpon hym: & behold he was a leper in his forehead/ & they bered him thence. And wher to he was fayne to go out/ because þe Lorde had plaged him. And Oziah the kyng cōtynued a lepre vnto the dape of his deethe & dwelt in an house at lybertye: how be it/ he was call out of the house of the Lorde. And Joatham his sonne had the gouernance of the kyng's house and iudged the people of the lande.

The rest of the actes of Oziah both fyrst and last/ dēd Isaiah the prophete the sonne of Amos wryte. And when Oziah was layde to rest with his fathers/ they buried him in his fathers in þe selde of the buriall of the kynge's. For they sayde: he is a leper. And Joatham his sonne raygned in his steade.

Joatham raygneth & ouer cometh the Ammonites. Ahas his sonne raygneth after hym.

The. xxiij. Chapter.

Joatham was. xvi. yere olde when he beganne to raygne/ and raygned. xvi. yere in Jerusalem. His mothers name was Jecaliah & daughter of Zadoc. And he dēd that pleased þe Lorde in all poyntes as dēd his father Oziah: saue/ that he came not to the temple of the Lorde/ and that the people dēd yet corrupt them selues. He built the hie gate of the temple of þe Lorde/ & on the walle Ophel he buylt moche. Wherfoze he built cypses in the mountaynes of Juda/ and in the wood coſtre he built castelles and towres.

And he fought with the kyng of þe chyldre of Ammon/ and preuayled agaynst the. And the chyldre of Ammon gaue him the same yere an hundred talētes of silver/ & tē thousande quarters of whete & as moche barleye. So moche also dēd þe chyldre of Ammon geue him the seconde yere and the thirde too. And Joatham became myghty/ because he directed his waye before the Lorde his God.

The rest of þe actes of Joatham & all his warres and his wayes are wrytten in the booke of the kynge's of Israel & Juda. He was. xvi. yere olde when he beganne to raygne/ & raygned. xvi. yere in Jerusalem. And whē Joatham was layde to rest with his fathers/ they buried hym in the cypse of Dauid: and Ahas his sonne raygned in his steade.

The wrychynesse of Ahas kyng of Juda. After him raygneth Hezekiah.

The. xxiiij. Chapter.

Ahas was. xx. yere olde when he beganne to raygne/ and raygned. xvi. yere in Jerusalem. And he dēd not that pleased the Lorde/ as dēd his father Dauid: but walked in þe wayes of the kynge's of Israel/ and made therto Baals of metall. And he offered censle in the baleye of þe chyldren of Hermon/ and burnt his chyldre in fyre after the abhominaciō of the nacions which þe Lord cast out before þe chyldre of Israel. And he offered burnt censle in his altiers and on mountaynes & vnder euery grene tre.

Wherfoze þe Lorde his God deliuered him into the hand of the kyng of the Sircians: whych bet hym & carped awaye a great multitude of his captiue in to Damascus. And wher to he was deliuered into the hande of the kyng of Israel whych slue of his a myghty slaughter. For Phalach þe sonne of Remeliah slue in Juda an hundred & twēty thousand in one dape/ & all fyghtinge men: & that because they had forsaken þe Lorde God of their fathers. And Zechi a myghty man in moſt Ephraim slue Maasiah the kynges sonne/ & Asiram the Lorde guarde of household/ and Elcanah that was next to the kyng. And the children

remnant of you that are escaped out of the hands of the kynge of Assur. And he ye not lyke your fathers and your brethren which trespassed agaynst the Lord of your fathers/ whych therfore gaue them by that they are wasted as ye be. Wherfore he not styfened lyke unto your fathers/ but yelde your selues vnto the Lord/ & come to his holy place which he hath sanctified for euer/ and serue the Lord your God/ that hys myght maye turne fro you. For ye ye turne vnto the Lord/ then your brethren & your children shall fynde compassion in the presence of the Lord that holde the captiue/ that they maye come agayne vnto this lande: for the Lord your God is full of mercye and compassyō/ & wyl not turne hys face from you/ ye ye turne agayne to him.

And the postes went from ctye to ctye thozou oute the lande of Ephraim and Manasse & eue vnto Zabulō. But they laughed them to scorn & mocked the. Neuertheless yet byuerse of Asser/ Manasse and of Zabulon meakened the selues & came to Jerusalem. And therto the hād of God was in Juda/ to make the of one accord to do the commaundement of the kyng & the capitaynes/ whych was accordyng to the worde of the Lord. And so there assembled to Jerusalem moche people & a myghtie great congregacion/ to holde the feast of twete byrade in the seconde moneth.

And they arose and put away the alters that were in Jerusalem. And therto all the incense they byd away & cast the into the broke Cedron. And they flue passerouer the fourtene daye of the second moneth. And the prestes & Leuites sanctified the selues for blame/ & brought in the burntofferings into the house of the Lord. And they stode in their standing after their maner accordyng to the lawe of Moyses the mā of God. And the prestes sprynkled the bloude receauynge it of the handes of the Leuites. And because there were many in the congregacion that were not sanctified: and therfore byd the Leuites fley passerouer for all that were not cleane to sanctifye the to the Lord.

There was very moche people oute of Ephraim/ Manasse/ Issachar and Zabulon that were not cleane/ and therfore byd eate passerouer otherwyle then wytyngge specyfeth. But Hezekiah prayed for the & sayd: O good Lord be mercifull to all that sett their hertes to seke the God that is the Lord God of their fathers/ though they do it not accordyng to the cleanness of the holy place. And the Lord heard Hezekiah & healed the people. And so the chyldren of Israel that were founde at Jerusalem/ helde the feast of twete byrade seuen dayes with great gladnesse/ and the Leuites and the prestes prayed the Lord day by day with lowde instrumentes.

And Hezekiah spake hertely vnto the Leuites that had good vnderstanding of the Lord. And they bydeate that seuen dayes long & offered peaceofferings & thanked the Lord God of their fathers. And the hoale assemble toke counsell to kepe seuen dayes more: & they helde those seuen dayes with gladnesse. For Hezekiah kyng of Juda gaue for heaucofferings to the congregacion a thousand oxen & seuen thousand shepe. And the Lord gaue to the congregacion for heaucofferings a thousand oxen & ten thousand shepe. And the prestes sanctified them selues/ that they were ynowe.

And all the congregacion of Juda with the prestes & Leuites/ & all the congregacion that came out of Israel and the straungers/ both that came out of the lande of Israel and that dwelt in Juda/ reioysed: & there was great ioye in Jerusalem. For sence the tyme of Salomon the sonne of Dauid kyng of Israel it happened not so in Jerusalem. And the prestes & the Leuites arose & blessed the people/ and their voyce was heard/ & their prayer went vnto his holy dwelling place heauen.

After Hezekiah had called agayne the people vnto the worde of the Lord: he wrotyng the prestes vnto whiche he commaunded to geue tythes.

The xxxi. Chapter.

And whē they had finished all this: then all Israel that were founde in the ctyes of Juda/ went oute and brake the images & cut downe the grooues/ and all to brake the hyaulters and other alters thozou out all Juda & Beniamin/ Ephraim and Manasse/ vntyll they had made an ende of the. And afterwarde all the chyldren of Israel returned euery man to his possession in their awne ctyes.

And Hezekiah set the prestes and the Leuites in their ordre to waite by course/ euery mā accordyng to his office whither preste or Leuite: so the burntofferings/ & peaceofferings/ & to minstre & to thanke and to praye in the gates of the lodge of the Lord. And the kyng gaue a porcyon of his substance for burntofferings at moynynge & eue/ & for burntofferings on the Saboth dayes & new mones & other solempne feasts/ accordyng as it is wytyt in the lawe of the Lord. And he had the people that dwelt in Jerusalem to geue the parte of the prestes & Leuites/ that they myght be maintained in the lawe of the Lord. And as sone as the worde came abroad the chyldren of Israel brought aboundance of fyrt frutes of corne/ wyne/ oyle & honye/ & of all maner of thyngs brought they in pleteously. And the chyldren of Israel and Juda that dwelt in the ctyes of Juda/ they also brought in the tythes of oxen & shepe/ & tythes of dedycate thyngs which which were dedicated to the Lord their God/ and put the on heapes. In the thirde moneth they beganne to laye the heapes/ & synedhen them the seuenth.

And whē Hezekiah and the Lordes came & saw the heapes/ they blessed the Lord and his people Israel. And Hezekiah questioned with the prestes & the Leuites concernyng the heapes. And Azariah the chiefe preste of the house of Zadock answered him and sayde sence they beganne to byrge the heaucofferings into the house of the Lord/ we haue eaten and had ynough/ and yet left abundance/ for the Lord hath blessed his people/ and therof is this heape left. And Hezekiah bade byde by the house aboute the house of the Lord. And so they byd/ and caried in the heaucofferings and the tythes and the dedycat gyftes euen of sydelte.

Ouer which Chonaniah the Leuite had the rule. Semei his brother next to him. And Jehiel/ Azariah/ Mahath/ Isaiel/ Jerimoth/ Josabab/ Eliel/ Jesmachiah/ Mahath and Bananiah were ouer sears ordeyned by Chonaniah and Semei his brother/ at the appoyntment of Hezekiah the kyng/ and Azariah the ruler of the house of God. And Choze the sonne of Jemima the Leuite porter of the east doore had the ouersight of the frewillofferings of God/ to geue heaucofferings vnto the Lord/ and was ouer thynges most holy. And vnder him were Eden/ Miniamin/ Jesua/ Semeiah/ Amariah and Secheniah in the ctyes of the preste of their sydelte/ to geue to their brethren their porcyons/ as well to the small as to the great.

And to the males also that were rehed from thye yere and aboute amonge all that wēt in to the house of the Lord day by day/ to do seruyce and to waite by course. And to the prestes that were rehed in the householdes of their fathers from twente yere & aboute/ to waite when their courses came. And to them that were rehed thozou out all their babes/ wyues/ sonnes and daughters thozou out all the congregacion. For to the sydelte of the byd men comitt their sanctified gyftes. And therto amonge the chyldren of Aaron the prestes were men named by name in the felde of the suburbs of all their ctyes/ ctye by ctye/ for to geue porcyons to all the males of the prestes/ and to all that were rehed amonge the Leuites.

And of this maner byd Hezekiah thozou out all Juda/ and byd that was good/ ryghte and true/ before the Lord his God. And in all the wyches that he beganne in the seruyce of the house of God/ to seke his God after the lawe and commaundement/ that byd he with all his herte/ and prospered.

Sennacherib which shulde haue be seged Jerusalem to ryche of the Kingell. Hezekiah dyeth after whiche succeeded Manasse.

The xxxii. Chapter.

After these dead & true/ Sennacherib kyng of Assur came & entered in to Juda & pitched agaynst the stronge ctyes & thought to draw the to him. And when Hezekiah saw that Sennacherib was come and that he was purposed to fyght agaynst Jerusalem: he toke counsell id his capitaynes & men of might/ to stoppe the water of the fountaynes that were without the ctye: & they were content to helpe hym. And so there gathered moche people to geather & stoppe all the welles & the broke that ranne thozou the myddes of the lande/ entendinge the kyng of Assur shulde not fynde moche water when they came. And he wēt to luffe/ & built by the walle where it was broken/ and made towres aboute vpon/ & yet another walle without/ and repayed the walle the ctye of David/ and made many bartes & milles.

And he sett Capitaynes of warre ouer the people & gathered the to geather into the large strete of the gate of the cite & spake ientelye to them/ sayng. Plucke by your hertes and be strong: Be not afrayed or in any wyse discouraged for byrade of the kyng of Assur/ & of great multitude that is with him: for there is one greater with vs then id him with him. Is an arme of flesh: But with vs is the Lord our God for to helpe vs and to fyght our batayles. And the people were well couraged with the wordes of Hezekiah kyng of Juda.

After that Sennacherib kyng of Assur sent of his seruantes to Jerusalem/ he hym self yinge before Lachis & all his kyngdom id him/ vnto Hezekiah kyng of Juda & vnto all Juda that were at Jerusalem sayng. Thus sayth Sennacherib kyng of Assur: where in do ye trust? ye are be seged in Jerusalem: Hezekiah deceaueth you/ to deliuer you to death/ hōgre/ & thurst/ sayng: the Lord our God shall rydde vs out of the hād of the kyng of Assur. Is it not that Hezekiah put downe his hyaulters & his other alters/ & commaunded Juda and Jerusalem sayng: before one altar ye shall bowe your selues & vpon offer also.

Ouerhaue ye not heard what I & my fathers haue done vnto the people of all landes: were the Gods of the people of other landes able to saue their lades out of my hād? which of all the Gods of those nacjons that my fathers destroyed was it/ that coulde deliuer his people out of myne hand/ that your God shuld be able to deliuer you out of myne hande: wherfore now lett not Hezekiah deceaue you ether perswade you of thys facyon/ nor yet beleue hym. For as no God amonge amonge so manye nacjons & kyngdomes / was able to rydde hys people out of myne hande & the handes of my fathers: eue so moche lesse shall poure God kepe you oute of myne hande. And yet moare dyd his seruante speake agaynst the Lord God & agaynst his seruante Hezekiah. And thereto he wrote a letter to saile on the Lord God of Israel & spake therein sayng: as the Gods of the nacjons of other landes haue not deliuered their people out of myne hande / no moare shall the God of Hezekiah deliuer hys people out of myne hande. And they cryed wyth a lowde voyce in the serues speache vnto the people of Jerusalem & were on the walles / to feare them and to dysmaye them / that they myght haue taken the ctyte.

And they spake agaynst the God of Jerusalem / as agaynst the Gods of the nacjons of the earth / which are the worke of the handes of men.

But Hezekiah the kyng and the prophete Isaias sonne of Amos prayd concerning the ctyte & cryed vnto heauen. And the Lord sent an angell & destroyed all the me of warre and the Lord & capitaynes of the hoste of the kyng of Assur / & he turned his face with shame towarde his awne lande. And whē he was come in to the house of his God / he was there ouerthrowen wth the swerde euē by the that issued oute of hys bowelles. And so the Lord saued Hezekiah & the inhabytters at Jerusalem out of the handes of Sennacherib kyng of Assur & of all other / & mayntened the on all thyngs. In so moche that manye brought presentes vnto the Lord to Jerusalem and precious gyftes to Hezekiah kyng of Iuda: so that he was magnified in the sight of all nacjons from thence forth.

In those dayes Hezekiah was sycke vnto the death and besought the Lord: whych answered him & shewed him a wonderfull myracle. But Hezekiah dyd not accordyng to the cursethe shewed him / for his hert arose: and therfore came there wrath vpon hym & vpon Iuda and Jerusalem. Not withstanding Hezekiah mekened hym selfe for the synne of hys herte / bothe he and the inhabytters of Jerusalem. wherfore the wrath of the Lord fell not vpon them in the dayes of Hezekiah.

And Hezekiah had excedyng moche rychesse & honoure. And he gathered hym treasure of syluer / goude / precious stones / spices / myrrours & of all maner pleasant fuelles: & made stowe houses for the frutes of come / wyne & oyle: & stables for all maner of bestes / and foldes for shepe. And he made hym towynes because he had cattell of wepe & oren great aboundance. For God had geuen hym substaunce excedyng moche. And the sayde Hezekiah stoppeth the upper water sprynges of Syhon & brought them downe to the well of the ctyte of David. And Hezekiah prospered in all his woorkes. But when the balladours of the Lordes of Babylon were sent to him to enquire of the wonder & chastyce in the land / God leste him: so tempte hym & all that was in his hert myght be knowne.

The rest of the doos of Hezekiah and his goodnesse are writte in the bkyon of Isaias the prophete the sonne of Amos in the booke of the kynges of Iuda and Israel. And then Hezekiah layde hym to rest wth hys fathers / and they buryed hym in the best sepulchre of the sonnes of David: and Iuda & the inhabytters of Jerusalem dyd hym worshippe at his death. And Manasseh his sonne reigned in his steade.

Manasseh was taken prisoner / and after he cometh ouer he dwelt wth the Idoles. He dyeth / and after him succeedeth Amos. After Amos was kylled of his awne people / Josiah his sonne reigned for him.

The xxiii. Chapter.

Manasseh was .xiiij. yere olde whē he was made kyng / & reigned in yere .48. in Jerusalem. And he dyd wiche wyse in the syght of the Lord / lyke vnto the abhominacions of the bethen which the Lord cast out befoze the chyldren of Israel. For he wēt to & buyt agayne the hylaulters which Hezekiah his father had bryghte downe. And he retyed vnto altars vnto Baals & made groues & bowed hym selfe vnto all the host of heauē and serued them. And he buyt altars in the house of the Lord: of which the Lord had sayde * in Jerusalem shall my name be for euer. And he made altars vnto all the hoste of heauen in the two courtres of the house of the Lord. And he burnt his chyldren in fyre in the bale of the sonnes of Beniamon. And he obserued dysmalle dayes & occupied wichecraft & soothsay / and mayntened wycheecraft with spyrtes & sears of fortunes: & wrought moche euell in the syght of the Lord / to angre hym with all.

And he put the heryed Image of an Idole which he had made / in the house of God. Of which house God sayde to David and to Salomon his sonne / in this house here in Jerusalem which I haue chosen out of all the tribes / * I will put my name for euer / & no moare bryng I seate of Israel fro of the land which I haue ordeyned for youre fathers. If so be they walbe diligent to doo all I haue commaunded by Moyses in all the lawe ordynaces and maners. But Manasseh made Iuda and the inhabytters of Jerusalem to erre and to do wyse then the heathē which the Lord destroyed befoze the chyldren of Israel. And when the Lord spake to Manasseh & to hys people / they attended not to him.

Wherfore the Lord brought vpon them the Capitaynes of the hoste of the kyng of Assur /

Assur / which took Manasseh in an holde and bounde hym wth chaynes & caried hym to Babylon. And when he was in tribulacyon he besought the Lord his God / & humbled hym selfe excedyngly befoze the God of hys fathers / & made intercedyon to hym: & he was entreated of hym and hearde hys prayer and brought hym agayne to Jerusalem into hys kyngdom. And then Manasseh knewe how the Lord was the very God.

After that he buyt a wall without the ctyte of David on the west syde of Syhon in the bryche & so forth to the gate & rounde aboute Syhon & brought it by of very a great heygth / & put capitaynes of warre in all the stronge cities of Iuda. And he toke awaye straunge Gods & the Idole out of the house of God / & all the altars that he had buyt in the mount of the house of God & in Jerusalem / & cast the out of the ctyte. And he made an altar vnto the Lord & sacrificed thereon peaceofferynges & thankofferynges / & charged Iuda to serue the Lord God of Israel. Neuertheless the people dyd offer styll in the hylaulters / how be it vnto the Lord their God onlye.

The rest of the actes of Manasseh and his prayer vnto the Lord / & the woordes of the sears of byssions & spake to him in the name of the Lord God of Israel / are writte amonge the deades of the kyngs of Israel. And his prayer & how that he was hearde / & all hys synne & trespase / & the places wher he made hylaulters & set by hylaultes & heryed Images befoze he was mekened / are writte amonge the deades of the sears of byssions. And when Manasseh was layde to rest wth his fathers / they buryed hym in his awne house: and Amos hys sonne reigned in his towne. Amos was .xiiij. yere olde / when he beganne to reigne / & reigned two yere in Jerusalem. And he dyd & displeased the Lord lyke vnto Manasseh his father / for Amos sacrificed to all the heryed Images which Manasseh his father made / & serued them / & mekened not hym selfe befoze the Lord as Manasseh his father had mekened hymselfe. But Amos trespassed greatly. Wherfore his awne seruantes conspired agaynst hym and slue hym in his awne house. And the people of the land slue all that had conspired agaynst kyng Amos. And thereto the people of the land made Josiah his sonne kyng in his towne.

Josiah destroyed the Idoles & restored the temple in which is founde the booke of the lawe. He sendeth to Heliah the prophete for counsell.

The xxiii. Chapter.

Heliah was made kyng when he was .viiij. yere olde / & he reigned in Jerusalem .xiiij. yere. And he dyd & pleased the Lord / & walched in the wayes of David his father bowyng nether to the ryght hande or to the lefte. In so moche that the eight yere of his raigne / whē he was yet a lad / he beganne to seke after the God of David his father. And in the twelue yere he beganne to purye Iuda & Jerusalem of hylaulters / groues / heryed Images / and Images of metall: so that they brake downe the altars of Baals euē in his presence / & the ydoles that were vpon the / he caused to be destroyed. And the groues / heryed Images / and Images of metall he brake & made dust of the / & strawed it vpon the graues of the that had offered to the. And he burnt the bones of the prestes vnto the altars / & cleynd Iuda and Jerusalem. And so dyd he in the ctytes of Manasseh / Ephraim / Simeon & of Nephthali thereto. And in the wyldernes of the rounde about he plucked a sondre the altars & the groues and dyd beate the & stampe them to powder / and bete downe the ydoles thorow out all the lande of Israel: & then returned to Jerusalem agayne.

And in the .xiiij. yere of his raigne whē he had purged the land & the temple / he sent Saphan the sonne of Azaliah / and Maasiah the gouernour of the ctyte and Joah the sonne of Joahaz the recorder / to repaire the house of the Lord his God. And when they came to Hezekiah the hys preste / men deliuered the money that was brought in to the house of God / which the Leuites that kept the enteries had gathered of the handes of Manasseh & Ephraim & of all that yet remained in Israel & of all Iuda & Benjamin & of the inhabytters of Jerusalem. And they put it in the handes of the wyche-men that had the ouersyght of the house of the Lord / which gaue it to the labourers that wrought on the house of the Lord / to repaire & mend it / & to masons and carpenters to be theywed stone & timber for to make coupls & beams for the houses which the kyngs of Iuda had destroyed. And the men wrought in the wyche of fidelitee.

And the ouer sears of the to courage them forwarde / were Jahath & Obadiah Leuites of the chyldre of Merari: and Secharia and Meshulam of the chyldre of the Cahathites / & as manye other of the Leuites as coude shille of instrumēttes of Musick. And ouer the beaers of burthens & ouer all that wrought / in whatsoeuer wyche-man shipe it were / were there scribes / officers & porters of the Leuites.

And as they brought out the money & was brought into the house / Hezekiah the preste founde the booke of the lawe of the Lord geue by Moyses. And Hezekiah answered and sayd to Saphan the scribe: I haue founde the booke of the lawe in the house of the Lord / & gaue the booke to Saphan. And Saphan caried the booke to the kyng / and brought the kyng worde agayne / sayng: all that was comitted to thy seruantes / that do they. And they haue potized out the money that was founde in the house of the Lorde and haue deliuered it to the hādes of the ouer sears of the workemen. And then Saphan the scribe shewed the kyng/ saying: Behold the prelate hath geuen me a boke/ and he read it before the kyng.

And whē the kyng had hearde the wordes of the lawe/ he tare his clothes/ & comaūded Helkiah and Ahikam the sonne of Saphan and Abadon the sonne of Micah & the scribe Saphan the scribe & Aiaia a seruant of the kynges/ saying: go & enquire of the Lord for me & for the people that are left in Israel and Juda/ concerning the word of the boke that is founde. For great is the wrath of the Lord that is fallē vpon vs/ because our fathers kept not the word of the Lord/ to do after all that is writtē in this boke.

¶ And Helkiah whē that pertayned to the kyng went to Holdah a propheticke wyfe of Selum the sonne of Chethoth the sonne of Hasarah keper of the wardrobe/ which propheticke dwelt in Jerusalem in the secōde wardē/ & they comuned so to her. And she sayde vnto the: thus sayth the Lord God of Israel/ tell ye the man that sent you to me. And thus sayth the Lord: se/ I will brynge euell vpon this place and vpon the inhabitants therof/ euen all the curses that are writtē in the boke which they haue reade before the kyng of Juda/ because they haue forsake me and haue offered vnto other gods to angre me in all maner worch of their hāds/ therfore is my wrath set on fyre agaynst this place & shall not be quenched.

And as for the kyng of Juda which sent you to enquire of the Lord/ so shall ye saye vnto him: thus sayth the Lord God of Israel concerning the word which thou hast hearde. Because thine hert dyd melt and thou dydest meke thy selfe before God whē thou heardest his wordes agaynst this place and agaynst the inhabitants therof/ & humbledst thy selfe before me/ and tarest thy clothes and wepest before me/ & haue heard also sayth the Lord. Beholde I will take the to thy fathers & thou shalt be put in thy graue in peace/ and thine eyes shall not se all the myscheue that I will brynge vpon this place & vpon the inhabitants of the same. ¶ And they brought the kyng worde agayne. ¶ Then the kyng sent & geathered to geather all the elders of Juda and Jerusalem. And the kyng went vp in to the house of the Lord/ & all the men of Juda and the inhabitants of Jerusalem & the prestes & Leuites & all the people great and smalle: & reade all the wordes of the boke of the couenaunt that was founde in the house of the Lord. And the kyng stode at his standynge & made a couenaunt before the Lord/ to folowe the Lord and to kepe his comaūdementes/ his ioynelles and his statutes with all his herte and with all his soule & to fulfyll the wordes of the appoyntment writtē in the sayde boke.

And he made to come forth all that were founde in Jerusalem and Benjamin/ & the inhabitants of Jerusalem promysed to kepe the couenaunt of the Lord which was the God of their fathers. And Josiah put away all maner of abhominacions out of all landes that pertayned to the chyldren of Israel/ and brought all that were founde in Israel to serue the Lord their God. And they turned not a syde fro after the Lord God of their fathers as long as he lyued.

¶ Josiah holdeth passeouer. He fyghteth agaynst the kyng of Egypt/ and dyeth. The people bryng hym.

¶ The xxv. Chapter.

¶ And Josiah helde the feast of passeouer vnto the Lord in Jerusalem/ in the fourth daye of the fyrst moneth. And he let the prestes in their offices & asyd them in the seruyce of the house of the Lord. And he sayde to the Leuites that taught thowow out all Israel and were sanctified vnto the Lord: put the holy arche in the house which Salomon the sonne of Dauid kyng of Israel did builde/ ye made not to beare it vpon your shoulders. Wherfore now serue the Lord your God & his people Israel. And prepare your selues by your auncient householde & companies/ accordyng to the wytyng of Dauid kyng of Israel/ and the wytyng of Salomon his sonne. And stande in the holy place accordyng to the deuytyng of the auncient householde of your brythre the chyldren of the people/ and after the deuytyng of the auncient householde of the Leuites/ & kept passeouer/ sanctifye & prepare your brythre that they may do accordyng to the word of the Lord by the hand of Moses.

And Josiah gaue to the comen people in lambs & kyddes/ for passeouer offeringes only/ vnto all that were present. xxx. thousande by tale/ & thre thousande oxen/ & of the kyngs substance. And his Lord gaue wyllinglye both vnto the people & also vnto the prestes & vnto the Leuites. Helkiah/ Zachariah & Jehiel/ rulers of the house of God/ gaue vnto the prelat for passeouer offeringes two thousand & fyre hundred lambs & kyddes/ & thre hundred oxen. And Comanah with Semeiah and Nathaneel his brythre/ and Dalabiah and Jaie and Josabab Lordes of the Leuites/ gaue vnto the Leuites fyue thousande passeouer offeringes/ & fyue hundred oxen.

And so the seruyce went forwarde: and the prelat stode in their places/ & the Leuites in their companies at the kynges comaūdement. And they stode passeouer: & the prelat sprynckled the bloude receauynge it of the Leuites/ and

and the Leuites stripte the beastes. And they set a waye the burnt offeringes/ to geue the vnto the comen people as they were deuyded by auncient house/ for to offer vnto the Lord/ lyke as it is wytyen in the boke of Moses. And so dyd they in the open to. And they brysted the passeouer with fyre as the maner was. But the other halowed beest that beastes they sodde in pottes/ caulderns & pannes & deuyded the quychlye amonge all the comen people. And afterwarde they made readye for them selues & for the prestes and for the chyldren of Aaron/ which were busied in offeringe of burnt offeringes & the fatt vntyll nyght. And therfore the Leuites prepared for the selues and for the prestes the sonnes of Aaron. And the syngers the chyldren of Asaph stode in their standynge accordyng to the comaūdement of Dauid and Asaph/ Oeman & Duthun the kynges sear of visions: & the porters wayted at euery gate/ and might not departe from their seruyce. But their brythre the Leuites prepared for the. And so all the seruyce of the Lord went forwarde the sayde daye/ in offeringe passeouer of burnt offeringes vpon the altier of the Lord/ accordyng to the comaūdement of kyng Josiah.

And so the chyldren of Israel that coulde be founde/ offered passeouer the same tyme and kepte the feast of stete brynde seuen dayes. And ther was no passeouer lyke to this/ kepte in Israel fro the tyme of Samuel the prophete: neither dyd anye of the kynges of Israel holde soche a passeouer feast as dyd Josiah and the prestes and Leuites & all Juda/ & as moche of Israel as coulde be had/ & the inhabitants of Jerusalem. And this passeouer was holdē in the xxv. yere of the reygne of Josiah.

¶ After all this/ whē Josiah had finished the temple/ Necho kyng of Egypt came by to fight agaynst Caranis vpon Euphrates/ and Josiah wēt out agaynst him. And the other sent messengers to him/ sayinge: what haue I to do with the thou kyng of Juda? I came not agaynst the nowe at this tyme/ but agaynst an house with whom I haue warre/ and God bade me haue. Leane of therfore and medle not in God which is to me/ leaste he destroye the. Neuertheless Josiah turned not his face fro him/ but made hym readye to fyght with him/ & hearkenē not vnto the wordes of Necho out of the mouth of God. And when he was come to fyght in the baley of Magado/ the shoters shotte agaynst the kyng Josiah. And the kyng sayde to his seruants: carie me awaye/ for I am sore hurt. And his seruantes had him out of the charet and put him in a nother/ & brought him to Jerusalem where he dyed & was buried in the sepulchre of his fathers. ¶ And all Juda & Jerusalem mourned for Josiah. And Jeremias lamented Josiah/ & all syngynge men & syngynge women speake of Josiah to this daye/ & made it an ordinaunce in Israel: & they be wyttē in lamentacions. The rest of the actes of Josiah & his goodnes in folowynge the wytyng of the lawe/ & his deades fyrst & last are wyttē in the boke of the kynges of Israel and Juda.

¶ After Josiah reyneth Jehoahaz/ after Jehoahaz Jehonim after Jehoahaz Jehonim/ after Jehoahaz Zedekiah/ in whose tyme all the people were caried awaye to Babilon and were brought agayne. lxx. yere after/ by kyng Cyrus.

¶ The xxvi. Chapter.

¶ And the people of the lande toke Jehoahaz the sonne of Josiah & made hym kyng for his father in Jerusalem. And Jehoahaz was xiii. yere olde whē he beganne to raigne/ & he reigned thre monethes in Jerusalem. For the kyng of Egypt put him downe at Jerusalem & merced the lande in an hundred talentes of syluer & a talent of goulde. And the kyng of Egypt made Eliahim his brother kyng vpon Juda & Jerusalem/ & turned his name vnto Jehoahaz/ but Jehoahaz had his brother Necho toke & caried him to Egypt. And Jehoahaz was xxi. yere olde whē he beganne to raigne/ & he reigned a xi. yere in Jerusalem: & he dyd that displeased the Lord his God. Agaynst him came Nabucho donozor kyng of Babilon & bounde hym in fetters to carie him to Babilon. Therto the kyng Nabuchodonozor caried of the vessels of the house of the Lord to Babilon and put them in his temple at Babilon. The rest of the actes of Jehoahaz & his abhominacions/ and that was layde to his charge/ are wyttē in the boke of the kynges of Israel: and Jehoahaz had his sonne reigned in his stede. Jehoahaz was xiii. yere olde whē he beganne to raigne/ & he reigned thre monethes & ten dayes in Jerusalem: & dyd that displeased the Lord. And whē he was out/ kyng Nabuchodonozor sent and fet him to Babilon with the goodlye vessels of the house of the Lord/ & made Zedekiah his brother kyng ouer Juda & Jerusalem. ¶ Here brother Josiah is taken for vnto the tyme of the speache of the prophet.

¶ And Zedekiah was xxi. yere olde when he beganne to raigne/ & reigned a xi. yere in Jerusalem. And he dyd that displeased the Lord his God/ & humbled not him selfe before Jeremias the prophete at the mouth of the Lord. And therto he rebelled agaynst Nabuchodonozor which had receaued on othe of hym by the Lord/ & was to fyne necked & to harde herted to turne vnto the Lord God of Israel. Therto all the rulers of the prestes with the people trespassed a pace after all maner of abhominacions of the hethen & polluted the house of the Lord which he had halowed in Jerusalem.

And the Lord God of their fathers sent to the by his messengers/ sendynge the be tyme/ for the

for he had compassyon on hys people and on his dwellynge place. But they mocked the messengers of God and despised their wordes & myste bled his prophetes / untill the wrath of the Lord so arose agaynst hys people that it was past remedie. And so he brought vnto them the kynge of Caldeye & slue their young men with þe swerde in their holy temple / & nether spared younge man nor mayden / nether olde man / nether so moche as hym þe stowped for age: But gaue all into his hande.

And all þe vessels of þe house of God bothe great and smalle/ & the treasures of þe house of God/ & the treasures of the kynge and hye Lord/ he caried to Babilon euery whit. And they burnt the house of God & brake downe the walles of Ierusalem / and burnt all the palaces therof with fyre with all the goodly stoffe therof / and marred it. And he caried awaye them that had escaped the swerde / to Babilon / where they were seruantes to him & his chyldren / vntill the kynghom of Persia beganne to rule / to fullfyll the worde of the Lorde by the mouthe of Ieremial / vntyll þe lande had her pleasure of her Sabothes: for as longe as she laye desolate / she keppe Saboth vntyll she had fullfylled .lxx. yeres.

The first Chapter.

• 1984-1985

In the fyrst yere of Cyrus kynge of Persia (that the woorde of the Lorde spoke* by the mouth of Jeremy myght be fulfilled) the Lorde stered by the spere of Cyrus kynge of Persia, & he caused it be proclaimed thorow out all his empyre, &c. and by wyrtynge also,

capit: Thus sayth Cyrus þe kyng of Persia:
The Lorde God of heauē hath geuen me all the kyngdomes in the lande* and hath com- Era. xliij. maunded me to buyde him an house at Ieru-salem in Iuda. Whosoever now among you is of his people/ the Lorde his God be wyth him/ & let him go by to Ierusalem in Iuda/& buyde the house of the Lorde God of Israel. He is the God that is at Ierusalem. And whosoever remaineth yet in eny maner of of place (where he is a straunger) let the men of his place helpe him with syluer & goulde/with good & cattell/ besyde þe which they wyllynge offer/ for þe house of God at Ierusalem.

Then gat by p pynce pall fathers of Juda and BenJamin / & the prelates and Leuites / & all they whose spzee God had rayed to go by / and to buyde the house of p Lorde at Jerusalem. And all thep that were aboute them / strenghted their hand with vessels of syluer and golde / with good & catell / and Jewels / helpe that which they gaue of their awne frewill. And kynge Cyrus brought forth of the vessels of the house of the Lorde / which Nabuchodonozor had taken oute of Jerusalem / & put in the house of his God. But Cyrus the kynge of Persia brought th^e forth by Mithridates the treasurer / numbred the bnto Sefbazar the pynce of Juda. And this is the numbre of the: thirtie balens of goulde / and a thousand balens of syluer / & nyne and twentie knyues / thirtie cuppes of goulde / & of other syluer cuppes foure hundred & ten / and of other vessels a thousande. So that all p vessels both of goulde & syluer / were fyue thousand & foure hundred. Sefbazar brought them all by / with the that came by out of p captiuite of Babilon bnto Jerusalem.

i. Para. xviij. b.

And when the seventh month came / in the captivity of Israel were now gathered even as one man / unto Jerusalem. And there stood by Jesus the sonne of Josedec and his brethren the priests / and Zorobabel the sonne of Salathiel a his brethren / and buylded the aultare of the God of Israel / to offre burntofferings thereon / as it is wrytten in the lawe of Moses the man of God / a the aultare set they by his sockettes (for there was a fearfulness amonge them because of the nations and landes) and offered burntofferings thereon unto the Lorde * in the morninge and at even. And helde a feast of Tabernacles as it is wrytten / and offered burntofferings daylye in order / according to the custome / daye by daye. Afterwarde the daylye burntofferings also / and of the new Moones & of all the feast dayes of the Lorde that were halowed / and all manner of frewill offerings / which they dyd of their awne fre will unto the Lorde.

Upon the xxiij. daye of the seventh month beganne they to offre burntofferings unto the Lorde. But the foundation of the temple of the Lorde was not yet layed. Nevertheless they gaue money unto the masons and carpenters / and meate and drynke and oyle unto them of Zidon and of Tyre / to buyng the Cedre tymber from Libanus by See unto Cyprus the kynge of Persia.

In the seconde yere of their commynge into the house of God at Jerusalem in the seconde month / beganne Zorobabel the sonne of Salathiel / and Jesus the sonne of Josedec / a the remnant of their brethren the priests and Levites / and all they that were come out of the captivite unto Jerusalem / a appoynted the Levites from twentye yere olde and above / to se that the worke of the house of the Lorde went forwarde. And Jesus stode with his sonnes and brethren / and Cadmiel with his sonnes / and the chyldren of Juda / to fortifye the workemen of the house of God / namelye the chyldren of Henadab with their chyldren and their brethren the Levites.

And when the buylders layde the foundation of the temple of the Lorde / the priests stode in their arraye / with trompettes. And the Levites the chyldren of Asaph with cymballes / to praye the Lorde * after the maner of David kynge of Israel. And they sang to geather / geuyng praye and thanks unto the Lorde / because he is gracious / and because his mercy endureth for ever upon Israel. And all the people shouted loude in praisinge the Lorde / because the foundation of the house of the Lorde was layde. Manye also of the olde prestes and Levites and auncient fathers / which had sene the fyrst house / wher the foundation of this house was layed before their eyes / wepte with a loude voyce. And many shouted with joye / so that the noyse gaue a great sounde / in so much that the people coulde not knowe the ioyfull sounde for the noyse of the wepyng amonge the people: for the people shouted with a loude crye / so that the noyse was herde farre of.

The buyldynge of the temple is hyndered / and let.

The.iii. Chapter.

And when the adversaries of Juda and Benjamin heard / that the chyldren of the captivite buylded the temple unto the Lorde God of Israel / they came to Zorobabel and to the principall fathers / and sayde unto them: we will buyde with you: for we seke the Lorde your God lyke as ye do. And we have done sacrifice unto him: sence the tyme that Asor Hadon the kynge of Assyria broughte us byther. But Zorobabel and Jesus and the other auncient fathers of Israel answered them: It belongeth not to you / but to us to buyde the house unto our God: for we are selues will buyde alone unto the Lorde our God of Israel. * as Cyrus the kynge of Persia hath commaunded us.

Then the folke of the lande hyndered the people of Juda / and made them afrayed to buyde / and hyndred their deuyce / as long as Cyrus the kynge of Persia lyved / buttill the raigne of Darius kynge of Persia. But when Hasmith was kynge / in the begynnyng of his raigne wrote they unto hym a complainte agaynst them of Juda and Jerusalem.

And in the tyme of Artaxerxes / wrote Belsai / Mithredates / Gabiel and the other of their counsell unto Artaxerxes the kynge of Persia. But the scripture of the letter was wrytten in the Syrians speech / and was interpreted in the langage of the Syrians. Rehum the chaunceler / and Samai the scribe / wrote this letter agaynst Jerusalem to Artaxerxes the kynge.

We Rehum the chaunceler / and Samai the scribe / and other of the counsell of Babilon / of Arphasath / of Carpiat / of Persia / of Babilon / of Susan / of Media / and of Elam / and other of the people / whom the greates and noble Menaphar broughte over / and set in the cities of Samaria / and other on this syde the water / and * in Eneeth. And this is the summe of the letter that they sent unto kynge Artaxerxes.

By servauntes the men on this syde the water and in Eneeth. We it knowne unto the kynge / kyng / that the Jewes are come by from the to bylded Jerusalem a cite sedycious and frowarde / and buyde the same / and laye the foundation of the walles therof / and repayre them. Be it knowne now therfore unto the kynge / that if this cite be buylded and the walles made by agayne / then shall not they geue tribute / tolles / and yearly custome / * a but unto the kynge shall this hurt redownde. But now that we all are thereby which destroyed the temple / we wolde no longer se the kynge dishonoure. Therfore sent we out / a caused the kynge to be certified therof: That it maye be soughte in the Chronycles of thy progenitours / and so shalt thou fynde in the same Chronycles / a perceave / that this cite is sedycious a noysome unto kynge a lād / and that they cause other also to rebell of olde / a for the same cause was this cite destroyed. Therfore do we certifie the kynge / that if this cite be buylded / and the walles therof made by / thou shalt kepe nothyng on this syde the water by the reason of it.

Then sent the kynge an answer unto Rehum the chaunceler / and Samai the scribe / a to the other of their counsell that dwelt in Samaria / a unto the other beyonde the water. Peace a salutation. The letter which ye sent unto us / hath bene openly red before me / and I have commaunded to make search: and it is founde / that this cite of olde hath made insurrection agaynst kynge / a how the bytore a rebellion hath bene committed therein. There have bene manye kynge also at Jerusalem which have raigned over all that is beyonde the water / a tolles / tribute a yearly custome was geuen unto them. Do ye now after this commaundement / forbyd the same men / that the cite be not buylded / till I have geue commaundement. Take hede now that ye be not negligent here in / lest the kynge have harme there thorow.

Now when kynge Artaxerxes letter was red before Rehum the chaunceler and Samai the scribe and their counsell / they went by in all the haste to Jerusalem unto the Jewes / a forbad the with byolence and power. Then ceased the worke of the house of God at Jerusalem / a continued so unto the seconde yere of Darius kynge of Persia.

By the exhortacion of Aggeus and Zacharye the temple buylded agayne.

The.iiij. Chapter.

The Prophetes / Aggeus and Zacharye the sonne of Ido / prophesied unto the Jewes that were in Juda and Jerusalem / in the name of the God of Israel. Then gat by Zorobabel the sonne of Salathiel / and Jesus the sonne of Josedec / and beganne to buyde the house of God at Jerusalem / and with them the Prophetes of God which helped them. At the same tyme came to them Hathanaï the captayne on this syde the water / and Satharbazanaï / and their counsellors / and sayde thus unto them: Who hath commaunded you to buyde this house / and to make by the walles therof? Then tolde we the names of the men / that made this buyldynge. But the eye of their God came by the Elders of the Jewes / that they coulde not cause them to ceasse / till the matter was brought before Darius / and till they had answered by letters therunto.

This is the coppe of the letter that Hathanaï the captayne on this syde the water / and Satharbazanaï / and their counsellors of Aphasach / which were on this syde the water / sent unto kynge Darius. And this is the content of the wordes that they sent unto hym: Unto Darius the kynge / All peace. We it knowne unto the kynge / that we came into Jewry to the house of the greates God / which is buylded by rough stone / a beames are layed in the walles / and the worke goeth fast forth / a prospereth in their handes. We asked therfore the Elders a sayde unto them: Who hath commaunded you to buyde this house / and to make by the walles therof? We asked their names also / that we myght certifie the / and have wrytten the names of the men that were their rulers.

But they answered us with these wordes / and sayde: We are the servauntes of the God of heauen and erth / a buyde the house that was buylded many yeres agoe / which a greates kynge of Israel buylded and set by. And after our fathers had prouoked the God of heauen unto wrath / he gaue the over in to the hande of Nabuchodonosor the kynge of Babilon / a Calder / which brake downe this house / and caryed the people awaye unto Babilon.

But in the fyrst yere of Cyrus the kynge of Babilon / the same kynge Cyrus commaunded to buyde this house of God / for he belles of goulde a silver in the house of God / which Nabuchodonosor toke out of the temple at Jerusalem / a brought the into the temple at Babilon / those byd Cyrus the kynge take out of the temple at Babilon / a delivred them unto Sathazar by name / who he made captayne / a sayde unto him. Take these vessels / go thy waye and buyng them unto the temple at Jerusalem / and let the house of God be buylded in his place. Then came the same Sathazar and layde the foundation of the house of God at Jerusalem. Sence that tyme hath it bene in buyldynge / and yet is it not finished. If it please the kynge now / lett there be search made in the kynge's treasure house which is at Babilon / whether it have bene

the kynge

kyng Cyrus comaunderment / that the house of God at Jerusalem shulde be buylded: a sende by the kynges mynde concerning the same.

At the comaunderment of Darius kyng of Persia after the temple was buylded and dedycatid: the chyldren of Israel kept the feast of vnleuened bredd.

The vii. Chapter.

13. Esdras.

Some reade. And there was a castle in a cistern in the land of Mesopotamia: there was founde a booke: in it was there an acte wyrtten after this maner: In the fyfth yere of kyng Cyrus / commaunded the same kyng Cyrus to buylde the house of God at Jerusalem: in the place where the sacrifice is made: to laye the foundation to beare the thre scoze cubyt height: the thre scoze cubytes bredth: the walles of roughe stones: a one wall of tymbre: the expences shalbe geue of the kyng house. And the goulde and syluer vessel of the house of God (which Nabuchodonosor toke out of the temple at Jerusalem: a brought unto Babylon) shalbe restozed agayne: that they maye be brought unto the temple at Jerusalem to their place into the house of God.

Get you farre fro the therfore: thou Chathanai captayne beyonde the water: a Scharbuzanai: a poure counsellors which are beyonde the water: get ye awaye from the. Let the woche in the house of God: that the captayne of the Jewes and their elders maye buylde the house of God in his place. I haue commaunded also: what shalbe done to the elders of Iuda for the buyldinge of the house of God: that there shall diligently be taken of the kynges goodes: euē of the rentes beyonde the water: and geue unto the men: and the they be not hyned. And if they haue nede of calues: lamber: or goates: for the burnt-offerynge vnto the God of heauē: wheate: salt: myne: a oyle: after the custome of the preast at Jerusalem: there shalbe geuen the daylie as is accordyng: a se that this be done with oute fault: that they maye offre swete sauoures vnto the God of heauē: a praye for the kyngs lyfe: a for his chyldre. This comaunderment haue I geue. And what mā so euer be that altereth these wordes: there shall a beame be take fro his house: a set by: a he shalbe haged theron: a his house shalbe pylded for the deade.

But the God that dwelleth in heauen: deuore all kynges a people: that put to their hande to alter: a to bryake downe the house of God at Jerusalem. I Darius haue commaunded: that this be diligently done.

Then Chathanai the captayne beyonde the water: and Scharbuzanai with their counsellors (to whom kyng Darius had sent) dyd their diligence. And the elders of the Jewes buylded: a they prospered thowto the prophete of Aggeus the prophet and Zachary the sonne of Ido: a they buylded: a set by the woche: accordyng to the comaunderment of the God of Israel: a after the comaunderment of Cyrus: Darius and Artaxerxes kynges of Persia. And they perfourmed the house vnto the thirde daye of the moneth Adar: the was in the fyfth yere of the raigne of kyng Darius.

And the chyldre of Israel: the preastes: the Leuites: a the other chyldre of the captiuite helde the dedycacion of the house of God with sope: a offered at the dedycacion of the house of God: an hundred calues: two hundred lamber: four hundred goates: a for the synofferynge for all Israel twelue he goates: accordyng to the nombze of the trybes of Israel: a set the preast in their courses: a the Leuites in their offyses to mynister vnto God which is at Jerusalem: as it is wyrtte in the booke of Moyses.

And the chyldren of the captiuite helde Passouer vnto the fourteenth daye of the fyfth moneth: for the preastes and Leuites had purged the selues: so that they were all cleane as one man: a kyled Passouer for all the chyldren of the captiuite: and for their brythren the preastes: and for them selues. And the chyldren of Israel which were come agayne out of captiuite: a all such as had separated the selues vnto them from the synnyng of the hepyen in the lande: to seke the Lord God of Israel: ate a helde the feast of vnleuened bred seue dayes with sope: for the Lord had made them glad: a turned the hert of the kyng of Assur vnto them: so that their handes were strenghted in the woche of the house of God: which is the God of Israel.

By the comaunderment of Artaxerxes: Esdras takeh his compaynours the chyldre of Israel: and returneth to Jerusalem.

The viii. Chapter.

After these actes in the raigne of Artaxerxes kyng of Persia: there went by fro Babylon: Esdras the sonne of Sathiah: the sonne of Asariab: the sonne of Helkiah: the sonne of Sheum: the sonne of Zador: the sonne of Ahitob: the sonne of Amariab: the sonne of Asariab: the sonne of Marathoth: the sonne of Sathiah: the sonne of Mzi: the sonne of Boki: the sonne of Abissua: the sonne of Phinehes: the sonne of Eleazar: the sonne of Aaron the preast. This Esdras was a quicke scribe in the lawe of Moyses: which the Lord God of Israel dyd geue. And the kyng gaue him all he requyred: accordyng to the hāde of the Lord his God vpon him. And there went by certayne of the chyldre of Israel: a of the preastes: and of the Leuites: of the syngers: of the porters: and of the of the Methunims vnto Jerusalem: in the seuenth yere of kyng Artaxerxes. And they came to Jerusalem in the fyfth moneth: that is the seuenth yere of the kyng. For vpon the fyfth daye of the fyfth moneth: deuylded he to go by from Babylon: and on the fyfth daye of the fyfth moneth came he to Jerusalem: accordyng to the good hande of God vpon him. For Esdras prepared his hert to seke the lawe of the Lord: and to do it: and to teach the precept and iudgment in Israel.

And this is the coppe of the letter: the kyng Artaxerxes gaue vnto Esdras the preast: the scribe: which was a teacher in the wordes of the Lord: a of his statutes ouer Israel. Vnto Esdras the preast and scribe in the lawe of the God of heauē: peace and saluacion. I haue commaunded: that all they of the people of Israel: and of the preastes and Leuites in my realme: which are mynded of their awne good wyll to go by to Jerusalem: that they go with the: beynge sent of the kyng: and of the seue Lordes of the counsell: to byset Iuda a Jerusalem: accordyng to the lawe of God: which is in the hand: And that thou shouldest take with the: syluer and goulde: which the kyng a the lordes of his counsell geue of their awne good wyll vnto the God of Israel: (whose habytacion is at Jerusalem) and all the syluer a goulde: the thou canst fynde in all the costre of Babylon: with it that the people a preast geue of their awne good wyll vnto the house of God at Jerusalem.

Take thou the same: a bye diligently to the same money: calues: lamber: goates: a meate offerynges: a bynke offerynges: to be offered vnto the altare of the house of poure God at Jerusalem. And loke what it lyeth the and the brythren: to do with the remnaunt of the money: the do after the wyll of poure God. And the vessels that are geuen the for the mynistracion in the house of the God: those deuyer thou before God at Jerusalem.

And whatsoeuer thyng moze shall be necessary for the house of the God: which is necessary for the to spende: let the same be geue out of the kyngs chamber. I kyng Artaxerxes haue commaunded all the treasures beyonde the water: that loke whatsoeuer Esdras the preast and scribe in the lawe of the God of heauen: requyeth of you: that ye fulfill the same diligently: vntill an hundred talentes of syluer: vntill an hundred quarters of wheate: and vntill an hundred Batthes of wyne: and vntill an hundred Batthes of oyle: and sale without measure. Whatsoeuer belongeth to the lawe of the God of heauē: let the same be done with diligence for the house of the God of heauē: that there come no wrath vpon the kynges realme and his chyldren.

And knowen be it vnto you: that ye shall haue no auctorite to requyre taxynge a custome: a yearly rentes vnto any of the preast: Leuites: syngers: porters: Methunims a mynisters in the house of this God. But thou Esdras (after the wysdome of the God that is in thy hande) sett thou iudges and arbyters: to iudge all the people that is beyonde Jordan: euen all such as knowe the lawe of the God: and them that knowe it not: those se that ye teache. And whosoever wyll not diligently fulfill the lawe of the God: and the kynges lawe: shall haue his iudgment: the deade whe: ther it be vnto deatch: or to be banished: or to be cōdemned in good: or to be put in prison.

Prayed be the Lord God of oure fathers: which so hath inspired the kyng: hert to garnish the house of God at Jerusalem: a hath enclined his mercie vnto me in the presence of the kyng: a his counsellors: and before all the kyngs hye estates. And I was counforted (accordyng to the hāde of the Lord my God ouer me) a so gathered I the heades of Israel to geather: that they myghte go by with me.

The nombze of them that returned to Jerusalem with Esdras.

The ix. Chapter.

These are the breddes of their fathers that were named: which wente by with me fro Babylon: what tyme as kyng Artaxerxes raigned. Of the chyldren of Phinehes: Bersom: of the chyldren of Phamar: Daniel: of the chyldren of David: Batus: of the chyldre of Zecanah: of the chyldren of Pharos: Zachary: a with him were nombzed an hundred a fyftie men. Of the chyldre of Pahath Moab: Elioenai the sonne of Sathiah: and with hym two hundred men. Of the chyldren of Zechanai: the sonne of Japhiel: and with hym the hundred men. Of the chyldren of Adin: Abed the sonne of Jonathan: and with hym fyftie men. Of the chyldren of Elam: Jhsah the sonne of Athaliah: and with hym seuentie men. Of the chyldren of Saphatias: Sabadiah the sonne of Michael: and with hym foure scoze men.

Of the chyldre of Joab: Obadiah the sonne of Jehiel: and with hym two hundred and cyghtene men. Of the chyldre of Selomith: the sonne of Josphiah: and with hym an hundred and thre men.

Of the chyldren of Bebai: Zachary the sonne of Bebai: and with hym cyght a twentye men. Of the chyldre of Bsgab: Johanan: the sonne of Bakatan: and with hym an hundred and ten men. Of the last chyldre of Adoniam: and these were their names: Eliphelet: Jehiel and Samalah: and with the thre scoze men. Of the chyldre of Begui: Uthai: and Sabud and with them seutye men. And gathered

I gathered the to gather by the water that raneth toward Ahaia/and there abode we three dayes. And whē I looked anōge & people and the preastes/ I founde no Leuites there.
Then sent I Eliezer/ Aziel/ Semeiah/ Eliathan/ Jarib/ Elnathan/ Nathan/ Zachary & Hosolam & rulers/ and Josarib and Eliathan the teachers/ & those sent I into the cheest at Casphia/ that they shulde fetch us mynters for the house of our God/ and I tolde the what they shulde saye vnto God and to his brythren the Bethinims at Casphia.

And (accoyng to the good hande of our God vpon vs) they brought vs a wyse man from amonge the chyldren of Moab the sonne of Levi the sonne of Israel/ euē Sa-rabia with his formes and brythē/ egyptene And Halabia/ and with him I saiah of the chyldren of Merari/ with his brythren and their formes/ twentie. And of the Bethinims/ whō David & the Prynces gaue to mynter vnto the Leuites/ two hundred and twentie/ all named by name.

And euen there at the water besyde Aha-ia/ caused I a fastyng to be proclaimed/ & we myghte humble our selues before our God/ to seke of him a ryghte waye for vs/ & our chyldren and all our substance. For I was ashamed to requyre of the kyng/ cou-nyngers and hoymen/ to helpe vs agaynst the enemye in the waye. For we had sayde vnto the kyng/ The hande of our God is vpon all them that seke him in goodnes/ and hys po-lence and wrath vpon all them that forsake him. So we fasted/ and soughte this at our God/ and he hearde vs.

And I toke out twelue of the chefe prea-stes/ Sarabia and Halabia/ and ten of their brythren with them/ and weyed them there the syluer and goulde and beels for & heueofferyng vnto the house of our God/ which the kyng and the Lozdes of hys counsell & prynces/ and all Israel that were at hande/had geue to the heueofferyng: & there weyed I them vnder their hande syre hundred & fyfte talentes of syluer/ & in syluer beell an hundred talentes/ and in goulde an hundred ta-lentes/ twentie cuppes of goulde of a thousande bymes/ and two costly ornaments of good byasse/ as cleare as goulde/ & sayde vnto them: Ye are holy vnto the Lord/ therfore are the beels holy also/ and so is the syluer & goulde that is geuen of a good wyll vnto the Lord God of your fathers: Watch ye therfore and kepe it/ tyll ye weye it downe before the chefe preastes and Leuites/ and auncest fathers of Israel at Jerusalem in the cheest of the house of the Lord. Then toke I prea-stes and Leuites that weyed syluer & goulde and beell/ to bryng it to Jerusalem vnto the house of our God. So we brake by/ from the water of Ahaia on the twelue daye of the fyrst moneth/ to go vnto Jerusalem: and the hande of our God was vpon vs/ and de-liuered vs from the hande of the enemyes & pysur wartynges by the waye. And we came to Jerusalem/ & abode there thre dayes. But on the fourth daye was the syluer and goulde/and beell weyed in the house of our God vnder the hande of Meremoth the sonne of Azariah the preast/ and with him Eleazar the sonne of Phinehes/ and with them Josabad the sonne of Telua/ and Moabiah the sonne of Benot & Leuites/ accoing to the nombre & weyght of euery one. And the weyght was all wyrtten by at the same tyme.

And the chyldren of the captyuite/ whych were come out of prysen/ offered burnt offerynges vnto the God of Israel: twelue bul-locks for all Israel/ syre & nyntye rāmes/seuen and seyntye lambes/ & twelue goates for a synofferyng/ all to the burnt offeryng of the Lord. And they deliuered the kynges comynge vnto the kynges officers/ & to the capytaynes on this syde the water. And they promoted the people and the house of God.

Eldras complayneth on the people that had turned them selues from God/ and married with the gentyls.
The ix. Chapter.

When all this was perfourmed/ the rulers came to me/ and sayde: The people of Israel/ and the preastes/and Leuites are not separatd frō the nacyns in the landes as touchyng their abhomynacions/ namely of the Cananites/Hethites/ Phereites/ Jebusites/ Ammonites/ Moabites/ Egyptians/ and Amozites.
For they haue taken the daughters of the same/ and their sonnes/ and haue myrte the holy sede with the nacyns in the landes: And the hand of the prynces and rulers hath bene pyncipall in this trespase.

Whē I hearde thys/ I rente my clothes and my rayment/ and plucte of the hearte of my heade and of my beard/ and late mour-nyng. And there resorted vnto me all such as feared the worde of the Lord God of Israel because of the greate transgredyon. And I late mourninge vntill the euengye sacryfyce. And aboute the euengye sacryfyce I rose by from my heuynges/ and rete my clothes and my rayment/ and fell vpon my knees/ & syred out my handes vnto the Lord my God/and sayde.

O Lord God/ I am ashamed/ and darre not lyfte by myne eyes vnto the my God: for our wyckednes are growne ouer our heede/ & our trespases are woren greate vnto the heauen. Hence the tyme of our fathers haue we bene in greate trespase vnto this daye/ and because

because of our wyckednes haue we and our kynges bene deliuered into the hāde of the kynges of the nacyns/ in to the swerde/in to captiuite/ in to spoyll/ and into confusion of face/ as it is come to passe thys daye.

But now is there a lytle and sodayne gra-cioulnes come from the Lord our God/ so that some of vs are escaped/ & he maye geue vs a nape in hys holy place/ that our God maye lyghte our eyes/ and geue vs a lytle lyfe in our bondage. For we are bondmen/& our God hath not forsake vs in our bondage/ and hath enclined mercy vnto vs in the syghte of the kynges of Persia/ & he shulde geue vs lyfe/ and promote the house of our God/ & to sett by the desolacyon therof/ & to geue vs an hedge in Iuda and Jerusalem.

And now O our God/ what shall we saye after this: for we haue forsake thy commaun-demētes/ which thou hast comaunded by thy seruautes the prophetes/ and sayde: The lande vnto which ye go to possesse it is an vncleane lande thowm & fylthynes of the people of the landes/ in their abhominacyōs wherwith they haue made it full of vncienness on euery syde.

Therfore shall ye not geue your daughters vnto their sonnes/ and their daughters shall ye not take vnto your sonnes/and seke not their peace and welth for euer/that ye maye be stronge/ and enioye the good in the lande/ and that ye and your chyldren maye haue the inheritaunce of it for euermore.

And after all thys that is come vpon vs (because of our euell deades & greate trespase) thou our God hast spared our wyckednes/and hast geuen vs a deliuerance as it is come to passe this daye.

As for vs/ we haue turned backe/ & haue let go thy commaundementes/ to make con-tracte with the people of these abhominacions.
Wilt thou then be wroth at vs/ tyll we be beterly consumed/ so that nothyng remayne/and tyll there be no deliuerance? O Lord God of Israel/ thou art righteous/ for we re-maine yet escaped/ as it is this daye. Beholde in thy presence are we in our trespase/ for because of it is there no standyng before the.

The people repente them and turne/ & put awaye their straunge wyues.

The x. Chapter.

When Eldras prayed after this maner/ & knowleged/ wepte/ and saye before the house of God/ there resorted vnto hym ouste of Israel a bery greate cōgregacion of men and womē/and chyldren: for the people wepte bery soze.
And Sechaniah the sonne of Jehiel one of the chyldren of Elam/ answered/ and sayde vnto Eldras: We haue trespassed agaynst the Lord our God/ in that we haue taken straunge wyues of all the people of the lande. Now there is hope yet in Israel cōcernyng thys therfore let vs make a couenaunt now with our God/ that we shall put awaye all the wyues (and such as are borne of them) accoyng to the counsell of the Lord/ & of them that feare the commaundemēt of our God/that we maye do accoing to the lawe. See the by therfore/ for the matter belongeth vnto the. We wyll be with the/ be of good com-forte/ and do it.

Then rose Eldras/ and toke an othe of the rulers/ preastes and Leuites/ & of all Israel/that they shulde do accoing to this worde. And they swore. And Eldras stode by before the house of God/ and went in to the chāber of Iohanan the sonne of Eliaib. And when he came thither/ he ate no bred/ nor dranke water: for he mourned because of the transgredyon of the that had bene in captyuite.

And they caused a proclamacion be made thowm out Iuda and Jerusalem/ vnto all the chyldren which had bene in captyuite/ that they shulde gather the selues to gather vnto Jerusalem: And that whosoever came not with in thre dayes accoing to the deuyce of the rulers and elders/ all hys substance shulde be forfett/ and be put out from the cōgregacion of the captyue.

Then all the men of Iuda and Benjamin gathered them selues to gather vnto Jerusalem in thre dayes/ that is on the twentie daye of the nyenth moneth/ and all the people late in the strete before the house of God/ and trembled because of the matter/ and for the rayne. And Eldras the preast stode by/ and sayde vnto them: Ye haue transgreded/ that ye haue taken straunge wyues/ to make the trespace of Israel yet more: cōfesse now therfore vnto the Lord God of your fathers/ & do hys pleasure/ and separate your selues from the people of the land/ & frō the straunge wyues. Then answered all the cōgregacion/and sayde with a loude voyce: Let it be done as thou hast sayde. But the people are many/& it is a rāmye wether/ & they can not stande here without/ nether is this a worke of one daye or two/ for we are many that haue offended in this transgredyon. Let vs appoynte our rulers therfore in all the cōgregacion/& all they which haue takē straunge wyues in our cyties/ maye come at the tyme appoynted/& the elders of euery cytie & their Iudges with them/ tyll the wrath of our God be turned awaye from vs for this offence.

Then were appoynted Jonathan the sonne of Alahel and Jahasfa the sonne of Thehuah ouer this matter: And Hosolam & Sabab that the rulers holpe them. And the chyldren of the captyuite byd euen so. And Eldras the

Nehemiah butelar to kynge Artaxerxes prayeth to God for the people.

The fyrst Chapter.

Ihele are the actes of Nehemiah sonne of *Bachalia.
He was in the twentie yere / that I was in the castell at Susa: and Panant one of my bre-thre came with certayne men of Juda / and I asked them how the Jewes dyd that were de-spoyled & escaped from the captivite / & how it went at Jerusalem. And they sayde unto me:
The remnant of the captivite are there in the lande in greute misfortune and rebuke.
*The walles of Jerusalem are broke downe / and the gates therof are burnt with fyre.

And I hearde these wordes / I sat me downe and wepte / and mourned two dayes / & fasted and prayed before the God of heauen & sayde: O Lord God of heauen / thou greute & terrible God / thou that kepest couenaunt and mercy for them that loue the & obserue thy commandementes: let thine eares heare a thynne eyes be open / & thou mayest heare the prayer of thy seruante / which I praye now before the daye and nyghte for the chyldren of Israel thy seruantes / and knowledg the synnes of the chyldren of Israel / whych we haue committed agaynste the.

And I & my fathers house haue synned also. We haue bene corrupte vnto the / in that we haue not kepte the commaundementes / statutes & lawes / which thou commaundedst thy seruaunt Moses. Yet call to remembrance the wordes that thou commaundedst thy seruante Moses / and saydest: If ye transgresse / then will I scatter you abroade amonge the naci-ons. But yet ye turne vnto me / and kepe my commaundementes and do the: though ye were cast out vnto the uttermost parte of heauen yet will I gather you from thence / & will brynge you from thence / euē vnto the place / the which I haue chosen for my name to dwell there.
They are thy seruantes / & thy people whō thou hast deliuered from the hande of thy enemys / and myghtie hande. O Lord / let thynne eares hearken to the prayer of thy seruante / and the prayer of thy seruantes / whose desyre is to feare thy name / and let thy seruante prosper this daye / & graunte him mercy in the syght of this man: for I was the kynge's butelar.

And after Nehemiah had obtained letters of Artaxerxes he cometh to Jerusalem & buyldeth the walles.

The seconde Chapter.

The seconde Chapter.

In the moneth Nisan in the twetieth yeare of kynge Artaxerxes / when the wyne stode before hym / I toke bp the wyne / & gaue it vnto the king & I was heuy in his presence. Then sayde the king vnto me: why lokest thou so sadly? Thou art not sicke / that is not the matter / but thou art heuy hearted. Neuertheles I was soze astrayd & sayde vnto the king: God saue the kynge life for euer / whildest thou lokest sadly: the cite of my fathers burpall lyeth waste & the gates therof are consumed with fyre. Then sayde the kinge vnto me: what is the thy request: then made I my prayer to the God of heauen / & sayde vnto the kinge: if it please the kinge / & if the seruaunt be fauoured in thy sighte / I beseeche the kinge to sende me into Juda vnto the citty of my fathers burpall / that I maye buylde it.

And the kinge sayde vnto me / & so dyd the quene & sat by him: how longe shall thy journey continue / & when wilt thou come agayne?
And it pleased the kinge to sende me / and I let him a tyme / & sayde vnto the kinge: if it please the kinge / let him geue me letters to the captaines beyonde the water / & they maye conueye me ouer / till I come into Juda: & letters vnto Asaph the Lord of the kynge's wood / & he maye geue me wood for beames to the gates of the palace / which are harde on the house & harde on the walles of the citty / and for the house that I shall entre in to. And the kinge gaue me accordyng to the good hande of God vpon me: And when I came to the captaines beyonde the water / I gaue them the kynge's letters. And the kinge sent captaines and horsemen with me.

But when Sanabalat the Hozonite and Cobiah the seruante of the Ammonites hearde the / it greued the soze / & there was come a mis-doughte the welth of the chyldren of Israel. And when I came to Jerusalem / and had bene there thre dayes / I gat me bp in the nyght season / & a fewe men with me: for I tolde no man what God had geue me in my hert to do at Jerusalem: and there was not one beast in me / save it that I rode vpon. And I rode by nyghte vnto the halley porte before the dragon well / and to the Dongeporte / and considered the walles of Jerusalem that were broke downe / and the portes therof consumed with the fyre. And I wet ouer vnto the wellpore / and to the kynge's condyte / and there was no tollome for my beast / that it coude go vnder me. Then wete I on in the nyghte by the broke syde / & considered the wall / and turned back and came home agayne to the halley porte.

And the rulers knewe not whither I wete of what I dyd: for hitherto had I not tolde the Jewes & the prestes / the counsellors and the rulers / & other I laboured in my worke. And I sayde vnto them: ye se the myserie & we are in how Jerusalem lyeth waste / & how the gates therof are burnt with fyre / come let vs buylde bp the walles of Jerusalem / & we be no more a rebuke. And I tolde the of the good hande of my God whych was vpon me: and the kynge's wordes that he had spokē vnto me. And they sayde: then let vs get bp / & buylde: and their handes were strenghted to good.

But when Sanabalat the Hozonite / and Cobiah the seruante of the Ammonites / and Gesem the Arabian herde it / they laughed vs to scorn / & despised vs / & sayde: what is this that ye do? Wyl ye fall awaye agayne from the kinge? Then answered I the / and sayde: the God of heauen he it is that causeth vs to prosper: & we be his seruantes. Let vs get bp and buylde. As for you / ye haue no porcion / righte / nor remembrance in Jerusalem.

The nombre of them that buylded the walles.

The iij. Chapter.

Iddelias the hie prest gat him bp vnto his brethren the prestes / & buylded the Shepegate. They repaired it / & set bp the dozes of it: euē vnto the tower. Neah repaired the / namely vnto the *tower of Hananeel. Nexte vnto him buylded the men of Jericho. And besyde him buylded Sachur the sonne of Amri. But the fyfth porte dyd the chyldren of Manah buylde / they co-uered it / and set on the dozes / lockes & barres of it. Nexte vnto him buylded Marimuth the sonne of Aziah the sonne of Bakhor. Nexte vnto him buylded Mosolam the sonne of Ba-rachiah the sonne of Metesabeel. Nexte vnto hym buylded Zadoe the sonne of Baana.
Nexte vnto hym buylded they of the heue.
But the greute men put not their neckes to the seruyce of their Lord.

The Odegate buylded Jecholadah & some of Palseah / & Mosola the sonne of Besodiah they couered it / and set on the dozes / lockes & barres of it. Nexte vnto them buylded Ma-latiah of Gabaon / & Jaddon of Merano / men of Gabaon & of Mazpah for the seate of the captayne on thys syde the water. Nexte vnto hym buylded Estel the sonne of Barthiah & goldsmith. Nexte vnto hym buylded Pana-niah the *Apotecarys sonne & they repaired Jerusalem vnto the broke wall. Nexte vnto hym buylded Baphaiah the sonne of Hur / & ruler of the halfe quarter of Jerusalem. Nexte vnto him buylded Jedaiah the sonne of Haremaph ouer agaynste his house. Nexte vnto hym buylded Hatus the sonne of Hasadoniah.
But Melchias the sonne of Barim / and Ha-sub the sonne of Pahath Moab buylded the other pece / and the tower besyde the fornace. Nexte vnto hym buylded Selum the sonne of Baloch the ruler of the halfe quarter

The halley gate buylded Hanun/ & the ci-telins of Zanoah. They buylded it/ and set on the dozes/ lockes & barres therof/ & a thousande cubytes on the wall/ vnto the Donge-poyte. But the Dongepoyte buylded Mel-chiah sonne of Rechab/ the ruler of the fourth part of the bynepardes: he buylded it/ & set on the dozes/ lockes & barres therof. But the wellgate buylded Selum the sonne of Chohholah/ & ruler of the fourth parte of Masphah he buylded it/ & couered it/ & set on the dozes/lockes/ & barres therof/ & the wall vnto the of Salaph the syte/ & other pece. After him buylded Mosolam the sonne of Barachiah ouer agaynst his chest. After hym buylded Melchiah the goldsmithes sonne/ vntill the house of the Methinims/ & of the merchants ouer agaynst the coscell gate/ & to the parter in the corner. And betwene the parlor of the corner vnto the Shepegate buylded the gold-smithes and the merchautes.

The buylding of Jerusalem is hyndred and let/ but the Jewes buylded it byng readye hardyde: lest their enemys shuld invade them.

The. iiii. Chapter.

But when Sanabalat hearde that we buylded the wall/ he was wroth & toke grete indignacion/ & mocked the Jewes & sayde befoze his brethren and the hoite of Samaria: what do the impotent Jewes? Shall they be thus builded?
Shall they offre? Shall they persourne it in one daye? Shall they make the stones whole agayne that are brought to dust/ & byent? And Gobiah the Ammonite beside him saide: let the builde on/ yf a foxe go by/ he shall breake downe their stonewall. Heare O thou oure God/how we are despised/ turne their shame vpon their awne heade/ & thou mayest geue them ouer in to despayre in the lande of their cap-tivitye. Couer not their wickednesse/ & put not out their sinne fro thy presence: for they haue prouoked the buylders. Yet buylded we the wall/ and ioynded it whole together/ vnto the halfe bergh. And the people were well mynded to labour.

But when Sanabalat/ & Tobiah/ & the Arabians/ & Ammonites/ & Asdodites hearde that the walles of Jerusalem were made by/ and that they had begonne to stoppe by/ & gappes they were very wroth/ & conspired al to gether to come & fight agaynst Jerusalem/ & to make an hinderance therein. Nevertheless we made our prayer vnto oure God/ & set watchmen vpon the wall daye & nyght ouer agaynst the.
And Juda sayde: the strength of the beaters is to feble/ & ther is to moch dust/ we are not able to buyde on the wall. And oure aduer-saries thought: they shall not knowe neither se/ tyll we come in the myddes amonge the/ & slaye the/ and hynder the worke. But when the Jewes that dwelt besyde the/ came out of al the places where they dwelt aboute vs/ and tolde vs as good as ten tymes/ then set I the people after their kindes with their swerdes/speares & bowes beneth in the lowe places behynde the wall/ & looked/ & gat me by/ and sayde vnto the chiefe men & rulers/ and to the other people: be not ye affraid of the/ thinke vpon the grete Lord which ought to be feared & fighte for youe brethren/ sonnes/ daughters/ wyues/ and houses. Nevertheless when oure

oure enemies hearde that we had gotte worde of it/ God broughte their coscell to noughte/and we turned all agayne to the wall/ every one vnto his labour. And fro that time forth it came to passe/ & the halfe parte of the yoge men byd the labour/ & the other halfe parte helde the speares/ byldes/ bowes/ and byst-plates: and the rulers stode behynde all the house of Juda/ which buylded on the wall/ & bare burthens/ from those that laded them.
With one hande did they the worke/ and with the other helde they their weapen. And every one that buylded/ had bys swerde girted by his syde/ and so buylded they. And the frompetters stode besyde me.

And I sayde vnto the principall men/ and rulers/ and to the other people: the worke is grete & large/ & we are separated vpon the wall one farre from another. Loke in what place now ye heare the noyse of the troppet/ re-soyrt ye thither vnto vs. Oure God shall fight for vs/ & we will be labouringe in the worke.
And the halfe parte of the helde the speares fro the morninge synginge/ till the starres came forth.
And at the same tyme sayde I vnto the people:
every one abyde with his seruauant at Jerusalem/ that in the night season we maye geue attendaunce to the watch/ and to labour on the daye tyme. As for me and my brethren/ & my seruantes/ and the men of the watch behynde me/ we put neuer of oure clothes/ so moch as to washe oure selues.

The people are wroth with hangre. Nehemiah forgetteth the people. He requyrt not the luyng of a captayne.

The. v. Chapter.

No there arose a grete cōplaine of the people/ & of their wiues agaynst their brethren the Jewes. And ther were some that sayde: oure sonnes & daughters are to many/ let vs take comye for the/ & eate/ & we maye lyue. Some sayde: let vs set oure landes/ bynepardes and houses to pledge/ & take by comye in the darth. But some sayde: let vs borrowe money of the kinges tribute for oure landes & bynepardes. Now are oure brethrens bodies as oure awne bodies and their children as oure chyldre: els shulde we subdue oure sonnes and daughters vnto bondage/ and some of oure daughters are subdued already/ & no strength is there in oure handes/ & other men shall haue oure landes & bynepardes.

After the helpe
of the Jewes
we have not whereby to sustaine them.

But when I hearde their cōplaine and loke wroth/ it displeased me sore/ and I ad-uised so by my mynde/ that I rebuked the coscellers/ and the rulers/ and sayde vnto them:
Will ye requyre the luyng of one of another? And I brought a grete congregacion agaynst the and sayde vnto them: we (after oure abylte) haue boughte oure brethren the Jewes/ which were solde vnto the Hethen. And will ye sell your brethren/ who we haue boughte vnto vs? Then helde they their peace/ and coude sende nothyng to answer.

And I sayde: It is not good that ye do.
Dughe ye not to walke in the feare of God/because of the rebuke of the Hethen oure enemies? I and my brethren/ & my seruantes haue lent them money and comye: but as for the luyng/ let vs leaue it. Therfore this same daye I that ye restore them their landes agayne/their bynepardes/ oyle gardens and houses/and the hundred parte of the money of the comye/wyne and oyle that ye haue wonne of them.
Then sayde they: we will restore the agayne and will requyre nothyng of them/ and will do as thou hast spoken. And I called the prests/and toke an ooth of them/ that they shulde do so. And I toke my lappe/ and sayde: God make out every man after the same maner from his house and labour/ that maynteyneth not this worde: euen thus be he shaken out/ and boyde. And all the congregacion sayde: Amen/ and prayled the Lord. And the people dyd so.

And from the tyme forth that it was committed vnto me to be a captayne in the lande of Juda/ namely from the twentyeth yere vnto the two and thirtie yere of kynge Artaxerxes (that is twelue yere) I and my brethren lyued not of loch sustenance as was geuen to a captayne: for the olde captaynes that were befoze me/ had bene chargeable vnto the people/ and had taken of them byed and wyne/ and fortye cycles of silver: yee and their seruantes had oppressed the people.
But so dyd not I/ and that because of the feare of God. I laboured also in the worke vpon the wall/ and boughte no lande. And all my ser-uantes came thither to gether vnto the worke.
Moreover there were at my table an hundred and fyfte of the Jewes & rulers/ which came vnto me/ from amonge the Hethen/that are aboute vs. And there was prepared me daylye an oxe/ and fyve cholen shepe/ and byddes/ and euer once in ten dayes a grete summe of wyne. Yet requyred not I the luy-ng of a captayne for the bondage was griuous vnto the people. * Chyncke byd me my God vnto the best/ accordyng to all that I haue done for this people.

Jerusalem is ii. Eldas, buylded agayne.

Sanabalat & Geseu sent vnto me / sayinge After & Geseu come & let vs mete together in the byllages Some reade. In Topharim.

Upon the playne of & cite Dno. Neuertheles they thoughte to do me euell. Notwithstanddinge I sent messengers vnto them / sayinge: I haue a greate busynesse to do / I cannot come downe. The worke shulde stande still / yf I were negligente / & came downe to you. Howbeit they sent vnto me as good as foure tymes after the same maner. And I gaue the same an-swere. Then sent Sanabalat hys seruauent vnto me the fyfth tyme / wryth an open letter in his hande / wherein was wrytten: it is tolde the Hethen / & Geseu hath sayde it / & thou & I Iewes thinke to reuel: for which cause thou buyldest the wall / & wylt be their kynge in these matters / and hast obeyned the Prophetes to preach of the at Jerusalem / and to saye: He is kynge of Iuda.

Now shall this come to the kynges eares:
come now therfore / & let vs take our counsell together. Neuertheles I sent vnto him sayinge there is no suche thyng done as thou sayst:
thou hast sayned it out of thyne awne hert.
For they were all minded to make vs afrayed & thoughte: they shall withdrawe their handes from the worke / & they shall not laboure. Howbeit I strengthened my hande the more. And I came vnto the house of Semaiiah the sonne of Delatah the sonne of Shebabeel / and he had shut him selfe within / & sayde: let vs come together in to the house of God / euē vnto the myddes of the temple / & shutte the doores of the temple: for they wyl come to slaye the / & see euē in the night will they come to put the to deatch.
But I sayd: shuld any such mā as I be? who is that / being as I am / that wyl go in to the temple / to saue his life? I will not go in.

For I perceaued / & God had not sent him:
yet spake he propheticke vnto me neuertheles Cobiah & Sanabalat had hired him for money. Therfore toke he & money / & thoughte searely shuld he do / & slaye: & they might haue an euell repoyte of me / to blasphemie me. My God thinke thou vnto Cobiah & Sanabalat accordeynge vnto these their wordes / & of the Prophet Noadiah & of the other Prophetes / that wolde haue put me in feare.

And the wall was synished on the fyue and twentye daye of the moneth Elul / in two and fiftye dayes. And when all oure enemyes of August 109. heard thereof / all the Hethen & were aboute ned thereto / it was afrayed / & their courage sayled the:
for they perceaued / that this worke came of God. And at the same tyme were there many of the chiefe of Iuda / whose letters wete vnto Cobiah / & vnto Cobiah vnto the / for they were many in Iuda that were twoyne vnto hym: for he was the sonne in lawe of Sechaniah & sonne of Arah / and his sonne Jehohanan had the daughter of Hosolaim the sonne of Barachiah & they spake good of hym before me / and tolde hym my wordes / and Cobiah sent letters / to put me in feare.

After the wall ones buylded is the watch apoynted.
They that returned fro the captiuite are nomyned.
The. liij. Chapter.

Now when we had buylded the wall / I hanged on the doores / & the porters syngers & Leuites were apoynted.
And I commaunded my brother Pa-nani / & Pananiah the ruler of the palace at Jerusalem: for he was a saythfull mā / & feared God more then dyd many other / and I sayde vnto the: let not the gates of Jerusalem be opened vntill the sonne be whote. And whyle they are yet standinge in the watch / the doores shall be shut & barred. And there were certayne citiens of Jerusalem apoynted to be watchmen euery one in hys watch / & aboute hys house.
As for the cite / it was large of towne / and greate / but the people were fewe therein / and the houses were not buylded.

And my God gaue me in my hert / that I gathered to gether the principall men & the people to nūbre the & I founde a regystrer of the nūbre of the / which came by afoze out of the captiuite: & founde wrytten therein: these are the sonnes of the lande & wete by from the captiuite of the carryinge awaye (whō Nabu-chodonosor king of Babilō had brought awaye) & came agayne to Jerusalem & Iuda / euery one vnto his cite / which came to Zo-robabel: Iesua / Nehemiah / Azariah / Ramah / Nahamani / Haradochee / Belsan / Perparath / Beguai / Nahum and Baanah.

This is the nūbre of the men of the people of Israel. The children of Pharus were two thousande / an hundred & two & seuentye: the childre of Saphattah / thre hundred & two & seuentye: the children of Arah / fyve hundred &

haye of the seventh moneth/ & red therein in þe strete that is befoze the watergate/ from the morninge vntill the noone haye befoze men and women/ soch as coude vnderstande it: & the eares of all þe people were inclined vnto þe boke of the lawe. And Eldras the scribe stode vpon an hye pulpit of wod/ whych they had made for the preachinge/ & besyde hym stode Machathiah/ Sema/ Ananah/ Azariah/ Helkiah/ & Maasiah/ on hys ryghte hand: and on hys left hande stode Phadajah/ Misael/ Melchiah/ Basum/ Pasebadanah/ Zachary and Mosolam.

And Eldras opened the boke befoze all the people/ for he stode aboute all the people. And whē he opened it/ all the people stode vp. And Eldras prayed the Lorde the grete God. And all the people answered Amen/ Amen/ with their handes vp/ & bowed the selues/ & worshipped the Lorde with their faces to the grounde. And Iesua/ Baani/ Serabiah/ Sami/ Acuba/ Sebatiah/ Hodajah/ Maasiah/ Celita/ Azariah/ Jozabed/ Banā/ Phalajah/ & the Leuites/ caused þe people to geue hede vnto þe lawe/ & the people stode in their place. And they red in the boke of the lawe of God distinctly & planely/ so þe men vnderstode the thinge that was red. And Nehemiah (whyche is Bathisathah) & Eldras the prest & scribe/ and the Leuites/ caused the people to take hede/ sayde vnto all the people: this daye is holy vnto the Lorde your God: be not ye soz therfore/ & wepe not. For all þe people wepte when they herde the wordes of the lawe.

Therfore sayde he vnto them: * go youre waye/ and eate the fat/ & dryncke þe swete/ & sende parte vnto the also that haue not prepared the selu: for this daye is holy vnto our Lorde/ be not ye soz therfore: for the tope of þe Lorde is youre strength. And the Leuites filled all þe people/ & sayde: holde youre peace for the daye is holy/ here not ye youre selues. And all the people wote their waye to eate & dryncke/ & to sende parte vnto other/ & to make grete myght/ because they had vnderstand the wordes that were declared vnto them.

And on the nexte daye were gathered together the chiefe fathers amonge all þe people and the prestes and Leuites/ vnto Eldras the scribe/ þe he shulde teach them the wordes of the lawe. And they founde written in þe lawe * how þe Lorde had comaunded by Moyses that the chyldre of Israel shulde dwell in booths in the feast of the seventh moneth. And so they caused it be declared and proclaimed in all their cyties/ & at Jerusalem/ sayinge: go vp vnto the moūt & fetch Olyue bzaunches/ Pynedzaunches/ Myrrezaunches/ Palmebzaunches/ & bzaunches of thicke trees/ to make bothes as it is wyrtten.

And the people went vp/ and sett them/ & made them bothes/ every one vpon the rofe of his house/ & in their courtes/ & in the courtes of the house of God/ & in the strete by þe watergate/ & in þe strete by porte Ephraim. And al the congregaciō of the þe were come agayne out of the captiuite/ made bothes/ & dwelt therein: for sence the tyme of Josua the sonne of Nun vnto this daye/ had not the chyldre of Israel done so/ & ther was very grete gladnesse. And every daye fro the fyrst daye vnto the last/ red he in the boke of þe lawe of God. And seuen dayes helde they the feast/ and on the eyghte daye the geatheringe together/ accordinge vnto the maner.

The people repēt & forsake their strange wōdes. Eldras receiveth the benedictiōs of God and the synnes of the people.

The .ij. Chapter.

In the fourte & twente daye of this moneth came the chyldre of Israel together with fastinge & sack clothes/ and erth vpo the/ & separated the sede of Israel fro all the straunge chyldre and stode & knowleged their synnes/ and the wychednesse of their fathers/ & stode vp in their place/ & red in the boke of the lawe of þe Lorde their God foure tymes on þe daye/ and they knowleged/ & worshipped þe Lorde their God foure tymes on the daye. And the Leuites stode on hye/ namely Iesua/ Bani/ Cadmiel/ Sabanah/ Buni/ Sarebiah/ Bani & Chanani/ & cryed loude vnto the Lorde their God. And the Leuites/ Iesua/ Cadmiel/ Bani/ Sababiah/ Serebiah/ Hodiah/ Sebaniah/ Phathahiah/ sayde: stande vp praye þe Lorde your God for euer: & let thankes be geue vnto the name of thy glozpe/ whych excellith all thankesgeuinge & prayse. Lorde/ thou alone hast made heaue/ & the heauen of all heaues/ with all their hooft/ the erth & all þe is therein/ the see and all that is therein: thou geuest life vnto all/ & the hooft of heauen bowe the selu vnto the. Thou art the Lorde God/ that hast cholen Abrahā/ & broughtst hym out of Chaldea/ * & calledst hym Abrahā & foundest his hert saythfull befoze the * & made a couenaunt with hym to geue vnto hys sede the lande of the Cananites/ Hethites/ Amorites/ Phereites/ Jebusites/ & Gerseites/ and hast made good thy word: for thou art righteous/ and hast consydered the mystry of our fathers in Egypte/ & hearde their cōplaynte by the reed see/ and shewed tokens and wonders vpon Pharaō/ & on all hys seruantes/ & on all the people of hys lande: for thou knowest þe they were presumptuous & cruell agaynst them/ and so made thou * the a name as it is this daye. And the reed see drydest thou be- ynde in lunder befoze them/ so that they wēt thozow thozow the myddes of the see drye shoode: and their persecuters threwest thou in to þe depe as a stone/ in þe nightie waters/ & leddest the on the daye tyme in a cloudy pplier/ & on the nyghte season in a pplier of fyre/ to shewe the lyghte in the waye that they wente.

Thou camest downe also vpo moūt Sinai/ and spakest vnto them from heaue/ and gauest them righte iudgements/ true lawes good commaundementes and statutes/ and declaredst vnto them thy holy Saboth/ and commaundedst them preceptes/ ordinaūces/ and lawes/ by Moyses thy seruante: and gauest them byed from heauen when they were hongrye/ and broughtest forth water for the out of the rock when they were thyrstye: and promysedst them/ that they shulde go in/ and take possession of the lande/ ouer whych thou haddest lyfte by thyne hande for to geue the.

But our fathers were proude and hardnecked/ so that they folowed not the commaundementes/ and refused to heare/ & were not mynde full of the wonders that thou dydest for them: but became obstynate & heaby in so moche that they turned backe to their bondage in their disobedience. But thou my God forgauest/ and wast gracious/ mercifull/ pacient/ and of grete goodnesse/ and forsokest them not. And though they made a moultē calse (and sayde: this is thy God/ that broughte the out of the lande of Egypte) and dyd grete blasphemies/ yet forsokest thou them not in the wyldernes/ accordinge to thy grete mercy. And the cloudy pplier departed not from them on the daye tyme to leade them the waye/ nether the pplier of fyre in the nyghte season/ to shewe them lyghte in the waye that they wente.

And thou gauest them thy good spete to enforme them/ * & withheldest not thy Manā from their mouth/ * and gauest them water when they were thyrstye. For thy peares longe madest thou prouyde for them in þe wyldernes/ so that they lacked nothinge: * their clothes waxed not olde/ and their fete swelled not. And thou gauest them kynge- domes and nacyns/ and partedst them accordinge to their poztions/ so that they possessed the lande of Sehon kynge of Moabon/ and the lande of Og the kynge of Basan. And their chyldren multiplied thou as the starrs of heauen/ and broughtest them in to the lande wherof thou haddest spoken vnto their fathers/ that they shulde go in to it/ and haue it in possession.

And the chyldren went in/ and possessed the lande/ * and thou subdudest befoze the the inhabytters of the lande/ & the Cananites/ & gauest them in to their hande/ & their kinglynges and the people of the lande/ that they myght do with the what they wolde. And they wāne & their stronge cyties/ & a fat lande/ and toke a possession of houses & were full of all maner goodes/ welles dygged out/ vineyardes/ olde legardens/ and many frutefull trees: & they wōch all good ate & were fylled/ & became fat/ and lyued in felicitye/ & they wōch all good les they were disobedient/ & rebelled agaynst the/ and cast thy lawe behynde their backs/ and clewe thy prophetes (which exhorted the to earnestly/ that they shulde couerte vnto the) and dyd grete blasphemies. Therfore gauest thou them ouer in to the hande of their enemyes that beyed them.

And in the tyme of their trouble they cried vnto the/ and thou hardest them from heauen and thozow thy grete mercy thou gauest them sauiours/ whych helped them out of þe hande of their enemyes. But whē they came to rest/ they turned backe agayne to do euell befoze the: therfore lestest thou them in the hande of their enemyes/ so that they had the cryed vnto the/ and thou herdest them from heauen/ and many tymes hast thou deliuered them accordinge to thy grete mercy/ and testifiedst vnto them/ that they shulde turne agayne vnto thy lawe.

Notwithstandyng they were proude/ and herkened not vnto thy commaundementes/ but synned in thy lawes/ (whyche a mā shulde do/ & liue in them) & turned the shoulder & were styfnecked/ & wolde not heare. And many yeares dydest thou forbeare them/ & testifiedst vnto them thozow thy spete/ & by the offyce of thy prophetes/ and yet wolde they not heare. Therfore gauest thou the in to þe hande of þe naciōs in the landes. But for thy grete mercyes sake thou hast not biterly columed them/ nether forsaken the: for thou art a gracious and mercifull God.

Now oure God/ thou grete God/ myghty & terrible/ & thou that kepest couenaunt and mercy/ regarde not a lytle all þe trauayle that hath happened vnto vs/ & oure kinglynges/ princes/ prestes/ prophetes/ fathers & all the people/ sence the tyme of the kinglynges of Asur vnto this daye. Thou art ryghteous in all þe thou hast broughte vpon vs: for thou hast done righte. As for vs/ we haue bene vngodly/ & oure kinglynges/ princes/ prestes & fathers haue not done after thy lawe/ nor regarded thy commaundementes/ & thy earnest exhortaciōs wherwith thou hast exhorted them/ and haue not serued the in their kinglyngdomes/ and in thy grete goodes that thou gauest them/ and in the large and plenteous lande whych thou gauest them/ and haue not conuerted from their wyched wozykes. Beholde/ therfore are we in bondage this daye: yee euen in the lande that lande that thou gauest vnto our fathers/to enioye the frutes and goodes therof/behold there are we bondmen. And greates is the increase of it vnto the kynges/whō thou hast set ouer vs because of oure synnes/and they haue dominion ouer oure bodies and catell/and we are in great trouble. And in all thyng make we a sure couenaunt/and write it/and let oure prynces/Leuites & prestes seale it.

The names of them that sealed the couenaunt betwene God and the people.

The .x. Chapter.

These sealers were: Nehemiah (that is) Parthistatha & sonne of Hachabiah & Zedekiah / Sarafah / Alastah / Jeremy / Phachur / Amariah / Malchiah / Hatus / Sebaniah / Malluch / Barim / Merimoth / Obadiah / Daniel / Jenthon / Baruch / Mosolam / Abiah / Shamin / Maaliah / Belgai and Semeiah: these were prestes. The Leuites were: Jesua the sonne of Jariyah / Benusi amonge the chyldren of Henadab & Cadmiel. And their brethren: Sechaniah / Hodiah / Celita / Phalaiah / Hanan / Michah / Rohob / Halabiah / Saraiur / Barabiah / Sabanah / Hodiah / Bari & Barinu. The heades of the people were: Phares / Pahath Moab / Elam / Zachua / Bani / Boni / Algad / Bebai / Adoniah / Begoi / Adin / Meremehiah / Alur / Hodiah / Hasum / Bezai / Parph / Anathoth / Nebai / Dagphas / Mosolam / Heli / Meselabel / Zador / Gadua / Phalaris / Hanan / Anarah / Holes / Hananiah / Hasub / Halohes / Phaleha / Sobek / Bebi / Hasebnah / Maaliah / Abiah / Hanan / Anan / Malluch / Barim and Baanah.

And the other people, the prestes / Leuites / porters / syngers. Nehemias / & all they that had separated the selues from the people in the landes vnto the lawe of God / with their wiues / sonnes & daughters / as many as coude vnderstande it / and their lordes that had rule of them / receaued it for their brethren.

And they came to sweare / & to bynde the selues with an ooth to walke in Gods lawe / which was geuen by Moses the seruaunt of God / that they wolde obserue & do accordyng vnto all the commaundementes / iudgements & statutes of the Lorde oure God: & that we wolde not geue our daughters vnto the people in the lande / neither to take their daughters for oure sonnes. And of the people of the lande broughte ware on the sabbath / & all manner of bytapes to sell / & we wolde not take it of the on the sabbath and on the holy dayes. And we wolde let the seventh yere be fre conceyng all manner of charge.

And we decreed a statute by oure selues / to geue yearly the thirde parte of a tyele to the ministracion in the house of oure God / namely to the sabbath / to the dayly meat offeringe / to the dayly burnt offeringe of the sabbath / of the new mones & feast dayes / & to the thinge that were sanctified / and to the synofferynges / to reconcytle Israel with all / & to all the bysynes in the house of oure God.

And we cast the lot amonge the prestes / Leuites & the people / for offeringe of the wood to be brought vnto the house of oure God fro yere to yere / after the houses of oure fathers / that it might be bzente at tymes appoynted / by the lawe: & yearly to bringe the firstlinges of oure lande / & the firstlinges of oure frutes of all trees / yere by yere / vnto the house of the Lorde: & the firstlinges of oure sonnes / & of oure catell / as it is written in the lawe: & the firstlinges of oure open and of oure shepe / & we shulde bringe all this to the house of oure God vnto the prestes that mynister in the house of oure God: and we shulde bringe the firstlinges of oure dowgh / and of oure heuereofferynges / and the frutes of all maner trees / of wyne also and of oyle / vnto the prestes to the chestes of the house of oure God. And the tithes of oure lande vnto the Leuites / that the Leuites myght haue the tithes in all the cyties of oure mynistracion.

And the prest & sonne of Aaron shall with the Leuites haue also of the tithes of the Leuites / so that the Leuites shall bringe by the tithes of their tithes vnto the house of oure God to the chest in the treasure house. For the chyldren of Israel & the chyldren of Leui shall bringe by the heuereofferynges of the corne / wyne and oyle vnto the chestes. And there shalbe the vessels of the sanctuary / & the prestes that mynister / and the porters & syngers / that we forsake not the house of oure God.

Who dwelled in Jerusalem after it was buylded & who in the cyties of Juda.

The .xi. Chapter.

And the rulers of the people dwelt at Jerusalem. But the other people could not dwell there / so that amonge ten one parte went to Jerusalem into the holy cytie to dwell / & nyne partes in the cyties. And the people thanked all the men that were willinge to dwell at Jerusalem.

These are the heades of the lande & dwelt in Jerusalem and in the cyties of Juda. And euery one dwelt in his possession / & in their cyties of Israel / the prestes / Leuites / the Nehemias / and the chyldren of Salomons seruautes. And at Jerusalem dwelt certayne of the chyldren of Juda and of Beniamin.

Of the chyldren of Juda: Athaliah & sonne of Achaz the sonne of Zachary / the sonne of Amariah / the sonne of Sapthiah / & sonne of Mahalalel / of the chyldren of Phares. And Maadiah Sarafah & sonne of Heliab & sonne of Mosolam / & sonne of Zador / the sonne of Meraioth / the sonne of Abitob / was prync in the house of God: and his brethren that perfourmed the worke in the house: of whom there were. biii. c. and. xxi. And Adaiab the sonne of Jeroham / & sonne of Phalaris / the sonne of Amazi / & sonne of Zachary / the sonne of Phasur the sonne of Melchiah and hys brethren / these amonge the fathers: of whō there were two hundredeth and two and forty. And Amasai the sonne of Alarael the sonne of Abasai & sonne of Mosolam / the sonne of Emer: and his brethren were valiant men / of whom there were an hundredeth & eight & twenty. And their ouerleas was Sabbel the sonne of Dagolm.

Of the Leuites: Semeiah the sonne of Hasub / the sonne of Aserham / the sonne of Halabiah the sonne of Boni: and Sabathai and Josabad of the chefe of the Leuites / in the outwarde busynes of the house of God. And Mathaniah the sonne of Micha / the sonne of Zador / the sonne of Alaph / whych was the pryncipall to begynne the thankesgeuyng vnto prayer. And Babukiah the seconde amonge hys brethren / and Abda the sonne of Samuia / the sonne of Galai / the sonne of Jothun. All the Leuites in the holy cite were two hundredeth and foure & foure score. And the porters Acub and Calmon / and their brethren that kepte the portes / were an hundredeth and two and leuentye. As for the respyue of Israel / the prestes and Leuites / they were in all the cyties of Juda / euery one in his inheritaunce.

And the Nehemias dwelt in Ophel: and Ziba and Gasya belonged vnto the Nehemias. The ouerleas of the Leuites at Jerusalem / was Eli the sonne of Baani / & sonne of Halabiah / the sonne of Mathaniah / the sonne of Micha.

Of the chyldren of Alaph there were syngers aboute the busynes in the house of God:

for it was the kynges commaundement concerninge them / that the syngers shulde deale faithfully euery daye as accordyng was.

And Pathafah the sonne of Meselabel of the chyldren of Sarah the sonne of Juda nexte the kyng in all matters concerninge the people and their byllages / thow ouer all their regyons. And the chyldren of Juda that were without in the towne of their lande / dwelt some at Mariath Arbe / and in the byllages therof / and at Sibon / and in the byllages therof: and at Cabzeel / & in the byllages therof: & at Tefua / Mosolam / Bethphale / Hazerual / Bersabe and in their byllages: & at Sikelag and Moconah / and in their byllages: And at Entemon / Sarah / Jerimoth / Zonoah / Mosolam and in their byllages: & Lachis / and in the feldes therof: & Aschah / and in the byllages therof: and dwelt front Bersabe vnto the valley of Benoni.

The chyldren of Ben Jamin of Gaba / dwelt at Machmas / Aia / Bethel and in their byllages. And at Anathoth / Nob / Ananiah / Hazor / Ramah / Gebaim / Gabib / Seboim / Balath / Lod / Ono & in the carpenters valley. And certayne of the Leuites that had porters in Juda / dwelt in Ben Jamin.

The prestes and Leuites which came with Zerobabel to Jerusalem are numbred: & the wall is decypte.

The .xii. Chapter.

These are the prestes and Leuites that wente by with Zerobabel the sonne of Salathiel & with Jesua: Sarafah / Jeremy / Eldras / Amariah / Meluch / Hatus / Sechaniah / Nehum / Merimoth / Ado / Genthob / Abiah / Shamin / Maadiah / Belgai / Semeiah / Josarib / Zador / Salu / Amok / Heliab & Jedaiab. These were the heades amonge the prestes and their brethren in the tyme of Jesua. The Leuites were these: Jesua / Benusi / Cadmiel / Sarabiah / Juda & Mathaniah ouer the offyce of thankesgeuyng / they and their brethren: Babukiah and Eli and their brethren / were aboute them in the watches.

Jesua begat Joakim. Joakim begat Elisib. Elisib begat Josada. Josada begat Jonathan. Jonathan begat Jada. And in the tyme of Joakim were these the chefe fathers amonge the prestes: vnder Sarafah / Pharah / vnder Jeremy / Hananiah / vnder Eldras / Mosolam / vnder Amariah / Jehonah / vnder Melico / Jonathan / vnder Sebaniah / Joseph / vnder Barim / Edna / vnder Pharaioth / Melca / vnder Adia / Zachary / vnder Genthob / Mosolam / vnder Abia / Zechi / vnder Shamin & Moadia / Peltai / vnder Belgai / Samu / vnder Semeiah / Jehonathan / vnder Josarib / Mathnai / vnder Jedaiab / Eli / vnder Sela / Kela / vnder Amok / Eber / vnder Heliab chlah Hasabiah/under Nadabab Nathanael. And in the tyme of Eliash. Jotada/Johanan & Jadaua/were the chiefe fathers amonge the Leuites/and the prestes mytten vnder þe raigne of Darus the Persian. The chyl- dzen of Leuit & principall fathers were wri- ten in the Cronicles/vntill the tyme of Jona- than the sonne of Eliash. And these were þe chiefe amonge the Leuites/Hasabiah/Se- rebiah and Jesua the sonne of Cadmiel/and their byethzen ouer agaynst them/to geue praye and thanke/a coioynge as Dauid þe man of God had ordeyned it/one watch ouer agaynst another. Mathania/Balbukiah/Obadiah/Mosolam/Calmou & Abub were porters in the watch at þe thersholdes of the gates. These were in the tyme of Josaphat the sonne of Jesua the sonne of Josedece/and in the tyme of Nehemiah the captayne and of the preste Eldas the scribe.

And in the dedycacyon of the wall at Je- rusalem/were the Leuites soughte out of al these places/that they myghte be broughte to Jerusalem/to kepe the dedicacyon & glad- nesse/with thankegeuynge/with syngeinge withymbales/Psalteries and harpes. And the chyliden of the syngeers gathered them selues together fro þe playne countre aboute Jerusalem/and from the byllages of Betho phathi/and from the house of Galgal/a out of the feldes of Geba and Manueth:for the syngeers had buyden them byllages aboute Jerusalem. And the prestes and Leuites pur- rified them selues/and clenched the people/ the gates and the wall.

And I caused the princes of Juda to go by by þe wall/a appoynted two grete queers of thankegeuynge/which wente on brighte hande of the wall towarde the Donggate/ & after them wente Josaphat/and halfe of the princes of Juda/a Maria/Eldas/Mosolai Juda/Ben Jamin/Semelah and Jeremy: and certayne of the prestes chyliden with tid- pettes/namely Zachary the sonne of Jona- than/the sonne of Semelah/the sonne of Mathaniah/the sonne of Michajah/the sonne of Jecur/the sonne of Asaph/and his byethzen/Semelah/Asarai/Melalai/Ga- lalai/Masi/Nathanael and Juda and Ha- nam/with the muscallynstrumentes of Da- uid the man of God.

And Eldas the Scribe befoze them/to- ward the Wellgate/a they wente by ouer agaynst them upon the steppes of the ctyte of Dauid at the goynge by of the wall to the house of Dauid/vnto the Watergate Eastwarde.

The other queer of thankegeuynge wet ouer agaynst them/and I after the/and the halfe parte of the people upon the wall/toward the Somacgate bywarde/vntill the byode wall/and to the porte of Ephraim/a to the Oldgate/and to the Synagoge/and to the tower of Hananeel/and to the tower of Sheah/vntill the Shepegate. And in þe pre- longate stode they styl/and so stode the two queers of thankegeuynge of the house of God/and I and the halfe of the rulers with me/and the prestes/namely Eliash/Ma- shiah/Miriamin/Michajah/Elioenai/Za- chary/Hananiah/with troppettes/and Ma- shiah/Semelah/Eleazar/Musi/Jehohanan/ Melchiah/Elam and Ser. And the syngeers sange loude/a Jeshiah was the ouerseeer.

And the same daye were there grete sa- crifyces offred/a they reioyced: for God had geue them grete gladnesse/so that both the wyues & chyliden were ioyfull/a the myrty of Jerusalem was heide farre of.

At the same tyme were there men appoy- ned ouer the treasure chestes/wherin were þe Heueofferynges/the synnynges and the sy- ches/that they shulde geather them out of þe feldes aboute the ctytes/to distribute them vnto the prestes and Leuites acordinge to þe lawe:for Juda was glad of the prestes/and Leuites/that they stode and waityd upon þe offyce of their God/and the offyce of the pu- rificacyon. And the syngeers and porters stode after the commaundement of Dauid and of Salomon his sonne:for in the tyme of Da- uid and Asaph/were the chiefe syngeers foun- ded/and the songes of praye and thankege- uynge vnto God. In the tyme of Josobabel and Nehemiah/dyd all Israel/geue porcyon vnto the syngeers and porters/every daye his porcyon/a they gaue thynges halowed vnto the Leuites/a the Leuites gaue thynges þe were sanctified/vnto the chyliden of Aaron.

Deuteronomie is read/and when they haue heard it/they separate from them all straungers &c.

The xiiij. Chapter.

And what tyme as the boke of Mo- ses was red in þe eares of þe people there was founde wrytten therein/that the Ammonites and Moa- bites shulde neuer come in to the congrega- cyon of God/because they mett not the chil- dzen of Israel with byed and water/*and byed Balaam agaynst them/that he shulde curse them: neuertheles oure God turned the curse in to a blessinge. Now when they herde the Lawe/they separated from Is- rael every one that had myrte hym selfe therein. And befoze this had the preste Eli- ash deliuered the chest of the house of oure God vnto his bynman Tobiah:for he had made hym a grete chest/and there had they afoze tyme layed the meatofferynges/tra- hencense/bessell/and the tythes of come/ wyne and wyne and oyle/acordinge to the comaunde- ment geuen to the Leuites/syngeers & por- ters/and the heueofferynges of the prestes.

But in all this was not I at Jerusalem: for in þe two & thirtieth yere of Artaxerxes kynge of Babylon/came I vnto the kynge/ and after certayne dayes obtayned I licence of the kynge to come to Jerusalem. And I gat knowlege of the euell that Eliash byd vnto Tobiah/that he had made him a chest in þe court of the house of God/and it greued me. Soze/and I went forth all þe vessels of þe house of Tobiah/one of the chest/a comaunded the to clenche the chest. And thither broughte I agayne the vessels of the house of God/the meatofferynges and the incense.

And I perceyued/that the porcyons of the Leuites were not geuen them/for the which cause þe Leuites & syngeers were fled/every one to his owne worke. Then rejoyced I the rulers/and sayde:why forsake we the house of God? But I gathered them toge- ther/a set hem in their place. Then brought all Juda the tythes of come/wyne and oyle vnto þe treasure. And I made treasures ouer the treasure/even Semeliah the preste/and Zador the scribe/and of the Leuites Pha- dajah & bider the hande Hanan the sonne of Jecur the sonne of Mathaniah:for they were costed fithfull/and their offyce was to distribute vnto their byethzen. Chynke vpon me O my God here in/and wyne not out my mercy/that I haue shewed on þe house of my God/and on the officers thereof.

At the same tyme saue I some treoynges wyne prestes on the Saboth and byinginge in clusters/and asses laden with wyne/gra- pes/egges/and byinginge all maner of bur- thens vnto Jerusalem/vpon the Saboth daye. And I rebuked the earnestly the same daye that they solde þe bytapes. There dwelt men of Tyre also therein/whych broughte fysh and all maner of wate/and solde on the Saboth vnto the chyliden of Juda and Je- rusalem. Then rejoyced I the rulers in Ju- da/and sayde vnto the: what euell thyng is this that ye do/a byake the Saboth daye? Dyd not oure fathers euen thus/and oure God broughte all this plage vpon vs & vnto this ctyte? And ye make the wyath moze yet vpon Israel/that ye byake the Saboth.

And it happened/that when the porters of Jerusalem/the shadowe befoze þe Saboth/I comaunded to shut the gates/a charged þe they shuld not be opened till after the Sa- both/and I made of my seruauntes set I at the gates/þe they shulde no burthen be broughte in on the Saboth daye. Then remayned the chapmen the marchauntes once or twyce ouer nyght without Jerusalem with all maner of wares. Then rejoyced I them for/a sayde vnto the:why tary ye all night aboute the wall? If ye do it once agayne/I will laye handes vpon you. From that tyme forth came they no moze on the Saboth. And I sayde vnto the Leuites whych were cleane/that they shulde some and kepe the gates/to ha- lowe the Saboth daye. Chynke vpon me O my God/chernynge this also/and spart me acordinge to thy grete mercy.

And at the same tyme saue I Jewes/that married wyues of Alod/Amid & of Moab and their chyliden spake halfe in the speache of Alod/and coulde not speake in the Je- wes language/but by the longe myghte a man perceaued every people. And I rejoyced them/and cursed them/and smote certayne men of them/and pluchte them by/and toke an oath of them by God: Ye shall not geue youre daughters vnto their sonnes/nether shall ye take their daughters vnto youre son- nes/or for youre selues. Dyd not Salomō the kynge of Israel synne therein? and yet amonge many byethen was there no kynge lyke hym/and he was deare vnto his God/and God made him kynge ouer all Israel/a yet neuertheles outlandish women caused hym to synne: And shall we then obey vnto you/to do all this grete euell/and to trans- grede agaynst oure God/a marpe straunge wyues?

And one of the chyliden of Jeholada the sonne of Eliash the bye preste/had made a co- tracte with Sanabalat the Moabite: but I chased him fro me. O my God/thinke thou vpon them that are nyte of the presthode/ and haue defyled the couenaunt of the prest- hode and of the Leuites. Thus clenched I the from all such as were outlandish/and ap- poynted the courtiers of the prestes and Leui- tes/every one to his offyce/and to offere the wood at tymes appoynted/and the fyre trutes. Chynke thou vpon me O my God/ for the best.

The booke of Esther

The kyng Ahasuerus/ which is called Artaxerxes makerh a roppall feast/ wherunto the quene wasthi wylnot come/ for which cause she is denoyed.

The fyrst Chapter.

In the tyme of Ahasue-rus which raygned in India vnto ethiopia/ ouer an hundred & seue & twety landes/what tyme as he late on his seate roppall in the castell of Susan in the thirde yere of his raygne/ he made a feast vnto all his pynces & seruauntes/ namely vnto the mightie men of Persia & Media/ to the capitaynes & rulers of his countreys/ that he might shewe the noble riches of his kingdome/ and the glorious wo-shippe of his greatnesse/ many dayes longe/euen an hundred & foure score dayes.

And when these dayes were expyred/ the kyng made a feast vnto all the people that were in the castell of Susan/ both vnto greate & small/ seuen dayes longe in the court of the gard by the kynges palace: where there hanged wythe/ reed & palow clothes/ fastened wth cordes of linnen & scarlet in siluer rynges/vpon pylers of Marble stone.

The beches were of goulde & syluer made vpon a pauement of grene/ which/ palowe & black Marble. And the drinke was caried in vessels of goulde/ & there was euer change of vessel. And the kynges wine was moch acordinge to the power of the kyng. And no man was appoynted what he shulde drinke:
for the kyng had comaunded all the officers of his house/ that euery one shulde do as it liked him. And the quene wasthi made a feast also for the women in the palace of Ahasue-rus. And on the seuench daye when the kyng was mery of the wyne/ he comaunded Me-human/ Bartha/ Harbona/ Bagatha/ Aba-gatha/ Zathar and Carcas/ the seuen chamberlaynes (that dyd seruyce in the presence of kyng Ahasuerus/ to fetch the quene wasthi with the crowne regal/ that he might shewe the people & pynces her fairnesse: for she was beutifull. But the quene wasthi wolde not come at the kynges wynde by his chamberlaynes. Then was the kyng very wroth/ & his indignacion kyndled in him.

In the kyng spake to the wyse men that had vnderstandinge in the ordinaunces of the lande for the kynges matters must be hadled before all such as haue knowlege of the lawe and iudgement: and the nexte vnto him were/Carsena/ Sethar/ Admatha/ Charlis/ Pares/ Marfana & Hamucan/ the seuen pynces of the Persians/ & Medes/ which saue the kynges face/ and sat aboute in the kyngdome/ What lawe shulde be execute vnto the quene wasthi/ because she dyd not acordinge to the wynde of the kyng by his chamberlaynes.

Then sayde Hamucan before the kyng & the pynces: the quene wasthi hath not onely done euell agaynst the kyng but also agaynst all the pynces & all the people in all the landes of kyng Ahasuerus for this dede of the quene shall come aboute vnto all women/ so that they shall despyse their husbandes before their eyes/ and shall saye: the kyng Ahasuerus commaunded wasthi the quene to come before him/ but she wolde not. And so shall the pynces in Persia & Media saye likewise vnto all the kynges pynces/ when they heare of this dede of the quene/ thus shall there arysen des-pytelynes and wroth ynough. If it please the kyng/ let there go a commaundement from him/ and let it be wyrtten acordinge to the lawe of the Persians & Medians (that not to be trasgreded) that wasthi come no more before kyng Ahasuerus/ & let the kyng geue the kingdome vnto another that is better then she.

And that this wyrttinge of the kyng which shalbe made/ be publyshed thorow out all his empyre (which is grete) that all wyues maye holde their husbandes in honoure/ both amonge grete and smal.

This pleased the kyng and the pynces/and the kyng dyd acordinge to the wynde of Hamucan. Then were there letters sent forth in to all the kynges landes/ in to euery lande acordinge to the wyrttinge therof/ and to euery people after their language/ that euery ma shulde be iorde in his awne house.
And thus caused he be spoken after the language of his people.

After the quene put awaye/ & ten goodly young da-moiselles are searched oute. Whiche other wyse called Esther/ pleased the kyng/ and is made quene. What hath she openeth vnto the kyng those that wolde betraye hym.

The ii. Chapter.

After these actes when the displeasure of kyng Ahasuerus was layd he thoughte vnto wasthi/ what she had done/ and what was concluded concerninge her. Then sayde the kynges seruauntes: Let there be sayde young birgins soughte for the kyng/ and let the kyng ap-poynte ouersers in all the landes of his empyre/ that they maye byngge together all sayde young byrgins vnto the castell of Susan to the womens buyldinge/ vnder the hande of Hagei the kynges chamberlayne/that kepeth the women/ and let hym geue them their apparell. And loke which damsell please the kyng/ let her be quene in wasthis steade.

Of Esther.

Alxxxvii.

steade. This pleased the kyng/ and he dyd so.
In the castell of Susan there was a Je-we/ whose name was Mardocheus/ the sonne of Jair/ the sonne of Semel/ the sonne of Cis the sonne of Zimmi/ which was caried awaye from Ierusalem/ when Jehoniah the kyng of Iuda was led awaye/ (whom Nabuchodonosor the kyng of Babilis caried awaye) and he noyshed Hadasah (that is Esther) his nicles daughter: for she had nether father nor mother/ and she was a saye and beuty-full damsell. And when her father and mother dyed/ Mardocheus receaued her as his awne daughter.

Now when the kynges comaundement and comission was publyshed/ & many damells were broughte together vnto the castell of Susan vnder the hande of Hagei/ Esther was take also vnto the kynges house vnder the hande of Hagei the keper of the women/ & the damsell pleased him/ & she founde grace in his sighte.
And he caused her oymment to be geuen her/and her gyses/ & gaue her. bty. notable getyl women of the kynges house/ & arayed both her & her gentyl wome very ryche in the house of the women. But Esther she wold not her people nor her kynred: for Mardocheus had charged her/ that she shulde not tell it. And Mardocheus walked euery daye before the courte of the womens buyldinge/ that he might knowe how Esther dyd/ and what shulde be come of her.

And when the appoynted tyme of euery damcell came that she shulde come to the kyng Ahasuerus/ after that she had bene twelue monethes in the deckyng of the women (for their deckyng must haue so moch tyme/ namely six monethes wyth Balme & Myrrer/& syxe monethes in good spyces/ so were the wome beutified) then wente there one dale vnto the kyng/ & what so euer she requyred/ she must be geuen her to go wyth her out of the womens buyldinge vnto the kyngs palace. And when one came in the eueninge/ the same wot of him on the morow into the seconde house of women/ vnder the hande of Sadasag the kyngs chamberlayne/ which kepeth the chubins. And she must come vnto the kyng nomore/ excepte it pleased the kyng/ and that he caused her to be called by name.

Now when the tyme came of Esther the daughter of Abihail Mardocheus nicle (who he had receaued as his awne daughter) that she shulde come to the kyng/ she despyed no-thinge but what Hagei the kynges chamber-layne the keper of the women sayde.

And Esther founde sauoure in the syghte of all them that looked vpon her. And Esther was taken vnto kyng Ahasuerus in to the house roppall/ in the tenth moneth which is called Tebeth/ in the seuench yere of his raygne.

And the kyng loued Esther aboute all the women/ and she founde grace and mercy in his syghte before all the byrgins: and he set the quenes crowne vpon her head/ and made her quene in steade of wasthi. And the kyng made a great feast vnto all his pynces and seruauntes (whych feast was because of Esther) and let the landes be in quyetnes/and gaue roppall gyses.

And when the byrgins were gathered together the seconde tyme/ Mardocheus sat in the kynges gate. And as yet had not Esther shewed her kynred and her people/ acordinge as Mardocheus had hydden her: for Esther dyd after the wynde of Mardocheus/ like as wher he was her tutoure. At the same tyme whyle Mardocheus sat in the kynges gate/ two of the kynges chamberlaynes Bagathan and Chares which kepeth the doze/ were wroth/ & sought to laye their handes on the kyng Ahasuerus: wherof Mardocheus gat knowles-ge/ and tolde it vnto quene Esther/ & Esther certified the kyng therof in Mardocheus name. And when inquisycion was made/ it was founde so. And they were both hanged on tre: and it was wyrtten in the Cronicles before the kyng.

Haman the Macedonian/ after he was cralled/ obtained of the kyng that all the Jewes shulde be put to deeth/ because Mardocheus had not done hym moze duty/ as other had.

The iii. Chapter.

After these actes dyd the kyng pzo-mote Haman the sonne of Amadatha the Agagite/ and set hym hye/ & set his seate aboute all the pynces that were with him. And all the kynges seruauntes that were in the gate/ bowed their knees/ and dyd reuerence vnto Haman: for the kyng had so comaunded. But Mardocheus bowed not the knee/ and wrothipped him not. Then the kynges seruauntes whych were in the kynges gate/ sayde vnto Mardocheus: why trasgreddest thou the kynges comaundement?
And when they spake this daye vnto hym/ & he folowed the not/ they tolde Haman/ that they myghte se whether Mardocheus marters wolde endure: for he had tolde the/ that he was a Jewe. And wher Haman saue/ that Mardocheus bowed not the knee vnto hym/nor wrothipped hym/ he was full of indig-nacion & thought it to lytell to laye handes onely on Mardocheus: for they had shewed him the nacio of Mardocheus/ but he soughte to destroye all the Jewes the nacion of Mar-docheus/ that were in the whole empyre of Ahasuerus.

In the fyrst moneth (that is the moneth Nissan) in the twelue the yere of kynge Ahasuerus they cast Pur (is a lot) before Haman, on what daye & what moneth this shuld be done: & it went oute the twelue the moneth that is the moneth Adar. And Haman sayde vnto kynge Ahasuerus: There is a people scattered abroad and disperfed amonge all people in all the landes of thyne empire: & their lawe is contrary vnto al people: & they do not after the kynges lawes: nether is it the kyngs pfect to suffice the after this maner. If it please the kyng, let him wyte: that they maye be destroyed: & so will I weye downe ten thousande talentes of syluer, vnder the handes of the workmen, to be brought into the kynges chamber. Then toke the kyng his ringe fro his hande: & gaue it vnto Haman the sonne of Amadatha the Agagite the Jewes enemye. And the kyng sayde vnto Haman: Let the syluer be geuen the, and that people also, to do with all what pleaseth the.

Then were the kynges scribes called on the thirtenth daye of the fyrst moneth: and there was written (acordinge as Haman commaunded) vnto the kynges pynces and to the captiues euery where in the landes: and to the rulers of euery people in countreys on euery syde, acordinge to the wytyng of euery nacyon: and after their language in the name of kynge Ahasuerus: and sealed with the kynges ryng. And the wytynges were sent by postes in to all the kynges landes: to rote oute: to kyll: and to destroye all Jewes: both yonge and olde: chyldren and women in one daye (namely vpon the thirtenth daye of the twelue the moneth: whych is the moneth Adar) and to spoyle their goodes.

Thys was the summe of the wytyng: & there shulde be a commaundement geuen in all landes, to be published vnto all people: that they shulde be ready agaynst the same daye. And the postes wente in all the haste acordinge to the kynges commaundement. And in the castell of Susan was the commaundement deuyled. And the kyng and Haman late and dranche. But the cyrte of Susan was disquieted.

¶ Hamdocheus geueth the quene knowlege of the cruell decree of the kyng agaynst the Jewes.

The.iii. Chapter.

¶ When Hamdocheus perceaued all that was done, he rete his clothes and put on sack cloth: and affixes: and wente out in to the myddes of the cite: and cried loude and lamentably: and came before the kynges gate: for there might no man entre within the kynges gate: that had sack cloth on. And in all landes and places: as farre as the kynges worde and commaundement extended, there was greate lamentacyon amonge the Jewes and many. The Jewes fasted: wepte: mourned: and laye in sack cloth and in ashes. So Esther damels and her chamberlaynes / came and tolde it her. Then was the quene exceedingly aston-ished. And she sent rayment: that Hamdocheus shulde put them on: and laye the sack cloth from hym. But Hamdocheus wolde not take them. Then called Esther Hathath one of the kynges chamberlaynes (whych stode before her) and gaue hym a commaundement vnto Hamdocheus: that he myght knowe what it were: and wherfore he dyd so. So Hathath wete forth to Hamdocheus vnto the strete of the cyrte: whych was before the kynges gate.

And Hamdocheus tolde him of all that had happened vnto him: and of the summe of syluer that Haman had promysed to weye downe in the kynges chaber because of the Jewes: for to destroye them: and he gaue hym the cōpye of the commaundement: that was deuyled at Susan to destroye them: that he myght shewe it vnto Esther: and to speake to her a charge her, that she shulde go in to the kyng and make her prayer and supplicacion vnto hym for her people.

And whē Hathath came in: & tolde Esther the wordes of Hamdocheus: Esther spake vnto Hathath: and commaunded hym to saye vnto Hamdocheus: all the kynges seruantes: and the people in the landes of the kyng: knowe: that whosoever cometh within the court vnto the kyng, whether it be man or woman: whiche is not called: the commaundement is that the same shall dye immediatly: excepte the kyng holde out the goulde scepter vnto hym, that he maye lyue. As for me: I haue not bene called to come in to the kyng now this thirtie dayes.

And when Hamdocheus was certified of Esthers wordes: Hamdocheus had saye agayne vnto Esther: thinke not to saue thine awne life: whyle thou art in the kynges house before all Jewes: for yf thou holdest thy peace at this tyme: then shall the Jewes haue helpe and deliuerance out of another place: and thou and thy fathers house shalbe destroyed. And who knoweth whether thou art come to the kyngdome: for this tymes sake? Esther had gaue Hamdocheus this answer: So thou thy waye then: & geather together all the Jewes: & are founde at Susan: and fast ye for me: & ye eate not & drinke not in thre dayes: nether daye nor night. I and my damels will fast & wepe: & so wyl I go in to the kyng contrary to the commaundement: yf I perishe. So Hamdocheus wente his waye: & dyd all that Esther had commaunded him.

¶ Esther

¶ Esther entred in to the kyng and byddeth him and Haman to a feast. Haman prepareth a gallouse for Hamdocheus.

The.ii. Chapter.

¶ On the thirde daye put Esther on her royall apparell: & stode in the court of the kyngs palace within ouer agaynst the kynges house. And the kyng late vpon his royall seate in the kynges palace ouer agaynst the gate of the house. And when the kyng sawe Esther the quene standyng in the court: the founde grace in his syghte. And the kyng helde out the golden scepter in his hande toward Esther. So Esther stepte forth: & touched the toppe of the scepter. Then sayde the kyng vnto her: What wilt thou quene Esther: and what requyrest thou: aske euen the halfe of the empyre: & it shall be geue the. Esther sayde: If it please the kyng: let the kyng & Haman come this daye vnto the banquet that I haue prepared. The kyng sayde: cause Haman to make haste: that he maye do as Esther hath sayde.

Now when the kyng & Haman came to the banquet: Esther had prepared: the kyng sayde vnto Esther at the banquet of wyne: Esther: what is thy peticyon: and it shalbe geuen the. And what requyrest thou: If it be euen the halfe of the empyre: it shalbe done.

¶ Then answered Esther and sayde: my peticion & desyre is: yf I haue founde grace in the syght of the kyng: & yf it please the kyng to geue me my peticion: and to fulfill my request: then let the kyng & Haman come to the banquet that I shall prepare for the: and so will I do to morow as the kyng hath sayde.

¶ Then went Haman forth the same daye forfull and mery in his mynde. And when he sawe Hamdocheus in the kynges gate: he stode not by and kneled before hym: he was full of indignacion at Hamdocheus. Neuertheles he refrayned himselfe: and whē he came home: he sent: and called for his frendes: and Zares his wyfe: & tolde the of the glory of his riches: & the multitude of his chyldren: all to gether how the kyng had promoted him to greatly: and how that he was take about the pynces and seruantes of the kyng. Haman sayde moreouer: Yee & Esther the quene let no man come with the kyng vnto the banquet that she had prepared: excepte me: & to morow am I bidden vnto her also with the kyng. But in all thys am I not satisfied: as longe as I se Hamdocheus the Jewe syttinge at the kynges gate. Then sayde Zares his wyfe & all his frendes vnto hym: Let them make a gallouse of syluer cubites hie: and to morow speake thou vnto the kyng: & Hamdocheus maye be hanged thereon: yf thou comest merely with the kyng vnto the banquet. Haman was well content with all: and caused a gallouse to be prepared.

¶ The kyng turneth ouer the Chyroncles & fyndeth the synelpe of Hamdocheus: & then to the conspyr of Haman: & Hamdocheus to be had in honoure.

The.iii. Chapter.

¶ The same night coulde not the kyng slepe: and he commaunded to bringe the Chyroncles and stoyres: whych when they were red before the kyng: they happened on a place where it was written: how Hamdocheus had tolde: that the kynges two chaberlaynes (whych kepte the thershold) fought: to laye handes on kynge Ahasuerus. And the kyng sayde: what wo: shippe & good haue we done to Hamdocheus therfore? Then sayde the kynges seruantes: that ministered vnto him. There is nothinge done for hym. And the kyng sayde: Who is in the court? (for Haman was gone in to the court without before the kyngs house: that he myght speake vnto the kyng to hange Hamdocheus on the tre: that he had prepared for him.) And the kynges seruantes sayde vnto him: beholde: Haman standeth in the court. The kyng sayde: let him come in. And when Haman came in: the kyng sayde vnto hym: what shall be done vnto the man: whom the kyng wolde saye bringe vnto wo: shippe? But Haman thought in his hert: Whom shulde the kyng els be glad to bringe vnto wo: shippe: but me? And Haman sayde vnto the kyng: Let the man vnto whom the kyng wolde be glad to do wo: shippe: be broughte hyther: that he maye be arayed with the royall garmentes whych the kyng bleseth to weare: and the horse that the kyng rydeth vpon: and that the crowne royall maye be set vpon his heed. And let this rayment and horse be deliuered vnder the hande of one of the kynges pynces: that he maye araye the man withall (whō the kyng wolde saye honoure) and cary hym vpon the horse thow the strete of the cite: & cause it to be proclaimed before him: thus shal it be done to euery mā: whom the kyng wolde saye honoure.

¶ The kyng sayde: make haste: and take as thou hast sayde: the rayment and the horse: & do euen so with Hamdocheus the Jewe that syttech before the kynges gate: & let nothinge saye of all that thou hast spoken. Then toke Haman the rayment and the horse: & arayed him: and brought hym on horsebacke thow the strete of the cite: and proclaimed before hym: Euen thus shal it be done vnto euery man whom the kyng is disposed to honoure. And Hamdocheus came agayne to the kynges gate: but Haman gat him home in all haste mourninge with bare heade: and tolde Zares his wyfe & all his frendes: euery thyng that had hap-had happened him. Then sayde his wife men e Iares his wyfe vnto him: If it be Har-cheus of the seede of the Jewes/ befoze whom thou hast begonne to fall/ thou canst do nothyng vnto hym/ but shalt fall befoze hym.

Whyle they were yet talkinge with him/ came the kynges chamberlaynes/ and caused Haman to make haste to come vnto the bac-ket that Esther had prepared.

¶ The quene biddeth the king and Haman agayne/and prayeth for her selfe and her people. ~~She~~ accuseth Haman: and he is hanged on the gallows: which he had prepared for Mardocheus.

The vii. Chapter.

And when the kynge and Hamas came to þe bancket that quene Elther had p̄pared/ þe kynge sayde vnto Elther on the seconde daye at the bancket of wyne: what is thy peticiō quene Elther/ that it maye be geuen the? And what requyrest thou? Yee/aske euen halfe of þe empyre/ & it shall be done. Elther the quene answered and sayde: If I haue founde grace in thy syghte (O kynge) & yf it please the kynge then graunte me my selfe at my desyre & my people for my peticiōs sake: for we are sold & my people bothe to be destroyed to be slaine he bondmen and bondwomen/ then wolde I holde my tōge/* so shulde not the enemye be so hye to the kynges harme. The kynge that uetus spake and sayde vnto quene Elther:

 what is he that? O: where is he that darre to perishe. And wolde god we were solde to be. he bondmen and bondwomen/ then wolde I holde my tōge/* so shulde not the enemye be to hye to the kynges harme. The kynge that uerus spake and sayde vnto quene Elther:

what is he that? O: where is he that darre p̄sume in his mynde to do soch a thinge after that maner? Elther sayde: the enemye and aduersary is this wicked Haman.

As for Haman he was exceedingly affraid before the kinge & the quene. And the kinge arose from the banquet and from the wyne in hys displeasure and wente into the palace garden. And Haman fledde by/and besoughte quene Esther for hys lyfe: for he sawe that there was a mischefe p;pared for hym of the kinge already.

And when the kynge came agayne out of the palace garden into the parter where they had eaten, Haman had layed hym vpon the bed that esther sat vpon. then sayde a kynge

* Or, in my presence will he force the queene also besyde* me in the house? As lone as that worde wete out of the standeth a galowes in Hamans house fytte cubytes hie/ whych he had made for Mar-docheus/ that spake good for the kynge. The kynge sayde: hange hym theron. So they hanged Haman on the galowes that he had made for Mardocheus. Then was the kynge wzath pacified.

¶ After the death of Haman is Mordechaus exalted, & then are ther comfortabill letters sent vnto the Jewes.

The. viij. Chapter.

The same daye byd kynge Thasius. Thus geue the house of Haman the Jew enemye vnto quene Esther. And Hardocheus came before the kynge: for Esther tolde how that he beloged vnto her. And the kynge put of his rhyng rhyng/ which he had take from Haman/ and gaue it vnto Hardocheus. And Esther set Hardocheus ouer the house of Haman. And Esther spake yet moze before the kynge/ and fell downe at his fete/ & besought hym/ that he wolde put awaye the wychednes of Haman the Agagite/ and his deuice that he had ymagined agaynst the Jewes. And the kynge helde out the goulden scepter vnto Esther. Then rose Esther/ & stode before the kynge/ and sayde: yf it please the kynge/ & yf I haue founde grace in his sight/ & yf it be couenient for the kynge/ & yf it be accepted in his sight then let it be wyrtten/ that the letters of the deuyce of Haman the sonne of Hamadatha the Agagite/ maye be called agayne: whych letters he wrote/ to destroye the Jewes in all the kynges landes. For how can I se & euell that shall happen vnto my people? & how can I loke vpon the destruction of my kynred?

Then sayde the kynge Thialuerus unto quene Esther/ and to Harbocheus the Je-we: Beholde/ I haue geuen Esther the house of Haman/ and him haue they hanged vpon a tre/ because he layed hande vpon the Je-wes. Wryte ye now therfoze for the Jewes/as it lyeth you in the kynges name/ & seale it with the kynges rynge (for the wrytinges that were wrytten in the kynges name/ and sealed wth the kynges rynge/ durst no man dysanulle.) Then were the kynges scribes called at the same tyme in the thirde moneth/that is the moneth Sivan/ on the thye and twentyceth daye.

And it was written (as Mardocheus commaunded) vnto the Jewes and to the prynces/to the Debytyes and captaynes in the landes from India vntyll Ethiopia, namely an hundred and seven and twenty landes/vnto euery one accordyng to the wytyng therof, vnto euery people after their speche/and to the Jewes accordyng to their wytyng and language.

And it was written in the kynges Thasue-rus name/and sealed with the kynges ring.
And by postes that rode vpon swyfte yonge Houles/sent he the wyrtynge/wher in the kyng graunted the Jewes (in what cytyes soeuer they were) to gather them selues together/ and to stande for their lyfe/ and for to rote

¶ To stande to rote oute / to slaye / and to destroye all the by their lyfe power of the people & lande that wolde trouis a manner of ble them / with chyldren and women / and fe-of synngue samp- die their good wth one daye in all þe lādes but to the be- of kynge Hyspanus namely upon the th^{ty}- lones / fe) the- of kynge Hyspanus namely upon the th^{ty}- we lape / to be- tenth daye of the twelueyth moneth / which is fode their ty- the moneth Iidar.

The summe of the wytynge was / how there was a commaundement geuen in all landes to be published vnto all þe people / that the Jewes shoulde be ready agaynst that daye to avenge them selues on their enemyes . And the postes that rode vpon the Asules / made haste with all spede / accordyng to þe kynges worde: and the commaundement was deuced in the castell of Susan.

As for Harbocheus, he went oute fro the kyng in royall apparell of yelow & whyte/and with a greate crowne of goulde, beynge arrayed with a garment of spynne and purple/and the cytie of Susan reioyced & was gladd/but vnto the Jewes there was come lyght & gladnesse, and ioye & meryshyppe. And in all landes and cyties/ into what places soeuer the kynges woorde and commaundemēt reached/there was ioye and myrth/prospereite & good dayes amonge the Jewes: in somuch that many of the people in the lande became of the Jewes beleefe/ for þe feare of þe Jewes came vpon them.

¶ At the commandement of the kynge the Jewes put their aduersaries to death. The sonnes of Haman are hanged. The Jewes kepe a feast daye in remembrance of their deliuerance.

of the 11. Chapter.

In the twelueyth moneth / that is the moneth Adar / vpon the thyetenty daye / which the kinges worde and commaundement had appoynted that it shulde be done / euen vpon the same daye that the enemyes shulde haue destroyed the Jewes to haue oppressed them / it turned contrary wyse / euen that the Jewes shulde subdue their enemyes. Then gathered the Jewes together in their cyties within all the landes of kynge Darius / to laye hande on such as woulde do them euell / and no man could withstand them : for the feare of them was come ouer all people. And all the rulers in the landes / and priuces and Deba-ties / and officers of the kynge promoted the Jewes: for the feare of Bardocheus came vpon them. For Bardocheus was greete in the kynges house / & the reporte of hym was norsed in all land / how he increased & grewe.

Thus the Jewes smote all their enemies
With a sore slaughter, and slew & destroyed and dyd after their will vnto such as were their aduersaries. And at the castell of Su-

Ian slewe the Jewes and destroyed fyue hun-drezth men: a slewe Pharisandatha / Delpho / Asphatha / Phozatha / Adaisa / Aridatha / Pharmastha / Arisai / Aridai / Marzatha / the ten sonnes of Haman the sonne of Hamadatha & enemye of the Jewes: but on his good they layed no handes. At the same tyme was the kynge certyfyed of the nombze of those that were slayne at þe castell of Susan. And the kynge sayde vnto quene Esther: The Je-wes haue slayne & destroyed fyue hundrezth men at þe castell of Susan / & the ten sonnes of Haman: What shall they do in the other landes of the kynge? What is thy peticion / that it maye be geuen the? & what requyreth thou moze to be done? Esther sayd: If it please the kynge / let him suffre the Jewes to mo-row also to do accordyng vnto this dayes co-maundemēt / that they maye hange Hamans ten sonnes vpon the tre. And the kyng charged to do so / & the commaundemēt was deuys-ed at Susan / & Hamans ten sonnes were hanged. And the Jewes geathered the selings together at Susan / vpon the fourteenth daye of the moneth Adar / and slewe thre hundrezth men at Susan / but on thre goodes they layed no handes.

As for the other Jewes in the kynges lades/they came together/ & stode for their lyues/& gat rest from their enemyes: and slewe of their enemyes spure a fouetçe thousand/ how beit they layed no handes on their goodes.
This was done on the thirtenth daye of the moneth Adar/ & on the fourtenth daye of the same moneth rested they / whych daye they ordyned to be a daye of feasting & gladnesse But the Jewes at Susan were come together both on the thirtenth daye & on the fourtenth/ & on the fiftenth daye they rested/ and the same daye ordyned they to be a daye of feasting & gladnes. Wherefore the Jewes dwelt in the billages and burrowes/ & ordyned the fourtenth daye of the moneth Adar/ to be a daye of feasting and gladnes/and one sent gyftes into another.

And Barbocheus wrote these actes/and sent the writings vnto all the Tewes þ were in al the landes of kynges Chaucerius / both nye & farre/that they shulde yearly receaue & holde the fourtenth & fyfteenth daye of the moneth Adar/as the dayes wherein þ Tewes cam to rest fro their enemies/as a moneth wherein their payne was turned to ioye/ and their sorowe into prosperite:that they shulde obserue the same as dayes of wealth & gladnes/and one to sende gyftes vnto another/ & to distribute vnto the poore.

And the Jewes receaued it that they had begonne to do / and that Barbocheus wrote vnto them: how that Haman & Ienne

Job is plagued of God by the losse of his goodes and chyldren.

The first Chapter.

In the lade of hus there was a man called Job: an innocent & vertuous man, soch one as feared God & eschewed euell. His man had. bii. somm / and. iij. daughters. Hys substance was. bii. M. shepe. iij. M. camels. v. C. pourk of oxen. b. C. she asses / and a very greate housholde: so that he was one of the most principall men amonge all them of the east countre. And his sonnes went / & made banckettes: one daye in one house / another daye in another / & sent for their. iij. syccis to eate & drinke with them. So when they had passed ouer & tyme of their banckettyng rounde aboute / Job sent for them / & clemented them agayne / and gat by early / & offered for euery one a bzentofferyng. For Job thought thus: peradventure my sonnes haue done some offence / and haue bene borthankfull to God in their hertes. And thus dyd Job euery daye. Now byp a tyme / when & seruantes of God^{as by the seruantes of God} came & stode before the Lorde / & here vnderstande not onely angelles by whō he ordereth the course & workes of the world: but also the godly & chaste / whom he continually curseth and proudereth for. Job. i. a. b. Cam & stode before the Lorde. Chynck not that God some tyme appeareth to the angelles and some tyme not: for the good angells as all wayle se the face of God: & ther comeneth God either with the angelles or with the deuill with bodely speache but the hoip good in the scriptures speaketh many thynges vnto vs as: eachpage is our fealynge and bleth a maner of speakepage samplar to be attyptye tynge apperayng spakepage enquerayng and answerayng to God and to angelles / which thynges mā onely vbleth to thynke that we ther by make the raselepat pertraue his meanynge. & he comynge of the angelles here is no nother thyng than to geue accowntes of the offyce inioyned them: which they geue / knowyng that God seyth wth what trust they dyd it: and to geue thanches and wayte for their reward. They came (sayth Drigca) honouryng mag. aspyng / prayng / geupnge thanches. Of Sathan also wyrteth he th. s. he cam mether with goyng to: & comynge in: but he cam in thought / couereth a most wyched desyre to acule the ryght wyse be fore God. Hs thought and desyre are take as a comynge & he desyre thers is counted to haue come into the syght of God: not that the most wyched. man in dede in the syght of the good God: but because his cruell & most wyched thoughtes cam into the syght of God. And thus euery not a daye also cometh the deuill with them in to the syght of God: in that he wyrteth accuseth / synneth / faule / vpereth / persecuteth & troubleth the godly.

than cam also amonge them. And the Lorde sayde vnto Sathan: From whence comest thou? Sathan answered the Lorde / & sayde: I haue gone aboute the lande and waiched thow it.

Then sayde the Lorde vnto Sathan: hast thou not considered my seruant Job / how he is an innocent and vertuous mā: soch one as feareth God / and extueth euell / and that there is none lyke him in the lande? Sathan answered / and sayde vnto the Lorde: Dothe Job feare God for nought: hast thou not persecuted him / his house / and all his substance on euery syde? hast thou not blessed the workes of his handes? Is not his possession encreased in the lande? But laye thyne hande vpon him a lytle / touche once all that he hath / and (I holde) he shall curse the to thy face. And the Lorde sayd vnto Sathan: lo all that he hath / be in thy power: only vpon hym selfe se that thou laye not thyne hande. Then went Sathan forth from the Lorde.

Now byp a certayne daye whē his sonnes and daughters were eatynge / and drynking wyne in their eldest brothers house / there came a messenger vnto Job / & sayde: I whyle the oxen were a plowynge / & the asses going in the pasture besyde them: the Sabers cam in violently / and toke the all awaye: & they haue slayne thy seruantes with the swerde / and I only raimie my waye / to tell the.

And whyle he was yet speakeynge / there came another / and sayde: The fyre of God is fallen from heauen / it hath consumed / and bynt by all thy shepe and seruantes: and I only raimie my waye / to tell the. In & meane season whyle he was yet speakeynge / there cam another / and sayde: The Caldees made thye armye / & fell in vpon thy camels / which they haue taken awaye / & slayne thy seruantes: & the swerde / and I only am gottē awaye / to tell the: whyle he was speakeynge / there yet another / & sayde: & by sonnes and daughters were eatynge & drynking wyne in their eldest brothers house / & suddenly thye came a mightie grete wynde out of the / & smote the. iij. corners of the house / & fell vpon thy chyldren / so that they are dead: and I am gottē awaye alone / to tell the.

Then sayde the Lorde vnto Sathan: hast thou not considered my seruant Job / how he is an innocent and vertuous mā: soch one as feareth God / and extueth euell / and that there is none lyke him in the lande? Sathan answered / and sayde vnto the Lorde: Dothe Job feare God for nought: hast thou not persecuted him / his house / and all his substance on euery syde? hast thou not blessed the workes of his handes? Is not his possession encreased in the lande? But laye thyne hande vpon him a lytle / touche once all that he hath / and (I holde) he shall curse the to thy face. And the Lorde sayd vnto Sathan: lo all that he hath / be in thy power: only vpon hym selfe se that thou laye not thyne hande. Then went Sathan forth from the Lorde.

Job is plagued by sore byles / & afterwards is mocked of his wyfe / his frendes / & byp a tyme / & haue compassion on hym.

The. ij. Chapter.

When the seruantes of God cam here described & stode before the Lorde: Sathan alspynge & deuiling / came amonge them / & stode before the Lorde. And he Lorde sayde vnto Sathan: From whence comest thou? Sathan answered and sayde: I haue gone aboute the lande / and waiched thow it.

Then sayde the Lorde vnto Sathan: hast thou not considered my seruant Job / how he is an innocent and vertuous mā: soch one as feareth God / and extueth euell / and that there is none lyke him in the lande? But thou noudest me agaynst hym / to punysh him: yet is it in bayne / for he contynieth still in his godlyne. Sathan answered & Lorde / and sayde: Skynne for skynne? yee a man will geue all he euer he hath / for his lyfe. But laye thyne hande vpon him / touche him once byp the bone and flesch / and (I holde) he shall curse the to thy face. Then sayde the Lorde vnto Sathan: lo / there hast thou him in thy power / but spare his lyfe.

So went Sathan forth from the Lorde / and smote Job with maruelous soze byles / from the sole of the fote vnto hys crowne: so that he sat vpon the grounde in the ashes / and scraped of the fylch of hys sozes with a potsherde.

Then sayd his wyfe vnto him: Wofte thou contynue in thy persecucion? curse God / and dye. But Job sayde vnto her: Thou speakest lyke a folysh woman. Seynge we haue receaued prosperite at the hande of God / & let soze shoulde we not be content with aduersyte also? In all these thynges / dyd not Job synne wth his lippes.

Now when Jobs frendes herde of all the trouble / that happened vnto hym / there came thre of them / euery one from hys awne place: namely / Eliphaz the Chamanite / Baldad the Subite / and Zophar the Maanathite.

For they were agreed together to come / to shewe their compassion vpon him / and to comforte hym. So when they lyfte by their eyes a farre of / they knewe him not. When they cryed / and wepte: then euery one of them rente hys clothes / and spynched dust vpon their heades in the ayre. They sat them doune by him also byp the grounde by. dayes and. bii. nightes. Neither was there any of them that spake one worde vnto hym / for they sawe that hys payne was very greate.

of Hamadatha all the Jewes enemye / had deuyled to destiope all the Jewes / & caused to call Phur (that is Lot) for to put them in feare / & to bynge them to naughte: and how Hester wente and spake to the kynge / that thow letters his wyched deupce (which he ymagined agaynst the Jewes) might be turned vpon his awne heede / and how he & hys sonnes were hanged on the tre. For & which cause they called this daye Phurim after the name of Phur / accordyng to all the trozdes of this wyrtynge: and what they them selues had sene / and what had happened vnto them.

And the Jewes set it by / and toke it vpon them and their seide / & byp all soch as loyned them selues vnto them / that they wolde not mysse to obserue these two dayes yearly / accordyng as they were wyrtten and appoynted / how that these dayes are not to be forgotten / but to be kepte of chylders chyldre amonge all kyndes in all landes & cytyes. They are the dayes of Phurim / which are not to be ouerslyte amonge the Jewes / & the memorayll of them oughte not to perlyshe from their seide.

And quene Hester the daughter of Abihail & Haradocheus the Jewe wrote wth all auctorite / to confirme this seconde wyrtynge of Phurim / and sent the letters vnto all the Jewes in the hundreth & seue & twenty landes of the empyre of Thasuerus / wth frendly and faythfull wordes / to confirme these dayes of Phurim / in their tyme appoynted / accordyng as Haradocheus the Jewe and Hester the quene had ordeyned & camynge them: lyke as they byp their soule and vpon their seide had confirmed the actes of the fastynge and of hir copaynte. And Hester commaunded to stablish these actes of this Phurim / and to wyrtte them in a boke.

The glorie and noblenes of Haradocheus: and Authoryte of Haradocheus.

The. i. Chapter.

And the kynge Thasuerus layd tte oute vpon the lande / and vpon the fles of the see. As for all & wyrtke of his power and auctorite / & the greate worshippe of Haradocheus / whych the kynge gaue him / beholde / it is wyrtte in the Cronycles of the kynges of Media and Persia. For Haradocheus the Jewe was the seconne nexte vnto kynge Thasuerus / and greate amonge the Jewes / & accepted amonge the multitude of his brethren / as one that sekerth & welth of his people / and speaketh the best for all his seide.

The ende of the boke of Esther.

come not: a searce for it moare then for trea sure which also wolde be exceeding glad/ a re ioyce yf they founde their graue. That shulde be tope to a man whose waye is hpd/ which God kepeth backe from him. For my syghes come before I eate/ a my roaynges fall out like flowng water. For a thynge I feared/is come vpon me: and the thynge that I was afraid of/ is happened vnto me: was I not happy? Had I not quyetnesse? Was I not in rest? And now cometh soch myserie vpon me.

Job is reprehended of impaciencie and inuidie/ and of the presumption of his owne righte wises.

The.iiij. Chapter.

Elen answered Eliphaz the Che manite and sayd vnto him: Yf we begyne to comen wth the perad uature thou wilt be dyscontent/but who can withholde him self from spea kyng? Beholde/ thou hast bene a teacher of many/ and hast comforted the weery handes.
Thy wordes haue set bp those that were fal len/ thou hast refrethed the weake knees.
But now that the plage is come vpon the thou wyntest a wape: now that it hath tou ched thy self/ thou arte saynt harted. Is not this thy feare/ thy stoufastnesse/ thy paciencie/and the perfectnesse of thy wayes? Consyde (I praye the) whowet perpleyed beyng an innocet? Whowet were the godly destroyed?
As I haue sene them that plowe banysse a sowt malicie reape the same. With the blas t of God they perysh/ and wth the byeth of his anger consumed they awape. The roa ryng of the lyon/ the boyce of the lyonelle/and the teeth of the lyons whelpes are broke The lyon perissheth/ for lacke of praye/ a the lyons whelpes are scattered abrode.

And vnto me was a woode hyde/ a myne care hath receaued a lytell thereof. In a ph talpes and thoughtes of the byfons of the nyght/ when drepe cometh on men: feare cam vpon me and drepe made my bones to shake And when the wynd passed by before my py lence it made the hearres of my fleshe stand bp. He stode there and I knew not his face/an ymage ther was before me and ther was a byme/ so that I heard thys voyce. Shall man be moare iust than God? Shall man be putter than this maker? Beholde ther is no trust to his seruantes/ a in his aungelles hath he founde frowardnes. How moche moare in them that dwell in houses of claye/whose foundation is but erth: which shalbe consumed by the wyth. They shalbe smytte fro the morninge vnto the euening: yee they shal perysh euerylastyngly/ a no man thynk therof. Is not their dignitie take a wape them/ they shal dye and not in wysdome.

Moore ryghtwelle and pure than God but this is impossible: for the contrarye is shewed vnto me by reuelacion.
Beholde ther is no trust. He labourerth in coufymng that which he had before propounded. The summe of the reason is this:
gelles are not purer than God/ ergo not men.
Dignitie/ signifieth here what somer they haue wherein they cell other/ whether it be ryche/ or honoure/ or power/ or countrey:
For none of these shal redeame them from deeth.

The.v. Chapter.

The ende of a fole. The ryghtwises of God The Lorde chasteneth him/ and deliuereth them agayne.

Ime me one els/ yf thou wilt fynde any: yee loke aboute the/ vpon eny of the holymen. As for the folysh man/ displeasure kylleth him and anger slayeth the ignorant. I haue sene my self/ when the folysh was depe roted/ that hys bely was sodenly destroyed/ that his chy dren were without prosperite or health: that they were slayne in the doze/ and no man to deliuer them: that his harvest was eaten vp of the hungry: that the weakened man had spoiled it/ and that the thurle had bronche bp his ryches. It is not the earth that bringeth forth trauayle/ neither cometh sorow out of grounde: but it is ma/ that is bozne vnto my sery/ lyke as the byrde for to fle.

But now wyl I speake of the Lorde/ and talke of God: whych doth thynges/ that are unsearchable/ and maruelous without nom bre: which geueth rayne vpon the earth/ and poureth water vpon all thynges: which set tet bp them of some degre/ and sendeth pros perite/ to those that are in heuynelle: which destroyeth the deuycs of the sorpill/ so that they are not able to performe a thynges that they take in hande: whych compaseth the toppe in their awne craftynesse/ and ouer throweth the counsell of the wyched. In so much that they runne in to darknesse by saye daye/ a grope about them at the none daye/lyke as in the nyght.

And so he deliuereth the pooze from the swearde/ from their mouth/ and sed the hnde of the cruell/ that a pooze maye haue hope/and that the mouth of the opprelloure maye be stopped.

Beholde/ happye is the man/ whom God punyssheth: therfore despyle not thou a cha stenyng of the Almighty. For though he make a wound/ he geueth a medicine agayne: though he smyte/ hys hande maketh whole agayne.

He deliuereth the oute offyre troubles/so that in the teneith there can no harme touch the. In the myddest of hunger he saureth the from deeth: and when it is warre/ from the power of the swearde.

He shall hope the from the perious tonge so that when a double cometh/ thou shalt not nede to feare. In destruction a deeth thou shalt be me. Thou shalt not be afayed for the beastes of the earth: But the castels in the lande shall confederate wth the/ and the beastes of the erde shall geue the peace.

Ye thou shalt know/ that thy dwellyng place shalbe in rest: thou shalt beholde thy substance/ a no moze punysshed for synne thou shalt be as a oke/ that thy sede shall encrea se/ and that thy posterite shalbe as the grasse vpon the erth. Thou shalt come to thy graue in a saye age/ lyke as the corne threues are brought in to a barn in due season. Lo/ this is a matter/ as we our selues haue proued by experience. Therfore now that thou hea rest it/ take better hede to thy self.

Job answered/ that his payne was moare greuous/then his fault: yet not wthstanding he deliuerth hym

The.vi. Chapter.

And answered/ and sayde: O my miserie were weped/ a my puny ment layed in the balaynes: for then shulde it be heuyer/ then the sande of the see. This is the cause/ that my wordes are so sorowfull.

For the arrowes of the Almighty are in me/ whose indignacion hath bronche bp my sore/ and the terrible feares of God fyght agaynst me. Both the wyde alle roare wth he hath graue. Cryeth the ore/ when he hath fodder ynough. That which is vnsau ry/ wait it be eaten wth oute salte/ or is ther any taste in a byt of an egge. The thynge that some tyme I myght not awaye withal/ is are now my meate for very sorow. That I myght haue my desyre: That God wolde graunte me the thyng/ that I longe for: That he wolde begynne a myte me: that he wolde let his hnd go/ a hnd me downe. Then shulde I haue some comfort: yee I wolde desyre him in my payne/ that he shulde not spare/ for I wyl not be agaynst a woordes of a holy one.

What power haue I to endure? What is myne end/ that my soule myght be paciet?
Is my strength the strength of stones? My strength is made of byasse: Is it not so that ther is in me no helpe: a that my substance is taken from me. He that is in tribulacion ought to be comforted of his neyghbour: but the feare of the Lorde is cleane awape. Myne awne brythren passe ouer by me as the wa ter broke/ that hastily runneth thowto the balleys. But they that feare the Lorde/ the the snowe shall fall vpon them.

When their tyme cometh/ they shalbe de stroyed and perysh: and when they be set on fyr/ fearfully layde agaynst him. Eliphaz in the begynnyng of the fourth Chapter had sayde/ that the plage was come vpon him/ a had touched him. With this (saye they) meateth he nowe. Beholde it not onely toucheth me/ but woundeth me wth Arrowes/ and those venommed wth venoume/happily wth the gall of dragons/ wth which touchyng/ both my bloud maye wode/ and all my fyete is lapped bp. Agayne/ God hath not onely throwe these darres vpon me/ but also his dreadfull feares/that is/ wharsoer he hathe that is terrible/ layeth he on me.

That my substance is taken fro me. The Chaldee interpy. hath.
Whysome is departed from me/ and that/ after Job. Whysome dome of byfyllinge iudging a tryng of thynges. As though/ he shal saye/ so soare is my grete/ lyke my helpe is taken from me/ that I am not permitted to breathe so longe/ tyll I maye call to remembraunce what is most acceptable to God. Some reade. Is not all the strength of myne iustice/ cemet gone from me.

But the feare of the Lorde. As though he sayd. But alas/ now a daye/ then is no feare of the Lorde left: and therfore it is no mar uell/ yf charite is also which is wynded to the feare of God/ be not in yle.

theyr they shalbe remooued out of their place/for þe pathes that they go in/are croked:they haste after vayne thynges/and shall perishe.
Confyde the pathes of Cheman/a þe wayes of Saba/wherin they haue put their trust.
Confounded are they:that put any confiden ce in them:for when they came to opteyne þe thynges þe they looked for:they were brought to confusion.

Queen to are ye also come into me: but now that ye see my mystery / ye are astrayed. Wyl I deliuer you / to come hyther? Wyl to geue me eny of youre substaunce? To deliuer me fro the enemyes hande / or to saue me from the power of the myghtie? Teach me and I wyl holde my tonge: and yf I do erre / shewe me therein.

Wherfoze blame ye then the wordes / ¶ are well and truly spoken? which of you can reproue them? Saying only that ye are sofyll to check mens sayings / and can speake many wordes in the wynde. Ye fall vpon the fatherlesse / & go about to ouerthrowe youre alone frende. Wherfoze loke not only vpon me / but vpon youre selues : whether I lye / or no. Turne into youre alone selu (I praye you) be indifferent iudges / and cōspoze myne lōg petytie: whether there be any bntyg-tuousnesse in my tonge / or bayne wordes in my mouth.

Job beweth that this lyfe is but a battayle or war

The 6th Chapter.

Not the life of man upon earth a very batayll? Are not hys dayes like dayes of an hyred seruante?
For lyke as a bonde seruauent defyeth the shadowe / as an hyrelynge wolde fayne haue an ende of his worcke: Euen so haue I laboured whole monethes longe (but in vayne) and many a carefull nyght haue I tolde. When I layed me downe to slepe / I sayde: O whē shall I ryse? Agayne / I longed saye for the night. Thus am I full of sorowe / till it be darke. My flesh is clothed with wormes / with pricke and dust: my thynne is withered / and cromptled together: my dayes paste ouer more speedely / then a weeuers weeue out his webbe: and are gone / or I am a waite. O remembre / that my life is but a wynde / and that myne eye shall nomore se pleasures therof / yee & that none other mans eye shall se me any more. For yf thou fasten thine eyes vpon me / I come to naught lyke as a cloude is consumed & banished a waye / euen so he that goeth downe to hell / cometh nomore vp / nee turneth agayne into hys house / neither shall his place knowe hym any more.

Therefore I will not spare my mouth, but will speake in the trouble of my spirit / in bytternesse of my mynde will I talke. And a see oꝝ a whalfe / that thou keptst me so in pyson: When I thynke: my bedd shall com-forte me. I shall haue some refreshynge by talkeinge by my self vpon my couche: Then troublest thou me wyth dreames / & makest me so afraied thoroꝝ visions / that my soule wylleth rather to be strangled; & my bones to be deed.

I can see no remedy / I shall lye none more: D
 Spare me then / for my dayes are but bayne What is man, that thou hast him in such reputacion / and settest somoch by him? Thou takest diligent care for him / & suddenly doest thou tye him

Why goest thou not from me / ner lettest me alone / so longe tyll I swallow downe my spetle: I haue offended / what shall I do to thee / O thou preseruer of men: Why hast thou made me to stande in thy waye / & am so heuy a burden vnto my self: Why doest thou not forgive me my synne: Wherefore takest thou not awaye my wyckednesse. Beholde / now must I slepe in the dust: & yf thou seek me to morow in þe morning / I shalbe gone.

Job is reprehended and noted to have defected by paying a description of his poverty.

• The.boy.Chapter.

Hen answered Balad the Subte/a sayde: How longe wilt thou talke of such thynges? how longe shall thy mouth speake so proude wordes? Both God peruerthe the thyng that is lausfull? O/, doth the Almyghty destroye the thyng that is ryght? When thy sonnes synned agaynst him, dyd not he punish them for their wyckednesse? If thou woldest now resorte vnto God by tymes/ and make thyne humble prayer to the Almyghty: yf thou woldest lyue a pure and a godly lyfe: shulde he not wake vp vnto the immediatly/ & geue the/ the bewtie of rightuousnesse agayne? In so moch/ that wherein soeuer thou haddest lyfe afoze/ thou shuldest now haue greate aboundaunce. Enquire of them that haue beene before the/ search dylygently amonge thy forefathers: Namely/ that we are but of yester daye/ and consyde not/ that oure dayes vpon earth are but a very shadowe.
They shall shewe the/ they shall tell the/ yee they will gladly confesse the same.

Have a replhe be grene without moystnesse: maye & grasse growe without water: No: but (oz ever it be bot forth / and oz ever it be gathered) it withereth / befoze any other herbe. Euen so goeth it with all them / that forget God: and euen thus also shall the ppo-crites hope come to naught. His confidence shalbe destroyed / for he trusteth in a lybers treble.

webbe. He leaneth him vpon his house / but he shall not stande: he holdeth him fast by it, yet shall he not endure. Of tyme a thynge doth flozpe, and men thynke that it maye abyde þ̄ Some wyngynge: it flouteth forth þ̄ bꝛaun-ches in his garden, it taketh many rotes / in so much that it is lyke an house of stoncs.

But if it be taken out of his place, every man dengeth it, saying: I knowe the not. Lo/thus is it to him, that retoyeth in his stone boynges: and as for other / they growe out of the earth.

Beholde/ God wyll not cast away a be-trayous man/ nether wyll he helpe the vngod-ly. Thy mouth shall be fylld wth laughtynge/ & thy teppes wyth gladnesse. They that hate the/ shall be confounded/ and the dwellenges of the vngodly shall come to naught.

¶ Job declareth the benefytes of Gods that mannes syghewelnes is nothyng.

¶ The ix. Chapter.

Answered / & sayd: Is for that / I knowe it is so of a truth / that a man compared into God / can not be iustified. If he will argue with him, he shall not be able to answer him to one amonge a thousande. He is wise of hert / and myghtie in strength. Who euer profpered / that toke parte against hym: * * He translateth the mountaynes, or euer they be a waie / & ouerthroweth them in his wrath.
He remoueth the earth out of her place / that her pylers make he with all. He commaundeth the Sonne / and it retyeth not: he closeth by his starres, as it were vnder a sygnet. He himselfe alone spreadeth out the heauens / and goeth vpon the waues of the see. He maketh the baynes of heauen / the Orions / the biistarres and the secreete places of the south.
He doth greates thynges / such as are vnsearch-

¶ If he can by me / I myght not loke vpon him: yf he wnt his waye / I shulde not per-ceauce it. If he be hasty to take eny thyng awaye, who will make him restoe it agayne?
¶ Who wyl saye vnto hym: what doest thou?
¶ He is God, whose wrath no man maye withstande: but the proudest of all must soupe vnder him. How shulde I then answer him? or what wordes shulde I sende out agaynst him? Yee though I be righteous / yet wyl I not geue him one worde agayne, but mekely submytte my self to my iudge. I'll be it þ I call vpon him / and he heare me / yet am I not sure / þ he hath herde my voyce: he troubleth me so with the tempest / and woundeth me out of measure without a cause. He wyl not let my sprete be in rest / but fylleth me with bytternesse.

¶ If men wyl speake of strength/ he is the strongest of all: yf men wyl speake of reghtuousnes/ who darre be my recorde. ¶ If I will iustifie my self/ my atone mouth shall condemne me: yf I wyl put forth my selfe for a perfecte man/ he shall proue me a wicked doer: for that I shulde be an innocēt, my conscience knoweth it not / yee I my selfe am weary of my lyfe.

This one thing will I saye: He doeth togeth both the righteous & ungodly. And though he slay suddenly with the scourge / yet laugh eth he at the punishment of the innocent.
As for the world, he geueth it ouer in to the power of the wicked / soch as the rulers be / wherof all landes are full. Is it not so? where is there eng / but he is soch one?

My dayes haue bene moze, swifte then a runner: they are gone sodenly, and haue sente no good thyng. They are passed awaye, as the shippes that be good vnder sayle, and as the Aegle that hattereth to the praye. When I am purposed to forget my complainynges, to chaunge my countenaunce / & to cōfōrte my self: then am I afrayed of all my workes, for I knowe / thou fauourest not an euill doer. If I be then a wycked one, why haue I laboured in vayne? Though I wash my self with snowe water, & made myne handes neuer so cleane, yet shuldest thou dyppe me in the myer, and myne a tūne clothes shulde defyle me. For he that I must geue answere vnto to, and with whom I go to lawe, is not a mā as I am. Nether is there any daylman to re-proue both the partes, / or to laye his hande betwixte vs. Let him take his roo awaye from me, / pee let him make me no moze afrayed of him, and then shall I answere him without eny feare. For as long as I am in such fearfulnesse, I can make no answere; And why? it greueth my soule to lyue.

Chapter

Job is weary of his life: & setteth out his fragilitie before God. He despayre the tyme to repēt. A description of death.

Nevertheless/now will I put forth my wordes: I will speake out of my belly heynesse of my soule/ & will saye vnto God: & do not cōdemne me/ but shewe me the cause / wherefore thou iudget me on this maner. Chynkest thou it well done/ to oppresse me/ to cast me of/ being a worke of thy handes/ and to manteine the counsell of the vngodly? Hast thou fleshy eyes then/ or doest thou loke as man loketh? Are thy dayes as the dayes of man / and thy yeares as mans yeares? that thou makest such inquisition for my wickednesse/ & searchest out my synne? where as (notwithstandynge) thou knowest that I am no wycked person/ and that there is no man able to deliuer me out of thyne hande. Thy handes haue made me/ & fashioned me altogether round about/ wilt thou then destroye me suddenly? & rememberest thou the how that thou madest me of the mould of the earth / and shalt brynge me to earth agayne.

Hast thou not miskeid me/ as it were miske: and turned me to cruddes lyke chese? Thou hast couered me with skynne and fleshy / and ioynded me together with bones & synowes. Thou hast graisted me lyfe/ & done me good: & the diligēt hede that thou tokest vpon me/ hath preferred my sperte.

Though thou hydest these thyngs in thine hert/ yet am I sure/ that thou rememberest the all. Wherefore didest thou kepe me/ when I synned/ and hast not clensted me from myne offence? I do wickedly / woe is me therfore: I be vngodly/ yet darre I not lyt by my heade: so full am I of confusyon / & se myne awne mysery.

Thou huntest me out (brynge in heynesse) as it were a Lyon / and troublest me oute of measure. Thou bryngeest fresh wytnesses agaynst me / thy wrath increaseth thou vpon me/ very many are thy plagis & I am in. Wherefore hast thou brought me out of my mothers wombe? & that I had perished / & I no eye had sene me. If they had caried me to my graue/ as sone as I was borne/ then shulde I be not/ as though I had neuer bene.

Shall not my thort lyt come soone to an ende? & holde the from me/ let me alone/ that I maye ease my self a lytle afoze I go thither/ from whence I shall not turne agayne. Namely/ to that lande of darcknesse & shadowe of death: yee into that darck cloudy lande & deadly shadowe/ where as is no odyr/ but terrible feare as in the darcknesse.

Job is vniuersally reprehended of Sophar. God is incomprehensible. He is mercifull to the repentant.

The .xj. Chapter.

When answered Sophar the Naamathite/ and sayd: Shulde not he that maketh many wordes/ be answered? Shulde he that babbleth much/ be cōmended therein? Shulde menigeue care vnto & only? Thou wilt laugh other men to scoone / and shall no body mocke the agayne? Wilt thou saye vnto God: The thing that I take in hande is perfecte/ & I am cleue in thy syght? & that God wolde speake / and open his lippes agaynst the / that he myght shewe the (out of his secreete wysdome) how manyfolde his name is: then shuldest thou knowe/ that God had forgotten the / because of thy synnes.

Wilt thou sende out God by thy sektag? wilt thou attayne to the perfectnesse of the almyghty? He is hyer then heauen / what wilt thou do? Deper then the hell/ how wilt thou then knowe hym? His length exceedeth the length of the earth / & his bredth & bredth of the see. Though he turne all thynges by lyde downe/ close them in/ or thrust them to gether/ who darre check hym therfore?

For it is he that knoweth the banys of men: he seyth their wyckednesse also / shulde he not then cōsidre it? A bayne body exalteth hym selfe/ & the sonne of man is lyke a wyld asses foale. If thou haddest now a right hert/ and lystedst by thyne handes towarde hym: yf thou woldest put awaye the wyckednesse which thou hast in hande/ so that no vngodlynesse dwelt in thy house: then myghtest thou lyt by thy face without shame/ then shuldest thou be sure/ & haue no nede to feare.

Then shuldest thou forget thy mysery/ and thynke nomore vpon it/ then vpon the waters that runne by. When shuld thy lyfe be as cleare as the noone daye / and sprynge forth as the moynynge. When myghtest thou haue comfort/ in the hope that thou hast: & slepe quietly/ whē thou art buryed. When shuldest thou take thy rest / and no man to make the agrayed/ yee many one shuld set moch by the. As for the eyes of & vngodly/ they shalbe consumed/ and not escape: their hope shalbe mysery and sorow of mynde.

Job in the wyng hys patience declareth the myght and power of God.

The .xii. Chapter.

Sophar answered/ and sayde: Then (no doute) ye are the men alone / & wyldome shall perishe with you. But I haue vnderstandynge as well as ye/ and am no lesse then ye. Yee who knoweth not these thynges? Thus he that calleth vpon God/ and whō God heareth/ is mocked of his neyghboure: the godly and innocent mā is laughed to scoone. Godlynesse is a light bespyed in the hertes of the ryche / and is set for for them to stamble vpon. The houses of robbers are in wealth & prosperite/ & they & maliciously medle agaynst God/ dwell without care: yee God geueth all thynges rychely with hys hande.

Alike the catell/ & they shall infortune the: the towies of the ayre / & they shall tell the: Speake to the earth/ & it shall shewe & to the fylthes of the see/ and they shall certifie the. What is he/ but he knoweth that the hande of the Lorde made all these? In whose hande is the soule of euery lyving thinge/ & the byeth of all men. Haue not & eares pleasure in hearing/ & the mouth in tastynge the thinge & it eateth? Amonge olde personnes there is wyldome/ & amonge the aged is vnderstandynge. Yee with God is wyldome and strength/ it is he that hath counsell and knowledge. I the breake downe a thing/ who can set it by agayne? I the shut a thing/ who will open it? Beholde/ yf he withholde & waters/ they drye by: yf he let them go/ they destroye the earth. With hym is strength and wyldome: he knoweth bothe the disceauer & hym that is disceaued.

He carryeth awaye & wyse men/ as it were a spoyle/ & bryngeth the iudges out of their wyttes. He lowseth the gyrdle of kynge/ & gyrdeth their loynes with a bonde. He ledeyth awaye the prestes in to captiuite/ & turneth the myghty by lyde downe. He taketh the berite fro out of the mouth/ & disapoynteth the aged of their wyldome. He pouereth out confusyon vpon Princes / & conforteth them that haue bene oppressed. Loke what lyeth hyt in darcknesse/ he declareth it openly: and the bery shadowe of death bryngeth he to lyght. He bothe increaseth the people/ & destroyeth them: he maketh the to multiplie/ & dyneth the awaye. He chasigeth the herte of the Princes & kynge of the earth/ & disapoynteth the: so that they go wandrynge out of the waye/ & grope in the darcke without light/ flackering to & fro lyke bzonckē men.

Job reprimeth his frendes in their awne saynges/ and condemneyth hypocrisie.

The .xiii. Chapter.

In all this haue I sene with myne eye/ hearde with myne eare/ & vnderstand it. Loke what ye knowe/ that same do I knowe also/ nether am I inferior vnto you. Nevertheless I am purposed to talke with the almyghty/ & my desyre is to comen with God. As for you/ ye are wzckmaisters of lyes/ & vnpzofyttable Philistias all to gether. Wolde God ye kepte youre tonge/ that ye myght be take for wyse men. Therfore heare my wordes / & ponde the sentence of my lippes. Wyl ye make answer for God with lyes/ and maynteyne hym with disceate? Wyl ye accepte the perisoun of God/ & intreate for hym? Shall that helpe you/ when he calleth you to reckoning? Chynke ye to begyle him/ as a man is begyled? He shall punyssh you/ & rezyoue you/ yf ye do secretly accepte any personne. Shall he not make you agrayed/ when he sheweth you his terrible feare fall vpon you? Your remembrance shalbe lyke vnto the dust/ & youre pryde shalbe turned to claye. Holde youre tonges now/ and let me speake / for there is some thinge come into my mynde. * Wherefore do I beare my fleshy in my teth/ & myne soule in myne handes? Lo/ there is nether confort nor hope for me/ yf he wyl slaye me. But yf I shewe & rezyoue it as a thynge myne awne wayes in his syght/ he is eue the same/ that maketh me whole: & why? there maye no hypocrite come before hym. Heare my wordes/ & ponde my saynges: yf youre eares. * Beholde/ now haue I prepared my iudgement / & knowe that I shalbe founde ryghtwes. What is he/ that wyl go to lawe with me? For yf I holde my tōge/ I shall dye. Nevertheless graunte me two thynges/ and then wyl I not hyde my selfe from the.

Withdrawe thyne hande fro me/ & let not the fearfull bryde of the make me agrayed. And then sende for me to the lawe/ & I maye answer for my selfe: or els/ let me speake/ & geue thou the answer. How greate are my mysdoes & synnes? Let me knowe my trasgressions & offences. * Wherefore hydest thou my face/ and holdest me for thyne enemye? Wilt thou be so cruel & extreme vnto a flyng lease/ & folowe vpon drye stubble? & thou layest so sharpe lyt to my charge/ & wilt better ly vnto me/ for I synnes of my youth? Thou hast put my fote in the stocks: & marchest the narrowly vnto all my pathes/ & marchest the steppes of my fete: where as I (notwithstan dyng) must consume lyke as a foule carion/ and as a cloth that is moth eaten.

Job describeth the lyfe of a man/ and prophesieth of his hope. the resurrecyon. Hope susceypheth the godly/ & lyt the obtayne that they loke for.

The .xiiii. Chapter.

In that is borne of a womā/ hath but a shorte tyme to lyue/ & is full of diuerse miseries. He cometh by & falleth awaye lyke a floure. He lyeth as it were a shadowe/ & neuer cōtinueth in one state. Chynkest thou it now well done/ to open thyne eyes vpon soche one/ and to brynge me before the in iudgement? Who can make it cleane/ that commeth of an vn-cleane thinge? No body. The dayes of man are shorte/ the nombze of his monethes are knowne only vnto the. Thou hast apoynted hym his boude/ he can not go beyonde the.

So from him that he maye rest a lytle: but till his daye come, which he loketh for, lyke as an hyeinge doth.

If a tre be cut downe, there is some hope yet, that it wyll sproute and shute forth the bryanches agayne: for though a rote be waxen olde & ded in the grounde, yet when the stocke getteth the sent of water, it wyll budde, & bynge forth bowes, lyke as whē it was fyrst planted. But as for man, when he is ded, perished & consumed awaye, what becommeth of him? The floudes when they be dzyed by, & the ryuers when they be em-ptie, are filled agayne thow the flowynge waters of the see: but when man depeth, he repleth not agayne, untill the heauen perishe:
he shall not wake by ner ryse out of his slepe.
That thou woldest kepe me, and hyde me in þe hell, untill thy wrath were styllid: & to appointe me a tyme, when thou myghtest remembre me. Make a deed mā lyue a-gayne: All the dayes of this my pilgrimage am I lokyng, whē my chaūginge shall come.
If thou woldest but call me, I shulde obeye the: only despayre not þe worke of thyne awne handes.

God remembereth a mā whē
he prayeth
him. Job. x. 13.

For thou hast nombred all my goynges, yet be not thou to extreamē wth my synnes.
Thou hast sealed by myne offencē, as it were in a bagg: but be mercifull vnto my wyckednesse. The mountaynes fall awaye at þe last, the rockes are remoued out of their place, the waters pearse thow the very stones by lytle & lytle, the floudes walke awaye & grauell & earth: quen so be stroyed thou the hope of mā in lyke maner. Thou preyest agaynst him, so that he passeth awaye: thou chaūgest his estate, & puttest him fūthe.
Whether his chyldre come to worshipp, or no, he can not tell: And yf they be mē of lowe degre, he knoweth not. While he lyueth, his fleth must haue trauayle: & whyle the soule is in him, he must be in sorowe.

Eliphaz reproved Job because he ascribed wyldome & puresse to him selfe. He describeth the curie & fallerth on the wyched, & chenyng Job to be one of that nombere. 1

The xv. Chapter.

When answered Eliphaz & Chemnite, & sayde: Shulde a wyle mā answere as the science of þe wynde?
A yll his bely wth the wynde of þe east: Thou reprovest wth wordes, that he shulde be hym: are nothinge worth: & speakest the thynges, which can do no good. As for shame, thou hast set it ashyde, & is woldest thou not make thyselfe ashyde, so many wordes before God: but thy wyched-nesse, the east wynde acheth thy mouth, & so thou hast chosen the a craftie tonge. Thyne awne mouth condemneth the, and not I: yee thyne awne belly fylled wth hyppes shapeth the an answer. Art thou the lyst man, that euer was doyne? Or, wylst thou made before the hilles: hast thou herbe the secrete coucell of God, that all wylsdomē is to lytle for the? What knowest thou, that we knowe not? What understandest thou, but we can the same? With his are olde and aged men, yee soch as haue lpyed lōger then thy fozefathers.

Chenyest thou it a small thyng of the consolacions of God? and are they wth the a lyngē wordē. Why doth thyne herte make the so proude? Why standest thou so greatly in thyne awne conceite? Where by-to loke thyne eyes, that thy minde is so puffed up agaynst God & lretest soch wordes go out of thy mouth? What is man, that he shulde be cleane? what hath he, which is borne of a woman, wherby he myght be knowne to be ryghtuous? Beholde ther is no trust to hys sanctes: yee þe bery* beaues are not cleane in his syght. How moch more then an abhominable and vyle man, which byyncheth wickednesse like water: I will tell the, heare me: I wyl shewe the a thyng, that I knowe, which wyle men haue tolde, & hath not bene hōd from their fathers: vnto whom only the lande was geuen, that no straunger shulde come amonge them.

The vngodly despayreth all the dayes of his lyfe, & the nobre of a tyrauntes yeres is vngodly. A fearfull sounde is euer in hys eares, & when it is peace, yet feareth he de-struccō: He beleueth neuer to be deliuered out of darchnesse, the shadowe is alwaye before his eyes. Whē he goeth forth to get hys lyuynge, he thynketh plainly, that þe daye of darchnesse is at hande. Sorow and care fulnesse make him astrayed, & cōpasse him rounde about, lyke as it were a hyngē wth his hooft redy to þe battayll. For he hath stretched out his hande agaynst God, & armed hym selfe agaynst the Almyghty. He runneth proudly vpon hym, and wth a styff necke fighteth he agaynst hym: where as he couereth hys face wth shame, and maketh hys body well ly-hyngē. Therefore shall his dwelling be in desolate cyties, and in houses which nomā in-habite, but are become heapes of stones.

He shall not be rich, nether shall hys substaunce continue, nether encrease vpon earth.
He shall neuer come out of darchnesse, the flame shall drye by hys bryanches, wth the blast of the mouth of God shall he be taken awaye. He wyl nether applye hym selfe to faythfulnes, nether treuth, so soze is he discreued wth banite.

He shall perishe, afore his tyme be wozne out, & his hande shall not be grene. He shall be plucked of as an vnrype grape fūthe byne, & shall let his floure fall, as the olyue doth

doth. For the congregacion of wychedes is vnfructuall, & the fyre shall consume the houses of loch, as he grede to receaue gyftes.
He cōcealeth trauayle, he beareth mylchete, & his body byngeth forth dyscaite.

Job repeateth his mylche, sayth that he suffereth more then his wychednesse hath deserued.

The xvi. Chapter.

When answered, and sayde: I haue heard thy wordes, & I have heard thy reuerable geuers of cōsolacion: yet all the loyde of you. Shall not thy bayne wordes come yet to an ende? Or, hast thou yet any more to saye? I coude speake, as ye do also. But wolde God, that your soules were in my soules strade: then shulde I heape by wordes agaynst you, and make my heade at you. I shulde cōsolate you wth my mouth, and release your payne wth the talkyng of my hyppes. But what shall I do?
For all my wordes, my sorow wyl not cease:
And though I holde my tounge, yet will it not departe from me. And now that I am full of payne, and all that I haue destroyed, wherof my wyndes beare wytnesse, there standeth by a dysenabler to make me answer wth lyes to my face. He is angrie at me, he ha-teth me, & gnaweth vpon me wth his teth.
Myne enemy shouldeth by me wth hys eyes.

They haue opened their mouthes wth vpon me, and smytten me vpon the cheke despytfully. They haue calld the felow thow myne aduersite. God hath geuen me ouer to the vngodly, & deliuered me into the handes of the wyched. I was somtyme in wealth, but sodenly he hath brought me to nought.
He hath taken me by the necke, he hath rente me, & let me, as it were a match for hym to dute at. He hath cōpased me rounde aboute wth his dartes, & he hath wounded my loynes, and not spared. My bowels hath he poured vnto the ground, & he hath geue me ouer vpon anor, & is fallen vpon me lyke a graunte. I haue sowed a sack cloth vpon my shynne, & I haue wth my strength in the dust.

My face is hidde wth wepyng, & myne eyes are hidde wth mynne. Howbeit there is no wychednesse in my handes, and my praye is cleane. Deaith, couer not my bloud, & let my crye come vnto the. For lo, my wytnesse is aboute me, & he that knoweth me, is aboute me. My frendes laugh me to scoyne, & myne eye poureth out teares vnto God. I haue a body myght please to God, as of an other, & doth wth another, yet the nombere of my dayes are come, and I must go the waye of almyghty. Whence I shall not turne agayne.

Job sayth
that he suffereth more then his wyched-nesse hath deser-ued.

The xvii. Chapter.

When answered, and sayde: My dayes are as a breath, & my breathes are as a floure. I am hardē at deathes doze.
I haue disceaured no mā, yet must I myne eye cōtinue in heynesse. My deliuer me, and set me by the wynde, who shall then be able to thrust my handes together? Thou hast withholden their hertes, fūthe understandyngē, therefore shall they not be sett by on hys. He promyseth hys frendes parte of hys good, but his awne chyldre speide it. He hath made me as it were a bywode of the comon people. I am hys gestyngē stocke amonge the. My countenance is heuy for very anger, & the membes of my body are become lyke a shadow. Vicious men therefore shall well consyde this, & the innocent shall take parte agaynst the wyched.

The ryghteous wyl kepe his waye, & he that hath cleane hādes, wyl euer be stronger & stronger. Is for you, turne you, & get you hence, for I can not se one wyle mā amonge you. My dayes are past, my thoughtes are banysht awaye, wherby haue byred myne herte, chaūginge the nyght in to daye, and þe light into darchnesse. Though I tary neuer so moch, yet þe graue is my house, and I must make my bed in the darche. I call corrupciō my father, & the wormes call I my mother & my syster. What helpeth then my longe saryenge? Or, who wyl fulfyll þe thyng, that I loke for? All that I haue, shall go downe in to the pytt, and lye wth me in the dust.

Waldad retheth the paynes of the vnfructuall &
wyched.

The xviii. Chapter.

When answered Waldad & Subite, and sayde: When wylst thou make an ende of your wordes? Marke well, & consyde, we wyl speake also. Wherfore are we counted as beastes, and reputed so vyle in your syght? Why de-stroyest thou thy selfe wth anger? Shall þe earth be forsaken, or the stones remoued out of their place because of the? Shall not the lyght of the vngodly be put out? yee þe flame of his fyre shall not burne. The lyght shalbe darche in his dwellinge, & hys candle shalbe put out wth hym. His presumptuous goynges shall be kepte in, & his awne councell shall cast him downe. For his fete shalbe taken in the net, and he shall walke in þe snare. His fete shalbe holdē in þe gylber, and the thurshe shall catch him. The snare is layed for hym in the grounde, and a pitfall in the waye.

Faythfulnesse shall make him astrayed on every syde, that he shall not knowe, where he getteth out. Hunger shalbe his sustaunce, & mylfortune shall hange vpon hym. He shall rate

eat the strength of his kynne/* the first that is an boone of death shall eat his members. All horrible and his comforte a hope shall be roted out of his dwellinge / very fearfullnesse shall bringe him to the kynge. * Other men shall dwell in his house (which now is none of his) and dwell: that is by my stone shall be scattered upon his habitation. His rotes shall be dyed by beneath/ and about shall his hart be cutt downe. His remembrance shall perishe from the earth/ & his name shall not be praysed in the stretes: he shall be dyuen from the light into darkenesse/ and be cast cleane out of the world. He shall nether haue chyldren nor kynfolkes amonge his people/ no/ ner any posterite in his countrey: young & olde shall be astonied at his death. Such are now the dwellinges of the wycked/ and this the place of him that knoweth not God.

Job receyvethe his mysteries and greuous paynes.
He prophesyeth of the generall resurrection.
The .xxi. Chapter.

In answered/ & sayde: how longe will ye bere my mynde/ & trouble me with wordes? Lo/ ten tymes haue ye reproued me: are ye not ashamed/ for to laugh me so to scoone? ye go to doge/ I go to doge to my selfe. But ye will enhaunce your selues agaynst me/ & accuse me to be a wicked personne because of I haue come by me: knowe this then/it is God/ which hath badled me to violence/& hath compassed me aboute with his scourges. Beholde/ though I crye/ yet violence is done vnto me/ I can not be herde: though I cōplane/ there is none to geue sentence vnto me. He hath hedged by my path/ I can not get awaye. he hath set darcknesse in my gate. He hath spoyled me of myne honoure/ and take the crowne awaye fro my head. He hath destroyed me on euery syde/ and I am bndone: My hope hath he taken awaye fro me/ as it were a tre plucked by by rote. His wrath is kindled agaynst me/ he taketh me/as though I were his enemy.

Job receyvethe his mysteries and greuous paynes.
He prophesyeth of the generall resurrection.
The .xxi. Chapter.

His men of warre came together / which ryches: for all made their waye ouer me / and beseged my dwellinge rounde aboute. He hath put my brythren farre awaye fro me/ & such as were of myne acquaintance/ are become strangers vnto me. Myne alone kynfolkes haue forsake me/ & my frendes haue put me out of remembrance. The seruantes & maydes of myne alone house take me for a stranger/ &
I am be come as an aleaunt in their syght.
When I call vpon my seruants/ they geueth me no answer: no though I praye him with my mouth. Myne alone wyfe maye not a-byde my bryth / I am saynte to speake sayre vnto the chyldren of myne alone body. Yee but to him of his very deserte sooles despyse me / & when I am gone from them/ they speake euell vpon me.

All such as were my most familiers/ abhorre me: & they whom I loued best/ are turned agaynst me. My bone hageth to my kynne/ & my flesh is awaye/ only there is left me the kynne aboute my teth. Haue ye bypō me/haue ye bypō me (ye my frendes) for the hande of the Lorde hath touched me. Why do ye persecute me? as God/ and are not satisfyed of my flesh?

That my wordes were writen/ & that they were put in a booke: wolde God they were graued in an yron peme in leade oʒ in stone. For I am sure/ I my redeemer lyueth/& that I shall ryse out of the earth in the latter daye: that I shall be clothed agayne in this kynne/ & le God in my flesh. Yee I my selfe shall beholde him / not with other but with these same eyes. My reynes are consumed within me / when ye saye: why do not we persecute him? we haue founde an occasion agaynst him. But beware of the swearde/for the swearde wyll be auenged of wyckednesse/ and be sure/ that there is a iudgment.

Sophar sayeth/ that the vnsaythfull the conetous/and the wycked shall haue a short tyme.
The .xxi. Chapter.

In answered Sophar the Na-mathite/ and sayde: for the same cause do my thoughtes cōpell me to answere. And why? my mynde is tolled here and there. I haue suffyrnt/herde thy checking and reprofe/ therefore am I purposed to make answere after myne vnderstandyng. Knowest thou not this/ namely: that from the begynnyng (euer sence the creation of man vpon earth) the praple of bngodly hath bene woʒte / and that the soye of ypocrites continued but the twynchyng of an eye: though he be magnified by to heaven/ so that his brade reacheth vnto the clouds: yet he perissheth at the last lyke desige: for somoch that they which haue sene hym/saye: where is he? He hangeth as a drea-me/ so that he can no moze be founde/ & passeth awaye as a byson in the nyght. So the eye which sawe him before/ getteth now no syght of him/ and his place knoweth him no moze. His chyldren go a begynge / their handes bringe them to sorow & heynnesse.

Fro his yowth his bones are full of byce/which shall lye downe with hym in the earth.
When wyckednesse is swete in his mouth/he hydeth it vnder his tonge. That he fauou-reth/ that wyll he not forsake/ but keepeth it close in his throte. The meate he eateth/shall be turned to the poyson of serpentes/within

with in his body. The ryches that he deuou-reth / shall he perbreake agayne / for God shall drawe the out of his bely: he shall luche at serpentes heed/ & he adders tonge shall slaye him: so that he shall nomoze se the ryuers & byches of honoʒ a butter. But labourer shall he/ & yet haue nothinge to eate. Create tra-uayle shall he make for ryches / but he shall not enioye the. And why? he hath oppresed the poore/ and not helped them. how les hath he spoyled/ and not b. ylded them. His bely coude neuer be filled/ therefore shall he perishe in his conetousnesse. He deuoured so grede-ly/ that he left nothinge behinde/ therefore his goodes shall not prospere. Though he had plenteousnesse of euery thyng / yet was he poore / and therefore he is but a wretch on euery syde.

For though I wycked haue neuer somoch to fill his bely/ yet God shall sende his wrath vpon him/ and cause his battayll to raygne ouer him: so he lyeth in the yron wrapens/ he shall be thott with the stele bowe. The arrowe shall be take forth/ and go out at his backe/and a glistering swearde thozow the gall of him/ feare shall come bypō him. * Here shall no darcknes be able to hyde him. And vnkyn-dled fyre shall consume him/ and loke what remayneth in his house/ it shall be destroyed.
The heauen shall declare his wickednesse/ & the earth shall take parte agaynst him. The substaunce that he hath in his house/ shall be taken awaye and perishe / in the daye of the Lordes wrath. This is the porcyon that the wycked shall haue of God/ and the heretage that he maye lcke for of the Lorde.

Job receyvethe the prosperite of the wycked / & after deserpyeth their sodayn ruyne and destruccyon.

The .xxi. Chapter.

In answered/ and sayd: I heare my wordes/ & amende your selues.
Suffre me a lytle / that I maye speake also / and then laugh my wordes to scoone/ ye ye wyll. Is it with a mā/that I make this disputacyon? which ye se were so/ shulde not my spete be then in soze trouble? March me well/ be abashed / and laye your hande vpon your mouth. For when I ponde & cōsydye this/ I am afrayed/and my flesh is cōpyttē with feare. Wherefoze do wycked men lyue in health and pros-perite/ come to their olde age / and increasē in ryches? Their chylders chyldren lyue in their syght/ & their generacyon before their eyes. Their houses are safe fū all feare/ for the rodd of God doth not smyte them. Their bulloche genyeth/ & that not oute of tyme:
their cōwe calueth/ and is not bruftefull.

They sende forth their chyldre by flockes/and their sonnes lede by daunce. They beate with them tabyettes and harpes / and haue instrumentes of musyck at their pleasure.

They spende their dayes in welthynesse: but sodeynly they go downe to hell. They saye vnto God: go from vs/ we desyre not the knowledge of thy wayes. What manner of felowe is the Almightie/ that we shulde serue him?
What profyt shulde we haue / to submytte oure selues vnto hym? Lo / there is bitytyn no goodnesse in the/ therefore will not I haue to do with the counceill of the bngodly. How oft shall the chaffe of the wycked be put out? how oft cometh their destruccyon vpon thes?
What sorowe shall God geue the for their parte in his wrath? Yee they shall be euē as chaff before the wynde/ and as dust that the feyme carryeth awaye.

And though God saue their chyldre from such sorowe/ yet wyll he so rewarde the sel-ues/ that they shall knowe it. Their alone de-struccyon and misery shall they se with their eyes/ & byncke of the fearful wrath of the Almightie. For what careth he / what he come of his householde after his death? whose monethes passe awaye wyfter then an a-rowe. In as moch the as God hath the myght power of all/ who can teach him any knowlege? One dyeth now when he is myghty & at his best/ rich/ & in prosperite: eue whē his bowels are at the fatterest/ & his bones full of marry. An other dyeth in sorowe & heynnesse/and neuer had good dayes. Now slepe they both a lyke in the earth/ & the wormes couer them. But I knowe what ye thynke/ ye & what ye ymagin agaynst me bngodly. For ye saye: where is the Prynces palace? where is the dwellinge of the bngodly? If he eny mā that goeth by the waye/ & ye ye wyll not regarde their tokens & dedes/ he shall tell you/ that the wycked is kepte vnto the daye of destruccyon / and that the bngodly shall be brought forth in the daye of wrath. Who darre reproue him for his wayes to his face?
who rewardeh him for the bngodlynesse that he doth? Yet shall he be brought to his graue/ and watch amonge the heape of the dead. Then shall he be sayre to be buryed amonge the stones by the broke syde. All men must folowe hym/ & there are innumerable gone before hym. How bayne is the com-forte he geue me? Are not your answers cleane contrary to ryght and treuth?

Eliphaz reprehendeth Job of vnnecesarynesse.

The .xxii. Chapter.

Eliphaz the Themanite gaue answere/ & sayde: Maye a man be cause to be ryght. As for me / bntyll myne ende come wyl I neuer goo from myne innocency. My ryghtes dealyng kepe I fast / which I wyl not forlake: my hert shall not reprove me of my dayes. ¶ Therefore myne myghte spent. My enemy shall be founde as the bngodly / as he that taketh parte agaynst me / as an unrighteous man. What hope hath he that putteth his trust in his own strength / and though God geue him victorye he shall not have him the soner / wher he crieth vnto him in his necessity. Hath he such pleasure and delite in the Almighty / he darre alwaye call vpon God? I wyl teach you in the name of God: and the thinge that I haue of the Almighty / wyl I not kepe from you. Beholde / ye shall see in your owne conceite / as though ye knewe all thynges. Wherfore then do ye go aboute with such bayne wordes / sayinge: This is the porcion that the wycked shall haue of God / as the heretage that they shall receaue of the Almighty. If he get many chyldre / they shall periſh with the swerde / as his possesſion shall haue scarceneste of bred. Loke wher he leaueth behynd him / they shall dye & be buried / and no man shall haue pitye of his wyddowes. Though he haue as moche money as the dust of the erth / & raymet as ready as the claye / he maye well prepare it: but the godly shall put it vpon hym / & the innocent shall deale out of money. His house shall endure as the moth / and as a boote that the watchman maketh. When the rich man dyeth / he carrieth nothyng with him: he is gone in the twinklinge of an eye. Destruction taketh holde vpon him as a water floude / & he is swept awaye in a night season. A vehement winde carrieth him hence / & departeth: a storme plucketh him oute of his place. It russeth in vpon him / and sparreth him not / he maye not escape from the power thereof. When claye men their handes at him / yee shall see / wher they loke vpon his place.

¶ Job sheweth that the wyddome of God is vnsearchable.

The xxviii. Chapter.

¶ There are places where syluer is molten / & where golde is tryed: where yron is dygged oute of the grounde / & stones resolu'd to metall. The darcknes shall once come to an ende / he can seeke out of the grounde of all thinges: the stones / the darcke / & the horrible shadowe / with the ryuer of water parteth he a sinder the straunge people / he knoweth no good neyghbourhede: such as are rude & mannerly & boystours. He bringeth foode out of the erth / & that which is vnder / consumeth he it. There is founde a place / whose stones are cleane Saphires / & where he clottes of the earth are golde. There is a waye also / & the byrdes knowe not / that no vulture eye hath sene: wher in he proude & hye mynded walke not / & wher no yron cometh. There putteth he his hande vpon the stony rockes / and ouerthroweth the mountaynes. Riueres flowe out of the rockes / & loke what is pleasaunt / his eye seyth it. Out of dropes bringeth he greete floudes together / & the thinge that is byd bringeth he to lyght. How cometh a man then by wyddome? Wher is the place he maye fynde vnderstandinge? Surely no man can tell how worthy a thyng he is / nether is the founde in the lande of the lyuinge. He depe sayeth: he is not in me. He see sayeth: he is not with me. She can not be gotten for the most fyne golde / nether maye he pryce of her be bought with any moneye. No wedges of golde of Ophir / no p'cious Smyt stones / no Saphires maye be compared vnto her. No nether golde ner chryſtall / nether sweete odours ner golden plate. There is nothing so worthy / or so excellent / as once to be named vnto her: for perfecte wyddome goeth farre be yonde them all. The wyddome that cometh out of Jnde / maye in no wyse be likened vnto her: yee no maner of apparell how pleasaunt and fayre soeuer it be.

¶ From wher then cometh wyddome? and wher is the place of vnderstandinge? She is byd from the eyes of all men / yee a frowde of payre. Destruction & death saye: we haue herde tell of her vnto our eares. But God seyth her waye / and knoweth her place. For he beholdeth the endes of the world and loketh vpon all that is vnder heauen. When he weyed the wyndes / & measured the waters: when he set the rayne in ordre / and gaue the myghtie floudes a lawe: when dyde he se her / then declared he her / prepared her & knewe her. And vnto man he sayde: Beholde / to feare the Lorde is wyddome: & to forlake euell is vnderstandinge.

¶ Job sheweth of the prosperite of the tyme past / surely reprobunge his frendes of myghte / because they sayde: Job suffered accordyng to his deservyng.

The xxix. Chapter.

¶ Job proceeded and went forth in his communycacyon / sayinge: That I were as I was in the moethes by pass / and in the dayes when God preferred me: when his lyght shyned vpon my head: when I wente after the same light & shynynge as the sonne the darcknesse. As it stode with me / when I was weithy & had ynough: when God prospered my house: wher the Almighty was with me: when my household folkes stode aboute me: wher my wayes ranne ouer with butter / and when the stony rockes gaue me ryuers of oyle of oyle: when I wente thorow the cite vnto the gate / and wher they set me a chapyne in the street: wher the young men / as soon as they sawe me / hyd them selues / & when the aged arose / and stode vnto me: when the yunges left of their talking / & layed their hande to their mouth: when the myghty keppe still their voyce / and when their tonges cleued to the rofe of their mouthes. When all they heard me / called me happye: and when all they that sawe me / wished me good. For I deliuered the poore when he cryed / and the fatherlesse that wanted helpe. He that shuld haue bene lost / gaue me a good wyde / and the wyddowes herte praysed me. And wher I put vpon me / & myghty / which couered me as a garment / and equyte was my crowne. I was an eye vnto the blinde / and a fote to the lame / I was a father vnto the poore / and when I knew not their cause / I sought it out diligently. I brake the chafers of the unrighteous / and plucke the spoyle out of their teth.

¶ This ryghte I put vpon me / & myghty / which couered me as a garment / and equyte was my crowne. I was an eye vnto the blinde / and a fote to the lame / I was a father vnto the poore / and when I knew not their cause / I sought it out diligently. I brake the chafers of the unrighteous / and plucke the spoyle out of their teth.

¶ Therefore I thought hereby / that I shulde haue dyed in my nest: & that my dayes shulde haue bene as many as the sondes of the see. For my rote was spred out by the water syde / & the dew laye vpon my corn. Myne honour encreased more and more / and my bowe was euer the stronger in my hand. Vnto me men gaue eare / me they regarded / & with sylence they tarped for my counsell. If I had spok / they wolde haue it none other wayes / my wordes were so well taken amonge them. They wayted for me / as the earth doth for the rayne: and gaped vpon me / as the grounde doth to receaue the latter shower. When I laughed / they knewe well it was not earnest: and this testymony of my countenance pleased them nothing at all. When I agreed vnto their waye / I was the chiefe / and sat as a kynge amonge his seruantes: & as one that comforteth soche as be in heynesse.

¶ By the latter shower is my herband holde / my doctryne which causeth iudges not to slyng.

¶ The greete dysp'nyng of men and curse of God that Job suffereth.

The xxx. Chapter.

¶ At now they that are myne inferiours and younger then I / haue me in derisyon: yee euen they / whose fathers I wold haue thought / to haue set with the dogges of my catell. The power & strenght of their handes might do me no good / and as for their age / it is sp'ed and pass awaye without any profit. For by my misery and hunger / they wente aboute in the wyldernesse lyke wretches and beggers / plucking by herbes from amonge the bushes / & the Junipers rote was their meate. And when they were dysp'nyng / men cried after them / as it had bene after a thefe.

¶ Their dwellinge was besyde foule brokes / yee in the caues & denys of the earth. Vpon the dyce heeth wente they aboute crynge / & in the byrme byles they gathered the to gether. They were the chyldren of foolies & bylaines / which are dead awaye fro the world. Now am I their forger / & am become their reast'ng stock: they aduoyte me / they fle farre from me / & stayne my face with spetie. For the Lorde hath opened his quyer / he hath hye me / & put a byrdie in my mouth. Vpon my right hande they rose to gether agaynst me / they haue hurte my fete / made a waye to destroye me / & my path haue they cleue marred. It was so easy for them to do me harme / that they needed no man to helpe them. They fell vpon me / as it had bene the breaking in of waters / & came in by heapes to destroye me. Fearfulnesse is turned agaynst me.

¶ Myne honoure banysheeth awaye more / they then wynde / & my prosperite departed h'ce lyke as it were a cloude. Therefore is my mynde p'ured full of heynesse / & the dayes of trouble haue tak' hold vpon me. My bones are pearled thorow in the nyght season / & my synnes take no rest. With all their power haue they chaunged my garment / & gyrded me therewith / as it were to a coate. I am euill as it were claye / & am become like ashes and dust. When I crye vnto the / thou dost not heare me: & though I stande before the / yet thou regardest me not. Thou art become myne enemye / & vnto thy bypocrite hande thou takest part agaynst me. In tyme past thou dydest set me vpon hye / as it were aboue the wynde / but now hast thou geue me a very soze fall. Sure I am / & thou wylt deliuer me vnto death: where as a lodgyng is prepared for all men lyuynge. Now ble not me to do byolce vnto the / that are destroyed all ready: but wher they herte is done / there ble they to helpe. Wyl not I wepe in the tyme of trouble? Had not my soule compassyon vpon the poore? Yet neuerthelesse wher as I looked for good / euell happened vnto me: and wher as I wayted for lyght / there came darcknesse. My bowels seeth within me / & take no rest / for the dayes of my trouble are come vpon me. He help & lowly came I in / yee & without any displeasure: I stode by in the congregacyon / and communed with them. But now I am a companion of dragons / & a felowe of striches. My shyne vpon me is turned to black / and my bones are byent with heate: my harpe is turned to sorow / & my pype to wepyng.

¶ Job receyved the innocency of his lyuynge and number of his vertues.

out amonge our selues/that we may knowe what is right. And why? Job hath sayde: I am righteous/ but God doth me wronge. I must needs be a lyer/ though my cause be right/ and violently I am plagued where as I made no fault: where is there soche one as Job? I saye: he is such a one as is like water.
Which goeth in the company of wicked doers/and walketh with naughty men: for he sayeth: Though a man be good/ yet is he naught before God. Therefore hearken vnto me/ ye that haue vnderstandynge.

Farre be it from God/ that he shoulde meddle with wickednesse: and farre be it from the almighty/ that he shoulde meddle with vniuersal deallynge: but he rewardeth the work-es of man/ and causeth every man to finde acordynge to his wayes. For sure it is/ that God condemneth no man wrongously/ and the iudgement of the almighty is not vn-righteous. Who ruleth the earth in his trade?
Whom hath he sett to gouerne the whole world? To whom hath he geuen his herite/for to dwelle his spere and dwell vnto hym?
All flesh shall come together vnto naught/ and all men shall turne agayne vnto earth. If thou now haue vnderstandynge/ heare what I saye/ and hearken to the voyce of my wordes.

If saye he be made whole/ that loueth no right: if thou were a very innocent man/wouldst thou then be punished? For he is even the same/ that knoweth the rebellious kynge/ and sayeth to Princes: Vngodly men are ye. He hath none respecte vnto the personnes of the lord/ and regardeth not the rich more then poore. For they be all the worke of his handes: in the twinklinge of an eye shall they be slayne: and at mydnight/ when the people are they slayned/ and taken awaye without handes.
And why? his eyes loke vpon the wayes of man/ and he seeth all his goynge. There is no darcknes nor thycke shadowe/ that can hysde the wicked doers fro hym. For no man shall be suffred to go into iudgement with God.

Many one/ yee innumerable doth he pun-nysh/ and letteth other in their sleades. For he knoweth their euill and darcke wordes/therefore shall they be destroyed. They that were in the sleade of Sears/ shall lyke vngodly men. Therefore turned they backe trayterously and vnfaithfully from hym/ and wolde not receaue his wayes. In so much that they haue caused the voyce of the poore to come vnto hym/ and now he heareth the complayne of soche as are in necessity. If he deliuer and gratifye vnto hym/ who will iudge or condemne?
But yf he hyde awaye his countenance/ who will turne it aboute agayne/ whether it be to the people or to any man: for the wickednesse and synne of the people/ he maketh an epocrypte to repyne ouer them. For so much then as I haue begonne to talke of God/ I will not hynde the. If I haue gone a myle/enfourme me: yf I haue done wronge/ I will leane of. Wylt thou not geue a reasonable answer? Art thou afrayed of any thyng/seinge thou beganst to speake/ and not for? For is the men of vnderstandynge and wyldome/ that haue herde me/ might saye: what canst thou speake? Is for? Job be hath nether spoken to the purpose nor wisely. O father/let Job be well tryed/ because he hath turned hym selfe to the wicked: yee aboute his synnes he hath blasphemed/ which offence he hath done euen before vs/ in that he stryueth agaynst God with his wordes.

Neither hath god yll will to the vngodlynes hurt to God but to man

The xxx. Chapter.

As I spake more ouer/ and sayde: Thyngest thou it right that thou sayest: I am righteous before God? Seinge thou sayest so/ how doest thou knowe it? What thingest thou more excellent then I? I am a synner? Therefore wylt thou geue answere vnto the and thy synners: loke vnto the heauen/ and beholde it: conspyre the cloudes/ how they are hyer then thou. If thou synnest/ what doest thou vnto hym? If thyne offences be many/ how get-test thou his fauoure? If thou be righteous what geuest thou hym? What receaueth he of thy handes? Of soche an vngodly personne as thou/ or of the sonne of man that is righteous as thou pretendest to be: there is a greate cry and complayne made by them that are oppressed with violence/ yee every man complayneth vpon the cruell same of tyrants.
For soche one neuer sayeth: Where is God that made me? and that synneth vpon be/If we myght prayse hym in the night: which geueth vs more vnderstanding then he doth the beastes of the earth/ and teacheth vs more then the foules of heauen.

If any soche complayne/ no man geueth an swere/ and that because of the wickednesse of proude tyrantes. But yf a man call vpon God/ doth not he heare hym? Doth not the almighty accepte his crye? When thou speakest then/ shouldest thou be pardon the/ yf thou open thy selfe before hym/ and put thy trust in hym. When blissh he no violence in his wrath/ nether hath he pleasure in curyous and depe inquisitiōs. Therefore hath Job opened his mouth but in bayne/ and foloweth hath he made so many wordes.

And he sheweth wherfore God punisheth and cor-recteth.

The xxxi. Chapter.

Elu

As I proceeded forth in his talkyng/ I sayde: Holde the still a lyle/ and I will shewe the/ what I haue yet to speake on Godes behalfe. I will open vnto the yet more of myne vnderstandynge/ and proue my maker righteous.
True are my wordes/ and no lyer: and the knowledge wherewith all I argue agaynst the/ is perfecte. Beholde/ God casteth not awaye mightye/ for he hath selfe is mighty in power and wisdom.

As for the vngodly/ he preserveth the not/but helpeth the poore to their right. He turneth not his eyes awaye fro the righteous/he setteth by kynge in their throne/ and con-firmeth them/ so that they allwaye sytt ther in. But yf they be layed in prison and cheynes/ or bounde with the bondes of pouerte: then sheweth he them their wordes and dedes and the synners wherewith they haue bled cruell violence.

With punishing a murdering to roll-it down in the carnes to bring it to a knowledge of their hearts/ and to cause the to be persuaded in the heart/ that theye puny-
sheth them.

Behold with punysshynge and nurtyng of them/ to wounde them in the eares/ warneth them to leane of from their wickednesse/ and to amende. If they now wyl take hede and be obedient/ they shall were out their dayes in prosperite/ and their yeares in pleasure and joye. But yf they wyl not obeye/ they shall go thorow the swearde/ and perish: or euer they be at warre. As for soche as be fained/ disem-blers and hypocrites/ they heape by wrath for the selues: for they call not vpon hym/ though they be his prisoners. Thus their soule pe-rilyeth in folyshnesse/ and their lyfe with the condemned. The poore deliuereth he out of his straitnesse/ and comforteth soche as be in necessite and trouble. Euen so shall he kepe the (yf thou wylt be content) from the bottomlesse pytte that is benethe: and yf thou wilt holde the quyet/ he shall fyll thy table with plenteousnesse.

Neuertheless thou hast condemned the iudgement of the vngodly/ yee euen soche a iudgement and sentence shalt thou suffre. For then shall not thy cause be filled with crueltye/ nor pacified with many gyftes. Hath God ordered then/ that the glorious lyfe of the/ and all such mighty men shouldest thou be put downe? Prolonge not thou the tyme/ till they come a nyght for the/ to set other people in thy sleade. But beware that thou turne not a lyde to wickednesse and synne/ which hitherto thou hast chosen more then mekenesse.

Beholde/ God is of a myghty hye power: where is there soche a gyde and lawe geuer as he? Who wyl reproue hym of his waye?
Who will saye vnto hi: thou hast done wronge?

Consider how greate and excellent his wordes be/ whom all men loue and prayse: yea wonder at hym/ and yet they se hym but afarre of. Beholde/ so greate is God/ that he passeth our knowledge/ nether are we able to come to the experience of his yeares. He turneth the water to small drowppes/ he dry-ueth his cloudes to gether for to rayne/ so they poure downe and drowpe vpon men. He can sprede out the cloudes (a couerynge of his tabernacle) and cause his lyght to shyne vpon them/ and to couer the botome of the see.

By these thynges gouerneth he his people/and geueth them aboundance of meate. In the turnyng of a hande he hydeth the lyght/ and at his commaundement it cometh agayne.
The ryng by therof sheweth he to his fren-des and to the catell.

And proueth that the wisdom of God is vnsearch-able.

The xxxii. Chapter.

As this my heart is affonned/ and moued out of his place. Heare then the founde of his voyce/ and the noyse goeth out of his mouth. He governeth every thing vnder the heauē/ and his light reacheth vnto the ende of the world. A roatinge voyce foloweth him: for his glorious maiesty geueth soche a thondre clappe/ that (though a man heare it) yet maye he not perceave it afterwarde. It geueth an horrible lownde/ when God sendeth oute his voyce: greate thynges doth he/ which we can not comprehende. When he commaundeth the snowe/it falleth vpon the earth: As soone as he geueth the rayne a charge/ immediatly the lowers haue their strength/ and fall downe.
He sendeth feare vpon every man/ that they might knowe their awne wordes. The beestes crie into their dens/ and take their rest.
Out of the south cometh the tempest/ and cride out of the north.

At the breath of God/ the frost cometh/ and the waters are fered abrode. The cloudes do their labour in geuynge moystnesse/ the cloudes poure downe their rayne. He deliuereth also on every lyde/ accordynge as it plea-seth him to deale out his wordes/ that they maye do/ whatsoeuer he commaundeth them thorow the whole world: whether it be to punyssh any lande/ or to doo good vnto them/that seke hym.

Hearken vnto this (O Job) stand still/ and considre the wondrous wordes of God. Art thou of counsell wyth God/ when he doth these thynges? When he causeth the lyght to come forth of his cloudes? Art thou of his counsell/ when he spredeth out the cloudes?
Hast thou the perfect knowledge of his wonders? and how thy clothes are warme/when the lande is fyll thorow the South wynde? Hast thou helped hym to sprede out the heauen/ which is to loke vpon/ as it were

were cast of cleare metall? Teache vs what we shall saye vnto hym / for we are bnnete because of sarknes. Shall it be tolde hym what I saye? Shuld a man speake, or shulde he kepe it backe? For euery man seyth not the light / that he kepeth cleare in h clouds / whiche he cleareth when he maketh h wynde to blowe. Soide is brought out of h mouth / but the prayse a honoure of Gods feare cometh from God hym selfe. It is not we that can fynde out the almyghtye: for in power / equite / a righteousnesse, he is hys than can be expresse. Senge then h euery body feareth hym / why shulde not all wyse men also stande in feare of hym.

The wordes and maruelles that the Lorde hath done from the begynnyng.

The xxiij. Chapter.

Ihen spake the Lorde vnto Job out of the storme / a sayde: what is he that hideth his mynde with colyth wordes? By the way I saye I lyke a man, for I will questyon the / se thou geue me a directe answer. Where wast thou, when I layde the foundacyon of the earth? Tell plainly yf thou hast vnderstanding. Who hath measured it, knewest thou? Or / who hath spycead h lyne by dnt: where byd stande the pylers of it? Or / who layed h corner stone? Where wast thou, when the moztig staries prayled me to gether, and all the chyldren of God reioyced triumphantly? Who shut the see with doores, when it brake forth as a chyld out of hys mothers womb? When I made the cloudes to be a couering for it / a swadied it with the darcke: when I gaue it my commaundment, making doores a barre for it / saying: Wither to shalt thou come, but no fye: there, a here shalt thou laye downe thy pzo: a hys waues. Hast thou geuen the moztig his charge (as soone as thou wast borne) / a reioyced the dape synging his place, h it might take holde of the corners of the earth, a that h bngodly might be shakd out? Why it tolde a weap: hast thou turned lyke clare / a sette the by agayne as the chalynging of a game? Yee thou hast spoiled the bngodly of thre light / a broke the arme of h proude. Canst thou euer into the grounde of the se: or hast thou walked in the lowe corners of the depe? Haue the gates of death bene opened vnto the, or hast thou sene the doze of eueryng treasure? Hast thou also perceaued how broad h earth is? How yf thou hast knowlodge of all, then shew me where light dwelleth, a where darcknes is: that thou mayest byrge by vnto their quarters / yf thou canst tell the waye to their houses.

Knewest thou (when thou wast borne) how olde thou shuldest be? Wentest thou euer in to the thesauries of the snowe / or hast thou sene the secrete places of the hayle, which I haue prepared agaynst the tyme of trouble / agaynst the tyme of batell and warre? For what waye is the lyght parted, and the heat deat out upon the earth? Who deuydeth the aboundance of waters into ryuers / or who maketh a waye for the stormy wether / that it watereth a moydureth the drye and barren grounde: to make the grasse growe in places where no body dwelleth / and in the wyldernes where no man remaneth? Who is the father of rapne? Or / who hath begotten the droppes of dewe? Out of whose wombe came the yse? Who hath gendered the colde of the ayre: that h waters are as harde as stones / and lye congeled aboute the depe. Hast thou brought h by starrs together? Darest thou able to byrke the circle of heauē? Canst thou byrge forth the moztig starrs of the euenyng starrs at conuenient tyme / a coueie them home agayne? Knowest thou h course of heauen, that thou mayest set by the ordynance throt of byd the earth? Or / ouer / canst thou lyt by the boyce to the cloudes / h they maye powze downe a grete rapne byd the? Canst thou thondze also that they maye go their waye / a be obedt vnto the, saying: Lo here are we. Who geueth sure wysdome or stedfast vnderstandinge? Who nombzeth the cloudes in wysdome? Who spillet the bche ment waters of the heauen? Who turneth the clottes to dust / a then to be clottes agayne? Huntst thou the praye fro the lye / or fellest thou his welles lying in their denes / a lurking in their couches? Who prouideth meate for the rauē / when his pounge ones crye vnto God / a he aboute for want of meate?

God speaketh vnto Job the xxiij. chapter. The wordes that he sayeth vnto Job.

The xxiij. Chapter.

Knowest thou the tyme when the snowe goes byrge forth their voyce amonge h stony rockes? Or / layest thou waite when the hyndes hse to fawne? Knewest thou the micheys after they engendze / that thou knowest the tyme of their bearyng? Or / when they lye downe / when they call their pounge ones / a when they are deliuered of their trauayle a payne? How their pounge ones growe by a waie grete thozow good fedynge? Who letteth the wilde alle go fre / or who letteth h bond of the mule? Vnto whom I haue geuen the wyldernes to be their house / a the byrpled lande to be their dwelling place. What they may geue no force for the multitude of people in the cities / neither regarde the cryenge of the dyuer: but seke their pasture about the the mountaynes / and folowe h grete grasse. Wyl the unicorn be so tame as to do h seruice / or to abyde styll by the crybbe? Canst thou bind h pock about him in the forowes / to make hym plowe after the in the balles? Wapst thou trust him (because he is strong) or committe thy labour vnto hym? Wapst thou beleue him / that he wyl byrge home h come / or to cary any thinge vnto the barre? The strygh (whose fethers are sayper than the wynges of the sparow haue) when he hath layd hys egges upon the grounde / he byedeth them in the dust / a forgetteth them: so that they might be trode with fete / or byrge. Then with some wyde beast. So harde is he vnto hys pouge ones / as though they were not hys / a labourer in barne without any feare. And that because God hath takē wysdome from him / a hath not geue hym vnderstandinge. When his tyme is / he speth by on hys / a careth nether for horse ner man.

Hast thou geuen the horse his strength / or lemed him to bowe downe his neck in feare: that he letteth him selfe be byruen forth lyke a grethopper / where as the stoute neyenge that he maketh / is fearfull? he breaketh the grounde with the hooves of his fete chearfully in his strength / a runneth to mete h hartest men. He layeth asyde all feare / hys stomach is not abated / nether starteth he a back byd hym / though the speare a bylde glystret: yet russheth he in fearfully / and beareth upon the grounde. He feareth not the noyse of the trompettes / but as soone as he heareth the shawmes blow / thus (sayeth he) for he smelleth the batell a farre of / the noyse / the Captaynes and the shoutinge.

Commeth it thozow thy wysdome / h the Goshauke flieth towarde the South? Doth the Eagle mounte by / and make his nest on hye at thy commaundment? He abyedeth in the stony rockes / a upon the hye toppes of harde mountaynes / where no man can come. From thence maye he beholde hys praye / a loke farre about with his eyes. His pounge ones are fed with bloude / a where any deed body lyeth, there is he immediatly.

Moreover / God spake vnto Job a sayde: Canst thou stryue with the almyghtye / be at rest? Shulde not he which dyputeth with God / geue hym an answer? Job answered the Lorde / saying: Beholde / I am to byle a personne / to answer the / therfore wyl I lye my hand byd my mouth. Once or twyle haue I spoken / but I wyl saye no moze.

Job humblyt hym selfe vnto God / the de scripys of an Elephant.

The xli. Chapter.

Ihen spake h Lorde vnto Job out of the storme / a sayde: Byrge by thy loynes lyke a man / and tell me the things that I wyl aske the. Wilt thou disaunle my iudgement? Or / wilt thou condemne me / that thou thy selfe mayest be made righteous? Is thynne arme then lyke the arme of God? Wapst thou thy boyce loche a lounde as hys doth? Then arme thy selfe in thynne awne power / byrge the in thy foil araye / poure out h indignaciō of thy wrath: se that thou cast downe all the proude / loke well / that thou makest all soche as be stubburne / to obey: treade all the bngodly vnder thy fete / cast the downe into h myre / a couer their faces in darcknesse. When wilt thou cofesse also / h thynne awne ryght hand hath faulded.

Beholde / Behemoth (whom I made) which rateth hys as an ore: lo, how strong he is in his loynes / a what power he hath in the nauell of hys body. He spredeth out hys tayle lyke a Cedze tre / all his baynes are styll. His wynges are lyke pyppes of byasse / hys phant. Other rygge bones are lyke stauces of yron. When God made hym / he ordered the wyldernes for hym / that the mountaynes shulde geue hym grasse / where all the beastes of the filde take their pasture. He lyeth amonge redes in the Polles. The fennes hyde hym in their shadowe / a the wyldernes of the byrke couer him rounde aboute. Lo, without any labour might he dryncke out of h wholse foud a suppe. of Jordane without any trauayle. Who darre laye hande byd hym opely / a undertake to catch hym? Or / who darre put a hooke thozow his nose / a laye a snare for h?

Darest thou drawe out a Leupathan in an angle / or bynde hys tonge with a snare? Canst thou put a ryng in the nose of hym / or boze hys chafes thozow with a naule? Wyl he make many sayre wordes with the (thynkest thou) or flatter the? Wyl he make a couenant with the? Darest thou able for to compell him to do the cotinual seruyce? Wylt thou take thy pasture with hym as id a byrde / or geue hym vnto thy maydes / that thy companions may hew hym in peces / to be parted amonge the marchant men? Canst thou fyll the net with his shyne / or the fyth pannter with his heade? Darest thou laye hande upon him? It is better for the to conyde what harme might happen the there thozow a not to touche hym. For / when thou thinkest to haue holde upon him / he shall begyle the. Euery man also that seyth hym / shall go backe. And why: there darre none be so bold as to rayse hym by.

Of the same Leupathan wherof is mentyoned in the Chapter afore.

The booke of Job

Jer. l. v.

Who is able to stande before me? / who hath geue me any thinge afore hande / that I am bounde to rewarde him agayne? All thinges vnder heauē are myne. I feare him not / whether he threate or speake saye. Who lyteth him by / or stryeth him out of his clothes / or who taketh hym by the bytt of hys bydle? Who openeth & doze of his face? for he hath horrible teethe round aboute. His body is couered with scales as it were with wydes / lockte in / kepte / & well compacte together. One is so togged to another / & no aye can come in: Yee one hangeth so vpon another / & they are so together / & they are not be sundered. His nelyng is lyke a glystering fyre / & his eyes lyke the moynynge fyre. Out of his mouth go toxes & fyre brandes / out of his nostrils ther goeth a smoke / lyke as out of an hote seething pot. His bytch maketh & coales butne / the flamme goeth out of hys mouth. In his necke remaineth strenght / & before hys face sozome is turned to gladnesse. The membres of hys body are togged so stryght one to another / and cleue so fast to gether / that he can not be moued.

His hert is as herde as a stone / & as fast as the stithe that the hammer man smyteth vpon. When he goeth: the myghtiest of all are afrayed / & the waues hurry. If he brawle out the swearde / there may neither speare / ner best plate / abyde hym. He setteth as moche by a strawe as by yd / and as moche by a rotten stocke as by metall. He starteth not awaye for him that bendeth the bow: & as for synge stones / he careth as moche for stubble as for them. He counteth the hammer no better then a strawe / he laugheth hym to scoone that maketh the speare. He treadeth the golde in & myze lyke the sharpe pot sherdes. He maketh the depe to see the and boyle lyke a pot / and stretcheth the see together lyke an oynment. The waye is lyght after hym / the depe is his walkynge place. vpon erth is there no power lyke vnto hys / for he is so made that he feareth not. If a man will confyde all hys thinges / this same is a king ouer all the chyldren of pryde.

The repentance of Job. he prayeth for his frendes / & his goodes are restored double vnto hym.

The xliij. Chapter.

Mat. xxviii. c. l. Reg. vii. b.

When Job answered the Lorde / and sayd: I knowe that thou hast power ouer all thinges / & there is no thought hyd vnto the. For who can kepe his awne counsell so secrete / but it shalbe knowne? Therefore haue I spoken vnto myself / seynge these thinges are so hye / & passe myne vnderstandynge. Wherfore thou vnto me also / & let me speake: and were vnto the thinge that I wyll aske the. I haue geuen diligent eare vnto the / & now I se the w myne eyes. Wherfore I geue myne awne selfe the blame / & take repentance in dust and ashes.

Now when the Lorde had spoken these wordes vnto Job / he sayde vnto Eliphaz the Chemanite: I am displeased with the & thy two frendes / for ye haue not spoken & thing that is ryght before me / lyke as my seruante Job hath done. Therefore take wyf. oxen & bytammes / and go to my seruante Job / offere by also for your selues a bzentofferinge: and let my seruante Job praye for you. Him will I accepte / & not deale with you after your folly: in that ye haue not spoken the thinge which is ryght / lyke as my seruante Job hath done.

So Eliphaz the Chemanite / Baldad & Suhite & Sophar the Maamathite wente their waye / and byd accordyng as the Lorde commaunded the. The Lorde also accepted & personne of Job / and the Lorde turned hym vnto Job / whē he prayed for his frendes: Yee the Lorde gaue Job twyfe as moche as he had afore.

And then came there vnto him all his brethren / all his sisters / with all them that had bene of his aquauntance afore / & ate byd with him in hys houle / wondryng at hym / & comfortynge hym ouer all the trouble / that the Lorde had brought vpon hym. Every man gaue him a shepe and a Jewell of gold.

And the Lorde made Job rycher then he was before: for he had xliij. M. shepe. vii. M. camels. a. M. yough of oxen / & a. M. asses. He had chyldren also. vii. sonnes & iii. doughters. The fyrst called Wape: the second Polette: the thyrde All plenteousnes. In all & lande were none soode so saye / as doughters of Job / & their sather gaue them enheritaunce amonge their brethren. After this tyued Job. xli. yeres / so that he sawe his chyldre / & hys chyldres chyldren to the fourth generacion. And so he dyed / beinge olde & of a perfecte age.

The Psalmes of Dauid.

Act.

Dauid. psalm.

The 121. Psalme. Morning.

Those that forsake the counsell and tradepsons of the wycked / and wholly geue them selues to knowe the lawe of God / and to shewe it in their lyfynge: doth thys psalme pronounce blessed / both here & in the life to come: and the contrarye parte / in both the worldes / miserable and wretched.

The waye of synners / is as theye moun- taine / in which theye walke / as it were in a waye. Wape in the crymynall fa- ulte / whatto- mer we do of pynne / be it what it will / in the life of thys worlde.

Blessed is the man / that goeth not in the counsell of the vngodly: that abyde t) not in the waye of synners: & and synneth not in the seate of the scoonefull.

But deliuech in the lawe of the Lorde / & exercyseth hym selfe in his lawe / both daye and nyght.

Soche a man is lyke a tre planted by the watersyde / that byngeth forth his frute in due season.

His leaues shall not fall of / & he whate soeuer he doth / it shall prosper.

As for the vngodly / it is not so with them: but they are lyke the dust / which the wynde scaterech awaye from of the grounde.

Therefore & vngodly shall not be able to stande in the iudgement / neither the synners in the congregacion of the ryghtuous.

For the Lorde sloweth the waye of the ryghtuous / but & waye of the vngodly shall peryshe.

pronounced on their synnes: as to robbe iudgement / so to let the p) to have sentence pronounced agaynst ryght & trouth. & la. x. a. then this text meaneth no more / but that the wycked shall have a terrible sentence geuen vpon them / that they shall not be able to abyde when the Lorde shall come to the generall iudgement: it meaneth not that the wycked shall not appeare in the iudgement.

The 122. Psalme.

They that knowe not God are moued agaynst the byng. one of Christ with wonderfull intenes / but in vayne: yet runneth their rage thowow the whole world. The only waye to health is to comit thy selfe to Christ.

Why do the heathen grudge? why do the people imagine vayne thinges? The bynges of the earth stande vpon / and phere. the rulers are come together / agaynst the Lorde and agaynst hys anoynted.

Let vs breake their bondes asunder / & cast awaye their yock from vs.

Reuerchelede be that dwelleth in hea- uen / shall laugh them to scoone: yee euen phere. the Lorde hym selfe shall haue them in derisyon.

When shall he speake vnto them in hys wrath / & bere them in hys sore dyspleasure.

Yet haue I setyn mynge vpon my holy hill of Syon.

As for me / I will preache & laue / toher. of the Lorde hath sayde vnto me: Thou art my sonne / this daye haue I begotten the.

Deluyre of me / & I shall geue & the hea- then for thyne enheritaunce / yee the better. most partes of the worlde for thy possession.

Thou shalt rule them with a rodde of iron / and bryake them in peces like an earthen vessel.

Be wyle now therefore / O ye kynges / be warned / ye that are iudges of the earth. Serue phere.

Serue the Lorde with feare/and reioyse the before hym with reuerence.
 *Hys the sonne/ lest the Lorde be angrye/ & to ye perye the from the ryght wape.
 For his wraoth shalbe kindled wrothly: bles-syng by the sed are all they that put their trust in hym. stande that which is spynnyed therby. For by the hylle of the kynges hande enen now adays in many regyons do the subiectes testyfy-that they will be in the sayth & power of the kynges. He calleth hym sonne because he before brought in the father/ sayng: Thou art my sonne. The Ghe he readech: receue instructioun/ or he lerned: meaning therby that they shalbe submyt them selues vnto the kynges: Christ/and receue hys instructioun and chastenynge.

The. lii. psalme.

David speakynge vnto the Lorde/ wondryth both at the nombre and confederence of hys enemyes/ whych came agaynst hym/ & comyteth hym selfe with greute safetye vnto his helpe/ although his enemyes were at hande ready to stryke hym/ both because nomis eto can save hym/ & because none can be partakers of heath or saluatioun but they that beleue in hym and trust to hym.

Psalm. lii.
 Hys. Psalme
 that is a song:
 or as some will
 the soude of an harpe.

Psalm. lii. of David when he fledde from the face of Absalom.
 The scope of this psalme is in the scold of the kynges from the. xv. chapter vnto the. xx.

Why are they so many/ O Lorde/ that trouble me? a greute multitude are they/ that tye agaynst me.

Psalm. lii.
 This psalme of David. It is was a lygne of consoling of the voice/ &
 also a mony& aduertisment to enforce the thought & myn-de earnestly to geue heed to meaning of the beede vnto
 which it is added. Some will that it signifye perpetually or hereby.

Yee many one there be I saye of my soule:
 ther is no helpe for him in God. *Selah.
 But thou/ O Lorde/ art my defender/my wozhypppe/ and the lifter vp of my head.
 I call vpon the Lorde wth my voyce/ & he heareth me out of hys holy helyll. Selah.
 I layed me downe & slepte/ but I rose vp agayne/ for the Lorde susteyned me.

I am not afrayed for thousandes of the people/ that compasse me rounde aboute.

Up Lorde/ and helpe me/ O my God: for thou smitest al myne enemyes vpon the cheke bones/ and *bryakest the teeth of the yngodly.

Helpe belongeth vnto the Lorde/ therfore let thy blessinge be vpon thy people.

The. liii. psalme.

David prayeth the benyolence & the ready helpe of God towards hym in the conspyry of Absalom.
 He reproveth the madnes of the heades & rulers of Israel that conspyred agaynst hym/ & calleth the agayne to amendement: and after he gloryeth of the aboun-dance of goodes/ peace/ and safetye restoyrd agayne vnto hym by the benyolence of the Lorde.

To the Chaunter in *Regimoth/a psalme of David.

Psalm. liii.
 That is here translate / To the Chaunter / is in Hebrew Lamia: which worde after the mynde of Abrah. & David him selfe expolitioures in helme/signyfyeth / To the cheafe of the syngers: whych we comely call in Englysh: better of the queene of chanter.

That is here translate / To the Chaunter / is in

 nter.

ter. This interpretacioun also do both the madd & the best lerned of the Latyns best above / and therfore haue I folowed the same the whole psalter thow-expellynge it by this worde. I haunter. For withstan-dyng dyuers Authours do dyuersly interpret it.
 Some saye that it signyfyeth / O the victour of ouercomer: some to the victor: which maye thus agree and conorde together yf thou take a psalme to be a stryngs an exhortacioun to put oure trust in God/being sure to obtayne the victorie: And where some interpret it vnto the ende/ vnderstande such the same: for therfore do we put oure trust in God/ that he may come to the ende of the victorie. Some translate the psalme thus: I be hemet and often made exhortacioun in instrumentes of musyke/ a psalme to David/ that is as they them selues expounde it: a psalme reuolue to David/ for David is in helme the darys case not the genypte.

Regimoth signyfyeth the tune or note of the in-strumetes wher after the psalmes before whych it is prefyrd/ were songe: for the psalmes were songe at certen instrumentes/ but so that the swete tune & melodye of the instrumentes prepared the mynde more perfectly to perceiue the wordes of the holydoye.

Care me when I call/ O God of my reghtuousnes: thou that confortest me in my trouble: haue mercy vpon me/ & herken vnto my prayer.

O ye sonnes of men/ how longe wyll ye blaspheme myne honour: why haue ye such pleasure in vanptrye/ and seke after lyes? Selah.

I knowe thys/ that the Lorde dealeth maruelously wth hys sayntes: & when I call vpon the Lorde/ he heareth me.

We angrye/ but synne not: comen wth poure a wnter hertes vpon poure beddes/ and remembze poure selues. Selah.

Offre the sacryfyce of reghtuousnes/ & D put your trust in the Lorde.

There be many that saye: who wyll do us any good? Lorde *lyft vp vpon vs the lyght of thy countenaunce.

Thou reioycest myne herte/ though they entreace be greute both in come & wyne.

Therfore wyll I laye me downe in peace/and take my rest: for thou Lorde only lettest me in a sure dwellynge.

The. li. psalme.

A prayer of hym that is oppressed of wyched ene-myes/ whom when he sheweth that they cannot but be hated of God/ he taketh hert that after he is deli-uered fro all iopardye/ he shall geue thankes to God hys sayour in the company of the holy: therfore he secheth he the Lorde to leade and condest hym that he be not trapped wth their wyles: & further to ouerthrowe them/ and to cheare and incoourage the godly.

To the Chaunter by *Dehiloth/
 a psalme of David.

Loke in the psalme of the psalme that goeth next before.

Dehiloth signyfyeth by interprete apon heritages: or as some will a certen instrument of musyke.
 Here

Care my wordes (O Lorde) confyde in my callinge.
 O make the voyce of my petrych/my kyng and my God/ for vnto the wyll I make my prayer.

Heare my voyce/ by tymes (O Lorde) for early in the mornynge wyll I gett me vnto the/ yee and that with diligence.

For thou art not the God that hath pleasure in wychednesse/ there may no yngodly person dwell with the.

Soche as be cruell maye not stande in thy reght/ thou art an enemye vnto all wyched doers.

Thou destryest the lyers: the Lorde ab-horreth the bloude thurstye and dysceatfull.

But as for me/ I will come into thy house/cuen vpon the multitude of thy mercy: and in thy feare wyll I wozhypppe towarde thy holy temple.

Lede me (O Lorde) in thy rightuousnesse because of myne enemyes/ & make thy wape playne before me.

For there is no faithfulness in their mou-thes: they dyssemble in their hertes: their throte is an open sepulchre: with their tonges they dysceue.

Punyshe them (O God) that they may pe-rysh in their awne ymaginacions: cast them out because of the multitude of their yngodlynesse/ for they rebell agaynst the.

Agayne/ let all them that put their trust in the/ reioyse: yee let them euer be geuyng of thankes/ because thou defendest the: that they which loue thy name/ maye be sayfull
 in the.

For thou Lorde geuest thy blessinge vnto the reghtuous: & with thy fauorable kynd-nes thou defendest him/ as with a wynde.

The. li. psalme.

This psalme containeth a fervent prayer of one that is oppressed with greffe/ and that greatly abhorreth death/ searpyng lest the glorye of God shoulde be any thinge darchened therewith/ and that also gloryeth of the helth restoyrd agayne vnto hym.

To the chaunter by Regimoth vpon Sheminieth/ a psalme of David.

Sheminieth is moche sayde as an egypt/ or an instrument of musyke that hath egypt stryngs.

Lorde rebuke me not in thyne anger: Oh chasten me not in thy heuy dyspleasure.

Haue mercy vpon me (O Lorde) for I am weake: O Lorde heale me/ for all my bones are bryed.

My soule also is in greute trouble/ but Lorde how longe?

Turne the (O Lorde) & deliuer my soule:
 Oh saue me for thy mercyes sake.

For in death no man remembzeth the:
 Oh who wyll geue the thankes in the hell?

I am weery of gromynge: every night wash my brode/ and water my couche with my teares.

My countenaunce is chaunged for very inward greffe/ I consume awaye/ I haue so doth/ but he many enemyes.

Awake from me all ye wyched doers/ for the Lorde hath herde the voyce of my wepyng.

The Lorde hath hearde myne humble pe-tryon/ the Lorde hath receaued my prayer.

All myne enemyes shalbe confounded and soore beryed: yee they shalbe turned backe put to shame/ and that ryght soone.

But what God shall appeare vnto them that shall feare hym/ but yf it speake after oure maner/ of God as though it spake of a man: as in the psal. li. Loke after in the psal. xxxviii. a.
 * They be in the death and in the hell that dyspayre and blasphemys God/ as it is sayd psal. lxxv.

The. lii. psalme.

The helpe to be lanch from the greafe & grevouse persequioun of Saul. He mencyoneth hys stone in nocence. He prayeth that he maye obtayne the kyngdome promysed hym/ to thynke that the people might be geuyng to God/ and the myshete of the wyched expelled: & then sayth he that the wyched shall perishe with their awne swerde/ & endeth the psalme with the prayse of God.

Signaion of David/ which he sang for the wordes of Gius the sonne of Jemni.

Heade the story in the. li. of the kynges. xvi.
 * Signaion as some wyl signyfyeth an exerceple: that is a paynefull and heuy temptacioun of David. Oher interprete it an ignozance. because he knew not the cause that was layde vnto him. Some saye that it was one of the instrumentes/ wherat all the psalmes be sayd: which it is sett/ were songe. Some thynke that it is a certayne kynde of melodye.

What is here called Gius/ in the place of the kynges above seker is called Semel.

Lorde my God/ in the do I trust: saue me from all them that periecute me/ & deliuer me.

Let not he hantch by my soule lyke a lyd/and teare it in peces/ whye there is none to helpe.

O Lorde my God/ yf I haue done any soche thing/ yf there be any wyghtuousnes in my handes:

If I haue rewarded euyl vnto them that dealt frendly wth me/ or hurte the that wth out any cause are myne enemyes:

Then let myne enemye periecute my soule/ and take me: yf let hym trade my lyfe downe in the earth/ and laye myne honour in the dust. *Selah.

Stande by (O Lorde) in thy wraoth/ lyft by thy selfe ouer the furysous indignacioun of myne enemyes: arysse by (for me) in the begeaunce that thou hast promysed.

What the congregacyon of the people may come aboute the/ for they lanch therfore liff by thy selfe agayne.

Che Lord is iudge ouer the people: auēge me then (O Lord) accordyng to my ryghteousnes & innocēcy.

Oh let thy wylkednes of the bngodly come to an ende: but magnteyne thy iust, thou ryghteous God: that thy wylkednes be the very hertes and the reynes.

My helpe cometh of God: which preferreth them that are true of herte.

God is a ryghteous iudge: & God is ever thy threatenynge.

If men wyl not turne/ he hath whett his sword: he hath bent his bowe and made it ready.

He hath prepared hym the weapons of death: and ordeyned hym arrowes to destroye.

Behold he traunpleth with myschete/ he hath conceaued unhappynesse/ and brought forth a lye.

He hath graue and digged by a pytte/ but he shall fall hym selfe into the pytte that he hath made.

For his unhappynesse shall come vpon hym a lone head: & his wylkednes shall fall vpon hym a lone pate.

As for me/ I wyl geue thanks vnto the Lord for his ryghteousnes sake/ and wyl prayse the name of the Lord the most hest.

Che. viii. Psalme.

The prayse and greatly wondereth at the inestimable benygntie and lyberaltie of God maker of all thynges: toward mannynde/ which euery where with an vnspokeable glorie he wylth his euerylastyng power and strenght.

To the chaunter/ vpon Githy/ a Psalme of David.

Subith after some signyfyeth as moche as for the wyne pyccles. After some/ concernyng the Gethites. After other it is an instrument of musyke.

Lorde oure gouernour: how wonderfull is thy name in all thy world: how excellēt is thy glorie aboue the heauens.

Out of the mouth of the very babes and sucklynges thou hast ordeyned prayse/ because of thyne enemyes/ that thou myghtest destroye the enemye & the auenger.

For thy colyde thy heauens/ euē the worche of thy fingers the moune & the flaxen which thou hast made.

What is man/ that thou art so myghty full of hym: ether the sonne of man that thou hast created hym.

After thou haddest for a season made him lower then the angels/ thou crownedest him with honour and glorie.

Thou hast set him aboue the worches of synners/ and thou hast put all thynges in subieccion vnder his fete.

All thepe and oxen/ & the beastes of the felde.

The foules of the ayre/ the fysh of the see/and whatsoeuer walcheth thorow the wayes of the see.

Lorde oure gouernour: how wonderfull is thy name in all the world.

Che. ix. Psalme.

The geueth thanks for a great victorie obtained for the fall of a great enemy/ soche as Solyath or some other wynter of the dyuyls. He prayeth the ryghteousnes of God: which al waye auengeth hym. He prayeth God to pull vnder the wycked.

To the chaunter vpon Aynuth Laben/ a Psalme of David.

Aynuth Laben/ as some thynke signyfyeth a certayne instrument of musyke. Some saye that Aynuth signyfyeth/ of the death: which same vnderstande by Laben/ Solyath or some other Philistine. Some reade the title thus: A beherment and often made exhortacion of a secret or folys sonne: They vnderstande the chy the ryghteousnes/ which by saye is the sonne of God: the same is to the world folys/ because he is eternally in death and secrettes: for his lyfe is hyde in death vntill the hyde thynges be shewed agayne in the iudgement of God: then shall it appeare that the death of this world is glorie. I saye readerly the title shunt vnto the victour or ouercomer of the death of a sole.

Which ye may well vnderstande of the death of folys Aynuth/ of the ruyne of his kyngdome: howbeit this title shoulde seme more conuenient for the next psalme/ which after the chaunter is a distinct psalme from this/ where as the chaunter make this and the next bothe one.

I wyl geue thanks vnto the Lord with my whole herte/ I wyl speake of all thy meruelous worches.

I wyl be glad/ and reioyse in the/ yee my songes wyl I make of thy name/ O thou moost hest.

Because thou hast dypuē myne enemyes abacke/ they were dysconforted/ and perished at thy presence.

For thou hast maynteyned my ryght and my cause: thou lyttest in the throne that art the true iudge.

Thou rebukedst the wythen/ & destroyedst the bngodly/ thou puttest out their name for euer and euer.

The enemyes sword are come to an ende/ thou hast ouerthrowen their cypres/ their memorayll is perished with them.

But the Lord endureth for euer/ he hath prepared his seate vnto iudgement.

He gouerneth the world with ryghteousnes/ and mynystreth true iudgement vnto the people.

The Lord is a defence for the pooze/ a defence in the tyme of trouble.

Therfore they that know thy name/ put their trust in the: for thou (Lord) neuer sayest them/ that seke the.

Prayse the Lord/ which dwelleth in synners/ Spon/ betwix the people of his doings.

And why? he maketh inqury vpon for their bloude/ and remembreth them: he forgetteth not the complaynte of the pooze.

I am in trouble that I am in amonge myne enemyes/ thou lyttest me by feth the gates of death.

What I maye shew all thy prayles with in the portes of the daughter of Sid/ and reioyse in thy launge health.

As for the wythen/ they are fynchē downe in the pytte that they made: in the same nette which they pyzed out pyruely/ is their awohe yet no trust at fete taken.

Thus the Lord is knowne to execute true iudgement/ when the bngodly is trapped in the worches of his awohe handes.

Selah. The wycked must be turned vnto hell/ all the wythen that forget God.

But the pooze shall not all waye be out of remembraunce/ the paryent abydinge of soche as he in trouble shall not perishe for euer.

Let no mā haue the upper hand/ let the wythen be condemned before the.

Lorde set a scolemaster ouer the/ that the wythen maye knowe them selues to be but nurn.

Selah. The gates of death are the iudgements of death/ the connexes of the bngodly/ the dyscrepans of Sathan/ the doctrines of falsenes/ which leadeth to death.

The portes of gates of the daughter of Sid/ are the companies of the good and faythfull/ which are repect the trauces of God/ and al that leadeth to lyfe.

Che. x. Psalme.

A prayer agaynst frowarde maytye/ vpon the wythen/ which bothe with wyles and by force oppresse all that are pooze and helpelesse/ where in also their intolerable pnde and vngodlynes/ with their audace and byse to hurte other are described.

There is no title in the Hebrew.

Why arte thou gone so farre of/ O Lord/ wylt thou hyde thy selfe in tyme of trouble?

Whyle the bngodly hath thy ouer hande/ the pooze must suffre persecucion: that they were taken in the ymaginacion which they go aboute.

For the bngodly maketh boost of his awohe hertes desyre/ the courtous blesteth him self/ and blasphemeth the Lord.

The bngodly is so proude and full of indignacion/ that he careth not/ neither is God before his eyes.

His wayes are all waye fithre/ the iudgements are farre out of his sight/ he despyeth all his enemyes.

For he sayeth in his herte: Cuth/ I shall neuer be cast downe/ ther shal no harme happen vnto me.

His mouth is full of cursyng/ fraude & disceate: vnder his tōge is a traunple & sorrow.

He sytteth lurking in the gardens/ that he maye pyruely murthure the innocent/ his eyes are set vpon the pooze.

He lyeth waytynge secretly/ as it were a

He lurketh that he maye rauish the pooze yee to rauish the pooze/ when he hath gotten hym in to his nette.

When smytereth he/ then oppresseth he and casteth downe the pooze with his auctoryte.

For he sayeth in his herte: Cuth/ God hath forgotten/ he hath turned awaye his face/ so that he will neuer se it.

Aryse O Lord/ lyse by thyne hand/ and forget not the pooze.

Wherfore shuld I wycked blaspheme God/ & saye in his herte: Cuth/ he careth not for it.

Thy thou seyst/ for thou confyddest the mytery and sorrowe.

The pooze geueth hym selfe ouer in to the hande/ and comitteth hym vnto the/ for thou art the helper of the frendlesse.

Speake thou the arme off the bngodly and malycious/ search out thy wyckednesse which he hath done/ that he maye perishe.

The Lord is kynge for euer/ the wythen shall perishe out of his lande.

Lord/ thou hearest the desyours longyng of the pooze: they herte is sure/ that thyne rare herkeneth thereto.

To the chaunter/ of David.

In the Lord put I my trust: how wyl I fe then saye to my soule: that the shulde be as a byrde vpon poure byll?

For lo/ the bngodly haue bet their bowe/ & made ready their arrowes in the quyet/ they maye pyruely shute at them/ which are true of hert.

The very foundacio haue they cast downe/ what can the ryghteous then do with all?

But the Lord is in his holy temple/ the Lordes seate is in heauen: he considereth with his eyes/ his eye lyddes beholde the chyldren of men.

The Lord seith bothe the rightuous and bngodly/ but who so despyeth in wyckednes/ he hym selfe shal be abhorred.

Why the bngodly he shall reyne in ares/ as ye reade in the scrypture/ byrme and tempest: they shal be rewardede shall they haue to byrme.

For the Lord is ryghtuous/ and he loueth ryghtuousnes: his countenance beholdeth the thinge that is iust.
